STIFF WORKOUTS ON PROGRAM FOR VANDAL GRID MEN

Varsity Roster Shows New Faces Every Practice—Injured List Increased to Seven Good Prospects

Cocher R. L. Mathews sent his Idaho vandals through a stiff two-hour workout last evening, a good part of which was devoted to scrimmage. Mathews is still busy shifting his men from team to team in an endeavor to weed out a smooth-working combination.

The varsity roster shows new faces every practice. Last evening it lined up with York at center; Diehl and Terry, guards; Bucklin and Stephens, tackles; Nelson and Beall, ends; Walmsley and Duff, halfbacks; Owings, full; and Regent quarter.

The second and third teams received the attention of the coaching staff last night and went through grueling scrimmage for over an hour, while the varsity ran signals. After the scrub battle the first team went in for a ten-minute workout, and tore off good yardage against their opponents.

Seven first-string prospects are on the crippled list because of injuries received in scrimmage. These include "Vic" Cameron and "Gift" Davison, halfbacks; Hughes, fullback; Jacoby, quarter; Jones, guard; and Canine and McDowell, ends.

Bury the Hatchet Dance Ends Fight

Hostility between the warring under classes will be entombed at the annual Bury the Hatchet Dance to occur in the Gym Saturday night at eight o'clock. The affair is to be given exclusively for sophomores and freshmen, the parties most painfully concerned in the battle which has raged during the last week. Joe Deiss is acting as chairman of the committee in charge of the dance. The music for the event, which is one of the first of the important social affairs will be furnished by the Collegiate Strollers.

ELLA WOODS AT WISCONSIN

Miss Ella Woods, who graduated from the University of Idaho in 1911, has accepted a position as professor of the chemistry of nutrition at the University of Wisconsin, and has just gone to her new position from a visit with her sisters in Boise.

Miss Woods holds her master's degree and also the Ph.D. degree from Columbia university. She is a member of Sigma Xi and the author of several treatises in chemical research.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB TO MEET

Election of officers for the Cosmopolitan club will be held Saturday night at 7:30 in the "U" hut. All foreign born students are eligible for membership in this club.

Fictitious Warning Results in Ducking of Luckless Sophomore

Following information from a mysterious source, Tuesday night, the boys of the freshman class assembled to despoil a quantity of fictitious "edicts." They remained in mass formation until late into the night, or rather until the "I" men dispersed the mob, and the total casualties seem to be one luckless sophomore whom the yearlings manfully immersed in the Ad building fountain.

It happened like this, according to the story told by the frosh: Telephone messages were received at all of the houses about 8 o'clock for them to assemble, "the edicts are to go up tonight."

A mob of the yearlings assembled below the university steps and in a short time a man was grabbed up by another bunch from in front of the Kappa Sigma house. He was taken across the campus toward the Ad building, and the frosh thinking it one of their herd going to his ducking took after the bunch.

Across the campus they tore and the first bunch dropped their burden and hit for the tall timber. Two men were found wrestling on the grass

Announce Tryouts

All students who aspire to be yell dukes should meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Phi Delta Theta house where tryouts will be held. It was announced by Brick Elrod, yell king. "With the first game of the season coming up next Saturday, the yell dukes must be picked so that some organized cheering may be done at this and other games to be played on MacLean field this fall," Mr. Elrod said.

PEP BAND ELECTS MANAGER, LEADER

Tryouts Held for Places in Band; Reems Gets Year as Manager; Moe Named Leader

Sven Moe was elected leader of the Idaho Pep band for the coming year and Cliff Reems was re-elected manager at a meeting held in the University Hut Tuesday night. Forty-five prospective members attended, the largest turnout in the history of the band.

Only nine members of last year's crack organization are back on the campus. Several of that 16-piece band are now playing with the best musical organizations of the country. Al Marineau, ex-leader, passed through the Inland Empire recently with Art Landry's Victor recording band. Chuck Moll and Glen Hopkins are with Glen Oswald's Serenaders of San Francisco.

