The Play Production class under the direction of Professor John Cushman, will present three one-act plays in the University Hut, on the evenings of March 20 and 21. BETA CHI ANNOUNCES FORMATION AS LOCAL

Donald E. Dick of Lewiston Heads Organization

A new local group of unusual strength has been organized on the University of Idaho campus in the Beta Chi local fraternity. Unanimous approval of the new group by the university faculty committee on organizations was announced today.

The personnel of the new group includes a number of undergraduate leaders in practically every phase of college activity. Many of the organizers are honor students with membership in Sigma Tau and Sigma Xi, national honorary engineering and scientific fraternities.

Officers elected upon organization are: Donald E. Dick, Lewiston, president; Donald Payne, Boise, vice president; Llewellyn Rowlands, Sandpoint, secretary; Ted A. Rice, Coeur d'Alene, treasurer; Arval Anderson, Moscow, sergeant at arms; George Miller, Coeur d'Alene, house manager. Professor Virgil R. D. Kirkham, of the school of mines, will act as faculty advisor for Beta Chi.

Griffis Took English From Idaho Prexy

President A. H. Upham of the University of Idaho once taught English to Corliss H. Griffis, would-be kidnapper of the famous "slacker," Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, in Germany, who is wanted in this country on charges of disloyalty and desertion during the war. Griffis was a student under Dr. Upham at Miami University back in 1913-1915.

Griffis left school at that time to enter business, and later he enlisted at the outbreak of the war. After serving as a lieutenant in the Vardun and Argonne sections during that great crisis, he returned three years ago with a remarkable record.

Recently, with several newspaper correspondent contracts in his pocket, Griffis again sailed for Europe, ostensibly to write articles on conditions over there. Shortly afterward the whole country was electrified by flaring headlines telling of Griffis' arrest in Germany on serious kidnaping charges and his subsequent conviction and imprisonment for a long term.

His name flashed across the continent overnight. People from Maine to California read, laughed and, (Continued on page four)

NEW STUDENT DRIVE PLANS ARE COMPLETE

State Will Be Organized In County Committees

University of Idaho student drive plans are nearing completion. Chairmen of committees for the different counties were appointed at a recent A. S. U. I. meeting. Plans and methods by the members of the counties are being so effectively worked out that the best results will be obtained.

One of the principal plans which was adopted by the committee on the student drive is to have the students write to their friends in the high schools who are seniors. These letters are to be personal advising their friends and urging them to come to the university.

President A. H. Upham is going to have letters written to every high school senior, urging him to come here to school.

Tentative plans are being made to have the county chairmen on the student drive at dinners and discuss possible means to further the getting of students to come to the university.

Furthering the plans, it has been planned to send 7,000 copies of circular letters to the juniors and seniors of the high schools, describing and telling them what the university has to offer in the many branches of learning of the higher educational institutions. The Idaho picture book with stories and articles on student life at the university will be again published and circulated to the students. (Continued on page four)

ALUMNUS ASKED TO REPRESENT IDAHO AT NAPLES CONCLAVE

C. H. Foster, U. S. Consul At Vienna May Attend University's Festivities

Idaho will be represented at the seven-hundredth anniversary festivities of the University of Naples in Italy next May by Carol Howe Foster, United States consul at Vienna and first Idaho Rhodes scholar, if he accepts President A. H. Upham's invitation to attend.

Recently, an unusual invitation, written in the classic Latin of ancient Rome and addressed to the "Magnifico Rector" of the University of Idaho, was received by Dr. Upham requesting the presence of a representative at the septenary celebration. The composition and style of type of the manuscript are very similar to that probably used by Caesar in printing by hand his commentaries, or by Cicero in publishing his orations, and even the rough tan paper carrying the message savors of ancient papyrus.

The invitation, when translated, tells of the founding of the University of Naples in 1224 by Fredric II, and traces the origin of the principles on which it was founded back to the golden days of the old philosophers, Parmenides and Pythagoras, who once lived in southern Italy. And now, the university proposes to commemorate, with a great universal celebration, this heritage of venerable memories.

Carol Howe Foster, formerly of Weiser, has been American consul in Vienna since the end of the war. He was graduated from the University of Idaho in 1906 and went to England as Idaho's first Rhodes scholar, where he obtained his Oxford degree. Later he traveled extensively in Europe. While consul at Vienna he has been active in rehabilitation work.

CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM IS DIAMOND DOPE

"Bung" Snow and Fitzke Head List of Chukkers

With a strong lineup for pitching and catching positions and many candidates for infield jobs, Idaho prospects for a championship baseball team are unusually good this year. Coach MacMillan issued the call for varsity baseball practice to start Monday, March 10.

In Bob Fitzke, of LaCrosse, Wis., all-around athlete, "Bung" Snow of Boise, veteran moundsman, Arthur Golden of Boise, and Walter Fields of Huston, sensational freshman twirler of last year, Coach MacMillan will have an able pitching staff to work with. Frank Kinnison of Payette, "Dusty" Kline of Plainsfield, N. J., and "Flip" Guirnelo of La Paz, P. I., are other veteran baseball men.

In the infield Charley Lawson of Wilder will be out for third base. "Skip" Stivers of Moscow will be at shortstop, and "Syb" Klefner of Twin Falls will be out again for second base. There are a number of promising candidates who will try for first base position. Outfielders are fairly plentiful and some good material is expected from the freshman team of last season.

