EDUCATOR ADDRESSES TUESDAY'S ASSEMBLY

JOHN W. TIGERT, U. S. COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION HERE

Says Mind Is Most Important, And Cites Examples Of What Inventions Do

Education is the greatest factor in the possibilities of success, said John J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education, addressing university students in assembly Tuesday morning. Detroit's advance to fourth in wealth and population among cities of the United States; the wealth and prosperity of North Carolina and Massachusetts; the twelve billion dollar valuation placed on industries created by Edison's inventions—all these he cited as proof that "mind and the products of mind are more valuable than acres and the products of acres."

"The tendency of people to believe that if we don't stop spending money for education, the country will be wrecked economically, is the most ridiculous absurdum I have ever heard," he said; "The people that are retrenching on schools are going backward and those that are spending more on schools are going forward." He cited the building of a $5,000,000 technical high school in Detroit as the latest step in a program of technical education that already had given the city its great automobile industry.

Education Makes Prosperity
"I am one who believes that education is the greatest factor in prosperity," he said; "I have never found a state or city, rich and populous, that did not find education the chief factor in its development."

"Education is the greatest factor in the possibilities of success. Out of one million Americans who have achieved outstanding success, six have had no education, 24 have had elementary school training, 125 high school education, and 600 have completed or taken college work."

Education Cost Small
"Last year in the United States the cost of all education, everywhere, federal, state, city and country was, $1,050,000,000 or one seventy-fifth of our income. Eight hundred million dollars was spent last year on cigars and $510,000,000 on cigars. Last year the women of this country expended $750,000,000 on paint and powder."

"Some of the people fighting schools believe that their children's children will still be paying off our national debt unless educational expenditures are stopped. If the American people for one year would stop the use of cigars, candy, cigarettes, cosmetics, and chewing gum we would wipe out our national debt of twenty-two billion dollars."

FORESTERS' HOEDOWN SCHEDULED ON OCT. 6

The associated foresters will give the first all college dance to be given this year in the gymnasium the evening of Saturday, October 6. This date is the same as the first varsity football game against the College of Idaho.

The committee in charge plans to make this the premier dance of the year. Arrangements are being made to take care of an unusually large crowd and the decorations will be so placed as to allow maximum floor space. The officers of the club this year are Floyd M. Cossitt, president, Emera Renshaw, vice-president and Arthur M. Sowder, secretary-treasurer.

ENGLISH CHANGES MADE

Courses in Public Speaking And Journalism Revised And Made More Complete

New courses and readjustments of old courses in public speaking and in journalism, designed to meet more exactly the needs of the students, are announced by the department of English.

A new section of elementary public speaking (Eng. 41) has been arranged to meet in room 312, Administration building, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 2 o'clock. The course and section number is 41-IV.

Advanced Speaking Rearranged
The course in advanced public speaking (Eng. 43) will be given this semester as a course in reading and interpretation. Section II has been dropped and only one section remains, that meeting at 11 o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays in room 205 Administration building.

Publicity and business writing (Eng. 29) is being given again this year, after a lapse of several years, a strong demand having been voiced by the department of economics. The work covers the elements of news writing and advertising from the standpoint of English composition.

Another new course is English 45, news editing, intended for students who have had considerable experience in news writing.

Credit for Argonaut work is obtainable this year only by registration in one of the journalism courses (elementary journalism, news writing or news editing). Argonaut work required work in these classes.

EXECUTIVE BOARD

A meeting of the A. S. U. I. executive board will be held in the U hut Wednesday evening, at 4 o'clock.

WIDE FIELD OPEN IN ARCHITECTURE COURSE

FOUR YEARS MAJOR OFFERED IN NEW LINE

Designing, Construction, Building Engineering Give Wide Scope For Intensive Specialization

A vast field has been opened in the new department of architecture opened at the University of Idaho this fall by Professor Rudolph Weaver. The possibilities, according to Professor Weaver, are unlimited so far as advancement is concerned, and the allied arts offer a course that is little known.