A temporary itinerary for the pep band tour this season is being mapped out by Manager Reems. It includes Spokane, Eugene, Boise, Twin Falls, Pocatello and Lewiston.

The personnel of the band will be announced following final tryouts this week.

Rumor That Junior Officers Must Pack Rifles is False

A current rumor has been passed around the campus to the effect that junior cadet officers in the R. O. T. C. will be rifle tofers this year.

This rumor is absolutely false and with no grounds whatsoever, according to Captain B. E. Bain.

The senior cadet officers will have charge of platoon practice drill and the junior cadet officers will be made section leaders in technical problem work of the same nature that officers in their rank have done in past years. It is expected by the army officers in charge of the local R. O. T. C. that the announcement of the junior officers not having to pack the rifle will be met with great sorrow and regret upon the part of the men concerned.

CAN SECURE 1924 "GEMS"

A limited number of copies of last year's annual can be secured from Jack Mix, business manager or from Capt. Horton, graduate manager.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY FROSH CLASS

New Jersey Man Named President; Two Girls are Chosen; Moore Yell Duke

Officers of the class of 1929 were selected at the first meeting of the freshmen Wednesday night at the auditorium. But, while the frosh were meeting, the sophomores plastered the town with their "edicts" and when nearly 500 freshmen marched through the down-town streets, filling them to a capacity, sophomores and citizens alike began to hunt for cover.

At the election Wednesday night Ralph Audrieth of Elizabeth, N. J., was elected president; Wilma Casbolt of Genesee, vice president; Ruth Storey of Burley, secretary, and Walter Weaver of Twin Falls, treasurer. The class chose Thelberne "Dinty" Moore as frosh yell duke.

With the organization of the class completed an edict, "stating the true character of the class," was read and the frosh turned out en masse to tear down the edicts and give the sophs their annual ducking.

The line of march took the frosh through the business district, where all edicts were torn down, and up Third street looking for members of the second year class. At the city park several sophs, who ventured into the frosh camp, were bathed in the fountain but most of the sophs were unable to be caught.

Water Fight

About 10 o'clock, reports as to the location of the sophs, was received by the frosh and the "army" proceeded to the hill north of Irving school where the second year men were in possession of a fire hose. The frosh stormed the second year men and made short work of getting possession and proceeding to duck all sophs within reach.

But few real contacts were made between the two classes, as most of the sophs could not be found. Their class was out-numbered nearly three to one. Parties were out until early hours of the morning. The entire fight was under the direct supervision of the university "I" men.

Call For Stories

Humorous or serious verses, stories, short playlets and articles are wanted for the Blue Bucket, college literary and humor magazine. Jokes, cartoons, and humor are especially in demand at this time. All students interested in writing or art are urged to hand in contributions for the first issue, which will appear in November.

A meeting of all those interested in the Blue Bucket will be held soon. Meanwhile contributions may be handed to Ruth Aspray, editor, or may be placed in the Blue Bucket box, which will be in the Ad building starting next week.

ERICKSON NAMED HEAD OF KNIGHTS

Hardwick and Long Elected; Make Plans to Handle Football Crowd

The Intercollegiate Knights held their annual election of officers in the University Hut, Tuesday evening. Everett Erickson being elected honorable duke of the organization. Erickson is also the vice-president of the national order of Intercollegiate Knights. Mac Hardwick was chosen as royal scribe, and Le Roy Long was named chancellor of the exchequer. Business plans for the coming year were fully outlined at this meeting.

Candidates from the various Greek letter fraternities and the non-fraternity organizations will soon be presented to the order for consideration and approval. Caring for the crowd at the University of Southern California game will be one of the greatest undertakings for the Knights this year, according to Erickson.

Harry C. McDougall of Pocatello, who was graduated from the university law school in 1917, has been appointed claims examiner for the regional office of the United States Veterans' bureau and has already assumed his new duties.

Mr. McDougall was a flying ace in the United States air service in the World War, personally accounting for the destruction of four German combat planes. He was decorated with the distinguished service cross and the French croix de guerre. He has been practicing law in Pocatello.

