MOSCOW, IDAHO FRIDAY NOVEMBER 23, 1923.

NUMBER 20

WORLD NEWS

Oels, Silesia, Nov. 22-- Settled in picturesque old Oels castle, former Crown Prince Frederick William received a flood of letters from all parts of Germany and Holland, welcoming him home, to-day.

London, Nov. 22--Relations between Great Britain and France are nearing a break over the German situation, and the entente cordiale threatens to cease. Downing street is silent concerning Poincaré's statement blaming England for her attitude.

Berlin, Nov. 22-- A further increase to-day in the price of bread to 400 billion marks a loaf led to renewed riots which the police failed to stop. The police were obliged to charge crowds threatening to storm the bakeries.

Brussels, Nov. 22 -- The Brussels Gazette to-day predicted that the Kaiser would be restored to power Dec. 1. Passports for Wilhelm's entire family arrived at Doorn, according to their reports.

Washington, Nov. 23 -- Awards of more than $30,000,000 were announced to-day by the mixed claims commission, to American claimants.

Oklahoma City, Nov. 23-- Governor Walton, found guilty of twelve of fourteen counts against him by the Senate trial committee, has grasped at the last straw by appealing the case to the United States Supreme court.

Paris, Nov. 23 -- Although it was accepted as certain in Paris tonight that the entente will survive the present crisis, there is little enthusiasm for the compromise that averted the break. The administration fears the coming elections which have made it necessary to patch up the relations.

Chicago, Nov. 23-- By a trust corner which has hoarded 30 million dozen eggs in warehouses here, city investigating authorities believe that the price will be raised today from 80 cents to a dollar a dozen. The artificial shortage is becoming seriously acute.

MINING PROFESSOR RESIGNS

Announcement of the resignation of C. B. Marshall, instructor in mining and metallurgy, was made several days ago from the president's office.

Mr. Marshall came to the university from practical mining in Old Mexico, as instructor in the school of mines and assistant metallurgist for the state bureau of mines. He has been called east and will leave Dec. 1st for New York, from which point he will return to Old Mexico to continue his former practice.

IDAHO-TROJAN GAME IS SEASON'S WINDUP

DOPE POINTS EVEN CHANCES FOR FINAL BATTLE

Prediction Bucket upset and Anything Is Possible and May Be Expected

(By Louis A. Boas)

To-morrow marks the wind-up of the football season for the Idaho Vandals, and with one exception, the end of Pacific Coast conference football in general. Two weeks ago all the available dope gave Idaho the benefit of the doubt and pointed to a victory for the Silver and Gold over the Emerald of the Southern California Trojans. Now, with the dope bucket turned upside down and inside out, anything is probable and can be expected. To be perfectly frank, Idahoans should not build their hopes too high, for should Idaho win, it will almost assuredly be by a light margin.

Two other games equalling in ferocity the Idaho-U. S. C. game will be enacted in the north. The Washington State Cougars invading Seattle to settle a long standing score with the Washington Huskies in the final game for the Cougars, and one which promises to be a nip and tuck affair until the final gun. Washington appears to have the edge; she can put a heavier team into the field in the first place, and her reserves are without question the stronger.

BREADTH CHIEF VALUE FROM EDUCATION--PLUM

FAMOUS ELECTRICAL ENGINEER TELLS UNIVERSITY'S VALUE

E. T. Plum Favors Well Rounded General Schooling To That Of Specialization

A chalk talk by E. T. Plum, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and at present vice-president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, was given at assembly Wednesday morning, in which he pointed out the necessity of a broader college education.

"All you are and all you ever will be is due to education, your whole life is your education," was the opening remark of Mr. Plum. He compared life to a spring in its pursuit of the ocean, explaining how the water from the spring flows through the smaller channels, gathering a little as it goes, then to the large river where it gathers much more, and finally to the ocean where it is more tranquil and loses all the silt and debris. So we go through life, first in childhood and grammar school, then to high school, where we learn a little more, then to college, the river, where we gather more knowledge, and then out in the broad stream of life to marriage, children, and the ocean of middle age, where we lose the silt and debris we have collected.

Mr. Plum's plea was for a more rounded education. He advocated a four year course of English, with all specialization at the end of the four years. Only seventy per cent of all those who specialize in college ever follow their chosen lines, according to Mr. Plum. The pyramids were given as an example of what a real college education should be, with

WESTMINISTER COUNCIL MEETS

Westminster Guild Council met at the home of Rev. Snoddy Tuesday evening. While enjoying a buffet supper, plans for the coming year were discussed. The following girls were present, representing various organizations on the campus: Minerva Tertling, Elmerna Gardner, Mary Penwell, Katherine Healy, Elizabeth Wymer, Mrs. Staples, Virginia Whittier, Glatha Hatfield, Mary Dickenson, Agnes Echerman, and Bertha Glunderman.

