MEMORIAL DRIVE TO RAISE QUOTA OPENS SATURDAY

Canvassers Will Work Eight Days for Balance of $250,000 Fund

WILL COVER STATE

Will Build Gym North of MacLean Field if Money Is Pledged

"Over the top in eight days" is the slogan adopted by the Idaho Memorial association for its concentrated drive for the balance of the $250,000 fund for Idaho's war memorial, which starts Saturday morning and continues until May 4. "He finished his job, let's finish ours," Idahoans are reminded by posters advertising the campaign.

The drive will be conducted under the direction of district chairmen, who have opened headquarters in every county in the state excepting three or four which already have raised their quotas. From these headquarters volunteer workers, comprising some of the biggest business men of the state, will canvass allotted territories in a final attempt to raise the quota fixed last year.

Horton Optimistic
"With good times all through Idaho, I am optimistic over the outcome of the drive," said George Horton, Moscow, secretary of the memorial association. "We have perfected an organization which, during the next eight days, will be able to cover the entire state in an efficient manner. Some money already has been placed to the credit of the association in banks of the state and considerable more has been pledged."

Kootenai county was selected earlier this spring as a "test" county to indicate the probable status of the entire state. A seven-day drive brought in the quota and a thousand dollars more, according to figures released by Mr. Horton. All through the county, workers report, enthusiastic response was met to all solicitations. It is felt by those in charge of the campaign that the statewide drive will meet the same response and that the entire balance of the quota will be either raised or pledged within eight days.

Latah Goes Over
Latah county pledged its quota and some money above that in the first drive that was conducted.

The memorial will take the form of a gymnasium on the Idaho campus. It is planned that several memorial tablets, commemorating the deeds of Idaho's soldiers and sailors who gave their lives in the Spanish-American and wars. The building, it is planned, will be built directly north and adjoining MacLean field and will be connected with the rest of the campus by a broad roadway. Preliminary plans for the building call for architecture similar to the collegiate style employed in the science hall and other university buildings.

VARSITY TEAM HAS GAME AT WHITMAN

Erickson Will Pitch Today; Howerton is Back in Game

With the pelt of the Gonzaga Bulldogs hanging safely in the home den, Coach MacMillan's varsity baseball team advances to the second front in its 1926 baseball campaign this afternoon, playing Whitman college at Walla Walla. The decisive victories over Gonzaga and the return of two disabled players have reinforced Vandal hopes of victory.

The invading party is composed of 13 players and Coach David MacMillan. Except for two possible shifts in the infield, the lineup against the Missionaries will be the same as that against the Spokane team.

"Lid" Erickson, ace hurler of the Idaho pitching staff, will throw today's game and Fields or Stockdale will work Saturday. Pat Howerton, catcher of the 1925 season, will catch his first regular game, after being on the bench for two weeks with a split finger nail received in training.

The infield combination is still uncertain due to the disruption in the shortstop position when Perrins dropped baseball for track. John Baird, regular utility short, has recovered from a sprained ankle and may cover the clover region. Andy Hawkins and Simmons have worked nicely into the emergency combination, however, and either of them may receive the call over Baird. The rest of the team will line up with the more familiar faces of Lansdon on first, Murray, third, Lough, left field, Vic Cameron, center, and John Nye or Beall in the right garden.

No advance information has been received on Whitman. The Missionaries split a two game series last week with Gonzaga.

Students of the University of Toledo will not be allowed any cuts in their classes this semester.

SEABECK PICTURES TO FEATURE Y MEET

W. S. C. Girls Will Describe Summer Camp at Tuesday Meeting

Three girls from W. S. C., a talk by George Oliver and pictures of Seabeck will be features of the Y. M. C. A. meeting Tuesday, when plans for attending the summer camp in Washington will be discussed. The girls from Pullman have been at Seabeck and will tell the Idaho Y. W. C. A. about the camp. "We want every girl of the organization to come to this meeting," said Mildred Perry.

INSPECTORS QUIZ STUDENT SOLDIERS FOR HONOR RATING

Unit Candidate for Distinguished Rating by War Department

BATTLE IS FEATURE

Examinations Take Up the Morning; Practical Work in Afternoon

Examination of junior and senior cadet officers on theoretical work at 10 o'clock this morning, followed by quizzing of freshman and sophomore cadets at 11 o'clock opened the inspection today of the Idaho R. O. T. C. unit by war department officers. This afternoon a review and parade, demonstration of close and extended order drill, exhibition of tent pitching, and machine gun drill and a mock battle completed the inspection for distinguished college rating. Major Martin C. Wise, from the office of the chief of staff, and Lieut. Col. Lewis Brown, Jr., chief of cavalry at Washington, D. C., made the inspection. Thursday they reviewed the R. O. T. C. at Washington State college and tonight they leave for the University of Utah at Salt Lake.