Homer Hudson, president of the alumni association, is at the head of the Boise office of the Veterans' bureau and a third Idaho alumnus, Ralph R. Breshears, is legal advisor.

$75,000 PLEDGED TO BUILD MEMORIAL

Progress on Drive to Raise Funds to Build Idaho Memorial Reported

Approximately $75,000 in cash and pledges is in the hands of the Idaho Memorial association for the erection of a state memorial gymnasium on the campus of the University of Idaho, according to an announcement by Dwight Leeper, Lewiston, president of the association. The memorial is to be erected in honor of Idaho men and women who sacrificed their lives during the World War.

Complete reports on the progress of the memorial drive were submitted to officers of the association by Paul Davis, campaign manager, at a meeting held at the University of Idaho recently. The reports showed that $75,000 was pledged or paid in and that only a few of the counties had raised the total of their quotas.

"We are highly pleased with the progress of the drive so far," declared Mr. Leeper. "Immediate steps will be taken to complete the memorial campaign so that actual construction of the armory and gymnasium may be started early next spring. It is expected that the building, if started in the spring, will be completed Armistice day, November 11."

"Kootenai county launched its drive September 21; Idaho and Lewis counties expect to begin within the next week; and Nez Perce will open a campaign soon. It is expected that all counties will have raised their quotas by the first of the year.

"Owing to the financial depression which has prevailed for some time the Memorial board felt it expedient not to press the drive until conditions were improved," said Mr. Leeper. "Now that things are looking up throughout the state, I am sure the citizens of Idaho are ready to perform the last mark of honor and appreciation to their war heroes. Although Idaho has been slow starting, we are confident that she will get behind her state memorial campaign and carry it to a successful conclusion, as many other states in the union have done."

FROSH FAIL TO "BOW DOWN" BEFORE SOPH'S WARRIORS

"Bow Down and Grovel!" Edicts Bring Rise From Yearlings; Water Supply Nearly Exhausted

"Bow down and grovel in the dirt before us, you infants of '29, for you are the greenest of the green, the scrubbiest of scrubs, the true underlings of the earth."

Five valliant Sophs in the good wreck "Hermie," had posted 100 edicts ending with the above phrase, by the time the Frosh Class meet was over. It was a cruel blow at the lowly first year men, but they were not long in recovering from the shock and were soon ready, some 500 of them, to annihilate their deadly enemy.

On and on marched the youthful 500, down Sixth, over Main, up Third, until they came to the rendezvous of the Sophs, at Fussers Paradise, otherwise known as the City Park. An hour was wasted here. In the meantime, several Frosh had received their collegiate baptism, for the Sophs had been making devastating raids among their ranks. The Sophs, taking advantage of the lack of knowledge the Frosh had of the game, gathered four hoses together, supposedly "borrowed" from the M. F. D. The Freshmen received a good imitation of a Palouse rainstorm and retreated until reinforcements arrived. The latter soon appeared, and the Sophs were chased to the Whittier school, where they had taken their last stand. The powerful yearlings, outnumbering the second year men 5 to 1, succeeded in capturing the hose. The triumphant Frosh moved down town where they stationed themselves in front of the Moscow Hotel. From then on each stray Sophomore was given his weekly shower, amidst the hoots of the now almost dry Frosh. The Sophs showed real generalship and took some twenty Vandalites 3 miles out of town, bathed them in a cistern and let them walk back. Occasionally the Frosh flanked a Sophomore car and then the occupants would chatter their teeth to the tune of, "turn on the water."

The fight was more interesting than it appeared to the numerous upperclassmen and townspeople who witnessed the struggle. The Sophs, as one stated "weren't out for publicity, but for Frosh." Many a Frosh had his down ruffled in the traditional horse trough on Fourth street, a block from the Frosh stronghold.

Taking all in all, it was an even fight. More Frosh were sprinkled than Sophs, but the first year men had a strong enough force to make more of a fuss over their victims.

