STUDENTS WOULD RULE SELVES

1300 UNDERGRADUATES VOICE OPINION FOR OWN GOVERNMENT; THIRTEEN FACULTY MEMBERS FALL IN LINE

Thirteen hundred undergraduate students, representing a majority of the enrollment at the university, expressed themselves as favoring self-government, in expressions of opinion circulated on the campus Wednesday. The papers were signed, in addition to students, by thirteen members of the faculty, all of whom indicated that student government, if worked out on a rational basis, would be a great step forward for the institution.

Decision to circulate the papers calling for the expression of opinion was reached at a meeting of students, representing every group on the campus. The following committee was named to further the movement: Paul Atwood, Fred Taylor, Hartley Kester, E. A. Taylor, W. J. Williams, Emil Strobeck, Paul Stoffel, Esther Kennedy, Dolly Fleming, Mary Kelley, Ruth Zornes, and Ora Budge.

FACULTY MEMBERS FOR STUDENT RULE

Four Would Support Government by Undergraduates on Rational Basis

Faculty Gives Indorsement
Statements favoring proper student government were issued by Dean Permeal J. French, Dr. J. W. Barton, head of the department of psychology; Dr. Henrietta Tromanhauser, professor of modern language and Bernice McCoy, of the department of education. The "expressions" were signed by J. F. Messenger, dean of the school of education, M. F. Angell, dean of the College of Letters and Sciences; J. G. Eldridge, dean of the faculty; J. W. Barton, head of the department of psychology, W. J. Wilde, of the economics department; Howard Easley, professor of psychology, Dr. Martin A. Larson, professor of English; Bernice McCoy, professor of education; Permeal J. French, dean of women; L. I. Schoonover, professor of economics; Dr. George Morey Miller, head of the English department; Delfin Reynaldo, instructor of Spanish and Col. E. R. Chrisman, commandant of the R. O. T. C.

Student government, following along rational lines, is an active educational agency, it is set forth substantially in statements from several members of the faculty, interviewed Thursday. The statements follow:

Dean French
"If the students can develop and maintain a system of student government which will make the individual responsible for his conduct and for the proper administration of his time, I feel that they will be accomplishing a needed and mighty service and that they should have the support of the entire university in the effort."—Permeal J. French, dean of women.

Doctor Barton
"The students of Idaho are pre-eminently capable of governing themselves with respect to all matters of discipline—if adequate delegated power and proper machinery is provided. And I might add that in no case should the students attempt self-government at an educational institution without a special grant from proper authorities in the form of a charter, definitely defining their powers and prerogatives."—Dr. J. W. Barton, head of the Psychology department.

Doctor Tromanhauser
"Student government is all right if it governs. If we can do it in Idaho I shall be charmed."—Dr. Henrietta Tromanhauser.

Bernice McCoy
"My experience with student government organizations leads me to believe that if a constructive student government system were established on the University campus, that it

DEMAND GROWING IN PSYCH COURSES

New Courses Offered Next Year Says Barton—Demand Excessive

New courses which will be offered in Psychology next year are designed to meet an ever growing demand for specific applications of psychology, according to Dr. J. W. Barton, head of the department. "The demand for Psychology courses for exceeds the possibility for being satisfied by the present limited teaching force," said Dr. Barton. "There is a strong possibility that 'The Psychology of Advertising' will be made a prerequisite for courses in advertising in the Business school and also to the course in Publicity and advertising given by Mr. Mason."

"Psychology in Ethics" is a three credit course to be given the second semester. In this course an attempt is made to determine the part played by human nature in determining moral conduct, or the judgment of right and wrong. These considerations will be related to the various ethical theories.

"Psychology of Religious Experience" is also a second semester three credit course. The problem of the origin of religion in the race will be considered first. Consideration will be given to such matters as the determining impulses in primitive religions, customs and taboo, ceremonial and magic, spirits, sacrifice, prayer, mythology and the development of religion. Next a consideration will be given to the rise of religion in the individual; and the place of religion in the experience of the individual and society.

