NUMBER 41.

NEW CONSTITUTION UP FOR APPROVAL

Students Offered Opportunity to Put A. S. U. I. on Sound Business Basis Under New Governing Plan

ESTABLISHMENT at the University of Idaho of the general manager plan of student government, so successfully used in practically every large college or university west of the Mississippi, is proposed in the report of the A. S. U. I. recodification committee. The complete constitution, as recodified, was read at the A. S. U. I. meeting Tuesday afternoon by Floyd E. Marchesi, chairman. Centralization of all student body activities in the hands of the executive committee and supervision of all acts of the general manager by the executive committee will be accomplished upon adoption of the recodified constitution by the student body. The recodified constitution has been designed by the committee to make of the A. S. U. I. a centralized business unit with actual supervision of all activities in the hands of the students themselves through the medium of the executive board.

Idaho's proposed student constitution, to be made effective by two-thirds vote of the students, is regarded as providing the best system of student government at the university. Constitutions of all Pacific coast universities have been examined with the view of embodying the best provisions to fit Idaho's needs and conditions. Representatives of every branch of undergraduate endeavor have been called before the committee to present all phases of student activity for incorporation within the constitution.

The vote for the acceptance of the recodified constitution will be held by ballot Wednesday, March 12, in room 217 of the Administration building.

The constitution as recodified has been welcomed by campus organizations, present student body officers, and members of the faculty.

The new plan has been unanimously approved by the "I" club, the Pep band, "The Curtain," the Argonaut board, the Men's Glee club, the Girls' Glee club, the Women's Athletic association, the Idaho chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights, the Ag. club, and by student managers representing "The Gem of the Mountains," "The Argonaut," "The Blue Bucket," debate, and present student officers. Individuals endorsing the new plan are President A. H. Upham, Coach R. L. Mathews, Col. E. R. Chrisman, faculty representative on the executive board, Graduate Manager Albert Knudson, Coach David MacMillan, and Talbot Jennings, president of the student body.

EXECUTIVE BOARD GOVERNS

Under the new plan the executive board will be the governing body of the association. The board will be made up of six upperclassmen and the three general officers of the student body, namely president, vice-president, and secretary, with two ex-officio members without vote in a faculty representative and an alumni representative. The six upperclassmen are to be one woman and two men from each of the two upper classes. The faculty member is appointed by the president of the university and the alumni member is appointed by the president of the alumni association. Both appointments are to be made from recommendations submitted by the executive board.

In addition to being the governing body of the association, the executive board has control over all acts of the general manager regarding the expenditure of funds and will demand regular reports from the manager on student body expenditures.

The general manager shall be the business head of the Associated Students, subject to the general control of the executive board, and all departmental budgets must be approved by the executive board before student body funds may be expended by the general manager.

MANAGER AN ALUMNUS

Each recognized department, such as athletics, debate, glee clubs, etc., will have student managers to work in co-operation with and under the supervision of the general manager in the administration of the business affairs of the respective organizations. The general manager must be an alumnus of the university which provision assures that the general manager will be devoted to the best year.

interests of the university and thoroughly familiar with campus conditions.

Official recognition of the Idaho chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights, the creation of the department of "University judging teams in so far as they are concerned with intercollegiate competition in agriculture," the taking over of "The Blue Bucket" under A. S. U. I. control, the creation of the department of dramatics, and the recognition of the Women's Athletic association under the department of athletics, are embodied under the recodified constitution.

THREE STANDING COMMITTEES

Three standing committees are created under the new plan in the rally committee, the freshman-sophomore committee, and the election committee. The rally committee shall assist the yell king in organizing all rallies and stunts put on during the collegiate year. Its members are the yell king as chairman, the president of the intercollegiate Knights, the president of the Women's League, and two seniors appointed by the president of the A. S. U. I.

The freshman-sophomore committee shall be composed of upperclassmen, members of the "I" club, and elected by the "I" club to "organize and supervise the fights and rushes between the sophomores and freshmen." The election committee is to be made up of six upperclassmen, three men and three women, to "supervise all A. S. U. I. elections and the first freshman class election."

The recodification committee was appointed by Student Body President Jennings the latter part of November and members have been actively at work since that time. Credit for the recodified constitution, regarded as the most important student legislative work in the past two college generations, is due largely to Mr. Marchesi as chairman, and Talbot Jennings, who as student body president was an active, although ex-officio member of the committee. Other members of the committee are: Pearl Stalker, Fred Crandall, Florence Graves, Ronald E. Eversly, Vaughn Prater, and Joel L. Priest, Jr.

