VOLUME XXVI

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, MOSCOW, FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1936.

NUMBER 67

Today, 10 Years Ago

May 21, 1915

The Zeta Delta Fraternity will on May 21st and 22nd be installed as the Delta Omicron chapter of Sigma Nu. Zeta Delta was organized on December 13, 1910, and since that time has graduated 36 members from the university.

The long feared evil has at last descended upon us. The state legislature has passed a state-wide prohibition law and by this time next year life will not be worth living in Moscow.

With this issue the Argonaut finishes its seventeenth year, and the present editors lay down their pens to welcome in the new staff.

Last week Dr. Brañnon took the Seniors on the first real picnic of the year. They went to the Hunter place on Moscow mountain and had a splendid time dancing, tramping on the mountain and eating. Mrs. Iddings, Mrs. Jones and Miss Benton went along to chaperone.

On Wednesday last week Prof. Patterson took his second year French class to see the wonderful submarine pictures at the Casino.

The noble Freshmen won the stunt fest with their stunt called "Before the Pearly Gates" and the Juniors made the greatest hit with their song, which won first prize.

Sam Morrison was elected president of the A. S. U. I. at the annual elections yesterday. Claude Mackelwaite, vice president; Mary Nodde, secretary; and R. R. Miller, treasurer. Aden Hyde was named editor of The Argonaut.

COLFAX STUDENTS COMING TO IDAHO

Out of a graduating class of 19 boys at the Colfax high school, 10 have indicated their intention of attending the University of Idaho next year. In a census to learn the courses the graduates planned to pursue and their choice of schools these students indicated their choices as follows:

William Guske, Orville Baird and Don L. Moodie plan to take the law course, George Heidenrath, Harry Daubert and Albert Daubert showed preference for a business course; Francis Minch chose pharmacy; Peter Koch wants to take Pre-med and Howard Gallagher prefers a science course.

G. L. LUKE RETURNS FROM SOUTH IDAHO

Growing Interest Shown by High School Students in University

G. L. Luke, assistant professor of physics, returned from southeastern Idaho Saturday after a two weeks visit to the various high schools and other educational institutions in an effort to create interest in the university of Idaho. Malad, Preston, Lava Springs, Montpelier, Paris, Pocatello, Blackfoot, Shelley, Idaho Falls, Rigby, Rexburg, Sugar City, St. Anthony, and Ashton included were included in his itinerary.

A cordial greeting awaited M. R. Luke at all the different schools and he reports a growing interest in our state university. At Malad high school the students sang Idaho songs and gave Idaho yells with a vim scarcely equaled by our own students, said Mr. Luke.

At Pocatello he was welcomed warmly and was shown about the Technical Institute where he met the instructors and visited various departments. He reports many improvements under way at the state technical school.

Professor Luke is the third of the three Idaho faculty members who have visited south Idaho, presenting the opportunities and advantages offered at this institution to southern Idaho students, in an endeavor to increase their interest in this school.

ALL STAGE PHASES FEATURE IN ANNUAL GRADUATION PLAY

Best of Idaho's Undergraduate Actors Assembled for Production; Prof. Nyvall to Play Score; Will Be Presented May 30

The sum total of the different phases of play production will be combined in "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife", the annual commencement play being presented at the university auditorium Saturday evening, May 30. "Heavy" and comic acting, singing, dancing, and a complete musical setting make up the feature production for graduation week.

"The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife" will be an entire novelty in plays to Moscow audiences, for it is a farce with a musical setting, although not a musical comedy. Professor David Nyvall, Jr., of the music department has composed a complete musical score for the play. Instead of the usual prologue there will be a fifteen minute overture, which will suggest the various events, characters and moods of the play. The music throughout the play will assist materially in telling the story and characterizing the actors. Mr. Nyvall will himself play the score at the production.

The demands upon the actors for the play are unusually heavy, and Prof. J. H. Cushman has assembled the best of Idaho's undergraduate actors for the production. It calls for a cast of twelve people, all of whom have reputations for excellence in campus play production.

