UNSENSATIONAL PLAY EMPLOYED BY IDAHO

VANDALS USE CONSERVATIVE TACTICS AGAINST W. S. C. TEAM

Spectacular Performance Expected Of Mathew's Squad In Later Games of Season

(By Louis A. Boas)

Playing straight football bereft of spectacular plays, formations, or performances, the Idaho Vandals launched their 1933 Coast conference football season at Pullman last Friday by shutting out the Washington State Cougars for the first Idaho victory over their traditional rival in ten years. The outstanding feature of Idaho's game was the fact that nothing outside of the realm of straight football was indulged in by Coach R. L. Mathew's men, and that the team was apparently stronger during the whole of the final period than at the end of the first half, despite the fact that no substitutions were made until the last moments when victory for the Silver and Gold was assured.

That the Idaho team received definite instructions from Coach Mathew to play an aggressive game only when working with their backs to the sun, and to content themselves with a conservative defense of their goal line during the other two periods of the game, was plainly evident to critical spectators on the sidelines. No passing, few end runs, no cris-crosses, only through the line plays where there was little possibility of costly fumbles or losses, featured the Vandal play during the second and third quarters, when they faced the low hanging, blinding sun. That the Idahoans played through one of the most bitter struggles seen on Roger's field in years without a fumble, speaks well for the smoothness of the Idaho aggregation and the precision with which backs and linesmen functioned.

NO SENSATIONAL BALL

Spectators were somewhat disappointed in not seeing the much heralded Fitzke perform with his famous drop kick which is said to be deadly from mid-field, nor were they given an opportunity of seeing "Skip" Stivers, 145 pound Vandal quarterback, get away on any of his startling open field runs, which featured the Idaho playing last year, and which will doubtless bring fame to that brilliant player again this season should Idaho be forced to lay all her cards upon the table in coming doubtful conference games.

What particularly pleased Coach Mathews last Friday was the manner in which the Idaho defensive system staved off seemingly overwhelming Cougar onslaughts, and the consistent way in which Quinn and Hausen at tackle, Kline at center, and Nelson and Vesser at end, broke through W. S. C. formations during the third and fourth periods to smear desperate Cougar attempts for a touchdown. Although one of the lightest in the conference this year, the Idaho line is unquestionably in mid-season form now, and is performing in a manner

THREE CANDIDATES SEEK SCHOLARSHIP

Wreathouse, Shoults And Wyman Make Application To Committee In Charge

Three men have been selected by the scholarship committee as candidates of this year's Rhodes scholarship for Idaho. The three men are Walsler Wreathouse, D. Roy Shoults, and Harold Wyman.

All applications are sent to McKean T. Morrow, of Boise, a former Rhodes scholar, who is secretary of the Idaho committee in charge of the award. For the Idaho scholarship all students attending colleges, or universities in Idaho, and all Idaho students attending college outside the state, are eligible.

The scholarship carries with it a payment of approximately $1650 a year, for a three year period. Philip Buck was the Idaho scholar last year, and he left this fall to take up his studies at Oxford.

Students And Faculty of Idaho School Plan To Be In Spokane For Meeting

Many Idaho foresters and faculty members will attend the 14th annual session of the Pacific logging congress to be held in Spokane, October 24 to 27 inclusive. The headquarters for this session will be the Davenport hotel.

This congress will be made up of lumbermen and foresters of the Pacific coast comprising the states of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana, and British Columbia. Several hundred delegates from these various lumber centers will be in attendance. Dean F. G. Miller, and Harry I. Nettleton of the school of forestry faculty and the following students: Herman Baumann, Rodger G. Wheaton, Arthur M. Sowder, J. Wallace Rodner, Floyd M. Cossitt, Lawrence R. Pugh, Harold Z. White, Orin D. DeAtley, Alden B. Hatch and N. F. Gillham will represent Idaho at the congress.

The convention will convene Wednesday morning in the Davenport hotel, and will continue through the balance of the week. Mayor Chas. A. Fleming, of Spokane, will give a welcome address, which will be followed by the discussion of such subjects as: yarding and loading methods, tractor logging, fluming logs, redwood reforestation, progress logging, and engineering training at the universities. A special committee will provide entertainment for the delegates while the congress is not in session.

