VANDALS TRIUMPH, 19-3

IDAHO WINS ITS SECOND CONSECUTIVE VICTORY FROM ANCIENT FOE THROUGH SENSATIONAL FOURTH-QUARTER RALLY

Quarter Contest Goes Scoreless for Three Periods; W. S. C. Draws First Blood with Dropkick, Fights to One-Yard Line But Fumbles; Long Passes Are Feature

Passing out from behind a 3 to 0 score in the last period, the Idaho Vandals, within a few minutes of the end of the game, uncorked a brilliant aerial attack and defeated the W. S. C. Cougars, 19 to 3 at MacLean field Friday afternoon. Two touchdowns, both via the passing route with Reget, sub quarter, on the sending end, were scored within five minutes.

Emerging from a featureless game in the early quarters, Friday's classic turned into one of the most sensational games ever played on MacLean field. The Cougars drew the first blood of the game, when field goal was booted early in the last quarter. Then the Vandals, with Reget at the helm, unleashed an aerial attack, interspersed frequently with long end runs for large gains, and run through three touchdowns before the final gun was sounded. Two tries for point were not completed.

Play in the first three quarters, was for a large part in Washington territory. Vandal backs had little difficulty in piercing the Cougar defense. Early in the second quarter, Stivers, Idaho quarter, was taken from the game and Reget replaced him. Before he was taken out, Stivers attempted several passes, but for the most part he skirted the ends for gains or called for plays through the line. Washington State attempted many passes during the early minutes of the game, but little yardage was gained. Their attack was centered on Vandal forwards, and those forwards held.

Started by a pass early in the second quarter, Idaho marched down the field to its 85-yard line and stopped on the 90-yard line for an attempt to kick the ball through the posts for a field goal. Reget booted it over but an Idaho man was offside and Washington state was given the ball on her 20-yard line. Idaho regained the ball, however, when Jakey punted and Idaho forwards blocked the kick and the ball rolled out of bounds on Idaho's 70-yard line. Sweet, Washington's left half, intercepted Reget's pass and the ball was started down the field, after being within the shadow of the Idaho goal posts. This was Idaho's only chance to score before the passing was started in the last quarter.

Long before the game was started, crowds began arriving and before play actually began, more than 10,000 persons packed the bleachers. As rival teams were lining up, a bomb, containing a silken American flag suspended from a parachute, was fired and as Old Glory began a gradual descent, the combined pep bands of the two schools truck up "The Star Spangled Banner." Players doffed their helmets and stood at rigid attention, rooters in the bleachers followed the team and stood at attention until the last strains of the national anthem died away.

The second play of the second quarter, saw the first score of the game—that by Washington State when Hales booted the ball from a bad angle on the 35-yard line.

Then Stivers, who had been taken from the game in the second quarter and replaced in the third, started an aerial attack that netted the three touchdowns. Stivers opened the offensive by a long pass to Nelson, for a gain of 35 yards. His next attempt at passing, to Vesser, was grounded. Washington State then held for downs and after the first play, booted to safety. Stivers received the offering on his 23 yard line. Reget was then thrown back into the game at quarter and Stivers was sent to the bench. Reget's first play, a long pass to Nelson, as grounded. He then skirted left end for a 12-yard gain and came back with another for 10 yards when he failed to gain with a buck through the line. Twenty-one yards were netted when Reget passed to Nelson. Twelve more were scored on a second pass and the ball was in the Cougar's 17-yard line. Reget then carried the ball around the right end for a touchdown.

Reget intercepted Hale's pass after a few minutes of play and paved the way for the second touchdown. Reget then passed to Vessar, who ruffled 2 yards through Washington players for the most sensational score of the game. Reget failed to kick goal. Cameron intercepted Hale's attempted pass and raced through a broken field for the final touchdown of the game. Reget failed to convert the final try for point and the game ended, a few minutes later, 19 to 3 for Idaho.