SYSTEM INCORPORATED

To incorporate what is known as the "general manager system," found so successful in other institutions, and to make the constitution suitable for Idaho conditions, ideals, and traditions, the committee found it necessary to re-arrange the entire existing constitution, but the fundamentals of the present constitution are preserved. To comply with the system elimination of the athletic board, the A. S. U. I. treasurer and the board of supervisors became necessary.

The athletic board's elimination was provided for by a unanimous vote of the "I" club as a non-essential organization. The general manager takes over the duties of the A. S. U. I. treasurer, and the board of supervisors is made unnecessary by the provision of the constitutions making the departmental managers under the supervision of the general manager.

Provision is made for the transfer of officers eliminated to the executive board for the balance of their term of office or for the 1923-1924 college year.

CO-ED LEAGUE TO ELECT SOON

Women will Choose Officers in April—Oppose Political Combines

The coming election of officers for the Women's League, to be held sometime in the middle of April, is attracting the interest of every girl on the campus as the presidency of the league has come to mean a great deal at the University of Idaho.

The constitution provides that the president shall represent Idaho at the conference of Deans and Students, held each year in one of the several western states. The young woman who is to be elected to the important position will be chosen from those conspicuous by their interest in all woman's activities and the general growth and development of the university.

NOMINATIONS BY COMMITTEE

At the next regular meeting of the League, Tuesday, March 11, the nominating committee will be appointed and at the following meeting their nominations will be presented. At that time however, it will be possible to make further nominations from the floor. In this way, every chance will be given to those who wish to make further nominations.

As typical of their progressive attitude toward all questions the League has come out definitely as standing against political combinations, the purpose of electing a member of some special group or organization. The girl who is big enough to fill the place is the girl who will be considered in the attitude taken. All girls are being urged to forget their personal ambitions in the matter and to vote for the good of the entire League. In this way they hope to set an example for the whole school.

Aside from the matter of election there are other important questions, such as the one pertaining to the scholarship fund, to be discussed at the next Women's League meeting.

In the meantime all girls are asked to give the matter of election their serious consideration in order that they may vote intelligently.

VANDALS WIN VICTORY; SWAMP GONZAGA SQUAD

Idaho Team Takes Long End of 43-31 Score

After the score had been tied seven times, the Idaho basketball team Thursday night raced to a happy ending and defeated Gonzaga, 43 to 31, in the Gonzaga gymnasium. Play was swift and furious and interest of a large crowd was at top pitch until Idaho drew away in the last few minutes.

Three men, Rotchford of Gonzaga, Penwell and Remer of Idaho, were taken from the game because of fouls called against them. Telford, Idaho star, was out of the contest.

NELSON SCORES HEAVILY

Rotchford, Gonzaga forward, who tallied 13 points, and Huetter, center, played stellar ball for Gonzaga. They made all of Gonzaga's scores in the opening period, which ended 16 to 15 for Gonzaga. Nelson, who scored seven field goals for Idaho, displayed uncanny ability to drop through free throws, making eight out of 10 count. Penwell played well at forward.

Just before the close of the game, Idaho opened up a bag of speedy floorwork tricks which penetrated the Spokane players defense for the winning margin. Several times the invaders worked the ball the length of the floor for scores without interruption.

Idaho (43) Gonzaga (31)
Penwell R. F. Rotchford
Remer L. F. Fitzgerald
Fitzke C. Huetter
Nelson R. G. Needles
Stivers L. G. Flaherty
Substitutions: Idaho—Fields for Penwell; Kline for Remer. Gonzaga—Rebecca for Rotchford.

Gridders Start Spring Practice

Vandal Football Men Begin Advance Workouts for 1924 Season

Spring football practice at Idaho opened Tuesday, with practically every letterman being out in a suit in response to the call issued by R. L. Mathews, director of athletics, through his classes in football coaching and theory. These classes are attended by all prospective football men.

Open practice for the present will probably be held. Later when the necessity for secret practice arises and when MacLean field becomes dry enough, the squad will work out there.

With only two varsity men ineligible for play next fall, Abe Goff and Maurice Kline, the football outlook, so far as material is concerned, seems good. With the possible exception of center position, every place on the team will have several good candidates. Kline and Goff were first-string centers on last year's squad, so their loss may be difficult to replace.

SIGMA CHI INITIATION WILL OCCUR MARCH 15

Is Seventh National Fraternity to Come onto Campus

Phi Alpha Psi, local fraternity, will take its place on the campus the evening of March 15 as Sigma Chi, thus making the seventh national men's fraternity to come to Idaho.

