CLASSES ARE NOW BEING HELD IN THE NEW SCIENCE HALL

Laboratory Congestion Is Greatly Relieved By Additional Room Now Afforded.

First classes are now being held in the new science hall, which has been under construction since last summer. Although the building is not entirely finished inside, and will not be until additional funds are appropriated, the present use of the buildings helps considerably in relieving classroom congestion caused by the heavy increase of enrollment this fall.

Only non-scientific classes have been transferred, as the present appropriation does not permit installation of the proper decks and scientific apparatus and makes no provision for remodeling buildings which will be vacated when laboratories are moved. Classes which are now using the science hall are for the most part large lecture classes that have been meeting in the front of the main auditorium and in other places not designed for classroom work.

Exterior construction of the science hall is virtually completed. The building, of collegiate Gothic architecture, is an imposing structure which adds materially to the beauty of the campus. It is fireproof, built of reinforced concrete, faced with brick and stone trimmings, and should be serviceable, in the words of one university officer "for the next 200 years."

Although a handsome structure, the science hall, it is pointed out, has

CHRISTMAS SEAL DRIVE ORGANIZED

Student Body Supports Anti-tuberculosis Seal Drive

The sale of Christmas seals for the support of the work of the Idaho Anti-Tuberculosis association is now under way in Moscow and will continue until Christmas eve, under the direction of the Latach county organization, of which Mrs. R. Hodgins is chairman; Mrs. C. L. Butterfield, vice chairman; Mrs. William Staples, secretary and Mrs. J. S. Heckathorn, treasurer. Mrs. J. H. Forney is a member of the state executive board of the association and will be active in aiding in the campaign.

Seals have been placed on sale at the various houses on the campus, and have been heartily supported by the student body, according to report received today.

History of Christmas Seal.

The history of the Christmas seal is of interest at this time. In 1903 there was a postal clerk in Denmark Einar Holboell, who first conceived the idea, upon observing the vast amount of mail that poured into the maw of the postoffice at Christmas time. He organized the first sale of Christmas seals for the benefit of a hospital for tubercular children.

The sale of the Christmas seal was carried on in Denmark from that time on. In 1907, Jacob Riis, the noted writer and humanitarian, received a letter from a friend in Denmark upon which were one of these seals. He was curious about it and wrote back to his friend, asking "what it meant."

An explanation followed and Mr. Riis immediately wrote an article on the subject which was printed in The Outlook. In Wilmington, Del., a Miss Emily P. Bissell was trying to raise money for the fight against tuberculosis in her district and upon reading the article she launched the first sale of Christmas seals in the United States, from which was real-

ALUMNUS VISITS

Henry L. Smith, a student registered in the school of forestry of the university in 1912-14, and now principal clerk of the Idaho National Forest, U. S. Forest Service, McCall, Idaho, spent several days of the past week visiting friends and renewing acquaintances on the campus.

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR ANNUAL TO BE TAKEN

"Subscriptions for the Gem of the Mountain will start immediately and continue until Christmas vacation," according to Kenneth Anderson, business manager. A table will be placed in the hall of the Ad. building and a canvass of the group houses on the campus will be made.

A deposit of two dollars will be required and a final payment not exceeding $2.25. Last year the price on the annual was $4.50. The annual will be larger than previous years owing to the increase in enrollment. Caxton, printers of Caldwell, were awarded the contract, for printing the annual out of a field of four companies.

Students not having their pictures taken, but have paid their photo fee should make arrangements with the photographers as soon as possible. All those who have not paid their photo fee should either see Kenneth Anderson or Jack Mix, assistant business manager.

GLEE CLUBS APPEAR IN CONCERT FRIDAY

Music Department Presents Songsters in Pre-season Recital

Music lovers will be afforded a treat Friday night at the pre-season concert to be given in the university auditorium by the department of music. A program of a classic nature spiced with lighter numbers will feature the mens' and womens' glee clubs, the university orchestra, Carl Claus, violinist; Florence Selby, soprano; a ladies' quartet and Frank Mitten, pianist.

Prof. Edwin Bangs, director of the department of music, has arranged this recital in answer to many requests for appearance of the glee clubs and other musicians. The proceeds are to be used for the purchase of new music and instruments for the orchestra. Seats may be reserved in the hall of the Administration building Thursday and Friday or at Hodgins' Drug Store.

