Old Doc Dope's forecast again came true this week in the intra-mural basketball race, when the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Butterflies, the Alpha Tau Omega Hellcats and Beta Theta Pi Devil Dogs won games. None of the contests were won by large margins, but all showed a superiority on the side of the victors. At the close of this week's play, four teams are left in the titular sprint. The Butterflies, the only undefeated five in the league, loom big as championship prospects, and if they continue at their present pace will undoubtedly reach the finals. They are allowed two defeats to other remaining teams' one.

In a fast game Tuesday, the Devil Dogs romped over Lindley hall, 33-23. The score was knotted at several points during the contest and the outcome was in doubt until the last minute. The defeat marked the elimination of the hall men from the cup race.

Displaying a brilliant game throughout the first half, the Sigma Nu Reptiles held the S. A. E. Butterflies at bay until the final periods when they weakened, and lost decisively 25-13. The contest was marked by accurate shooting and good floor work on the part of both fives. This game took on much of a championship tile atmosphere because of the fact that neither team had been beaten prior to their meeting.

PRESS FRATERNITY HOST TO HUMORIST

"Bullfest" Marks Dinner Given Stoddard King

Stoddard King, conductor of "Facetious Fragments," Spokesman-Review column, and well known humorist, was a guest of honor at a dinner tendered by Delta Sigma, professional journalism fraternity. Departing from the conventional, Mr. King was not asked to make a speech following the banquet, but instead he joined the members of the fraternity in a genuine "bullfest" covering topics ranging from column conducting to "Abie's Irish Rose."

The menus announced the courses and their contents in Greek. Members of the club attending were Wallace C. Brown, president; B. M. Schick, editor of the Star-Mirror; Edward F. Mason, college editor; Alan Dailey, assistant college editor; Talbot Jennings, of the English department faculty; Paul Stoffel, Albert Alford, George Burroughs, Everett Erickson, Clair Killoran, Frederick Sherman, Burton Moore and Floyd W. Lansdon.

PEP BAND ENJOYS NYVALL'S SMOKER

Stunts and Songs Provide Entertainment for Evening

Neighbors were awakened by hearing jazz tunes issuing from the windows and doors of Professor Nyvall's home Wednesday night when he gave a smoker for the members of the Pep band. Much merriment was furnished by "Professor" Moe and his male quartet singing "Put a Penny on the Drum, Save a Soul," and other appropriate ditties. During lulls in the program, Mrs. Nyvall served refreshments.

EIGHT TEAMS VIE FOR STATE TITLE

District Champions Play Speedy Games in First Leg of Tourney

(Special to The Argonaut)
Boise, Idaho, March 11.—Eight Idaho high school teams, champions of their respective conferences, went into tournament here this afternoon to decide the interscholastic champions of 1926. Hectic play, which uncovered ferocious scoring offensives and well-oiled floor generalship marked the play. Spring ranged from squeeze-outs of a few points margin to an overwhelming 65 to 17 score, the most decisive of the first leg of the tournament.

Boise was defeated by Lewiston, 31 to 25; Filer defeated Sandpoint, 37 to 26; Pocatello defeated Sugar City, 44 to 16, and Nampa defeated Salmon, 49 to 8, in the afternoon's play. In the evening Boise defeated Sugar City, 42 to 23 and Sandpoint defeated Salmon, 65 to 17.

Winners Play Today
The four undefeated teams will play Friday afternoon. Pocatello has drawn Lewiston, conqueror of Boise and Filer has drawn Nampa. The third game of the afternoon will be between Boise and Sandpoint.

In the evening the winners of the first two games will meet the losers of the first two. The winner of the third afternoon game has drawn a bye. The loser of the third game will be eliminated from the tournament, under the double defeat system of elimination decided upon before the tourney opened.

Surprises Feature

Several surprises featured the first day of the meet, and, as a consequence, pre-tournament dopesters have closed their mouths and are watching developments in today's play. They are whispering, however, that Filer will emerge from the day's play still undefeated with a strong chance for the state title. As to the Pocatello-Lewiston fray, they are silent. Some hold, however, that the Gate City five will win over the Banana Belt aggregation. The Boise-Sandpoint fray is in the air. Either team might win and yet not upset the dope—for there hasn't been any mixed.

ALMA BAKER HEADS CO-ED ASSOCIATION

Pearl Cordray Receives Vice-Presidency of Women's Group

Miss Alma Baker, a junior in the letters and science college, was elected president of the Associated Women Students of the university at the election held Thursday. Miss Baker is from Twin Falls and is a member of Gamma Phi Beta. Alma Baker and Margaret Kinyon were nominated for president and when Miss Kinyon withdrew from the nomination Dorothy Darling was nominated in her place. Pearl Cordray, Kimberly, was elected vice president. The other officers are as follows: Elizabeth Curtis, Welsler, secretary; Doris Squibb, Spokane, treasurer and Alene Honeywell, Orofino, chairman of Exchange. Members of the A. W. U. I. cabinet are Marjorie Drager, Bellevue; Mabel Morris, Spokane; Esther Stalker, Lewiston; Goldie Smith, Boise; Marjorie Simpson, Moscow; Kerube Steensland, Nampa; Helen Nelson, Moscow; Agnes Bowen, Boise; Adamae Dorman, Boise; Dorothy Howerton, Jerome Honeywell 161.

The count of the ballots cast are: Alma Baker 223, Dorothy Darling 45; Pearl Cordray 159, Ethel Greene 108; Hazel Stellman 127; Elizabeth Curtis 137; Doris Squibb 169; Mildred Warneke 98; Edith Larson 106; Alene

SAN CARLOS OPERA TO GIVE RIGOLETTO HERE WEDNESDAY

Noted Company Presents Afternoon Performance Number of Course

SHOWN IN FOUR ACTS

Josephine Lucchese, Gifted Soprano Will Be Featured as Gilda

The San Carlo Grand Opera company with Fortune Gallo, director, will present a matinee performance here Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. This opera company has met with much approval in western cities on its coast tour.

"Rigoletto," the opera to be presented, is in four acts. Following is a synopsis of the scenes. Act I—The Duke's apartments. Act II—Rigoletto's house. Act III—Ante-chamber of the Ducal Palace. Act IV—A deserted spot on the shores of Mincio.

The cast of characters—Duke of Mantua, Franco Tafuro; Rigoletto, Emilio Ghirardini; Gilda, Josephine Lucchese; Sparafucile, Pietro De Biase; Maddalena, Bernice Schalker; Monterone, Natale Cervi; Conte De Ceprano, Eloi Grimar; Contessa Di Ceprano, Frances Morosini; Borsa, Francesco Curi; A Page, Philine Falco; Chorus of knights, ladies and pages of the court.

Story of the Opera

Gilda, the heroine, is the daughter of Rigoletto, a low-lived pandour in service of the libertine, Duke of Mantua. Count Ceprano and Count Monterone, whose wives have been abducted by Rigoletto and his master, invoke the vengeance of the gods upon the twain. Rigoletto is extremely watchful of his own daughter. He never allows her to leave the house save to attend religious services. The wily duke observes her on one of these occasions and traces her to her home. Ceprano and his adherents, supposing her to be mistress of Rigoletto, endeavor to carry her off by force, and pretending to Rigoletto that their object is Ceprano's wife, they cause him to arrest them in the abduction of his own daughter.

Upon finding out the ruse, Rigoletto hires one Sparafucile to assassinate the duke, and Sparafucile, aided by his sister, Maddalena, induces the duke to go with him to an inn, intending there to make away with him. The duke's fascinating manner, however, inspires Maddalena to save him.