Allen McDaniel was acting colonel of the local regiment in the absence of Wallace York, regular colonel, and was in command of the review and regimental drill. Jack Mix, Otto Heffner, and Joe Thomas were majors and Kenneth Anderson was regimental adjutant.

No drill is scheduled for next week as the cadets have been drilling extra hours the past two weeks. All members of the corps were excused from conflicting classes today for the inspection.

CENTRAL IDAHO HAS UNTAPPED WEALTH

U. S. G. S. Publishes Report on Mineral Deposits in That District

"Central Idaho is an almost untapped storehouse of mineral wealth."

This statement is quoted, not from the prospectus of a flamboyant promoter, but from a recent press bulletin of the conservative United States Geological Survey, calling attention to a previous publication, Bulletin 780-D, "Antimony and Quicksilver Deposits in the Yellow Pine District, Idaho," by Frank C. Schrader and Clyde P. Ross.

"Although the day of the red-shirt miner with his single pack horse equipment has passed," says the bulletin, "that of development by modern methods has only just begun, having been retarded by lack of transportation facilities in this rugged, forested region."

The Yellow Pine district, in Valley county, in the Salmon River mountains, is a part of central Idaho in which there are promising deposits of antimony, gold, and quicksilver, none of which have yet been developed beyond the prospecting stage. The district has now been reached by an automobile road, and additional roads across it are in prospect, so that the time when its possibilities can be adequately tested, is close at hand. The district is of especial interest just now also because of the abnormally high price of antimony. One of the Yellow Pine antimony deposits contains a considerable quantity of commercial ore and made a small production during the war under adverse conditions.

Says Formation is Promising
Dean Francis A. Thomson, of the University of Idaho school mines, expressed great pleasure that the geological survey, "one of the finest scientific bodies in the world," is beginning to realize the potential mineral wealth of the region.

ELLSWORTH NAMED COUNCIL PRESIDENT

At the inter-fraternity council meeting held last week, Fisher Ellsworth was elected president for next year. Charles Kincaid was elected vice president. The remaining officers are elected in the fall.

The council is working on a set of rushing rules which have been submitted to the various fraternities on the campus for their suggestions and the campus for their approval. They are finally approved and it is expected that they will be drafted in their final form at the next meeting.

STRING QUARTETTE PLAYS HERE FRIDAY

Last Number of the Artists Course to be Presented Next Week

The London String Quartette, which furnishes the last program of the Artist's course, will appear here Friday evening, April 30. The quartette has attained world fame since it was founded in 1908 and the members have been playing together for sixteen years. One hundred and fifty concerts were given in London, three tours were made of Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, three tours of Spain and a tour of South America in 1923. The group has made four tours of the United States and Canada, visiting Honolulu twice. It has also played in France and Holland seven times and has produced more than a hundred new arrangements.

The members of the organization are: James Levey, first violin; Thomas Petre, second violin; H. Waldo-Warner, viola; and C. Warwick Evans, cello.

An interesting program will be presented, the best known number being probably the famous "Pixie Suite," written by H. Waldo-Warner, a member of the quartette. They have played this number all over the world.

Presents Chamber Music

The largest part of the program will consist of what is called "Chamber Music." "Chamber Music" includes all music written for stringed instruments, or string and wind instruments, with or without piano, to be played in ensemble, each performer having his individual part. It differs from the stringed orchestra or band or symphony orchestra in that each part is played by an individual performer and each performer has an individual part, there being no doubling up of parts. The number of performers is therefore limited and this kind of music is best suited for performance in a room or small hall or concert chamber. The String Quartette offers the purest form of chamber music combination.

FORESTERS PLAN ANNUAL BARBECUE

Nominating Committee of Officers for Year is Appointed.

Plans for the annual barbecue were discussed by the Associated Foresters in a short business session, Tuesday evening at Morrill hall. President Clarence Olsen announced that Guy Williams is general chairman in charge of the affair.

The barbecue is an annual stunt with the timber-beast clan, and is an event that is looked forward to each spring, for, as one professor put it, "They feel the call of the tall and uncut."

A nominating committee to select nominees for the offices of the club for the coming year was appointed, and the election will be held at the next meeting.

Mr. Williams wishes to ask that the members of the club keep a close eye on the bulletin board, as he will post the names of those in his sub-committees in the next two or three days.

University of Indiana

Students are compelled to purchase activity tickets unless they are excused by the committee on student affairs.

University of Iowa

Due to complication which arose from last rushing season, the women's Pan-Hellenic organization has been abolished.

