HOMAGE IS PAID TO FOOTBALL MEN BY STUDENT BODY

Eight Gridders Who Have Played Last Game for Idaho Are Seated on Platform at Assembly Wednesday Morning

Students of the University of Idaho Wednesday morning paid homage to the Idaho football team which completed its 1924 season last week at Boise by winning from University of Nevada 23 to 0, in the annual football assembly held each year at the conclusion of the regular season. Particularly for the eight veterans of three years, who have donned cleats for the last time, was the meeting called, and those eight veterans occupied seats of honor on the platform with speakers.

The spirit in which Idaho football teams play, their conduct while off the campus, and how Idaho has stepped to the fore through the accomplishments of her eleven, was the subject of President A. H. Upham's talk during the assembly. Graduate Manager A. H. Knudson spoke on football during the last ten years in which he has been associated with Idaho, first as a student and halfback on the team, and as graduate manager for three years.

Some of the little thrills attached to gridiron contests in the "good old days" of 1884 to 1890 were retold by G. P. "Gub" Mix, one of the earliest Idaho graduates and himself actively connected with not a little of Idaho's football history. Mr. Mix claimed for Idaho a victory during its first battle with Washington State, which, however, available data, hitherto thought to be authentic, gives to the Cougars.

Skippy Stivers, famed Idaho quarterback and the most dangerous triple-threat back on the Pacific slope, spoke briefly, as did Wilford Walmsley, a member of the Idaho yearling squad.

E-DA-HO SOLD TO IOWA COLLEGE

Famous Idaho Purebred Shorthorn Ends Brilliant Career on Auction Block

E-dah-ho University of Idaho purebred Shorthorn grand champion steer for 1923, who placed as junior reserve champion at the International Livestock show, at Chicago, ended a brilliant career on the auction block, according to word received here. E-dah-ho was sold to the Iowa State college. The young animal was first in the fat steer class at Chicago and placed as junior reserve champion as the best animal of the Shorthorn breed.

This places him among a half dozen celebrated animals exhibited at Chicago this year by the leading agricultural colleges and private breeders in the nation.

E-dah-ho is a purebred Shorthorn steer, calved on the University of Idaho farm in January, 1923. He was fitted for exhibition purposes and was sent to the Pacific International Livestock exposition at Portland in November, 1923. Here he won the grand championship for his class over all breeds in open competition with all exhibitors. He was taken east this fall, where he won in the Shorthorn classes, both at the American Royal show at Kansas City and the International show at Chicago.

At the close of the Chicago exhibit, Prof. C. W. Hickman, of the animal husbandry department accepted the offer of the Iowa State college for the purchase of the young Shorthorn. Mr. Hickman is in charge of the university's exhibit at Chicago.

The 1924 International which is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the show is enjoying one of the largest and best years in its history, according to Fred Bayless, former herdsman at the University of Idaho, who notified E. J. Idings, dean of the college of agriculture of E-dah-ho's sale.

WINTER QUARTER STARTS AT UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

With the first half of the pre-registration period over, 2,682 students have registered for the winter quarter at the University of Washington. This is only half of the total registration expected.

MAJORITY OF OREGON STUDENTS EARN WAY

Eugene, Oregon.—More than one-half of the students on the campus are totally or partially self-supporting, according to figures issued by Carleton E. Spencer, registrar. This includes only those attending school in Eugene and does not cover totals for the medical school.

Of the 2529 students in the university, records show that only 657 or 25.97 per cent of the whole do not support themselves, in part at least. On the other hand, the number of those completely self-supporting is 27.87 per cent of the student body. In this classification there are 124 freshmen men and 35 women, 107 sophomores men and 31 sophomores women, 90 junior men and 33 junior women and 92 senior men and 52 senior women.

There are also in the self-supporting group 66 graduates, 25 specialists, 21 Eugene Bible University students, three law specialists, seven first year law, 16 second year, and two third year law students, and one registered from the Veterans' bureau. There are 522 men and 183 women who are completely self-supporting.