FROSH ARE VISITORS IN FIRST GAME, 37-6

GONZAGA SECOND STRING UNABLE TO STOP YEARLINGS

Initial Contest Shows Coach McMillan Has Able Squad In Championship Race

Inspired by the glorious example of the Idaho varsity team, the Vandal frosh went through, over, and around the Gonzaga second string men to the final score of 37-6 Saturday afternoon in their first game of the season on MacLean field. The lone Gonzaga score came in the last quarter after the lighter Spokane team staged a brilliant rally which carried the ball from mid-field to the Idaho twenty yard line where they were temporarily stopped, but recovered an Idaho fumble and completed a beautiful thirty yard pass, Rochford to Hodges, who raced for a touchdown. They failed to convert try for point.

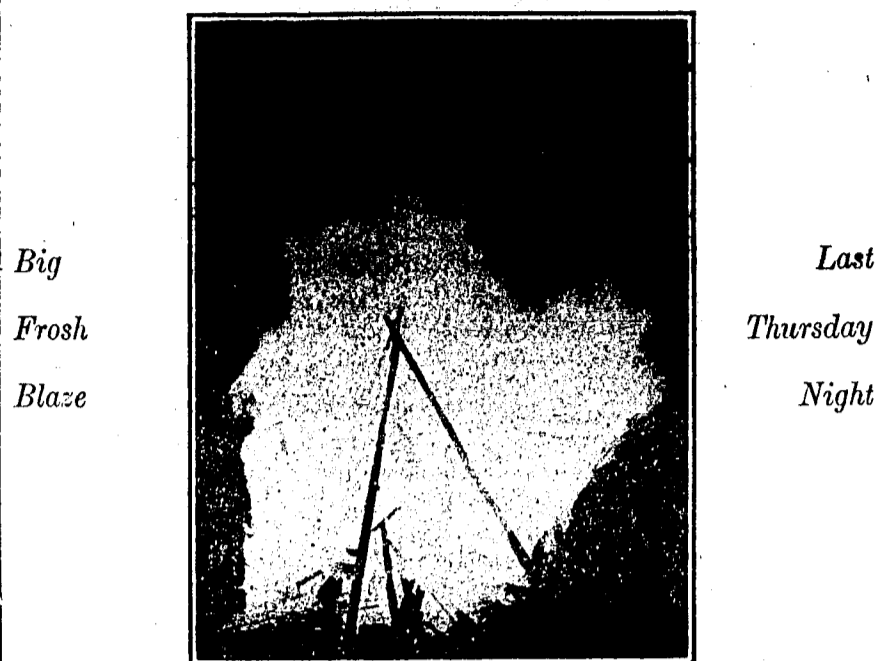

GOOD AERIAL OFFENSE

Gonzaga played a good aerial game but they lacked the line men and plunging ability to compete with the freshmen who showed clever football ability. Miles, Baird, Hutchinson and Dowers played a strong game in the backfield, some of Hutchinson's punts going 50 yards or more. On the line Dobs, Putzier, Carl Hutchinson, Diehl, and Nye played heady ball, opening holes in the opposing line at will.

FROSH SCORE QUICKLY

The first touchdown came after 2-1-2 minutes of play when a Gonzaga punt was blocked and Powers took the ball across. Hutchinson failed to kick goal. Straight football, with Miles and Baird tearing off large chunks of yardage gave Hutchinson a chance to score from the second yard line after which he kicked goal making the score 13-0 at the end of the first quarter. The third touchdown was made when Gonzaga signaled for a free catch and attempted a place kick from mid-field. Sharpe blocked it and carried it for another

CAST OF PEP BAND SHOW IS SELECTED

MUSICAL COMEDY BY J. STANTON MCLAUGHLIN OFFERED

Paul M. Harlan Has Charge Of Production—Rehearsals Already Under Way

"Granny" is the name of the musical comedy, written by J. Stanton McLaughlin, of the English department, that is to be produced for the pep band show Nov. 2. In place of the customary skits and numbers that usually appear in the annual show, the musical comedy will this year take up the entire program.

