The Fiction Shelf
How many of us are broadening our views and enriching our understanding of twentieth century life by an acquaintance with the best of modern books? Contemporary literature holds up a mirror in which we find the reflection of our modern life, with its pathos and comedy, its joy and its grief.
The English Club Fiction Shelf, with a selection of the year's best books, provides the opportunity for enjoyable reading. A liberal education can be obtained through one's vicarious experiences, and a leisure hour spent in the company of a good book is a good investment. Beautiful expression as well as good counsel may be found in the lines of Emily Dickinson:

There is no frigate like a book,
To take us lands' away,
Nor any coursers like a page
Of prancing poetry.

This traverse may the poorest take
Without oppress of toil;
How frugal is the chariot
That bears a human soul.

Asset or Liability?
LeBaron R. Briggs is the author of a very scholarly and forceful book entitled "School, College, and Character" in which he says:
"No one is entitled to a college education who does not earn the right from day to day by strenuous or by enthusiastic life; college is for the ablest and the best; yet, as some fathers send their least efficient sons into the ministry, so, and with results almost as deplorable, some people send their boys to college because nobody can see in those boys a single sign of usefulness."
Which group are you in? Are you paying dividends upon the investment that is being made for your education? Success in every day's endeavor is essential; one's life in the world that lies beyond the campus is but a replica of the triumphs and failures of undergraduate experience. Every day should mark another step of advancement in learning, in cultural understanding, and in character building.

advanced military number about 70. After completing the course, these men are given a commission as second lieutenants in the United States Reserve corps. Most of the enrollment, however, is freshmen.

Only forty students have been classified as unfit to continue in the corps, and after the work of examination has been completed, a reorganization of the unit will be made. Equipment has been issued to all the members and they are required to appear in uniform during the drill period.

Military instructors are Colonel E. R. Chrisman, commander and instructor of senior cadets; Major F. R. Fuller, executive officer, instructor of junior cadets; Captain B. B. Bain, sophomore instructor; First Lieutenant C. H. Hart Jr., freshman instructor; Staff Sergeant and assistant instructor Eugene Nagel; and Supply Sergeant and assistant instructor Lonnie Woods.

HOME EC. CLASSES IN HIGH SCHOOLS GROW

Enrollment in home economics in nine high school departments has increased on an average of about 10 percent, Miss Dorothy Ellis, state supervisor reported after visiting the schools.

The supervisor reports that more emphasis now is being placed on general home making instruction rather than on merely cooking and sewing.

Six of the nine high school departments visited are being directed by University of Idaho graduates, according to Miss Ellis. The graduates and schools follow: Lorette Meskill '25, Gooding; Annie Morris, '24, McCammon; Marie Feldhausen, '25, Madlad; Muriel Tuttle, '24, Ashton; Alyce Cameron, '25, Sandpoint; Velma Hamilton, '24, Lapwal.

Other high schools visited were at Soda Springs, Coeur d'Alene, and Midway rural high school between Lewisville and Menan.

ENGINEERS FORM LOCAL SOCIETY

Will Petition National Association for Charter; Plan Much Activity

Civil engineering students here under Ivan C. Crawford, formed an organization which hopes to form a closer contact with practicing engineers, to act as a means and medium for student papers on engineering questions and problems, and to bring men of the profession here to talk.

Gus Bjork has been elected president of the society; H. C. Billings, vice-president; and A. G. Darwin, secretary-treasurer. A committee headed by Clifford Seivers was named to draw a set of by-laws.

In the near future, the members plan to petition the American Society of Civil Engineers for a charter. It is largely with this aim in view that the local society has been organized.

ENGINEERS PREPARE HOMECOMING STUNT

May Stage Mock Football Game Between Halves

Feature stunts to entertain the visitors at homecoming will be staged by the Associated Engineers, according to an announcement from the chairman of their stunt committee.

Suspense seems to be one item the engineers are incorporating in their plans, and are going at their work with a "wait and see" attitude. It is rumored that the event of interest will be a mock football game, to be played between halves, and which will be preceded with a big parade, which facts said will tax the extreme laughing ability of everyone. Including a "beauty" parade, and many new features, never seen before on the campus, and alive with mechanical contrivances that only an engineer could devise, suspense is being developed, even to the extent that everyone is wondering what the Big Vandal conquest will be like.

The engineers may divulge more of their secrets before homecoming, but they say that their stunts will be worth waiting for.