Architecture has broadened in the past until at present it demands that the architect be not only a careful and skillful craftsman and a real artist, but an engineer, with practical knowledge of cement and steel building, structural iron, heating, and ventilation.

In fact, the field is so broad that the student may specialize and become an expert in any one of a number of phases which are essential to architecture.

Four Year Major
The course now being offered covers four years of majoring combined with a number of regular courses which are a necessary part of the designer and builders knowledge. It has a number of opportunities.

Art and science combine in architecture. Designing calls for a knowledge of the history and development of the art, of curves and angles in relation to their production of beauty, of the suitability of certain types of buildings for certain conditions and uses.

The new course gives all these. It teaches such subjects as free hand drawing, water color drawing, pen and ink and perspective, along with mathematics and science.

Demands General Knowledge
The architect, when he has designed his structure, must supervise its erection; calculate the stress and strain on his beams, his walls, and the angles of his framework. He must know intimately the materials used in modern construction.

he dual character of the work permits the man who has imagination and artistic ability to give his attention to that field, and the practical man to handle the practical side of the engineering and actual construction.

Many Allied Branches
The manufacturing and designing of tapestries and stained glass is a branch that offers opportunity in a branch which is not overcrowded and one which gives big returns to its specialists. The chances are constantly growing.

Dozens of men in the northwest are even now holding important positions connected with the designing and selling of ornamental iron work for buildings, of special heating plants of door locks, of all the thousand things which enter into the proposition of putting up structures.

Students May Specialize
The four year course now being offered is intended to give a general understanding of the various phases, leaving the specialization to be done at a later date, or to give a specialized training in any one of the fields.

DEBATE CALL

Anyone desiring to try out for debate should see Prof. Michaels, debate coach, in Room 204, Ad. building, as soon as possible. Freshmen are eligible for debate, and credit is given.

RED SHIRT SELECTED AS GARB OF RANGERS

The ranger course students of the school of forestry, not to be outdone by the regular students in selecting a distinctive garb, have adopted as their costume bright red stag shirts.

They also have adopted as their official headwear a Stetson hat bearing a bright green band. With this distinctive garb the ranger course men can be easily spotted on the campus.

The ranger students this year as in past years hail from all parts of the United States. One man registered from Massachusetts and another from California, the others coming from other parts of the country. The ranger course this year will carry through the entire school year.

DEBATE STARTS SOON

University of Idaho Now Member of Three Collegiate Debate Conferences

Debate at the university, should be unusually strong this year. Three very strong debate conferences are possible; the Montana, Utah, Idaho conference; the Whitman, Washington, Idaho conference; and the Oregon, British Columbia, Idaho conference. The last named is a new conference and a particularly desirable one.

It will probably be deemed inadvisable to engage in more than two of the above conferences as a debate with the University of Chicago is very probable. The outcome will doubtless be a conference debate during the first semester, a mid-year debate with the University of Chicago, and a conference debate during the second semester.

Women Have Opportunity
The above schedule when combined with the intercollegiate debate for women and the northwest oratorical contest, indicates a pressing need for forensic material. Just when tryouts will be held, is, as yet, unknown; but the date will be announced at the earliest possible moment.

Of particular interest to new people should be the fact that there is a comparatively small number of experienced debaters on the campus this year. Debating, unlike other intercollegiate activities, is open to freshmen and carries academic credit. The debate coach would like, as soon as possible, to see all students expecting to tryout, in Room 204, Ad. building.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

The board of supervisors of the A. S. U. I. will meet in the U hut at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Budget will be presented at this time. The meeting will be open to anyone who desires to attend.

A. S. U. I. Offices in U Hut Should Become Hangout

She's the old hangout, boys. From now on, everybody's going to park in the U hut between classes and in vacant periods to get the dope on everything from the high school games to local scandal.