Heroine is Killed

In the meantime Rigoletto has his daughter disguised in male attire, to thus make her escape to Verona, and brings her, before her departure, to the inn that she may see the duke's faithlessness. While outside the inn, she overhears the plot to murder the duke and hears the would-be assassins state that they will surely kill the duke unless they find a substitute for him, so as to secure the promised reward from Rigoletto. Gilda, with a woman's devotion, is only too eager to sacrifice herself for the man she loves, and enters the door, only to be mortally stabbed. Sparafucile throws the body into a sack and gives it to her father, thus completing the compact. Rigoletto, about to cast sack and all into the river, hears the voice of the duke, opens the sack, and discovers his daughter still breathing. She dies forthwith. Rigoletto, overwhelmed, realized the fulfillment of the invocation of the two Counts.

PLANS ARRANGED FOR ANNUAL STUNT FEST

Committees Are Appointed To Head Song and Stunt Committees

Sophomores are beginning plans for the Song and Stunt fest. Avery Peterson is at the head of the stunt committee; Ethel Lafferty, John Paisley, Lucile Eaton, and Edward Bozarth have been named to work with him. Beulah Brown and Lucile Anderson are on the song committee.

AG CARNIVAL WILL BE GIVEN MARCH 20

Biggest All-College Affair This Spring, Says Shamberger

On Saturday night, March 20, right after the six weeks exams have become history, the Ag club is planning to give its postponed carnival at the gymnasium and, according to Howard Shamberger, assistant manager, this evening of festivity will be the biggest all college affair on the campus this spring.

Entertainment will be the same as was previously advertised, with games of chance, fortune telling, confetti, serpentine, kewpie dolls, and a jitney dance which will use over one half of the gym floor. Everything will be expensive when paid for with illegal tender which they are planning to use, but one nickel will buy five bucks' worth of their medium of exchange.

SOPH PREXY NAMES DANCE COMMITTEE

McCall Appoints Yost General Chairman; Plans Big Affairs

Committees for the Sophomore dance to be given April 23 in the gym, have been chosen, Bert McCall, president, has announced. "We are planning some splendid things for the dance," he said.

George Yost is general chairman. Those in charge of the decorations are: Mat Christensen, chairman, Dean Donaldson, Hartley Kes'er, Paul Croy, Floyd Taylor, and Leon Weeks. Dolly Dunn has charge of the program; Mary Fisher and Vivian Stone will work with her. Jim Lyle, chairman, Marjorie Drager, and Eugene Ware are on the music committee.

CHAMPIONS AFTER NEW TENNIS TITLE

All Courts Are Ready for Playing and Schedules Arranged

Thirty-three entries have already signed up for the spring tennis tournament.

It is expected that the total number will reach sixty by the end of the week. Plans for the tournament are well formulated and within a week the tournament will be well under way. Beardslee Merrill, champion of the spring tournament last year heads the list with Johnnie Wagner and "Bill" Calloway as strong contenders for the spring tennis title.

The women's schedule has not been completed at this date, but it is expected that an entry list will be posted on the bulletin board at a very early date.

Two courts of the student's ground have been placed in excellent playing condition, and work is now being done on the faculty courts, and by the middle of next week all other courts are expected to be in tournament condition.

ALL-STARS READY TO MEET VANDALS

Matty Prepares to Shame "Red" Grange; Stephens Out

"Fat" Stevens, who was signed up with the coaches' "all-stars" for the March 20 football classic, wrenched his shoulder a few days ago while putting on his overcoat, according to Coach R. L. Mathews, and from all indications will not be able to play in the contest with the Vandals.

"Matty" was somewhat discouraged with the prospects of playing the game without his trusty linesman, who has a reputation for plugging up holes. However, behind every cloud is a silver lining, and more recent news prognosticates that "Babe" Brown and Neil Irving will be in the "all-stars" line-up when the big event takes place.

With these veteran grid men back in uniform, Mathews feels confident of victory. He and his followers, who are on the campus now, are out every afternoon taking their daily dozen in order to be in good trim for the spring classic. A new offensive system is being worked out by the "all-stars" that is expected to completely mystify the Vandal squad, and all Idaho football enthusiasts will be prepared to see "Matty," old Notre Dame star, run "Red Grange" style around the opposing ends.

Disruptions Cause Checkerboard List of Wins and Losses

Vandals Finish Strong In Coast Title Race; Nedros Leads Team in Scoring

(By "Bud" Alford)

The final conference basketball game of the year with Washington State college has been definitely cancelled and the Idaho Vandals have closed the 1925-26 basketball season, leaving behind them a mottled record of wins and losses which belittles a powerful basketball team. The Vandals finished in third place in the northern half of the coast conference and defeated every college team in the northwest at least once, excepting the championship University of Oregon quintet.

Persistent injuries, illness and other disruptions shattered the Idaho team time after time until near the end of the season. Once at full strength the Vandals eclipsed every team on the schedule and were in a commanding position for second place when the W. S. C. game was postponed.

The Vandals won 16 of 26 games, played and made 742 points to 588 scored by opponents. Six of these defeats were by non-conference teams.

Tour Successful

The barnstorming season was a successful one, Idaho whipping the Spokane Athletic club, Kellogg town team, twice the Coeur d'Alene Elks, Cheney normal and Montana State college by decisive scores, losing a tight five-game series to Leavenworth, 3 games to 2, and splitting a two game series with Cheney normal. Walt Remer and Bus Canine were out of most of the pre-conference battles, but the team was at full strength for the opening coast game with the University of Montana, which the Vandals won, 19 to 18. Oregon won the next game conclusively, 34 to 24.

Coast Trip Disastrous

The Vandal's coast trip, one of the most grueling and longest ever attempted by an Idaho club, was a disastrous one, and Idaho lost games to Oregon, O. A. C., Whitman, Montana and Gonzaga and won from Washington and Washington State college. Illness prevented Eddie Nedros, ace forward, from playing in most of the games of this invasion and the rest of the squad was in a battered condition. "Liet" Erickson, veteran center, came out in suit at this period for the first time since receiving a football injury, but was never in shape to play the flashy brand of ball he did the preceding season.

Back home, with all of the squad members in condition, the Vandals finally hit their stride. Following their 27-24 win from the Cougars the (Continued on page six)

The Proposal to Revise the A. S. U. I. Constitution

The A. S. U. I. constitution adopted last year has proved decidedly successful in many ways. The chief purpose of the new system, that of centralizing A. S. U. I. affairs in a central executive body for efficiency, has been admirably served. But it is only natural that a document of this kind could not anticipate all the situations which would arise in the many departments. And as better ways of running different departments are found through experience, it becomes necessary to make changes in details of the original constitution.

Such is the situation now. Questions have arisen in all departments. An executive board committee has been working with the athletic department on a new system of athletic managers, the old one having proven unsatisfactory. The question has been raised as to whether stock judging, glee clubs, the Blue Bucket and debate should be departments of the A. S. U. I. The lack of competent methods in choosing the business managers and editors of The Argonaut and Gem of the Mountains has been criticized. Numerous details of awards and minor sports managers and appointments have not been sufficiently cared for in many instances.

A general revision of the present constitution and by laws is advisable now, after a year's experience has brought to light some of the additions and changes necessary. The present executive board has acted in many instances without precedent and the gaps in by law details have been well carried for by its judicious action. It has taken up with the administration many points of misunderstanding between the student body and the university departments and many difficulties have been successfully ironed out. Thus the idea of an executive board with administrative powers, the basic idea of the new constitution, has been justified. If the necessary changes in detail are made now, the A. S. U. I. will have a system of student administration which favors progress and efficiency.