EDITH RHYNE IS NEW CLOTHING SPECIALIST

Succeeds Miss Jacobson in University Extension; Headquarters in Boise

Announcement of the appointment of Edith Rhyme as clothing specialist with the university extension division succeeding Miss Wilhelmina Jacobson, has been made by E. J. Eddings, dean of college of agriculture and director of extension. Miss Rhyme received her bachelor's degree in home economics and took her graduate work in textiles and clothing at Columbia university.

Miss Jacobson resigned to accept a position with the university of Wyoming.

Although Miss Rhyme will have headquarters in Boise her chief interest will be field work among the farm women of the state.

YELL QUEEN LEADS CO-EDS AT PEP RALLY

Evangeline Bennett, First Woman Cheer Leader, Takes up Duties at Head of Serpentine

Evangeline Bennett, chosen Tuesday as Idaho's first yell queen, started her duties Thursday evening when all co-eds of the university "serpented" through fraternities and dormitories as the co-eds' contribution to the rally heralding Idaho's annual grid classic with Washington State college this afternoon.

Miss Bennett started her followers at Forney hall and every fraternity house was visited in time for the girls to join the rally proper down town and at the bonfire at the fairgrounds Thursday night. As the girls filed through the houses on their annual pep pilgrimage, they sang songs proclaiming Idaho's spirit and laid the foundation for the spirited rally later in the evening.

This is the first year that the students of Idaho have officially recognized the co-ed as a factor in terms of school pep rallies and it has been announced that a woman will be elected each year to carry on the work started by Miss Bennett.

STUDENTS AWARDED UP SCHOLARSHIPS

Seventeen Idaho Students Win Agricultural Scholarships Given by Railroad

The 17 winners of Union Pacific scholarships to the college of agriculture of the university for the year have been chosen. Dean E. J. Eddings of the college has been notified by officials of the company. This award consists of $75 in cash to each winner and the refund of railroad fare paid by the student over the company's lines in one round trip from the student's home to the college. The scholarship may be used in attending the four-year scientific agricultural course of the college proper or in attending the short course in agriculture or the creamery course.

Winners for the year and their counties are:

Seymour Hansen of Felt, Teton county; Cyrus Young of St. Anthony, Fremont; Owen Taylor of Blackfoot, Bingham; Roy Christensen of Downey, Bannock; Bennie L. Deschamps of Malad, Oneida; Fred Larsen of Soda Springs, Caribou; Wendell Stuckl of Paris, Bear Lake; Sterling Magleby of Thornton, Madison; Thomas Durant of Franklin; Clifford Bennington of Gooding, Gooding; Don Warren of Boise, Ada; Cecil Wilson of Rupert, Minidoka; Vivienne McKinley of Cottonwood, Idaho; L. Wayne Henderson of Nez Perce, Lewis; Felix Paineau of Moscow, Latah; Levern M. Griffith of Plummer, Benewah; and Arthur Wright of Ft. Lapwai, Nez Perce.

MODERN FICTION MADE AVAILABLE BY ENGLISH CLUB

Fiction Shelf Will Provide Group of Representative Plays and Novels by Best of Present Day Authors and Playwrights

The English club fiction shelf, with a group of the best of this year's novels and plays will be open to the student body Monday morning, Oct. 20, for the first time this year. The shelf is a careful selection of present day literature and is representative of the trend of thought in poetry, drama and fiction. Well known writers such as Edna Ferber and William Locke, who have gained a wide popularity by their vivid characterization of today and its problems, will be represented by their best books along with many newer authors of great merit.

The fiction shelf, inaugurated for the first time last fall was successful to a remarkable degree and after presenting the university library with the books acquired through the year is beginning this semester with an entirely new list. The rent charged on the books is used to pay the purchase cost and the shelf is operated solely for the benefit of the members of the student body, according to the officers of the English club.

Among the most popular and fascinating of this year's novels is

WOMEN'S LEAGUE ADOPTS NEW NAME

"Associated Women Students of the University of Idaho," is Title Selected

"Associated Women Students of the University of Idaho" is the new name for the Women's League, according to a decision announced by that organization at its meeting Tuesday afternoon. This is the name universally adopted for all colleges and universities in the country at the general convention of college women's student associations held at Tucson, Ariz., last spring.