FORESTRY FUTURE IS BEST IN YEARS, SAYS O. A. C. DEAN

George H. Peavy Tells Timber Students of Great Opportunity for Lumber Men in Address in Morrill Hall Tuesday

Dean George H. Peavy, of the Oregon Agricultural College School of Forestry, spoke to the Idaho Associated Foresters on the forestry program of the United States, Tuesday morning in Morrill hall. Dean Peavy visited the Idaho campus Monday and Tuesday on his way to Washington, D. C., to attend a conference of forestry school heads and forest service officials. In addressing the club he stated that he was bringing greetings from the school of the Willamette Valley and assured the Idaho students that they were working for the betterment of the forestry profession.

"We are just now in a peculiar stage of the forestry program in the United States," said Dean Peavy, "and there are many things that we can do as individuals to help make that program effective."

"Thirty or forty years ago some few far sighted men saw the need of conserving our natural resources and realized what these resources would mean to the coming generations. This realization was the birth of the conservation movement that found its most dynamic advocate in Theodore Roosevelt. When history is written (I do not care what your political ideas are) this man is going to stand out as one of the foremost American citizens, since he put over in the minds of the American people that natural resources created not by the hand of man, but by the forces of nature, are not for present consumption, but for the use of man for all times to come.

"Other followers of the present day are, Pinchot, Graves and Greeley. Today we are coming to see the beginning of a national forestry policy, broad enough in scope and comprehensive enough in detail, to serve the American people. So it is for you young men to realize the fact that Idaho is a state not for the present alone, but for the future as well. Service above self should be your motto. Foresters must, of all people to my mind, be altruistic and fundamentally patriotic.

"You men are on the threshold of a tremendous forestry development in the United States. You are going to be in on this great work in a bigger way than it ever has been carried on before. You men will have a greater opportunity for service than the older men like myself. It is a great encouragement to me to find men like yourselves interested in and ready to carry on the work with the idea of service to the people and service to the state. This idea should be one of the fundamentals in your education because a man is not educated unless he makes the principle—'service above self'—one of the main points of his life."

IDAHO TAKES LEAD IN BIG GRAIN SHOW

Gem State Growers Make Almost Clean Sweep In All Classes of Seed

Idaho made almost a clean sweep of prizes for red clover seed at the International Grain and Hay show in Chicago, in competition with the best growers of the United States and Canada, according to a telegraphic report received here from C. B. Ahlson, field agronomist of the university extension division, who helped prepare the Idaho exhibit.

In a class of 70 competitors, Idaho red clover seed took first, second, third, and all other prizes down to and including fifteenth prize, with the exception of twelfth. First place was won by John D. Remsburg of Rupert. Five winners live in Buhl and four in Emmett; others are in Aberdeen, Caldwell, Burley and Eagle.

Idaho took first on alsike 'clover,' exhibited by R. M. Cruse of Emmett, and first on Trebi six-rowed barley, by Ed. Moser of Aberdeen, among 54 competitors.

Nearly Half of Awards. Altogether, with 77 entries in all classes, Idaho took 36 prizes, including three firsts, three seconds, three thirds, six fourths, four fifths, two sixths and two sevenths.

In alfalfa, with 118 entries competing, Idaho took third, fourth, fifth, and four additional places. Canada won first, sixth and the last four places.

Idaho won 20 per cent more prizes than last year in the grain and small seed classes. In four former years Idaho won 46 per cent of all the premium money in the small seed classes. In corn, this year, Idaho's entries were fewer than formerly and competition was unusually keen.

List Winners. Red clover — John D. Remsburg, Rupert, first; Frank Suchan, Buhl, second; Ed Moser, Aberdeen, third; J. A. Bennett, Buhl, fourth; J. F. Guthrie, Emmett, fifth; Howard Darrow, Buhl, sixth; W. T. Fager, Emmett, seventh; George Davidson, Emmett, eighth; Joseph J. Miller, Caldwell, ninth; G. W. Koontz, Emmett, tenth; Hugh Allen, Burley, eleventh; James Potucek, Buhl, thirteenth; Thron Olson, Buhl, fourteenth.