Sixteen Northwest conference games have already been scheduled for this year, eight of which will be played in Moscow. Idaho made a strong bid for championship honors last year and with all available material properly developed, there is much promise for a winning team this season.

Ballooning on the recodified constitution will take place today from ten until three o'clock in room 217 Ad. building. Every student is urged to vote.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC MEETING
The Women's Athletic Association will hold a very important meeting at 4 o'clock in room 106 of the Ad. building, Wednesday afternoon. Miss Wirt, head of the physical education department for women announces that this meeting is very important and that all members should attend without fail.

500 Students Vaccinated to Check Epidemic

To prevent the possible outbreak of smallpox on the University of Idaho campus, more than 500 students have been vaccinated, in compliance with the request of the university health committee. The preventive measures of the health committee are designed to keep the campus free of smallpox and students are responding voluntarily to health committee requests. Vaccination is entirely voluntary, but it is expected that at least 90 percent of the students will be vaccinated against smallpox.

Smallpox epidemics are raging in the eastern states and the health committee steps are designed to prevent the start of smallpox among university students. Moscow physicians have been called in to do the vaccination work by group houses and all provisions have been made to have as many students vaccinated as possible. The cost of vaccination has been placed at a minimum and student response in cooperation with the health committee plans will prevent, it is believed, any outbreak of smallpox on the Idaho campus.

PROSPECTS FOR TRACK BEST IN MANY YEARS

Good Weather Aids Early Cinder Training

Track prospects at the University of Idaho appear brighter this spring than they have at any time during the past three years, in the opinion of Coach R. L. Mathews. Approximately 75 aspirants are turning out daily, and with a continuance of good weather, the local cinder path will be in good shape earlier than in many years, auguring fast men in sprint events and well-conditioned distance runners.

Idaho's forte in the past two seasons has been in the distances, and Coach Mathews is of the opinion that this year's squad will be an improvement over that of last year, notwithstanding the loss of Guy Penwell, crack miler and captain, from last season's squad.

From the 440 up, the Vandals expect to do considerable pace setting, while in the hurdles, conditions are also favorable. In the field, where has lain Idaho's particular weakness during the past athletic generation, a marked improvement is being shown, with notable weak spots looming only in the discus and shot put.

Lewis Williams of Boise, Eroll Hillman of Rexburg, Martell Archibald of Boise, William Guernsey of Milbrook, N. J., and Arthur Sowder of Coeur d'Alene, will be outstanding in (Continued on page three)

Letters and Numerals Awarded to Wrestlers

Four varsity letters in wrestling will be awarded this year, according to announcement by R. L. Mathews, director of athletics. Coach J. A. "Babe" Brown has developed a varsity and freshman squad which promise a winning season next year.

The men receiving letters are John Vesser of Coeur d'Alene, 175-pound class; Frank Kinnison of Payette, 160-pound class; Eroll Hillman of Rexburg, 135-pound class; and William Bitner of Kellogg, 125-pound class.

Five freshmen will receive wrestling numerals: Cecil Balkov of Rathdrum, Ray Powers of Rupert, Lawrence Edelblute of Rathdrum, Paul Stoffel of Cashmere, Wash., and Isaac Burroughs of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The women receiving letters are Winifred Martin of Filer, center; George Pearson of Salt Lake City, guard; Melvin Fuller of Orofino, guard; and Mike Rogers of Ogden, Utah, guard. Nedros, Miles and Green showed exceptionally fine basketball form throughout the season and are expected to be strong contenders for positions on the varsity next year.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS TO START CHAMPIONSHIP CLASHES FRIDAY

VANDALS ABROAD

(By Talbot Jennings)
"Nothing else of note. First lieutenant in army 50th Engineers—Service in France, Battle of Somme. Wounded, May 28, 1918. Glad to be of service to Alumni Association."

"Nothing else of note." That is the autobiographical contribution of an Idaho graduate who suffered a desperate wound at the Somme in 1918; has overcome the handicap imposed by the injury, is state adjutant of the American Legion, secretary of the Veteran's Welfare Association, and since the last legion convention at San Francisco, a national vice-president of the American Legion. Besides this, there is nothing else of note concerning Lester F. Albert, Idaho, '12.

WAYS AND MEANS

In college Les took an electrical engineering course, went by the name of "Proffie" and was a member of so many committees that the editor of the "Gem of the Mountains" had to cut his honor card in two and use half. From 1912 to 1917 he worked at his profession, when he became a member of the Ways and Means committee during the late war. Since his return from France he has been actively engaged in Legion and veteran's welfare work, and that his recent "committee" work has been of an outstanding character is attested by his election to a national vice-presidency in the American Legion. Like a great many other successful Idaho graduates, Les married an Idaho girl, Gladys Nankervis, of Moscow. They have a daughter, Ethelyn Albert, 12 years old.

Most people have an idea that Rhodes scholars, having graduated from Oxford, settle down in the suburbs of the Tower of London, relapse into broad "A's," and drink tea. It is true most of them drink tea, a few are guilty of an acquired accent, but very few or none arrange with the King to stay in England. An Idaho Rhodes scholar, however, like a true Vandal, was held by the wanderlust and has gone abroad, not to England, but to war-torn Austria. This wayfarer is Carol Howe Foster, Idaho, '04, and Rhodes scholar to Oxford, now American. (Continued on page three)

AWARD SEVEN VARSITY BASKETBALL LETTERS

Numerals Granted To Seven Frosh Players

Seven varsity basketball letters will be awarded for the 1924 season, according to an announcement by R. L. Mathews, director of athletics at the university. With the exception of Harold Telford, captain and star guard, every man on this year's Vandal squad is eligible for varsity play next year.