A real entertainment has been assured since it has become known that Mr. McLaughlin is the author of the production. His work along this line has become well known to university students, and anything to which his name is attached carries the assurance of being worth while.

CAST PROMISES MUCH

Paul Harlan, the director of the show, has selected the cast during the past week, and rehearsals have already begun.

The cast follows:

Florence Selby	Granny
Editha Barton	Mrs. Arlington
Elizabeth Thompson	Sally Arlington
Al Marineau	Mr. Arlington
Ray Allumbaugh	Jimmy O'Reilly
Art Guerin	Mr. Sterling
Mary Paisley	The Maid
Carmerson King	Chauffer
"Ahme" Kearns	Buster

The Elwetats entertained with an informal house dance on Saturday night. This was given in honor of their pledges and was in the form of a Halloween party. The decorations and refreshments were in keeping with the season. The guest list included Prof and Mrs. Phil Meechem and the Misses Wilson, Bliss, Wright, Shelby, Bennett, Hogenson, Beatty, Paisley, Van Deusen, Jenness, Hansen, Griffin, Dayton, Hindman, Jacobs, of Lewiston, Trousdale, Norton, of Pullman, Shalkie, Wheeler, Yost, Johnson, Olson, Jones, Nero and Dickinson.

CONTRIBUTORS URGED TO START WORK NOW

Blue Bucket Will Be Issued Soon, Stories, Essays, Humor Are Acceptable

Those who expect to contribute to the 'Blue Bucket' should begin work at once, as the first number of the year is to be issued in the near future.

All those interested in composition are urged to submit their work. Original stories, essays, skits and freak humor will be acceptable and published if it measures up to the requirements.

The magazine was founded to give those who desire to do so an opportunity to write. Begin now, take time, and put your best into something for the Blue Bucket. It is our aim to raise the standard of the book to equality with the best publications of its type. Idaho wants a magazine that will do credit to her name. Hard work and earnest cooperation of all literary aspirants will bet it.

EXTENSION WORKERS HOLD MEETING HERE

FIRST CONFERENCE OF KIND IN THREE YEARS

Eight Days Will Be Used For Discussion of Problems Concerning State

The first conference in three years of the University of Idaho agriculture extension workers opened Saturday morning for an eight day program dealing with the agricultural situation in the state. A program for the coming year, and possibly for several years, will also be worked out.

"There is much to be gained by the closest possible co-ordination between workers of the extension division and the resident staff of the university," said President Upham in his opening address.

IN STRONG POSITION

"The counties are looking to the extension division for agricultural leadership and after a three weeks' tour of certain parts of the state I am convinced that they are getting that leadership. It is gratifying to go into communities where the extension service is operating, to see how it has adapted itself to the needs of the community and is working away at something that may mean infinite possibilities within a comparatively short time."

AT THE FIRST MEETING

E. J. Iddings, dean of the college of agriculture and recently appointed director of the extension division, traced significant developments in agriculture since the last general conference.

MANY MEN HERE

Attending the conference are field specialists, county agents, sub-station and field experiment station superintendents, field instructors in cooperation with the United States bureau, and members of the resident and experiment station faculty. Invitations have also been sent to the various forces throughout the state interested in agriculture to submit

PAULINE PENCE TAKEN AS CURTAIN MEMBER

Local Dramatics Group Now Has Six Members—Rigid Membership Qualifications

Pauline Pence of Payette, a junior in the college of education, has been made a member of "The Curtain," a student dramatics organization at the University of Idaho, which boasts more rigid qualifications for membership than those maintained by national student drama societies.

This organization was founded last year through the efforts of Prof. J. H. Cushman, director of dramatics, and has been a great influence in the up-building of the university drama to its present commanding position.

Active members now are Talbot Jennings of Nampa, Pearl Stalker of Boise, Doy McKinley of Kellogg, Maxwell Sholes of Moscow and Abe Goff of Walla Walla.

Miss Pence has been active in student dramatics work for two years and has appeared in several of the outstanding plays.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT HAS BIG ENROLLMENT

Shows Definite Trend of Graduates Toward General Field of Business

With an enrollment of over 250 students in the department of business, the ever increasing trend of college graduates toward the general field of business is clearly demonstrated.