The following is the evenings program:

SIGMA TAU INITIATES 9 ENGINEERS SUNDAY

Honorary Fraternity Holds Initiation and Banquet

Sigma Tau held initiation Sunday for R. C. Beam, G. H. Miller, Arthur Swanson, Edwin Joyce, P. C. Samms, Ralph Mash, J. S. Skidmore, H. C. Billings, and E. W. Ellis.

After the ceremony a banquet was given at the Blue Bucket in honor of the initiates. Dean I. C. Crawford gave a short talk urging high scholarship and pointing out the value of it in college and after life. Dean F. A. Thomson read a selection from Kipling pointing out its application to life. E. W. Ellis spoke on the value of putting everything one has into his work.

ANNOUNCEMENT

There will be a special Intercollegiate Knight meeting at 7:15 this evening at the University Hut. All members and pledges are urged to be present.

Seattle, P. I. N. S.—One hundred freshmen have turned out for basketball at the University of Washington where passing, pivoting, and scrimmage are being drilled into them by Coach Tubby Graves.

TO PRESENT PLAYS IN UNIVERSITY HUT

Prof. Cushman's Class Will Give Two Plays Next Thursday

Dramatic students will represent the second of a series of plays as their regular class work, in the university hut, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, according to announcement by Prof. John Cushman, play production instructor, who is in charge of the acts.

Two plays will be given, the main number being "The Shepherd," a story of the nativity, in three acts, given as the Christmas program of the Curtain, dramatic club. The play was adapted to present English from an old English morality play by Talot Jennings, '24. It tells again the story of the birth of the Christ, pictured through the eyes of three shepherds on the moors in Palestine, near Bethlehem. The old morality play was written long before Shakespeare's time and is typical of the style in plays at that period, when the religious lesson was the main object of the writer. Later, interest developed in the play for itself, and the present style of production was evolved.

Several students who did not appear in the group of one act plays given a month ago, will take part in the show, with some of the previous actors also participating.

The cast for "The Shepherd" follows: The three shepherds, Coll, Gyl and Daw, Sidney Yager, Hosea Evans and Weldon Clark; Mak, a rogue, Bert Stone; Gyll, Mak's wife, Alene Honeywell; the Madona, Cleo DeWitt; the Voice, Marie Gauer; the singers, about 12 girls from the play production class.

"The Princess and the Woodcutter," is the title of a one-act comedy, to be given as the other play. It was written by A. A. Milne. In this act, the players' faces will be concealed by masks, a new, or rather very old, idea in play production, now being tried in dramatic centers. The whole production will be fantastic. The cast is: The King, W. S. Stephens; the queen, Mandell Wein; the princess, Hester Yost; the woodcutter, Beardsley Merrill; the red prince, Sidney McClellan; the blue prince, Vernon Johnson; the yellow prince, Leigh Banbury.

THREE BASKETBALL SQUADS SELECTED

Varsity First String Will Be Selected After the Barnstorming Tour

Three squads of varsity basketball candidates are being put through daily workouts in preparation for the annual pre-season "barnstorming" tour through northern Idaho and Washington. The tour will be started about December 20, when the Christmas vacation begins.

Fifteen men were selected by Coach David McMillan from a field of approximately 50 candidates who reported when the first call was made. From this group, members of the varsity squad will be chosen after the "barnstorming" tour has allowed MacMillan to study the work of the men. The most of the basketball associations will be placed on the Vandal's schedule for games during the trip, although no definite schedule has been completed to date.

Few plays have been taken up as yet and work for the most part during this season has consisted in grounding the men in the drill. The men are all rounding into excellent condition and everything points to an excellent season this year.

"Skippy" Stivers, sensational quarter on the 1924 Vandal grid squad, will report for practice in a day or so, as will several other luminaries on the grid field.

Competition is keen for all places on the squad, as there are four lettermen back and a host of promising material for each position.

GEM CHRISTMAS CARDS HERE

The Christmas cards that were sold in the Gem of the Mountains campaign will be here before the end of the week. The committee wishes that those who ordered cards will pay for them upon delivery.

IDAHO'S MEMORIAL DRIVE NEARS GOAL

Out of State Subscriptions Received; Civic Clubs Indorse Move

Boise—Increased activity during the last week by the county committees of the Idaho Memorial campaign throughout the state indicate that a large share of the objective has been reached, according to State Chairman Paul Davis; Several counties in northern Idaho are well under way and southern Idaho is making a more intensive drive in the southeastern section. Several thousand dollars have been received from subscribers outside of the state from former students of the University of Idaho, former members of the faculty, ex-service men and friends of the university.