The program of initiation will probably begin Friday, March 14, and will have its culmination at the banquet and dance to be given Saturday evening. The banquet will be held some time early Saturday evening at Forney hall and will be followed by the installation ball at the Elks' temple, Sunday, from 2:30 to 5:00 the chapter will hold open house.

ONE HUNDRED VISITORS

From 75 to 100 visitors, many of them officials of the national organization, are expected to attend the ceremonies. Alex A. Sharp of Chicago, and Executive secretary of Sigma Chi, will have charge of the initiation ceremonies.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TO BEGIN THURSDAY

The girls' inter-house basketball tournament will begin Thursday night, at 7:15, with a game between Chi Beta Epsilon and Ridenbaugh hall, two of the strongest teams on the campus. Delta Gamma and Kappa Kappa Gamma will also play on the same night, and the games will be played in alternating halves.

The town girls will play the winners of the Chi Beta Epsilon-Ridenbaugh match; and Forney hall will play the winners of the Delta Gamma-Kappa Kappa Gamma match, Saturday p. m., March 8, at 1:30.

Miss Lillian Wirt, head of the physical education department for women, will act as referee at all four games.

THE CAPTAINS.

The captains of the house teams are: Evangeline Bennett, Ridenbaugh hall; Esther Kennedy, Chi Beta Epsilon; Dorothy Darling, Delta Gamma; Hazel Mory Roe, Forney hall; Ruth McKinney, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Avis Bowdish, Town Girls.

Practice for class teams will begin as soon as the house tournament is over.

CANDIDATES TO REPORT

All candidates for varsity baseball will report for practice on Monday night, March 10. Suits and equipment will be issued from the varsity equipment room on Saturday, March 8.

Coach MacMillan wants all men with baseball ability to turn out because it is expected that Idaho will have one of the best teams in the Conference this year. There has been scheduled for this season 16 Northwest conference games, eight of which are to be played at Idaho.

FORESTRY STUDENTS HEAR LECTURE SERIES

U. S. Forest Service Man Completes Talk on "Maps and Surveys"

James B. Yule, Assistant Engineer of District One, U. S. Forest Service, with headquarters at Missoula, Montana, completed a week's series of special lectures to forestry students last Saturday.

These lectures are a result of co-operation between the U. S. Forest Service and the Idaho School of Forestry.

Mr. Yule chose as his subject "Maps and Surveys" outlining the systems used by the Forest Service in securing and compiling data for mapping and surveying as carried on by his office. Mr. Yule has been connected with the Forest Service for the past twelve years.

U. OF I. GRADUATES HOLD POSITIONS IN CAPITAL

University Grads Found in Positions of Importance

"Prominence of Idaho graduates and former faculty members in Washington, D. C., is indicative of the university's rapidly broadening influence," declared G. P. Mix, first graduate in the Idaho college of agriculture, who has recently returned from the nation's capital, where he represented Idaho farmers before President Coolidge and senate and house agricultural committees in behalf of agricultural relief.

"I found many former students and instructors of the University of Idaho in Washington distinguishing themselves in their various lines of activities," said Mr. Mix.

"Dr. J. M. Aldrich, one of the first members of the Idaho faculty and for ten years head of the zoological department, is now one of the curators with the Smithsonian Institute. Recently the Washington papers carried a two-column cut of Dr. Aldrich and credited him with having prevented a dangerous insect of a certain species from getting a foothold in the United States.

"Dr. A. E. Evans, formerly professor in the university law school, is now on the faculty of George Washington university, where is gaining an enviable reputation.

"Colonel Joseph L. Gilbreth, a graduate of the class of '98, is a retired army officer and is interested in a large real estate business.

"Captain A. Irl Eagle, of the class of '01, is a captain in the United States flying service. His plans for the new flying fields at Annapolis have been practically accepted by the government.

Commander Robert L. Ghormley, '03, is now first assistant to Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, where his duties have taken on national importance.

"Mrs. Harry Hays, formerly Carrie Tomes of the class of 1901 is living in Washington, where Mr. Hays has a position with the post office department.

"Perrit Gault, son of the first president of the university, and member of the class of 1903, is one of the leading attorneys in the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"Congressman Burton L. French, '01, senior representative from Idaho, is chairman of the sub-committee on naval appropriations, where he fills one of the most important positions in congress. Congressman French is one of the most influential members of the house of representatives, whose long line of public service is exceeded by few."

Professor Harrison C. Dale, present head of the department of economics at the university also went to Washington with Mr. Mix as a delegate of the north Idaho farmers. Mr. Mix and Professor Dale were instrumental in drafting and in creating sentiment in favor of the McNary-Haugen bill, regarded as the most important agricultural measure presented in recent years.