MANY NEW HOMES WILL BE ERECTED BEFORE NEXT FALL

Idaho Greek Letter Societies Stage Building Boom; Two New Homes and Several Are Remodeled.

Two new group houses, Beta Theta Pi frat. and the Pi Sigma Rho sorority, will be completed by fall. Alterations will be completed by the Elvatas, who will soon be installed as Alpha Tau Omega, and the Pi Sigma Rho local fraternity. The two new houses together with the Sigma Chi house, recently completed, will reflect the great growth of the university in the last two years and the evidence of still greater growth.

The new $50,000 home of Beta Theta Pi, on the corner of Elm and Idaho streets, now under construction will be completed and ready for occupancy by August 15. The new house is of Tudor-Gothic style of architecture and will be of red brick varied with cast stone trimmings and framed stucco gables.

The building will consist of five stories and 48 rooms and will include suites of rooms for a house mother and guests and quarters for the cook. Four fireplaces will be built in the lower floors. Several of the rooms, including the dining room, living room and library, will be finished in dark oak.

The house was designed by H. Curtis Richardson of Lewiston. The contract has been let to Thomas Hall of that city, who is now in charge of the construction. Bids for lighting fixtures and furniture are now in the hands of several large coast concerns.

PLAN GOLF COURSE AND COUNTRY CLUB

Silver Lance Cooperates With Palouse Towns for Inter-City Sport Outlay

Golf has made such headway in the Palouse country that plans are being made by residents of Moscow, Pullman, Palouse, Colfax, Garfield and Pottlatch for an inter-country club and golf course at the junction of the Pullman-Palouse and Fourmile roads 16 miles from Moscow.

The Joe Fair's farm of 160 acres is under consideration for purchase at $70 an acre. It is planned to provide a golf course, baseball diamond and an up-to-date clubhouse, at a total cost of approximately $20,000. Plans also contemplate installing an oil station, dining room and store.

Promoters of the project estimate it would require a membership of about 200 to make it possible. A meeting is to be held in the near future to perfect organization, according to word from Moscow.

The Silver Lance, senior men's honorary society is co-operating with the Moscow chamber of commerce and business men to perfect the plans of the organization.

TWENTY-FIVE MEN TO BE OFFICERS

Twenty five commissions of second lieutenants in the Reserve Officer's corps will be awarded at the commencement exercises to be held at the university auditorium Monday. These commissions are given to the men who completed both the basic and advanced military courses and have attended the advance military camp at Camp Lewis, Wash.

Those receiving commissions are: Marshall Blair, Harry Brenn, Louis Brossard, Chris Berger, Alton D. Crowe, Victor Cameron, Alfred Derr, Donald Dick, Leo Fleming, Maurice Green, Morris Kline and William Landson.

Frank Mitten Jr., Gale Mix, Frank Neal, Ernest Patch, Joseph Skidmore, C. Delmont Smith, D. Roy Schouts, John Vesser, George Walker, Harold Wyman, Frank Williamson and Horace W. Doty.

The commission of Salvatore Maffner will be granted at the completion of summer camp.

RALLY AND SPEAKER FOR FINAL ASSEMBLY

Addison T. Smith, representative to congress from Idaho, will be the principal speaker at next weeks assembly to be held Monday at 10 A. M. Representative Smith will arrive in Moscow Sunday evening. President A. H. Upham will also speak.

It has been suggested by some of the men on the campus that inasmuch as this is the last chance for the faculty and entire student body to get together his year a record crowd should attend. It is also thought by them that this would be a good time for a final rally with Idaho yells and songs.

AESTHETIC DANCES DRAW FULL HOUSE

Largest Assembly Crowd of Year Sees Physical Education Dept. Program

Before the largest assembly crowd of the entire year the Women's Physical Education department presented last Wednesday, a finished program of folk and aesthetic dances. The auditorium was crowded, even standing room was at a premium. To judge by the applause the entire program was well appreciated.