FAILURE EDUCATION IS SPEAKER'S TOPIC

J. Stitt Wilson Says Students are Informed, not Educated

"The Failure of Modern Education" was the theme of a lecture given by Dr. J. Stitt Wilson of Berkeley, Cal., noted lecturer, before the university students here at an assembly Wednesday morning. Science of mathematics and science of English were used by Dr. Wilson to illustrate his lecture. The question of education is now commanding the attention of the world and is being reconsidered by the most powerful and thoughtful minds of the world, Dr. Wilson said. Too much stress, he stated, should not be placed on the "failure" part of education.

The reason why many of the students today leave the college and university campuses without culture is because they have been informed, but not educated, he told the audience. The learning to work with mechanisms, building a machine, or making two blades of grass grow where one grew before is not education, he said, but it is information. To be educated one must have culture, he pointed out. Dr. Wilson stated that it is practically impossible to describe the dimensionality of man. The present-day youth, however, come nearer to defining these dimensions than any before, he averred. Dr. Wilson defined man as a three dimension being, possibly more than three. These dimensions, he said, are man as a physical, chemical composition; as a knowing being or intellectual being; and as a creature of ends, or purpose or meaning. Years ago, he pointed out, the two dimensions were known, but the third dimension is probably the most important.

Purpose Is Great
Purpose in life is great and mighty, he said, and "values" are probably the purposes of most men today. These, among others, are the "meaning" of life. A life, the speaker stated, becomes cheap and dry unless a man

FROSH PLAY BRACE OF GAMES ON TRIP

Meet L. C. H. S. and Cheney Baseballers Friday and Saturday

The University of Idaho freshman baseball team left at 8:45 Friday morning to play Lewis and Clark high school at Spokane. Saturday the Frosh will battle Cheney Normal at Cheney. Advance dope points to a pair of victories for the Frosh by comparatively close scores. The Vandal babes, who scored two victories over Moscow high school, have given the Idaho varsity much trouble in practice. Cheney dropped a game to the varsity recently and the Lewis and Clark Tigers split a two game practice series with the Vandal warriors.

The following men, accompanied by coach "Dusty" Kline, will make the trip: Garber, Lawrence, Ficke, Shean, Welo, Cheyne, Rawlins, O'Brien, Marshall, Bolby and Fisher.

University of Indiana

All women on the campus at Indiana university are members of the Women's Self Government association. The function of the W. S. G. A. is to regulate all matters pertaining to the woman students and to increase unity and mutual helpfulness among the women. To accomplish this purpose, each girls' house is organized and has a president vice-president, and weekly meetings at which the girls vote on all questions concerning social rules and regulations.

GIRLS BASEBALL TOURNEY IN MAY

Dorothy Manning Says Same Practice Schedule Still Holds

Tournament games in girls' baseball will probably be played the first two weeks in May, according to Miss Dorothy Manning, manager. No teams have not yet been chosen. The practice schedule will remain as it is being followed now: seniors and freshmen on Tuesdays and Thursdays; sophomores and juniors on Mondays and Wednesdays.

IDAHO TO COMPETE IN QUADRANGULAR MEET AT SPOKANE

Prospects for Victory in Track Classic Saturday Are Slight

WEAK IN 4 EVENTS

Montana Strong in Dashes; W. S. C. Two Mile Champ Is Entered

Idaho's track team left today for Spokane where it meets the class of the inland college squads Saturday in the quadrangular meet with the University of Montana, Washington State college and Gonzaga university. Prospects of victory are dim, due to lack of experience and sufficient training, but the Vandals are confident of placing in the majority of the events.

Competition to date indicates that the Vandals will find their main strength in the sprints and hurdles, distance events and high jump. While the Idaho victory over Whitman, 96 to 35, is not conclusive of great power, it indicates that there is talent in the squad which Coach Philbrook may bring out before the season is over.

Sprints and Hurdles Strong

Melvin Perrins, Jay Thompson and Jack Mitchell should give the Vandals a crack sprint and hurdle team. Perrins lacks only experience and can clip off the 100-yard dash in around ten seconds in his natural running form. Thompson runs a close second to Perrins in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and promises to develop into a star 220 hurdler. Jack Mitchell is clearing the high hurdles around

ATHLETIC CHANGES MADE; REJECT CUT IN MANAGER'S PAY

Managing Editor is to Receive Remuneration For His Work

ONLY 180 VOTES CAST

Changes Dealing With Awards for Athletic Managers Passed

With but 180 ballots cast at the student body election Thursday when four amendments to the A. S. U. I. constitution were voted upon, barely ten per cent of the student body passed a proposal to reduce the salary of the business manager of the Argonaut.