WEAVER MAKES PLANS TO BEAUTIFY CAMPUS

POSITIONS OF NEW BUILDINGS LOCATED IN PLANS

Head of Architectural Department Wants Campus To Be Beauty Spot

"The Idaho campus will be, in the future, an example of architectural correctness, harmonious arrangement, and beautiful landscaping," said Professor Weaver, head of the Architectural department in an interview for the Argonaut today.

"Idaho students must have a vision of a campus beautiful, one of long shady walks, ivy covered halls, vistas of quiet, and secluded nooks, and buildings made beautiful by proper designing and set off by proper landscaping. Our university is bound to grow rapidly and we must keep step with her development and beauty as we go along."

Professor Weaver has formulated a plan which will cover all the building and improvement to take place in the next ten or fifteen years. This tentative plan will not be concerned with the campus proper alone, but will extend to that part of the city which is immediately adjoining. It determined the location of all new buildings in reference to the ones that we already have.

"We have looked so far into the future that to some our plans may seem an impossibility, but they will be realized just as sure as the university grows," added Mr. Weaver. "We look ahead and see the new Science

WRESTLING PROSPECTS; PERFECT FOR VICTORY

TENTATIVE SCHEDULE LOOKS PROMISING FOR SQUAD

First Turnout Of Idaho Grapplers Begins Training For First Big Matches

Wrestling possibilities this year look exceedingly bright and a good showing of possible material has already turned out for mat work this year, including a number of letter men. A well balanced schedule has already been arranged.

About thirty-four men turned out for wrestling the first night among them three letter men of whom much can be expected. Coach "Babe" Brown says that there was some other good material among the new men that came out this year.

MATCHES ARRANGED

Several good matches have already been arranged. There will be one match with the University of Washington, one with the University of Oregon, and two matches with Washington State College. The matches with W. S. C. will, of course, arouse the greatest interest among the undergraduates here. "Babe" Brown will not himself be a participant this year, but with his coaching Idaho will undoubtedly make a commendable showing.

The wrestling department has received a new mat as part of some new equipment being purchased, which will permit more men to work at once than has been the case previously. The varsity football quarters are to be used for this sport, which has just been started at Idaho in the last two years. Some good records were made last year, and wrestling bids fair to become a major sport, judging by the increasing interest shown.

LOANS FOR MONTANA WOMEN

One hundred and six dollars of the Women's Self Government Association scholarship fund is now available for loans to university women. This money, bearing no interest, is loaned to juniors and seniors, preferably in amounts not exceeding $100 for each student, and is paid back after the student leaves school. The fund started in 1919, and $200 that has been loaned is now due.

FLYING SNOWFLAKES ARE WINTER'S FIRST COURIER

Snow, real snow, and the campus getting homesick and the freshmen cursing their little green hats, and winter showing her colors, all on Wednesday. Not that Idaho students haven't seen snow before. In fact, before many more weeks have passed the ground will probably be covered with it and the entire campus will be dotted with overcoats and toboggan caps.

There are no rivers or lakes near Moscow to go skating on, but tobogganing and sleigh riding are favorite sports. Soon sleigh riding parties will be bundling up and driving out on Sundays, with the runners crunching crisply in the snow, and perhaps the snow fluffs drifting down on them from a gray sky.

Winter styles in co-ed dress, however, have not yet made their appearance. Perhaps they wait for Thanksgiving, only a few days off. But the merchants are beginning to advertise. "Do your Christmas shopping early", newspapers are sporting holly wreaths, and jolly Santa Clauses, Pilgrim fathers and turkeys. The holidays are nearing and students' hearts are already quickening at the thoughts of trips home and the cheerful weeks at the end of the old year.

SCRIBES RATE IDAHO MOST PERFECT TEAM

SAN FRANCISCO SAYS STANFORD LUCKY TO BEAT IDAHO

Sport Writers Believe Vandal Combination Most Finished Team In Country

"As far as this neck of the woods is concerned, no team has ever displayed a more beautiful and finished product by way of a forward passing game than did Idaho," writes Franklin B. Morse, former All-American halfback for Princeton 1893, in the San Francisco Chronicle of Sunday, November 18. Copies of the paper containing the story of the Stanford-Idaho game at Palo Alto were received here Thursday by J. F. Stewart.