The program was composed of group folk dances as well as group and solo aesthetic dances. The first number was a Chinese dance presented by Helene Smith, Ruth Greene, and Bertha Bostwick. It was entitled Sing-a-Loe. The next number, The Sailor's Hornpipe, was a solo dance in sailor costume given by Helen Wheeler. The next two dances were group folk dances entitled Invitation to the Polka and Gustaf's Skool, respectively. In the latter the dancers were dressed in Swedish peasant costumes. The fifth number was a solo dance entitled Pierrot. It was presented by Hope Gamwell. Miss Gamwell was dressed in an eccentric clown costume.

The second part of the program was started with Wee, Wee, Marie, a group folk dance. The next in succession was a Russia solo dance. It was well interpreted by Gwendolen Smith. The third was a folk dance entitled Jump, Jim Crow. This seemed to assume the audience most as they called strongly for an encore which was given. The last two were sextette dances, Dancing Leaves, and Irish Jig.

Those who were in the group and sextette dances were Bertha Bostwick, Margaret Dickenson, Ruth Greene, Helen Pitts, Helene Smith, Lois Taylor, Gladine Thompson, Ruth White, Gladys Richardson, Edith Larsen, Faye Sudderth, Mildred Perry, Dorothy Virts, Marjorie Simpson, Crystal Weed, Dorothy Darling, Blendine Cottrell, Evelyn Knudson, Frances Aberton, Audrey Stapleton, Ayelen Booth, Goldie Smith, Catherine

A. S. U. I. PREXYS AT COAST MEETING

Fleming and Strobeck Attend Conference of Student Body Presidents

Student Body President Leo Fleming and President Elect Emil Strobeck left Moscow this morning to attend the spring conference of the Pacific Coast Student Body Presidents' conference at Palo Alto on May 27, 28 and 29.

All major Pacific Coast schools, 16 in all, are represented. Stoddard, of Oregon Agricultural college is chairman of the spring conference.

The student presidents will discuss campus problems of all kinds and each of them will work on several committees. The president's relation to the executive board, honor societies, honor societies, service societies, centralization and decentralization of administration, control of debate, dramatics, publications, and control of policy, salaries, student control of school politics, social life, freshman training, scholarship awards and publicity are among the topics up for discussion. The last conference last spring at Corvallis and the one at Berkeley last fall were not attended by Idaho presidents.

MOVE CLASSES TO NEW SCIENCE HALL BY NEXT AUTUMN

Now Location for Botany, Bacteriology and Pre-Med. Departments; But Continue Night Chemistry Laboratories

With the moving of most of the scientific departments into the newly completed science hall this summer, the problem of classroom congestion will be greatly diminished, according to a statement issued from the president's office today.

The building will be equipped to take care of all the chemistry departments, as well as those of botany, bacteriology and pre-meds. Plans are also being made to install a wireless broadcasting station in the west end of the building for instruction in the electrical engineering department, and for general broadcasting purposes.

The moving of the departments mentioned will make possible a reassignment of space in all other major buildings on the campus. A study is now being made to the most economical method of utilizing the space available. Although considerable relief will be given, it is recognized that some congestion will continue to exist in a few of the departments.

It is hoped the erection of the new science hall would make it possible to discontinue night classes in the general chemistry laboratories. Owing to the legislature's reduction of the appropriation requested by the university, as much space as was originally hoped for cannot be provided and night classes in chemistry will prevail for the next two years at least.

According to present plans, the

Seniors

What light, the purest stuff of suns,
 Flames up within us: Chosen ones
 Who linger at the western gate
 While hooded porters restless wait
 To pin the badge on? . . . Ah, that light
 Will pink the gray ends of night,
 And soften midday's garish sun,
 And lume the life to be begun . . .

O Mother! thou from whom didst come
 The spark eternal to his home:
 Accept thy children's present turning
 From thy memoried halls of learning
 Into the future's passing show,
 With love for thee, our Idaho.

Volumes have been written and whole editions thought concerning the senior at this time, his time, of the year. June, commencement, graduation: a happy, thankful, triumphant time for him; for is he not going out with his harness, on his back bravely to meet the bald and ruthless world?

