IDAHO WRECKS OREGON'S STONE WALL DEFENSE

Vandals Outplayed Web-footers in Grid Contest at Eugene, Saturday; 23 Passes Net Victors 113 Yards

Eugene, Ore., Oct. 10.—(Special to Argonaut)—A team of green Idaho vandals, fighting like demons and playing like veterans, tore through the veteran Oregon eleven Saturday for a 6 to 0 victory. The traditional stone wall defense of the Web-footers crumbled before the terrific charging of the Idaho line, and the Vandals made their score by bucking over a touchdown in four line smashes from the 10-yard line.

The Idaho men not only made twice as much yardage from scrimmage as the Oregonians but held the Web-footers and took the ball from them on Idaho's four-yard line. Wide open play and many unexpected breaks made it a thrilling contest for the 7000 spectators gathered in the stands.

Idaho got her scoring chance in the third quarter. A 40-yard punt by Regat hit in front of Mimnaugh, Oregon safety, bounced and leaped uncertainly and hit him on the knee. The Vandal line men were down on the punt and Bucklin, left tackle, made a scooping dive and recovered the still rolling ball on the Oregon's 25-yard line.

Cameron hit the line for two yards and "Lief" Erickson hauled in a forward pass from Regat and fought his way to the Oregon 10-yard mark. The young Idaho team then forgot its fumbling and rose to the emergency like old-timers.

Duff went over the top for two yards, and "Sody" Owings smashed his way through center for another. Vic Cameron catapulted through a horde of tacklers to the two-yard line. Cameron again took the ball and hurled himself at the Oregon goal. The Lemon-Yellow line gave momentarily and then flung him back, but it had been dented sufficiently to give Idaho a touchdown by inches.

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR BLUE BUCKET

Short Story Contest Will Be Conducted in High Schools; Humor Needed

Plans for a short story contest among the high schools of the state and wider circulation of the Blue Bucket, official university magazine, were announced by the business and editorial staffs of the publication Monday.

Letters are being sent to the English department of each high school, requesting it to send in the school's best short story for each edition of the Blue Bucket. The editorial staff of the magazine will judge all stories submitted and the best one will be published. Near the close of the year, the four stories published will again be judged by the staff and a prize awarded the winning school.

Those responsible for the plan hope to stimulate interest in composition among high school students and to bring them in closer touch with the university.

In addition, the faculty and students of the high schools are being invited to subscribe to the Blue Bucket. It is believed this will considerably raise the circulation of the magazine as there are nearly 150 high schools in the state.

Subscription blanks are being sent to alumni and students here during the last five years. Moscow people will be given an opportunity to subscribe.

Ruth Aspray, editor of the Blue Bucket already has considerable material on hand and is receiving more daily, but comic offerings are especially needed, she says. Cartoons are also wanted. All contributions should be left in the Blue Bucket box in the student administration office, room 104.

There Are Red Ones and Some of Green That Need Repairs

Some are curled and some are straight, there are big ones and little ones. A goodly number look as though they were present when the tax-payer's quartet sang, "I Wonder What's Become of Salary." In brief, there is need of a new one. The last rain ruined hundreds.

There are red ones and yellow ones, the pea-green kind, and the robin's egg blue variety. Each is distinctive, each is different.

There is only one way you can be sure that you have the right thing, only one way to be sure you are looking at the object of my description. Look on any co-ed's left shoulder, and if it's ragged and jaggy, and looks as tho it needs a stem, then you've got it! The popular cheese-cloth chrysanthemum that all the ladies are wearing!

"I" CLUB DECIDES TO WORK PADDLES ONCE EACH WEEK

New System for Enforcement of Traditions Will Call for "Backing" Friday Noons; Offenders' Names To Be Posted

Life for freshmen caught violating ancient Idaho traditions will be hard from now on: Such is the ultimatum issued Monday by the "I" club. Traditions do not exist to be violated so the frosh should start getting up on their stuff, according to Ray Stephens, president of the "I" club.

No more sitting on the "I" bench in front of the Ad building for the frosh. This is a right reserved by the seniors and violation of the tradition is a serious matter.

Appearance on the campus without the well-known green sky piece with the small white button attached by the freshmen will not be tolerated. Escorting a date to athletic activities is not being done on the Idaho campus.