GIRLS WILL RENEW VOLLEY BALL DEC. 8

Practice Schedule Announced; Points Won in Activity Necessary for "I" Sweater

Volleyball practice, discontinued for the past week, will be resumed, beginning Monday, December 8, according to Miss Lillian Wirt, head of the physical education department for women. Practices will be held according to the following schedule:

Monday and Wednesday at 7:15 p. m. — Kappa Kappa Gamma, Ridenbaugh, Delta Gamma, Pi Sigma Rho, Gamma Phi Beta; Tuesday and Thursdays at 7:15 p. m. Kappa Alpha Theta, Forney hall, Alpha Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, Delta Phi Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta. Announcements for the house tournaments will be made at these practices.

"It is absolutely necessary that all who expect to earn points for class teams be present at all remaining practices," said Miss Wirt. "All aspirants for 'I' sweaters should make it a point to win their points in volleyball as this credit is essential."

The house tournament will be played off as soon as possible and each member on house teams will receive 25 points toward an athletic award. The class tournament will be scheduled later, with 100 points being awarded to each first team member.

During Miss Wirt's absence Evangeline Bennett, president of the Women's Athletic association, will act as volleyball coach.

VANDALS' GRIDIRON SEASON REVIEWED

Idaho Attracts Wide Attention by Fighting to Victory's Despite Schedule

Now that football has been relegated to the past for another year, basketball is holding the center of the athletic arena at Idaho. More than 40 men reported for opening practice, but Coach David MacMillan has weeded them down to three squads which are being put through strenuous workouts in preparation for the usual pre-season barnstorming tour starting about December 20.

No definite schedule of games has been worked out for this trip, but contests will be arranged with a number of amateur basketball clubs in Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho. Probably 15 men will make the trip.

Four lettermen from the 1923-24 season are expected back, and a number of promising men from last year's freshman squad are turning out regularly. Two lettermen, Penwell and Hillman, forward and guard respectively, are now out in suits; and two others, Stivers and Nelson, forward and guard, are expected out as soon as they recuperate from the football season.

Of the freshmen, Nedros and Green are making strong bids for guard positions, and Miles and Erickson are playing forward and center respectively. In addition to these, "Dusty" Kline and Walter Field members of last year's squad, are back in the game.

The conference season starts January 7 for Idaho, with a contest with Whitman college on the Vandals' floor. In addition to this game, 16 hoop contests have been scheduled, seven of which will be played at Moscow.

The schedule follows:

Jan. 7 Whitman at Moscow.
Jan. 17 Gonzaga at Moscow.
Jan. 22 O. A. C. at Moscow.
Jan. 24 Montana at Missoula.
Feb. 3 Pacific at Moscow.
Feb. 7 Whitman at Walla Walla.
Feb. 9 Washington at Seattle.
Feb. 10 Pacific at Forest Grove.
Feb. 11 O. A. C. at Corvallis.
Feb. 12 Willamette at Salem.
Feb. 13 Oregon at Eugene.
Feb. 14 Multnomah at Portland.
Feb. 19 Montana at Moscow.
Feb. 21 Washington at Moscow.
Feb. 26 Oregon at Moscow.
Feb. 28 W. S. C. at Moscow.
Mar. 2 W. S. C. at Pullman.

"MUCKERS' SMUDGE" SLATED FOR TONIGHT

Boxing Bouts and Wrestling Matches Will Feature; Outside Talent Chosen

"Mucker's Smudge," annual fist and stogies fest of the Idaho Miners, is expected to provide for university ring enthusiasts some flashy swat trading and neck stretching when the gong brings things to a point to night at 8 o'clock in Eggen's hall. A number of bouts will be fought by outside talent, but campus men have not been neglected in the lineup.

