IDAHO MEN LEAD OTHER SCHOOLS IN CAMP ATTENDANCE

Number This Year Will Exceed Last by Large Margin; Many Features Form Part of Camp Life

More than 75 men have so far signified their intentions of attending the R. O. T. C. camp at Camp Lewis, Wash. and it is believed that before the close of the campaign for attendance on March 27, the enrollment will be far greater, according to Captain Cludius L. Lloyd of the military department at the University of Idaho. At every camp Idaho has had the largest number of men in attendance in proportion to the size of their military department, of any other school in the Ninth Corp area. The number last year was 54.

The camp will start June 12 and extend to July 23 inclusive. There are two courses offered, one for men enrolled in the basic course and another for those in the advance course. The instruction in the advanced course includes the firing of machine guns, howitzer weapons and the pistol, and the tactical problems of modern warfare. A feature of this course is a three day practice march which will include a number of problems while troops are in camp and marching. The basic course deals with the firing of the rifle and automatic rifle for qualification. Demonstrations will also be given by the 1500 "regulars" stationed at the camp.

Camp Lewis contains 96,000 acres and is in the center of the pine forest of one of the United States forest reserves of Washington. Within a mile of the barracks American lake is located, here the swimming and boating parties are held by the cadets. The cities of Seattle and Tacoma are just a few hours ride from the camp these two cities are frequented several times during the season by those attending camp.

Entertainment is not forgotten and social functions are held each week at the Officer's club. Girls are brought from Tacoma for such functions by a ladies organization of Tacoma. Every opportunity is given to provide amusement for those attending camp. Three trips will be taken during the summer. One will be to Mt. Rainier one of the National parks, another to Green river gorge and the third a trip to inspect one of the battleship divisions of the Pacific fleet.

Of the men who attend camp last Portland we met a great many old friends: Ragnar Kullburg, Bill Sutherland.

IDAHO GRADUATE MADE SECRETARY

Is Actively Engaged in Several Public Enterprises in Southern Part of State

Ezra J. Fjelsted, Idaho '15, has been named manager secretary of the Pocatello chamber of commerce, according to a Pocatello paper. Fjelsted was graduated with the degree of B. S. in agriculture and went into animal husbandry work for the state. He later became instructor in animal husbandry at Oregon Agricultural college and in 1920 became engaged in farming near Blackfoot.

This is thought to be the first time in the history of chamber of commerce work in the intermountain country that a managing secretary has been selected from one who has been for years closely connected with agricultural and livestock problems. In addition to his position with the chamber, Fjelsted is acting secretary of the Blackfoot tri-country fair and superintendent of the fat livestock division of the Pacific International livestock exposition at Portland.

COMPANY FLAGS WILL BE FLOWN DURING DRILL

The military department of the University of Idaho has received eight company flags which will hereafter be carried when the companies drill. The flag is made of blue cloth with white cross bars in the center; directly below is the name of the company.

VANDAL MAT MEN WIN "I" LETTERS

Four University Wrestlers Qualify For Awards During 1925 Season

Four members of the University of Idaho varsity wrestling squad will be awarded letters for winning at least one bout in a conference meet this season according to announcement by Robert L. Mathews, director of athletics at Idaho. All wrestling lettermen will be eligible for varsity competition next year as two of them are sophomores and two are juniors.

Wrestlers who will receive their "I" sweaters are: Ralph B. Ross, Gary, Ind.; William Bitner, Kellogg; D. W. Bliss, Pocatello; and Lawrence Edelblute, Rathdrum.

University of Idaho closed a fairly successful season in wrestling this year, placing fourth in a tie with University of Oregon in the Pacific Coast conference.

PLANS MADE FOR SUMMER SCHOOL

Will Run on Same Plan As in Previous Years; Faculty Has Been Announced

Summer school at the University of Idaho will follow the plan of last year and consists of two overlapping sessions according to J. F. Messenger, who is in charge. One of these will be nine weeks in length and the work offered will be entirely for graduate students. This session will begin on May 25th. The other session will be for undergraduate students and will continue for six weeks beginning June 8th. The registration for the six weeks session will be made on June 5 and 6.