All students working in town or working in homes for room and board, or either, are asked to call at the office of the student secretary in the U. hut to fill out cards necessary in the handling of student employment.

HIGH IDEALS ARE FAVORED BY LECTURER

Dean Clark Stresses Value of Culture in Address

"Which should be presented in college—theory or practice; ideals or cold facts?" was the question answered in favor of ideals by Thomas Arkie Clark, Dean of Men at the University of Illinois, who spoke at what is said to have been the most thoroughly enjoyed assembly of the year at 10:00 o'clock Friday morning in the University of Idaho auditorium. When Dean Clark finished speaking to the unusually large audience, each of his hearers felt that he had received the personal interest of a profound but kindly philosopher of student life.

"You will do in after life exactly what you do in college." "Learn to make your mind work at the disagreeable tasks when you want it to."

"The hard subjects are the best for training." "We forget most that we learn." "It is not the facts that stay with us; it is the training we get in learning them." "Youth doesn't look into the future; it is concerned only with today." These were some of the remarks that showed Dean Clark to be a man of true learning; a man of spirited curiosity and interest in humanity; a man who, while wholly in sympathy with his fellow man, has ascended to a high place and calmly surveyed the whole span of existence.

The speaker stimulated the interest of his hearers by first setting before them a question that really was a question, in their minds—"do we want ideals or facts?" "What is best in college?" "What will be worth most in the future?" "What will best fit us to meet the unexpected?"—were some of the questions with which he made clear the problem.

"Like the young man who asked Christ, 'What shall I do to be saved? we also ask, of ourselves, 'What shall I do to succeed?' Or at least we should, if we concern ourselves with the future. Happiness, resources and social standing depend upon our college training. We do not change much after school days. Like the man whose wife married him to try to reform him, we remain the same." Dean Clark said that his high school class held a reunion after thirty years and that there was but little change in the members except in appearance.

HERBST STRING

A musical number which should attract all Moscow and university music lovers, will be held Monday night, March 10, at the university auditorium, when the Herbst string quartet, of Spokane, will appear. This quartet has won fame wherever it has appeared, and Moscow people will be interested to know that Professor John W. Dickinson, formerly of the University of Idaho, is one of the violinists. The other violinist is Professor Gottfried Herbst.

The entertainment will be given under the auspices of the department of music at the university, of which Professor O. E. Bangs is head, and the Woman's Musical club of the city. Admission will be 50 cents and tickets will be placed on sale at Hodgins'.

ANNUAL MUCKERS' BALL SLATED FOR SATURDAY

The Associated Miners announce their annual Mucker's Ball to be held in the university gymnasium next Saturday evening, March 8. The dance was originally scheduled to be held before the Christmas holidays but because of the ban placed on social affairs during the scarlet fever epidemic, it was necessarily postponed.

Negotiations are now under way to engage the best dance music available and it is also announced that the decorations will exceed those which were a feature of the last year's Mucker's ball.

NEW GUINEA SCENERY
THRILLS OLD IDAHO GRAD

The soft summer breeze wafting through the slender coconut trees, the boom of the surf upon the whiteness of the tropical beach, the warm luxuriousness of the days where tomorrow brings no care; all these are brought to the Idaho campus by a letter from Hugh Swan, former student of the class of '17. Mr. Swan is connected with the Standard Oil Company of New York and wrote the following letter while off the coast of New Guinea.

After leaving Dobo we had a two days run to Merauke, the principle Dutch settlement on the western coast of New Guinea and not far from its southern boundary. It is located at the mouth of the Merauke river and is a settlement boasting 10 to 12 tokos, six or eight Europeans, a military post and a hospital. It is the only settlement for a distance of over 500 miles having Europeans and obviously is about as dead a place as one could hope to find anywhere in the world to live in. This section of New Guinea is low and not mountainous and for miles out from the coast, the water is very shallow. For this reason, occasionally during a heavy fog, the little packet steamer making this port, cannot find it and has to turn back, consequently the mail is held over until the following month.

For years Merauke has been the exporting point of the birds of Paradise trade, but due to the closing of foreign markets and also new government restrictions regarding the future hunting of these birds, the business is gradually receding and as a consequence, Merauke will remain stationary for many years to come. Some copra is exported, but its culture is principally restricted to land near the coast, as the country is too undeveloped and also too dangerous for Europeans to go inland.