For some time the students have felt the need of some place where they could hang out in their spare time to "fest" with one another and get the dope on coming athletic events.

Have Student Offices
The A. S. U. I. offices and The Argonaut offices are established in the U hut, and anybody is welcome there at any time. Schedules and scores of all the Pacific coast games, and the scores of all the intercollegiate games in the United States will be posted. There will also be scores on all the high school games in Idaho, so that you can follow the teams in the states as far as you want to.

College newspapers from the Pacific coast and middle west will be kept in the office, open to the student who

VANDAL TEAM NEARS FIRST GAME OF YEAR

MATHEWS CONTINUES CLOSED PRACTICE OF LAST SEASON

College of Idaho Team Has But Three Lettermen To Count On

With the inauguration of actual scrimmage practices during the past few days, Coach R. L. Mathews has instituted a closed practice regulation for his football squad of nearly forty candidates, following a precedent set by him a year ago. With the opening game close at hand, Mathews will spend the next ten days trying to find out through direct contact with scrimmage play just what sort of football team it is that will defend the silver and gold this season. Fans in the meanwhile will be unable to keep in touch with the developments themselves, and little definite information will be available until the Vandals swing into battle against the College of Idaho, on MacLean field, Saturday, October 6.

Few reports have drifted up from southern Idaho, where Coach Anson Cornell is whipping his College of Idaho eleven into shape for their long waited opportunity to meet with the university on the gridiron. Cornell, during his residence in Caldwell, has established quite a reputation as a developer of strong teams. His eleven last year nearly caused consternation in Salt Lake City by battling the University of Utah practically to a standstill, in one of the best games that that city had during the season.

Starts Under Handicap
He begins the season, though, under a heavy handicap, only three lettermen being back in suits. His second string men, and sophomores, though, are said to be exceptionally promising, and Caldwell supporters are by no means sure that the university will have very much the edge on their team.

The three veterans on the College squad are "Hap" Loque, "Chief" Eastman, and "Kahk" Walker—all good men with plenty of weight and experience behind their playing to make them dangerous opponents. For the rest, little is known of the College team.

Game Finally Scheduled
The College has for several years been trying to arrange a game with the Idaho Vandals, and the coming game was scheduled to take the place of the usual Whitman contest. Coach Cornell has built up his team so that it ranks with other aggregations in the northwest, and his schedule this year includes games with the University of Utah, Williamette, Pacific University, Gooding College, and the Idaho Technical Institute.

In the meantime, looking over the past week locally, no decrease in the brightness of Idaho's chances are noticeable. hat Mathews considers his men rounding into good physical

Origin of "Vandal" Name Traced to History Class

In 1916 there was a wild Irishman who was writing sport stuff for The Argonaut, and he was pretty good and pretty clever at thinking things up. And about that time the boys on the old basketball squad were tearing the rest of the conference to pieces in a way that was particularly annoying to opposing coaches.

"Vandals", Lloyd McCarthy, the Irish freshman heard about them in history class and thought about it a lot. He read about how they destroyed everything that came in their path, and he thought of the way the quintet was going through the rest of the conference like a bull through a paper mache movie set, so in the next sport story he wrote he talked about the whirlwind team of Idaho as the "Vandals".

Took Up Name
Pretty soon the sport writers of the neighboring colleges and the daily papers, looking around for some name to hang onto the Idaho squad, took up McCarthy's invention. Sport writers must always have some pet name for the teams, to make their jargon sound right.

The basketball boys kept right on knocking over the opposing teams and scattering about the prizes of the conference, so the name stuck. In the meantime the Irishman went home with sore eyes due to overstudy in his medieval history class.

Accustomed to Name
For a number of years the sporting scribe continued to call the basketball team the Vandals, until everyone got used to thinking of them by that name. Then somebody took the old writers' places, and they thought that all Idaho's teams were Vandals. Therefore, a few years ago certain papers came out with articles about the Vandal basketball team and the Vandal football team.