The first amendment passed with a vote of 151 to 29. This received some little opposition compared with the majority that passed the other two, yet showed that the great majority of students wanted Argonaut editors remunerated for their work. This amendment provided that the managing editor should automatically become editor following his year of service as managing editor, and should be promoted to that position in the case of a vacancy. In addition his duties were outlined, and his salary, stipulated at $3 per issue of the paper.

In the repeated amendment, which failed to pass by eleven votes, being 109 to 71, the business manager was to receive a salary of $3 per issue and 12 per cent of all monies collected over $1,000. The present salary is $3 per issue and 20 per cent of monies collected over $1,000. Considerable discussion was aroused over this amendment, and numerous opinions were expressed in the safety valve. The last two amendments dealt with the student athletic manager system, and a vote of 169 to 9 repeated article VIII, section 2, and a vote of 165 to 11 repeated article I, section 11, which stipulated the awards for athletic managers.

HOME EC. EXHIBIT ATTENDED BY 700

Junior Girls Hostesses for the Afternoon; Frosh Act as Ushers

Bright spring frocks, gaily painted scarfs, free-hand sketches, home-nursing and dietetic demonstrations, attracted 700 people to the home economics exhibit, Wednesday afternoon, in the home economics department on the third floor of the Ad building.

Members of the junior class were hostesses for the afternoon, June Davis being chairman of the exhibit. The freshmen girls, in dresses made by themselves in class, acted as ushers, conducting the guests to the various rooms.

Faculty members of the Home Economics courses are: Miss Katherine Jensen, head of the department; Miss Ada Lewis, teacher of foods; Miss Grace Zuidreke, instructor in art; Miss Ada Johnson, clothing specialist; and Miss Dorothy Ellis, teacher of methods.

Original Designs Shown
Miss June Andrews was in charge of the demonstrations of practical nursing, with Rose Pruess in charge of the room. First aid to the injured patient, resuscitating the drowned, and bandaging were demonstrated as was also the bathing of an infant.

The art exhibit was in charge of Mildred Gilbertson. Here were exhibited wave designs, original charcoal studies of animal life, copy sketches in pencil, water color compositions and letterings, colored style, done by the class in costume and hats of the different periods of style, done by the class in costume design, lamp designs by the interior decoration class, and scarfs in paintex and oils by the freshman class.

In the dietetics exhibit with Mille McCoy as manager, were "Spark plug," made of vegetables, clothes lines of three mineral foods; phos-

Wanted: All Students' Support

Saturday morning the Idaho State Memorial association will reopen its campaign for the $250,000 quota with which to construct a memorial gymnasium, on the Idaho campus.

To students at Idaho the campaign holds special significance. If the quota is raised, a gymnasium as handsome as any in the northwest, will be constructed and a long felt problem will have been solved. The honored dead will have been remembered by a testimonial from the entire state. Idaho will take its place among the score or more states in the union which have shown gratitude for the efforts of men who sacrificed their lives for the honor of the nation. If the fund is not raised, athletic teams will continue to be handicapped by lack of quarters. Visitors at Idaho contests will continue to carry home stories of Idaho's shortcomings in this division. And greatest of all, failure of the campaign will be indicative of a lack of interest in the accomplishments of those for whom the memorial is intended.

Idaho students have responded financially to the appeal of the association. They have shown a decided interest in the progress of the campaign. But success of the drive depends on more than that. There are thousands of persons in Idaho who, undoubtedly, have not been sufficiently informed as to the drive. And these persons, if informed that the memorial is not another move for the relief of some indigent class in which they are not interested, will subscribe.

Send a letter home. Tell the folks to appoint themselves committees to work up interest. It is a worthy movement and success will benefit Idaho.—A. R. T.

"By What Right—"

"It is a disgrace that Mencken's American Mercury is more widely read among college students than the new testament. Mencken is a brilliant man gone astray. It is a shame that he should be permitted to influence American youth."

The preceding unqualified denunciation of one of the most brilliant literary men of today was made by the Hon. J. Stitt Wilson in an address to students and faculty Wednesday night. Bemoaning the fact that the "spiritual" nature of the college student of today is being sadly neglected, he pointed out that the present "materialistic" doctrine of science is undermining the morality of college students.

When Mr. Wilson gives his own ideas on concepts of values or when he points out the "trend of modern science" he is doing good work in making people think. But when he unsparingly condemns the ideas of men who are, in the estimation of many, at least his equal, he is showing the very narrowness and intolerance of new ideas which he decries as an evil.

Youth, with its new concepts, is progress. Taken as a whole, there must be something of right in the ideas and criticisms of youth. Any attempt to steer them away from "evils" resulting from seeing things as they are will not be taken kindly by college people. And they will draw their own conclusions as to the authority of Mr. Wilson to condemn a man of H. L. Mencken's capacity.