LETTER MEN

The men who will receive letters are: Harold Telford of Coeur d'Alene, Captain and guard; Guy Penwell of Moscow, forward; Walter Reamer of Lewiston, forward; "Skip" Stivers of Moscow, forward and captain-elect; Neal Nelson of Heyburn, guard; Bob Fitzke of LaCrosse, Wis., center; and Eroll Hillman of Rexburg, guard.

FROSH NUMERALS

Numerals will also be awarded to the following first year men who played the required amount of time on the freshman basketball team this season: Edward Nedros of Moscow, forward; John Miles of Culdesac, forward; George Green of Culdesac, forward; Winifred Martin of Filer, center; George Pearson of Salt Lake City, guard; Melvin Fuller of Orofino, guard; and Mike Rogers of Ogden, Utah, guard. Nedros, Miles and Green showed exceptionally fine basketball form throughout the season and are expected to be strong contenders for positions on the varsity next year.

Moscow, Boise, Rigby, Kellogg, Kooskia, Challis, Malad, and Rupert to Be Represented In Tournament Games

The seventh interscholastic basketball tournament will begin Friday, with the first game scheduled for 1:30 p. m.

Eight teams, representing high schools from all over the state will participate in the tournament.

The Moscow high school team has been granted the right to play for the Moscow district. Boise high school is the winner from the southwestern part of the state. Rigby will represent the southeastern section and Kooskia is the champion of the Lewiston district. Kellogg defeated the crack Coeur d'Alene team and will represent the northern division. Challis is the winner in the south central section and Malad is the winner in the extreme southern section. Rupert and Burley are to play for the championship of the Twin Falls district.

The teams are expected to be here by Thursday night. On Friday morning at 9 o'clock they will draw for their first games, which will be played in the afternoon.

STAY AT HOUSES

The teams will be billeted in the fraternity houses of the campus. Boise will billet at the Kappa Sigma house, Rigby at the S. A. E.'s, Kooskia at the Fijis, Kellogg at the Sigma Nu's, Challis at the Phi Delta's, Malad will stay at the Kappa Delta house and the champions of the Twin Falls district, Rupert of Burley are to stay at the Beta house.

EXTENSIVE ENTERTAINMENT

The entertainments for the visiting teams will be more extensive this year than ever before. A dance will be given in the gymnasium immediately after the game Saturday night. Admission will be 75 cents. On Saturday afternoon the Varsity football men will stage an exhibition practice game for visiting teams. It is to be arranged with the sororities to entertain the guests with an informal luncheon Saturday noon.

BASEBALL POSTPONED

The advance ticket sale for the Interscholastic meet has been very much below the expectations of the committee. Tickets are still on sale by the "T" club and representatives of the athletic department.

If the finances for the contests are not as good as they have been in previous years, it is expected that the contest will not be held in the northern part of the state in the coming years, but will be held in one of the southern districts.

Moscow Natatorium Nearing Completion

Moscow's natatorium, which is being constructed by the Purity Creamery company, on Sixth street, is nearing completion, and, it is believed, now will be ready for the swimming public not later than the first of April. The floor is being poured now, the dressing rooms are practically completed and the well, which will furnish an abundant supply of pure water, is down 107 feet and will be soon completed.

The natatorium is more elaborate and more complete in every detail than was anticipated when the movement was started. N. Williamson, manager of the company, investigated other natatoriums in the Inland Empire and studied the most modern plans, and has not let expense stand in the way of making the Moscow natatorium the most complete in the Inland Empire. He believes that during the summer months, many hundreds of people will be attracted to Moscow to enjoy swimming, which is afforded in but few other towns.

NOTICE

All accounts for space in the Gem of the Mountains are now due and payable to Ted Cunningham, ham, assistant business manager. Bills are coming in from the printers and engravers, and in order to take advantage of the discounts offered, student accounts should be immediately closed.

Vandal Coaches Victors in Basketball-Football Mix

The Vandal coaches won a hilarious basketball classic with the W. S. C. coaching staff, 33 to 22 in the gymnasium last night, but the score doesn't do the game justice. It was a hard game to referee because the whistle man had to know, not only basketball etiquette, but football, wrestling, and boxing rules as well! No wonder he sat on the sidelines part of the game cudgeling his brain for the correct rule to apply when Knudson fell on the ball and refused to let it go till the whistle blew; or when Neal made a beautiful kick that was worthy of any good soccer player.

The first half started slowly, Idaho gaining possession of the ball and stalling, probably for time, in W. S. C. territory. Coach Mathews handled the ball nicely while holding it in the middle of the floor, and MacMillan's spectacular long shots will probably win him a place on the mythical all-Coast coaching quintet. The coach of the Vandal coaches' team must have harangued his men considerably during the interval between periods because when the team came up for the second half they rushed the Cougars off their feet with a dazzling offensive. Marineau forgot there was any thing else on the floor but the ball and went after it accordingly. Neidig and "Babe" Brown played stellar games at guard, and Idaho romped away into a big lead. Then the crowd, as crowds always do, found its sense of humor and howled for the "cranberry vendor," who was forthwith produced.