Dean French spoke concerning the rules of the university and in particular upon the spirit typical of the Idaho co-ed. It is her belief that the women of the student body have never lacked in the ability to cooperate, and that this spirit will be very much in evidence during the Idaho-W. S. C. game.

Plans for a dance to be given soon were formulated.

Committees in charge will be appointed at once.

FROSH TO PLAY CHENEY NORMAL

Game Is Scheduled for Saturday Afternoon on Cheney Gridiron.

Overshadowed somewhat by the Idaho-W. S. C. gridiron battle today, but not the less important, is the Idaho freshman game Saturday afternoon with Cheney Normal school at Cheney, the second contest for the local yearling squad which a week ago took Spokane University into camp 46 to 0.

The Vandal freshman team is heralded as one of the best first year aggregations of football timber ever gathered on the campus, possessing worlds of material and indicating a nice addition to the varsity squad next fall.

Who all will be taken on the trip by Coach David MacMillan has not been stated, but it is assumed that a strong lineup will face the Cheney Normal squad, which is reputed to have a strong eleven this year.

CHINESE ATMOSPHERE ENTERS GUILD MEET

Oriental Decorations and Dances Feature at Monthly Social

Chinese lanterns, flowers, incense burners, and a huge ginger jar carried the members of Westminster Guild in imagination to China Tuesday evening when they met for their October meeting in the social rooms of the Presbyterian church.

Agnes Eckermann, dressed as a Chinese maiden, with her chant and magic wand called forth Chinese entertainers from the ginger jar, Helen Wheeler giving a dance and Mrs. R. P. McLaughlin appearing as a story teller. Ellen Eklund played a piano solo. The study lesson of the evening was given in three short talks by Emma Poulton, Nellie Chapman, and Mary Penwell. Refreshments were served from the ginger jar by Dorothy Darling and her Chinese assistants.

PRIEST AROUSES OLD IDAHO FIGHT

Prominent Alumnus Gives Stirring Pep Assembly Speech Precedent to Big Home-Coming Game

Idaho students were instilled with a fighting spirit when A. J. Priest, '18, of Boise, at a pep assembly in the auditorium Thursday morning. The assembly took the place of the regular one which was to have been held Wednesday.

Mr. Priest spoke of the spirit which Coach R. L. Mathews has built up in his Vandal teams. He told of instances where particular valor has been shown by Idaho football and track men and of service and spirit of these university students in the Spanish-American and World wars.

The assembly opened with a number by the pep band and yells and songs were given under direction of Ted Turner, former yell king, and "Bud" Melin, yell duke.

Coach "Matty" said a few words about the impending game and explained that secret practice has been necessitated by shortness of time. He said that even if the students had been unable to watch the squad working out, the eleven belonged to the students.

J. E. Buchanan was presented with the 1923 medal of the Sigma Tau honorary engineering fraternity, for having made the highest grades of any engineering school freshman last year. He made a straight "A" average.

MEDAL AWARDED FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Jesse E. Buchanan, Spokane, Gets Sigma Tau Award.

Jesse E. Buchanan, a sophomore student in the engineering college of the University of Idaho and a graduate of Lewis & Clark high school, Spokane, was this morning awarded the Sigma Tau, national honorary engineering fraternity scholarship medal given each year to the second year student making the highest scholastic record during his freshman year in either the college of engineering or the school of mines.

Mr. Buchanan, a member of Sigma Chi fraternity, obtained the highest award last year which the university gives, a straight "A" average for the year, with a total of 42 credits, or approximately six more than the student body average.

Besides his studies, he worked his way through the university last year, and took as active a part in student activities as is possible for a first year student to do, serving on the editorial staff of "The Idaho Engineer," official quarterly publication of the engineering college, and serving on committees of the Associated Engineers and turning out for cross country during the fall.