The natives, the "Kaja-Kapas" found in this section of the Island, are the lowest in civilization that I have ever seen or ever expect to see. They are no further civilized today than they were 500 years ago and I doubt if their mode of living has varied one iota. The government and the missionaries can do nothing with them, they will not work in any capacity and their only active interest seems to be head hunting. All of them are cannibalistic and the stories one hears of their barbarity are almost beyond believing. In physical appearance they are a fine looking people, the men average six feet in stature and the women are nearly as tall. They are black as African negroes and have black kinky hair and wear a costume, both men and women, consisting of a few wrist bands, shells, nose and ear adornments, a dress leaving very little to the imagination, and no shoes. The ear lobes are pierced and from the collection of miscellaneous articles such as splinters of bone, bamboo, and etc., have through their weight formed holes as much as six inches in diameter. The fleshy part of the nose is usually pierced and supporting a bone sometimes as much as three-quarters of an inch in diameter and eight inches long.

Many of these specimens of New Guinea culture came onto the ship repeating the one word of Malay they know for rice which is "Nasi." For the sport of watching them eat, the ship's officials gave them all they could hold, about a tub full for each individual and their manner of devouring it, though not particularly observant of the higher forms of table etiquette, displayed an admirable singleness of purpose and skill of accomplishment. I made some pictures of them which I hope will develop well. One of the ship's officers who has been coming into this port for various periods during the past ten years, stated that in former times, they used to give these natives paint and then have them go to work on each other usually with excellent results of a high originality.

During the short time we were in Merauke, I obtained a fine collection of arrows, some thirty or forty and also two long spears which I will bring to the states with me. I also obtained a native war drum, a cylindrical affair about four feet in length, tapered at the center, made hollow through out by the slow process of burning out the central wood with hot stones. One of my dealers, also presented me with a fine specimen of native war shield. This is carved from one piece of wood and is about five feet long. It is rather cumbersome but I hope to be able to get it home.

Cicero's Philosophy Is Applicable Even
To Idaho Debaters

"What will develop you best," he said, approaching the answer to his question. "Some say practical things only. Colleges are going into the practical—something capable of immediate application. People want whatever guarantees immediate success. They want specials and shortcuts for everything. The first question is 'Is it easy?'. They want things to be practical. 'Us engineers don't need no English,' said one but another said, 'If I had it to do over again I would learn to speak and write readily.' No! It is not the practical that you want in college; it is the ideal. You will have 60 years of practical life after you are out of college.

"First of all comes scholarship, and next extra-curriculum activities. Educators pay to little attention to what goes on outside the class room. Athletics, politics, social activities are good and we like them because they are more tangible and visible to us.

"Second, we should be concerned with ideals. Right living, right thinking, clean society, and hard work are among them. In college we should get inspiration from someone. We should develop fitness and good taste. A man out of college should be a better man than he was when he was in; and he is. He has more respect for himself and his fellow men; he is willing to face difficulties; he has the courage to rise after defeat; he has more faith in his God. Youth pictures a rosy future. Each one believes he will some day get somewhere; be something. A trained man has about one chance in forty for outstanding success. Persistence at any age will bring him to his goal.

"Third, develop character. A man who cannot be trusted cannot win. He who strives for scholarship, ideals and character, and who is willing to work hard, gets most out of college."

Chess Club Will Hold
First Meeting Saturday

The Chess club will hold its first meeting next Saturday, the time and place will be posted on the bulletin board in the Administration building the latter part of this week. There will be an election of officers and plans for the governing of the club will be discussed. A large turn out of both faculty and student enthusiasts is expected to be in attendance.

SKIPPY STIVERS
ELECTED CAPTAIN
BASKETBALL TEAM

Vernon T. (Skippy) Stivers was elected to captain the 1925 Idaho basketball team at a meeting Tuesday of members of this year's squad who received letters. Stivers, who played forward this year, succeeds Harold Telford, three years a letterman, who was named as all-Pacific coast guard in 1923.

Stivers has made letters in three branches of athletics, football, baseball, and basketball. This year he played a remarkably consistent game at forward in basketball.

The past year Stivers was field general of the Vandal football machine and at the close of the 1923 season was named by George Varnell, noted sporting authority, as all-Pacific coast quarterback.

In baseball Stivers has earned two letters and has distinguished himself as one of the fastest shortstops and most consistent hitters in the Northwest and Pacific coast conferences.

MICHAEL FARADAY
1791-1867
Apprentice to an English book-binder. Attracted the attention of Sir Humphrey Davy, becoming his assistant. "The greatest experimentalist of all times," says one biographer. The electrical unit Farad was named for him.