Notwithstanding, Idaho completed most of its passes. Near the end of the game, the Vandals were in the lead. "Doc" Bohler, Cougar luminaent, and "Lefty" Armeineau romped up and down the floor playfully holding hands. But anyway, Idaho won.

Harold Telford, retiring captain on the 1924 Vandal basketball team figures with three other 1924 basketball captains as one of the ranking floor leaders in an illustrated sport feature by "Feg" Murray of the Associated Editors Syndicate. Murray's sport cartoons are carried by college newspapers throughout the country under the heading of "Sports of 1924."

In a recent issue of the Daily Palo Alto, student publication of Stanford, Captain Telford is pictured with Blair Gullion, captain of Purdue's 1924 team, Johnnie Tait, who headed the University of California basketball team this year and K. Friedman of Dartmouth. In the story, which accompanies Murray's cartoon, the writer says of the Idaho captain:

"Harold Telford of Idaho, although a guard, has the habit of outplaying and outscoring his opposing forward. Harold is another instance where, where you start getting bald, you begin to get famous. As has been said before, 'successful men come out on top.'"

JENNINGS AUTHOR OF ALL-UNIVERSITY PLAY

New Era in Student Drama Marked By Student Play

Announcement has been made that the play "Wandering Men," by Talbot Jennings, A. S. U. I. president, has been chosen for the University of Idaho all-university dramatic offering of the year, marking a new era in student dramatics, both here and in the northwest. The play was chosen by Professor John H. Cushman, director of dramatics, after considering a number of modern plays being run in the large cities at the present time.

The author is a University of Idaho senior majoring in English, who has written several other shorter plays, and last year wrote the manuscript for "The Light on the Mountain," pageant of Idaho history given during commencement week by university students, which drew a crowd of approximately 8000 visitors to the city.

He was born in Shoshone, lived for much of his boyhood in Nampa, and after the war was employed in the state purchasing office in Boise. CANADIAN STORY

"Wandering Men" is a story of the Canadian fur traders at about the end of the eighteenth century. The action of the play begins in the little village of St. Annes, while later the scene shifts to the great wilds of the Rocky Mountains. It is written in three acts.

Last year, Lord Dunsany's "If" was given its American premier by the Idaho actors, while the preceding year Booth Tarkington's "Clarence" was the vehicle. The present play is said to combine a beauty of construction and a dramatic interest which stamps it as an outstanding piece of work.

THE CAST

Members of the cast have been chosen with great care from among the most talented university dramatic students, practically all of whom have had from one to three years' experience in local productions. They are, in the order of their stage appearance, as follows:

- Pierre Benoit Cameron King
- Jeanne, his granddaughter Louisa Martin
- Benoit Marie Johnson
- Baptiste Lambert Sidney Yeager
- Francois Payette Clarence Olsen
- Last Star, Indian Chieftain Carl Feldman
- Dawn Mist, his daughter Marie Gauer
- The Raven, medicine man Kneeland Parker

The dates for the production have been set for April 22 and 24, proposed Junior week at the university.

Confinement Suggested to Check Spread of Goli Attire on Campus

(Contributed)

With the advent of the marble season the epidemics on the campus have decreased in health menacing qualities, but have assumed disconcerting proportions in those related to the mind. Some of the well known campusters are appearing in fuzzy knee pants and long wool stockings which combination we find advertised by Hart Schaffner and Marx as golfing regalia.

Then again, the tallest, thinnest man on the campus was observed carrying an armful of phonograph records, which upon examination proved to be varied samples of Walter Camp's calisthenics courses, and physical examples of the "get thin to music" theory. We hope this man does not apply himself too seriously in the reducing line or this warm spring sun will shine through him and sun burn his appendix. Some of these lads with the variegated foiling clothing don't know any more about playing golf than an oat-fed skidding cayuse from the skagway does about sky piloting, yet the epidemic spreads and threatens to engulf the whole realm of sports in its spread. Some drastic action should be taken now, and attempts made to confine it to its present converts, the tennis players, and the boxing enthusiasts.

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS APPEAR ON MANY CAMPUSES

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Notes Progress Made In Social Work

Religious organizations and various movements for student welfare and development of character are springing up on many coast campuses, according to a "Now and Then Bulletin" issued by Gale Seaman, field secretary for the Y. M. C. A.

Opportunities for six or seven upper class college men, preferably from sociology departments, to spend the summer in New York with Service Groups are mentioned.

The University of Washington has twelve religious discussion groups of one kind and another. Many college men are working in Hawaiian schools for the Y. M. C. A. The University of Arizona reports an "Inner Circle" which is doing good work among students.

Idaho Alum in India Writes of Allahabad

"For eight months of the year we have temperatures in Allahabad that make it impossible to churn and get butter without a large quantity of pre-cooled water," writes Sam Higginbottom, agricultural engineer for the Allahabad Agricultural Institute of the American Presbyterian Mission at Allahabad, India.

"If we churn at the ordinary air and water temperatures we would get oil and not butter. Therefore, the government has made us promise to put in a refrigeration plant and cooler within the next four months. This will cost erected about six thousand dollars.