To juniors, sophomores, freshmen this is merely final ex time; another vacation-time to face and the prospects of job-getting; a mere break in the routine of college existence; a gap to fill until autumn. But to the senior commencement time is more often a catch in the throat; a wistful looking back over the shoulder at what might have been. . . . And still the inexorable wheels of education grind on; another season's business done; another year's finished product turned out, somewhat damaged, perhaps, in the turning, but turned out nevertheless.

What Profiteth It a Man

What profiteth it a man if he build his universe by logic, and then have to live in it from day to day with his impulses?

As I walk to class this fair spring morning, my spirit leaps to meet the splendor of the early day. My heart quickens and pulses race as I see the brilliance of the eastern sun, and feel the tang of the morning air. And all of me thrills and laughs to echo the glad spirit of the day.

Is this the rational "I" which so blithely shows its morning face? Is it by mental processes, coldly logical, that I arrive at this plane of rapture? Most assuredly not! Those capacities frown upon that which is to them an unseeingly show of feeling. They consider it demonstrative of a lack of self-control, an exhibition of weakness. No, the rational "I" would have me move through this vale of tears serene and unaffected; impassive and unresponsive to the coloring of all external stimuli; oblivious to everything, except the cold workings of an unemotional mind.

It is, in truth, the warm, emotional "I" that responds so breathlessly to the stimulus of the radiant morning. It is this body and heart and soul of passionate feeling that laughs, weeps, hopes, prays, loves, and lives in life which is a veritable hotbed of happiness and sorrow, of goodness and sin, of beauty and ugliness.

Inasmuch as feeling and impulse and instinct predominate as acting forces in this life, why, in God's name, why blindly foreswear Him, and love, and faith for a paltry mathematical, logical, and coldly insipid universe built of the stuff of rational reason?

The Port Is Near

The port is near, the bells I hear . . . what bells, cow-bells, perhaps. But anyway, the thing is about done. There's a great tide behind, the tide of events of the past year. Above its black and oily surface, a few, mighty few, objects project. They are the skeletons of significant enterprises started or partially completed during the year. The point of progress on the framework of these structures is plainly marked, and plans for the rearing of new ones carefully poised out: to the extent that the leaders in the succeeding college generation have their and are guided by them . . . to that extent will progress be resumed and finer, fairer temples be built.

In the case of The Argonaut, much has been done, but much more remains to be accomplished. 'Twas ever thus: tomorrow's visions can only become realizations through the utilization of yesterday's experience.

Possibly the greatest single achievement within The Argonaut organization this year has been the linking up effectively, for the first time, Argonaut staff work with the university's classes in journalism. The Argonaut staff itself has become a class in journalism and credit and grades awarded on a standard basis of actual work done. The problem of assignment distribution, always a thorn in the editor's side, has been more effectively solved through this staff class in journalism. The criticisms and suggestions of Mr. Edward F. Mason, director of publicity and instructor in journalism, have been instrumental in effecting what improvements developed in this year's Argonaut. Probably never before has so great a number of staff-members worked so actively on The Argonaut.

With the installation of new head-setting machinery in the Star-Mirror plant, the inauguration of a standard head system has been made. And with this the shaping of a definite makeup policy has been possible.

The recent addition of three amendments to the A. S. U. I. constitution has greatly benefited The Argonaut. The one striking out the word, "University," in the name-head is particularly important, for it removes a dangling appendix which was becoming a real handicap in many ways. And the one providing for the assistant managers among underclassmen is a real aid to better functioning of the business side of The Argonaut.

The editorial policy has been broadened and advanced in importance in the editor's eye. Attempts have been made to provide more "food for thought" in these columns.

The purpose of Idaho's student body publication this year has been two-fold: to reflect and direct the student body mind; to mirror Idaho's student activities and to point out, in a measure, the paths they shall take.

For the first time in the twenty-six years of The Argonaut's history, the paper has appeared regularly twice a week for the whole college year. Much credit for this achievement is due Fred M. Taylor, manager, and the efficient system of budgeting A. S. U. I. finances which have made it financially possible for The Argonaut to be published so regularly.