The Frosh have listed as entries: "Bennie" Brown at 128 pounds, Noyes in the 138 pound class, Sherill 148 pounds, McCoy, 161 pounds, and Tomning at 178 pounds.

MINE ENROLLMENT JUMPS AT IDAHO

Steady Increase in Numbers as Other Schools Decrease

"Out of 23 leading mining schools in the United States the University of Idaho school of mines is the only one showing not only no decrease but actually a steady increase in its enrollment since 1918."

This information is given in an article by Prof. Earnest W. Ellis of the Idaho school of mines faculty, writing in the December issue of "The Explosive Engineer," a magazine for users of explosives.

Is Important Link

"Situating in one of the great mining states of the west, the Idaho school of mines is an important link in the state's development of a large part of western mineral wealth," continues the article. "Recognizing this school's strategic position geographically, the United States bureau of mines and the Idaho bureau of mines and geology maintain cooperative stations in connection with the school."

"The scope of the work offered at the Idaho school of mines has made it necessary to install complete equipment which, besides giving students a broader perception of the entire mining industry, is a valuable asset to the mining fraternity of Idaho."

"Hard Rock" Miners

"Not only do Idaho students work in mines and smelters during vacation months but many of them are 'hard rock miners' before beginning their collegiate work. The great mines, mills and smelters of the Coeur d'Alene, Butte and other districts are beginning for many students' mining aspirations."

The explosives magazine also prints a half-page cut showing a picture of the interior of the fire assaying laboratory and students at work in the Idaho school of mines building.

Y. W. C. A. PLANS MEET AND ENTERTAINMENT FOR TONIGHT

The freshman commission of the Y. W. C. A. will meet tonight at Ridenbaugh hall for a discussion of affairs and plans may be made for athletics to take place later. An entertainment and program will follow the discussions.

VANDALS TUNING FOR GAME WITH OREGON QUINTET

Team and Fans Optimistic of Outcome; Week of Hard Practice Sees Lineup Working Smoothly.

The Idaho Vandals are spending a week of hard practice for the first decisive game of the season with the University of Oregon here, next Tuesday night, January 26.

Fans are optimistic over the Idaho showing in the opening game against Montana, despite the fact that other teams, including Oregon, whipped the Grizzlies by a larger margin than the Vandals. Idaho kept the ball in its possession a good two-thirds of the game against the Grizzlies, and showed fine early-season floorwork. Montana was probably at its best against Idaho, it being the first of a disastrous road trip.

Despite many disruptions in the squad, Coach MacMillan has evolved a "patched up" lineup which is working with veteran precision. The center position has been the Vandal's particular sore spot, first with the loss of the veteran "Lief" Erickson, and then the illness of Walter Remer, who was being groomed into Erickson's place.

Neal Nelson, guard, has worked well into the disastrous keystone position, however. Matched with the foxy Nedros and Miles at forward, and "Red" Jacoby and Fields at guard, it is developing into a fear-inspiring scoring and defensive combination.

Week-end Games

Oregon vs Washington, Seattle.
U. S. C. vs Stanford, Palo Alto

The Idaho Vandals are knotted with four other undefeated teams for first place in the northern section of the coast conference, as a result of Montana's continuation of the role of victim on the chopping-block for the other conference teams. Montana has played five games since leaving Missoula and lost them all, its setbacks this week being 23 to 19 by Washington, 40 to 19 by Oregon and 31 to 19 by O. A. C.

Montana's loop around the circuit leaves the conference just about as much in doubt before as to outstanding teams. Although the Oregon teams defeated them by bigger scores than other schools, the games were the last of a string of defeats and the Grizzlies were probably not in such a cocky mood as against Idaho.

Oregon and Washington's game at Seattle Saturday night will draw lots of interest. Both of the schools have veteran quintets and it will be the first decisive contest of the season. Stanford and Southern California clash at Palo Alto in a game which will probably determine which is the weaker of the two teams. Both have lost early games by big margins, and are not counted in the class of the California Bears.