Among all the sacred cows which graze the undergraduate pasture, we think of none more tenderly regarded nor more respectfully revered than the belief that all college graduates are gentlemen. There are probably not more than six hundred men in the university who can carry on a conversation in correct English as long as ten minutes. There are probably not more than two hundred who can talk with women on anything but campus gossip. Four years will make a gentleman if he gives them a chance.—The Daily Illini.

The Safety Valve

Our R. O. T. C. Again

Rest—Six hundred students, not men, assume their characteristic slouchy pose. Their rifles sag in their clumsy paws. To these men a rifle is a miniature cannon. The uniform of their country is a monkey suit and according to the author of a recent contribution to the Safety Valve, no monkey after seeing one of our Idaho students wear one of these uniforms, would ever don one. He goes on to say that it would be nice for us to go home again to mama, where great big butlers, acting as officers, cannot hurt our tender feelings. We too should have taken our training with mere boys whose spirit, poor as it must be, would shame us who now call ourselves men. Perhaps some of us did.

I am a member of this corps and I, too, took part in the splendid military maneuvers of the Boise high school army. Also, I shall admit, as did Mr. Scott, that while I was there, they were good. Perhaps they still are. However, I must say that I would hesitate some time before I attempted to compare them with the Idaho unit. They are of a different class. The organization at Boise consists merely of a junior unit, boys, not men, of from fourteen to eighteen years of age. The average student, not man, at Idaho is slightly older than that. The uniform that he wears would fit a soldier, yes, and a man in Uncle Sam's regulars.

It seems to me that it would be a good thing for this university if our well drilled students, who completed their training in junior schools, would lend a hand to the poor boys here. Side-line coaching may help but it never wins a game. Furthermore, if the side-liners are better than the participants, there is probably plenty of room for them on the field. At least it is very poor Idaho Spirit to term your brother students in such a manner as did the author of the afore mentioned article.

Now, what seems to me would be a real idea for Uncle Sam or for the university officials to do, would be to hang a picture of this corps in the halls of Boise and all other high schools in the state and by so doing advertise Idaho. Show the prospective students that they can come to Idaho and be soldiers after they have tired of playing soldier in the city park.

Signed W. L. B.

UNPOPULAR OPINION

Blaine Stubblefield

In casting about for a short and simple solution to the old mystery of love, I have discovered what I think to be an absolutely presupposition and the very first premise. I believe my theory completely circumscribes and transverges the whole subject. In one short sentence I claim to have the entire gamut of this ancient enigma. Plumb in the uprights, braced in the beams, stout as a horse, my foothold tenoned and mortised in granite, on this I stand—that a woman loves to be loved; only this and nothing more.

Unpopular opinion is a tough subject. No matter what one says, some infatuated colt will agree with it.

In view of the heavy demand for my suppressed April Mercury, I feel justified in announcing that after the first of May the rental fee will be a dollar-and-a-half an hour. Also I must raise the age limit and refuse it to any one under forty. (Applicants will not be required to give their ages.)

Chancellor Heber Rice Harper of Denver university has just canned two professors "for inefficiency in teaching and for the expression of opinions harmful to the University and its administration." Congratulations, Professors: We are looking for such fellows as you for the better jobs. Also, there is a big demand for Methodist preachers in Tennessee, and they are looking for Harpers.

Do college folk want to hear about religion? Yes and No. Give it to them in the mediaeval jargon of such dolts as Sherwood Eddy and Billy Sunday and they snicker; talk sense to them and they listen eagerly. Last Monday Professor Chenoweth spoke to Philosophy II on Science and Religion. Every man and woman went out with something added to his religious stature.

Intra-mural debates, temporarily suspended during the twelve weeks' examinations, will start again on Tuesday, April 27. Six teams will debate for the right to compete in the final round of the tourney.

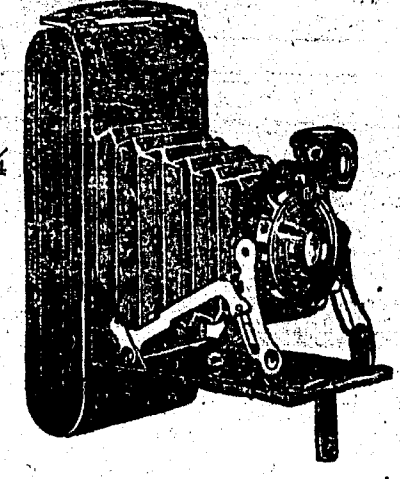

Delta Gamma, affirmative, and Kappa Alpha Theta, negative, will debate first on Tuesday the question: "Resolved, That undergraduates should not become engaged to marry." Daleth Teth Gimel will then debate Tau Mem Aleph negative, on the subject: "Resolved, That evolution should be offered as a course of study in all universities and secondary schools." Tau Kappa Iota meets Sigma Chi, affirmative, on the question: "Resolved, That the churches of the United States should not send out foreign missionaries," in the final debate of the night.