"What's the use of it?"

Michael Faraday saw the real beginning of the age of electricity nearly a century ago when he thrust a bar magnet into a coil of wire connected with a galvanometer and made the needle swing.

Gladstone, watching Faraday at work in his laboratory, asked, "What's the use of it?" The experimenter jestingly replied, "There is every probability that you will soon be able to tax it." The world-wide use of electricity that has followed the Faraday discovery abundantly justifies the retort to Gladstone.

Faraday's theory of lines of force is constantly applied in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company in devising new electrical apparatus of which Faraday never dreamed. Every generator and motor is an elaboration of the simple instruments with which he first discovered and explained induction.

In 1880 the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, of New York City, installed a generator of 1200 lamps capacity, then considered a giant. By continuous experimentation and research the General Electric Company has developed generators 500 times as powerful as this wonder of forty years ago.

Large Fortune Realized on Student Stock Market

Art Golden Cleans Up $300,000 on Exchange—Remsburg Annexes $100,000. Operations Conducted by Class

"Say, for the luvapete, sell those 200 shares of Anaconda copper that I just bought yesterday or I stand to be cleaned out."

Thus spoke the voice belonging to the star operator in Professor Schoonover's class, the members of which are at present engaged in a race to see which member can make a million or so dollars by playing the stock market between now and the time final exams start.

To say that some of the members of the class are slickers at getting tips or else are just plain lucky is putting it mildly when it is considered that since the local Wall street opened at the first of the semester Phil Remsburg has chalked up $100,000 or more on his bank account, while Art Golden, who is serving as clearing house for the class, has accumulated winnings that total over $300,000. Only $10,000 was given each member for a nest egg, and this, coupled with the fact that nobody has gone broke, speaks well for the embryo wolves of the financial world.

The rules of the game are the same as those that govern any stock market with the exception that once stock is bought or sold it cannot be taken back until the next day. All quotations are taken from the daily papers, a fact which accounts for the interest being shown in the arrival of the newsboy every day by the nerve wrecked.

Professor Schoonover inaugurated the idea with the hope that interest in his class would pep up a bit and his aim in this direction has secured very gratifying results. Those that have had the nerve and have shown the greatest interest have attained the leading places and this fact has been a stimulus to the whole class. In fact it is thought that if the students keep up the pace they have started out at they will have Wall street on the rocks before the last of March.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB TOURS SOUTH IDAHO

Twenty-one girls composing the University of Idaho girls' glee club with their soloists, director and manager leave the campus next Sunday for south Idaho where they will present in five towns of the Boise valley a splendid program of unusual music and clever dancing. Carl Claus, instructor in violin at the university, and himself an exceptionally gifted violinist, will appear in three solos that have already received very favorable criticism in campus musical circles. Miss Florence Selby of Boise, whose remarkable soprano has won her universal recognition at the university, accompanies the glee club as soloist.

MANY FEATURE DANCES

Intermingled with the usual musical program are several delightful feature dances. The Wooden Shoe dance, taken from the senior class play, "Sweethearts," which scored heavily on the campus last fall, will be reincarnated with Louisa Martin leading, supported by a chorus from the rest of the club. Susy's band (music taken from Romberg's and Hyden's Toy Symphonies) with Marie Johnson as "Susy" promises rich entertainment. A beautiful Spanish dance by Demerice Ebbly will provide an interesting diversion from the usual run of music programs. Costumes for these special features have been ordered from Spokane and are unusually effective. Arrangements for appropriate lighting effects have also been made.

The musical part of the program also promises much in the way of real talent and telling experience. Professor E. O. Bangs, head of the music department, is personally directing the girls and their work bears the mark of his ability. Although this is the club's first long trip, its ability to "get across" has already been demonstrated, so south Idaho lovers of good music and entertainment will not be disappointed in the Treble Clef club of the University of Idaho.

PERSONNEL OF CLUB
Professor Bangs, director; Miss Louisa Martin of Moscow, manager; Mrs. Bangs, chaperon; and Mr. Claus and Miss Selby, soloists, will accompany the club whose personnel follows: first sopranos, Florence Selby of Boise, Editha Barton and Louisa Martin of Moscow, Lillian Lange of Spokane, Fern Cranston Anderson of Sandpoint, and Vivian Beardsmore of Priest River; second sopranos, Opal Hunt of Omaha, Neb., Mary Gettys of New Castle, Wyo., Helen Hall of Willow City, N. D., Lillian Hardman of Twin Falls, Maybelle Gehrke of Moscow, Marie Johnson of St. Maries, and Ruth Lawrence of Spokane, Wash.; Altos, Unita Lipps of Lapwal, Helene Haller of St. Maries, Gertrude Baker

Viola Dana in her zippiest melodramatic comedy, "In Search of a Thrill," a Metro production, is the treat in store for the Kenworthy Theatre patrons this week.