The curriculum of business was organized this year within the college of Letters and Science, with Professor H. C. Dale as director. The university offers five majors in business, as follows: general business, accounting, banking, secretarial science and extractive industries.

The registration by classes is as follows: freshmen 87, sophomores 47, juniors 41, seniors 10, unclassified 4. In addition 62 students who are not registered in this curriculum are majoring in economics.

A very interesting phase of the registration is the fact that juniors and seniors are largely majoring in banking and accounting, while the underclassmen are for the majority majoring in general business.

House guests of Sigma Nu for the week-end were Mrs. McClurg of Boise, Mrs. Hayes, St. Maries; Lloyd McMillan, St. Maries; Mr. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Handy and Miss Ruby Williams, Miss Sally Gyde, Mr. Bohannon of Kellogg; R. Ailshie, W. Rosenberry, H. Ericson, Mr. Graf and Al Graf, Coeur d'Alene; Mr. Wendel and son of Sandpoint; Ted Hege and Ray Farmin, Spokane; James LeClair, S. C. Skillern, Lewiston, Charles Gray of Twin Falls.

MOSCOW PEOPLE ASK FOR GONZAGA GAME

LOCAL FANS DO NOT WANT TUSSEL IN SPOKANE

Should Prove Drawing Card Wherever It Is Played Is Opinion Of Spokane Writer

With Moscow people and University of Idaho students generally urging that Gonzaga Bull Dogs and University of Idaho Vandals meet at Moscow, and with Spokane insisting on the game in that city, the question of the Idaho-Gonzaga game continues to be a question. Coach R. L. Mathews is in Spokane today and will probably not return to Moscow until late tonight or Tuesday morning. A decision as to the place of the game is expected within the next few days.

A resolution adopted by the Lewiston Commercial club protesting against playing the game in Spokane has been received here. It is generally conceded that, while the game will draw a record-breaking crowd in either Spokane or Moscow, the larger crowd will turn out if the game is played in Spokane.

STORES WOULD CLOSE

Moscow business men will close for the game if it is played in Moscow and the general belief is that the game will be played on MacLean field possibly on Friday, November 2, instead of Saturday, November 3. The insistence of the Idaho undergraduates and the Moscow people, coupled with the agitation of people in the Lewiston district, is a material factor in favor of playing the game here.

Certain it is, however, that if a change is made the game will draw the largest crowd of the season at Spokane with special trains coming from Moscow, Lewiston and the country adjacent to Spokane.

VANDALS FACE HARD BATTLE THIS WEEK

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON BOOKED AS DARK HORSE

Saturday's Game To Be Turning Point In Conference For Both Teams

Idaho will take on its second Coast conference tussle next Saturday afternoon at Eugene, meeting the Oregon eleven for the annual gridiron clash between the two institutions. Oregon is reported to have a strong team this fall about which little can be gleaned. Their showing against Whitman last Saturday whom they defeated 19 to 0 without half exerting themselves noticeably.

The two centers getting most frequent calls for varsity workouts at the Oregon institution during the past week have been Wilson and Sinclair, the latter worked in the Whitman game last Saturday at Pendleton. Bailey, Mills, Shields and Bliss look good at guard positions, Mills and Bailey being given chances last week, while V. Ahe and Reed worked at tackle with Gooding being given consideration by Oregon sports writers in picking the team to face Idaho next week.

HAS STRONG ENDS

For ends Shy Huntington will be able to use Risley and Williamson, who did nice work against the Missionaries, as well as having Mautz to fall back upon should either of the two mentioned fail to come up to expectations during the coming week of practice.

Chapman as usual will call the numbers, and the fullback choice lies between French and Latham. Sax, Terjesen, Poulson, Anderson and Kirtley will battle it out for halfback positions, with the two first mentioned standing to draw the assignment.

Idaho will undoubtedly use the same lineup which worked so effectively against the Cougars last week, with the possible exception of a shift at left end, where Kleffner may be used, either at the start or during later stages of the game, while Vesser may be shifted to fullback position in place of Kinnison.