"Time after time the ball connected with the man for long gains," Morse continues, "on several occasions for thirty yards or more. Even when the pass was incompleting, there was always a man within a foot or so of it. It was a revelation to the crowd and one of the features of the game."

PRAISE FOR BOB FITZKE

"Fitzke might well be called the 'iron man.' Never were the efforts of a football player more deserving of victory. Fitzke was here, there and everywhere. He was in the game from start to finish and every minute of the time he was playing magnificently. A triple threat man of the purest ray serene, he is the type of

KLAN ESTABLISHES COLLEGE

Report comes from the east that Alma college has just been established at Zeraphat, N. J., by members of the Ku Klux Klan, in order to further the interests of that organization. The college, which is only about 15 miles from Princeton, has for its aim the influencing of Princeton students toward the work of the Klan since their present attitude is deplored by Alma White, president of the college, as being too indifferent toward this organization which, he claims, will soon sweep through our American colleges as it is supposed to be sweeping through the masses.

EIGHTEEN FROSH GET FOOTBALL NUMERALS

SEASON SHOWED PROSPECTS FOR VARSITY MATERIAL

Special Brilliance and Individual Stars Lacking in Yearlings, But Playing Consistent

Eighteen members of this year's Idaho freshmen football team have been recommended by Coach David MacMillan to receive the numerated sweater, the official award to participants in first year athletics who fulfill the necessary requirements.

Idaho freshmen this year did not duplicate the spectacular showing of last season's yearlings but from the standpoint of material the coaches believe them as good a bunch as could be asked for. Their addition to the varsity next year will bolster considerably Idaho's chances and will give Idaho some much needed reserve strength. None of the freshmen this year were outstanding players, in fact, several of them had never been in football togs before.

Had the schedule been six games instead of four, the freshmen might have developed into a formidable club, but freshmen teams are no longer developed as separate entities. The ultimate object is varsity material.

Those who receive the awards are: B. E. Lindberg, halfback, Post Falls; Roland Hutchinson, fullback, and Carl Hutchinson, tackle, Chewelah, Wash.; T. R. Dobbs, center, Twin Falls; Charles Diehl, Filer; Robert Putzier, guard, Twin Falls; J. R. Miles, halfback, Culesac; Stanley McDowell, end, San Francisco; M. Fuller, end, Orofino; Edwin Stuart, tackle, American Falls; J. W. Gartling, guard, Caldwell; George Pearson, halfback, Salt Lake City, Utah; George Relyea, tackle, New Plymouth; Frank Powers, quarter, Moscow; G. F. Cooper, quarterback, Tacoma, Wash.; L. W. Hanson, end, Moscow; Heber Sharp, tackle, St. Anthony; Cecil Baird, fullback, Chicago.

VOLLEYBALL TOURNAMENT SLATED FOR NEXT WEEK

Girls' Inter-House Contest Starts Soon After The Thanksgiving Vacation

"The inter-house volleyball tournament has been changed to the week following Thanksgiving," says Miss Lillian Wirt, director of physical education for women. "This new arrangement," she continued, "will enable the girls to get some necessary indoor practice before the games are played off, since former practices have been in Lewis Court."

The captains of each house team met Monday and drew for places in the playing schedule, the results of which are as follows beginning Monday, December 3, at 7 p. m.:

Kappa Alpha Theta vs. Ridenbaugh and Kappa Kappa Gamma vs. Pi Beta Phi, will constitute the first round. Chi Beta Epsilon and Forney hall drew "byes."

In the second round which will take place Tuesday, December 4, Chi Beta Epsilon will play the winner of the Kappa Alpha Theta-Ridenbaugh match, and Forney hall will

Victor Herbert's Unusual Musical Comedy To Be Produced By Strong Cast

According to the university calendar, the evenings of December 13 and 14 are scheduled to give a decided treat to the entire campus in the way of an unusually good musical comedy.

Rehearsals for one of Victor Herbert's most delightful musical compositions, "Sweethearts", have been going on for some time under the unit-

PLANS DEVELOPED BY STUDENT PRESIDENTS

TALBOT JENNINGS ATTENDS CONFERENCE IN LOS ANGELES

Idaho's Student Body Head Is Chosen Vice-President Of The Association

The president of the A. S. U. I., Talbot Jennings, has just returned from the meeting of the Pacific Schools President's Association, held in Los Angeles, November 8-9-10.

The University of Southern California and University of California, (southern branch), were joint hosts of the occasion. This conference was attended by the student body presidents of the University of California; University of California (southern branch); University of Washington; University of Idaho; Washington State College; University of Oregon; Oregon Agricultural College; California Aggies; University of British Columbia; Pacific University; University of Nevada; Whitman College; Occidental College; and Willamette.