Congratulations to the Freshmen A Live Crowd

After a period of inaction the freshmen have dispelled any doubt as to their feeling toward their university by voluntarily voting to assess themselves ten dollars each for the memorial gym fund. Besides taking this action at one of the liveliest class meetings ever held here they made plans for a dance, a picnic, and a class mixer. Any questions anyone has raised about the attitude of the class of '29 have been very definitely and successfully answered. With such a spirit, the future of the school is well cared for as far as this class is concerned. Every indication is that a new gymnasium will be a reality on the campus within two years and the freshmen are doing their share willingly.

It is gratifying to see that the views expressed by "A Freshman Dad" in the safety valve are not held by any "Freshman Sons or Daughters." The letter, unsigned, was received by The Argonaut yesterday. If the attitude it expresses were representative of Idaho students, the university would be a poor school indeed. The arguments it advances fail to take any account of that all important thing—school loyalty.

Two men sauntered out of the Ad building this morning and stood for a moment on the steps. An ugly brown streak was soon added to the hundreds already on the sandstone facing of the building, testifying that another match had been scratched there. It was a dirty mark that will stick until time and other scratches obliterate it. The men stood chatting for a few moments. They tossed the half-smoked cigarettes on the walk in front of the steps, which already looked like the area around a sawdust box in a country store. A little thoughtfulness on the part of the students and a little box, which the janitor would gladly place there if those students would use it, would be showing a little of Idaho spirit—F. W. L.

Y.M.C.A. ELECTION DECIDES OFFICERS FOR COAST MEET

Nominations for the officers of the Y. M. C. A. have been made, according to an announcement by Ray Currie, chairman of the nominations committee. The election is to be held in the "U" hut, Tuesday evening at 7:15, March 16.

The four officers elected will attend the student officers training conference at Portland, March 27 and 28. This is the first northwestern conference, taking the place of district gatherings which have been held in previous years. It includes the colleges and universities of the northwestern states.

Those nominated are as follows: President, James Cromwell, Francis Eldridge, vice president; James K. Allen, George Ross secretary; Clarence Jenks, Levi Frost, treasurer; Irving Selby, Wayne Snook.

Not only convenient, but always satisfactory—Idaho Barber Shop.

Cold is Incurable Disease at Present

That colds are incurable is the deduction of a professor of the zoology department. "Medical authorities and contemporary scientists have conducted researches and investigations in this field for years, but a cure for colds cannot be found without first discovering the cause," says the scientist.

The discovery of a remedy for this common malady would constitute the greatest achievement in medicine. Its great value would lie in the fact that the remedy would benefit all humanity, he continues. Medicine has no curable effect on the disease, nor can it be proved that it is even a check on the malady.

At last the Charleston has an excuse for being. It is being taught to O.A.C. basketball men by their coach to prevent flat feet and fallen arches. He uses it daily in their exercises.

UNPOPULAR OPINION

Blaine Stubblefield

Americans bend the knee to gold coin and heroes. Let the worst kind of a skallawag inherit a sizable fortune, and in less than a week we flood him with deckle-edge invitations, to park his Pierce Arrow at our curb and guzzle tea with our daughters. If we discover that he is the same fellow we caught stealing shirts off our clothes line a month ago, it makes no difference.

Then there are those historic heroes. We start giving our children hero-pepto as soon as they can read Papa Loves Mamma, and most of them never get over it. I for one have to think twice yet, to be sure whether George Washington, Daniel Boone, Meriwether Lewis, and Peter J. DeSmet were burning with desire to assist their fellow men, or whether they were working hard for themselves, like the rest of us are.

We recognize all these fellows as high grade stuff, and we appreciate the services they rendered, but why de-humanize them? They deserve no credit at all for being better men than we are. They were born that way. Their acts were the outgrowths of their natures. There was just one way for them to fit comfortably into the scheme of things, and that was by doing what they did. The idea that they were stricken with a longing to serve others is all tosh.

If the great Washington could come back and read all the volumes of nonsense that have been written about him, I think he would shake with laughter.

Red Grange is, in one way, a better man than you or I, but that is not our fault or his glory. He was no more of a hero when he played football for Illinois than he is now, playing for a mad of greenbacks. A man may be able to run faster than I can but I do not worship him or have any special regard for him. A Jersey cow in the prime of life can outrun most of us but we do her no honor at all. Charley Paddock, as he flies over the cinder, is no more of a hero than I am, pounding on this miserable typewriter.

Julius Caesar, controlling the world with his giant intellect, and spilling his blood at Pompey's base, did it no more for the love of Rome than I am trying to fill up the Argonaut because I love the editor. His one and only interest was Mr. J. Caesar. He was finding an outlet for his unusual power—striving to put the forces within him at a comfortable balance. The yegg who steals your silver ware is doing the same thing. Neither of them deserve any more reverence than a hen does for laying an egg.

A little thought at once points out the absurdity of heroizing the "winners of the west." Why bewail such fellows as Pike, Clark, Whitman, Spalding, and McLoughlin, simply because they happened to be spirited men that wanted to live their lives? Did they care whether Seattle and Portland ever poured their coal smoke into the blue sky? Not by a jug full.

The Safety Valve

To The Editor:

Dear Sir: I read your paper at times, because my son brings it home. I note what you said editorially, and what the "Safety Valve" writer said about the gym affair. If any 'Freshman' wants to pay $10 to the gym fund, well and good; no one may reasonably object, if the moneys so given are the freshman's own capital. I'd like to warn the Freshman class against making it compulsory by ever so large a majority vote, or to take the money out of the general deposit fund. Some of us "dads" might object to such procedure. If the legislature of the state of Idaho passes a law levying a tax of $10 per student for building a gymnasium, it would have to be paid, I suppose.

I rather believe their is a trifle too much maudlin sentimentality apparent in this matter. To Halifax with precedent of the kind mentioned in your paper.

"A Freshman Dad."

WHAT IS COLLEGIATE?

Well folks this is almost as deep as the fourth dimension. Just what is collegiate? I've gone over the matter a great deal and to date have arrived at no satisfactory conclusion. I have formulated definition after definition and none of them seems to quite fill the bill. What is it the college student of today stand out from all other people? Is it his "plus fours" and gay sweater? Is it his formality and love of social correctness or is it his "slangwise," and exaggerated way of stating his ideas? To all of these I say "No." While all of these things have a part in making the term, "Collegiate" they do not adequately define it. But wait, we have come to a concrete clue—Ideas. Now we begin to get at the bottom of the affair. Ideas. What are a college student's ideas? What does he think of and how does he think of it? This can best be gotten at, I think, thru a collective description of the individuals.

The average college student is a happy-go-lucky sort of individual who conceals his worries and difficulties under a mask of half-fellow-well-met jollity. He has an exaggerated regard for the latest and most extreme styles. He spends time and money freely while they last and is not one whit dismayed when the supply falls. Being broke is the least and commonest of his troubles. He gambles lightly as he loves but with a seriousness that lends the appearance of great worldly wisdom. He is a great and persistent preparator. He works quite intensively when the occasion seems to demand it. However he does his best to hide his labor and present an appearance of great indolence. He is usually thoughtful about trivial matters. He is selfish too in a way in that he is continually on the lookout for something new to amuse and interest him. His idea of life seems to be rather well expressed in the phrase, "Dum Vivimus Vivamos," "Let us live while we live."

His love might very aptly be stated thus, "Let us live while we may, and seize this love with laughter; for I'll be true as long as you, and not a moment after."

Now after this discussion, what conclusions may we draw? Well, to be truthful, none of any value or importance. This we have discovered though; the average college student of today is a person with a joy-of-living complex. But you ask, "What is collegiate; What does it mean?" Figure it out for yourself, I don't know.—B. L.

When you and spring are thrilling to the opening game of the year—and your favorite player drives out a homer—as the stands rock with cheering—have a Camel!

When the first ball game is here. And the heavy hitter cracks the ball shrieking into deep center for a home run—have a Camel!