Another fight has gone down into history, and the usual occurrence of a "victory for both sides." Who knows? Who cares? It has marked the completion of one of Idaho's beloved traditions.

Scientist Explains Why Wodsedalek and Barton Pick Doubles as Assistants

(By Frances Flood)

The peculiar resemblance noted between Dr. Barton and Professor Easley of the psychology department and the striking similarity between Dean Wodsedalek and Professor Blake of the zoology department have recently become the subject of much investigation in scientific circles of the United States. One of the leading scientific research workers at the University of Idaho is the originator of a theory on this subject which is destined to revolutionize modern scientific thought and create an entirely new branch of science. This noted scientific investigator, in order to safeguard his life, has concealed his identity under the name of Bartinius Dumkoph.

According to statements made annually in freshmen psychology classes by Dr. Barton, imitation is the tendency of the organism to take on the nature of the surrounding stimulus. Dr. Dumkoph, with this statement as a foundation for his theory, continues that imitation is a continually occurring process in the organism. He held that the similarity existing between these professors is the result of their imitation of each other, and ventures to say that were this imitation to continue for an indefinite length of time, the beans of the respective professors would be as alike as any beans growing in the same bean pod.

As proof of his theory of continual imitation, Bartinius Dumkoph points out the tendency of freshman gym classes to take on the characteristics of dumbbells, and the tendency among girls engaged in Home Economics to resemble peaches, prunes, lemons and cabbage heads.

This new branch of scientific research work is designated as Dumkophism. In spite of numerous offers from leading educational institutions in America, Dr. Dumkoph has decided to continue his research work here, and will probably be instructor in Dumkophism at the university next year.

CHOOSE LINDLEY OFFICERS

Elections to fill vacancies in the officers of the Associated Students of Lindley hall were held at the first business meeting of the organization Tuesday evening.

Lawrence Peterson was chosen vice-president; Currie Todd, treasurer; Edward Bozarth, Vincent Hasturher and Hartley Keeter, members of the inter-hall council; and James Griffith, assistant athletic manager.

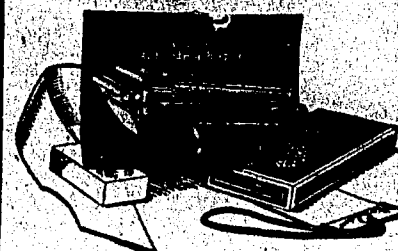

The openings were caused by the failure of some of the regular elected officers to return to school.

Plan $3,000,000 Copy of Solomon's Temple

Philadelphia. — Something of the glories of a civilization long past will be presented in minute and historical accuracy for visitors at Philadelphia sesquicentennial exposition next year when plans furthered by Mayor Kendrick's presentation of 60 acres of the exposition site to John Wesley Kelchner of New York are completed. The plan contemplates the construction of an elaborate replica of King Solomon's temple and citadel at a cost of $3,000,000.

The plan centers about a tower, which will rise 240 feet. The house of the forest of Lebanon, the palaces of the king and queen, the molten sea and the tower of David will be parts of the exhibit.

What Has Idaho For Me?

What has Idaho for me? What have I for Idaho? These are two questions that should be foremost in the minds of undergraduates entering the University for the first time. Achievement and success in college, as in other phases of life, come only to those who work ardently and consistently with some definite goal in mind. One should not be satisfied with the mediocre; the aim must be a lofty one and with striving earnestly and honorably comes credit not only to the Alma Mater but to the individual. It is better a thousand times to be an utter and dismal failure than to strive for and be satisfied with anything other than the best and noblest.

Why Is It?

Has Idaho some intrinsic quality that attracts and holds its integral parts; something that engenders love and loyalty in the hearts of faculty member and student alike? Certain recent events would seem to indicate so.

President A. H. Upham has refused two enticing offers to go to larger universities at a much increased rate of salary. Coach Robert Lee Mathews has repeatedly declined positions as athletic director in large Eastern institutions so that he might remain with the Idaho Vandals.