Frosh smoking on the campus is another matter to be taken seriously by the first year men. And that's not all of 'em. These things must be remembered by the frosh—in fact if they are not, the "I" club has planned numerous parties for the benefit of the violators which will be staged each Friday noon.

According to these plans, the names of any frosh caught violating campus traditions will be taken by "I" men, probably without the freshman knowing anything about it. A list will be posted on the bulletin board in the Ad building and added to each day.

Then on Fridays at 12:45 o'clock each noon all the frosh whose names appear on this list are to report in front of the Ad building and the paddles will be applied where needed. In case a violator, whose name is on the list, fails to show up for the receptions on the designated day, he will be issued a personal invitation by a member of the "I" club and taken to the fountain in front of the Ad building where he will be given a bath, according to Mr. Stephens, and this don't mean maybe.

INTEREST RUNS HIGH IN HOMECOMING GAME

A joint meeting of the general chairman, alumni representative, and the Moscow chamber of commerce was planned for today, at which more definite ideas for the homecoming were to be formulated, and a full list of committees to be named. Fred Turner, general chairman, states that the complete list of committees will be announced Friday, rather than today, as was stated last week.

"Interest is running high, and everything is coming along fine," Mr. Turner said. "Progress is being made in all the work, and every action points to a big success of this homecoming."

ENROLLMENT LARGE IN ENGLISH COURSES

Figures Show More Than 1575 of 1750 Students Are Registered

More than 1575 of the 1750 students enrolled in the University of Idaho are registered in required or elective courses in English, according to figures announced by Dr. G. M. Miller, head of the department. This is an increase of 236 over the total enrollment in the department at the end of the first semester last year. It is probable that there will be sufficient additions to make the total 1600 by the end of the semester. Of course, a number of these are duplicate enrollments, which includes all majors and minors in the department.

Of this grand total 765 students in English are of freshman rank; and of these 508 are taking regular freshman English work, 198 are in the "sub-freshman" courses receiving preliminary instruction in grammar and spelling, and 59 are taking second semester freshman work in English.

Other students taking required English work include 65 who are in advanced composition courses, and 325 who are enrolled in specially required classes in the development of literature, modern literature, and "Great Books." Many students, however, who are not required to do so, take these courses.

Advanced elective courses in literature, public speaking, dramatics, and journalism claim a total of 420 students. The number of students registered in required English courses is 825, and the number taking elective or only partly required is 745, bringing the grand total to 1575 enrolled in the department.

Prof's. Go On Big Game Hunt and Return With Deer

Vague rumors of a law suit, Zoology vs. Psychological and Philosophical departments, a co-partnership, defendants, are well founded, it was discovered early today. When the principals of the affair were interviewed they were prone to talk, save the plaintiff, who admitted shooting a deer, but that is getting ahead of the story.

Last week end the above mentioned trio, equipped in the manner that is becoming to hunters, gave their classes short notice that no more meetings would be held that week. The next step was a little harder, that of getting a leave of absence from Ella Oleson, but that was finally accomplished, and they set forth well laden with provisions and sundry other articles necessary in the art of ensnaring unsuspecting deer in the native haunts. The slogan was a "Deer a Department." The result was a deer for the departments.

According to the information available from the various campus sleuths the mercenary deed was ably accomplished by each department, but more reliable information places the honor at the door of the "Zoo" department. The Psychology department's story ran as follows: "I surrounded the deer, flanked him on the right and shot him through the left shoulder." The Philosophy department story had no publishable statement to make up on interviewing the Zoology department a straight story was given, telling of the final scenes of the tragedy and giving many of the finer details of the battle of the century. (Century in this case meaning the 100-year-old deer.) Suffice to say that the lean hungry look that has been noticeable on the faces of the three departments will shortly be removed for the remainder of the fall season.

VANDAL BABES SUFFER DEFEAT

Place Kick Converted in First Period Gave Teachers Margin of Victory

Cheney, Wash.—(Special to Argonaut)—The University of Idaho freshman football team went down to a 9 to 6 defeat before the heavy Cheney Normal squad here Saturday. A converted place kick in the first quarter gave the Teachers their margin of victory.

In the second quarter the Cheney squad unleashed a line plunging attack which carried the ball the length of the field for a touchdown. Idaho rallied at this point and using a combined passing and running offense they pushed over their only touchdown. Bergher carried the ball over the line on an off-tackle smash.