SHERMAN ELECTED TO ARGONAUT BOARD

Will Represent Staff; Board to Consider Nominations

Fred Sherman was elected staff representative to the Argonaut board at a meeting of the Argonaut staff last Wednesday in the "Ad" building. This board is composed of the president of the associated students, Emil Strobeck; the editor of the Argonaut, Paul Stoffel; ranking senior member of the board, Wallace Brown; and the staff representative. The board will soon consider the nominations for managing editor of the Argonaut to fill the vacancy caused when Paul Stoffel became editor upon the resignation of Gordon Hucksadhy.

LEWISTON HIGH TROUNCES ROOKS

Banana Belt Five Victors, 39 to 27, in Wild Game Wednesday

The Lewiston high school quintet downed "Dusty" Kline's Idaho Freshman Wednesday night 39 to 27 in a fast game played on the Lewiston high floor.

The high school team lead the frosh from the start of the game, although the Vandal Babes clung doggedly to the high school score until the final quarter. The score at the half was 19 to 18 for Lewiston, and 27 to 23 at the third quarter. The high school went wild in this final period and dropped baskets from all parts of the floor. The frosh broke into a rally just before the end of the game and cut the Bengal lead to 12 points.

MAC HARDWICK ELECTED DUKE

Succeeds Erickson as Knight Head; Convention Planned

Mac Hardwick was elected to succeed Everett Erickson as Honorable Duke of the Ball and Chain chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights at a meeting held Wednesday evening at the "U" hut. Allen Foster succeeds Hardwick as Worthy Scribe. Plans were put under way for the Intercollegiate Knight convention, to be held during the latter part of April at the University of Washington at Seattle.

Everett Erickson, former Honorable Duke, has been named Royal Knight. This position is that of National honorary vice president.

IDAHO HAS VAST WEALTH OF FLORA

Artist Exhibits Native Plants at Botany Seminar

Idaho supports a vast wealth of natural flora, it was shown by Mrs. E. E. Teape in an exhibition of paintings at an open meeting of a botany seminar in the Science hall Tuesday night. Two hundred students and townspeople attended.

The native wild flowers of Idaho, the lecturer said, are not in such profusion as are those in some other states. This might be remedied, she said, by conservation through the creation of reserves.

Mrs. Teape exhibited a hundred and fifty drawings and paintings of flowers of this state. She has been working on these drawings for years, and they are the most comprehensive collection in the state, she said.

All students registering for the first time in college this year will be required to take mental tests Wednesday, February 3.

The past week has marked the wrecking of hopes of many championship-calibre teams and the 1926 intra-mural basket-ball schedule has become null and void until after the semester examinations. Most interest has been displayed by members of the various house groups in backing their teams, and bringing to light hidden musical talent that was not known to exist. Every story has its dark side, however, and on seeing the veterans of the previous night's engagement limping pitifully about the campus, many innocent coeds have been known to ask, "I wonder whether it was the icy sidewalks or the intra-mural series that ruined him."

The race for high honors has narrowed to Kappa Sigma, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Nu, with Lindley hall looming as a possible contender for the finals. Although Tau Kappa Iota won by a comfortable margin in their game, they displayed little promise of defeating the faster teams of the league. Phi Delta Theta showed exceptional strength in their defeat of the Beta Chi's last night and should make a bid for the title.

Tau Kappa Iota Wins Monday!

The Town Whitehoopers had difficulty in locating the hoop and lost to the Tau Kappa Iota Kyotes in a close game Tuesday, 32 to 25. Fast play and accurate shooting did not mar the contest, although the Kyotes looped counters from many different positions. Roise played a brilliant game for the losers, marking yardage consistently until disabled in the final.

FORESTRY HEADS ATTEND MEETING

Take Part in Federal Investigation of Rocky Mountain District

Dean F. G. Miller and Dr. E. E. Hubert of the school of Forestry last week attended a meeting of the federal committee on investigations of the forest service of the Rocky Mountain district. The meeting was called to give the forest service officials, and the heads of the forest schools of the northwest an opportunity to summarize the various fields of investigation, in which these agencies are interested. The University of Idaho has been working on a growth study of cottonwood in the southern part of the state. This meeting is held in Missoula at regular intervals in order to give the forest schools, and the government opportunity to check upon each others work, and thereby avoid possible duplication.