There must be a reason for this. Love and affection for one's University are not merely material for songs and stories, they are realities.

FAR-AWAY INDIA SENDS STUDENT

Gopal Kahla, Native of Northern India, Likes Idaho's "U"

An interesting student on the University of Idaho campus is Gopal Khalsa whose home is in northern India in the province of Punjab. His trip to the States on the Japanese steamer Amya was, he stated, all the more pleasant because of the company of four other Indian students who are studying at the University of California and other schools. A passport to the States could not be obtained in India for political reasons so Mr. Khalsa went to Japan where one was obtained from the American Consul.

Mr. Khalsa is registered in the College of Business Administration and will make political science his major study. After finishing the course at this University he will continue his work in Political Science in England at either Oxford or Cambridge. He will then be prepared to join his national congress in India. He came to the University of Idaho upon the recommendation of Mr. D. S. Man, who was a student here last year and who is now in China with an exiled Indian prince on a political pilgrimage.

The future independence of his native country is a hope of this foreign student. He is connected, while in India, with an Indian National Committee whose main object is to accomplish independence.

Newspaper work occupies Mr. Khalsa's spare time. In order to keep in close touch with the affairs of India he reads a number of its daily papers. He is on the editorial staff of the Babos Sher, which means "brave lion," a daily newspaper published in Amratsar, and writes articles for it during his leisure hours.

The turban, which Mr. Khalsa wears, is a sign of his nationality and of his religion. His religious belief is Sikhism which is a branch of Hinduism, and which was started about 250 years ago.

Idaho, colleg life pleases Mr. Khalsa as it is quiet enough for him to peruse his studies and yet lively enough to be interesting. Football has not been very attractive to him in India where the game is played in England. Perhaps when he has seen a demonstration of the American version of the game next week end he will change his opinion.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS TO SHOW

One Hundred to Participate In Show at Nez Perce September 30

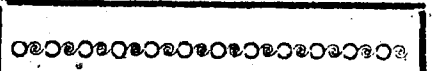

More than 100 members of north Idaho boys' and girls' clubs are expected to participate in the North Idaho district club fair to be held in connection with the Lewis county fair to Nez Perce September 30 and October 1, 2, and 3, according to R. E. Everly, district club agent for North Idaho.

At the same time contests will be held to select the North Idaho candidates for state championships in the Armour pig club and the Montgomery and Ward home economics club competition. The state winners in these contests will be given free trips to Chicago as guests of the respective companies.

Approximately $700 in cash prizes will be awarded to winners in the various departments of the club fair. Prizes will be given for the best exhibits of dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, farm crops, clothing (home-made), baking and canning, and for judging in individual and county contests, demonstration, poultry and farm crops.

Two prizes of $50 each will be presented to the home economics and livestock judging teams making highest scores. These prizes are to be applied for the teams' trip to the Pacific International livestock exposition in Portland in November.

RUSSIAN PROF. PAYS VISIT TO U. OF I.

Valerian Obolensky-Ossinsky from Moscow, Confers on Methods and System

Valerian Obolensky-Ossinsky, 35, a "professor of the agricultural" in the Academy of Moscow, Russia, spent a day and half at the University of Idaho last week conferring with the members of the college of agriculture faculty on methods of teaching and investigating the science of farming and its allied courses in American institutions. The young Russian professor left for California on his way home after spending several months in the United States visiting universities and agricultural colleges in many different states.

Prof. Obolensky-Ossinsky is a member of the agriculture faculty of the Academy of Moscow, Russia, which gives instruction annually to more than 2,000 Russian students. He was sent to this country to study American methods of teaching agriculture by the Russian Federated soviet republic and the Russian cooperative agricultural societies.

During his visit on the Idaho campus he secured three-hour interviews with heads of departments in the school of agriculture. In these interviews Prof. Obolensky-Ossinsky showed himself to be surprisingly well acquainted with particular agricultural conditions in the state. His fund of information regarding western states, which he secured from his own statistical data, seemed almost unlimited. The professor speaks distinct English though with a slow foreign accent, and wears clean-cut English cut clothes.