Just before the half Rawlins, Idaho quarter, snagged a pass and raced to the Normal one-yard line before he was downed. The timer's gun barked the hall of the period before the Vandal Babes were able to put a play in execution.

The Vandal frosh were on the defensive a good part of the second half and three times held Cheney for downs within a few feet of the Idaho goal.

Shepherd, Cheney Fullback, booted the brunt of the Normal attack with his terrific line plunging.

The Idaho lineup was: Rawlins, quarterback; Bergher and Norman, halfback; Brown, fullback; Rafter and Stone, ends; Axell and Cornell, tackles; Hall and Anderson, guards; Smith, center.

Substitutions: Pagoza for Norman; Cheney for Rawlins, Estes for Rafter, Drury for Stone.

Annual Fall Tennis Tournery to Cover Two-week Period

Final arrangements were completed Monday afternoon for the annual fall tennis tournament. 26 students entered the lists as contestants, representing, probably, the pick of tennis aspirants on the campus. Drawings were made early Monday afternoon and play was expected to begin either the same afternoon or Tuesday. The tournament will extend over a period of two weeks, the second round of which must be completed by Monday, Oct. 19th, and the finals by Saturday, Oct. 24. On account of the approaching cold weather, all possible haste is being used to have the matches played off immediately, with all play to be on the courts behind the Administration building.

Following is a list of the matches in the first round: D. Fisher vs. W. Lundstrum; M. Mussy vs. P. Lindley; K. Jones vs. A. Johnson; L. Spence vs. W. Hunter; A. Fowler vs. C. Stroud; T. Miller vs. C. Slevers; F. Wyman vs. R. Audrieth; E. Duncan vs. C. Cluser; L. Mee vs. A. Janssen; F. Albertson vs. M. Harman; B. Merrill vs. F. Conway; H. Bayley vs. F. Webster; F. Williamson vs. J. Cluen.

SEASON TICKET SALE WILL END SATURDAY

Student season tickets for the artist course may be exchanged for reserved seats at Hodgins' Drug store beginning Saturday morning at 8 o'clock. Only 50 season tickets will be sold, and the remainder will be disposed of as admissions for the individual performances.

The number taken to date runs over 500, and tickets are now being sold in the group houses as well as the bursar's office. The season ticket closes Saturday.

A new ruling at Baker University, Baldwin, Kansas, requires that all fraternity men must be in their respective chapter houses by 10:30 and that all lights must be put out by 11 p. m.

Pep Kettle Will Start Boiling at Rally Thursday

Preparatory to the Vandal-Cougar clash at Pullman Saturday, the Vandal pep kettle will start boiling Thursday morning at 10 o'clock with a rally on McLean field. The rally will take the place of the usual Wednesday assembly.

George "Brick" Elrod, yell king, will direct the rally, assisted by the Pep band under Sven Moe. Following the rally, a practice will be held of the "stunt" to be presented at the game by Idaho, in competition with W. S. C.

"We have a stunt for this year that will take the honors—providing the student body gets behind us," said the yell king. "If the stunt is to go over, we must have every Idaho student in it, and he must know his place."

IDAHO TIES FOR LEAD IN PACIFIC COAST GRID RACE

Washington and W. S. C. Knotted With Vandals for Premier Place; Oregon and Montana Are Second and Third

Stanford	0	0	—

Idaho's flashy 6 to 0 defeat of Oregon, California's first loss in five years of unstoppable football, and Gonzaga's humbling at the hands of O. A. C. featured football play in the Pacific coast last week-end.

The Olympic club of San Francisco, using nothing but straight football, piled up 15 points and held the champion Golden Bears of California scoreless at Berkeley. It was the first time the Bears had met defeat since they won their first coast championship five years ago, and left the California campus in gloom, despite the fact that the game does not affect their collegiate standing.

The Oregon Aggies uncovered a powerful running and passing attack for the first time in several years and trampled Gonzaga 22 to 0. The Aggie defense completely smothered the open attack of the Bulldogs.

Washington Held
Montana held Washington momentarily during the game at Seattle, taking a 3 to 0 lead, but the Grizzlie line crumpled under the Huskie attack and Washington won, 30 to 10. Sweet and Kelley, Montana backs, led the Grizzlie attack practically single-handed.

Stanford battled another easy opponent, Occidental college, and won 28 to 0. U. S. C. scored a 23 to 0 win over the University of Utah.