Adapted from Kate Jordan's short story, "The Spirit of the Road," and directed by Oscar Apfel, "In Search of a Thrill" promises to top in popularity all Miss Dana's previous productions, for it is a rare combination of comedy and thrills, done with the charming verve and dash that is characteristic of the Peter Pan girl of the screen. Warner Baxter, Mabel Van Buren, Templar Saxe and Rosemary Theyby head the supporting cast. Miss Dana has the role of an American flapper in Paris, whose passion for continuous excitement leads her into breath-taking adventures. Fans will get all the action they want in "In Search of a Thrill," for the story speeds from one adventure to another, culminating in a dramatic episode at a rendezvous of the Paris underworld.

Dana, occupies a villa near Paris with her aunt. In the French metropolis she meets Adrien Torrens, a young American author, to whom she was formerly engaged. They are attracted to each other again, but Adrien, a serious-minded chap, has no patience with Ann's reckless frivolities.

Feeling that she has lost his respect, and knowing his interest in the poorer unfortunate classes, Ann disguises herself as a crook and breaks into his apartment, hoping to win his sympathy. Instead of freeing her, Adrien compels her to accompany him on a tour of the slum district, where she realizes for the first time the indifference of a few of the wealthy aristocracy.

In a Montmartre dive, Ann is recognized through her disguise by a leading gangster, who was a witness of one of her earlier escapades. This thug plots with his Apache cohorts to kidnap the girl and hold her for ransom.

What follows is one of the most thrilling battles royal ever screened—that will make "In Search of a Thrill" a photoplay long to be remembered.

Resistless Force—Controlled!

THE CHEMICAL ENGINEER has created, in explosives, a power that can blast a mountain or crack a boulder—dig an isthmian canal or drain a swamp.

Today, explosives power is employed both in the heaviest and in the most delicate operations. The scientific control of this resistless energy has enabled explosives engineers to utilize it in ways undreamed of a generation ago.

Recently at the Frazier Quarries of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad in West Virginia, 60,000 pounds of du Pont dynamite were exploded at one time to bring down five hundred million pounds of stone for ballast. Literally a whole hillside was blasted out.

But in a power house in Baltimore, du Pont explosives were used to perform a different and delicate operation. This work involved blasting out five concrete bases in the basement of the building without damage to a switchboard that governed the distribution of power over a large section of the city. While blasting was in progress a glass of water and some wire nails placed on their heads in an upright position near the blasts were not disturbed by the explosions.

So, in dynamite, we have a servant that will do our bidding in little things as well as big—a power that can be made to perform our work easier, better and cheaper in all industries.

The du Pont Company has been making explosives since 1802. With the development in explosives manufacture have come many improvements to expand the use of the product. And it has been the privilege of du Pont, through exhaustive research and experiment, to lead the way.

The Constitution

A recodified constitution has been offered to the student body for approval. It is a constitution that embodies all the points that former ones have had—it succeeds in outlining a plan whereby the A. S. U. I. can be placed on a sound business basis, with management so centralized that a real business unit is the result. It states in clear, concise terms the duties of every officer and organization within the student body, and things are so definitely stated that guesswork can no longer be possible.

The constitution, as it now is in its present renovated form, is no untried, doubtful experiment. It is rather the result of successes that many universities and colleges have achieved under similar governing plans. From the start it can be nothing but successful.

And now it is up to the student body for ratification. No undergraduate who reads it can help but realize that it is exactly what Idaho needs to make her student government an efficient organization. Every vote cast should be in favor of the adoption of this new plan.

What Becomes of Football Players After They Graduate? Idaho May Have Navy Secretary on Its List of Celebrated Alumni

EDITOR'S NOTE
 If you've never been convinced that Idaho graduates ever amount to much, or ever do anything worth talking about, keep your eyes on this column. Sooner or later all the Vandal forefathers will be put on exhibit. You will be allowed to draw your own conclusions as to whether or not an education at the University of Idaho is worth its salt.

What becomes of famous football players after they graduate? Some of them coach, naturally. It's hard to keep an old war-horse from the battle-field when the turf begins to fly. Others go back to the farm, others (probably quarter-backs) keep on talking as travelling salesmen—many go into business and forward pass to success, or are downed for a loss. All of them get married. And a few do the entirely unexpected—they turn traitor and become college professors.