The "Prof" may not admit it—but it's true

HE probably will not tell you that clean, neat, typewritten work brings better marks—but it does—and the reason is obvious. It relieves him of that tedious task of deciphering longhand, and keeps him in perfect "reading humor." Then, too, you'll find the New Remington Portable a great time-saver in compiling notes and keeping up with your correspondence. Students prefer the New Remington Portable because it is the lightest, smallest, and most compact of all standard keyboard portables. It fits in a case only four inches high and can be tucked away in a desk drawer or bookcase when not in use. "Everything's jake" when you smoke P. A.

TRUBLE'S a bubble, just as the song says. And you can stick it with the stem of your old jimmy-pipe, filled to the brim with good old Prince Albert. A remedy? It's a specific! Ask any jimmy-piper who ever butted into trouble.

Cool as the zone-of-kelvination you read about in the refrigerator ads. Sweet as the kiss of spring on a winter-weary brow. Fragrant as locust blossoms. Soothing as a cradle-song. And—P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat. The Prince Albert process fixes that!

Get on the sunny side of life with a jimmy-pipe and P. A. Tie a tidy red tin to trouble. Smoke the one tobacco that's got everything you ever wished for—Prince Albert. Quicker you get going, the sooner your worries will be over. Men who thought they never could smoke a pipe are now P. A. fans. You'll be a cheerleader too!

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, round and half-pounded in humidors, and round, crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and punch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Look at the U. S. revenue stamp—there are TWO full ounces in every tin.

SOCIETY

Athletics and society seem to vie with each other this week end for prominence on the Idaho campus. Two special trains have been chartered to take a host of enthusiastic rooters to the Idaho-Gonzaga game at Spokane, while the girls left behind will attend the annual Co-ed Prom in the gymnasium.

Ten of the campus housemothers gave a no-host bridge luncheon at the Blue Bucket Inn, Wednesday. Luncheon was served before a cozy fire, after which three tables of bridge were played in the private room. Those present were: Mrs. Given, Mrs. Stolle, Mrs. Everly, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Trenner, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Scales, Mrs. O'Dell, Mrs. Hinkle, and Miss Frohman.

University students were entertained Thursday afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock, at a free matinee dance at the Blue Bucket Inn. A large crowd enjoyed the lively music furnished by Jack Horton's orchestra.

Miss Bernice Day was the guest of honor at a kitchen shower given by Miss Mae Mathieu at the Blue Bucket Inn, Tuesday, from 3 to 6 o'clock.

About one hundred and fifty guests attended, bringing clever and useful gifts to the bride-to-be. As Miss Day's friends entered the door, the presents were deposited in a miniature aerial tram, carried to the middle of the room, and dumped in an ore box. Miss Lucille Eaton and Frances Mingus were "machers," dressed in overalls and miner's caps and ran the tram that filled the ore box. The Gamma Phi Beta freshmen served Russian tea and marmalade sandwiches. The hall was decorated in fall flowers and in extremely interesting and colorful batik work.

Kappa Alpha Theta guests over the week-end were: Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Kendall, Mr. and Mrs. R. Platt, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Alcorn, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Davis and daughter Dorothy, and Miss Gertrude Brown of St. Maries, Mrs. Arthur Guerin of Orofino, Mrs. Horton McCallie of San Jose, Grace Jacobson of Spokane and Mabel Elchner of Kooskia.

Sigma Nu dinner guests for Thursday were: Mrs. O'Dell, and the Misses Ruth White, Frances Ritchie, Margaret Fox, Ruth Montgomery, Winona Rushton, Betty Stewart, and Louise Nagel.

Kappa Kappa Gamma entertained Dean Permeal J. French at dinner on Tuesday.

Sigma Chi entertained Mrs. Garber and the Misses Gladys Johnson, Sarame Williams, Annabelle Nero, Marian Wetheral, Alice Kennedy, Gertrude Maloney, Gertrude Gould, Blanche Boyer, and Helen Pitts at dinner, Wednesday.

Kappa Kappa Gamma had as guests over the week-end Mrs. Ames and Mrs. Roshott of Sandpoint.

PRACTICAL-AG SCHOOL TO START MONDAY

Next Monday the school of practical agriculture begins. This school includes short courses in agriculture, commercial dairying, and auto mechanics. In the latter course, E. N. Humphrey, an expert mechanic, has been appointed as the first full-time instructor in this field. This addition to the teaching staff was necessary by the expected increase in enrollment and the broadening of the courses.

It is one of the prides of the college of Agriculture that four out of five of the students who enroll in this school return to the farm or are very closely connected with the farm. Of these students, 70 percent are actually engaged in farm work.