In the mid-west Nebraska, conquerors of Illinois, fell before Mis-souri 9 to 6. Notre Dame used only five simple plays in their game with Beloit, winning 19 to 3. Georgia Tech stopped Penn State, 16 to 0, Yale beat Georgia 35 to 7, and Harvard smothered Middlebury under a 68 to 0 score. Both of the service teams displayed power, the Army trimming Knox 26 to 7 and the Navy downing Marquette 19 to 0.

The results of other important games were:

- Multnomah Athletic club 32, Pacific U. 0.
- Williamette 33, Oregon Normal 0.
- Columbia 64, Wesleyan 0.
- Pennsylvania 9, Brown 0.
- Dartmouth 50, Vermont 0.
- Princeton 15, Washington & Lee 6.
- Chicago 3, Ohio State 3.
- Michigan 63, Indiana 0.
- Illinois 16, Butler 13.

IDAHO SCHEDULE

Oct. 17—W. S. C. at Pullman.

NOTED ART EXHIBIT VALUED AT $50,000 TO BE HERE OCT. 21

Collection Includes 40 Oil Paintings By Modern Artists; Pi Sigma Rho House To Be Used for Showing of Pictures

Approximately $50,000 is the total value of the 40 original oil paintings by some of the best contemporary American artists which will be on exhibit in the new Pi Sigma Rho house, corner of Elm and Sixth streets, Wednesday afternoon, October 21, according to announcement by those in charge. This splendid collection of actual paintings reaches Moscow and the university directly during a tour of the United States where it was shown at many of the biggest universities and other centers of art in America.

The art collection is now being shown by the Spokane Art association in Spokane and so successful has it been that those in charge have asked for an extension of time. This, however, cannot be done so the exhibit will appear here as scheduled, Wednesday, October 21.

First Shown in New York
The art exhibit this fall consists of 40 paintings by modern American artists selected by the National Academy of Design for exhibition in 1924 and 1925. It was first hung in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, and is now on a tour throughout the country. The tour is being handled by the American Federation of Artists with headquarters at Washington, D. C.

The 40 paintings, some of which emphatically are not for sale, range in price from $100 to $3,500. They come in special frames to suit each painting. They will be hung in the Pi Sigma Rho house by students of the architecture and art departments of the university.

So interesting and worthwhile was an exhibit of a similar nature but of different paintings last fall that more than 1200 persons paid admissions to see it, many of them for a second and third time. A nominal charge for admission to see the exhibit must be made by the English club, which is sponsoring it, in order to cover actual cost of bringing the paintings here.

FRESHMEN READY TO BUILD FIRE

Annual Pep Rally is Set for Friday; Usual Form to Be Followed

Idaho will once more cut loose for a good time in anticipation of victory to come over her old rival, when the traditional frosh fire blazes up in the Latah county fair grounds soon after dark Friday night.

Freshmen have begun to plan organization of the fire building crew already. The following committee has been announced by Ralph Audrieth, president for the class: "Dinky" Moore, Vernon Sogard, Howard Carter, Lambert Cannon, Walter Weaver, and Willard Lambdin.

At 6 o'clock a big parade is to be started by the co-eds. The girls will, as usual, invade the men's dormitory and fraternity houses, singing Idaho songs. Later, they will be joined by the men, arrayed in night gowns and pajamas. The students' parade through the town, then to the fair grounds where the fire and speeches, yells, and songs to stimulate enthusiasm will occur. When the fire has burned low, the crowd will disband to attend a pep dance, for which definite arrangements have not been announced.

NOTICE

There will be an important meeting of the Senior class in room 113, Science hall, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Artist Course

An ancient sage once said, "If you have only two loaves of bread, sell one of them and buy a narcissus for your soul." Can't that be applied to modern life and particularly to one's years on a college campus?

The philosophers of olden times realized that the cultural and aesthetic side of man's existence should not be over-shadowed by the fundamental and the practical. How much time do YOU spend developing your finer sensibilities? Are you getting a cultural bearing and appreciation along with your practical education?

The taste and sense of appreciation that the undergraduate acquires during his college career determines to a large extent his ability to enjoy the finer things of later life. There can be no sadder example of mispent youth than the individual who has over-emphasized the practical phases of life and robbed himself of the heritage of cultural enjoyment.

