Idaho's Memorial Armory-Gymnasium Fund

Next Tuesday is November 11, Armistice Day. During those red-letter hours every Idaho citizen will be asked to contribute a little to her state memorial armory-gymnasium fund. Through a vast carefully planned organization covering the entire state, Idaho will pour $250,000 to build a great armory-gymnasium on the University of Idaho campus as a fitting memorial to her 700 sons who died in the Spanish-American and World wars.

Idaho students who were here last year set a noble precedent when they voluntarily contributed $10 each to the fund.

But so far this year Idaho students have been asked to do nothing toward aiding the campaign or swelling the fund. The state American Legion men and university alumni have put their shoulders to the wheel and they have succeeded admirably. To every Idaho student will fall the benefits of this new armory-gymnasium. Surely, as the great day approaches, each of us will feel an impelling desire to do his "something" by way of appreciation and realization of this tremendous work being done for us.

What Can We Do?

Wouldn't it be right in line for us to gather 1500 strong in the auditorium next Tuesday morning, say at 10 o'clock, and stage a rousing special assembly "the like of which never before was?" Couldn't we find much in the great work of financing our new armory-gym to rejoice together about on that memorable morning? Surely, we can; and surely we will. At 10 o'clock, then; in the university auditorium; Tuesday, November 11.

President Upham will have several interesting as well as important things lined up that morning. For one thing, the Idaho Memorial essay contest winners probably will be announced. And many others will be scheduled. Students: we just gotta make that assembly go, and go big.

Let's Write Home About It

In the meantime, why can't every student take upon himself to write a letter to friends or the folks, telling them of the memorial campaign drive and its importance to the state and the university?

Simply state the deplorable gymnasium situation as it is on the campus, and then remind them of the fortunate plan of combining a war memorial with a necessary and practical building.

Who Did It?

Twenty-two to nothing! It's Idaho's ball and she is making yardage on every play. First it was Montana; next W. S. C.; then a temporary setback by Stanford; and now O. A. C. Every follower of football will concede that, on a muddy field, the heavy plunging team has a decided advantage over the light punting-passing variety.

And yet twice, against Stanford and O. A. C., the light punting-passing Idaho squad was able to completely outplay her heavier opponents, and keep the ball in their territory most of the time. Whom must we credit for this remarkable football paradox? Coach R. L. Mathews? Yes, in part. Skippy Stivers? Yes, in part. The whole Vandal team? Yes, in part. The Idaho student body? Yes, in part. The Idaho faculty? Yes, in part.

All Idaho, that's it. Idaho, comprising Coach, team, faculty, and student body and their indomitable Vandal spirit. Watch us go!

Our Freshman Vandals

Watch 'em go! It wasn't even funny the way they tore through that Gonzaga aggregation last Saturday. The frosh team hasn't been beaten yet; and that's only half of it. Last Saturday was a revelation to many students. They discovered that Idaho has an unusual amount of good varsity material in the making in the first-year squad.

The frosh are headed straight for conference championship honors. Their hardest game comes November 11 when they meet the Idaho Technical eleven at Boise. But the little Vandals are going, and they won't be stopped.

Traffic Plan Is Effective

Have you noticed the lessening of congestion on the main stairs and in the upper hallways since the one-way traffic plan was announced? Only a week has passed since it was put in operation, and already very encouraging results have been obtained. Gradually the streams of students are definitely taking their courses up the right stairs clear to the third floor; and down the right from the top story.

The new traffic regulations will save every student many impatient minutes of waiting more or less on his own feet in the upper hallways, but conditions would be even more improved if those who want to stand in the halls or on the stairs and talk would hie themselves to less crowded places.

November the Fourth

Today this United States of ours confers upon one of its citizens its greatest honor, the presidency. Today all eyes will be focused upon the ballot-box, and all ears tuned to the shouts of the victors. But is all America vitally interested in the outcome of the presidential election? Does everyone who is eligible vote? We fear not. Even many Idaho students who are of age have neglected to register, properly, and will be ruled out.

And if this is true of other colleges and universities where the intellectual elite are supposed to be, what can we expect of the rest of voting America?

The very least that every student on the campus, voter or not, can do is to get interested in the business of governing his country. We needn't be told that soon we will be, to a large measure, responsible in these important matters. And shall we face the situation knowing little more than our fathers?

So size up this year's candidates. Pick your president, whether you can help elect him or not.

Student Opinion

An article appeared in the last issue of The Argonaut, calling attention to the discrimination of the business staff in allowing certain business houses to distribute the papers to the town men. The column devoted to student opinion was set aside for the purpose of receiving constructive criticism of campus affairs. It will probably be in place to take this opportunity of appraising one and all of the facts concerning the selection of the one particular business house as a point from which The Argonauts might be distributed. The problem of the distribution of The Argonaut has been a long and bitter one; there was a time when they were left in a huge pile in the main corridor of the Ad building and it was a lucky person who received his copy.