To-day the idea that originated from an Irishman who was very interested in the ancients and their doings has become the accepted title of all athletic teams of the University of Idaho. And the teams still continue to justify

ABSENT-MINDEDNESS

An incident has occurred which has caused much discussion among Idaho undergraduates.

In a recent press dispatch, the University of Washington "breaks down and confesses" that the Huskies have a mighty tough football schedule before them.

They are even "forced to admit" that they play every "major" or "worth-while" team in the Pacific coast conference, with the exception of Stanford. And they have no game with Idaho.

By so doing they place Idaho among the "minor" or Class B teams.

But they forget that Idaho nearly upset Washington hopes last year, when, in the first football game played between the two universities in ten years, the Huskies won a shallow 2-0 victory on a safety.

And they forget that when the schedule for this season was arranged, they made it known that Idaho couldn't under any circumstances be given a game.

People will forget.

STUDENT OPINION

The Argonaut is a publication of the students of the University of Idaho. It is their paper, run by them, for them.

There many students who have ideas that are constructive, that would result in benefit to the student body. There are faults in the present system as it has been worked out. Things have been planned and altered after many years of experiences, but they are not yet entirely perfect. It is only through gradual change and the co-operation of all those concerned that things can be kept running smoothly.

Ideas are welcome in The Argonaut. Clear, sound criticism is desired. If there are things which you, as a member of the student body, believe should be improved or altered, write out your opinion and send it in to us.

However, since the editorial page itself is an expression of the opinion of the editor, all other articles which are handed in for this page must be signed with the name of the writer. Opinions without a backer are useless.

A SUGGESTION

At the present time the committee which sets the dates on the social calendar is composed entirely of faculty members, despite the fact that most of the events are given by students.

It seems only logical, then, that there should be at least one student member serving on that body. A student has the advantage over a faculty member in that he is more intimately connected with those events, and more closely in touch with the situation from the student body standpoint.

If such a member could be appointed he would serve as the mouthpiece of the undergraduate body and be of actual value in the scheduling of social events.

Such an arrangement would bring the students into even closer relations with the faculty, and would more than justify the concession.

He might be appointed for two semesters, or for one, if it seemed best, but the student body seems entitled to some means of expressing its preference in assigning dates for its own social events.

WHY NOT?

How would it be if the sophomores adopted some distinctive form of dress to indicate their class—say a checkered cap. The seniors have their symbol. They carry canes and go bareheaded. Then there is the little green frosh cap which has been a tradition for years.

The junior class already has under consideration the adoption of corduroy pants and somberos.

Such traditions as these unify the classes. They bring the members into the closer relation and sympathy with each other that creates a class spirit gained in no other way.

Somehow it adds a touch of color, a bit of life that unites the campus. But the sophomores now have no special form of dress. They are merely in between.

It is a step that would complete the circle. That would make the sophomores "something." Then the tradition would be complete.

OLD IDAHO ATHLETE RETURNS TO CAMPUS

Tillman D. ("Turk") Gerlough, a graduate of the university class of 1917, and now a physiological chemist for E. R. Squibb & Son, manufacturing chemists, at New Brunswick, N. J., is in Moscow on a business and vacation trip. Mr. Gerlough will be remembered by university alumni as one of the greatest backfield men in the history of Idaho football, and as a crack half and quarter miler for three years on silver and gold track squads. After graduation, Mr. Gerlough spent three years on the University faculty as an instructor of chemistry.

During the past year he has attended all of the large scientific meetings in the United States and Canada for Squibbs. He is now doing special research work for his company in the University of Idaho chemistry laboratories on anti-toxins, salvarsan, and the properties of gamacia for blood injection.