The artist course offered by the University of Idaho this year brings us metropolitan music and drama at the cost of a small town movie. Can you afford to neglect it? It is well for the student to remember that only a limited number of tickets can be sold and these will be disposed of this week.

Vandal Victory

The calculations of the football dopesters have been upset again and coaches, players, and fans scratch their heads in perplexity. The Idaho Vandals have done that which was declared impossible; they have invaded the Oregon camp and won a spectacular and colorful victory. With the scalp of the "Webfooters" under their belt the Vandal team has started for the Pacific Coast championship. The chronicles of the Vandals of early times tell us that they always left a path of destruction and chaos behind them; it would not be amiss for the loyal boosters of W. S. C. and U. S. C. to read their history text books before becoming too fervent.

SPORTS AT IDAHO by LES ROBINSON.

"They don't make them any tougher than they grow at Idaho!" How that statement of Coach Mathews rings in our ears now. We are here to tell the whole wide world that the coach is the thing, and we don't mean perhaps. Yes, Matty kicked over the conference dope bucket and trimmed Oregon. The conference may now stand on its head and Mr. Glenn Warner, the supposed-to-be premier coach of the conference, can retract what he said about Idaho being at the bottom of the heap when the conference winds up next month. As a dopester Warner is a good star gazer. Material isn't everything.

But Idaho has some good material. Matty doesn't tell his boys they are dubs because they haven't played on the varsity three or four years. He tells them they are good—if they are—and then shows them how to lick the toughest team in the conference. What is experience anyhow? A coach like Mathews, who knows his stuff, makes experienced men out of his boys in about one third the time the ordinary coach does. We know now that is so, else why should his ball club with four or five varsity experienced men trim a veteran team like Oregon. Be gone with the old noise about experienced material—just make them tough and make them fast and active and bring them to Idaho and Matty will make a football team out of them even if they don't know a ten-yard line from a tackling dummy.

Should we talk of the Pacific coast conference title yet? That is a hard question. We have won one game and we have four more to play. They are on successive weeks and they are all tough. Washington State, then Gonzaga, and then the big one, Southern California, the first team from the sunshine state ever to play in Idaho. Montana is next, and then after a breathing spell O. A. C. meets the Vandals at Boise Nov. 21. Idaho can beat everyone of those teams with the caliber of ball it put up against Oregon. And if Idaho does, who is the champion of the coast conference? Think about that.

The 13 to 0 victory of Moscow high over the Coeur d'Alene eleven last week stamps this team as a strong contender for the North Idaho football title. Abe Goff's eleven trimmed the Lake City club in no uncertain manner with a fast running and passing offense. Lewiston, another strong contender plays Coeur d'Alene this week on the latter's gridiron, while Kellogg whom Lewiston defeated two weeks ago, plays at Moscow Friday, October 15. The outcome of these two games should give some indication of the relative strength of Moscow and Lewiston.

Washington State next. Mathews and his Vandals approach this game with confidence. With all odds against him and his team for the first time in three years, Matty still can be optimistic. It is but an example of his dynamic personality. He says, "We play smarter football up at Idaho than they do at Washington State." Exendine has the material this season and if he is ever to produce it this is his year. But it seems like it isn't a question of material so much any more in football, but a problem of football strategy.

There are still echoes over the state about the great showing of the College of Idaho eleven against the Vandals. Coach Mathews says that "Josh" Lowell, the versatile College of Idaho halfback, is probably the greatest back in the west today. Matty also pays compliment to Anse Cornell and his well coached eleven which he predicts will sweep all junior colleges before it.

High school football in the state brought out some interesting results last week. Here are some south Idaho scores: Caldwell 7, Weiser Institute 0; Parma 16, Emmett 0; Nampa 10, Wilder 0; Albion Normal 16, Twin Falls; Rupert, 22, Paul 0; Oakley 53, Albion 0; Weiser 6, Cambridge 6. North Idaho scores are: St. Maries 24, Wallace 0; Gonzaga 25, Coeur d'Alene 0; Lewiston 9, Kellogg 6; Bonners Ferry 54, Newport 0.

IDAHO WRECKS OREGON STONEWALL DEFENSE

 Reget failed on the goal kick.
Vandals Trample Oregon
 A fumble punt by Reget late in the period gave Oregon a golden chance to turn defeat into victory, but they found the Vandals impregnable in the pinch. Gene Shields, Oregon, guard, recovered the ball on the Idaho ten-yard line, almost the identical situation that had given Idaho its scoring opportunity.

