The Hulme Fight

Freshmen and Sophomores in the university have one "night to howl"—it being an old tradition on the campus that actual hostilities between the two classes come to the surface on the night that the sophomores post their edicts. This night, however, remains a dark secret to the first year class and until the edicts are posted broadcast over the campus and town no scrapping is carried on.

In the past these edicts have been posted sometime during the latter part of the first week of school and when they go up the bars go down. Activities during this night are carried on under the supervision of the "I" men on the campus.

Years ago, in order to do away with too much warfare between the two classes, the Hulme fight was established. This fight takes place usually the first Saturday after school starts and after the "edicts" have been posted. In the Hulme fight men are chosen from both the freshman and sophomore classes to compete in contests staged on the campus. Points are allowed and both classes strive to win this fight. In case the frosh defeat the second year men they are allowed to lay aside the green sky piece shortly after Thanksgiving, not to put it on again until Campus Day. But, if the frosh are beaten they must wear their green caps until Christmas vacation starts. The "bury the hatchet" dance is scheduled for the night of the Hulme fight.

Clashes between the freshmen and sophomores before the "edicts" have been posted are discouraged and not in accordance with the tradition.

Our Advertisers

There is an old saying that "it pays to advertise." This should apply to the university as well as to any place else. Moscow merchants have faith in the University of Idaho. Many of them use the columns of the Argonaut throughout the year to keep their names before our student body. Read the Argonaut ads. Their content is meant to help you as well as to benefit the advertiser. Show our advertisers that their faith, so well expressed by their co-operation, is justified.

SEVERAL MEMBERS ADDED TO FACULTY

New Appointments Made Public at Meeting Tuesday

Several faculty appointments not hitherto announced were made public at the faculty meeting Tuesday morning. Dr. Herbert S. Warren has been appointed assistant professor of zoology succeeding Prof. Irving H. Blake, who resigned a few weeks ago to take a position at the University of Nebraska. Miss Vaughan Prater is appointed instructor in romance languages, succeeding Assistant Professor Delfin Raynaldo, who has accepted a position in the Philippines. Professor Warren received his B. S. degree from the College of the City of New York, his M. A. from Columbia and his Ph. D. from Stanford. He has tutored at the College of the City of New York, was an assistant at Columbia university and has been acting professor of zoology at the University of Arkansas. Miss Prater received her B. A. degree from the University of Idaho two years ago and has been engaged in high school teaching and had been elected to a faculty position in one of the Spokane high schools for this year.

Professor Raynaldo went to the Philippines for a visit this summer and while there received several flattering offers. He has become professor of education in the National University of the Philippines at Manila and is acting dean of the college of letters and science. This is an institution with an enrollment of about 5,000.

Other appointments are as follows: Edgar H. Neal, research assistant in agricultural engineering; W. Earl Shull, graduate fellow in zoology; Marion Fleming, assistant bacteriologist; Pauline Mitchell, graduate assistant in romance languages; Mary Van Dusen, home demonstration agent for the south central district; Walter H. Pierce, assistant plant pathologist; Gertrude Drissen, graduate fellow in education; Helen Hawkes, graduate fellow in English.

IDAHO AG SCHOOL GRADS IN DEMAND

Dean Iddings Announces 16 New Appointments To Positions

A strong demand for graduates of the agricultural college of the university at good salaries is reported by Dean E. J. Iddings of the college of agriculture. Dean Iddings announced the following appointments of graduates from the Idaho college.

A. I. Sugg, class of 1925, who has been assisting in the university poultry department for the last year, appointed instructor in Smith-Hughes agriculture in the Filer high school. He came to Idaho from Oklahoma.

One in Hawaii
Frank Kinnison of the same class has resigned as Smith-Hughes instructor at Rupert to take a similar position in the Hawaiian Islands. His home was in Payette.
Herbert E. Lattig of the class of 1915 has been appointed associate professor of agricultural education at the University of Idaho, to train Smith-Hughes agricultural teachers. He has taught agriculture in the Moscow and Burley high schools and receiving his master's degree from the University of Idaho in 1924. His home was in Payette.

Not All Teach

Ralph H. Bristol of Twin Falls, class of 1924, has resigned his position as assistant field agronomist with the university extension division ion to accept a position with the Northrup-King Seed company.

Clarence Fales of Gooding, class of 1925, has accepted a position with a Guernsey herd, at Grangeville, known as the Grangeville Guernsey herd.
Walter H. Pierce of Berger, class of 1925, has done advanced study for the last year under Dr. C. W. Hungerford, pathologist of the experiment station, and has now been appointed assistant pathologist in the Idaho experiment station. Mr. Pierce received his master's degree in 1926.
Elwin H. Scheyer, '24, originally from Moscow, becomes Smith-Hughes agricultural teacher in Gooding high school. He has been in a similar position at Aberdeen.

B. E. Kuhn, '24, goes from the Gooding position to become head of the newly re-established Smith-Hughes work in Nampa high school.
To Philippines
Orisino R. Pizarro, '25, who has been assistant bacteriologist in the experiment station for two years, has resigned to return to the Philippines to enter public agricultural service in bacteriology.