OREGON DEFEATS WHITMAN IN DECISIVE STYLE

The University of Oregon eleven ran true to form last Saturday by beating the Whitman Missionaries 19 to 0 at Pendleton. Oregon had the game all to their liking throughout, and easily out-classed their Washington rivals in every department of the game. Shy Huntington's men played a good brand of football, displaying an even backfield and a steady, consistent line.

The Oregon team was somewhat hampered by injuries for the Whitman game, and Huntington was clearly not anxious to risk further injuries in the face of their battle with the Idaho Vandals at Eugene next Saturday afternoon.

TICKETS FOR FOLLIES ON SALE WEDNESDAY

General Admission To Be 75 Cents With Orchestra Seats At $1.00 Each

Tickets for the fourth annual Pep band show, which is to be given Nov. 2, will go on sale Wednesday, according to an announcement made today. General admission tickets will be 75 cents, and for those desiring seats in the bald-headed section, which embraces the first few rows of seats, a charge of $1.00 will be made.

An opportunity will be given for all tickets to be reserved at no extra cost. At a later date all ticket holders may reserve seats, with a "first come, first served" privilege.

A great deal more money is being spent this year than has been in past ones, for costumes, stage settings, and other material, and the raise in price of the tickets was necessary to cover this.

THANK YOU, EVERGREEN!

Throughout the week of the Idaho-W. S. C. battle, The Evergreen, Washington State's student publication, took a praiseworthy stand on several matters.

For one thing, it was announced through the editorial columns of the paper that painting on their campus which was done a week ago was not the work of Idaho undergraduates. This was the truth, for the true culprits were found, but nevertheless it would have been an easy opportunity to stir up an unfriendly feeling, had the paper so desired.

Another action which deserves favorable mention—in an editorial of the Evergreen issue of October 19, a definite stand was taken opposed to rowdiness and fighting among the two student bodies after the game. And for the first time in many years, there was no fighting.

On all subjects pertaining to the contest, the publication took a position against everything but friendly rivalry. Thank you, Evergreen!

STOP

Authorities of the Moscow high school have complained that certain university students have refused to pay admission to Moscow high school football games,—that they walked in, and flatly declared that they will not pay. This situation has caused a great deal of hard feeling among the students of the school.

It is nothing to be proud of,—a brazen attitude that will permit a person to so belittle himself as to do a trick of this kind. Moscow people pay admission to university athletic contests, why should we not do the same at theirs.

The action of these few Idaho undergraduates who have followed this practice has lowered the standing of the whole university in the eyes of Moscow high school.

We cannot be college men and cheap skates—it is the duty of every Idaho student to see that this unexcusable trick is stopped, and stopped immediately.

THE HATCHET

The hatchet has been buried—it is in the resting place where it should have been many years ago. For too long a time has there been an unfriendly feeling between W. S. C. and Idaho. But those days have passed.

The two institutions still continue to be rivals but it is now friendly rivalry—the kind that frowns on destruction of property, gang fighting, and cap rushes. And it must be kept as such.

SPORTING AUTHORITY BOOSTS IDAHO TEAM

ATHLETIC EDITOR OF OREGONIAN CALLS THEM FEROCIOUS

Gregory Says Portland Fans Are Missing Rare Treat With No Idaho Game

L. H. Gregory, sports editor of the Portland Oregonian, has established himself in the minds of students and followers of the University of Idaho Vandals as a real judge of football clubs.

During the week before the Washington State-Idaho game, which opened the 1933 Coast conference season, Gregory made a tour of the football camps of the northwest conference members. He visited the silver and gold headquarters last and his remarks make Idaho students and alumni sort of feel that the last will come first, or thereabouts.

PORTLAND UNFORTUNATE

"You Portland fans are not on the Idaho playing schedule this year, and it's a pity," is the way he starts out his writeup on the Idaho football situation. "It means you will miss seeing in action the snappiest, scrappiest, happiest, cockiest, spunkiest, hardest charging football crew this writer has looked at to date on his tour of the northwest colleges.

"How these boys charge! That's the outstanding feature of their play—that and the stream of scrappy, encouraging chatter, one to another, that floats up from the field after every down. We saw 'em in scrimmage and we've been digging mentally ever since for the proper adjective. It was more than just fierce or savage—it was ferocious.