Reports from all section of the state show that Rotary, Kiwanis, Exchange and other civic organizations have endorsed the Idaho Memorial and that in many instances the clubs have taken an active share in the contributions toward the quota of the various counties. Women's organizations are also becoming quite active and many ways and means are being devised so that the women may have a share in the building of this memorial to previous sacrifices.

The Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion has asked, as a state body, to supply the funds for the great bronze tablet upon which will be cast the names of all of the men and women of Idaho who gave their lives in the last two wars. A complete roster of all service men from Idaho in these wars will also be preserved at the memorial in a real Hall of Fame. The members of the Auxiliary of the American Legion are making a special effort to secure a most exact and correct list of those who served and those who died in the late war. In the lists from each county which have been published, if there are any corrections the exact names and addresses should be sent to State Chairman Paul Davis at Boise. The list of heroes originally started at approximately 600 names, but this has been increased to nearly 800 by the cooperation of citizens of the state.

"SMUDGE" PROGRAM PLEASES FIGHT FANS

Miners' Annual Smoker Has Fast Boxing and Wrestling Matches

Fight fans who banked the roped arena at the "Mucker's Smudge" last Friday night at Eggan's hall, were afforded a snappy card when enthusiastic campus talent and mat men of Pullman indulged in several two and three minute annoyances. About a hundred and fifty witnessed the smoker.

Heidenreich and Cromwell opened the show with an eight minutes hard fought wrestling match. It was a draw. In the second tilt, Ray Powers and Fred Powers wrestled to a draw. This family quarrel proved one of the evening's fastest events. The third canto sent Hamilton and Hughs together in a hot affair which ended in a draw.

Four husky mining frosh, roped in pairs, put up a unique fight amongst themselves that furnished the comical side of the evening.

Reeves and Dolson fought a draw battle in the first fist fracas of the evening. Both men handled their gloves nicely. In the last fight, Reeves and Shawnessy mixed it to a draw. These boxing matches were put on by Pullman men.

"Hipover" Ross, officiated during the mat matches and Ryan of Pullman "Varnelled" the mat matches. Kirkham was announcer for the evening. The refreshment menu carried hot dogs and cider.

U. S. Loses on P. O.

Washington—Uncle Sam sustained a loss of $40,000,000 in the operation of the postal service in 1923. The loss was mostly in the handling of second class mail, including newspapers and magazines.

Education pays. Nearly all of the great coaches are college graduates.

PRESIDENT UPHAM TO SPEAK AT ASSEMBLY

President Upham will speak on "Character Challenge of College Life" at Wednesday's regular assembly. He will show that college life and education instead of being neglectful of honesty, character, and morals, is regardful of them; that college life and education build up character rather than tear it down.

Dean J. G. Eldridge will explain the absence ruling because of recent misunderstandings among students.

WASHINGTON CLUB TO MEET

The regular meeting of the Washington club will be held at 7:30 this evening at the Alpha Chi Omega house. This will be the last meeting before the holidays and plans for the coming semester will be discussed. All members are requested to be present.

DEMOLAY NATIONAL FORMED ON CAMPUS

Idaho and W. S. C. Clubs Combine and Organize New Fraternity

The DeMolay club of the university has been granted a charter of Delta Mu Chi, honorary DeMolay fraternity. The granting of this charter not only brings another honorary fraternity to Idaho, but also forms a national fraternity as heretofore there has been only one chapter, that at Washington State college.

This action is the first actual development of a national fraternity of this nature, although there have been many attempts previously made by college DeMolay organizations throughout the country.

The organization of DeMolay proper is a national order for boys 21 years of age, sponsored by the Masonic order. Due to the fact that the organization is in its infancy and that many colleges are in small towns that can or have not organized chapters, the members had to find some way in which to continue their work while in college. Clubs and fraternities based upon DeMolay principles have been formed at many of the colleges and universities throughout the country.

Last year Delta Mu Chi was formed at Washington State college and this year steps have been taken to form a club of DeMolay members attending the University of Idaho. The action of Washington State college chapter is the first definite step towards the expansion of this group.

Homor Manley, of the Washington State chapter, has received communications from DeMolay groups of the University of Montana, the University of Oregon, and the University of California stating that they are in favor of a combination of their chapters and the present chapters. With a DeMolay group in these schools as well as at the University of Idaho and Washington State college a strong nucleus will be formed and an attempt will be made to place chapters of Delta Mu Chi in colleges and universities throughout the country.

The Idaho chapter will be installed soon after the first of the year. There are, at present, 30 members of the Idaho club.