DISCUSS PROBLEMS

A round table discussion of the general problems and common affairs were the main features of the conference. Some of the topics discussed were "Pacific Coast Intercollegiate relationships," "Student body problems", and "the scholarship and student-faculty relationship." Some of the important resolutions passed were: the resolution favoring honor system as traditional rather than as a written code; the resolution against hazing freshmen on the campus and within the different organized groups; and favoring the enforcement of customs of the schools by upper-classmen rather than by sophomores.

Sentiment, in general, was against the point systems, now in vogue in some institutions. This point system limits students in extra-curricular activities by making each activity count a certain number of points. When a student has attained a certain maximum number of points he is eliminated from participation. The main objection to this was that it has proven that student activities cannot be measured in term of figures and one student may be capable of doing more than another. So it was considered better that a student should be allowed to participate in as many activities as the scholarship rules allowed.

Another important matter discussed concerned the student body buildings. Special attention being given to the University of California's student union, California and Washington stadiums, and projects for the Oregon student union, and the Idaho memorial gymnasium.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

The present officers of the Pacific Schools President's Association are: President, William Monahan, of California; Vice-president, Talbot Jennings, of Idaho; and Secretary-treasurer, Al Masters, of Stanford. The

TELEGRAMS

The team knows that we're behind them. We've shown them that at every home game this year. We've supported them like a real Idaho crowd supports a real Idaho team.

Saturday the team plays a game approximately 1500 miles away from the home field. As much as we'd like to, we can't be there to lend our support and cheer them on. The team knows that we're behind them, though, even if we won't be there.

But to keep that thought fresh in the minds of each member of the squad, we can do one thing. Every dormitory, sorority and fraternity house on the campus can send a telegram to the team this evening, and it can be followed by another one immediately after the game tomorrow.

The messages should be sent in care of Coach R. L. Matthews, at the Maryland Hotel, Pasadena, California. It might be well to add that the local telegraph office closes at eight o'clock this evening.

Writing Home

WHEN we are away at school we are apt to forget that the father and mother who have looked after our interests so long and who have sent us to college at a sacrifice to themselves are waiting anxiously for word from us.

They want to know what we do, how we are getting along, and their interest lies in us. Those who go away are apt to forget how those feel who stay home, and live without the ones they have their interests so bound up in.

Perhaps only those who haven't a home background to what they do can appreciate what it means. The close relation between a man and his home should be preserved in everything he does, and a few letters to the folks will make them feel that we still work with them, and that our accomplishments are as much theirs as ours.

The Bulletin Board

THE University bulletin board was erected primarily for the purpose of furnishing a place where students might gain information pertaining to faculty and student announcements. During the past year it seems to have degenerated into a free advertising bill board, with each organization bending its energies towards issuing the largest and most gaudily decorated advertisement regarding its forthcoming functions, benefitting directly only those artistically gifted poster designers. It is not unusual, in fact one might say it was the rule, that one poster is relegated to the floor or otherwise removed to make way for a new one, and the fight for bulletin board space waxes continually warmer. It might not be amiss to suggest a limitation as to the allowable size for any announcement, whatever its nature.

The Co-Ed Dance

THE approaching Wednesday evening heralds an event significant in the history of campus activities. Sponsored by the Women's League, this pre-Thanksgiving day dance has become the center of campus talk and, judging by the universal approval it has received, it bids fair to continue as an annual event.

Dating back to the advent of their Prom, the co-eds are coming into their own, and, under sensible restrictions, there is no reason why for one dance they should not exchange places with the men. And it is indeed to be regretted that they will not be permitted to enjoy, to a reasonable extent, this one evidence of their emancipation.

THE BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

A total of 18 games, 15 of which are conference clashes, face the Idaho basketball team. The season begins at home, with invasions by Montana, Oregon, W. S. C. and Oregon Agricultural college.

Around 50 candidates are in evidence this week for regular workouts of the Idaho squad and Coach MacMillan faces the problem of obtaining room in which to accommodate all the men while a preliminary survey is made to determine which of the huge squad shall be retained for varsity training.