Finally, none of these accomplishments would have been possible without the patient and loyal assistance of the whole Argonaut staff. To every staff-member the editor owes and so expresses his sincere appreciation for this fine cooperation. Particularly to the copy editors is due much credit for the appearance of The Argonaut. And to the lawyers and Ags and co-eds and engineers many thanks for their contributions to special editions.

If this sort of an Argonaut is the kind desired by Idaho students, let it be known and succeeding editors will carry on to the future greater glory of Idaho and The Argonaut. —The Editor.

Campus Rulings

Dates will be allowed Friday nights as usual. In fact the mimeographed copies of campus rules issued yesterday afternoon by Dean Permeal French are practically no more stringent than they have been before. The inadvertent omission of one word in the paragraph regarding walking dates in the printed instructions indirectly caused a strenuous display of student opinion shortly after dinner time last night.

The second sentence of this paragraph which reads: "There will be no dates on the campus or elsewhere. . . ." should have read: "There will be no WALKING dates on the campus or elsewhere. . . ."

The rest of the instructions were issued in a sincere effort to urge students to cooperate in their enforcement. These rules are already on the books.

Advertisers

For the first time in The Argonaut's history, the sheet has appeared twice weekly throughout the whole year. This record was possible mainly because of the commendable support given by Moscow business men and houses. The editor and manager wish, therefore, to thank these loyal boosters of Idaho for their fine cooperation with The Argonaut, and to commend to them the business and editorial staff of the 1925-26 Argonaut.

This issue marks the final official edition of The Argonaut.

summons the doctors again to make her dumb. They cannot do this, but solve the problem by making the judge deaf. Anatole France has scattered a good bit of satire which fits modern ways of living throughout the story and cracks some lively jokes on the lawyers and doctors. Colorful costumes and scenery add to the attractiveness of the production.

The play is being presented under the auspices of The Curtain, honorary dramatic fraternity, with the business management in charge of the A. S. U. I. Alumni throughout the state who are coming back for commencement week have signified their intention of being here Saturday night for the play, and it is expected to also draw heavily from the Inland Empire towns. The seat sale will start at Hodgins' May 27.

The cast, as announced by Mr. J. H. Cushman, director is: The judge, Bert Stone; The dumb wife, Hester Yost; the lawyer, Sidney Yager; the lawyer's ward, Cleo DeWitt; the maid, Marie Hoganson; the secretary, Beardsley Merrill; the doctor, W. S. Stephens; the surgeon, Vernon Johnson; the apothecary, Hosea Evans; the blind beggar (soloist), William Michael; the pages, Mandelle Wein and Alene Honeywell.

AGRONOMISTS AID IN FIGHTING WEEDS

Agriculture Department Also Experiments in Growing Grain Seed Crops

The agronomy department of the university, in co-operation with the U. S. department of agriculture has done much for agriculture in the state of Idaho thru its experiments in weed control and in working out the problems of growing grain crops for the farmers of the state.

Experiments in the control of the weed pest, morning glory, proved that carbon bisulphide could be used successfully. This is of great importance to farmers in those sections where morning glory is a serious weed problem. Other weed control work is constantly being carried on, and alfalfa growers in south Idaho are indebted to the agronomy department for the pure seed which they are now able to obtain. Acclimation of varieties is another work of the department and corn which is adapted to the growing conditions there, was sent to every county in the state this year for seed. Rotation of crops and maintaining of fertility of soil has been carried on for 12 years, and the results of these experiments are being widely used.

The department headed by H. W. Hulbert, has turned out a good many graduates who are now engaged in important agronomy work throughout the United States. Harry Edwards is at McCammon. Gus Weibe is with the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture at Washington D. C., J. H. Christ, and Warren Barber are county agents in the state.

Frank Youngs is with the U. S. Bureau of Soils and returns to Idaho this year to complete the soil survey on the Soda Springs and Bancroft area, where Ahmy Kearns, '24 will assist him. Many others are engaged in important work in Idaho and in other state.

The most important work at present are the experiments in distinguishing the seed and seeding of Grimm and Common alfalfa. This is a big problem in the alfalfa section of south Idaho. Classification of field pea varieties is another important work which will be completed this spring.