This year the new plan of distributing The Argonauts to houses and dormitories was inaugurated. With this plan all the students except those who resided in town were taken care of. The problem of the business staff was to find some means whereby these students could regularly receive their copy of the paper.

It was decided to leave them at some appointed place and let the town students call for them. There did not exist and does not exist any thought of discrimination in the minds of the business staff in selecting the location of the place where the student could come, in fact, the task, for task it is, was offered to another business house and was refused. The plan as it now functions has met with success on all sides.

The business staff will be pleased to consider any other plan for the distribution of the papers and in the event that a better plan is submitted it will be adopted.—W. M. T.

at the scene of actual combat. The crowd lost no time in urging the Idaho light across the chalk lines and each time the Aggies took the offense, the mob leaned against the very direction of the moving spot of light and hollered "H-O-L-D 'EM TEAM!!" in a strenuous chorus.

When Vesser Scored.

When Vesser crossed the Aggie line for the first touchdown of the game the crowd took on a full sized fit of hysterics, filled the air with yells and caps. Some reserved old gentleman confined himself to a half dozen "Hurrahs" though he was on the very edge of breaking loose with a woodland dancing scene. The very moment was such, that even the chairs gave way from beneath numerous spectators and they flattened out on the floor, got the low-down on the thing and still voiced their praise with those of better standing.

Each time the Vandals resorted to the air for yardage, the crowd ceased all signs of breathing and watched for the light that would tell of the success or the failure of the attempted play. If successful, the "completed light blinked, followed by the usual bedlam. But when the "failed" light got juice, then a low rumbling "O-o-o-h" sounded, followed by hundreds of "we'll do 'er next time, team!"

So despite Idaho's tough schedule of games at the other end of the railroad, the fans and backers of the team are not missing an inch of the territory covered by the "FIGHTING VANDALS" and will continue in not missing a play for the rest of the season, when Matty takes his men to California.

Great honors came to him, yet he will be remembered not for what he received, but for what he gave. Humanity will share forever in the profit of his research. This is the reward of the scientist, this is enduring glory.

Emerson tells how the mass of men worry themselves into nameless graves, while now and then a great, unselfish soul forgets himself into immortality. One of the most inspiring influences in the life of a modern corporation is the selfless work of the scientists in the laboratories, which it provides for their research.

VANDALS ARE SECOND IN COAST STANDING; DOPE BUCKET UPSET

CALIFORNIA FAVORITE

Oregon Defeats Huskies; Vandals Lead Conference in Total Points Scored; Bears Beat Trojans; Bulldogs Stop Montana Bruins

Team	Won	Lost	Pct
California	2	0	1.000
Stanford	2	0	1.000
Idaho	3	1	.750
Washington	2	1	.667
Oregon	1	1	.500
W. S. C.	0	2	.000
Montana	0	2	.000
O. A. C.	0	3	.000

With the dope bucket turned topsy-turvy in last week's games, Pacific Coast conference football teams rounded the turn and begin lengthening their stride this week for the home stretch in the conference pennant race. While the most critical of fans expected, of the four leaders a week ago, but one elimination during the past week-end, the percentage column tells the tale of two institutions thrown overboard. But boosters the hurriedly figuring how everything might again be upset. Early predictions that California, Stanford and Washington would battle for final supremacy with one of the trio emerging undefeated, has now shifted to a discussion whether or not all three may not suffer a defeat apiece, giving Idaho, with her schedule of one more league tilt than either of the other three, undisputed claim to the flag.

Idaho Heads List

In scoring, Idaho heads the list with 82 points in four conference tilts, for an average of 20.5 points per game. Washington is running a close second with an average of 20.3 points in three contests, while Stanford and California stand in similar ratio farther down the list with 15.5 and 15.3 points average respectively for two games apiece. Oregon and Montana show a balance sheet of 10 each, U. S. C. 8.5 and W. S. C. 5, while the Oregon Aggies bring up the rear with an average of 2 for three games.

The present week will in a large measure tell the tale. It will be a semi-final rally for the two leaders, Stanford and California. The California clash with Washington has been forecasted over and over all fall, but a new aspect has been cast on the game at Seattle Saturday in the face of Washington's defeat at the hands of Oregon, 7 to 3. With that exception, games of the past week have substantiated the apparent strength of the 9 elevens shown above by their average scoring.

California Is Favorite

California has long been a favorite, and she now hurdles into the limelight as the coming champion. However, some claim that Washington's setback at the hands of the web-foots will give the Huskies that fight needed to tame the Golden Bears. On the other hand, California, not a favorite in their battle with Southern California Saturday, outplayed Coach E. C. Henderson's Trojans throughout the four quarters and again won the confidence of all California through their 7 to 0 victory, bursting into flame the flicker of hopes for a fifth consecutive title.