Among the faculty members in the school of agriculture whom he interviewed were Prof. H. W. Hulbert, agronomist; Prof. G. R. McDole, soil chemist; Prof. C. W. Hickman, animal husbandry; M. R. Lewis, irrigation expert and Prof. C. W. Hungerford, plant pathologist.

HUNTINGTON TAYLOR ADDRESSES ASSOCIATED FORESTERS

Hon. Huntington Taylor, president of the Idaho board of education and general manager of the Edward Rutledge Timber company, Coeur d'Alene, addressed the Associated Foresters at their first meeting of the year. Mr. Taylor chose as his subject, "Generalities in the Lumber Industry." In his address he spoke of the opportunities in forestry, saying that this profession is in its infancy in this country and although our practice of forestry is not on a par with that in Europe, yet it promises to be so in the near future. Mr. Taylor feels that there is an unusual opportunity for a forester in this country but it is solely up to the individual whether he makes good in this profession. He advised getting into the game and not play the part of the spectator.

Mr. Taylor explained that since our forests are rapidly being depleted, it will be necessary to modify lumber manufacturing methods. It will be impossible to get the wide boards after our present supply of virgin timber is gone. However, it is entirely feasible to perfect the union of several narrow boards into as strong a piece as a single wide board. He predicted a good future in this phase of the industry.

TUMBLERS TO WORK DAILY

A course in elementary and advanced tumbling is being given this year with "Bud" Bliss instructing the amateur aviators. One-half credit is given for the course, workouts being held twice a week in the Gymnasium. Classes are held at four o'clock each afternoon. It is planned to develop a tumbling team for exhibition purposes later in the year.

Hold Social

The Lindley hall social season was opened Sunday evening by an "ice-breaker" in the form of a watermelon feed. Short talks were given by Proctor Francis Jenkins, Robert Lawson, Gordon Ellis, Lawrence Peterson, Robert Quarles and Homer Curtis. Harry Baughman, president of the hall association, presided at the speaking.

More than forty students turned out Wednesday afternoon for the first meeting of the Argonaut staff. Gordon Hockaday, editor-in-chief, gave a brief talk in which he outlined the policies and plans of the paper for the coming year. Paul Stoffel, associated editor, took charge of the issuing assignments and other details of the news organization.

Neil E. Bailey, instructor in mechanical and electrical engineering, is among the several new faculty members of the engineering school.

Bailey is a graduate of the University of Colorado, and for the past year has been with the General Electric company. Mr. Bailey was a member of the Marine corps during the war.

Look for DU PONT and the Orange Band on every Powder Keg

THE du Pont "oval" trade mark and the orange band identify every keg containing blasting powder made by the du Pont Company.

In the selection of raw materials, manufacturing procedure and supervision of production, every action has this purpose—to produce blasting powder of the highest quality.

The extensive use of du Pont Blasting Powder and the highly satisfactory results obtained are proofs of its superiority. There is a granulation adapted to every blasting operation—but only the highest grade of powder comes out of the keg marked with the du Pont "oval" and the orange band.

The engineering student will find in our Blasters' Handbook valuable information relating to selection and application of various types of du Pont explosives required in mining and construction operations. The Blasters' Handbook is a most useful reference and should be among the text-books in the student engineer's library. A postal request and mention of this advertisement secure a copy of the Blasters' Handbook without cost. Send in your request NOW!