Dolson and Reeves of Pullman, who scale 120 pounds, will scrap first. The second bout, at 135 pounds will bring Shawneesy and Reeves together. These men are also to Pullman and are reputed to be hard and clever hitters. Numerous feature bouts are billed to put up the comical side of the evening.

The first wrestling match puts the two brothers Ray and Fred Powers on the mat. These men made good on last year's frosh wrestling team. Cromwell versus Hidenrite in the second "twist and pull" affair. Guy Wicks will referee these two matches. Waldorf of Pullman will meet Varnell in another fist fight.

"DAD'S DAY" WILL BE KEPT AT WASHINGTON

University of Washington. (P. I. N. S.) Dad's Day was celebrated for the first time at the University of Washington November 22, the day of the W. S. C.-Washington game. The student body acted as host to the fathers of the undergraduates. The fathers were shown around the campus by a student committee before the game. A portion of one section in the Stadium was reserved for them.

THREE DEBATES SLATED TUESDAY

Resolved: "That the University of Idaho should abolish the present absence system," will be the first of three intra-mural verbal battles to be held Tuesday, December 9, in room 217 Administration building, with Kappa Sigma upholding the affirmative and Gamma Phi Beta presenting the negative arguments. Alpha Chi Omega affirmative team will meet the Beta Theta Pi negative team on the question. Resolved: That the United States should recognize the Soviet government of Russia." Delta Chi will present the affirmative and Beta Chi the negative on the question. Resolved: That the city of Moscow should adopt the city manager form of municipal government."

"This is the first of a series of questions to be presented that should be of interest to the entire student body and we wish to emphasize the fact that there will be an opportunity for any one interested to express his views," said W. J. Montgomery, debate manager, in speaking of the meeting.

CO-ED PLEDGES PICKED FOR SPURS FROM SOPHOMORES

Twenty Idaho Sophomore Women Named to Form Nucleus for New National Honorary Recently Organized.

Twenty Idaho co-eds have been pledged to Spurs, newly organized womans honorary society, according to word received today. Officers of the group are Ruth White, president; Camille Collins, vice president, and Bernice Suppiger, secretary and treasurer. The only initiated members of the group are Gladys Perry and Ruth Montgomery.

There are two members from every woman's group on the campus. The list of pledges are as follows:

Ruth Green, Ethel Reitz, Deleph Teth Gimmel; Francis Andes, Lela McGrath, Ridenbaugh hall; Celestia Harley, Pearl Cordray, Forney hall; Ione Penwell, Margaret Duval, Alpha Chi Omega; Dorothy Darling, Cleo DeWitt, Delta Gamma; Camille Collins, Helen Stutz, Gamma Phi Beta; Bernidine Hasfurth, Bernice Suppiger, Kappa Alpha Theta; Ruth White, Margaret Fox, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Lucetia Soster, Margaret Kenyon, Pi Beta Phi, and Murvia Murry, Cecil Smith, Pi Sigma Rho.

Spurs received national recognition at a recent convention attended by representatives of organizations in the University of Washington, Washington State college and Montana State college, at Boseman, Mont. Ruth Montgomery and Gladys Perry represented Idaho at the meeting, and obtained the privilege for this university of having one of the four charter chapters.

Members for the organization were chosen from the sophomore class, and each girl will chose her successor. Spurs is intended to offer for women undergraduates the same opportunities for service that the Intercollegiate Knights of the Ball and Chain offers for men.

The official garb for members will be a white skirt and a white rough-neck sweater on which will be placed the organization's emblem, a spur on a contrasting background, carried out in the school's colors.

ARCHITECTURE DEPT. IN SCIENCE HALL

Intra-mural Forensic Battles Will Be Good

The Architectural department and the university Architect's office have been recently moved into the new science building where the accommodations are better adapted to the display of the art work of the students in this department. Exhibitions similar to those held in the corridors of the Administration building last fall will be hung in the long halls of the main floor of the new building where all those interested in work of this kind may have a better opportunity of enjoying it.