A center thrust fell unheeded on the Idaho line. A forward pass and another line buck penetrated to the 4 yard mark. With fourth down and 4 1/2 yards to go, Oregon passed. The hurl went straight over the line of scrimmage to a waiting man behind the goal line, but an Idaho back deflected it just enough to shoot the ball above the receivers reach. Idaho had held for downs and Reget punted to safety.

In the first half break after break, fumbles and intercepted passes had the ball changing hands so often that neither team threatened the other long. Coach Mathews surprised Oregon by starting his light pony backfield, which held the Lemon-Yellow in check for the first quarter.

Anderson for Terry, Terry for Jones, Baird for Baird. F.B. Jones, Owings, Walmesley for Cameron, Substitutions—Oregon: Dills for Davison for Duff, Jacoby for Reget. Anderson attempted a place kick from the 35-yard line, but it fell short. The ball wove up and down the field with the Vandals completing passes for big gains, only to lose the ball on fumbles. Near the end of the half, Anderson tried another place-kick from the 40-yard line, which fell short and wide.

Vandals Trample Oregon
 Idaho's red-jerseyed flashes opened the second half with a dash which Oregon couldn't stop. Oregon kicked off and in eight plays the Vandals advanced the ball from their 22 yard line to the Oregon 26 yard mark. Here the Lemon-Yellow held and Wetzel punted back up the field 50 yards. Idaho tried three plays and then punted. It was this punt which Idaho recovered and so speedily converted into her touchdown.

The ball was in Oregon territory for the rest of the game, except the Webfooters vain attempt to score when they recovered the punt from the 10-yard line. The Lemon-Yellow then opened a forlorn passing attack. Few of the hurls were completed and none of them dangerously near Idaho territory.

Nelson, Idaho end, intercepted one of the passes on the Oregon 25-yard line two minutes before the end of the game, and ran to the five yard line before he was downed. Two successive Idaho off-side penalties ruined the hopes of another touchdown and Oregon intercepted an Idaho heave.

Three completed passes by the Oregon line as the pistol ended the gonians brought the ball to their 42-yard line.

SOCIETY

Even society must bow before the outstanding activity of university—football, and interest in the social whirl is now centering around next Saturday's gridiron contest with W. S. C., with the Athletic ball as the main event of the next week-end. Then, there will be the pep dance after the rally Friday, if that can be classed as "society."

Last week-end, however, pink tea athletes had a busy time, with house dances by Alpha Tau Omega, Beta Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Alpha Tau Omega entertained in honor of their pledges Friday evening at a dance given in the Guild hall. The room was decorated with streamers of orange and black, while around the walls were pedestals on which pumpkins, carved with likeness of Alpha Tau Omega, pledge pins, were set. Punch was served from a pumpkin which bore a carved maltess cross. During the pledge special pumpkins loaded in azure and gold light while the first year men and their partners danced. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Over-smith, Dean and Mrs. Dale, Mr. and Mrs. S. Harless, Mr. and Mrs. W. Koeder, Dean French and Mrs. Blomquist.

Wide Bottomed Trousers Essential Part of College Man's Outfit; Uses Include Street Sweeping and Locomotion

Dainty wide bottomed trousers are the essential accessory for the college man's fall outfit, according to fashion's decree. Smart simplicity is sponsored by this October mode.

The chic colors are pencil blue, powder blue and baby blue. The wide flare adds a jaunty grace to the masculine figure and successfully conceals pigeon toes or size eleven shoes.

The trousers are suitable for practical every day wear and are especially smart for sport wear if trimmed with a few yards of gay ribbon or braid. The gentle flapping motions when the fashionable youth is caught in a windstorm also greatly increases the speed of travel. A pair of these modish trousers makes a charming substitute for an automatic street cleaner.

ENGLISH CLUB HEAD NAMES CO-WORKERS

Twenty-three Students Appointed on Five Committees for Coming Year

Twenty-three Idaho students have been named on five English club committees for the year, according to Wallace Brown, president, who also announces the second meeting of the club tonight in room 205, Ad. building at 7:30. English club members are at present making preparations for exhibition of the noted Art Exhibit which they are sponsoring.