Oregon winning from Washington was partly a fluke and partly was because Oregon displayed that which Coach Joseph Maddock promised when he took over the reins of Oregon's destinies, but which appeared during the first of the season only an empty promise—an offensive and a stone wall defense. Oregon's scoring a touchdown on a blocked punt behind the goal line was a fluke; but Oregon's repeated holding the Huskies for downs under the shadow of their own standards was real football.

Stanford to Play W. S. C.

While California is tackling the Seattle Huskies, Stanford will take on the Southern California Trojans at Los Angeles. U. S. C. Saturday made a brilliant attempt with one of the most versatile attacks seen this year on the Coast, to be the first to defeat California. She passed, plunged, circled the wings, and punted, but California was unbeatable. On the face of Stanford's rather disappointing showing two weeks ago against Idaho, whose tactics are identical with those of the Trojans, U. S. C. will take the field slightly the favorite. At least she will threaten continuously and always be dangerous beyond the center of the field. In weight, Stanford will have a hair-line advantage. Then again, Coach Glen S. "Pop" Warner has dropped the hint that he will give Ernie Nevers, his starring fullback held in leash up to the present, a chance to prove his worth at Los Angeles.

Aggies Get Chance

Oregon Agricultural college will have about its last chance of crawling out of the cellar this week when she goes to Pullman for the Washington State college's home-coming game. On a basis of scores and team personnel, the two teams are as near as par as could be asked. Both possess big huskle men, rather unwieldy and given to little other than straight football. The game, though, is likely to see W. S. C. attempt to uncork an aerial attack which Coach A. A. Exendine has been working on all fall, and with which he has experimented from time to time. The pitiful defense the Aggies offered to a determined aerial offensive in the Idaho game Friday lends credence to this belief, whether such tactics could be successfully used by the Cougars, however, is rather doubtful.

VANDALS BEAT AGGIES

The half ended before they could score. The score at halftime was Idaho 19, Aggies 0.

The ball seesawed back and forth down the field during the third period, but neither time was able to score. The Vandals continued with their formidable open game. Just before the period was over, Idaho advanced the ball to O. A. C.'s 12-yard line, but Schulmerich intercepted a pass and in a sensational run, carried the ball down to the Vandals' 20-yard line.

Aggies Tear Through.

Early in the final period the Aggies, through a series of passes and three substantial bucks through the line, carried the ball down to the Idaho 2-yard line, but Idaho gained possession of the ball before it was shoved over the line. This was the closest the Aggies came to a touchdown. Stivers called a pass formation and Vesser got away with the ball to the 24-yard line. Then Idaho opened up. Interspersing passes and punts with long gains through the line, during which time the ball changed hands frequently, Idaho advanced to the Aggies' 17-yard line and Stivers place kicked for Idaho's final score. Just a few more plays were made before the final pistol was fired.

Much of the game was played in near darkness and was made sensational because of the numerous passes attempted by both the Vandals and the Aggies. Pass after pass was called and nearly every time during the last minutes of play they were knocked down.

Substitutions were made frequently by both the Aggies and the Vandals.

DIG UP OLD "SOB" TUBES

relics were ancient musical instruments of a later period. Although the primitive Mexican did not have the variety of instruments of the modern orchestra, he did have the beginnings of it. There were primitive flutes, fifes and drums. Queer one-string instruments antedated our guitars and banjos. Strange waterpipes, obviously used in their swaying rhythmic dances, gave weird, wailing sounds. Probably the oldest musical instruments of the Mexican, as of other primitive peoples, were fashioned from reeds, and Professor Nahl has one of these, a somewhat battered, broken instrument, which quite resembles the "pipes of Pan." These crude instruments, the only tangible evidence of the early musical development, indicate the wealth of knowledge hidden beneath the lava and rock-covered boor of the Mexico Valley.

The Vandals are the champion pig skin followers. Hurrah for the Vandals next Saturday on MacLean field. The Oregon jinx will take to his heels on that day.

We delight in selling groceries to champions, to everybody in whom is found that old and even new spirit of "IDAHO FIGHTS"

Dress Up!

What applies to Princeton and Stanford also applies to the University of Idaho.

The foremost colleges are teaching good dressing. Even the correspondence schools are telling the male by mail that he should dress to correspond with what he is trying to accomplish.

Study without style is like being in love without being able to pop the question—it's a "baloney!" A brain full of facts and figures isn't much use unless you couple it with a smartly clad figure.

If you have reached campus or social success in old clothes, you are a wonder! It's one of the hardest things in the world to do—that's why not many men are attempting it.

DRESS UP—in newer clothes—in better clothes—in DAVIDS' "value-first" suits or overcoats.

There's a style for every walk in college life—from the straight and narrow path to where the light shines the brightest.

"VALUE-FIRST" SUITS, GREAT COATS, TOP COATS, KNICKERS and TUXEDOS

In prices you will be glad to pay