FOOTBALL IS OVER, BASKETBALL HOLDS CENTER OF ARENA

Pre-Season Barnstorming to Start December 20; Schedule for Conference Season Starts With Whitman at Moscow January 17

Four victories in six games and possibly three men named on the mythical All-Pacific coast grid team—this only technically describes the University of Idaho Vandals' football triumph during the season just ended. But that is only about one tenth of the story. The 1924 grid season meant much more than that.

The silver and gold, starting without flash, entered the season the mystery team of the conference, with a year behind it that showed a squad of potential championship caliber. Before the season was half over, Idaho had lost the Stanford game, but critics everywhere were lavish in their praise of the fighting Vandals. It was admitted, even in the inner councils of the Cardinal camp—by Coach Glenn "Pop" Warner, of the Stanford eleven—that "the best team didn't win the game."

The Vandals had demonstrated what alumni and ardent supporters had boasted they could do and what other coast aggregations had feared they would do.

They ended the season with the technical championship of the northwest, it in itself a coveted honor, and a place in the sun in Pacific coast football that was better than a championship, if they could not have both. True, Idaho was defeated twice—once by Stanford at Portland and the other time by the University of Southern California at Los Angeles. Little need be said of the Stanford contest in view of Coach Warner's published statement following the game. He said in substance: "Idaho has the most powerful team on the

TWO TRAINS MAY CARRY STUDENTS

Indications Are That Two Specials Will Run To Southern Idaho Christmas

If the same proportion of university students from southern Idaho go to their respective homes over the Christmas vacation as have gone in former years, two special trains will of necessity be run south, officials of the Union Pacific system state here. Lists are now being distributed among the dormitories, fraternity and sorority houses to ascertain the approximate number planning on going to their homes. The railway company has offered students fare and a half on the round trip, with a minimum charge of $27.50.

The special train, or two trains should a sufficient number indicate their intention of going to southern Idaho, would leave here early Saturday afternoon, Dec. 20, and return Sunday afternoon, Jan. 4. Christmas vacation at the university starts at noon December 20 and closes at 9 a. m. Monday, Jan. 5.

FUSSERS' GUIDE WILL BE OUT SATURDAY

Book Containing Useful Campus Information Soon to Appear

The Fussers' Guide, a book containing the complete names and addresses of students on the Idaho campus, will make its initial appearance Saturday of this week, according to Jess Buchanan and Phil Christian, who compiled it.

The guide will list the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the entire student body. This will no doubt be of great service to the Committee heads of every occasion, as well as to the individual students. The directory will sell at twenty five cents a copy.

GLEE CLUBS APPEAR

A pre-season concert will be given by the men's and women's glee clubs and the university orchestra, in the auditorium on December 12. The proceeds of this affair will be used to promote interests of the music department, for new music and instruments. Tickets will be thirty-five cents and reservations may be made at Hodgins.

These "Finer Things"

No one can deny that the artists' course ticket is a good sound investment in that phase of college education so frequently neglected: appreciation of finer things.

It doesn't require a more-than-average intelligence to appreciate a turkey dinner; nor to get by in the practical college studies; nor to enjoy a good football game. But to be able to understand and really enjoy such finer things as the paintings exhibited recently in the new science hall and the numbers scheduled on the artists' course this season. . . . These are the little things that make such a whale of a difference to discriminating people outside.

The cost of the course undoubtedly seems prohibitive to many this year. But if the amount of the season ticket is cut three ways and then reckoned in terms of the cost of an all-college dance, it will appear in a much more favorable light.

Everyone who buys his ticket before tomorrow morning will be given the opportunity to exchange it for permanent reserved seats at Hodgins' Saturday. This means that all of the best seats in the auditorium will be taken by those who buy their tickets before tomorrow morning. So, obey that impulse; and get your ticket, now!