CAST AND TITLE OF MUSICAL SHOW IS MADE PUBLIC

"He Who Gets Smitten," is Name of M'Laughlin's Pep Band Offering; Dates Are November 7 and 8

"He Who Gets Smitten," a musical play in two acts by J. Stanton McLaughlin, of the English department, will be presented November 7 and 8 as the annual Pep Band show, according to an announcement Thursday night. The official cast was also announced at the same time.

The show will consist of a two-act musical score with an interlude of songs and dances during which several feature acts will be staged by Peyton Hurt, Howard Knight, Ethel Lafferty, Mary Paisley, Margaret Clark, John Graham, Florence Selby, Helen Lamason and the Pep band orchestra.

A story runs through the play itself which jumps from a lonely cottage where Jim Lansdon and his wife are spending their honeymoon to Spain and to Turkey, where the hero and the heroine have strange and terrifying adventures. In spite of its varied color the show, Mr. McLaughlin has admitted, does not recommend itself for its educational value. A twelve-piece orchestra, conducted by Eric M. Leithe, will play the score for the show.

The following casts have been announced:

Act I, scene I: The Opening Chorus. Act I, scene II: The Cottage—Jim Lansdon, John Graham; Polly Lansdon, Margaret Clark; Hattie, the hired girl, Mandelle Wein; Tini, the gardener, Paul Harlan; the thug, L. R. Reed.

Act I, scene III: The Spanish Tavern—Carmen, the innkeeper, Miss Wein; Jose, a servant, Mr. Graham; Don Alfonso, a brigand, Mr. Reed; Mercedes, a dancer, Gwenn Moser; Don Tomaso, a treader, Carlos Kelly; Juanita, a servant girl, Miss Clark; Don Timothy, a picador, Mr. Harlan; Don Torro, the bull, Gus Bjork; the rich American, John Taylor; the dancer, Sofia.

Act II, scene I: The street before the palace. Scene II: The corridor of the palace. The characters: Achmed, the grand, Mr. Kelly; Balduhn, chief lady of the harem, Louise Yeaman; Ali Baba, a crooked camel driver, Mr. Reed; Gulnare, the queen, Miss Wein; the Caliph Aran-el-Karschid, Mr. Harlan; Nouraja, the princess, Miss Clark; Hassan, the singer, Mr. Graham; Scheherazade, Sofia.

Scene III, The Throne room. Scene IV, The Cottage Again.

WINGED HELMET SELECTS EMBLEM

Eligibility to Membership to Be Determined By The Point System

Winged Helmet, honorary literary society, at a meeting Tuesday afternoon, accepted the design for a pin submitted by Don Allen, and empowered him to have the pins made as soon as possible. Dr. Miller spoke to the members of how much the organization will mean to Idaho, and of the need which has been felt hitherto for a group to sponsor literary productions.

Eligibility to membership will be determined by the point system; it was decided at the meeting. A student having 25 out of a possible 40 points will meet the requirements. Points will be given for work done on the Blue Bucket on the basis of five or more for cuts, short stories, and humorous articles, and three for essays or poems. There will be four issues of the Blue Bucket this year, and it will be possible to become eligible for membership by next spring.

Homecoming! When a great institution reaches out and gathers in its old associates and members when it calls compellingly to all who cherish a love of bygone days and a desire to commemorate them; when it proudly festoons its walls and campus for the gala occasion of a great reunion—then it feels a glad and glorious satisfaction of actual progress and a breathless realization of spirit and principle.

And when Homecoming also involves football; and when football this year, means the great Vandal-Cougar grid battle—well, as someone else said, can heaven come higher!

Graduates, Former Students and Visitors

We're mighty glad to see you back; we were tremendously proud to have you in our bleachers this afternoon shouting and screaming with us, "On Old Idaho!" Most of you realize the significance of this great Idaho-W. S. C. football fight, and we trust you were not disappointed in Idaho, her football Vandal, and her students out on MacLean field.

It's good to see you again in our halls, and on our campus; and we hope you will not hesitate to throw yourselves into the spirit of campus life during these few hours of homecoming. And why shouldn't you?