GROUPS WORKING ON "WELCOME" SIGN

Interest in the contest for the best "Welcome" sign to be placed in front of group houses during the U. S. C. Homecoming is being shown by several organizations. Those in charge say a silver loving cup will be given to the group offering the best sign.

The A. S. U. I. board announces that the winner will be allowed to keep the cup for one year, and that the contest will be repeated annually, until such time as a group may obtain the cup for permanent possession.

FRENCH TO SPEAK TO R. O. T. C. UNIT

Military Students to Observe 150th Anniversary of Navy Tuesday

Congressman Burton L. French will address R. O. T. C. students, October 27, at 10 o'clock in the auditorium in observance of Navy day, it has been announced by the military department. Congressman French is chairman of the house sub-navy committee on appropriations.

October 27 marks the 150th anniversary of the navy, on that day in the year 1775 a bill providing for the construction of the first ships of the navy was presented to the Continental congress. The same day is also the anniversary of the birth of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, one of the navy's strongest advocates. President Coolidge has given his approval to the celebration of this day, and it will be observed throughout the country by military and naval units stationed in the corps areas.

GRID CANDIDATE HAS GREAT UNDERSTANDING

New York, Oct. 17—In Cornellus Vermont, a candidate for a tackle post on the Columbia football team, the Blue and White has a player with probably the biggest feet in America. Vermont wears a 13 1/2 shoe and, inasmuch as no manufacturer produces footwear for feet as large as he possesses, the Columbia authorities are having football shoes made for him.

Vermont, an oarsman, is 6 feet, 3 inches tall and weighs 183 pounds. He has unusually long and immense hands.

New Field Crop Is Popular With Boys Around University

They're no easy job and not everybody can have one. Although credits in agriculture (field crops) are of little help in knowing how to grow this particular shrub, it seems from the outburst of popularity and surprising growth in that department that a knowledge of weeding does not come amiss.

A course in pruning might come in handy, for, alack! these specimens of foliage are all shapes and sizes. MUSTACHES always are! O'mon Johnny, try one anyway.

SHORT COURSE AGS SETTLE ON FARMS

Seventy Per Cent of Students Actively Engaged in Growing Crops, Figures Show

How valuable is the short course idea and how important is the place it has come to occupy in modern agricultural training, is an important question discussed by University officials.

Some interesting light on this question may be obtained from figures just compiled at the college of agriculture. First, the figures show that four out of every five students who enroll in the short course in agriculture return to the farm or engage in closely related occupations. More than 70 per cent are actually engaged in farming, most of them on diversified farms but many going in for special crops and livestock production.

A number of short course graduates now are making outstanding successes in agriculture. One young man, in a partnership with his father, has purchased a large ranch in south Idaho where he intends to raise purebred sheep. A flock of more than 500 purebred Hampshires has been secured as a beginning. Another youth, after graduating from the short course, purchased a farm near Moscow where he is developing a herd of purebred Jerseys. He sells all the milk he can produce in Moscow and it commands a premium of 20 per cent.

Other specialized branches of agriculture represented among short course students are: stock ranching, bee keeping, breeding of registered cattle, hogs and horses, wheat farming, dairying and lettuce growing.

Many former students have gone in to work closely related to farming, such as cow testing and wholesale dairying. One man is agriculturist for the Union Pacific railroad, another is agriculture representative in irrigation investigations for the Canadian Pacific railway. Still another is superintendent for an irrigation tract and a fourth is manager of the service department of a prominent spray company.

All instruction is given during the winter months when a young man can best be spared from farm work. School begins this year October 26 and closes February 26. No tuition is charged short course men.

PICTURES' APPEAL BASED ON MEMORY

Assembly Hears Dissertation On National Art Exhibit Now Showing Here

The appeal of pictures to the average person lies in their ability to recall memories, said Dean H. C. Dale in his talk on the art exhibit, in assembly Wednesday morning. The exhibit will be given the remainder of this week and next week at Pi Sigma Rho house. He believes that of the four methods for recalling memories pictures are second in importance; the other three are odors, written descriptions, and music.

Dean Dale classes pictures in two groups: those by artists for artists and those by artists for ordinary people.

"You will not enjoy all these pictures," he said, "but you will probably find one in the group that will well repay you for going."

JUNIOR COMMITTEE NAMED FOR STUNT

Committees, to have charge of the annual junior week, have been appointed by Francis Eldridge, class president. Clair Reem is general chairman of the affair, and the rest of the committee follows: Sidney McClellan, Clair Killoran, George Benson, Paul Atwood, Arthur Emerson, Monte Pringle and Ruth White.

Juniors say that all traditions of former years will be continued, in addition to several new features.