CHENOWETH GIVES VIEWS ON LIFE

Philosophy Head Talks "Theories of Vision" to Assembly

"A New Theory of Vision" was the subject of Professor C. W. Chenoweth, of the philosophy department, speaking in Wednesday morning's assembly. He gave a short travestie of London and Ireland to illustrate his theory of seeing.

Two Kinds of Persons

"There are only two kinds of persons who can afford to go sight seeing," he said. "The first of these is the one who is capable of taking what he sees and using it to contribute to the life he builds."
Secondly he said: "It does not make so much difference what you see as what you think. If one can control his ideas he can shape his world at will."
His third proposition was that it does not make so much difference what you learn as the use you make of it.
In conclusion he said: "Nothing has original value except life and nothing is valuable except in its relation to life."

On Making the "Blacklist" Public

At the University of Oregon they print a so called "scandal sheet" whenever the grades come out in which are listed the names of those on probation or flunking and the grades of those above the average. The interest in this sheet seems to be acute and the only consolation those with very low grades have is that there are a few even lower. The effects are obvious. When it is proclaimed publicly that anyone is so dumb as to have gotten on the black list, it is up to that individual to see that it doesn't happen again. If that sort of thing were done it does not seem unreasonable to predict that it would take less paper to print the "black list" on than is now the case. But of course such a thing would be entirely against precedent here and thus very much an undesirable scheme.

Sentiment Seems General for Student Government

The move to obtain student government at Idaho appears to be one for which there has been a long felt need. After representatives from each group on the campus had decided to obtain campus sentiment in a definite way by circulating a petition, the response was immediate and definite. Most students approached are reported as being enthusiastic about it. Faculty members differ on the details of such a system but are strongly in favor of the general idea of the movement.

The Argonaut feels that the adoption of self government would be a long step in the right direction. But it is such a definite innovation as far as this campus is concerned that many of the problems incident to establishing the necessary machinery would find us at a loss for a time. (These very problems, however, would give us the occasion to use our own minds in working out our difficulties. This is the really big point of the whole scheme. Students feel that they are able to solve their own problems, and as they will have to ultimately—why not now?)

Endorsement of the principle by many faculty members shows that the present system, if not unsatisfactory, at least fails to obtain the cooperation and good will between students and faculty which is vital to a successful and strongly knit institution. The attitude of mutual consideration and respect which characterizes the whole movement promises that real progress will be made in obtaining what has been asked for.

The Safety Valve

(Editor's note: Any communications addressed to the Argonaut Safety Valve will be printed under this head. The names of the writers must be signed to the articles, but only the initials will be printed. The Argonaut does not necessarily endorse any of the opinions subject relative to student interests.)

To The Safety Valve:
Idaho has grown tremendously in the last few years. The enrollment has practically doubled in the last five years. In this same period Idaho athletic teams have developed to such a point that they are now counted among the strongest on the Pacific coast. All departments of student activity have grown into a smoothly working machine. The scholastic standing of the University has been raised so that today our institution ranks as a Class A school among the colleges and universities of America. In the last two years the Associated Students has been reorganized into a live and active student body which is a real factor in student life. This great forward stride has been made possible only by conscientious work on the part of both students and faculty; always striving for the welfare and advancement of the University of Idaho.

Along with this growth and advancement comes the necessity for student government. If we are to continue our progress, we must expand in every possible manner. Future progress demands that the student body be self-governing in every sense. Why then, should we be subjected to the old methods of faculty control when other methods have in many instances been proven to be superior? Many institutions of high standing in the United States have various forms of student government, including several on the Pacific coast. This is true of the University of Washington, Stanford, University of Utah, the University of Montana and the University of Oregon. Idaho has, beyond a doubt, reached the point where student control of their own affairs is advisable.

In many ways, they have demonstrated that they are capable of handling such a program. The fact that college students are capable of handling their own affairs is clearly shown by the successful operation of the system in a great many leading schools. —E. A. T.