Undergraduate courses will be offered in botany, chemistry, economics and social science, education, english, history, mathematics, french, spanish, music, physical education for men, physics, psychology and zoology. Research work for graduate students may be had in agricultural chemistry, agronomy, animal husbandry, bacteriology, botany, chemistry, dairy husbandry, economics, education, english, french, history, home economics, horticulture, physics, plant pathology, psychology, sociology, Spanish and zoology.

The following faculty staff has been announced: F. E. Armstrong, M. F. Angell, F. W. Atkeson, E. O. Bangs, J. W. Barton, C. J. Brosnan, F. C. Church, C. A. Crawford, J. H. Cushman, H. C. Dale, Permeal J. French, F. W. Gall, Barbara G. Gamwell, W. M. Gibbs, C. W. Hickman, A. S. Howe, H. W. Hulbert, C. W. Hungerford, Katherine Jensen, T. S. Kerr, David McMillan, J. F. Messenger, G. M. Miller, R. A. Muttkowski, R. E. Neidig, David Nyvall, Althea M. Sheldon, Eugene Taylor, C. C. Vincent, C. L. Von Ende, J. E. Wolsedalek.

BARTON'S THESIS TO BE PUBLISHED

Head of Psychology Department to Have Experiment Data Printed Soon

The Psychological Monograph, one of the most technical and exacting psychological publications in the country will publish in a few months Dr. J. W. Barton's doctor's thesis on learning in typewriting. The Psychological Monograph publishes but one thesis in each issue and accepts only those which it considers to be correct from every standpoint. It was, therefore, a compliment to the quality of Doctor Barton's work when it was accepted by these people.

The thesis deals with the discoveries made by Doctor Barton in an experiment endeavoring to eliminate the waste of time in learning to use a typewriter. In this experiment he found that by the new method of "doing in the start that which you intend to do when you get thru" twelve out of the first eighteen weeks were saved. Miss Barbara G. Gamwell, typewriting instructor, has been continuing the experiment with results that further the view taken by Doctor Barton.

BASEBALL MEN WORK OUTSIDE

MacMillan Has Likely Looking Bunch for Spring Start; Lettermen Report

With a week of indoor practice behind them, University of Idaho baseball candidates have taken to the diamond for actual intensive training. Although many prospective candidates are working with spring football, there are approximately 40 men out, with the prospect of the total reaching 50 before the practice is far advanced.

A preliminary survey shows that Coach David MacMillan has a likely looking crew to start the 1925 season. In addition to a good supply of lettermen back, there are several newcomers who have promise of becoming mainstays on the Vandal nine. Golden and Field, both of whom have letters, will form the nucleus around which MacMillan will build his pitching staff. Erickson, a southpaw who has seen fire with the Idaho Tech nine and with the Welser town team last summer, is a likely looking candidate. Erickson has had overtures from one of the major league clubs, but has elected to finish school first.

Backstop Graduates
Kinnison, last year's first string catcher, was lost by graduation, but in his place are Howerton and Sullivan. Both of these candidates look good in the backstop position. Bill Lansdon, also a letterman, is back and trying for his position at first. Wicks is out for another letter at the keystone sack. For the time being third base is without a letterman as

ALL-COLLEGE PLAY TO OPEN THURSDAY

"The Romantic Age" Gives Mixture of Ancient Chivalry and Modern Realism

A delightful mixture of chivalrous knights and modern men, of romantic dreams and prosaic realizations waits behind the curtain Thursday night before the opening of "The Romantic Age," annual all-college play presented this year under A. S. U. I. management and with a superlative cast directed by John Cushman.

In the most of the romantic atmosphere of midsummer night and mornings, stands Melisande longing for the chivalry of former days. In her imaginations, she sees the young Prince Charming of her dreams, clad in blue and gold, waiting to take her to other lands, where such material things as golf clothes and bread puddings do not exist.

Then in a miraculous way she meets him, the romantic knight of her fancies. Her disillusionment is at first complete, but finally she makes the necessary adjustment whereby a man may be a champion as well as a lover.

The plot is simple, the outdoor scenery refreshing the characters, so aptly chosen, vie with each other in maintaining the interest throughout. The quaint philosophy of Gentleman Susan contains some truth. "Why fear the three hundred sixty five breakfasts of married life when with marriage, every adventure becomes two adventures?"