The Amendment Before the House

The proposed amendment to the A. S. U. I. constitution, advocated by the "I" club and read recently before the student body in assembly, involves the kind of sweaters awarded to lettermen in university sports. Under the existing clause in the constitution, first and second year men are given V-neck sweaters and third or last year men may choose between the V-neck or coat sweaters.

The proposed amendment would give this privilege of choosing between the two types of sweaters to second-year men also.

The V-neck sweater is unpopular among "I" men because of its inconvenience for wearing. On the other hand, it is admitted that this type of sweater makes a much better appearance on the campus because of its large letter across the front. So the idea of the proposed amendment seems to be that by giving first-year men this sweater its presence on the campus will be continued; and yet the inconvenience of wearing it will be confined to those who have made their first letter.

Objections to the proposed amendment apparently lie in two directions: first, that such a ruling will deprive the three-stripe men of a deserved privilege; second, that the coat sweaters are a little more expensive.

But the consensus of opinion among the third-year men seems to be that such an additional privilege is immaterial to them, inasmuch as they already have their recognized three rings and a blanket. And surely, if the "I" men really prefer the sweater coats as their second and third year awards, the matter of expense is not vitally important.

Th main point, however, should be the permanence of the ruling. If the "I" men really are for the proposed amendment unanimously, and if it will settle the matter permanently . . . why, perhaps it is better so.

Boise Likes Idaho's Team

Boise people are taking more and more interest in their own university football team. It was noticeable at the game Thanksgiving. Business men and visitors alike inquired frequently about the condition of individual men on the Vandal squad.

Many people called the Idaho team men by their first names. And many more had been carefully watching Idaho's record in both conferences, and seemed to be mighty proud of it. They all expected much of the Vandals in that game . . . and they weren't disappointed.

This attitude on the part of Idaho citizens in all parts of the state is indeed commendable; and is deserving of every consideration by Idaho students and faculty. Let's cultivate it, folks; let's cultivate it.

PRE-MEDS THROW BIG HOLIDAY SMOKER

Picturesque Scenes of Old College Days Delight

One of the picturesque scenes of "Those dear old college days," was exhibited by the Pre-Meds at their pre-Thanksgiving smoker held in the Beta Theta Pi house. A record attendance was entertained by a very fine illustrated lecture given by Dr. Jennings of the H. K. Mulford company on "Immunity and its Development." The lecture dealt with all the phases of preparation and stan-dardization of vaccines, antitoxines and theurapeutic toxines at the Mulford plant.

A sideline display of cords, bonds and other parts of the anatomy was much appreciated as a "sideline" by the dignified members, while the consumption of real food lent a rare interest to the majority, old "Jimmy Bones" included.

ARMISTICE DAY GAME IS ASKED

Boise Clubs Offer Guarantee for Conference Game; Clash With U. S. C. Is Urged

Boise, Idaho.—After a conference Monday noon between the boards of directors of the chamber of commerce, Rotary, Kiwanis and Exchange clubs, called by Mayor E. B. Sherman, a telegram was sent to the University of Idaho with an offer of a guarantee for the 1925 university football game here.

The club directors expressed the belief that Boise wants the annual game and wants it on Armistice day. They further believed that the people of Boise would stand behind and make good a reasonable offer of a guarantee.

Virgil W. Samms, president of the University of Idaho alumni association, and O. W. Worthwine were appointed to communicate with the athletic department of the university and give assurance of this feeling on the part of Boise citizens. The offer approved by the conference was $8000 for a game with the University of Southern California, or $6000 for a game between Idaho and any other team of the Pacific coast conference, if played in Boise on Armistice day.

NEW FICTION BOOKS WILL ARRIVE SOON

Twelve of the approximately twenty new books ordered for the English club bookshelf will be here some time this week, according to those in charge. These will include everything in late fiction, from psychological novels to romances. The committee claims that the sudden frenzy of reading which has struck the campus will have a worthy outlet in the variety of the books which will soon be here.