Other plans of the club, according to the president, include operation of the "English club book shelf" of popular fiction for the benefit of all Idaho students. The shelf was extremely popular last year and, with the additional service planned by the committee in charge, it should go big this fall. When the book-shelf starts functioning this year, two dozen novels, short stories, books of poetry and other popular fiction will be on the table in the main hall of the Ad. building for all students to read. A small rental charge of a few cents sufficient to cover wear and tear and cost of purchasing new books as they come out, will be charged.

Committees appointed by the president follow:

Art Exhibit—Betty Mount, chairman; Ruth Zornes, and Everett Erickson; Book-shelf—Pauline Mitchell, chairman; Maurine Chenoweth, and Mrs. G. M. Miller; Program—Mildred Pearson, chairman; Dorothy Darling, Hester Yost, Arthur Peavey, and Beardsley Merrill.

Membership — Mary Helpfrey, chairman, Hosea Evans, Warren Montgomery, Sarah Trousdale, Minnie Minger, Mandel Wein, Mildred Anderson, Marjorie Simpson, Camilla Brown, and Jesse Buchanan; Publicity—Fred Sherman, Bud Alford and Floyd Lansdon.

The committees will be altered from time to time as the occasion demands.

SCHOOL OF MINES GRADS IN DEMAND

Less Than Half Enough Available Last Spring to Fill Positions

Graduates of the Idaho School of Mines are in demand through out the world. The supply is not nearly adequate to fill the requests for engineers which come to the school from many corners of the world.

Dr. Francis A. Thomson, dean of the school, was confronted last June with the unusual situation of having more than two positions to offer each of his graduates. There were 25 or 30 responsible places waiting to be filled and the graduates numbered only 13. In addition, several more requests for young mining engineers came in to the school of mines office during the summer.

A call for a young engineer to go to Bolivia, South America, with a gold and platinum dredging expedition was received last week by Dr. Thomson. The request came from the Lewisholm interests, New York, one of the great metal buying concerns of America. Another offer has just come from the International Smelting company, Salt Lake, which wants an expert to take a position in its flotation testing laboratories at Tooele, Utah. Two other Idaho graduates already are employed by this company. They are J. C. Lokken and J. E. Sandback.

Word has been received that Lynn W. Hersey, Lewiston, a school of mines graduate in the class of '23, has been made chief engineer in the Montezuma Copper company, Pilares de Nacozari, Sonora, Mexico. Mr. Hersey was prominent in campus activities while at the university, being student body president and one of the organizers of the famous Idaho "Pep band."

A bit of news from Fritz McMontigle, 1925 school of mines graduate, who has been connected with the Talache Mining company at Sandpoint during the summer, states that he has left for Guayaquil, Ecuador, where he will be employed by the South American Development company.

Johnson Wins Hope Chest; Flees Girls

According to latest reports, V. Johnson was elected sergeant at arms of the Pioneer club at their centennial meeting held last Thursday evening at 8 o'clock on the Old Oregon Trail. This great honor was conferred on him because of his recent introduction of the hope chest on the campus. The hope chest is made of polished cedar and contains both useful and ornamental articles, as well as several packages of hope, which are neatly tied in lavender ribbon. Much excitement has been aroused among the co-eds as to the nature of this desirable hope chest, and according to M. Green, president of the Pioneer club, the bets have been placed that the hope chest will soon be given to the Salvation Army in order to avoid possible complications.

Blazers Give Men Collegiate Effect

The popular thing for men this season is the blazer, of wool crepe and Numidian knitted cloth. Plaids, checks, stripes and plain colors predominate. The blazer is ideal for either sports or evening wear, and is the most fashionable attire when feeding chickens. It also makes a charming costume for dishwashing, the latest sport among the younger set on the campus. Since the introduction of this smart accessory to the collegiate wardrobe, the blazer has been chosen as the official costume of the members of the Pioneer Club, recently organized for the purpose of blazing the trail.

FORESTRY DRAWS MANY FROM AFAR

Students From 18 States and Three Foreign Countries Come to Idaho

Students from 19 states and from three foreign countries have come to Idaho this fall to study forestry.

The mother state of the university continues to furnish by far the largest individual number, but so widely flung is the reputation of the school of forestry that the total representation of the 18 states is considerably larger than that of Idaho.