GRIDIRON DOPESTERS REMAIN OPTOMISTIC

SEATTLE PRESS STORY THROWS BRICK AT VANDALS

Idaho and Washington State First Team to Play in Coast Conference

There is no small amount of speculation going on in undergraduate minds on the season's outcome on the gridiron. Some of the more ardent dopesters have even permitted themselves to swallow whole the tempting speculation from the California press that Idaho can be considered a championship possibility. Idaho has yet to win her first conference game and should she by any stroke of good fortune take the conference pennant it would be worth writing a scenario about.

It seems that during spare moments Californians are playing psychology. California sports writers bemoan the chances of the three California schools and at the bare mention of a championship begin pointing northward. Over confidence has been the Nemesis of many an otherwise good football eleven.

While some writers are casting real bouquets into the Muscovite camp others conceal bricks among the roses. Close on Stanford's remark about Idaho being a practice game came a companion remark from the University of Washington, in a ferocious "bear" story on the heavy Huskie schedule, pointing out that Washington plays every major team on the coast but Stanford. This despite the fact that Idaho came near upsetting the Huskies at Seattle last season in the first football game between the two schools in 10 years. The Huskies won, 2-0, on a safety but it was a hollow victory and when the 1923 schedule was arranged Washington made it known that Idaho couldn't possibly be given another chance.

Idaho might trade a few of the "minor" league clubs that must appear on her schedule for some of the "major" clubs that Washington must meet. Idaho's schedule, particularly the last end of it carries too much explosive for any "minor" club to be carrying around alone. The last three of Idaho's games are on the same trip and if the Vandals should clip off a brace of victories it would go down as a real achievement. For a coach will seldom even consider as many as two contests on the same jaunt.

October 19 will be the date for the first Coast conference games and few of the teams will be up to full fighting strength until then. Idaho and Washington State will be the first teams to get under way, playing at Pullman, Oct. 19. California meets the Oregon Aggies the following day, Southern California travels to Seattle to play Washington, but Stanford does not taste conference action until the next week.

SMITH-LOGAN

Carolyn Logan, ex-'23, became the bride of Reuel E. Smith, July 8, at a Sunday morning wedding in St. Michael's cathedral, Boise. They will live in Boise, where Mr. Smith is associated with his father in the business of the Idaho Candy company. Mr. Smith is a graduate of the United States naval academy at Annapolis.

AT LAST—

We have always heard about how the gods decreed whereby those who give their whole soul, supplemented by their untiring effort, in their search for the betterment of humanity shall not pass thru eternity unrewarded.

Although we would call a man like Aristotle comparatively unsophisticated with our modern standard of scientific knowledge and treatment, we cannot say that his efforts have been entirely fruitless. He was the man who broke the ice in the search for the elemental substance, which problem has occupied the minds of our foremost scientists ever since. To cap the climax we wish to say that we have crowned the efforts of these noble gentlemen in our discovery of that substance out of which all things are created, this substance being nothing else than plain sugar. We have on display in our windows the results of our handiwork as alchemists.

SHORT AG. STUDENTS BEGIN COURSE SOON

WORK OFFERED IN AGRICULTURE AND PRACTICAL DAIRYING

High School Graduation Not Necessary To Enroll In These Two Courses

Announcement is made by the university college of agriculture of the short courses in practical commercial dairying and practical agriculture. The courses are open to men of 17 years or over who have had an eighth grade education or its equivalent. The most benefit will be received by those who have had experience in dairying or farming although this is not a necessary entrance requirement.

The course in practical commercial dairying is offered from October 29, 1923, to March 28, 1924. This course is divided into two terms, the first ending January 15. It is the only course of its kind in the west and offers an opportunity for young men to secure training in dairying in a short period of time.

Practice In Dairying

The work in dairying includes actual practice in the manufacture of dairy products as well as a study of the fundamental principles involved in practical dairying.

Classes in cheesemaking, ice cream making, market milk, testing, dairy engineering and dairy practice are offered for the first semester and buttermaking, factory management, milk production, dairy bacteriology, dairy calculations and the scoring of dairy products are offered in the second semester.