Most of you can easily hear back to the "good old days" when you were here, on this campus and in these very classrooms, feeling the same youthful impulses and "carrying on" in the true Idaho spirit. Let us help you in every way to re-live those memorable days; and to make your stay at Idaho an unforgettable one.

A. J. and Spirit

In editorial columns and on most college auditorium platforms the subjects of "college spirit" and "traditions" have become little more than monotonous spouting of impractical and stereotyped platitudes, used only as "fillers" of space and time.

Not so when A. J. Priest, enthusiastic Boise alumnus, takes the platform!

"Idaho's glorious spirit of the days of old, the spirit of Johnny Middleton and George Horton, of Chick Johnson and Leigh Savidge, and of other great-hearted Idaho sons of the days that were, is here to "stay," declared A. J. in assembly Thursday morning where he was principal speaker.

"Do you realize," he continued, "That Oregon, Washington, Southern California, and Washington State have, within the past two years, all advanced within two yards, one yard, yes, even six inches of Idaho's goal line only to be turned back ingloriously and ignominiously?"

"That's what a fighting football tradition means, and that's what make us alumni think of Coach Mathews and his cocky, chesty, snappy, scrappy Vandals with an enthusiastic pride so intense as to be almost tearful."

Not everyone knew A. J. when he burst on the campus Thursday; but every Idaho student left that assembly unforgettably impressed by A. J.'s rousing "pep" talk which President Upham has inaugurated as "another Idaho tradition."

How Did It Happen?

It is indeed regrettable that some members of the freshmen class take the responsibility of maintaining their university's traditions so lightly as to neglect it in an hour when they were most needed.

The wily Cougar chalked one up Wednesday night, and only the presence of mind of other freshmen groups on guard prevented a humiliating situation.

Student Opinion

Idaho does not criticize her traditions but some of them in the making have been fiercely attacked.

The sophomore men are trying to establish a tradition for themselves. They have chosen overalls for their distinguishing mark of clothing. Criticisms say that they have a lack of self respect and are showing this deficiency by wearing overalls. Critics go on to say that these men of the sophomore class are being inconsiderate of their Alma Mater.

Before coming to such conclusions let us try to see their view point for a minute. The freshmen have their green caps to distinguish them. The juniors have their tan corduroys and the senior men have the grey corduroys to advertise their class membership. Heretofore the sophomores have had nothing to point them out as second year men. If they are to have some tradition of their own, what is left but overalls unless they choose ice cream pants or red shirts? No doubt they don't care for either of the latter and why should they not have the privilege of choosing their own garb? What's wrong with overalls when we stop to consider that men on some of the big campuses that set college traditions for the whole country do not tolerate the "well dressed" man? Stanford men, according to a faculty member stroll their campus in an attire that would get them by for lumber "jacks." Have we heard that university criticized for its tarred corduroys? (Clean ones are absolutely not permitted. Their wearer would be ducked and have his trousers soiled for him).

Ignoring the financial side of the matter which might have had some thing to do in deciding the sophomores question for, them, what is really wrong with overalls?

Punts and Passes

We'll bet this column won't get a reader alongside the more interesting "news of the game by periods." By periods we don't mean the kind that George Morey Miller insists all freshmen must place after sentences. Nor have we in mind those periods that writers refer to as periods of silence.

 That fussing's the best thing we does.

As we see it, the trouble with McLaughlin's Pep Band show is this. There are too many girls in his chorus. You have to see the show twice—once to pick out the girl you want to watch and the second time to watch her.

In a recent statement, Davis says he feels surer every day that he is on the right side. He is probably the same man who once remarked that he would rather be right than be president.

Idaho All Pepped Up For The Cougar Fray

And Idaho got all pepped up for the big game at MacLean field this afternoon. There was a big bonfire, yells, a night shirt parade, rubbing off a W. S. C. or two and all that goes toward making up the spirit of Idaho.

The affair started when the freshmen started to build their fire Wednesday afternoon. They built a fire of about the usual size, but one alumnus said that in the last 10 years, during which he had not missed a fire, he had not seen one burn so regularly.