IS DARK HORSE

"Idaho has a murderous schedule but if it can stand the hammering you'll hear from it.

Idaho looms as a most formidable 'dark horse,' but she can hardly hope to get over her schedule without hitting something tough. Our belief is that she will acquit herself well, but that next year, not this, should be Matty's big year."

The above quotations are merely samples from a column and a half which this noted western sports writer devoted to the University of Idaho squad.

HARD RACE

Gregory predicted that this year's conference race would be exceptionally tight but, like other critics, was disinclined to give any team other than the Golden Bears a chance at the championship — this season at least.

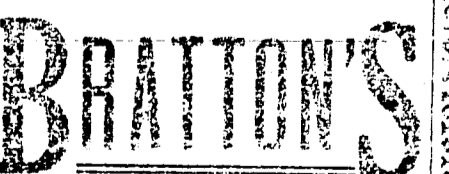

The fact that Idaho plays Oregon at Eugene this year instead of Portland, where the two teams have staged a majority of their contests, gives rise to Gregory's assertion that the Rose City gridiron followers are losing a choice dish. Coupled with that and acting as a blanket over the Oregon game, at least as far as Portland fans are concerned, will be the appearance of the California team against Washington State at Portland the same day.

suggestions that will enable the conference to perfect the most satisfactory and efficient program possible.

It was pointed out that the great variety of soil and climatic conditions make impossible the formulation of a detailed program to fit all counties. A general program which with minor modifications may be satisfactory in all parts of the state is sought as the outcome of the conference.

The second session was a discussion of the agricultural problem in Idaho and possible remedies. In this session the proposed plans of several other states were considered.

The first two meetings have been immensely successful, and the attendance large. The county agents' staff includes, J. W. Thometz, Chase Kearl, W. F. Thomas, T. J. Klingley, R. E. Alexander, P. M. HUSKIES UPSET DOPE BY DOWNING TROJANS

WASHINGTON SPRINGS BIG SURPRISE BY WINNING 22-0

Unexpected Strength Of Northern Team Causes Dope On Conference To Take Spill

In a game featured by three goals from the field and two touchdowns, the University of Washington last Saturday practically paralyzed the University of Southern California Trojans, winning its first conference tussle, 22 to 0.

Fumbles were frequent by both elevens in the game, particularly in the final quarter. Washington clearly outclassed their southern rivals throughout the entire game in every department except punting. The work of the Huskies in passing, line plunging, and defensive strategy far outstripped that of the Trojan eleven, which made a decidedly weak showing compared to what had been expected after last season's record.

DOPE IS UPSET

The Washington victory came as a distinct surprise to western football followers, who had almost unanimously picked the southern California eleven to emerge victorious by at least two touchdowns. That the sudden strength of the northern team spilled the dope and threw a monkey wrench into the football cogs of the Coast conference is freely admitted, and what effect it will have on the final outcome, it places Washington in the reckoning for conference honors, and turns the football eyes of the Coast more strongly than before to the north in picking the team for the annual east-west game at Pasadena New Year's day.

Coach Mathews, Idaho mentor, witnessed the game at Seattle last Saturday, but was not due to return to Moscow until Tuesday morning, so that his opinion on the U. S. C. victory could not be learned Monday evening by members of the Argonaut sporting staff. Nevertheless, it started rumors to floating rife about the campus over the week-end and bolstered up the spirits of Silver and Gold backers several notches.

Southern California had been picked by undergraduate students here as probably the toughest nut to crack on the Vandal schedule this season, and their markedly weak showing against the Huskies Saturday augers well for the aspirations of Mathew's men.

SOCIETY

Homecoming week proved to be unusually successful due to the presence of so many of our alumni who returned for the annual clash with W. S. C. The pep rally on Thursday night brought everyone's enthusiasm to its highest pitch and this continued throughout the big game on Friday. Thus the atmosphere at the Athletic ball, the annual formal following the W. S. C.-Idaho game, was one of the most enthusiastic and enjoyable dances held on the campus for some time.