For Camel adds the magic of its own fragrance to life's most festive days. Camels are of such choice tobaccos that they never tire the taste or leave a cigarette after-taste. You'll get more contentment, more pleasure out of Camels than any other cigarette.

So this fair spring day as a redoubtable batter lofts out one that it seems will never stop flying—oh, then, taste the smoke that means completed enchantment.

Have a Camel!

Into the making of this one cigarette goes all of the ability of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men. Nothing is too good for Camels. The choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. The most skillful blending. The most scientific package. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No better cigarette can be made. Camels are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price. R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company Winston-Salem, N. C.

GLEE CLUBS SING HERE MARCH 26-27

Stunts and Classic Numbers
Planned for Two-Night
Stand

The University of Idaho Glee club will appear in concert Friday and Saturday evenings, March 26-27, in the university auditorium. No charge will be made to holders of A. S. U. I. tickets. "We guarantee to more than satisfy the audiences," says manager Ray Currie, voicing the opinion of the club. A snappy, comical classical program, interspersed with clever stunts, is rounding into perfection, according to the director E. O. Bangs.

The concert is divided into five groups of songs and stunts. The first group, by the entire club, is composed of two songs: "Alma Mater" and "Waters of Minnetonka."

The second group has three features: "The Love Call," sung by Alice Ross, soprano, and assisted by Forest Brigham, tenor; a dance contrasting flappers and old-fashioned girls, conducted by Miss Jacobson and Miss Cowan of the physical education department; and "Mounties," a tragedy of the Northwest Mounted Police, starring Edwin Siggins, baritone, as the fugitive.

Three songs make up the third group: "Cargoes," "The Celtic Hymn," a pretty ballad of the sea, and "Ahala," a funny story in song about a man, and a maid, and a kiss.

Male Quartette Featured

The male quartette is featured in the fourth group with "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" and "Katinka." The male quartette, Norman Luvas, Paul Kitto, Forest Brigham and Howard Knight will present a little harmony in late song hits and clever bits in "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers." "Katinka" is a Russian song and dance by Lela Timm, Dolly Flemming and Edwin Siggins.

The last group is by the assembled clubs. They will sing "Lamb," a negro spiritual; "Echo," a delicate impressive ballad with a mixed quartette as the echo. The grand finale will be "Let Their Celestial Concerts All Unite," by Handel. It displays harmony, vocal technique and power, reaching a great climax.

In addition to this program there are a number of excellent encores. In one of the most prominent encores Paul Kitto, baritone, takes the lead in "To Hell With Burgundie" and in "Oh Carolina."

HEALTH SITUATION GREATLY IMPROVED

Miss Bennett Improving;
Now New Meningitis
Cases Reported

No one is suspected or is under quarantine now because of spinal meningitis, according to Miss June Andrews, nurse in charge of the infirmary. Miss Evangeline Bennett who has been in the infirmary with the disease is reported to be improving. There is one case of mumps, Miss Ruth Eldridge of Boise. There is less influenza this week. Miss Andrews said.

The ban has been lifted on dancing for this week-end, said Dean J. G. Eldridge.

There are 10 cases of spinal meningitis in Idaho and the disease is prevalent over the northwest, according to a story in the Spokesman-Review.

Meningitis is prevalent over a greater part of the northwest, it was announced at the Idaho state department of public welfare, which has correspondence reporting the disease in Washington state and other parts of the northwest.

Department records also show that Idaho's cases are not confined to Moscow, the university seat.

Each week Dr. R. M. Fouch, medical director, furnishes the United States public health service with a summary of the contagious diseases reported in the state. For the week ending March 6, 10 cases were reported in Idaho, as follows:

Wallace, 1; Pocatello, 2; Idaho Falls, 2; Hayden Lake, 2; Post Falls, 2; American Falls, 1. Other diseases were diphtheria, 5; typhoid fever, 1; scarlet fever, 10; smallpox, 9; chickenpox, 14; whooping cough, 12; measles, 4; mumps, 12; influenza, 2; and erysipelas, 1.

Lamont Johnson, now a junior at the University of Kansas, holds the 1925 collegiate record for the longest drop-kick for field goal with a boot of 55 yards. ELEVEN MAKE ALL "A" LAST SEMESTER

Five Seniors, Four Juniors,
One Frosh, One Soph
on List

Eleven students in the University of Idaho made straight A grades during the first semester, according to announcement from the registrar's office. Five of the 11 are seniors, four are juniors, and the freshman and sophomore classes are represented on the honor roll by one member each.

Winners of the high scholastic honor follow:

Seniors—Warren Huntington Bolles, Moscow; Maurene Chenoweth, Moscow; Phoebe Sheldon, Moscow; Charles Witt Telford, Idaho Falls; Ruth M. Aspray, Moscow.

Juniors—Jess Everett Buchanan, Spokane; Francis Glover Eldridge, Moscow; Farnsworth LeRoy Jennings, Craigmont; Marjorie Darlene Simpson, Moscow.

Freshman—Helen Dorothy Peshak, Boise.

The college of letters and science claims eight of the total number, and the school of education, the school of forestry and the college of engineering are represented by one student each. Miss Aspray, Miss Campbell, Miss Chenoweth, Miss Simpson, Mr. Eldridge and Mr. Jennings are studying for the degree of bachelor of arts from the college of letters and science. Mr. Bolles is a senior in the school of forestry, Mr. Buchanan is a junior in civil engineering, and Mr. Telford is majoring in education.

The University of Pennsylvania's new basketball court will have a seating capacity of 10,000.

Johns Hopkins is importing 20 persons from the Himalya mountains to be used in the study of evolution.

INTRA-MURAL CUPS OKEHEH BY BOARD

Jesse Buchanan and Sidney
Yager Named Members on Discipline Committee

Sidney Yager, A.S.U.I. vice president, and Jess Buchanan, junior man on the executive board, were named as student representatives on the discipline committee for the remainder of the year by the executive board Wednesday night. There was some discussion as to whether or not the appointments should be made from the student body at large or from the board but it was decided to appoint the two named because Professor Gill, chairman of the discipline committee, had suggested that it would be advisable to have one junior representative so that he might serve two years, the experience of one year being desirable.

Pick Intra-Mural Cups

The committee to investigate awarding a trophy for intra-mural sports recommended that a cup of the design it had picked, be given the winner in each intra-mural sport, the trophy to become the permanent possession of the group winning it three consecutive years. The board accepted the suggestion and decided that the sports for which awards would be given would be basketball, baseball, track, and tennis. The committee was asked to draw up a set of rules to govern intra-mural competition.

The list of athletic awards made since last spring was presented for the approval of the board. There were several sweater awards which appeared to be unauthorized and the matter was tabled for further investigation.

Glee Club and Knights Aided
Ray Currie, manager of the glee club, told the board that the club was repairing a program to be given in the auditorium March 26 and 27. He said the program was to be partly classic with a few stunts and popular numbers. To cover the rental for the auditorium and the cost of programs he asked $75 from the A.S.U.I. in as much as there is to be no admission charge for the program.

Mac Hardwick, duke of the Inter-collegiate Knight chapter, asked for $75 to send a representative to the national convention at Seattle in May which was granted.

Leadership

Leadership is measured by service.

For nearly a century and a quarter, the du Pont name has signified leadership in explosives manufacture on this continent.

Paralleling the rapid growth of American industry, the du Pont Company has developed explosives to meet new needs and solve new problems that industry might be served.