THREE IDAHO MEN ON LASSEN'S ALL-COAST TEAM

Three Idaho men have been named on the mythical all-Coast football eleven selected by Leo Lassen, sporting editor of the Seattle Star.

Vernon L. (Skippy) Stivers was placed on Lassen's first team as Pacific Coast quarterback, while Johnny Vesser, end; and Irving (Chick) Terry, guard; were given berths on the Seattle scribe's second team.

Significant in connection with the selection of the Idaho men, is the fact that Washington and Idaho's relations have never been too friendly, an Lassen's action was in all probability taken with the knowledge that he was not pleasing ardent Washington supporters.

Coast men named on Lassen's first team are: Lawson, Stanford, end; Mautz, Oregon, end; Shipkey, Stanford, tackle; Anderson, U. S. C., tackle; Rau, California, guard; Carey, California, guard; Horrell, California, center; Stivers, Idaho, quarterback; Inlay, California, halfback; Wilson, Washington, halfback; Tesreau, Washington, fullback.

GEORGE MOREY TO BE PRIZE FIGHTER IN ENGLISH PLAYS

English Club Will Present Burlesque of One of the Oxfordshire St. George Plays.

Picked from the survival of the twelve-week siege to represent some famous old characters in one of the Oxfordshire St. George plays, twelve members of the English club will represent these characters in burlesque for a classic bit of entertainment before that organization, Thursday evening in the University Hut.

The tragic touches of the past week will lend an air of realism to this famous production. Especially deserving of honorable mention is Dr. Miller who will strive to please the aesthetic and artistic sense of the audience by wearing the famous prize fighter's jersey sweater with large and sinewy muscles. Thus he will represent "Giant Blunderbore."

Remarkable as it may seem, the Athletic department has contributed to the Dramatic department a man of much originality of movement. . . . "Fat" Stevens, who has that distinguished pompous manner of "practised royalty." He will be "Old father Christmas," with Idaho's traditions emblazoned on his Santa Claus outfit.

Sherlock Holmes had nothing on the program committee who have been camping on the trail of "Stan" McLaughlin for a week in order to make him sign the contract for the part of "Old King Cole" (with a wooden leg.) There is still one

THIRTY-FIVE TURN OUT FOR WRESTLING

Several Experienced Men Have Turned Out for Squad This Year

One varsity letterman and five men who made their frosh numeral awards last year in wrestling have reported for work this fall along with approximately 30 other candidates for the frosh and varsity wrestling squads. The men have been going through setting-up exercises and light workouts thus far this fall but intensive training probably will not be started until after the Christmas vacation as the first meet is not scheduled until February 7.

Frank Kinnison, Payette, who has been awarded three varsity letters in the sport has been engaged to coach the squad this year. The only varsity letterman back is Bitner, of Coeur d'Alene, who will wrestle in the 125-pound class. His division will be contested by Ray Powers, Rupert, who made his frosh numeral last year. Fred Powers, Twin Falls, who will appear at Idaho for the first time this year, is expected to give some worry in the 125-pound class. He has been showing some real ability in several smokers given here this fall.

Other numeral men from the 1924 frosh squad who are back this fall are Cal Balkow, Rathdrum, 135-pounds; Paul Stoffel, Wenatchee, Wash., 145 pounds; Lawrence Edelblute, Rathdrum, 165 pounds and Ike Burroughs, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 175 pounds.

R. B. Ross, Gary, Ind., who was a member of a Purdue university freshman squad is considered an exceptionally strong candidate for the 135-pound division. Ross was at the University of Idaho last year, but was ineligible for conference competition because he had not been registered at Idaho for the year required by a conference rule.