Saturday night held many other attractions for the entertainment of the visitors and alumni. The Achilles club, a military fraternal organization, held an all-college dance at the university gymnasium. A five piece orchestra furnished music for a large number of guests.

Arthur Sargent, '22, of Wallace, Idaho, was a Moscow visitor for the W. S. C.-Idaho game.

Mrs. C. H. Lewis, of St. Maries, and her son Chauncey of Oklahoma, visited Charles Lewis at the Elwetans on Friday.

Kappa Delta announces the pledging of Charles Planski of Kellogg.

Frank Ensign of Boise, prominent fire insurance man and a charter member of the Idaho chapter of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, visited in Moscow last week-end. He is assistant general secretary of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Wednesday dinner guests of Kappa Alpha Theta were Dean and Mrs. F. A. Thomson, and Mrs. J. G. Eldridge, and Mr. Povey.

The patronesses of Kappa Alpha Theta were entertained at a fireside by the chapter Sunday evening. Those present were Mrs. F. A. Thomson, Mrs. J. F. Messenger, and Mrs. E. J. Iddings.

Attorney-General Martin, Past Grand Master of the Odd Fellows was a luncheon guest of Sigma Nu.

entire Idaho team is in the pink of condition and ready for their unbroken stretch of five bitter struggles, all with the exception of the Gonzaga clash in Spokane Nov. 3, against Coast conference teams.

Idaho's next game is with the Oregon University October 27, against whom she has never been able to deliver the final punch necessary for victory. Coach Mathews during the coming week will continue his work of polishing off the rough spots in Idaho's team, and preparing the men for their game with Oregon next Saturday at Eugene, and their annual clash the following week with Gonzaga in Spokane, which is stronger than expected, upsetting the Washington State Cougars two weeks ago.

UNIVERSITY'S TIMBER ENDANGERED BY RUST

CONCERN EXPRESSED BY DR. HENRY SCHMITZ

White Pine Disease Spreading Towards Large Forests of Northern Idaho

White pine blister rust, according to Dr. Henry Schmitz, associate professor of forest products of the university is rapidly spreading toward the 19 billion feet of white pine found in Idaho's northern forests. Last year at this time the nearest known infection was at Revokoke, B. C., which is about 150 miles northwest of the Idaho state line. It is now known to exist at Remata, B. C., a point only slightly more than 50 miles from the Idaho line.

If the summer of 1924 is as favorable to the spread of the disease as the summer of 1923 has been, it is probable that white pine blister rust will be entrenched in the white pine forests of the Inland Empire next year, he believes.

IDAHO IS INTERESTED

"The University of Idaho is not a disinterested spectator in the matter," said Dr. Schmitz. "One of the university's important sources of income will be threatened as soon as white pine blister rust becomes established within the state. The University of Idaho has about 215,000 acres left of the original land grant. Much of this land is timbered. In the Clearwater country alone the university has from 50,000 to 60,000 acres, this land being in part located within the finest stands of white pine in the world. The white pine timber alone is valued at approximately two million dollars."

Since the forest service will undoubtedly expect all of its protective force to engage in blister rust control work during part of the time, a course in blister rust control methods will be included in the forestry curriculum of the university next semester. The office of white pine blister rust control, United States department of agriculture, has signified its willingness to cooperate in the teaching of this course. The Idaho school of forestry will be the first forestry school in the United States to install such a course.

During the past field season, various state, federal and private agencies have cooperated to combat the white pine blister rust menace. All cooperative work done on the rust control within the state of Idaho is under the general supervision of an executive committee whose members are Mark A. Means, state commissioner of agriculture; W. D. Hamiston, assistant general manager of the Potlatch Lumber company; and Dr. Henry Schmitz, of the university school of forestry.

Reports From Boise Show Big Demands For Seats At O. A. C. Idaho Tangle

Boise.—Tickets for Boise's fourth annual Armistice day football game, now scheduled for November 10 with the University of Idaho and Oregon Agricultural college teams as participants, were placed on sale Monday, October 22, at the Owyhee hotel, according to an announcement by Claude Gibson, representing locally the university athletic management.

"The powerful Oregon Aggies are proving an admirable drawing card," said Gibson. "They will provide by far the most strenuous opposition an Idaho eleven has this far faced in Boise."