When the straight-8 blows a shoe

BEFORE you even look for the jack or tire-tools, tuck a neat wad of Prince Albert into the muzzle of your jimmy-pipe. Light up . . . and get yourself in the frame of mind where a flat tire is "all in the day's work." Talk about a gloom-chaser!

P. A. simply knocks troubles for a row of planished-steel mudguards. Its cool, soothing smoke percolates into your system, the sun crashes through the clouds, and everything is hrosy-totsy. Yes indeed, Fellows, Prince Albert is great tobacco.

And paste this in the fly-leaf of your thesaurus: P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat, no matter how hard you hit it up. The Prince Albert process flunked Bite and Parch on their first examination. Get a tidy red tin of P. A. now and see.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

At 10:45 they parted with a touch of sadness.

He walked down the step dejectedly, but upon hearing her close the door, he snapped out of it and walked briskly home to cut another notch in the table.

"How they fall," he murmured. "Probably, I am a handsome brute." She, sitting before her make-up mirror, yawned.

IDAHO ENROLLS 105 IN GRADUATE SCHOOL

Students From 29 Colleges Pursue Advanced Courses In 1925-1926

One hundred and five graduate students, representing 29 colleges and universities of the United States, enrolled at the University of Idaho during the 1925-26 school year, according to figures announced from the office of the registrar. The figure takes into consideration students enrolled during the 1925 summer session.

The University of Idaho heads the list with 67 students. Spokane university, Whitman college, the College of Idaho, and the University of Wisconsin, are tied for second place on the list with three representatives each. Stanford university and Gooding college each are represented by two students, and the following are represented by one each:

Linfield, Smith college, University of California, Kansas State Agricultural college, University of Minnesota, University of Colorado, University of British Columbia, Willamette university, Otterbein college, Bates college, Iowa State college, Michigan Agricultural college, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Western Illinois State Teachers' college, Walla Walla college, Knox college, Jamestown college, Columbia university, University of Illinois, University of Wyoming, Oregon Agricultural college, and Upper Iowa university.

University of Michigan One hundred and fifty dates a year with 150 different girls is the aim of a club organized by the men of University of Michigan. A man is eligible for membership after he has been in the company of a good-looking girl. At initiation he must be able to give the name and address of the woman.

Whitman College Students enrolled in the walking classes instead of regular work of department of physical education, are to receive grades for their work the same as any other department. In the past the arbitrary grade of 70 was given.

QUEST IN VAIN SAYS OREGON WRITER

Coaches With National Reputations Are Not at Large

Dean Angell may be making a fruitless search for a football coach to fill Robert L. Mathew's vacant position, says L. H. Gregory, Oregonian sports writer. He thinks the Vandals will have hard time finding a coach with an established reputation and writes in part:

"California, Oregon, Washington State and Montana start the season with new coaches. So does Idaho—when she finds the new coach. Like all the others, Idaho wants a new coach "of national reputation," a phrase you have heard before. By "national reputation," of course, is meant a national reputation for winning, not for losing.

"Nice Trip" for Angell "Idaho has sent Dean Angell of her faculty on a search of the country to discover if such a coach is at large. It will be a nice trip for the dean, but so far as obtaining "a coach of national reputation" is concerned, his quest is in vain. "Washington State also tried to get a coach of national reputation, and started trying long before Idaho. After spending something like $8000 on the search, enough to pay a good

eral possibilities of this great mountain state.

In a recent article in the American Mining Congress Journal, Dean Thompson pointed out the following facts: "The greater portion of the state of Idaho comprises a 'metamorphic aureole,' grouped about the great granite batholith which covers most of Boise, Idaho, and Valley counties and which crops out also in occasional high points or granitic cupolas to the north, south, east and west of this area. Now it has come to be a generally accepted dictum among metalliferous geologists, that those areas which lie in the roots of granite batholiths, or on their peripheries, are likely to be the most productive of the precious and semi-precious metals and are therefore the best prospecting territory. Furthermore, as I have recently pointed elsewhere, the conclusion is inescapable that the metalliferous deposits of Idaho comprise a metallogenic province definitely referable to the batholith and apparently the different metals are in a rough zonation about the granitic outcrops.