John Vesser, Coeur d'Alene, who has made two varsity letters and

These Cross-Eyed Puzzles

"Say Bud, what's an elongated fish in four letters?"
 "Probably 'eels,'" answered his roommate casually.
 "But Bud, that's plural!"
 "Well," returned Bud, "So might fish be."
 "But Bud, it can't be because it says, 'an elongated fish,' which is singular."
 "Oh dry up; and tackle that French, or you'll be doing those cross-eyed puzzles at home after these twelve-weeks grades are in." And Bud shied a pillow at his roomie, who dejectedly turned to his Fraser and Squair and opened its pages to find the wherewithal for a heart-breaking quiz at eight o'clock.
 And so it goes . . . first it was bridge; then Mah Jongg; and now cross-word puzzles. Bridge was too intricate to become very popular on the campus; and Mah Jongg involved too expensive an outlay . . . even radio's success has been only mediocre. But cross-word puzzles! With merely a pencil and any newspaper or magazine at hand, the gullible student may toil feverishly, and mayhap successfully, for hours sifting out tenuous and shady synonyms unknown before, that pour from the pages of Roget's Thesaurus.
 And to what end? Merely the hollow satisfaction of having completed a given task. "But oh," one cross-word bug exclaims, "Think of the wonderful mental exercise it gives; the memory and vocabulary training . . ."
 Blah, is the answer of psychology, for it has been found that there is very little transference of training in learning processes. And it's a cinch that days spent in this manner will secure for the addict very little in the way of usable knowledge. The few words that may be so learned are mostly of such ridiculous meanings as to be utterly impractical.

How About the Home Folks?

Even if students haven't any real Santa Claus to write to; surely every one of us ought not to neglect writing home to the folks as frequently as possible. It's a fine habit, and not in the least childish or silly, to write home at every opportunity. For the very fact that you are here is indicative of your parents' interest and affection.
 Do tell them about the university; its activities; and your part in them.

Still the Absence Ruling

With the passing of the twelve-weeks exams and the subsequent reporting of grades, many students will feel sorely inclined to resent more than ever the present absence rulings. As a matter of fact, it is doubtful if this system will result in any more "F's" than were reported under the old plan of last year.

The present plan is probably more misunderstood than faulty. And surely, isn't it high time that such an understanding was accomplished? Two plausible ways for students and the faculty to get together have been suggested.

One involves the meeting of a student committee with the faculty scholarship committee; the other suggests the reinstatement of the student-faculty council, composed of faculty and student representative members. Either would be feasible; but something should be done.

 The next year, Miss Bissell approached the Red Cross on the subject of making the sale of Christmas seals a national affair. Somewhat skeptical at first, the organization launched the sale and was surprised to find that hundreds of thousands of dollars worth were sold.
 The sale continued each year under the auspices of the National Red Cross, until 1919, when it was taken over entirely by the National Tuberculosis association. Now it is about to begin the seventh annual sale of Christmas seals. During this time the number of organizations for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis in this country has increased to 13,000 state and local associations.

NEW SCIENCE OALL OPENS

been built with an economy that has saved many thousands of dollars. The stone trimmings, as a cited instance, are "artificial stone" manufactured on the campus by a process now familiar to builders but hitherto little employed in Idaho. The saving resulted from this substitution for cut stone is estimated at $20,000.
 Contractors' estimates on the original plans showed that the building could be erected at a cost of 32.4 cents a cubic foot, which, it is pointed out, is much cheaper than the average cost for such buildings for this purpose throughout the country. One wing of the building was eliminated from the contract, however, to limit the cost to the funds appropriated.

Chemistry classes, including night sections, will continue to be held in the Engineering building for the rest of this year. Next summer, if the necessary funds are appropriated, two floors of the new building will be equipped for use of the general chemistry department, leaving one floor for agricultural chemistry and such other science as there may be room for.

University enrollment has increased by 400 students since the science hall appropriation was made, two years ago, and enrollment in curricular requiring chemistry has increased more than 100. To take care of those students and eliminate night classes, the administration finds that nearly all the space provided by the new building will be required for chemistry and agricultural chemistry. These courses cannot be given unless each student has certain laboratory space in which to work.

An appropriation will be asked from the coming legislature to build the other wing of the building, and to provide accommodations for the other sciences, the demand for which has also increased. The initial appropriation was made by the seventeenth Idaho legislature, which set aside 55 per cent of a three-eighths mill tax levy, equivalent to approximately $200,000.

Kioty Tells Ma All About Bull Sessions

Dear Ma,
 Well ma it is winter now and if a fellow is going to do anything in school he should ought to be able to do it now if he figgers on ever doing anything at all but just the same why the boys have them long bull sessions. A bull session is like when four or five cow punchers meets at some cabin or other and unsaddles their horses, builds a fire in the rusty old stove, makes their selves coffee in a old black coffee pot, rolls themselves bull durham cigs and leans back against the wall and starts talking all night. "Yes, it is just like that" as Oscar Wild would say only ma most of the boys smoke them taller made cigs and has on their pajamas insted of levi Stowsses and boots. At first they will begin to talk about some studies and then some buzzard will say "now wait. When me and Jo was on that trip last summer-----" And so then they all light their cigs and slide down in their chairs and some will flop down in their bunks with their jaws resting on their hand. Perty soon they begen to tell about long snakes and strange animals in stranger lands and how fast they drove their fathers' car and how they seen fellows get killed and etc and it never fazed them. And so about four Am why they come to love and tell all about their love and how they learned about wimmen' and so they all smoke another package of Campbells and go to bed. Good buy ma, your son Bill (Kioty) Jones.