"We get most of our rain in three months, for the other nine months we expect a few irregularly distributed showers, often going three months without a rain. Farming and gardening without irrigation water is very uncertain and several times we have been within sight of a profitable harvest if only one shower of rain, even a quarter of an inch, would fall. It has not fallen and we have watched what might have been a success wither away into a dismal failure and loss. We have just signed an agreement with the Allahabad Municipality by which they will sell us all we need at a cheaper rate than we could pump it ourselves. We have to put in the pipes and channels and do a certain amount of leveling. Our engineer estimates this will cost about twelve thousand dollars. The return from the land under irrigation will be a good endowment for the Institute.

"With the dairy students, the regular agricultural course students and the Community School and Training class for rural teachers, to which about forty village children come, in addition to about forty children from the homes for the Untainted children of lepers, we have about one hundred and twenty-five regular agricultural course students. Next year we will admit another dairy class, and with that our hostel will be full to overflowing."

Who's Who From Idaho

Major Herbert C. Fooks.

The story of the life of Major Herbert Clarence Fooks, a 1916 graduate of the University of Idaho, reads like some of the lives of famous characters of fiction, comprising experiences as a major in the United States Army, war hero, with decorations and citations, a prominent lawyer and barrister, and lastly as the author of one of the best books on war problems that has been published since the Great War.

Major Fooks was born in Maryland in 1886 and lived in the town of Salisbury in that state until he entered St. John's College at Annapolis, where he received his B. A. degree in 1906. Two years later, in 1908, he commenced his military career when he was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry by competitive examination at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. He was then assigned to the 16th Infantry, and served with that organization in various parts of this country and in Alaska until 1913 when he was sent to the University of Idaho on detached service as Professor of Military Science and Tactics. He was here for three years as commandant of the university cadet battalion, and at the same time took up work in the University Law School, receiving an L. L. B. degree in 1916. He graduated with honors, and was a member of Phi Alpha Delta, law fraternity.

WENT TO MEXICO

After leaving the university he went to Mexico, where he joined his regiment which was then taking part in the Mexican Punitive Expedition, and remained on border patrol duty till June of 1917. From here, he was sent to France with the First Division in the American Expeditionary Forces. In October, 1918, he was assigned to the 145th Infantry in the 37th division, and was commissioned a major. He participated in four major engagements, was wounded twice, and was awarded the D. S. C., cited twice for gallantry in action, and about a year ago was awarded the Belgian Croix de Guerre with palm by the Belgian government. He was retired from active duty as the result of his wounds, in January, 1919, and after spending the following four months in hospitals in France, England, and New York, was assigned to duty with the Judge Advocate General's Office at Washington, D. C.

While engaged in this position, he took work in the George Washington University at Washington and in 1920, obtained an L. L. M. degree from that university. He remained in the Judge Advocate General's office until June, 1921, when he retired from military service.

OPENED LAW OFFICE

A few months later, he opened law offices in Baltimore, Maryland, and entered private practice. He also took additional work in St. John's College, and in 1922, the degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon him by that institution.

His latest bid for fame is in the form of a book published within the last few months on one of the most important problems arising out of modern warfare. This book is entitled, "Prisoners of War" and treats all phases of the subject from the time of barbaric customs down through the ages of modern civilization. The book has excited no small amount of favorable comment, and will undoubtedly be widely read and studied.

A. J. PRIEST SPEAKS TO LAW SCHOOL MONDAY

A. J. Priest, formerly graduate manager and law school graduate, visited the Idaho campus over the week-end. He addressed the law school on the subject of "Municipal Corporations" while here. Mr. Priest is attorney for the Idaho Power Co., at Boise and is the district chief of Beta Theta Pi.

STRING QUARTET SUCCEEDS IN PRNGRAM GIVEN SUNDAY

The Herbst String Quartet entertained with one of the most delightful and interesting programs of the year at a concert in the auditorium Monday evening. The Quartet is composed of Gottfried Herbst, former violin instructor at Washington State College and John Dickinson, former violin instructor at the University of Idaho. Ferdinand Sorenson, Viola and Julius Blinn, Cello, both prominent musicians in Spokane musical circles comprise the other part of the Quartet. The following program was most heartily appreciated by one of the largest musical turnouts of the year. The Quartet was most generous with encores, which won the admiration of the audience by their artistic and unique interpretations.

- The program follows.
- Dvorak American Quartet (Based on American Melodies)
 - Allegro ma non troppo; largo; vivace.
 - Sorenson Oriental
 - Iwanow Intermezzo, Humoresque
 - Scherzando from Op. 13

And it is mighty nice to know that you can get quality—fine woolens, linings and workmanship—in Clothes Tailored to Measure by Born, at prices that represent a substantial saving; a saving in the original cost, and in the cost of your clothes by the year.

PRESIDENT ADDRESSES L. D. S. UNDERGRADUATES

The relationship of religious training to educational institutions was discussed by President A. H. Upham of the University of Idaho at a meeting of university students, who are members of the Church of Latter Day Saints in the I. O. O. F. hall. President Upham traced the relationship between churches and educational institutions from the middle ages to the present day.

Due to the growth of a multiplicity of denominations in modern times the state universities are now unable to handle successfully the religious training all young people should have, President Upham said. The initiative for religious training of university or college students must be taken by the respective denominations under present day conditions with the universities cooperating in every way possible in the handling of this problem, according to President Upham.

The students were advised to actively support the various denominations of which they are members in order that this phase of life's training may not be neglected.

BURTON FRENCH FAVORED FOR SECRETARY OF NAVY

Idaho Congressman is Being Considered by President

The name of Burton L. French, Idaho congressman from the first district, is being considered by President Coolidge in picking a man to fill the vacancy created when Edwin Denby resigned as secretary of the navy, according to the Washington Times of February 19.