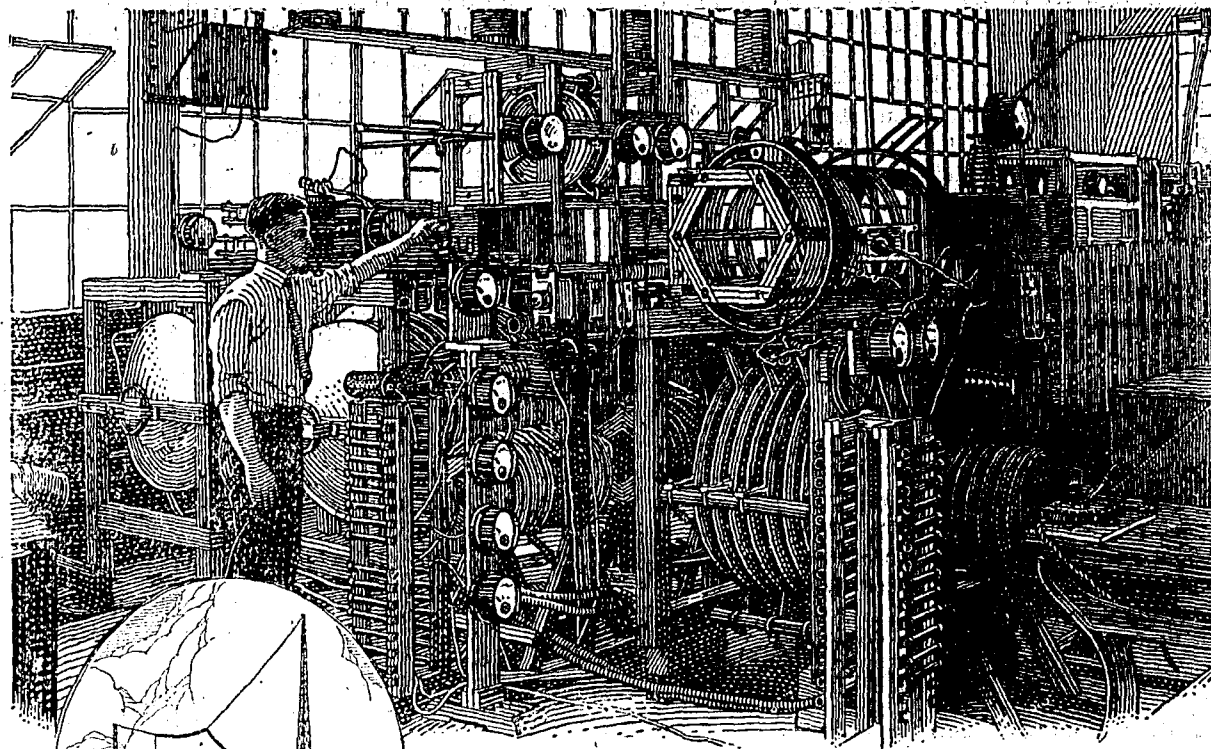

Practical and authoritative information on modern explosives is embodied in the "Blasters' Handbook"—now used by instructors and students in many leading technical institutions throughout the country. A copy will be sent free upon request.

123 YEARS OF LEADERSHIP
IN THE SERVICE OF INDUSTRY

One of the power amplifier stages of the world's first super-power transmitter

The World's Loudest Voice

On the rolling plains of South Schenectady, in several scattered buildings, is a vast laboratory for studying radio broadcasting problems. Gathered here are many kinds and sizes of transmitters, from the short-wave and low-power sets to the giant super-power unit with a 50- to 250-kilowatt voice.

Super-power and simultaneous broadcasting on several wave lengths from the same station are among the startling later-day developments in radio. And even with hundreds of broadcasting stations daily on the air throughout the land, these latest developments stand for still better service to millions of listeners.

Only five years old, yet radio broadcasting has developed from a laboratory experiment into a mighty industry. And alert, keen young men have reaped the rewards.

But history repeats itself. Other electrical developments will continue to appear. And it will be the college man, with broad vision and trained mind, who will be ready to serve and succeed.

From the studio of WGY in Schenectady, six miles from the developmental station, there may be controlled a great number of transmitters, one of which is the first super-power transmitter in the world. WGY, together with its associates, KOA of Denver and KGO of Oakland, is the General Electric Company's assurance to the American public that radio broadcasting shall be maintained upon the highest standards.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

FRESHMEN TO MAKE $10 GYM DONATION

Measure Carried By Large Vote; Smith Names Committees

The class of '29 went "over the top" in voting a $10 assessment for the memorial gymnasium fund at a meeting in the auditorium Wednesday night. The measure carried by an overwhelming majority on the second ballot after strong opposition had appeared in the first.

Irving Smith, newly elected class president introduced Emil Strobeck, president of the A. S. U. I., who told of the contributions of preceding classes. Strobeck urged that the class follow the precedents set by former classes.

"The drive to raise funds to commence work on this building is under way in many counties of Idaho," he said. The latest reports received by us are showing that this worthy cause is going over the top—as those who we will honor and cherish the memory of in the gymnasium went over the top in the days of 1917 and 1918. It is for this class to maintain a custom that should appeal to the largest class in the history of the university."

Program is Outlined

May 7, is the date set for the annual frosh glee and May 23, the freshman mixed. Both will be held in the gymnasium, according to Rose Regan, general chairman of entertainment.

"A tentative date has been chosen for the freshman picnic and hike," said Miss Regan. "It is essential that all members of the class attend the hike, the frolic, and the mixer so that the class of '29 will be the largest and most cooperative in the history of this school."

Glee Committees Named

Committees for the freshman glee were named by Smith at the meeting. The first person named will act as chairman. Committees appointed as follows:

Floor, George Rice, Nick Carter, Wilbur Yeardsley, Elmer Zuckweiler, Howard Stephens, Rod Ross; music and programs, Jean Emerson, "String" Ferlindine, Lyle Scott; Decorations, Estelle Pickrell, Alice Kelly, Oscar Brown, Lambert Cannon; Entertainment, Paul Kitto, Helen Wann; punch, Irene Simon, Alice Waldrop; finance, Marguerite Ward, M. Sargent.

SALARIES TOO LOW

That increased salaries and definitely higher teaching standards will prevent the astonishingly large "turn-over" of teachers with which Idaho school executives are confronted each year, was the opinion expressed by G. O. Kildow, superintendent of schools at Worley, in an address before a recent meeting of the Kootenai county teachers' association. District Judge W. F. McNaughton, speaking before the same gathering, called attention to the fact that both teachers and other public servants have failed to obtain salary adjustments commensurate with the apparently permanent increase in living expenses which followed the World War.

MISSIONARY WORK DISCUSSED AT "U" HUT

Non-Denominational Meeting Open to All Interested Students

Twelve young people of the university met in the "U" hut last Wednesday for the first "class" is missionary work. Carol DuBois and Arcadio Arcaiga were the leaders. Two chapters are discussed at each meeting.

The book, entitled, "Whither Bound in Missions," by Daniel J. Fleming, is a study of the problems of the missionary both in the United States and foreign fields. It also discusses the difficulties that the missionary encounters.

Such topics as "The West as Part of the Non-Christian World," "Fruit; the Most Effective Apologetic," "God's Hand in Other Faiths," "The Combination of Conviction and Teachableness," "The Occupation of New Continents," "Facing the Handicap of a Divided Church," Giving Way to Nationalism, are to be the subjects of discussion.

The group in non-denominational is open to everyone. It lasts for six weeks, two chapters being taken at a meeting. The meetings are held in the office of secretary of religious work in the "U" hut on Wednesday afternoons at 4:30. Due to the artist course number next Wednesday, the group will not meet until a week later.

Arcadio Arcaiga, chairman of the missionary committee of the Y. M. C. A., cordially invites the attendance of any student who is interested in missionary study.

A fourteen-story student building is being constructed on the campus of Columbia university. It will accommodate 5000 students.