To Whom It May Concern
A little elf sat on a sea-green leaf,
And a dryad warmed herself in the sun.
Now the little elf had a fond belief
That he and the small God Cupid were one.
So he strung his bow with a cobweb fine,
And took for his arrow a tiny dart
From the moon, then he aimed with pride sublime
And shot the pretty dryad right through the heart!
(At least so he thought) but the dryad yawned,
And lazily stretched in the warm sea-sand—
Said—as she slowly smiled her scorn,
"You've quite the conceit of a college man!"
Jack.

Kate is in the infirmary. Cause follows:

Dear Prof:
There's that little matter of twelve cuts that you have credited me with. I'd like to have you fix that up right away because I don't want it hanging over my head.

Of all the dry, dumb, uninteresting courses that I ever attended yours is the worst. How you ever got your position as an instructor in this institution, will always remain a mystery to me. You mumble every sentence and when I can hear you, you never say anything that's to the point. And those quizzes . . . anyone with the intelligence of the average 8-year-old kid could prepare a more representative test than you put out. I only took the course because I heard that it was a pipe five hours and if you are going to get nasty about those twelve cuts that I spoke of I'll drop the thing without any further notice. Now for heavens sakes, try and make your letters audible at least, and either get some new jokes or quit trying to be funny altogether.
Yours for better grades,
Kate.

Kioty Booster For Movement Toward Student Governors

Dear ma,
Well ma, the latest thing around here is student government. I guess the idea is to make Idaho safe for democracy. Some says the faculty is tired of being the government and some says the students is tired of being governed. What I don't know is what is discipline. We study Jonathan Edwards, Benjamin Franklin, and Sherwood Eddy and then take a dose of Bernard Shaw, Henrik Ibsen and Michael Arlen in such classics as the Green Hat. How can you tell what to do ma?
Whenever the students get to running their government I reckon they will be some argument as to what is morals, like they is now. Some of the student judges might think women ought to be pinched for walking past a fraternity house and some might think it would be all right for them to go in and join the bull fest. If the students do the governing why then the faculty won't have to worry about it no more. Me, I'm for self government myself. Kioty.

Washington and Lee Finds Honor System Practical in Usage

There has grown up on the Washington and Lee campus a method of buying and selling which much be unique since it seems to awaken such amusements among visitors. The "Coop" store has regular counters piled with priced articles where every customer pockets whatever articles he selects, makes his own chance out of an open money box, and departs, without the intervention or even the notice of a salesman. The day before a recent "great game" with the University of Virginia some enterprising student placed hundreds of label buttons with the college colors on the table under a campus tree, priced according to size, with an open box to afford change and hold the money. Before night the box was so overflowing with bills that a passing professor placed a weight on them to keep the pile from blowing away. Over 300 emblems were sold in this way without a salesman in sight, and before dark the pile of bills and coins on the lonely table exceeded $125. At the same time the following were noticed in a walk through the University buildings:

In the basement of the Gymnasium was an immense box of bagged peanuts with an open box near to hold the money. Near the stair landing of the largest dormitory an open barrel of fancy apples was found with a money box resting on the apples, and a card put up by the unknown salesman stating the price. Meanwhile, in one of the corridors of the Graham dormitory, holding 116 students, might be found every night in the lighted open hall a well-stocked "midnight lunch" table with money box and prices, but with no visible salesman. It was stated that the box generally held from three to five dollars by morning. The above are but a few concrete examples of the honor system in actual operation. Perhaps other institutions may be even more successful in realizing its full possibilities as a character builder. Amid the ebb and flow of incoming and outgoing classes these methods and customs illustrate the amazing dominance of the atmosphere and traditions of a college campus, which are often more permanent than its buildings and always more powerful than its faculty regulations.—Washington and Lee University Bulletin.

Spring has not come! Just as everyone was preparing to lay aside their winter garb and array themselves in light weight as well as light colored clothes, the heaviest snow of the season descended upon the campus. Girls who brought from home dazzling new sport coats and brilliant hats must content themselves with standing near a radiator and admiring their color scheme in a convenient mirror, never daring to venture outside while so attired. So you, who have not as yet purchased your spring outfit, may still appear in society. And by the way, Galoshes are still the vogue.