Of the 116 regularly enrolled students in forestry, 48 are from Idaho, 64 come from other states, and six are from other countries. Canada, Russia and the Philippines sent the latter. Enrollment statistics show that included in the school's roster are students from the south—Arizona, Virginia and Louisiana; students from the middle west—Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio and Wisconsin; from the east—New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Delaware, and from the west—Idaho, California, Utah and Washington.

In spite of the new tuition fees charged all students from outside the state, the "foreign" registration in the school of forestry continues to increase.

Fifty-four of the 116 students are freshmen, 24 are sophomores, 24 are juniors, 12 are seniors and two are graduate students.

NAME ATHLETIC COMMITTEE U. of I.

Ralph Breshears of Boise, Chairman, As Announced by C. H. Hudelson

Appointment of the members of the Athletic Committee of the University of Idaho Alumni association was announced in a letter received Monday by Abe Goff, Moscow member, from C. H. Hudelson of Boise, president of the association. Ralph R. Breshears of Boise is named chairman of the committee, which includes 18 alumni of the university.

The committee is appointed to work with the athletic department of the university in what ever way they can, according to Mr. Goff, and according to the letter, "this committee can be of the greatest kind of service to the University of Idaho with unqualified cooperation and support."

Following is the names of members of the committee:

A Ford But No Lizzie

"Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ford are the proud parents of a nine pound Ford, which arrived a few days ago. It arrived in fine condition and was accepted at once. It has all the attachments that the other Fords have, such as headlights, loud horn, and, after a little while, a rattle."—Boston Transcript.

MME. KURENKO, RUSSIAN SOPRANO

Maria Kurenko, Russian soprano soloist, appears as the first number of the Artists' Course. Her program will be given in the university auditorium October 29. Mmme. Kurenko is a young singer who made her first appearance in Europe a few years ago. She is attracting unusual attention, and is now making her first tour of the United States.

SIDELIGHTS Of The Game

Seven thousand spectators, and probably the entire Oregon team, were expecting Idaho to forward pass or attempt to score on end runs, when the Vandals had the ball within striking distance of the Oregon goal. But Reget didn't pass.

Oregon used the huddle system of calling signals, the same style introduced last season by the Oregon Aggies.

Big Wetzel, Oregon half, got off some beautiful kicks and it was only in his punting that the Webfooters outshone the Vandals. Wetzel's boots averaged 44 yards in nine punts, and they pulled the Ducks out of more than one bad hole.

It was perfect football weather—clear skies, overcoat temperature, and no breeze. The sawdust field was slow, and hindered Idaho's attempts at long end runs.

Coast sport writers all played up the number 13 in connection with Idaho's win. First they mentioned Oregon's 13 wins over the Vandals in their long athletic relations. Idaho's first victory last year was by a 13 to 0 score. Then there were exactly 13 concrete steps leading into the athletic department offices in the gymnasium. And to clinch the 13 matter Idaho's touchdown in Saturday's game came exactly 13 minutes after the second half opened.

"They look just as good to me as the team of 1924," was the comment of one nationally known sports writer who sat in the press box at the game.

A handful of Idaho rooters made the 1200-mile round trip to see the game. One party of students included Ted Cunningham, Bill Quillion, Dick Dresser, Howard Gault, John McMurray, "Bud" Alford, Fred Cromwell, and Harry Ruby. Eugene Beebe, Dick Taylor, and Kenneth O'Neill composed another. Several Moscow business men and a scattering of alumni helped fill the Idaho section in the stands.

Two of the most ardent Vandal rooters were the two colored porters who accompanied the special cars of the Idaho and Gonzaga teams to Oregon. The Gonzaga squad, which played the day before against O. A. C. at Corvallis stopped over en masse to see the Vandals play.

Coach R. L. Mathews, his assistants, Ray Neldig, "Dusty" Kline, Skip Stiegon's 13 wins over the Vandals in their long athletic relations. Idaho's first victory last year was by a 13 to 0 score. Then there were exactly 13 concrete steps leading into the athletic department offices in the gymnasium. And to clinch the 13 matter Idaho's touchdown in Saturday's game came exactly 13 minutes after the second half opened.

Why You Need This Guide

"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine." Prof. G. M. Whipple, U. of Michigan.

"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes are overworked." Prof. H. S. Canby, Yale.

"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain." Prof. G. F. Swain, M.I.T.

"To students who have never learnt 'How to Study,' work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment." Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

"HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort.

Get a good start and make this year a highly successful one by sending for this hand-book and guide NOW.