The article connecting the Idaho congressman's name with the secretaryship was written by George E. Durno for the International News Service. It says in part:

"Other names presented to the president for consideration include Senator George Wharton Pepper of Philadelphia, Senator Frederick Hale of Maine, and Congressman Burton L. French of Idaho.

NAVAL APPROPRIATIONS HEAD
"Congressman French, chairman of the house appropriation committee's sub-committee on naval appropriations, has served nine terms in congress. These facts coupled with his western nativity, weigh in his favor.

"The task of mending the first break in his cabinet was before President Coolidge today. Less than 24 hours after the announcement of Edwin Denby, secretary of the navy, more than half a dozen names were before the executive for consideration.

"In selecting a successor to his navy chief—the first of his official family to give way before the odium of the great oil scandal—President Coolidge is handicapped by several important factors. Foremost of these is the impending presidential campaign and the resultant need of making an appointment that will be politically wise.

WESTERNER IS FAVORED

"Second is the fact that certain of the men who would be given the most favorable consideration come from states which already boast of a member of the cabinet, while others are not inclined to accept the honor for one reason or another."

In speaking of possibilities for the appointment the Times says the choice is likely to be a westerner and Congressman French's name is prominently mentioned.

DEFINITE SELECTION SOON

Definite selection and announcement of a successor to Denby is not expected much before March 4, the date of Denby's retirement.

Congressman French is a University of Idaho graduate. He has an unusual record in congress and is regarded as Washington's strongest man in the house of representatives.

SECOND CONCERT BY CADET BAND GIVEN

The University Band entertained a large and appreciative audience in the auditorium Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, at the regular Sunday Vesper services.

Director Neilson is very enthusiastic over the progress of the band this year, which has certainly distinguished itself as one of the most entertaining of campus organizations.

SPANISH NIGHT COMES

A night in old Madrid will be experienced on the campus on the evening of March 22, when the Spanish club will hold its second annual Spanish night.

The fiesta will consist of a colorful Spanish costume dance held in the gymnasium. One of each couple must claim the title of senior or seniorita. The program will be topped off with a true Spanish program.

University of Oregon (P.I.N.S.)—The grade average for the entire University of Oregon, including both graduates and undergraduates is better than it was a year ago, according to statistics compiled by the registrar's office. The average for the fall term of the school year 1923-1924 was 3.25, one-tenth higher than the average for the fall term 1922-1923, which was 3.15. The averages of undergraduate students have been bettered this year, while those of graduate students have fallen.

Oregon Agricultural College (P.I.N.S.)—Ten co-eds will display appropriate costumes for school, street, afternoon, summer, and evening wear, in a noon, summer, and evening style show given at the Multnomah hotel, Portland, Oregon, March 30. All the dresses have been made by students in the regular household arts classes.

FORESTRY SCHOOL TO TAKE PART IN PROTECTION WEEK

Active participation in national forest protection week, April 21-27, by the Idaho school of forestry is announced by the appointment of four faculty members on the state committees in charge.

Dean F. G. Miller, head of the forestry school, is chairman of the general committee; Professor Henry Schmitz, professor of forest products, is in charge of the program committee; C. W. Watson, instructor in forestry, is chairman of the speakers' bureau; and H. I. Nettleton, instructor in forestry, is a member of the program committee. The remaining members of these committees have been chosen from the United States forest service and private operators within the state.

ORIGINATED IN WEST

National observance of forest protection week has resulted from serious effort on the part of interested men to educate the people as a whole to the realization of the harm caused by the enormous annual destruction of forests by fire. The idea of such a week originated four years ago in the west and has since become of national importance.

Pamphlets giving causes of forest fires and means of prevention will be mailed all over the state, and programs of lectures and demonstrations will be held in all important Idaho towns.

VANDALS ABROAD

can consul at Vienna.

TAKES POST IN 1919

Mr. Foster was assigned to the Vienna post in 1919, as assistant to the American commissioner to Austria. As second in rank to the commissioner, the diplomatic chief of the mission, his duties presented a very interesting combination of diplomatic and consular experience which would not have been possible before the war. His particular field was supervising the collection of political and economic news and organizing the control of emigration from Austria to the United States. With kings and counts in Austria coming and going as fast as track candidates, with Austrian money maintaining a value in inverse ratio to the denomination on the bank-note, and with everybody wanting to come to America, the land of sunshine and section gangs, Mr. Foster's job at times must have been somewhat annoying. He managed, however, to pull through the worst of it, and with a staff of twenty-four persons, including four consular officers, an admiral, a colonel, a major, a count, a baron, a baroness and others, he assumed charge of the consulate as an office distinct from the mission on November 28, 1921.

INTERESTING EXPERIENCES

The consular duties at Vienna could hardly be surpassed in interest. Most important is the service for Americans sometimes protecting their lives, but often merely trying to help them save some of their property. Another duty is the control of emigration to America, while still a third is economic investigation and reply to commercial inquiries.

Not all the members of Mr. Foster's family are enamored of strange lands. He writes that he has two boys who are attending the Theresianum, one of the most famous schools in Europe;

"but their heart does not lie in their schoolwork; it turns ever to America, the land of hope and sports; and their appeal is almost daily, 'When can I go back to school?' It is the cry of the young Vandal, harking back to its own.