MOSCOW DEFEATS CLARKSTON, 25-21

Local Team Wins Second Game of Benefit Series Saturday on Gymnasium Floor

Moscow high defeated Clarkston, 25 to 21, in the second of the benefit series games in the university gym Saturday night. Close checking and superior floorwork counted heavily against the Washington team which seemed unable to demonstrate its old-time speed and shooting ability. The game was hotly contested in spots, but in general the contest was slowly and rather indifferently played.

Clarkston jumped into the lead with a basket, but Moscow soon retaliated with two baskets and led at the quarter 4 to 3, and forced up a good lead, 13 to 2, at the end of the half. Moscow was playing a short-passing game that took the scorers in for close baskets.

In the third quarter Clarkston

IDAHO GRADS GET IMPORTANT JOBS

Kjosness, Bush, and Cramer Receive Appointments and Advancement

Three University of Idaho graduates have been named recently to important posts in the administration of state affairs, it has been announced by Governor C. C. Moore.

Albert W. B. Kjosness has been appointed commissioner of agriculture to succeed M. A. Means resigned. Until his appointment Mr. Kjosness served as county agent leader for the University of Idaho extension division, rising to that post from an assistant leader.

"In the department of agriculture Mr. Kjosness was quoted as saying after his acceptance, 'I shall work for better economic conditions. I will give special attention to the farmers. I have a feeling born of long experience with the farms and farmers of Idaho, particularly in the southern part, that with the cooperation between the state department and farm organizations, the returns from agriculture may well be increased millions of dollars in the next few years.'

The new commissioner of agriculture was graduated from the University of Idaho with the class of 1913. He holds a bachelor of science degree in agriculture.

Bush Named Secretary
Ben E. Bush, state land agent, northern division, has been named by the state land board as chief forester and secretary of the state cooperative forestry board. Mr. Bush has been connected with the Idaho forests as an agent and a timber cruiser since 1909

STUDENTS MAY GET MENTALITY SCORES

Change in Test Brings About New System of Rating Intelligence

Announcement has been made that it will probably be possible for students to learn their scores in the mental tests through the registrar's office in the near future, according to Dr. J. W. Barton. Arrangements have not been completed yet but it is thought that individuals would be interested in knowing their scores even though the tests are occasionally inaccurate gauges of mental ability.

The tests given previous to this year were graded on the basis of 100 per cent as the average and marks above or below this normal referred to as the person's intelligence quotient. Thus an I. Q. of 125 would indicate an intelligence one-fourth above the average. This year the system has been changed and the scores are ranked from 0 to 100, in terms of percentile. The lowest score made by any one would be ranked as 0 per cent, the highest as 100 per cent. Thus a percentile of 85 would indicate that there were 85 per cent of the scores below it. The median or average would be around 50.

If the plan to make the scores available is carried out, the results of tests given for the past four years will be on record. definite announcement concerning this will be made at a later date.

TUMBLING CLASS GETS UNDER WAY

Group Will Be Ready for Public Appearance Soon; Bud Bliss Is Coach

Idaho's only course in aerobatics, officially listed as tumbling, is rapidly getting into the limelight with the development of a 15-man team under the coaching of Bud Bliss, Pocatello. Flips, tail spins, plain and fancy balancing and other approved tumbling tricks are being practiced by these aspiring gymnasts every Wednesday and Thursday evening in the gym. Bliss says the boys are getting good enough for a public exhibition and says it will be worth waiting for.

BASKETBALL MEN RECEIVE LETTERS

Eight Vandal Hoopsters Win "I" Sweaters for Their Work This Season

Eight University of Idaho basketballers will receive letters for playing the required time of conference varsity basketball this year, according to Coach David MacMillan. Only one of the players who will be awarded "I" sweaters will be graduated this spring. Six of the letter squad this year are sophomores in the university and will be eligible for conference basketball for two more years.

The new basketball lettermen are: Edward Nedroes, Moscow, John Miles, Cudesac, Guy Penwell, Moscow, George Green, Cudesac, Neal Nelson, Burley, Harold Lamphere, Moscow, Ralph Erickson Pocatello, and Henry Canine, Moscow.