ARTISTS' COURSE COMING TO IDAHO THIS WINTER

Artists and Playwrights of International Fame Will Entertain Students in Fine Programs

Dramatic and musical entertainment for the students of the university this year will be furnished by the annual artist's course, which is announced as the greatest ever presented to the university. Five numbers are on the repertoire, as follows:

Madame Kurenko, coloratura soprano, who has been hailed by critics all over the world as the "second Patti"; Mianka Levitski, a great figure in the pianistic world, who has been pronounced one of the greatest pianists now living; the London String quartet, whose reviews read like a fairy tale—"unsurpassed", "gives new meaning to the art of ensemble playing", "like a wonderful four-fold instrument animated by one soul"; the San Carlo Grand Opera company, presenting this season the opera "Rigoletto". This company needs no introduction to the American public, as it is known from coast to coast as the "one legitimate grand on the road and it contains the best operatic talent in America. The final number on the course will be Miss Edith Wynne Mathison and Charles Ramm Kennedy in "The Christening." Miss Mathison is best known for her work in "Everyman" and "The Piper," in which she starred. Miss Mathison is known as the woman of the marvelous voice. Mr. Kennedy is the author of "The Servant in the House," and is one of the greatest of contemporary actor-playwrights.

The department of music also presents its own faculty of instructors in a series of joint recitals, including violin and piano sonata recitals and two piano recitals. In addition the University string quartet, the University Symphony orchestra and the University Chorus choir will give a series of concerts. The Chorus choir is a new feature in university activities. It will make its initial tour of Idaho this year. Its personnel comprises the combined men and women's glee clubs.

The department of English present a series of plays, coached by Prof. John H. Cushman, head of the department of play production. The work in dramatics at the university this year has been materially expanded by the addition of another course, which will serve in an elementary way and from which Professor Cushman will draw a large number of his actors. The plays which will be presented have not been selected. A. A. Milne's "The Romantic Age" and Anatole France's "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," were among those presented last year.

The dramatic department will make use of the University hut this coming year as an experimental theatre and as an office for Professor Cushman. This will permit the collection of costumes, scenery and other dramatic paraphernalia in a general way which has not been possible heretofore.

ENGINEERS GET EARLY START

The engineering school set a scholarship precedent over nearly all the other colleges of the university when they began class work on Monday morning, the opening day.

When the engineers reported for registration last week they found assignments and texts posted for all classes.

"It is a part of an engineer's training to learn to do things on time," said Dean Crawford, when interviewed concerning the early start.

English Club to Meet

The English club will meet in the Administration Building, room 311, at 7:30 Tuesday evening, September 29, 1925. The election of officers will be one of the main purposes of the meeting.

Frosh Bloom With Jaunty Headgear

The latest thing among the fashionable younger set at the university is the jaunty cap made of green Peruvian felt. An especially chic and youthful feature is the large white pearl button adorning the top. The cap is suitable for every occasion and is always worn on the top of the head, allowing the ears to project freely on each side. This is an especially convenient feature for those whose auditory organs are inclined to wiggle. The cap has even become so popular this season that it has been adopted as the frosh official headgear, and any jealous soph who is caught wearing one is to be subjected to the extreme penalty of three slaps on the wrist.

CAMPUS GETS NEW TAILOR SHOP

Spokane Students to Operate Modern Valetres Pressing Service

A complete modern pressing outfit has been installed near the university campus by three students of the University of Idaho, it has been announced. The boys operating the Valetres Pressing Service are Francis Armstrong, E. H. Larson and Bob Geathard, all of Spokane. Approximately $5000 is being spent to equip the pressery, which is located in the basement of the Campus Inn, 518 University Avenue.

This is the second Valetres pressing machine to be installed at universities in the country, the first being at Princeton. A suit of clothes is put through six different operations before completely pressed, with a machine for each of the operations. While the pressery is located in the basement, a reception room is maintained. Twenty-four hour dry cleaning service will be given. Any article of clothing may be cleaned and pressed by the machine, it is stated.

Besides the pressery a complete line of haberdashery and tailor-made clothing is carried in the store. The pressery is being established by the boys mainly to take care of the university trade.

A branch of the Moscow pressery will be maintained this year at the Washington State College at Pullman, Mr. Armstrong said.