Priest, well known alumnus from Boise, arrived in Moscow yesterday to spend a week in the interest of the memorial gym drive and to attend a convention of Beta Theta Pi of which he is an officer, at Pullman next week. Mr. Priest was editor of The Argonaut in 1916-17 and was one of the founders of the English club. He is best known at the university for his annual pep talk before the W. S. C.-Idaho football game.

GRIDIRON BANQUET SET FOR APRIL 13

Reporters Busy Delving Into Pasts of Faculty Members

Because of unexpected and startling revelations which will make preparations more difficult and more lengthy, the date of the first annual gridiron banquet has been changed from April 1 to April 13, it was announced yesterday by Wallace C. Brown. Mr. Brown is president of the Society of the Gridironers, otherwise known as Delta Sigma, the University Press club.

Reporters of the club have been busy during the past month delving into the pasts of the faculty's and town's most prominent personages. They have confined their delving to the behaviour of these men within the last year but they report that in that brief period the volume of misdemeanors and faux pas has been so great that thorough research cannot be completed by April 1.

By bringing the shortcomings of those who are prominent enough to have gained the notice of the society, to their personal attention on the night of the banquet, the Gridironers, according to Mr. Brown, hope to better living conditions in the city and on the campus during the coming twelve months. At the end of the this probation period the treatment will be repeated.

Invitations to the affair are now being printed and will be mailed within the next few days. It is a tradition of gridiron banquets, which are now staked by practically every important university and college in the country, that declining of an invitation bars the individual from attendance at all future banquets, unless a satisfactory excuse accompanies the refusal.

The gridiron banquet idea was initiated by the Press club of Washington, D. C., where it has been an annual event for many years. At the capitol function, all notables from President Coolidge down are good naturedly raked over the coals by the scribes. An unbroken law of the banquets, however, is that intimate details of the roasting are not made public. None of the program except that which is given out by the roastees themselves, goes beyond the banquet walls.

PHONE MEN AFTER UNIVERSITY TALENT

Company Will Train Forty Seniors Annually; Seven Schools Visited

Approximately 40 seniors taking engineering and business at colleges and universities in Idaho, Washington, Oregon, and Montana are selected annually to fill responsible positions with the Bell Telephone company, according to C. E. Mong, in charge of a party visiting the Idaho campus in the interests of the Bell system.

Seven colleges and universities are visited each year by these men who interview the seniors and the heads of departments in engineering and business in order to get a basis for selection. The schools visited are Universities of Idaho, Washington, and Oregon, and Oregon Agricultural college, Washington State college, Whitman college and Reed college.

"Our purpose is to bring to interested college graduates a picture of our business and the opportunities it offers," said Mr. Mong. "We believe that the coming executives of great businesses and industries must be secured from colleges and universities and then trained for jobs."

For more than six years the Bell Telephone company has maintained a corps of trained men to scour the country for qualified college graduates who wish to enter such business training as they offer. Idaho seniors in the college of engineering and the school of business are being considered by these men.

Other visiting Bell Telephone representatives are R. C. Dillingham, J. E. McCarthy, both of Seattle, and Fred Yeager, Spokane.

RIGOLETTO RECORDS PLAYED AT ASSEMBLY

Bangs Speaks About Opera Music; Cushman Gives Outline of Plot

Selections from the opera "Rigoletto," which will be given next Wednesday afternoon by the San Carlo company, were heard in assembly last Wednesday. A Brunswick pantascopie was used, which amplified the music so that it could be heard all over the auditorium, making the use of the phonograph better than home talent by reason of its versatility.

Bangs Tells of Music

Professor Orlo Bangs spoke of the musical composition of the opera. He said that "Rigoletto" is the type of music that was used in Italian street songs 50 year ago. In this connection, he said that popular music has always been put into operas, and that as Jazz is popular music, it is not against the principles of writing operas today to include jazz.

Professor John H. Cushman told of the plot, which is very simple and sordid. It was first written by Victor Hugo as a play entitled "The King's Amusement." As kings were not supposed to have such amusement, according to Mr. Cushman, the play was suppressed, and when the opera was written, the king was changed to a duke.

The plot centers around the evil deeds of the Duke and Rigoletto, and his final downfall in the loss of his daughter, Gilda.

Four Records Played

Four records were played: "This One or That One," which in the first act reveals the fickle disposition of the Duke, was played first. "Cara Nome," which is sung by Gilda, was heard in the second act. The third act contributes "The Vile Grace of Courtiers," but this record was unavailable. In the last act, two of the favorite selections were given, "Fickle is Woman Fair," sung by the Duke, and the famous quartet, which ranks in general favor with the "Sextette from Lucia." This was sung by the Duke, Madeline, Gilda, and Rigoletto.

ROMEO AND JULIET TO LEAVE CAMPUS

Inland Empire Teachers' Association to See Idaho Actors in Spokane

Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," scheduled for presentation by the A. S. U. I. during the first two weeks in April, will also be given in Spokane in April before the Inland Empire Teachers' association, according to announcement by university authorities today. The Spokane engagement which results from an invitation of the committee in charge of the association program, was accepted as a laboratory demonstration of play production methods in colleges and secondary schools. This presentation is designed to make clear how plays may best be produced in colleges and high schools without going outside the institution itself either for acting talent or production materials.

What is of primary importance in the Spokane showing is that the coaching, arrangement of the script, staging, costumes and acting will be done entirely by University of Idaho people. The Spokane engagement of "Romeo and Juliet" will also be of interest—in that it will demonstrate a new method of shakespearean production wherein emphasis is laid upon color in costumes and settings, economy and rapidity of action, and absolute clarity of line.

The Spokane production of "Romeo and Juliet" will be the University of Idaho's second contribution to the association's dramatic program. In 1923 Mr. Cushman presented Lord Dunsany's "If," starring Pearl Stalker, Abe Goff and Maxwell Scholes. Miss Mary Kelly, who also took a part in "If," will play Lady Capulet in "Romeo and Juliet."

The play will be given in the auditorium of the Lewis and Clark high school.

CALIFORNIA SCHOLARSHIP HIGH

University of California—March 8, Scholarship averages of sororities and women's house clubs showed a higher percentage for the past semester than for the preceding spring term. The general scholarship record for the semester August to December 1925 was 1.4300, a gain of .115 over the previous semester. Forty organizations and clubs were given ratings, with 21 of them exceeding the general average. Newegita leads the list with an average of 1.7243 followed by Alpha Phi, Kilane, Redevia, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Omicron Pi and Chi Omega.

FRATERNITIES JOIN TO SPONSOR "BIZAD" DANCE

Pi Beta Gamma and Alpha Kappa Psi, men and women's professional business fraternities will join to stage a "Bizad" dance at the Blue Bucket Inn March 13. Special favors will be given out during the dancing, it has been announced. Tickets have been placed on sale and can be obtained from members of Alpha Kappa Psi. A campus orchestra will furnish the music. The dance will be informal and an all-college affair.

NOTED COLUMNIST SPRINGS NEW BOOK

Stoddard King Talks on "How to Write Light Verse"

(By Wallace C. Brown)
More than 150 persons crowded the "U" hut to hear Stoddard King of "Facetious Fragments" fame, last night. Mr. King talked, informally and very whimsically, on "How to write verse of varying degrees of lightness." He punctuated his talk with many excellent examples of light verse taken from his own collection—recently published under the title: "What the Queen Did, and Other Facetious Fragments."