With seven lettermen back next year in suits as a nucleus, Coach MacMillan has every assurance of a basketball team of championship caliber for the 1926 conference season.

WILLIAMSON HEADS R. O. T. C. OFFICERS

Cadet Appointments Are Announced by Military Department

Frank Williamson has been appointed first in command as cadet Colonel of the R. O. T. C. according to a recent announcement from the military department. Other officers named are: David Shoultis, Lieutenant Colonel; majors, Leo Fleming, Harry Brenn and Gale Mix.

The numbers of men appointed for officers this semester far exceeds those that have been appointed in past years and it is a fair estimate of the growth of the military department.

WILL PUT TENNIS COURTS IN SHAPE

Abundance of Good Material for Varsity Teams This Season

With the arrival of tennis weather the athletic department is making plans to put seven courts in shape for use within the next two weeks. Six men under the direction of Robert Quarles, sophomore athletic manager, are at work, leveling and rolling the courts for their first treatment in several years. The four courts in the rear of the Ad building have heretofore been reserved for faculty use, but as only two of them are ever used, it is planned to open the others to students.

An abundance of good material is in prospect for the varsity team which has a schedule of four and possibly five meets for May and June. An early spring will give the men a chance to get in better condition than usual for the '25 season. Plans have been considered to build several cement courts but it is probable that they will not materialize this spring.

EDUCATED TRAMPS MEET OLD GRADS DURING LONG HIKE

Strange Pair Are Guests of Dean and Edward Mason Hulme at Palo Alto, Cal.; Now at Costa Mesa

"If I had the time I could write you a whole book about our journey—the friends we have met, the experiences we have had and the country we have passed through" writes Fred Pearson, blind partner of the blind and lame pair, who left the University of Idaho last spring to hike around the borderlands of the United States in search of local color for future literary endeavors. The pair is at Costa Mesa, where Victor Addington, the lame youth, is recuperating from a broken leg, received when he was thrown from a wagon. The letter was addressed to Mr. and Mrs. G. Ralph.

Many old grads and former students at the university were encountered on the hike, which has covered approximately 1700 miles. "Just let me mention a few of the old luminaries of the University of Idaho and Moscow we met feasted with and 'fested' with. The first one was Johnnie Middleton, the famous grid star and coach of my kid days. Middleton, Buck Phillips, Thurlin Schrantz, and Boyd Cornelson we met at Lewiston. At Pomeroy we found 'Pip' and Burt Dingle in the hardware business. We had a curious experience at Hover, 13 miles south of Kennewick. It was nearly dusk and we were looking for quarters for the night. Spying a house with a big barn, we went in to inquire if we could make our bed in a haymow. It turned out to be Sergeant Donald Thorn, who, for the last two winters was a vocational short ag. at Moscow. He is taking care of a ranch belonging to Mr. McClintock, Doctor Upham's brother-in-law. He gave us a bed in the house.

Marvin Carnahan, a fellow football man and friend of Vic, my brother, was our host at Kennewick. Marvin runs a blacksmith shop in Kennewick with his father. He is about two hundred and fifty pounds strong now. Grimer was the next man we met. He is manager of a fruit company at Hanford. He was at Idaho in the days of my older brothers, when I was a kid. Harold Evett, manager of another fruit company at Hanford, attended the M. H. S. for one year. At

MEMORIAL DRIVE PROGRESS IS GOOD

Committee Has $10,000 In Cash for Statue to Martyr Governor

Date for collection of the last subscription to the fund for the Steunenburg memorial has been advanced from March 20 until April 30, it was announced by Lewis Williams, secretary of the memorial association, who was a Moscow visitor Monday. Mr. Williams is in the Panhandle from Boise looking over the ground and checking up on the progress of the drive.

Excellent response has been met almost everywhere to the requests for funds, said Mr. Williams. Some counties, however, still have their quotas to report, said the secretary.

The memorial to Idaho's martyred governor will be placed in a triangle directly in front of the capitol at Boise. Whether the memorial will consist of a single statue or a group it has not been definitely decided, said Mr. Williams, but it is known a life-sized statue of the former governor will be included. Negotiations for a sculptor to do the work have been opened and already several nationally known men have requested to be allowed to carve the statue. Although masonry work for the base of the memorial will be complete before the end of this summer, it is probable that the sculpturing work will not be completed before a year.