UPHAM TALKS TO SOUTH ABOUT U

SAYS MORE ROOM NEEDED TO CARE FOR GROWING INSTITUTION—SPEAKER AT ALUMNI GATHERING AT BOISE

Boise—Crowded housing conditions still hamper the University of Idaho, Dr. A. H. Upham, president of the institution, told a group of more than 100 alumni and former students Monday evening at a dinner held in his honor at the Elks' club. It was Doctor Upham's first appearance as a speaker in Idaho since his return last week from a three months' tour of Europe.

Enrollment at the university this year is 300 greater than a year ago, the president told alumni, and the completion of the new science hall last fall barely took care of that increase. Meanwhile, 12 new members were added to the faculty, all holding classes and requiring class and office room. A new library building, releasing the present space occupied by it in the administration building and eliminating the waiting line always present for available chairs and study tables, the president declared an absolute necessity.

Takes Final Step
"The third and last step by which the university can gain recognition among accredited universities of the country has been acquired during the present year," President Upham said during a discussion of university scholastic attainments. "That came with the granting of a chapter by Phi Beta Kappa, honorary letters and science scholastic fraternity. Idaho has had the other two for several years. The first was its inclusion into the class A list of universities doing recognized graduate work. The second was the installation three years ago of a chapter of Sigma XI, honorary scientific fraternity. Idaho is now one of five western institutions to have all three of these merit badges of scholastic worth."

Doctor Upham spoke also upon the addition this past year of a school of business administration and a graduate school, and of the salary averages of full professors in the 15 state colleges and universities of the north-west. Idaho, Doctor Upham declared, stood near the bottom of the list, which made exceedingly difficult the task of holding instructors and maintaining the quality of the work offered.

Helleats Smother Fiji Tea Hounds
In the second game Tuesday the A. T. O. Helleats tore through the Fiji Tea Hounds for a 32-3 victory, marked by good teamwork and accurate shooting in the part of the winners. Chances for a close score were lost by the Tea Hounds when a try for goal went wide leaving the score standing 32-3. The contest ended ten seconds later. Nielson, Devil Dog forward was leading scorer with 9 points. Rival pep bands and rooting sections lent a near-varsity touch to the game.

SECOND ISSUE OF BLUE BUCKET IS PLACED ON SALE

Campus Literary Magazine Off Press Today; Has More Humor, Stories and Cartoons.

Blue Buckets of the second edition went on sale and distribution to subscribers today. They may be had at a table near the library door in the main hall of the Ad building. Subscribers and those who wish to buy the magazines are urged to get them before Saturday night, so that the time of distributors will not be taken from their studies any longer than is necessary.

Several more pages were added to the magazine for this edition, according to Ruth Aspray, editor, to make room for more humor, short stories, cartoons and attractive advertising.

May Say for Self
"The Blue Bucket has never been completely self supporting," said Blaine Stubblefield, manager. "But it has a good chance of paying its way this year. That is due to its considerable improvement over any other issues. Students and faculty are taking an interest in it and so are other schools and publications."

The Blue Bucket has been copyrighted and exclusive re-publication rights contracted for by College Humor. Whatever material College Humor republishes from the Idaho magazine will be paid for at the rate of $20 a page and run over the Blue Bucket title.

Blue Bucket managers wish to remind students that Blue Buckets are always interesting and welcomed by their parents.

Formerly professor of bacteriology at the University of Illinois, Dr. Rahn has been located at Kiel since the outbreak of the world war in 1914. He is one of the best known authorities on dairy physics.

The scientist came to Moscow to lecture direct from Wisconsin. He plans to give a week's course in dairy physics at Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis before returning.

ELDRIDGE FAVORS GET-TOGETHER MEETS

DeMolay and Square and Compass Men Hold Banquet

"Get-together meetings, we should have more of them," was the theme of the subject which Dean J. G. Eldridge spoke on last evening, at a banquet of the De Molay and Square and Compass men, at the Blue Bucket Inn.