The frosh made a night of it Wednesday running all over the campus and the city to keep away stray cougars. The campus was guarded only the one night, by order of President A. H. Upham, who said painting up each others' campuses was heathenish and that furthermore it was out of date.

The pep rally Thursday night was the usual affair. The football men were taken to the Phi Gamma Delta house for the night, so as not to be disturbed by the celebration in their honor. The students, led by yell duke "Bud" Melin and former yell King-Ted Turner paraded the streets and ended up at the bonfire where they sung, yelled and heard a few talks by alumni and former players. The Pep band was very much in evidence during all of the evening.

which ended with a dance at Eggan's hall.

The annual Pacific International Livestock exposition will be held at Portland, November 1 to 8, according to posters announcing the show, which have appeared in Moscow. More than $90,000 in prizes will be offered, according to the posters.

Although nothing definite as to

Idaho's participation in the show has been outlined, it is probable that university stock and judging team will be entered in the competition. Beef and Dairy breeds, horses, hogs, sheep, goats and poultry will be exhibited, according to plans.

This approaches the limit. The Kansas City Star reports a man who saw this sign: "Ye Olde Hotte Dogge Shoppe."

SOCIETY

As Home Coming week-end, this promises to be a complete success. Everyone who ever attended Idaho, and who could possibly convince the "boss" that he needed a few days vacation has come back to the campus. Sorority and fraternity houses, as well as all other places of students' residences, have hung out S. R. O. signs, and rather closely resemble the description one reads of the crowded tenants in the big city. No one seems to mind such minor discomforts as this condition may bring forth, however, and everyone is unusually glad to see everyone else, and to be again "back at old Idaho."

MOSCOW WOMAN IS HONORED

Mrs. A. P. Ludberg Vice Regent State Daughters American Revolution.

Prof. and Mrs. A. P. Ludberg returned Thursday afternoon from Nampa, Idaho, where they attended the annual state assembly of the Daughters of the American Revolution. They went over the North and South highway and returned over what was known as the old Oregon trail, by way of Baker City and La Grande, Oregon. A large number of delegates were present and enjoyed an interesting and instructive session. Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook of Pennsylvania, general national head officer, and Mrs. William Walker of Seattle, were the principal speakers and guests of honor.

Two memorial markers were dedicated, one to mark the place of the Ward massacre on the Oregon trail and one at Caldwell, a marble front on the bridge crossing the Boise river, to mark the old crossing.

At the business session Tuesday the state officers were elected as follows: Mrs. W. S. Titus of Boise, state regent; Mrs. A. P. Ludberg, Moscow, vice regent; Mrs. James E. Babb, Lewiston, reelected as historian. The 1925 Assembly will be held in Lewiston.

MEMORIAL DRIVE TO OPEN ARMISTICE DAY

Campaign To Be Conducted Through County Organizations

With the date of the opening of the statewide drive for funds to erect a memorial building in honor of the Idaho soldier and sailor dead of both the Spanish-American and World wars less than a month distant the Idaho Memorial association, leader in the movement to perpetuate the memory of the state's heroes, is intensifying its program. On Armistice Day the drive for $250,000, the amount needed for the memorial building planned by the association, will be opened.

The drive is to be conducted through county organizations and the following list of county chairmen has been issued from the association headquarters here by Paul Davis, managing director of the association.

The memorial building planned by the association is to be erected on the campus of the University of Idaho.

RIVAL ALUMNI WILL CAPTURE ROSE CITY

Portland alumni of Stanford University and the University of Idaho are making ready to take charge of the Rose City, October 25, the date the football teams of the two colleges meet on Multnomah field. On the night of the 24th the rival crowds will gather and rehearse college songs and yells and the evening after the game an all-college dance is to be held at Multnomah club.

The grads of the two institutions will try their best to turn Portland into a real college town for the two days. Idaho will help by sending down her 18-piece Pep band.