"Hence, it is evident that we must consider, in discussing the future of metalliferous mining in Idaho, not only those deposits which have been discovered and are being worked at the present time, but also those which on account of favorable geological association, it is reasonable to suppose will be discovered in the future."

"How they fall," he murmured. "Probably, I am a handsome brute." She, sitting before her make-up mirror, yawned.

IDAHO TO COMPETE IN TRACK MEET

the 16 flat mark and is close on Thompson's heels in the low hurdle event.

For the distance events Coach Philbrook has Don Cleaver, who runs the mile well under 4:40, Arthur Matthews, veteran two-miler, and Frank Mooney, a promising recruit. Clayton Pickett, star field man, is expected to develop into a first class high jumper. David Kyle and Mitchell are also strong candidates for this event. Pickett has been hurling the discus farther each night this spring, and is now throwing consistently to the 140 mark.

Vandals Weak In Four Events The Vandal's weak spots are apparently in the quarter mile, pole vault, javelin and shot put. Scholastic requirements put several promising men in these events on the ineligible list. Herbert Canine, football and basketball star, may develop into a good quarter-miler and there are several candidates for the other events.

Idaho faces some whirlwind competition tomorrow in the sprints and distance events. Sweet, the wing-heeled cowboy from Montana, will be entered in the dashes. Last year he won both the 100 and 220 in the coast conference meet and placed near the top in the national tryouts. Divine, Washington State college, will lead the Cougar pack in the distance runs. Last year he won the national intercollegiate two-mile run from a strong field.

Leon J. Boyle, graduate manager of Gonzaga university, is promoting the meet and expects from 80 to 100 athletes in the competition. Officials for the meet will be: Adam Ferris, University of Missouri, referee; Hal Orton, coach of Lewis & Clark high school, starter; Bill Mulligan, Herb Sutherland and J. H. Banks, judges of the finish.

BULLDOGS FALL AT VANDALS SLUGFEST

Idaho is Too Much for Gonzaga; the Score is 16 to 6

Idaho's Vandals completely subdued the Gonzaga Bulldogs Tuesday afternoon, taking a murderous slugfest and the series, 10 to 6. Any misgivings as to Idaho's hitting power were permanently dispelled by the game, the Vandals clouting two Bulldog pitchers for 15 hits, including 3 home runs.

Home run honors went to Lansdon, Cameron and Nye of Idaho and Luce of Gonzaga. The Vandal circuit blows came consecutively in the first three innings.

Idaho scored three runs in the first inning, on Lansdon's home run, a single by Lehrbas and a two bagger by Murray. Two more runs in the second and third innings and three in the sixth completed the Idaho tallying.

The Bulldogs touched fields for 10 hits, enough to win an ordinary game, but "Friday" kept them so scattered that the damage was reduced to a minimum. Bobbles in the field got him in trouble several times, but he was able to pitch out of every difficulty.

Summary:

Idaho	16	15	4
Gonzaga	6	10	3

Score by innings:

Idaho	3	2	2	0	0	3	0	0	x
Gonzaga	0	1	0	0	3	0	1	0

Bob Lough Selected Director of Athletics At Lewiston Normal

Robert Lough, former Culesac high school basketball coach and last year basketball coach at the Moscow high school, has been selected as director of athletics at the Lewiston State Normal school, it has been announced by President J. E. Turner. Besides his work as athletic director, Mr. Lough will assist in the department of history. Mr. Lough is at the present time a senior in the school of education at the University of Idaho and he will be granted his diploma this spring.

Last winter Mr. Lough turned out a fast and hard fighting basketball quintet at the Moscow high school and lived up to the reputation he established while coaching basketball at the Culesac high school. While there he turned out two district champions and near state titlists in his three years as coach. He has gained considerable experience at the university here as assistant football coach for the last two years.

At the present time Lough is playing an outfield position on the Vandal baseball squad, and is working quite regularly on the team. The Lewiston Tribune says: "Bob Lough is eminently fitted for the position of coach at the normal school, and sports at the institution, which have been sadly neglected for many years, should experience a revival."

Lough will take up his new position with the summer quarter and will undoubtedly start baseball with what boys there will be available. By the time the fall quarter begins he will have an opportunity to look into the material problem.

SQUADS FOR GIRLS SWIMMING CHOSEN

Meet Will Probably be Held May 18; Team to be Selected

Tentative choice of squads were made Wednesday for a girls' pro-class swimming meet which will probably take place May 18, according to Miss Elsie Jacobson, girls' swimming coach. The girls who have been placed on the squads will sign up for the different events as soon as practice is completed.

The class teams will be chosen from the squads about May 1. The choice will be made on the basis of skill in the events. Miss Jacobson requests that more junior and senior girls turn out for practice.