PROSPECT FOR TRACK BEST IN MANY YEARS

the distance events, Williams is improving in the two mile grind to such a degree that local fans are pinning their hopes upon him to show the rest of the Coast runners a clean pair of heels on the final stretch. In the half-mile, Sowder, Guernsey, Maurice Green, and Forest Covey of Moscow, are showing nice development, Sowder, however, being the only letterman in that division.

SPRINTERS

A team of 440 men looked upon as hard to beat is in the stage of formation, with Walter Casebolt of Genesee, Henry Powers of Burley, and Purdy Eaton of Mountain Home, taking leading roles. All three are lettermen in the event, Eaton for two years. Working with them are Ralph Hasbrouck of Nampa, and Byron Keith, of Coitax, Wash., both good sprint men who are quite likely to place on the relay team for that distance.

For the 100 and 220 yard dashes, Keith, Don McCrea, of Spokane, Vernon Stivers, of Moscow, Giff Davison of Nampa, and Eaton are outstanding. Keith, Davison, and Eaton have had previous experience.

FIELD MEN

The eligibility of Clayton Pickett of Sandpoint, this year to varsity competition has proved a boon to Idaho prospects in the field, for Pickett is developing into a high jumper of no mean ability, clearing the bar at points considerably above the average collegiate jumper. Bob Fitzke of LaCross, Wis., and John Wagner of Potlatch, are two other candidates in the event, while Wagner, McCrea, Davison, Neal Nelson of Burley, and Stivers will likely be entered in the broad jumps. Stivers, Nelson and Davison have all had experience, while Wagner is getting away to long leaps.

In the javelin, Pickett and Wiley Tonner of Spokane, are showing up above other aspirants, Tonnara displaying a neat form. In the discus, little material has developed as yet, Henry Nichols of Moscow, Pickett, Lawrence Quinn of Boise, and Ray Stephens of Blackfoot all taking their turn at heaving the saucer with varying success. The same condition holds true in the shot put, with practically the same crew of men taking their turn with the 16 pound weight.

Pole vaulters are also rather shy around the field just yet, but those out are doing good work and give promise of getting up in the air before the season is finished. Neal Nelson from last year's frosh squad has probably the best possibilities, with George Walker, Arthur Guerin, and Dale Vohs ranking next in order of their ability.

You know tobacco is a vegetable; it grows out of the ground, and when it's green, it is too harsh and strong to smoke. The very best way to remove that harshness and bitterness is by thorough ageing in wood. To age Velvet Tobacco in wood is expensive for us—yes, very expensive, and it takes time, but it gives you a milder, cooler smoke with a finer flavor.

It's 10 to 1 you'll like Velvet Tobacco—aged in wood.

When a Girl Loves

Whether in the Garden of Eden a million years ago—or on Crowded Broadway this afternoon—the story is the same. Here is a girl, beautiful, cultured, innocent, enamored of a youth, handsome, adventurous and poor.

Against him is a powerful rival, with wealth and a noble title, aflame with the desire for a girl.

Amid scenes of prodigal splendor in the royal court of France and through the gaiety and adventure of Paris, this great picture sweeps, unfolding the greatest story of love and lust, pathos and passion ever screened.

Appreciation

TALBOT Jennings, president of the University of Idaho student body has written a letter of appreciation to the A. S. U. O. for the courtesy shown the Idaho basketball team. He expresses admiration for the fighting spirit of the Oregon team and "trusts that our athletic relations with Oregon will be as pleasant next year as they have been in the past." Although beaten twice by the Gem stagers, Oregon returns the good wishes. The splendid showing and the clean-cut appearance of the Idaho team was typical of state university type of teams, and Oregon holds the friendship of the Idaho institution in high regard.

HELP!

THE situation will be settled in one of two ways— if university students come to the rescue, and purchase the tickets necessary to make the tournament a sound financial proposition Moscow and the university will be assured of a wonderful opportunity for advertisement to the high schools of the state. If not, the tournaments in years to come will undoubtedly be held in southern Idaho, where crowds will prevent a monetary deficit. And if that happens, the University of Idaho will lose intimate touch with the material from which her basketball teams of future years must be built.

Think it over! You are not being asked for a donation—you are being offered an opportunity to see the best high school teams in the state in action, and at the same time a wonderful chance to display your loyalty to your university and your other state institutions.

University students should and do prove good advertisers for their state institution. But unless they help far more in the present emergency than they have to date, one of the best advertisements of the university, the Inter-scholastic basketball tournament, will be lost to Moscow.

The financing of the tournament falls directly upon the university, which looks to the townspeople of Moscow and Idaho undergraduates for support. Moscow has responded splendidly, but ticket sales among the students have been far under the estimate and necessary total.

LINDLEY HALL DANCE

Lindley hall entertained with an informal dance at Guild hall last Friday night that is said to have been the most successful ever given by the organization. The room was very attractively decorated with colored streamers. The punch bowl rated repeated visits from the merry makers in spite of the fact that it was newly made. The object of the Lindley hall men was to show their guests and themselves a thoroughly good time and it was agreed that they succeeded very well.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jenkins, Miss French, Mrs. O'Neil, Mrs. Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Kirkham. The guests were Misses C. Harley, D. Gallop, F. Casey, S. Glad, D. Gay, K. Bowdren, F. Sull-

"Where Style is Inexpensive"

The entrance to the dance floor was made through a drift set, representing a regular mine tunnel, and in the center of the hall was erected a scope or interior section of a mine. The scope was shown as it would be found at the miner's completion of his day's work, with drill machines and other equipment ready for use. In another part of the hall was a typical prospector's camp, made realistic by the presence of a gold pan, location notice, mucker's stick and other tools.