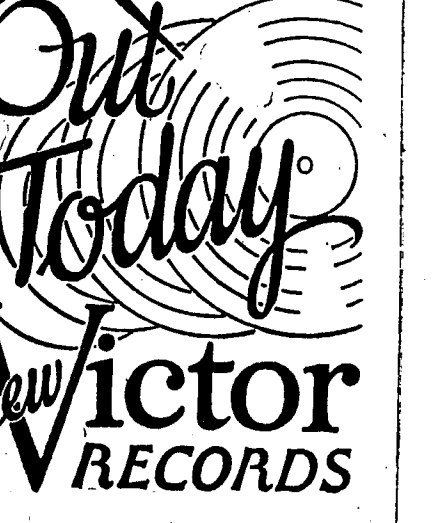

In the instance last night what the King did was more interesting than his "Queen," although she alone would command more than passing attention even though deprived of Mr. King's entertaining personality. The occasion of S. K.'s appearance on the Idaho campus was an English club program at which Mr. King was guest and chief speaker. English club members and their friends comprised the audience.

"What the Queen Did, and Other Facetious Fragments" was intensely interesting. The book arrived at Mr. King's office in the Spokesman-Review building at Spokane only a few days ago. When Mr. King reported himself the proud parent of a rollicking new book, the city was agog, and later relieved and happy to learn that "all concerned were doing nicely."

The audience last night was highly appreciative, and frequently rippled with applause and laughter at Mr. King's readings of the verse written so delightfully in his inimitable style. S. K. expressed himself delighted at the reception given him after the four years since he was on the Idaho campus before.

"Members and friends of the English club are grateful for Mr. King's appearance in the entertaining guise of a lecturer on an English club program," declared W. C. Brown, president. "We hope never again to permit such an unforgivable lapse of time until he is invited once more to the Idaho campus."

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA HAS UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT

University of California, Southern Branch—Sponsored by the past president of the University of California Alumni association in Los Angeles, an innovation in student organizations is being made on this campus. In the nature of a student lunch club, modeled after well-known national organizations such as Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions and other business men's clubs, a series of ten luncheons will be given—one a week—in the Y. M. C. A. banquet room for students in university affairs.

Present and past class presidents were invited as guests of the club for the first luncheon. A former student body officer acted in the capacity of toastmaster.

A "Common People's Ball" is held the same evening as the junior prom. It is a sort of take off on the more formal dance. It is patronized by people who want to "wear their own clothes" and who prefer cheaper admission.

Eighteen boys' teams and 11 girls' teams will enter a state high school basketball tournament at the University of Nevada this week.

EJECTIONS

The big topic now seems to be that we are again nearing the time for the six week quizzes. What a bore they are. We seldom get farther than a partial rejuvenation from the last quizzes when we are confronted with some more such bunk. I tell you we don't run things right.

The main objection to those infernal quizzes is that they are abso-lute-ly the most unfair test of ones capacity, both mental and physical. In the first place, before the quiz you are partly in one place and partly in another and when you come to the reality of having to assemble yourself you find on checking up that you aren't anywhere in particular. In fact you are between the land of fear and the land of dreams, or in other words you arn't on land at all.

I have always thought that there was something "fishy" about me, but since we have opened the Nat "under the auspices of" the A. S. U. I, I am beginning to grasp the conclusion that I am not the only one inclined that way.

Again I must change my ponderous mind. I was beginning to think that the days when the human body would risk its preciousness for the terribly destructive chemical action of that substance known as H₂O were fast becoming but the remarkable events in the annals of history. But alas, 'tis not so. 'Be as civilised as we might we cannot overcome that old 'ingrown instinct' to frequent the ol' swimmin' hole or, better said, the natatorium, for fear we might offend the dignitaries.

A fine lot of students we have here—or am I justified in referring to those whom I mean as such—or should I characterize them as some of the equipment of the dairy department of the University. Anyway here is what I was going to say about them. You know I have been admiring those rabbit-tight fences on either side of the campus between the Ad and Science—until I comprehend their meaning. So serious is the matter that one could scarcely laugh at it. How ingenious of one to go to the extent of putting "chicken-wire" in such a place—we must admit it is "very appropriate to the occasion."

And by the way, speaking of chickens makes me think of a letter I got from home yesterday. Ma was telling me about everything that happened in town. She said that Pa had put a new fence around the lawn, and that he had torn the old chicken fence out because he knew that since I was gone he wouldn't need that kind of a fence as all the "chickens" had stopped coming around with the expectation that I might throw them some of the leavings and rubbish. Dear old Pa, he's so thoughtful.

Say, Freshmen, what do you say to putting off March 17 for awhile. Anyway, noble members of the Class of '29 you have the consolation of knowing that you have alternatives to choose between: put off St. Patrick's day or put on the little green dink—but follows you will have to choose pretty soon, so I advise you to overhaul your green head apparel, and avoid the rush. But boys I might give you some consolation—Old Fat was fired as executioner with the ending of the last fiscal year, June 1, 1925. Dear Old Fat, there will never be another like him.

DEATH WARRANT GETS 600 SIGNERS

University of California, March 8.—More than 600 students signed their own death warrant when they signed a bogus petition circulated last Friday that ostensibly had to do with the granting of a holiday. The death warrant consisted of a demand "that we be drawn and quartered on Wheeler steps if this request for a holiday the Monday before Charter Day is not granted" buried in the body of the petition. Only six students read the document carefully enough to detect the hoax.

POULTRY SHORT COURSE SUCCESS

Members of Class Express Appreciation of Practical Training Received

The first annual poultry short course at the University of Idaho closed Saturday. The course attracted some 25 students, and was found to be both practical and intensely interesting to those interested in poultry work.

At a meeting Saturday of those who who took the course, the following resolutions of appreciation were adopted:

"Resolved, That we, the members of the first annual poultry short course at the University of Idaho, in appreciation of the extraordinary interest shown toward us by all instructors connected with course—Professor R. T. Parkhurst, Mr. Sugg, Mr. Van, Dr. Taylor and Professor M. R. Lewis—herewith extend to them our sincere thanks. They have not only gone the legal mile with us, but have very willingly gone the second.

"Furthermore, we wish to commend the university and the State of Idaho for instituting such a course, making poultry education available to the citizens of the state

"We wish fully to recommend this course as being practical, highly instructive and intensely interesting to all persons concerned in poultry work."

Kioty Swamped With Offers of "Fine" Jobs

Well ma, I am going to graduate now pretty soon I hope and am beginning to have jobs offered to me. A firm in Spokane has offered for to let me run a street car at 80% per mo. and another outfit wants to appoint me as information director in a tourist park to tell the tourists how to leave town. Also, Armour's and company back east wants to give me the job of letting hot lard run into the lard buckets, you know turning it off and on, and I get my lard at cost. The school over at Jack Pine, Idaho, wants me for president, dean of the let'ters and compliance, bursar, register, and teaching staff—also head of the Eng. dept. all for 98¢ and 98c per mo. with room and board. The Du Pont dynamite company wrote me they needed a good B. A. man and they was a fine chance to rise. Also am wanted for cutting up in a butcher shop. The Eng. dept. of one school that wanted to hire me sent me a mental test which said "The man sat on the train and his feet drug." Who wrote that? they ask me. And I said it must of ben Longfellow and never heard from them no more.

A fellow in New York wrote that he wanted a secretary with a B. A. degree and was going to tour Europe on a motorcycle and would I join him. I wrote him that I wasn't going to put my B. A. on no motorcycle for nobody. So think I'll come back to the Bar and sheer sheep.

Your B. A. Son, Kioty Bill.

RULES MADE FOR STUDENT USE OF NEW SWIM POOL

Set Regulations For Protection and Sanitation at "Nat"

ONE HOUR MAXIMUM

Class Schedule Covers Five Afternoons of Instruction and Practice

Announcement of regulations and schedules to govern the use of the Natatorium was made yesterday from the department of physical education, in charge of the pool. The "Nat" is now open, and under the new arrangement, is available to students and to university employees and their families.

Classes for both men and women will be organized. One credit will be given and a laboratory fee of 50 cents will be charged those enrolling for instruction. In addition, all holders of A.S.U.I. tickets are privileged to free use of the pool at times designated in the schedules.