The schedule for the Vandal hoopsters, not including the annual holiday season tour through eastern Washington, and Northern Idaho, is as follows:

January 9, Tacoma Buzzards (all-stars), at Moscow; January 11 and 12, Montana, at Moscow; January 19, O. A. C., at Moscow; January 25, W. S. C., at Pullman; January 26, W. S. C., at Moscow; February 2, Gonzaga, at Moscow; February 8, W. S. C. at Pullman; February 9, W. S. C., at Moscow; February 13, Oregon, at Moscow; February 16, Washington, at Moscow; February 19, Gonzaga, at Spokane; February 20, Washington at Seattle; February 21, Willamette at Salem; February 22, O. A. C., at Corvallis; February 23, Oregon at Eugene; February 28 and March 1, Montana at Missoula.

EAR RINGS ARE BARBAROUS

Idaho co-eds, with their latest up-to-the-minute earrings, merely hark back through the ages, and when a young bobbed haired lady "makes her date", or finale hops with her dangling pennants in her ears, she goes back almost to Mother Eve.

The present craze is a recrudescence of a fashion which dates back to earliest times, men as well as women being swayed by the customs, especially among orientals.

MEN ADDED

Earrings were worn by both sexes among the Persians, Babylonians, Lydians, and Carthaginians. They were always worn by the Greek women from Hera, in the Iliad, down to Venus de Medic, whose ears are pierced for the reception of earrings. Many Egyptian earrings of very beautiful design have been imitated in modern times.

In England earrings were worn by the Romanized Britons and by Anglo-Saxons. After the tenth century they went out of fashion in Europe not to be re-introduced again until the sixteenth century. Stubbs, writing in Queen Elizabeth's day says: "The women are not ashamed to make holes in their ears, wherein they hang rings and other jewels of gold and precious stones."

Seafaring men, especially of the southern nations of Europe, have retained the use of earrings, commonly in the form of gold hoops.

CONVENTION AT MONTANA

State university of Montana, Nov. 12. The third annual convention of Delta Phi Delta, national honorary art fraternity will be held in Missoula immediately following commencement next June. There are thirteen chapters of Delta Phi Delta and they will probably all be represented. The convention will last four days.

next meeting place of the P. S. P. A., will be at the University of Oregon. The hosts provided an exceptionally good program of entertainment for these representatives, all the time they were there. A specially arranged visit to the Lasky-Paramount studio in Hollywood, was a novel experience. Here they witnessed the filming of Pola Negri in the "Shadows of Paris." They were guests at the football game between the University of California and the University of Southern California in the new coliseum at Los Angeles, which was witnessed by 72,000 people. They were also extended the courtesies of the Los Angeles University Club, Athletic Club, and the Country Club at Beverly.

President Jennings will give a complete report of this conference at the next A. S. U. I. meeting.

broad foundations, and heavy walls leading to the apex. There is the ideal location for the specialized study with the solid foundation to hold it up. The man who specialized in college has only the knowledge of his chosen field to bear him through life and may, like an aging flag-staff, need many props to aid him.

Among the numerous complimentary remarks heard about Mr. Plum's talk, was one short pithy statement of one of the older students, "It's too true to life."

WOMEN'S LEAGUE HOP CAUSES HOT ANXIETY

C. B. Marshall Returns to Old Mexico think I'm going to go, to well, you see Bill Jones has asked me, invited me, to go out to, down to, well to go to his house for Thanksgiving. You know he lives in Lewiston, and, well, you see, I think we are going to leave Wednesday afternoon, so I won't be here for the dance. Oh, yes, I would just love to g-go, but you s-see, I wouldn't want you to hold the date open for me, for if I am not in town then you wouldn't be able to get anyone else, oh, I mean, it wouldn't be fair for me to say I would go when maybe I won't be in town, and, well, you see, don't you?" "Oh, yes, I see, perfectly!" comes a rather uncertain voice over the wire and click goes two telephone receivers.

CO-EDS WISE

What co-ed on the campus does not know that little speech she hears from memory, and what co-ed can not reel it off with far greater eloquence than that displayed by the lads? Oh, but what a different story to be at the receiving end of the line, what a different story to utter, "Oh, yes, I see!"

And what man after stammering the foregoing speech has not turned to his friends, and with a satisfied smile announced, "Oh, boy, that got by big! She swallowed it right down! Guess I'm not so bad at getting out of a date! By-the-way, Jones, you have invited me down to Lewiston for Thanksgiving. Don't forget it!"

GIRLS DO HONORS

Such conversations are decidedly in vogue at the Idaho institution with the coming of the Women's League dance, which will be given Wednesday evening. The affair is the first of its kind given at Idaho, and with the approach of leap year, bids fair to be far from the last. The girls will invite the men, buy the tickets, arrange the programs, and in short, do all the honors. It is inconceivable, incomprehensible, incredible, and all the other ins and outs in the dictionary, what the men and co-eds of the university will learn from their positions on the "other end of the line." After the experience which will befall them on Wednesday evening to how many Idaho lads will be applicable the words of Coleridge:

"A sadder and a wiser man,
He rose the morrow morn."