Student Opinion

Looking back into history, one finds that many of the greater problems of both national and public interest have been solved by the sanctional voice, known as public opinion.

Public opinion has been the deciding factor in many issues not concerning the nation, state, or large corporations. That part of the public which is interested and has to deal with laws or customs governing a certain section, a certain organized group, are content only when these privileges and restrictions are such that fit their common taste. A ruling cannot survive if the majority are not able or willing to sanction it.

Such is the case, with the present absentee ruling at the University of Idaho. The creators of these rulings with a few sympathizers, are the only ones who agree that it is logical and that it should be applied without leniency. But anybody can create unlogically, unthoughtfully, without regard to those who have to comply. But will it be accepted, will public opinion stamp it as being the right and logical thing, will it help the institution which created it?

To create an atmosphere of contentment should be the main object which any ruling body should strive for, when they are setting laws that are to govern a group of people. And surely if the students at the University of Idaho, are dissatisfied with the requirements of the institution, they will probably seek other places of learning, they will not by any means boast the school to a prospective student.

Why is the school maintained—for the faculty or for the students. If it was not for the students, could the institution survive? If offending laws as these are to be enacted, will the enrollment increase?

You might say that every student cannot be pleased and satisfied with his lot; that is true; but when as many complaints are made, as have been made against the new absentee ruling, something is surely wrong. These complaints have not been made by a few radicals or anarchists but by students who are not in the habit of complaining.

We are somewhat surprised at those honorable persons who created such a ruling. We hoped, we were beginning to sincerely believe, that the faculty members were our best friends, as they so often profess to be, but their inner selves have been exposed to just criticism. Maybe they slipped, perhaps they will catch themselves in their fall, and once more will climb to that pinnacle of respect, which the student body once held for them.—C. K.

Less than two weeks of school and then it will be here, Christmas, presents, vacation and best of all the opportunity to go home. But what are we going to do when we get there? We as students of the University of Idaho have definite responsibilities which we must not forget if we are to be loyal to our Alma Mater.

The most important of these is to encourage others to come to Idaho next semester or next year. We all want to see Idaho grow but to do so we must have new material. When we get home Christmas we should start looking around and find out who is planning on coming up here next year. In addition to the high school graduates there are many others who should be persuaded to come back to school. Some of them may be planning on going to other schools but it is our duty to see that they come here. We should be so enthusiastic about Idaho and so pepped up on the subject that everyone with whom we talk will want to come to Idaho.

We need all kinds of people to make a student body, scholars, athletes, musicians, and representatives of every group to strengthen our student organizations. Let's get the old Idaho spirit to working and plan right now to bring at least one student here. They will all look to the Idaho people for their inspirations and we must make it a point to talk to them and get them interested. We know that our old school can deliver the goods so lets convince the folks at home of it.

Here's a motto for everyone to carry home Christmas; Bring a student back for Idaho.

SOCIETY

With Christmas vacation, less than two weeks away, the mid-winter social season is at its height. The past week-end was filled with various house dances, and the week-end to come will see the last of them before the holidays.

Last week-end Kappa Kappa Gamma entertained with an informal dance. The Elwetats gave a novel costume dance, and Phi Delta Theta also entertained. Phi Gamma Delta was host at a formal dinner dance given Saturday evening at the Blue Bucket.

At the Kappa Kappa Gamma dance Friday evening, the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, and the Messers. B. Mollnelli, L. Helphrey, V. Johnson, W. Quillam, D. Jordan, C. Kelly, R. Field, R. Scholtz, C. IDAHO TO DEBATE OXFORD AT BOISE

English Team on Tour of United States to Meet Three Vandal Men

University of Idaho debaters will meet the three man Oxford university team at Boise, December 15. The Oxford team was defeated by the University of Washington at Seattle last week and is scheduled to meet a University of California team following the Boise debate. The men who will represent Idaho are, Frances McKee of Boise, Frank Wyman of Boise, and Edmund Mecher of Twin Falls.

A novel system of the Oxford team is to let the audience be the judge of the winning team. A vote is taken among the listeners before the debate and one afterward to determine the influence of the arguments presented. According to Prof. William Michael, debate coach, three judges will decide the contest on the basis of the material presented and the vote of the audience.