The most glaring example of this is the case of one Gustus Ludwig Larson, (right on the first guess; he was born in Sweden) Idaho '07, Professor (if you please) of Steam and Gas Engineering and Chairman of the Department of Mechanical Engineering of the University of Wisconsin.

Gus arrived at Idaho back in 1903. For the next three years things happened here in football, with Gus as the mechanical engineer. For three seasons he was all-Northwest tackle, and captain of the Idaho team in 1906. By way of variety he established a college record for the shot put, held a commission in the cadet corps (Old Guard included), invented fraternity initiation stunts that the most diabolical geniuses have never improved upon, senior class president, poor devil, and later became graduate manager of athletics, from 1909 to 1914. On the side he held down the job as Professor of Mechanical Engineering.

From Idaho Gus went back to the old country (Wisconsin) where he did graduate work, receiving the degree of Mechanical Engineer in 1915. Since that time he has been a member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin and is now chairman of the Mechanical Engineering Department and Consulting Engineer for the University.

Gus can't find quite enough to do on that job, so he acts as consulting engineer to a large number of clients. He is chairman of the College of Engineering Research Committee, a member of the Advisory Committee appointed by the Wisconsin Industrial Commission to draw up a state heating and ventilation code, a member of the Wisconsin State Fuel Conservation board and a few more odds and ends of activities.

He is also a member of five great professional engineering societies, and has been elected to several of the best known honorary societies: Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, Pi Tau Sigma, of which he is national secretary, and Tau Beta Pi. Incidentally he is married and is the father of two children.

Gustus Ludwig Larson, Idaho '07. By unanimous vote, he's our all-Idaho mechanical engineer.

After all, why not? We think an Idaho man would make a good secretary of the Navy even though the University is twenty miles distant from Idaho's only sea-port. And according to the "dope" from Washington, Burton L. French, Idaho '00, is in the running for appointment to the post of warden of the nation's sea-dogs. "Burton L." has done his bit as Congressman for Idaho on and off for fifteen years, and during eight of these he's been chairman of the house naval affairs committee. It goes without saying that he knows more about the navy than any man who has not served in it all his life, and without doubt would make a naval secretary that "knows his stuff" as his friends in the University English department would put it. If "Burton L." gets the appointment there will be a rush of Vandals to the sea-boards and the national song at Idaho will be "Anchors Aweigh."

Dairy Lecture Will Be Held At "U" Hut Friday

the college of agriculture, Moscow Sarah Trousdale, Mary Paisley, Mary dairymen and others interested either directly or indirectly in the dairy industry, will have the opportunity of attending an illustrated lecture on the dairy industry at the U hut on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The lecture will include instruction in building and filling silos, the nutrition of dairy products and the advantages to the dairyman in having pure-bred sties, with his herd, instead of grade sires. Each subject will be illustrated with slides.

MODEL HOME ESTABLISHED BY HOME EC DEPARTMENT

Practice House Opened By Four Senior Girls

Four senior girls majoring in home economics, together with their supervisor, move into the department practice house this week, there to maintain a model home for a month as part of the requisite work of the course. Miss Katherine Jensen, head of the department of home economics, will live with the girls and direct their work.

The girls who will do the model housekeeping are Velma Hamilton of Kamiah, Marie Feldhusen of Boise, Frances Harris of Kellogg, and Glatha Hatfield of Moscow.

Forty-five cents a day is all that each girl will be allowed to spend for food and general upkeep, exclusive of rent of the practice house. The model house will be run on a strictly business basis, each girl taking her turn at being manager, hostess, cook, maid, and laundress. This practical experience in home economics work is a regular part of the curriculum of the department, and carries out the policy of establishing standards of right living and co-ordinating closely the theoretical and practical home economics work at the university.

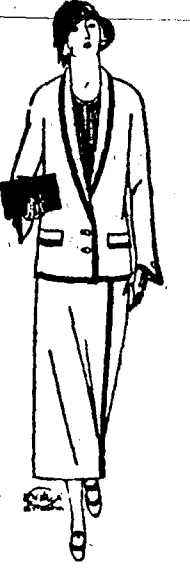

Frequent letters from high school superintendents all over the state asking for applications for teaching positions by the home economics students are cited as indicating the universal recognition of the success of the department in turning out capable teachers. Reports from home economics graduates who are satisfactorily holding teaching positions in schools of the state demonstrate this fact. Miss Polly Thomas at Ashton, and Miss Marie Hunt at Cambridge, 1923 home economics graduates, are making remarkable records as high school domestic science teachers.