Employees of the university and their families may enjoy the recreational privileges of the "Nat" upon payment of the $2.50 fee for the season, March 1 to June 1. No children under 10 years of age will be admitted except when accompanied by an adult.

Suits and towels may be rented at the pool but students are urged to get suits of their own and to furnish their own towels.

Rules Are Strict

Strict rules regarding cleanliness and conduct will be enforced, according to the announcement of the opening. Any infraction of the regulations or any unseemly behavior may result in withdrawal of rights to use the pool. The following general tank rules are to be complied with:

(1) Students will be allowed in tank only one hour, (2) students must have a shower before entering, (3) spitting in tank is forbidden, (4) no one with bandages or tape on his person will be allowed in tank, (5) no one having a skin disease will be allowed to enter, (6) swimmers must leave tank promptly when time is up, (7) students may dive only from sides of tank and spring board and not from top-rail or balcony floor, (8) all girls must wear caps, (9) suits and towels should be furnished by swimmers if possible, and (10) rented suits and towels must be returned to attendant.

The weekly schedule of instructional periods follows:

MONDAY

10:00 to 11:00 A. M., open for girls, 11:00 to 11:45 A. M., beginner's class for girls, 2:00 to 2:45 A. M., advanced class for girls, 2:45 to 5:30 P. M., open for all students, 7:30 to 8:30 P. M., beginner's class for men.

FACULTY BUILD HOMES

Stanford University—The number of faculty homes on the Stanford campus has nearly doubled since 1920 with 41 new houses constructed. For the purpose of helping the faculty to construct homes on the campus, the Board of Trustees has set aside $250,000 to loan faculty members at five per cent for twenty-year periods.

Poets' Corner

My First Blind Date

The week went past and with keen dismay,
I awaited the approach of the fateful day
When I'd walk down the street, and with a last grand sigh
Knock at the door of the Lambda Psi.

My fears were in vain; my joy was unbound;
When I raised my eyes above the ground
To the pretty picture that was to be my date,
To the bundle of loveliness from her toe to her pate.

You know I could never get very well used
To the way in which formality suffers abuse,
With their hello spirit, smiles and such,
My blooming reserve doesn't amount to much.

But when I looked at my pretty date,
To change my ways, it was never too late,
So I offered my arm to the fair young Miss,
And we went away without remiss.

We sat down to dinner like everyone should,
And ate everything that anyone could,
We remained quite dignified and talked just so,
And arose exactly when it was time to go.

We went to the ball room, all prim and neat,
And danced most of the time on both our feet,
We tried the oldest, the latest, the best;
The Friscoe, the Bowery, the Ritz and the rest.

We danced all night on the glassy floor,
And when it was finished we wanted more,
We would swing to the left, dip and then swerve;
But to do the Charleston we didn't have nerve.

This game with women is very queer,
Sometimes I'd rather smoke or have a glass of beer,
But one thing is absolutely true,
I did not make love or kiss or coo.

At times I wonder, if I really had
Would it have been so very bad,
Would I have rated a sharp comment,
A slap or a snub or been held in contempt?

These questions aren't good for a healthy mind,
So I'll leave the blooming things behind;
I took my date to her very door,
And bid her good night, pleasant dreams and no more.

Then off to the house and then to bed,
And visions of sugar-plums danced in my head,
I thought of my date as well worth while,
The boys in the "Dorm" must have seen me smile.

The thoughts I thought, if I could but portray
Would have filled "Love Story," "True Romance," and "Broadway,"

I must have been bashful, but at any rate,
Perhaps I can get another date.
NEVER-THE-LESS
'Tis better to have loved and lost,
Than never to have loved at all.

Frosh to Celebrate "Wearing of the Green"

Freshmen of the Idaho campus must don green caps, stop cigarette smoking on the campus, and obey all other traditions, on March 17, according to the ruling of the "I" club. The rules laid down by the letter men will be strictly enforced after that date.

As March 17 is the traditional day for appearance of all green, in accordance to the lovers of the great Saint Patrick, the frosh ordinance will serve a double purpose for that day. Caps must be worn and smoking, except for the traditional frosh "cob" is absolutely banned.

Another ruling that may be enforced by the athletes is the custom of all frosh speaking to students on the campus. Tradition holds that all Idaho students say "Hello," in passing, and that freshmen always speak first. Miss Evangeline Bennett,

Hugo's Love Letters Sold At Auction

PARIS.—Fifteen thousand intimate love letters received by Victor Hugo from the most faithful of his women friends, Juliette Drouet, were sold by public auction at Paris recently for only 18,000 francs.

The sale, however, attracted much attention, since it was held at a moment when French literary circles are contemplating some sort of united action against what they feel is a flagrant abuse of the name and reputation of departed literary figures through the indiscriminate sale of their correspondence and papers.

Intimate details concerning the great French author are contained in the letters sold this afternoon, but the announcement of the French bookseller, who offered the letters, that he reserved all rights of publication, served to reduce the number of bids, the letters finally going for little more than a franc apiece.

Juliette Drouet poured forth her soul in many of the letters and revealed her intense jealousy over Victor Hugo's marked preference for the companionship of young girls. Juliette, at this period, was no longer young and therefore less beautiful.

"Y" SECRETARY IS VISITOR AT IDAHO

George Cole, Y.M.C.A. secretary of Washington, is on the campus today, March 12, interviewing prospective Seabeck delegates. He is making his headquarters in the office of secretary of religious work in the U hut.

A waffle iron, donated by a local firm, will be awarded to the student selling the most 25 cent tickets to be charged for a waffle and cup of coffee at the Y. W. C. A. all-university breakfast.

IDAHO LEAVES FREAK HOOP SEASON BEHIND

Idaho men tore loose on a wildfire run of victories and in turn defeated Washington 31 to 27, O. A. C., 23 to 14, Whitman, 41 to 23, and Gonzaga, 31 to 29.

Outlook Brilliant

On paper, the outlook for next year is brilliant. Neal Nelson, 3-year guard, will be the only man lost from this season's squad. Eddie Nedros and John Miles, nimble footed forward sharpshooters, Walter Remer and Ralph Erickson, centers, Glenn Jacoby, Walter Field, Bus Canine and Harold Lamphere, guards, Henry Canine and Art Dawald, guards or forwards, should all be back to participate in another season. George Greene, guard on the 1924-25 team and at present coach of the Culdesac high school, and a small army of capable frosh material will be on hand to reinforce the above squadron.

Eddie Nedros and John Miles, doughty forward team, did the lion's share of the Idaho basket shooting this season and top the individual scoring column. Each of them dropped 70 field goals, but Nedros converted 10 more free throws than Miles, and amassed 171 points to 161 for his teammate. Nedros, however, played in only 19 games, while Miles played in 25. "Nellie" Nelson, guard, was next in line with 44 field goals and 28 free throws, for 116 points. Total points scored by the other squad members were: Remer, 80; Jacoby, 75; Fields, 51; Bus Canine, 29; H. Canine, 19; Lamphere, 16; Dawald, 13; Erickson, 11.

Remer Accurate

Remer proved the most accurate of the free throw shooters, dropping 18 out of 27 attempted, for a percentage of .666. He was closed pressed by Nedros with 31 out of 47 for .659 per cent. Art Dawald, sensational guard discovery of the later part of the season, had a percentage of .750 with 3 out of 4 tries made. Nelson and Miles were the only men on the squad who played in every game.

BUTTERFLIES BEAT REPTILES IN FAST INTRA-MURAL GAME

The contest was a listless affair until the final moments, at half time resting 17-7 for the Hellicats. Trailing seven points in the rear, with only a few minutes to play, A. T. O. scored the required counters and were ahead at the final whistle.