Malcom MacDonald, son of the former British Premier, is a member of the Oxford team which is traveling under the auspices of international educational institutions with the purpose of establishing contact with American universities. J. D. Woodruff and M. C. Hollis are the other two members of the British team. Walsler Greathouse and Phillip Buck, former Idaho students are attending Oxford now as Rhodes scholars.

The question for debate will be, Resolved: That the United States should enter the League of Nations. As this debate is an unexpected addition to the forensic program of the University of Idaho, it will mean that Idaho debaters will have the heaviest schedule in their experience.

GREEK ALPHABET ENLARGED

New York, N. S. N. S.—Greek philologists will have new letters of the alphabet to worry about, but students will not be deterred from taking up Greek once they manage to roll the new letters on their tongue. In fact from now on, the enrollment in the Greek language course should be larger than ever, judging from the good time the students at the University of Kansas are having. The Dambda Phi Data and the Dambda Phi Care and the Dambda Phis are three chapters that have banded together to prove that you can be happy though a Greek scholar.

HERE'S A CHANCE!

The real nice thing about these before Xmas days is this: We are all in a mood to correct our mistakes; the kids carry in the wood without being told to do so; students double energies to make up deficiencies and to quiet alarm caused by the twelve week warnings; mother and dad find more to smile about and less to frown upon.

PECULIAR

The funny thing about this all is here. When we are in this before Xmas spirit nature demands that we eat lots of good wholesome food. That's our chance as your grocer.

IDAHO GRADUATE REGIONAL MANAGER

Charles Hudelson in Charge of U. S. Veterans' Bureau Rehabilitation Work

Charles Homer Hudelson of Gooding, who was recently appointed Idaho regional manager in charge rehabilitation work for the United States Veteran's bureau, is a University of Idaho graduate of the class of 1917. Mr. Hudelson has opened headquarters in the McCarty building, Boise, where he will administer rehabilitation, hospitalization and all other work for disabled veterans in the Idaho district. The Idaho district, formerly handled from the headquarters of the 13th district at Seattle, recently was made a separate unit.

Mr. Hudelson, who was graduated from the college of agriculture at the university has a brilliant record for service during the World war. He reported for service in 1917 with one of the first groups from the university. He was commissioned a first lieutenant and assigned to the infantry and was sent to Camp Lewis, Wash. After preliminary training he was assigned to the 91st division and sent overseas. He participated in several major engagements. He was on the front when the Germans were pushed out of western Belgium during the closing days of the war. For his part in this engagement he was awarded the Belgian croix de guerre for bravery in action.

A few days prior to the signing of the Armistice in November, 1918, upon recommendation of his commanding officer, Mr. Hudelson was promoted to the rank of captain.

Immediately after the close of the war, Mr. Hudelson expressed a desire to take up work in Idaho and, through the cooperation of University of Idaho and Nampa high school authorities he was notified by cable of his appointment as instructor of agriculture at the Nampa school.

After the organization of the rehabilitation division of the U. S. Veterans' bureau, Mr. Hudelson was made one of the first agricultural instructors in the vocational education department and was assigned to the University of Idaho. He was later placed in charge of the Moscow office of the Veterans' bureau and still later transferred to field instruction in Idaho, being placed in charge of this work.

His wide knowledge of the work connected with the veterans' bureau and his success in the field work in Idaho resulted in his appointment to his present responsibility.

WORK OUT PROCESS FOR CANNING RABBITS

Turning to canning rabbits from its routine job of canning fish, the University of Washington college of fisheries under Dean John N. Cobb, claims it has the cottontail in a position where it will taste like the best Maryland chicken.

Because of its knowledge of food preparation, the college of fisheries was chosen by Dr. J. P. Clark, a Seattle physician, to conduct the experiment which he had planned.

Sceptical of the result at first, Dr. Clark is now convinced that he has invented a new industry in the state—that of preserving rabbits—provided, of course, that he can get enough rabbits.

No Public Stunts.

No public stunts for initiation will henceforth be permitted in any chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana or British Columbia, according to a letter received by Dr. E. O. Holland, president of the State College of Washington, from the Province Recorder. They believe such demonstrations undignified, apt to cause adverse criticism, and interfere with studies.

HONEYMOON REQUIRED

New York, N. S. N. S.—If students marry at Baylor College, the couple are forced by a faculty decree to spend a year's honeymoon outside of the college.

At Wellesley they manage these things differently. The college gives a course in love and marriage. The lovelorn and heart broken student at Wellesley receives first aid right on the campus.