RESERVATIONS FOR MOSCOW

"Ample reservations have been made for Moscow people and Idaho students who will come to Boise on the annual Armistice Day 'Friendship' special. The visitors from the north will be well provided for with the best of seats."

"There are numerous O. A. C. graduates and former students in southern Idaho and the Aggies team will draw abundant support from Ontario, Nyssa, La Grande and other eastern Oregon towns."

BLEACHER SEATS GOOD

"All of the bleacher seats are good and most of the grandstand seats afford an excellent view of the field, but the choice seats are certain to be picked immediately. Those who wish to make sure of their reservations should make them at once."

"George Aiken, editor of the Ontario Argus, has already ordered 250 seats for Ontario alone; Aden Hyde, editor of the Caldwell Tribune, has ordered 50 seats and every day's mail brings smaller requests for reservations."

Pacific International Livestock Show To Be In Conjunction With Grain Show

Students of the college of agriculture of the university are working in preparation for the Pacific International Livestock show and Northwest Hay and Grain show which will be held at Portland, Nov. 3 to 10. Livestock judging teams will be selected from the departments of animal husbandry and dairy husbandry and a grain judging team from the agronomy department, to represent the university at the show.

A team of five will be selected for livestock judging, a team of three for dairy cattle judging and three for dairy products. Competition for places on the teams will continue until about Nov. 1.

TO SHOW STEERS

The university department of animal husbandry plans to show fat steers and sheep at the livestock exhibition. The sheep entered include fat wethers, breeding sheep, Hampshire, Rambouillets, Southdowns, Lincolns and Suffolks. This is the first year that the Pacific International has made a classification for Suffolk sheep. The University of Idaho Suffolks are among the first in the west, having been presented by the Suffolk Sheep society of England.

The team of three students for grain judging will be selected by Professor H. W. Hulbert of the department of agronomy, and will compete for a loving cup offered by the Portland Merchants' Exchange.

COUNTY AGENTS HELP

Professor Hulbert is working in conjunction with county agents and extension specialists to secure a good Idaho representation of grains and seed crops. Entries may be made in wheat, barley, oats, rye, small seeded legumes, peas, beans, hay and potatoes. Prizes will total $6000.

Idaho farmers who wish to make entries, it is announced, may take their samples to the local warehouse man who will ship them to Portland in carload grain shipments, saving freight charges. The grain will be cleaned at Portland. All small grains must reach the show before Nov. 1. The time limit for application for entry is Oct. 27. Premium lists may be secured, it is announced, from Professor Hulbert of the university, from county agents or from C. B. Ahlson of Boise, state seed commissioner.

GONZAGA HOLDS

In the second half the Vandal babes scored only twice, Sindberg carrying the ball both times. In the last quarter the Gonzaga team staged a rally in the face of overwhelming defeat and were lustily cheered when they scored a well earned touchdown.

Several Gonzaga men were taken out due to injuries and A. Receconi was removed early in the game for slugging.

Bouquets" Floyd L. Smith, sporting editor of The Spokesman-Review, says of the Idaho-Gonzaga game.

"It's a foregone conclusion that the Idaho-Gonzaga game November 3 will draw a capacity crowd, whether played at Moscow or Spokane. Idaho is resting after blanking W. S. C. 14 to 0, the first victory over the Cougars in nine years. Gonzaga scored four touchdowns on the Cougars, against Idaho's two, and trimmed them, 27 to 14.

"Coach Exendine's team, apparently lacking early season speed, has been unable to pinch hit, but before the season wanes will have struck its stride. Gonzaga has yet to play Montana at Missoula. Idaho blanked the Bruins, 40 to 0.

"When Idaho and Gonzaga meet it will be a clash between two brilliant, flashy teams, as well as an individual tussel between Houston Stockton and Bob Fitzke. Fitzke, Idaho's idol, is a mean kicker. He averages around 50 yards. He's a wicked plunger and a hard man to stop with the ball. On the other hand, Stockton has him outclassed when it comes to handling passes, and cool-headed generalship. Idaho's line demonstrated its strength in the W. S. C. game, while Gonzaga did equally well against the Cougars."