A feature of the dance was the miner's skit, in which several of the members dressed in typical miner's garb carried out a mining scene by completing in regular fashion the ignition of the charge which had been placed in the scope.

The miners' special was very appropriately carried out by using light only from Palousers and miner's lamps placed about the hall. The programs were in the form of blue prints, and each dance was named after some term used in mining.

Andy Wahl, dressed in miner's regalia, served punch from a container placed on a pipe coil into which the punch was siphoned. Music was furnished by the S. A. E. orchestra of Pullman.

Patrons and patronesses were Dean and Mrs. Thomson, and Professor and Mrs. Kirkham.

caught by the daring attempt and by what seemed the moral, though not technical, rightness of the act, with one accord they raised indignant cries of protest.

Immediately a petition was started requesting, in no uncertain terms, the freedom of Griffis. Soon the addition of literally thousands of names to the petition so lengthened it that it was wound on a huge scroll and, with the aid of the United States government, was sent directly to Germany.

After the elapse of days for the usual official consideration, the German government granted the request. Freed Griffis and placed him on an America-bound steamer. His entry into New York harbor was hailed with great demonstrations. Tugs hurried out to meet his boat, city officials presented him with the proverbial key to the city, friends and admirers banqueted and feted him, and newspaper reporters and magazine writers followed him wherever he went. At Chicago a great parade met his train and escorted him to his hotel. In short, the whole country welcomed him with great acclaim and unanimously sanctioned his acts in Europe.

Dr. Upham remembers Griffis as an exceedingly impetuous young fellow who loved notoriety and was always attempting the spectacular. This, his latest and most satisfactory break into the limelight, has threatened international difficulty and roused the public against Germany as it hadn't been since the Armistice.

NEW STUDENT DRIVE PLANS ARE COMPLETED

ents of the state. To acquaint the Idaho state high school students with the fact that here are colleges and schools and a university within the state, plans for a "College in Idaho Week" has been completed. The committee is composed of E. F.

Mason, publicity director of the university, chairman; Miss Margaret Mason, Lewiston State Normal, and Charles E. Frazier, Idaho Technical Institute. The committee has devised plans whereby the eight higher educational institutions of Idaho will send representatives out all over the state and lecture to the younger generation of the state, to the prospective of the Idaho educational institutions. The schools from which the representatives will be sent are: University of Idaho, Lewiston State Normal, Albion State Normal, Idaho Technical Institute, Rick's Normal College of Rexburg, Gooding College, College of Idaho, and Northwest Nazarene College of Nampa. This week, from April 21, and the remainder of the month, will be the time when the students of Idaho will be told of the possibilities that they can get and expect from their higher institutions of learning. The University of Idaho alumni will aid in their communities to further the Idaho college week as well as the University of Idaho student drive.

Every student at the university has been asked to urge his friends of this state to go to college in their own state.

Diehl, and Barnett. Of these, five will be active participants and two will act as substitutes. The records of these men would indicate that a quintet of marksmen has been developed which will bid fair to carry off the honors in the Hearst trophy match.

IDAHO BOOSTED BY CHAMBER COMMERCE

Moscow, through its chamber of commerce, has given whole-hearted support to many University of Idaho activities during the past year, according to a recent report of the chamber at the close of its regular year.

Committees from the chamber of commerce have aided greatly in selling bonds to finance the building of fraternity and sorority houses on the university campus. An educational committee has been of great service in securing jobs for students working their way through college, and has aided in the sale of tickets in town for university athletic events.

PROMOTED SPECIAL TRAIN

It was largely through the efforts of the chamber of commerce that the special train to Boise for the Armistice day football classic was made possible. And also last November Moscow business men were instrumental in bringing the Idaho-Gonzaga football game to Moscow from Spokane where it had been scheduled.

A special committee did extensive work advertising the historical pageant at the university last June when upwards of 8000 people were attracted from the whole northwest. During boys' and girls' club week at the university last spring, cars were furnished by chamber of commerce members to take over 100 of the young people to the mountains for a picnic. And Moscow cars carried scores of summer school students over the Lewiston hill highway on a week-end trip to Lewiston.

ALICE TERRY AND NAVARRO STAR IN "SCARAMOUCHE"

Alice Terry is the consummation of all the tales about a school girl who entered the motion picture field and won her way to success by her own efforts. For once, in thinking of Miss Terry, one need not remember the number of failures chronicled in Hollywood—merely how one girl reached the sunlight.

Miss Terry, who plays the leading emiline role in "Scaramouche," the new Rex Ingram-Metro production, coming to the Idaho Theatre starting Sunday, lived in Indiana before she entered the movies—Vincennes, to be exact. Two years before she became known because of her work in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," she attended school in her own town, living the usual life of the small city girl, and dreaming the dreams of ambition.

A MOMENTOUS VISIT

On a visit to Los Angeles she was induced by some of her friends to be an "extra" for a few days. She discovered she liked pictures and stayed. At that time Rex Ingram, who was just becoming recognized as a promising director, was looking for a certain type girl for Metro's production of "Hearts Are Trumps," his first assignment for this organization. He saw Alice, and found her ideal for the role.