Pacific coast—or even in America." The Vandals' outplayed the Cardinals in nearly every department of the game and had it not been for an untimely fumble of a mud-covered and wet ball within inches of the goal line, they would have been credited with a victory on paper as well as a victory in the hearts of some several odd thousand rooters who packed the bleachers at Multnomah field.

Idaho Vandals saw snow on the ground at Moscow when they left for Los Angeles, to meet the powerful University of Southern California eleven. Six days later the two teams clashed under a boiling sun which sent the mercury above 90. Sport writers admitted that the Californians were outplayed during the first half. "But Idaho seemed to wilt after the half was played, one writer put it. It is difficult for a football team from the north, where even in summer the temperature seldom exceeds 90, to play a team of the land of sun, where there is no snow and it is summer the year around. As a result scoring was made in the last half, and Idaho was defeated, 13 to 0.

Notwithstanding Idaho's schedule one of the toughest in either coast or northwest football, the Vandals went through the most brilliant season in the history of the institution.

When the season was opened early in October, Idaho was regarded as an enigma team. She had two seasons behind her, following a long list of mediocre performances. Idaho boosters cried that the silver and gold had hit their stride and were off for a championship, while in other camps it was flaunted that Idaho had had the god of luck perched on its shoulders and was doomed for a fall.

"The Vandals have had all the breaks these last two seasons," was the cry of many unsympathetic rooters.

One of the loudest remonstrances against luck came from Washington State College, whose athletic relations with the University of Idaho have extended over 30 years. Idaho defeated the Cougars in 1923, breaking a long list of victories for the Pullman aggregation. Scores during those 30 years give the impression that the Cougars won habitually.

But this year after playing behind a three-point lead until the last minutes of the final period, Mathews' Vandals grasped an opportunity and unleashed a bewildering aerial attack that netted three touchdowns within 10 minutes. The contest was one of the most brilliant performance of the Vandals during the season and was the most sensational game ever played on McLean field.

As the season closed, with Idaho tied for fourth place with Southern California in the Pacific coast percentage column, the Vandals were hitting their best pace. Not only were they feared the length and breadth of the coast, but prominent sports writers in the east and midwest were considering Idaho in their dope stories.

A dozen or so rooks will be eligible for varsity competition next fall and everything looks rosy for a continuation of the brilliant advance made by Idaho during the last three seasons.

ENGLISH GRADING IS POOR OVER STATE

High School Marking Methods May be Standardized Following Meeting

"A standardization of English grading methods in the high schools throughout the state of Idaho may go into effect as a result of a meeting of the English teachers held here last week," was the statement given out yesterday by Dr. G. M. Miller, head of the English department of the university. Startling results in the freshman entrance examinations proved that the grades in English given by the high schools and those received in the examinations did not correlate. In other words, it was discovered by those grading the freshman papers that some high schools were giving A's for D work, and others, C's for B work.

According to Dr. Miller, the adoption of this new plan involves a double grading system, one grade for composition and another for English literature. This has already been tried in several places.

"The English department has felt this deficiency in standardization for many years," stated Dr. Miller, "but nothing very successful has been done about it up to this time." However, steps will be taken whereby the high schools sending an unusually high percentage of poor English students will be notified of their deficiency."

ENGINEERS TO FROLIC DECEMBER 5

The Annual Dance Will Be Staged in The University Gym; Floor In Good Shape

The first big all-college affair since the holidays, takes place tomorrow evening when the Associated Engineers give their annual dance in the university gymnasium. Gus Bjork, head of the publicity committee, is responsible for the statement that a number of unusual features have been arranged for the evening and that the dance will be much above the usual all-college affairs.

That bug-boo of all gymnasium dances, the wavy, sticky gym floor, will be carefully engineered by the engineers and as a result they promise, with the aid of their transits, paraffin and floor wax, to have a dancing surface which will meet the tastes of the most fastidious. Unusual lighting effects and other electrical displays will also be features of the event. The program will consist of 14 dances with one extra, the "Engineers' Special."