At Convenient Period

Young men who have been unable to register in the four-year courses in the college of agriculture may register in the short course which is offered from October 29 of this year to February 29, 1923. Studies in farm crops, farm horticulture, elements of dairying, poultry raising and the feeding and care of livestock will be available for the year 1923-24.

Expenses in both courses are small and no tuition or laboratory fees are charged, offering a course which appeals particularly to young men who have not the necessary funds or time to enroll for the full year course.

CHURCHES TO WELCOME STUDENTS ON FRIDAY

Six receptions will be given by six Moscow churches Friday night starting at 8 o'clock for the students of the University of Idaho.

The Young People's Union of Moscow is in charge of the receptions at the First Baptist church, corner of First and Jackson streets; First Christian Church, corner of Fourth and Jefferson streets; First Lutheran church, corner of Second and Van Buren streets; First Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Third and Van Buren streets; and the First Presbyterian church, corner of Fourth and Van Buren streets.

All Catholic students and their friends have been invited to an entertainment program and get-acquainted meeting at the Knights of Columbus hall Friday night. The K. C. hall is over the Idaho theatre. Members of the DeSmet club are in charge of the reception.

Attractive programs of entertainment have been arranged and university undergraduates have been extended a cordial welcome to begin or continue association with the social and church life of the city.

UNIVERSITY DISTRIBUTES NEW WHEAT TO FARMERS

Seed of a new wheat is being distributed to a limited number of Idaho farmers by the department of agronomy of the Idaho agricultural experiment station. This wheat variety is named "Mosida," and is a cross between Turkey and Fultz-Mediterranean. The name chosen by Prof. R. K. Bonnett, agronomist, is a contraction of Moscow-Idaho, the source of the variety.

"Mosida," which was first produced at the Colorado experiment station, was brought to Idaho by Prof. G. S. Ray, former agronomist, and grown here for a number of years, the yield being improved and the final selection made.

The new wheat is an awnless hard winter wheat with white chaff. In winter it is hardy and will not head if spring sown. It is a resistant to bunt and about as early as Turkey. This season it produced the highest yield of all the varieties grown at the Sandpoint substation, at Sandpoint, and at the Oregon Branch experiment station at Mora.

The outstanding characteristics are winter hardiness, awnlessness, early maturity, stiffness of straw, yield and resistance to bunt. If results in the cooperative tests under actual farm conditions, which will be made this winter, justify the seed will be widely distributed.

Weddings

SUTTON-ANDREWS
Genevieve Andrews, ex-'23, was married to Mann Sutton at Arco, June 28.

IRVING-CLARKE
Neil Irving, '21, '22, and Gladys Clarke, '21, were married shortly before commencement and live at Coeur d'Alene, where Mr. Irving is county agricultural agent. Mrs. Irving taught last year at Spirit Lake.

PHILLIPS-KEATINGE
John L. (Buck) Phillips, '15, and Gertrude Keatinge were married at Lewiston, June 30. Mr. Phillips, who was nationally famous as a weight man while on the Idaho track team, is county attorney of Nez Perce county.

DINGLE-GOSSETT
Bertram Dingle, '17, and Cletys Gossett, ex-'24, were married April 6 at Dayton, Wash., but the fact was kept a secret from university people until shortly before commencement. Mr. Dingle is associated with his father in business at Dayton.

DAVIS-DUTHIE
Gladys Duthie, '19, became the bride of Frank Merton Davis, a Los Angeles lawyer, June 16, at Los Angeles.

LOCAL LAWYER TAKES POSITION ON FACULTY

Frank C. Moore, prominent attorney of Moscow, and one of the leading barristers of northern Idaho, has been engaged by the university college of law to act as a special instructor in classes of Practice and Procedure for the coming year, it became known here today.