POST DATES TO TURN IN MONKEY SUITS

The following schedule for returning military equipment has been posted by the military department: Co. A and B 1:15 to 4:15 p.m. May 22; and 8 to 12 A. M. May 23. Co. Kioty Turns Back On Hills for a While

Dear Ma,

Well Ma I loved to see the old hills when us folks come up on the boat but the old lure was gone and they just looked lonesome like a old house with tall weeds at the door step, so ma, dear, I ain't coming back. So old Tamarack will have to ride the range alone. The mountains reminded me of when I always wanted to see over on the other side, and when I did why they would just be another mountain that I wanted to see over. School is about over and when I should ought to be glad why I am not glad. But I will be glad some day and then I will write to you again about the first fun that happens to me. The wild flowers will be blooming now and you won't be lonesome will you. So good bye ma,

Your son, Kioty Bill.

AESTHETIC DANCES DRAW

Van Valkenberg, Virginia Grant, Lillian Shaw, Helen McConnell, Ethel Lafferty, Vera Johnson, Lucille Eaton, Jessie Helfert, Marjorie Miller, Lucy Harding, Lucille Pratt, Pearl Glenn, Imogene Craven, Bernice Supplinger, June Davis, Mildred Gilbertson, Clara Nichols, Celesta Harley, and Madeline Foley.

The program was under the direction of Miss Florence Richardson and L. Janet Wirt, the two instructors in the Women's Physical Education department. Miss Richardson handled the folk dancing and Miss Wirt the aesthetic. Those in the folk dances are members of the underclass women's folk dancing classes and the others of the special aesthetic dancing classes.

Another feature of the assembly that vied with the dancing for first honors was the singing of Miss Maude Carney. She included an opera selection from "Rigoletto" in her program. She was encored twice.

to Florence Greene, president of the sorority.

Sigma Chi House Completed
The Sigma Chi's completed a new home about the middle of the school year at the cost of about $35,000 dollars. It is of Tudor Gothic architecture as are most of the buildings on the campus. The house contains 27 rooms not including four baths or the sleeping quarters. Forty men can be accommodated in the house as four of the study rooms are arranged to take care of three men, only two men living in the remainder of the rooms. The lower floor is so arranged that the living room, Loggia and dining room may all be opened for dancing.

$30,000 Home Planned
A new $30,000 three story modern colonial house located at Sixth and Elm streets will be the new home of the Pi Sigma Rho sorority, at the opening of school next fall. The outside walls of the house will be faced with shingles. There will be a full basement. The first floor plan provides for a spacious living room, a dining room, sun parlor, guest room house mother's suite, kitchen and cooks quarters. The second floor is the dormitory having thirteen study rooms. Four study rooms and sleeping quarters are included in the plan of the third floor.

Clearing of the lot already has been started and actual building will begin in a few weeks, according to Rhea Softe, president of the sorority building corporation.

F. Omar Hughes, Spokane architect, drew up the plans for the house, and Thomas Hall, Lewiston contractor was awarded the building contract.

Elwetas House Becomes A. T. O...

The Elwetas house, partially destroyed by fire last December is being repaired and will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of school this fall.

Sigma Pi Rho's to Remodel

An addition will be built joining the two houses, making a large living room, dining room, guest room, and two study rooms on the lower floor.

Rexall Original ONE CENT SALE!

The plan of the One Cent Sale is to sell two of any article out of a selected list for the price of one, plus one cent. As an example, we sell the well known Klenzo Dental Creme regularly in our store at 25c. During the One Cent Sale you may purchase two tubes for 26c, and save 24c.

WHAT IS A ONE CENT SALE?

It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price — then another item of the same kind for 1 cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Jontee Face Powder is 50c. You buy a box at this price and by paying 1 cent more or 5c, you get two boxes.

Every article in this sale is a high-class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as we sell every day at regular prices and have sold you for years.

This sale was developed by the United Drug Co., as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full-size package of high standard merchandise for 1 cent. It costs money to get customers. The loss taken on this sale will be well spent if the goods please you.