The Women's League dance, which will be given next Wednesday evening, promises to be one of the most memorable ones of the entire college year. This is the first time in the history of the school that the co-eds have undertaken this kind of an entertainment and plans have been made to make the dance a tradition at Idaho.

After careful consideration on the part of both the co-eds and the faculty, it has been decided that the girls will not call for the men whom they are taking to the dance. This action was not taken with any idea of spoiling the spirit of the dance, but rather as a preventative measure against any criticism which might arise. The girls will have charge of everything else as was originally planned.

Talks were given by Miss Jensen, Miss Lewis, and Miss Helen Ramsey, who told of the purposes of the fraternity and its work in other institutions. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games appropriate to the occasion and telling stories. The sociability was increased by the serving of refreshments, and all the girls reported a good time.

BOY SERENADERS APPEAR MAKE HIT ON THE CAMPUS

There are serenaders and serenaders, but the campus has perhaps never seen so strange and unique a troupe as the one that appeared on the scene last night and caroled for the benefit of the public at large in the vicinity of the Phi Delta Theta house. They made their approach from apparently nowhere and their clear young voices were carried on the crisp, cool autumn air even into rooms where the fellows were studying.

They were a strange trio; three small boys and a banjo and a collection of songs worked out in simple unconscious harmony that gave to them a quaint and unusual charm. The smaller of the boys also made the trio more versatile by his ability to perform the intricate movements of the clog dance in perfect rhythm to the music of the other two.

The first exhibition was staged in the swing in front of the Beta house and later they moved troubadours, audience and all into the Phi Delta house where the boys were induced to do their stuff from soup to nuts. They sang to an appreciative audience as was seen by the way they were rewarded by contributions at the end of their concert.

So if you look out of your window and see three small boys carolling to the accompaniment of an old banjo, you may know that you are being honored by the Young Troubadors.

IDAHO STEER WINS FIRST IN KANSAS CITY CONTEST

E-dah-ho Continues To Get Blue Ribbons In Long String Of Firsts

E-dah-ho, champion university shorthorn steer, easily won first in his class at the American Royal Livestock show in Kansas City, according to information received here, which said that the class in which the Idaho steer competed was a strong one. This steer was champion over all breeds and ages at the Pacific International, recently held in Portland.

E-dah-ho, an animal bred and exhibited by the university, will be entered at the International Livestock exposition next month.

building with lines melting harmoniously into the particular "Idaho" style, a beautiful memorial gymnasium, set off by attractive shrubs and trees, new dormitories, a library building, a stadium, and an open air theatre.

"A tree and a shrub are not things to be scattered willy nilly about; they are to architecture just what a collar and tie is to the man; a means of making attractive what is behind. Our buildings must be made to relate functionally; that is, the Science buildings in one group, the fine arts and literature in another and the library in a central position."

The plan originated by Professor Weaver will have to have the co-operation of every Idaho student and the assistance of the city of Moscow. A complete drawing of the future campus has been made and is now in the hands of President Upham.

game for the Webfooters. Neither team is strong as far as conference events go this year, and the game will resolve itself for the stellar championship. The showing of the Aggies last week in holding W. S. C. to a 3 to 3 tie was the surprise of the week, and a win by them over the Lemon-Yellow seems far more probable than the reverse.

The big human-interest game of the day, however, will be the Stanford-California clash in the recently completed Berkeley stadium, which will be officially dedicated at this time. Stanford has keenly felt the stings of repeated California victories during the past three years, and they realize that this season is their opportunity of breaking the victory streak and retrieving the honor of old Stanford. Fresh from their win over Idaho, which was as little expected by them as it was by the rest of the conference, they will enter to-morrow's game in just the correct mood to hand the Bears their first and only defeat in four years.

ed direction of Prof. John Cushman, and Prof. Orlo Bangs. The play itself offers great opportunity for both unique stage settings and individual interpretation of parts. From all information that has been given out, the management means to make the fullest use of all possibilities.

An announcement of the cast which has been chosen after careful deliberation has been made. The principals of the cast follow: Sylvia, Florence Selby; Dame Paula, Editha Barton; Lizette, Demerice Ebbly; Clairette, Lillian Shaw; Babette, Pearl Tschirgi; Jeanette, Fern Anderson; ToINETTE, Katherine Dwyer; Nanette, Mildred Holmes; Mikel Mik-elovitch, Joe Cogan; Franz, the heir presumptive to the throne of Zilania, W. M. Michael; Lieutenant, Karl Wesley Barton; Hon. Percival Slingsby, Thone Roos; Betrus Van Tromp, Bud Melin; Aristide Caniche, Maurice Jackson; Liane, Louisa Martin.