The complete memorial is expected to cost $30,000, of which $15,000 will be borne by the state of Idaho and the remainder by the citizens of the state.

"Man Fashion"

Here is a quotation, appearing in a recent issue of a popular weekly, which was written by a Harvard graduate who has returned to his Alma Mater and is now taking a few history courses restricted to upperclassmen.

"In spirit and practice the subject is presented man fashion. There are no tests and no hour examinations, but, until midyears, the marks are based upon two themes in which original thought and independent thinking are encouraged."

It is regrettable that more university courses are not, and perhaps cannot, be presented "man-fashion." How infinitely much better, in ultimate result as well as temporary satisfaction, would college courses be if more "original thought and independent thinking" could be encouraged.

Think of It!

The importance of the position occupied by Moscow, town and high school, insofar as their student contribution to the University of Idaho is concerned is easily underestimated. The example of Idaho basketball teams is a case in point.

The names of "Squinty" Hunter, Rich Fox, "Oz" Thompson, Al Fox, Bennie Keane, "Ade" Nelson, "Drom" Campbell, Harry Edwards, William Carter, and Percy "Red" Steiner, are music to the ears of the recent Idaho graduate or the "old-timer" on the campus.

The fortunes of basketball, like those of love and war, are as fickle as they are alluring. And Idaho's time will come again; and not so far distant, either. But meanwhile, it's a splendid thing to retain and cherish the memory of those fine men of Idaho and the remarkable conditions that produced them.

Last issue The Argonaut printed, in its Student Opinion column, an article by a friend of Moscow high. Therein the writer deplored the attitude of some of the crowd that witnessed the recent interscholastic tournament towards the Moscow high team.

Moscow Industry

Moscow business men and business houses deserve, and usually merit, first consideration by Idaho students in the matter of patronage. Even putting aside consideration of just deserts because of their long-standing support of all university projects, most Moscow business firms offer wares of a quality and at a price at least equal to any others obtainable.

But when the element of what they deserve by virtue of their work in behalf of the University of Idaho and its many activities comes in, there is no room left for any other conclusion than this.

Idaho, Mother of Mine

A short time ago more than forty masculine voices joined in an experiment: Idaho's new Alma Mater song. The first stanza was sung... after a breathless pause, a few of the men echoed the opinion of the group: Great Stuff!

Yes, it is great stuff, that song. And it is destined to be even greater. It will more than fill the bill. A real Idaho Alma Mater hymn; and one with enough spirit and zip to appeal on the surface as well as thrill to the depths.

IMMENSE VALUE IN IDAHO PHOSPHATE

Kirkham Report Shows Field Largest in U. S.; Area Is 1800 Square Miles

The potential phosphate resources of Idaho, if properly developed, will dwarf the famous Butte and Coeur d'Alene mining districts, since they will ultimately prove to be one of the most important factors in American industrial progress in the opinion of Prof. Virgil R. D. Kirkham, of the University of Idaho school of mines faculty.

The future of American agriculture is guaranteed through the existence of these deposits, provided potash and nitrogen are available. Through the application of potash, there is a possibility of doubling the field of the American farm, Mr. Kirkham believes.

The Idaho phosphate field, is the largest in the world said the geologist. It covers an area of 1800 square miles in seven counties in southeastern Idaho. The most accessible part of the field lies in Bear Lake and Caribou counties and is served by branch lines of the Union Pacific system.

Probably 95 percent of the deposit is yet untouched because of lack of cheap transportation but favorable grades along drainage lines assure for the future many branch lines and spurs which will facilitate the marketing of these outlying deposits.

The western phosphate deposits, although as yet little utilized are being used chiefly for the manufacture of "superphosphate" fertilizer, which has its demand from the coast states.

The real value of the deposits lies in the fact that due to the relative low phosphoric acid, can bear the charges of cal to ship ordinary acid phosphate over long distances. Superphosphate, a concentrated product containing from 48 to 50 per cent available phosphoric acid content, it is uneconomical long distance hauling and can be shipped to distant countries with profit.