Mr. Moore is recognized as an authority upon this subject in the state of Idaho, and his many years of experience will make him a valuable addition to the faculty of the law college. At the present time he is Latah county attorney, and he has been mentioned on several occasions as a possible candidate for governor of the state.

ALUMNI

Of interest to Idaho alumni is the announcement from Rupert that W. L. Bleamaster, who for three years was athletic coach at the University of Idaho, has entered into a contract with the high school at Rupert to direct athletics at that institution.

Robert O. Jones, '09, was a visitor on the campus Sunday and Monday. Since the end of his term as secretary of state for Idaho, Mr. Jones has made his home in Seattle where he is secretary of the National Health league of Washington.

Gene Ostrander, '23, is now located at Twin Falls as manager of the Twin Falls distributing branch of the Texaco Oil Refining Co.

Miss Edna S. Merrill of Sunnyside, Wash., and Donald H. Eagleson of the university class of 1920 were married August 22 and have since made their home in Yakima, where Mr. Eagleson is now associated with the Yakima

Daily Republic.

Kenneth Hunter, an honor graduate of the class of '23, is now at Eugene, Oregon, where he is a student in the Eugene Bible university. He intends taking at least a two year course in this work.

Herbert H. Beler, a graduate of the college of agriculture in 1915, visited on the campus Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Mr. Beler was in the insurance business in Moscow three years ago. He is now located in Washington D. C., with the dairy division of the United States department of agriculture. He left Wednesday afternoon for Spokane on his way back to Washington.

Howard Hechtner, '23, is now teaching agriculture in the high school at Emmett.

"To be on the job, it behooves one to move when the urge to 'A square-shootin' server," Says Eddie with fervor, "Is one who knows action improves one!"

We realize that speed in making deliveries is an important factor of service. But that isn't all. Speed without service is just as bad as service without speed. It's the happy combination of speed AND service that counts.

EDUCATION IS SUBJECT UPHAM'S FROSH TALK

HEAD TO COME

The state of Idaho and the United States are making an investment of every student who enters the university," said President A. H. Upham in an address, "The Challenge of an Education," delivered before the freshman class of the university Tuesday morning. He explained that the idea of state universities is not to give to a select few an opportunity to go into the world equipped to outdo their fellow citizens but that it is an investment in the best field, that of young men and women.

"The university is much like a manufacturing plant. We take in raw material and aim to turn out a finished product, in so far as a college education can do so. We are proud to find our graduates scattered far and wide, advertising the article we have, 'education', by their splendid work in numerous fields," he said.

President Upham gave figures showing the wonderful opportunity offered the young people of the state for an education. The latest statistics showed, he said, that of more than 30,000 men and women of college age, 18 to 22, inclusive, in the state of Idaho only 2,308 were enrolled in schools of higher education. This was an average of one in every 12 receiving the college training offered.

PREDICT STRONG ENDS FOR COUGAR GRID TEAM

Strong ends are predicted for the grid team of the State College of Washington for this year, for two reasons—Coach Exendine and Tom Whelan. Exendine was an All-American end, and so was Tom Whelan, now assisting him in whipping the eleven into shape. Also they have plenty of good material on the job.

The ends were weak spots in the team last season, but this year "dope's different." Pete Kramer, Colton, a last year's letter man, is one of the 56 men now at work in the field, and is beginning to show speed. With such coaching as Exendine gives, Kramer should develop into a very good all-around player on the wings. George Beneke, and Brick Johnson, both from Spokane, are other strong possibilities. Torgeson of Everett, who looked good last year until taken to the hospital with appendicitis, is showing up well; he is rangy and fairly speedy. Wilkerson, who is an Everett lad on the Frosh eleven two years ago; Keller of Wenatchee of the same team; and Don Wallingford, a Seattle Frosh last year, are all three going to make runs for positions.