During the intermission between acts one and two, a tableau will be given, demonstrating the various character types that have been decided on in the beauty contest. This feature in itself will cause no end of excitement.

The judging day for this contest has been set for Nov. 27. The contest has been the outgrowth of an idea, held by various people on the campus, that many girls represent distinct types of American womanhood. It is rather an effort to show various

NATION'S EDUCATION BOARD HONORS PRESIDENT UPHAM

Idaho's Head Elected To Executive Committee Of Association Of State Universities

Dr. A. H. Upham, President of the university of Idaho, was made a member of the executive committee of the Association of State universities at its annual convention just closed in Chicago. Dr. Ernest H. Lindley, former president of Idaho, was elected vice-president of the association. Two former Idaho presidents were in attendance, Dr. James A. MacLean, president of Manitoba, and Dr. Melvin A. Brannon, chancellor of the Montana university.

Officers of the association are: president, President David Kinley of Illinois; vice-president, Chancellor Ernest H. Lindley, of the Kansas university; secretary-treasurer, President Harry W. Chase of the university of North Carolina executive committee, President F. L. McVey, of the university of Kentucky, and President A. H. Upham, of Idaho.

STATE CHIEF EXECUTIVE SUPPORTS IDAHO'S TEAM

Letter From Governor Moore Predicts Victory In Season's Gridiron Games

The following letter was received from Governor C. C. Moore just before the Idaho-O. A. C. game, and it shows how completely the state is behind the Vandal team, and behind the Idaho activities in every line.

That Idaho did win is evidence that the school is doing all that it can for the state.

The governor's letter follows:

It is unnecessary to call the attention of the alumni of the state university to the approaching football game with the warriors of Oregon Agricultural College. I have much first-hand evidence that all old Idaho students and hundreds of friends of the institution will turn out en masse to cheer the Silver and Gold on to victory. I am staying to see this game in spite of the fact that doing so necessitates a long, hard drive Saturday night. I feel that my duty is in Boise that day and I feel that I would be negligent to my obligation of loyalty to the state university if I voluntarily left the city before the game.

Our state university in scholastic standards, requirements for entrance and graduation, stands in the front rank with the great universities of the country. We may well be proud of its traditions and the type of men and women who are trained inside its halls. Year by year we feel the influence of Idaho graduates more and more in the legislative halls, in the courts, in business, in civic development, and social intercourse of the state of Idaho. The development of Idaho depends to a great extent upon the training of its citizenry and the future life of Idaho will be written to a great extent by Idaho graduates.

The game Saturday means much to Idaho. There have been victories all along the line. The traditional enemy, W. S. C., has been vanquished like the grass that falls before the scythe. All efforts of true Idahoans should lead to bring another glorious victory to the Silver and Gold. The winning of this game will put Idaho on the map in another way. Its name will be heralded abroad and fame will come to Idaho varsity.

I am proud of Idaho's team and its coaches. I am reminded that these men in the full enthusiasm of young manhood are fighting for the glory of a state. Would that we could always have men who would sacrifice their efforts to the good of the state. I take from this team a lesson—BE YE ALSO LOYAL—today, Saturday, and for the future give the best you have for the good of the State of Idaho.

C. C. MOORE,
Governor.

W. S. C. OUTLOOK DOUBTFUL BASKET MATERIAL IS POOR

Coach Bohler Says That Cougar Basketball Material Not Of Championship Caliber

"As a whole, our basketball material this year is fair, but not of championship caliber," said Dr. J. Fred Bohler, director of athletics for men at the State College of Washington, in discussing the prospects for the coming season.

"It is rather early yet to prophesy. From last year's team we lost Harold Sorenson, center, of Ellensburg; Victor Herrington, guard, Waitsburg; Clarence Loomis, guard, Seattle; and Jack Friel, forward, Waterville. They were good men and their places will be hard to fill, since they were the star men of our team last year.

"Letter men returning will be Wallace Kelso, Kiona, at forward; Cecil McCarthy, Pullman, at center; Captain Lowell Schroeder, Pullman, and William Reese, Pullman, both at guard. Schroeder and Kelso are good, the others are just fair.