The swimming meet will consist of short and long races, plunges for distance, and diving contests. In addition to these, there will be a relay race between classes. These teams will each consist of four girls. The scoring will be on the basis of both classes and individuals. The class scores will be totaled, as well as the highest individual score.

The girls on the squads are: Freshmen—Margaret Gnaedinger, Jean Emery, Margaret Nelson, Mary Huff, Dorothy Rebel, Ethel Larson, Margaret Ward, Florence Brashear, Elvira Atchison, Helen Dalton, Katherine Johnson, Alice Stam, Germaine Gimble, Mattie McMaster, Margaret Scilley, and Mary Burke.

Fine Arts Offered Many High Schools For State Display

Offers of the free use for display purposes of an exhibit from the departments of architecture and fine arts have been sent to approximately 75 high schools and organizations in Idaho, according to Olaf Fjelde, of the department of architecture.

Three different exhibits, one for north Idaho and one each for the southwestern and southeastern sections of the state, will be put on the road, Mr. Fjelde announced. Each exhibit will be composed of eight to 12 drawings and paintings by architecture and art students. The following general headings will be represented: architectural design, interior decoration, historical research, applied design, free-hand drawing, and water colors.

The purpose of the plan is to stimulate interest in architecture and art work among Idaho young people. The exhibits, since they include the finest work done by the university students, also have considerable educational value.

Arrangement of the exhibits is in charge of Mr. Fjelde and Miss Grace Zudrele, head of the fine arts department.

New York University

New York university seniors in art and engineering revealed in a questionnaire that out of 150 men, 120 wanted to marry for money. Only one senior confided that he had never been kissed. Their favorite name for a girl was Helen, and they preferred beauty and sincerity in a girl to any other quality.

AG SCHOOL STOCK WILL BE EXHIBITED

"Little International" Will Be Given in the Lewis Court April 30

Lined up in neat rows, well groomed and fitted and no doubt noticing the difference between collegiate apparel and the hired man's outfit back at the old farm, will be the prize-winning horses, cows, steers, bulls, sheep, and other livestock of the university at the Ag school's annual "Little International" livestock show in Lewis court April 30.

Arrangements have been made so that the show will be over in time for the Artists' Course, which comes April 30. According to Dan Shamberger, publicity manager, the date, April 30, was chosen for the "Little International" because the agricultural school at W. S. C. is giving an exhibition of the same kind on that afternoon and it is the custom of the farmers of the inland empire to attend both on the same day.

Show Many Prize Winners

Among the animals to be shown are many which took first prize at the Pacific coast livestock show in Portland last October. Idaho II, grand champion Shorthorn steer, which took first place at the Portland exhibition, belongs to the university and will be shown. There will be a class of Shorthorn steers shown at the "Little International," many of which ranked highest on the Pacific coast. The largest milk cow in the northwest, a Holstein weighing more than a ton, will be shown. The junior champion stallion of the Pacific coast livestock show last fall also belongs to the university and will be exhibited.

A feature of the show is the parade at 11 o'clock in the morning led by the R. O. T. C. band. Between 60 and 70 animals will stampede for the edification of the town and the students. In the afternoon and evening the animals will be judged and awards will be given for judging contests.

CO-EDS CAN CHOOSE TENNIS FOR CREDIT

Baseball Also to be Allowed Instead of Gymnasium Classes

Instead of the regular gymnastic work this spring, the co-eds are allowed to choose either tennis or baseball, to be played during the regular physical education hour.

The tennis aspirants are so numerous that the hour has been divided into two sections so that the girls can all play. Those who have had some experience are using the lower courts across from Ridenbaugh while those are learning are using the courts behind the Ad building, and are under the supervision of Miss Cowan. This week the girls have been taking lessons in the various strokes.

Baseball is played on the regular baseball diamond on MacLean field. Margaret Partner has charge of the sophomore baseball, and Afton Marinelli supervises the freshmen.

gets some meaning into his life. In the four years at college students are not educated, not even given good information at times, he said. To be educated one must get spiritual culture, or one is educated when cultured in the third dimension, he said.

In conclusion, Dr. Wilson pointed out remarks of Herbert Hoover, in which he said the by-products of our present-day prosperity are looseness of morals, disintegration of the home and family, increase of crime over the country, especially among the youth, easy breaking of laws by adults and intolerance of religion, politics and numerous other ideals and things, Dr. Wilson asked that the students take a stand against all of these by-products and stand for the moral meaning of life.

Dr. Wilson will give two more addresses during his stay in Moscow. He will speak tonight at 8 o'clock and tomorrow night at the university auditorium. Dr. Wilson has devoted most of his time in the last few years in addressing college and university students over the country.