Butter in Coffee

"It's odd about folks and their coffee, isn't it?" remarked a waitress in a city hotel. "Some drink it with cream, some without. Some take sugar and no cream and some take both cream and sugar, in various amounts. Only a few drink it plain and black. One man will sip his when it's piping hot, another wants it lukewarm. But the prize eccentricity came to my attention when a salesman came in, ordered his coffee and asked for an extra piece of butter. He put the butter in his coffee, waited until it had melted, and then drank it. All folks are finicky about their coffee, but this one was the most finicky in my experience."

Tree Named for Secretary

In honor of Secretary of Agriculture William M. Jardine a giant juniper tree, recently discovered in Logan canyon, near Logan, Utah, and said to be the oldest and largest one of its kind in the world, has been named Juniper Jardine. The tree has a circumference of about 28 feet and is asserted by local residents to be the oldest living thing with the possible exception of the redwood trees in California. Secretary Jardine was present at the naming, which took place at a reunion of the class of 1904, Utah Agricultural college, of which he is a member.

Talk 600 Years a Day

The daily average of local and long-distance telephone conversations in the United States is about 60,000,000, or 22,000,000,000 a year. As a basis for estimating we will assume that the length of the average conversation is five minutes—it may not be so long in the very large cities, but in small cities, towns and in the country districts the average conversation exceeds five minutes. On a basis of 60,000,000 five-minute talks per day, the nation would consume 300,000,000 minutes, 5,000,000 hours, more than 208,000 24-hour days or about 600 years.—Thrift Magazine.

Measuring Blood Corpuscles

The bureau of standards in Washington has attained the tiniest of measuring devices—a mechanism by which blood corpuscles are enumerated. The blood corpuscles count, which has become an increasingly important aid in diagnosis and treatment of diseases, has hitherto been a somewhat inaccurate enterprise.

Odd Sale "Caught On"

When the owner of an Indiana store left on his midsummer vacation last year, the clerks held what they called "the boss is gone sale." This unconventional name attracted much attention and drew business to the store.—The Progressive Grocer.

H. F. GAUSS TAKES PROF. GANO'S PLACE

Gano Resigned from Engineering School to Take Job at Chicago

To take the place of Prof. Gano, who lately resigned to go to Chicago as consulting engineer for a large firm in that city, Idaho is fortunate in securing H. F. Gauss as professor of mechanical engineering. Prof. Gauss is well qualified for this position and it is expected that the standard of work in his department will raise considerably.

Prof. Gauss graduated in mechanical engineering from Washington University of St. Louis in 1908 with the degree of B.S. Later, in 1917, he took an M.E. degree from his Alma Mater. He worked for a number of manufacturing companies as engineer draftsman, during the first years of practical experience, and was later the mechanical engineer in charge of the construction of the St. Louis water works. He served in that capacity for five years. He also served for five years as the chief engineer for the Illinois Stoker Co. Prof. Gauss came here from the University of Akron, of Akron, O., where he was head of the department of mechanical engineering.

ANNUAL HULME FIGHT SCHEDULED FOR SATURDAY; SUPERVISED BY "I" CLUB

The Hulme fight, the annual organized fight between the sophomore and freshman classes, will be held Saturday afternoon on the campus under the direction of the "I" Club. The fight is an old tradition and serves as a means for the sophomores to even up the beating they usually receive from the freshman army after the posting of the edicts.

The fight consists of several events with men from each class picked as contestants. The tentative program as now outlined by Ray Stephens will include boxing and wrestling at different weights, pole fight, pick-a-back race, "I" club special, the Hulme fight and tug-o-war.

The Hulme fight consists of two teams of ten men each who line up on a special field. When the whistle blows each man attempts to get his opponent across his own goal line and to hold him there until the time whistle blows. The team having the most men over the line wins the event. This event is particularly interesting as teeth and razors are the only weapons barred. The tug-o-war holds in store a cold bath from the fire hose for the losing team. The "I" club special is always greatly appreciated by the freshmen.

ENGLISH TEST, UPPERCLASSMEN

All entering students above freshman standing but excluding graduate students are required to take the English test to be given at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, September 29, in room 311, Ad building. Records of these tests will go to the English department and to the heads of departments of the various students.