Both Stanford and Idaho are favorites among Portland football fans and can be said to rank next to Oregon's own teams, the university and the Aggies. The Stanford-Idaho game at Palo Alto last year was a thriller and Portland, seeing both elevens in the upper division this fall, had visions of another battle equally appealing. Stanford rather objected to coming all the way to Moscow and Idaho did not feel like going so far south again, so Portland profited.

BOISE BUSINESS MAN IS THRILLED BY U. OF I. SPIRIT

Joe Perrault, Howard Stein, Mike Leonard and Bob Coffee, well known business men of Boise, arrived in Moscow Thursday night to witness the Idaho-W. S. C. game. Their ear was only one of many to come through from the south part of the state for the game, showing an inspiring interest in the university. Mr. Perrault had never been on the Idaho campus before and informed a Star-Mirror representative that he was experiencing all the thrills which a high school girl graduate would have when she came to look over the college of her choice. He announced that from now on he is going to make it a business, together with many other south Idaho business men to "sell" the university to the many people in the south who are not yet familiar with it.

"The University of Idaho is the greatest institution of any kind which the state boasts," Mr. Perrault said, "and I am strong for it and more than pleased that I made this trip north and really ascertained first hand what the institution is."

MASON STUDENTS TO REORGANIZE

Boys Between the Ages of 16 and 21 Years Are Eligible for Membership

Reorganization of the University of Idaho chapter, DeMolay, a junior Masonic body, will be completed in the near future, according to an announcement Thursday, following a meeting of interested students. There are approximately 50 members of the organization on the campus, including those from outside points and those who were members of the university chapter last year. The meeting will be held next Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Administration building. The exact room for the meeting will be announced later.

Men between the ages of 16 and 21 years of age are eligible for membership of this organization, it was announced.

ENGLISH CLUB TO CHOOSE MEMBERS

New Rules Concerning Eligibility of Students to Membership Are Formed

Rules concerning eligibility of students to membership in the English club have been formulated and a list of those who have been chosen will appear soon according to Jane Gibbs, chairman of the membership committee. On account of so large an increase in the number of students in the last few years, it was necessary to make the requirements for membership far stricter than they have been in the past continued Miss Gibbs, "It is now a real recognition of merit to be asked to join the English club."

Following is a list of those eligible: the editor, associate editor, and literary editor of the Gem of the Mountains; the editor, associate editor of the Argonaut, and staff members with the required amount of work and the editor's approval; the editor and associate editor of the Blue Bucket; all members of the Winged Helmet; all members of the Curtain; those participating in debate who have the recommendation of the professor in charge; students who have had two semesters of Play Production and who possess the approval of the professor in charge; and advanced composition or freshman English students possessing a straight A grade.

In order to keep the transition from being too sudden it was decided by the committee to take in the freshman and sophomores who were here last semester on the old basis of two A's or one straight A.

ENGLISH BOOK SHELF

Edith Wharton's four stories of "Old New York" which offer an interesting record of the four decades following the "forties." It is noted that in the first of these, "False Dawn" there appear as minor characters, John Ruskin and the Poe family. The story has to do with the clash between a young man of artistic temperament and his father, a smug and complacent business man.

The second story "The Old Maid" is perhaps the finest of the group and is graced with remarkable dramatic power. The plot comes about as a result of a situation in which the mother of an illegitimate child must stand aside and see her place, in her daughter's affection, taken by another woman.

"So Big" by Edna Ferber has been for months the best seller.

Another of the modern novels to appear on the shelf is "Told by an Idiot" by Rose Macaulay which is quite a remarkable social history of English life since about 1860. The book develops in a very diverting manner the idea that the contemporary generation is never any worse than the one of the days when mother was a girl.

"The Philosopher Stone" by Nels Larsen is the prize winning Danish novel of the year.

"The Little French Girl" by Anne Douglas Sedgwick is a recent publication that has gained immense popularity.

"Passage to India" by Forster is a picture of Indian and Anglo-Indian life with both sides presented with equal frankness.

"The Beggar on Horseback" and "Hell Bent for Heaven" that won the Lost Pulitzer prize are modern plays.