The dean of the school of Arts and Sciences at the University of Texas is of the opinion that the decree forbidding marriage between students while they are still undergraduates is "illegal."

DAIRYING PAMPHLET PUBLISHED BY U. P.

"Dairying in Idaho" is the title of a pamphlet to be issued in the near future by the Union Pacific system in cooperation with the College of Agriculture, it was announced by Dean E. J. Iddings, head of the school.

The book is being compiled and published under the direction of R. A. Smith, supervisor of agriculture for the Union Pacific.

The booklet, which will be illustrated, will detail the history and progress of commercial dairying in the state, paying particular attention to the present opportunities in that field.

EXERCISE RECOMMENDED FOR PEOPLE WITH HEART TROUBLE

University of Washington—People who have heart trouble should take physical exercises, according to Dr. Lillian Irwin, of the department of physical education and hygiene for women. Dr. Irwin returned late in October from a year's study in Europe.

Six or seven years ago students who had heart trouble were forbidden to take exercises. Now the heart is considered in its physiological and functional relation to effort, while before it was considered only from the anatomical standpoint.

250 Entrants Sighn For Poultry Show

Crowing of the cock and the cackle of the hen were prominent on Main street near First this morning. It might be taken to mean that a poultry farm had suddenly been planted in the middle of the business district.

But both guesses would have missed their mark. The annual winter show of the Panhandle Poultry association opened today for this week, and Monday morning found most of the birds on hand and doing their utmost to make the public aware of the fact that they welcomed visitors.

More birds have been entered up to noon Monday than had been registered in the show a year ago, with still a large number of entries to be received. H. W. Hübner, secretary of the association and director of the show, stated this afternoon.

Upwards of 250 entries have so far been received. This number, it is anticipated, will be swelled by at least 100 more before Tuesday morning. At that time judging will be started by Pren Moore, poultry expert with the university extension division at Boise, the official judge of the show.

Especially fine birds have been entered in the Rhode Island Red and White Leghorn divisions. A large number of turkeys have also been registered, and for the first time in the history of the show ducks and geese have found a place in the pens.

The show is being held on the second floor of the Williamson building, providing the best exhibit room ever given over to a poultry show in northern Idaho. The show will be the only Idaho American Poultry association show, which association is offering a silver cup for the best general exhibit, and gold medals for best pens and best entries in the various classes.

The first poultry institute meeting in connection with the show is to be held Tuesday afternoon, under the direction of County Agent O. S. Fletcher. R. T. Parkhurst, director of the show and head of the department of poultry husbandry at the University of Idaho, will give the first lecture, speaking at 2 o'clock on "Recent Developments in Poultry Feeding." At 2:45 Prof. J. S. Carver, head of the poultry department of Washington State college will discuss "Artificial Lighting." Professor Carver has had wide experience in the poultry business on the Atlantic seaboard, and while at Washington State has done extensive research work on artificial lighting and its relation to egg production and poultry health. Professor Parkhurst will close with a discussion on "Marketing Problems and How to Meet Them."

The show will be open each evening. As a special feature radio concerts will be received during each evening from the larger broadcasting stations by means of a set being installed this afternoon by Dean Kelly, local radio fan. It is possible that another set will also be installed, giving alternating programs from several stations.

Special to Provide for 300 Students

A large number of southern Idaho students will remain here during the holiday season as indicated by the number who signified their intention of taking the southern Idaho Christmas special in a canvass of the university during the past week.

The canvass was taken so that the Union Pacific system would be able to determine whether one or two trains would be needed. The company has now decided, officials here state, that but a single train will be run, with accommodations for 300 students.

The train will carry either thirteen or fourteen cars, two diners, and a composite observation car. It is scheduled to leave here early Saturday afternoon, Dec. 20, and will return Sunday afternoon, January 4. It was originally estimated that upwards of 350 or 400 southern students would be going to their homes over the Christmas season, which would have justified two trains.

Pullman reservations can be made the latter part of this week, it was stated at the O. W. R. & N. depot here today, when a time schedule of the train will be posted.

TWIN FALLS CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY

A meeting of the Twin Falls county students will be held at the Delta Gamma house, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The Twin Falls club is organized to promote friendship and to entertain visitors from southern Idaho. The organization plans to assist the university in its drive for more funds, and to stimulate interest in the student drive which is held every summer.

After a short business meeting the remainder of the evening will be spent in a social hour. All Twin Falls students are invited.