Delta Mu Chi is an organization of students who are, or were, members of the inter-national De Molay organization in their respective homes. The Greek letter fraternity was organized last fall, and will again be made active.

George "Brick" Elrod, presided at a banquet at which about 44 students, members and prospective members were present. It is planned to have banquets possibly about every two weeks. A meeting of Delta Mu Chi will be called soon for all those who are eligible and interested. Men wishing further information concerning its organization were asked to call "Brick" Elrod at the Phi Delta house.

Double Action Theory Explains Why Grads Seldom Get Married

Professor Shull of the Zoology department has made a great discovery. He has long puzzled over the fact that college men and women do not marry as often as other people. At last, he has found the reason: "Women in general choose to marry men who are their superiors but for college women there are no such men; hence they rarely marry. The case for men is almost the same, for men as a class choose to marry women who are somewhat inferior to themselves; but as college man can find no such women, they do not often marry." And with this cryptic solution, which really kicks twice, Professor Shull leaves the problem.—The Michigan Alumnus.

S. A. E. DOG MASCOT TAKES FRENCH LEAVE

Victor, Pedigreed Airedale, Leaves Home and Friends

Victor, a pedigreed airedale which served as a mascot for the Sig Alphas has been missing since Christmas time. His owner, H. H. Campbell is deeply concerned at his loss, because of the dog's value and because he was a pet, both of Mr. Campbell's and of the fraternity members. "Vic," a three year old, was sired by Dakota Bri, out of Vons Lady, at the Von Elm Kennels, of Hiawatha, Utah. He weighed approximately 60 pounds, and was black and brown in color. Attached to his collar is a metal tag, bearing his name, his owner's name, and "S. A. E. House, University of Idaho."

He is highly prized for his hunting ability and his attraction as a pet. The dog was friendly in spirit, and unlikely to incur any enmity because of his actions. Mr. Campbell and the group at the S. A. E. House will greatly appreciate any news that may be forwarded concerning the dog's whereabouts; also Mr. Campbell offers a reward for any such information.

MENTALITY TESTS COMPULSORY TO ALL NEW STUDENTS

Psychology Department Has Charge of Quizzes That Test Brain Faculty in Eight Factors.

The yearly mental test, given to all entering students, will be given in room 110 in the Science hall, and room 102 in the Administration building, at 8:30 a. m. February 3. This test has been adopted, though slightly modified, from the test given last year.

The test is called "Psychology Examination for High School Graduates and College Freshmen." It has been prepared by The American Council of Education. "Probably forty institutions in the United States are pooling their findings in making use of these lists in the hope of finding a better test or a test that has better prognostic values," Dr. Barton, head of the Psychology department, stated. "It really includes eight different tests under the headings of: (1), completion test, (2), arithmetic test, (3), artificial language test, (4), analysis test No. I, (5), analysis test No. II, (6), number completion test, (7), absurdities test, and (8), opposites test.

"Professor Easley will assist in conducting the test and it will be scored by the mental testing class of this year. It is hoped that this will be proved to be a better test than any used before, but as to just what possibilities it holds is hard to determine as this is the first year of its use. "Whatever others may think of the testing possibilities, it looks like it has come to stay, and if we are to do our part in promoting a movement that seems to give promise of great help, there is probably justification for continuing this work. Testing has shown itself to be very superior as a selective means to the subjective judgment of any number of experts in that field. It is an attempt to get away from feeling and belief that hasn't any basis of objective facts.

TECH ADVOCATORS SEND OUT CIRCULARS

Extensive Data Compiled to Show Need of Four-Year School

According to reports, literature containing data showing why there should be a four year Tech at Pocatello, have been sent to the various houses on the campus. The compiled statements were sent out by an organization in South Idaho bearing the name of a "Four Year Tech Club," and besides the other numerous copies that have been received, one of the circulars was found tacked on the door of the Administration building. This is the first time the students of the University have been approached outwardly on the subject which caused such a controversy in the last state legislature.