INTER GROUP COUNCIL STARTS THIRD YEAR

The first meeting of the University of Idaho inter-fraternity council will be held next Wednesday night, October 4, at 7:30 in the Beta Theta Pi house. George Gahan, vice-president of the council announced Thursday. All fraternities have been asked to elect delegates in time for the first meeting. Under the constitution a junior is elected each year to serve for the two succeeding years.

The organization was formed two years ago, in order to regulate affairs which concerned all mens' groups, such as rushing.

DRAKE ELECTED HEAD OF LAW ASSOCIATION

Merle Drake of Challis, a senior in the college of law, was elected chief justice of the Bench and Bar association of the University of Idaho Wednesday morning. The Bench and Bar association is the student organization of the college of law.

Other officers named for the current college year are: Wayne Hudelson of Gooding, associate chief justice; Larry Gill, of Sioux Falls, S. D., clerk; and Thomas A. Madden of Lewiston, treasurer.

ACHILLES CLUB TAKES FOUR NEW MEMBERS

Four new members were taken into the Achilles club, senior military group, at a meeting Tuesday night. The new men are Joe Cogan, Lynn Rogers, Michael Tierney, and Eugene Zechman.

The group was formed last year by seniors in the military department, and only those entering their fourth year of military are eligible for membership. The organization, which is a local one, plans to petition Scabard and Blade, national military fraternity, for a charter this year.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

There will be an Argonaut meeting Tuesday at 12:30 in Room 108, Ad. building. It is important that everyone signed up for Argonaut work, and those who desire to sign up, be present, as definite organization will be made at this time.

HOUSE REPORTERS

A meeting of all house reporters for the Argonaut will be held in Room 108, Ad. building, at 12:30 Monday. Everyone be there.

PI PHI RECEPTION

The Pi Beta Phi installation, which was to be at 720 Deakin avenue, Saturday evening, from 8 till 11, has been moved to Ridenbaugh hall. The date and hours have not been changed.

EPISCOPAL CLUB

The first meeting of the Episcopal club for the present college year will be held in the Guild hall Tuesday evening at 8:00. There will be dancing and refreshments. All Episcopal students and their friends are invited to attend.

ENGLISH CLUB

The English club will hold its first meeting in the U hut Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

FIFTEEN MEN WORK OUT FOR CROSS COUNTRY RUN

Fifteen candidates are out for positions on the University of Idaho cross-country team under the guidance of Lewis Williams of Boise, who placed first in last year's dual meet with Washington State college. The squad consists of six veteran runners. It is expected that a week's training will see the squad increase to 30.

Two meets are assured, although no dates have been announced. The dual meet with Washington State will be at Pullman this year. The second will be the conference relay carnival.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE TO SEND FAIR JUDGES

The college of agriculture has been requested to furnish judges for a number of the county and community fairs of northern Idaho, according to Dean E. J. Iddings.

Prof. C. W. Hickman, of the animal husbandry department will go to Kamiah to act as judge of livestock at the fair which will be held September 27 to 29. Judges for the Clearwater County fair at Orofino, October 1 to 3, will be Prof. F. W. Atkeson, dairy cattle; Prof. R. T. Parkhurst, poultry; and Prof. H. W. Hulbert, agricultural products. Dean Iddings will go to the fair at Winchester on October 3 as judge of livestock.

Selection is yet to be made of the following judges: Community fair at Worley, October 4, livestock and grain; Boundary County fair at Bonners Ferry, October 4 to 6, judge of livestock; and the community fair at Post Falls, October 12 and 13, judges of women's work, poultry and horticultural products.

The furnishing of judges for fairs is one of the services which the college of agriculture renders annually.

scrimmage in earnest. He will have plenty on his hands during the next ten days in placing his men to the best advantage, and in working the team into a well balanced whole. With only lettermen of one season's experience as a nucleus, it does not seem probable that the work of the squad will have the finish or polish for the first two games which will characterize the work of the Vandals in the later Pacific Coast games.