"From last year's freshman team we will have Bill Nolan, Kirkland, and Harold Morgan, Wapato, both forwards, who are fairly good material. Hugo Schultz, a freshman from Reardan two years ago, has returned to school, and is also considered good forward material. Leonard Gehrke of Rainier, last year's freshman center, is in college and will probably help strengthen the center position. However, we are weak at this point. "Captain Schroeder, who was All-Northwest guard last year, will be able to hold down one of the guard positions. Reese and Joe Chandler of Walla Walla, who were substitutes last year, and Leon Sayres, Waitsburg, of two years ago, all guards, will be trying for the position at guard vacated by Herrington. Harold Weingarten of Tacoma, a last year's freshman, will also be turning out.

"Besides these we have Leo Morgan of Clarkston, a sub of last year's team, and Walter Horn, Spokane, of last year's freshman team, both turning out for one of the forward positions.

FIRST PROGRAM MEETING HELD BY ENGLISH CLUB

Professor Michael, who has had wide experience in the past in the field of dramatics in American universities, gave a series of Indian folklore readings to sixty members of the English club at the first program meeting of the year held in the university hut Thursday night.

The English club is honorary elective, and each year the organization backs some literary activity on the campus until it has gained sufficient momentum to be taken over by the student body. Two years ago all dramatics and the little theatre movement were run by the English club. Last year the Blue Bucket was started, and it is now under student management. For the present year the project is to establish a university library of current contemporary fiction.

Mrs. George Morey Miller furnished the refreshments for the first meeting of the club.

YALE MEN QUIZZED ABOUT GRAPE JUICE FOUND IN QUARTERS

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Thirty Yale students have been questioned by the dean about the presence in their rooms of grape juice which was unfermented when purchased, but later was made potent by the addition of yeast.

An agent took orders on the campus for the juice, which was delivered after so long a time that many thought his visit was a hoax. With the juice came directions for adding the yeast. Many followed the directions and found that the recipe worked all right.

A recent faculty order threatened expulsion of students who were found to have intoxicating liquor in their rooms.

player who would make the heart of any coach beat faster."

In describing the Idaho team, Morse says, "the Vandals are a strong combination, fast, resourceful and with first class interference for their runners so that Stanford's showing was all the more meritorious. Always, throughout Saturday's game, Idaho was a menace, and it is safe to say that there wasn't a single Stanford follower who felt at ease while the score was 10 to 7, even though in the Cardinals favor. Not till Campbell made the final touchdown did their pulse become normal."

GREAT AERIAL ATTACK

"There isn't a team in the country but what could learn some points in the art of forward passing from Idaho. Always there was a man ready to connect with the ball and there was none of the hit or miss appearance that is so common. Even when the pass failed of completion there was no doubt as to the man who was designated to receive, for he never missed it by more than a foot or two whether it was a 10-yard pass or a 30-yard one."

Morse's enthusiasm over the passing game of the Vandals, of course, reflects great credit on "Skippy" Stivers, the sending end of the Idaho aerial attack, on the other halfbacks, the ends, and on Coach Mathews. In speaking again of individual men Morse says:

STIVERS IS STAR MAN

"Next to Fitzke, the 'iron man,' Stivers was the busiest man on the Idaho team. We doff our hat to Fitzke with pleasure. Few men could be more useful to a team from every point of view, passing, running, kicking and general offensive and defensive work. He simply can't be hurt and that's a considerable asset in this somewhat tumultuous game.

"When Idaho turned around after Stanford made its first touchdown and threatened to do likewise, Coach Kerr didn't waste any time throwing in fresh reserves on the home 10-yard line. Six more men and Kerr would have had a brand new team in the field. Bucklin, Stevens and Davis were the only three reserves that Idaho called on during the entire game. Kerr made sixteen changes in his alignment."

"I did not think— I investigated"

One day in 1895, Roentgen noticed that a cardboard coated with fluorescent material glowed while a nearby Pluecker tube was in action. "What did you think?" an English scientist asked him. "I did not think; I investigated," was the reply.

Roentgen covered the tube with black paper. Still the cardboard glowed. He took photographs through a pine door and discovered on them a white band corresponding to the lead beading on the door. His investigation led to the discovery of X-rays.

Roentgen's rays have proved an inestimable boon to humanity. In the hands of doctor and surgeon they are saving life and reducing suffering. In the hands of the scientist they are yielding new knowledge—even of the arrangement and structure of atoms. The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company have contributed greatly to these ends by developing more powerful and efficacious X-ray tubes.

The General Electric Company manufactures everything electric—from fans to powerful locomotives, from tiny lamps to mighty power plants. Its products are used around the world.