Tickets for the dance are now on sale at all houses or can be obtained Saturday evening at the door.

BALL AND CHAIN HOP TO END 1924 SOCIETY

The last all-college dance before Christmas and for 1924 will be given in the gymnasium Saturday, December 13 by the Inter-collegiate Knights.

According to Richard Dresser, chairman of the general committee the knights are doing all in their power to make this dance, one worthy of closing the year.

The music will be furnished by Al Marineau and his orchestra. Christmas trees and boughs will be used as the base for decorations with streamers carrying out the Yuletide colors and spirit. Punch will be served during the dance.

The Ball and Chain men are planning to make this dance an annual and memorable affair as they feel the necessity of bringing all of the students possible together in the closing social event before the campus is closed before the mid-year vacation.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE LOYAL, ALMA MATER

President Coolidge evidenced his interest in Washington's "College Night," by sending a telegram of congratulation to the alumni of Amherst, his alma mater, which was read Friday night in the armory on the occasion of the annual frolic. More than 1000 men attended the entertainment in the armory and a large number of women represented their colleges in the gymnasium where the women's frolic was given.

Klotty Takes up Singing; Delivery Boy Catches Teacher Lovin' Him Up

Dear Ma,

Well ma, this girl which I am in love with told me that I should ought to learn to sing so I went down to a young woman which was teaching singing and sined up. The first thing she done was to show me some lip movements and then give me a looking glass to watch my mouth work in. And then she hit the piano a tap and says to me there is your key and started in to sing O hello my romeo but I never sung but stood there and laughed a while. She told how you stick your lips out like a bung hole in a cider jug to say O but you stretch your mouth out to say E which is called articulation. But that aint all ma, she said when you breathe your stumick should ought to swell out instead of your lungs which gives a strong torso for expelling wind in crashendo songs. So then she says for me to put my arms around her to feel how she expanded and I done it and she did. And after that why she put hern around me to see if I could expand right but just when I was swelling up good why Fat come in to the back door with some groceries for her to eat because Fat drives a ford to deliver stuff like that and so he laughed hard and went back to school and told that I was having a affare with a woman and my girl found it out so is mad. And all I can think of is how she said we would have tan and blue curtains.

Your Klotty.

TITLE CONTENDERS WILL CLASH TODAY

Football fans of north Idaho will, for the first time, have an opportunity to witness a state championship football game in the Lewiston-Nampa contest at Lewiston Friday. The game starts at 1:00 p. m. and should be a splendid exhibition of football. The Lewiston team plays a typical college game using the same style, plays and passes as the University of Idaho. Nampa is a heavy, powerful eleven and has swept everything in the south before them.

Splendid bleachers with room enough for 1,500 spectators are in place at the Lewiston turf field, and the comfort of spectators is assured in watching the contest. The Lewiston grass field is assurance that rain or snow will not mar the playing.

IDAHO AND MONTANA PLAN JOINT EXHIBIT

Agricultural Products to Be Shown at Chicago International in December

A joint educational exhibit is being staged by the agricultural colleges of Idaho and Montana at the International Grain and Hay show at Chicago, in connection with the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of the International Livestock exposition. The material has been prepared by and will be exhibited under the personal direction of C. B. Ahlson, field agronomist and state seed commissioner of Idaho, and A. J. Ogaard, extension agronomist at Montana College of Agriculture.

The exhibit will feature the state certification of Grimm and Cossack alfalfa feed, 85 per cent of the total production of Grimm seed in the entire United States coming from these two commonwealths. Both states have adopted uniform standards and the seed is sealed as it comes from the threshing machine and is followed by officials through all cleaning operations and resealed under the stamp of the departments. It is expected that farmers in other parts of the country will be particularly interested in this graphic exhibit of how alfalfa seed is produced and officially certified in the intermountain regions.