Teton Coal Beds

The coalbeds of Teton country are located on the northern edge of the phosphate area. If the petroleum is found in southeastern Idaho and western Wyoming oil fired furnaces might be applicable. By combination of the strong phosphoric acid with nitrogen and potassium salts, a concentrated fertilizer can be produced which can be profitably shipped to all parts of the United States and foreign countries, Mr. Kirkham believes.

The Idaho deposits have to their disadvantage a freight rate which prevents competition with the Tennessee deposits of the markets of the Mississippi valley and eastward. This rate also prevents attempts at competition with guano fertilizer from the Islands of the Pacific ocean in the markets of the Pacific coast states and the orient.

However, the islands have relatively small reserves and are rapidly nearing depletion. Portland, Ore., has prepared for the potential phosphate trade of Idaho with the orient and all Pacific points by constructing a special terminal, especially equipped with storage bunkers, bins and loading machinery.

SOCIETY

If the student will stop for a moment in his mad rush to catch up on belated themes and readings, he will find to his amazement that in a short time half of the semester will have gone. Where and how, he will not be able to discover, for it seems only yesterday that he stood inline last fall to register. School-days, boring as they seem at the time, go all too quickly.

The glaring fact that the second weeks of this semester are well started means looking ahead to long semester themes and final examinations. Politics, too, always make things hum about this time of year. It is indeed the busiest time in the school year.

George Oliver Receives Letters Expressing Interest in Idaho

The following letter has just been received by George Oliver, student secretary at the University of Idaho, and is only a sample of the interest that many of the fathers of the foreign students show in the University of Idaho and its Christian ideals.

The Secretary of Religious Work University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho, U. S. A.

Sir: With reference to your letter of Oct. 15 1924, herewith enclosed post-office money order for $5, as my voluntary contribution to the activities of that organization. This amount is so very insignificant, but it is all I can do for the present. However, I expect that it will help a bit in the promotion of Christian ideals among your students. CAMPUS CAN BE MADE BEAUTIFUL, WEAVER

Architect Head Suggests Many Ways of Improving Appearance of Grounds

How can the University of Idaho campus and the adjoining group houses be made more beautiful and attractive? That is the question that was discussed and answered by Professor Rudolph Weaver head of the department of Architecture, in a recent interview.

"The University of Idaho is behind most of the universities of the United States in this respect," said Mr. Weaver. "During my last trip through the middle west and east I found most of the fraternity and sorority houses beautified and made very pleasing to the eye by the use of trees shrubs and fine lawns. In most cases the houses were no better than the ones on our own campus, they were merely enhanced by artistic planting." "The group houses are a very important part of the university; every visitor is influenced by their appearance," continued Mr. Weaver. "So far, the majority of the houses at Idaho are bare and hence unattractive."

Every house should make an effort to help the general appearance of the campus by the planting of shrubs and trees, according to the speaker, who declared himself ready to help any group to plan the landscaping during the spring months.

"Beauty is contagious," said Mr. Weaver. "If the fraternity houses were to set the example by beautifying their property the citizens who own homes close to the campus would soon follow suit. The exterior of a home is almost as important as the interior and many an unattractive building can be changed for the better by starting some vine over the bare walls or by carefully placing a few good trees or shrubs."

DE MOLAY GROUP TEAM TO INSTALL

Delta Mu Chi Will Be Sanctioned Thursday Night; Banquet Scheduled

The installation of the Idaho chapter of Delta Mu Chi, national De Molay honorary, will be held at the Blue Bucket Thursday night. A banquet and program will follow the installation.

Last fall a DeMolay club was formed on the Idaho campus by some of the DeMolays in attendance here. They organized with the purpose of petitioning Delta Mu Chi, which was then a local fraternity on the campus at Washington State College and the first such organization in the country. The club on the Idaho campus was granted a charter last December. The Idaho chapter is the second one of that nature but plans are being made to grant charters to DeMolays on the campuses at Montana, Washington, Oregon and Whitman.

The installation of the Idaho group will be put on by a team from the chapter at Pullman and will take place in the Blue Bucket. After the installation the members from Pullman and the men from Idaho will hold a banquet in the dining room of the Blue Bucket. A full program of entertainment for the evening has also been lined up. About 35 men will be initiated.

BARTON, DISNEY ADDRESS SENIORS

By Means of Reading Group Psychology Students Are Able to Hear New Literature

At a meeting of the Psychology reading seminar Tuesday evening papers were read by Dr. Barton and Dwight Disney. Dr. Barton explained some tests which had been made to determine the comparative value of the false and true method of giving quizzes and also some experiments which had been made to compare the learning value of the auditory and visual methods of presentation. According to the latter results of experiment auditory presentation is much superior to visual in obtaining the best results in learning.

Disney told of some experiments which had been made at the University of Wisconsin to find, it possible, the cause of poor spelling among college students. It was found that improper habits of enunciation, pronunciation, reading and slovenly habits of speech in general were largely responsible for common mistakes in spelling. The seminar meets every Thursday at 7:00 o'clock and is open to anyone interested in keeping abreast of the new psychological literature.

CONTEST OPEN FOR HISTORY SLICKERS

Idaho Chapter of Sons of American Revolution Will Award Prize for Essay

The annual American History Trophy contest for the award offered by the Idaho Chapter of the sons of the American Revolution has been announced. Students taking History X or XII will write for the prize on subjects of historical interest in United States History between the years of 1492 and 1789. A bust of George Washington goes to the Greek-letter or other recognized campus organization according to the highest number of points. Medals will be given to the owners of the three best papers. The awards will be made some time during commencement week.

More than 400 topics are open to the students from which to choose. The subjects cover the six following divisions of early American history. I. Exploration 1500-1600. II. Colonization 1600-1660. III. Revolutionary War and Its Heroes. IV. The critical Period under the Articles of Confederation 1783-1787. V. Adoption of the Constitution and the Statesman who Conceived It. VI. The Sources and Origin of the constitution.

Connor Starts Contest

The contest was instituted last year by state Attorney-General Albert H. Connor for the purpose of adding interest and value to the American history courses. The contest is distinctive in that it provides for both groups and individual competition. The winning organization will receive the bust to be kept for one year following the award. The winning contestant will have his or her name engraved upon the pedestal of the bust in addition to receiving a silver medal. Second and third place will be honored with bronze medals. The winning essay was written last year by Miss Marjorie Simpson; the bust going to the Delta Gamma sorority.

Upham Endorses

President Upham in speaking to the competing classes said that the trophy contest was valuable to those taking part in two ways. First it is a real honor to win out in competition with two hundred other students especially for an award from nationally known society as the Sons of the Revolution. Second, the practice the students will get from handling of their trophy will be of real value, not so much from the solid information they gain about their subject as from the experience of writing a formal historical paper.

Prof. C. J. Brosnau, instructor of the competing classes, is in charge of the work.

PAUL DAVIS HERE ON MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION BUSINESS

Paul Davis, executive secretary of the Idaho Memorial association, with headquarters at Boise, is in the city to attend a meeting of the executive board of the association. Mr. Davis reports that while the drive for funds for the memorial gymnasium on the university campus has not been completed in a number of counties, an effort is being made now to bring it to a close and to determine just what the results of the drive have been. It is known, however, that the drive has been a success and Mr. Davis hopes to be able within a short time, to give definite figures as to the amount of money pledged.

Meets Old Friends

"As we were crossing the Siskiyou we experienced a strange coincidence. Someone called me by name from a passing automobile. The auto stopped and a man and woman came out to meet us. It was Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Clark, formerly of Moscow. Fred Bayliss, whom you will remember as herdsman at the U. of I. farm is superintendent of a 5000-acre cattle ranch at Hilt, just below the California line. Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Bayliss are sisters. At Oakland we were entertained by Jack Williamson and Mart Bristol; at Berkeley by Josephine Brown and her mother; at San Francisco by Ed Almqvist, Mrs. McIntosh nee Alma Almqvist.

"We were the honored guests of dear Dean and Mrs. Hulme for the day we were in Palo Alto. Mr. Hulme has published his second original work, "A History of the English People" and a translation of a French book on the Italian mystics and heretics.

"For ten days we were adopted into the home of Robert and Isabelle Richards Leitch, at Santa Monica. Bob teaches English and Spanish in the junior high there. We happened upon Mr. Hammar, whom you remember as an assistant in the physics department at Idaho. Mr. Hammar is studying the electron under Milliken at the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, where he has a scholarship."