George N. Tucker, '23, has resigned his three-year position as Smith-Hughes instructor at Filer, to become secretary of the Twin Falls county fair. His home was in Notus.
Charles S. Warren, '21, Boise, has been promoted to take charge of the Smith-Hughes department in Boise high school and will continue in general charge of the high school farm. He has a reputation as a competent livestock judge and as a trainer of livestock judging teams.
George S. Maughan, '09, is studying for the degree of doctor of philosophy at Cornell university, majoring in dairying and nutrition. He was for several years a faculty member in agriculture at Ricks Normal college.
Henning W. Thulin, '25, who for the last year has had charge of cow testing in Teton county, has become Smith-Hughes agricultural instructor in Oakley high school.

Wendel W. Palmer, '23, who has been teaching agriculture at Oakley, has accepted a similar position in Burley high school.
Harry Driscoll, '11, has built up Troy one of the leading seed establishments of the northwestern states.

Four-mile belt conveyor—the longest in the world—installed in a Pennsylvania mine for transporting coal from mines to river barges. Electric motors operate this conveyor.

90,000 Wheelbarrows in one hand

A button is pressed. An electric motor goes to work, followed by another and still others until twenty sections of a belt conveyor four miles long are in operation!

Through an abandoned mine runs this giant wheelbarrow carrying nine thousand tons of coal per day in a steady stream from the miners to the coal barges on the Monongahela River. One man controls it with no more effort or concern than pressing a switch button. Electricity pushes it.

Not only conveyor belts of all sizes, shapes and kinds, but also hoists, tractors, cranes, elevators, stackers, locomotives, and other material-handling equipment have gained flexibility, dependability, and ease of control through electric motorization.

Moving things in one way or another is the educated man's work in life. And electricity, ever at his command, is moving more and still more of the things which move this new world of ours.

The General Electric Company has devoted years of study to material-handling and transportation problems. In its own vast plants the handling and moving of materials and products have been simplified to the highest degree, thus providing a daily demonstration of the value of electricity.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

Two Idaho Grads Get Appointments

Two University of Idaho graduates will hold superintendencies at the Pacific International Livestock exposition this year. E. J. Fjelsted, secretary of the eastern Idaho fair and of the Pocatello chamber of commerce, is superintendent of the beef cattle division, and D. L. Fourn, dairy specialist for the extension division, has just accepted an offer to take charge of the dairy cattle division.

Fourn succeeds Guy L. Finley, Yakima, who resigned recently after having served six years. In announcing the change, O. M. Plummer, general manager of the show, said:

"While our old friend Finley wore tremendously big shoes, we feel that our new superintendent, Fourn, will fill them very comfortably. Fourn has many friends over the entire northwest; is well known to dairymen everywhere, and particularly to the dairy breeders east of the Cascades. He has been working very strenuously already this spring in getting together a number of herds to come out of Idaho."

IDAHO HISTORICAL PAGEANT WILL BE HELD THIS YEAR

1921-22, to 1925 in 1925-26. In the last two years enrolment increase has been more than 520.

"Science Hall has been available for our use only one year," said President Upham, "and already practically every department has served notice that it must have more room or it cannot function. We have, however, exactly the same rooms as we had last year, except for a room provided in a kind of second story which has been used as a balcony in the U Hut. There is an excellent room in the tower of the administration building but it would require $1,500 to build a stairway and to heat and equip it and we do not have funds available for this purpose.

Rooms Not Assigned

"In this situation it has been necessary to schedule a large number of advanced classes without indicating the rooms in which they shall meet. It is expected that after registration the instructors will arrange to hold these classes in office rooms and the like. We are trying to make every room on the campus give its maximum service. Rooms should be used as assigned and the regulations as to selection should be carefully observed.

"We have a complicated and difficult housing situation. We have been especially unfortunate in getting progress on the new hall for women. As a result the girls are crowded and many of them may not be happy. Please do not encourage them in their unhappiness."

The faculty met in two sessions Tuesday, being called to order first at 10 o'clock in the lecture room of science hall and meeting again in adjourned session at 8 in the evening. In the afternoon faculty members were entertained at a reception at the president's residence on First street.

20 New on Faculty

There are 20 new faculty members this year with the rank of instructor or higher, the president said. Of the 20 there are 15 who fill vacancies caused by resignations, and five take newly created positions. The "turnover" therefore, is about 10 percent of the total faculty, the president said, thus maintaining about the same measure of stability that the faculty has had for the last three years. This, according to Dr. Upham, compares favorably with the faculty stability of any other institution. Six years ago the "turnover" was 33 percent.

A change in requirements for the major in agricultural education was approved by the faculty. Professor

C. L. Von Ende and Professor J. J. Gill were elected to the academic council.

TO HAVE CAPTAIN FOR IDAHO TEAM

Coach Erb to Revive System of Electing Football Leader

The practice of electing a football team captain will be revived at Idaho under the regime of Head Coach Charles Erb, according to the new mentor's announced plans.

Erb is not planning to effect the revival at once and the team may go captainless the entire season. The coach wants to be sure that a proper spirit prevails in his squad before he makes such a change. When he gets to be well acquainted with his men and finds that they are ready, he plans to submit the question to the "I" club and perhaps to the A. S. U. I. for approval.

When Erb came to the campus in August one of the first men he wanted to see was the varsity captain for 1924. When his inquiry brought the information that Idaho had no regular team leader he decided to officially revive the election.

"I know what the football captaincy meant to me at California and still means to me," he said in recent interview. "It was an honor that I will always respect in my memories of football at Berkeley.

"To my mind the varsity football captaincy is an institution that tends toward better morals on a squad, that brings about a better understanding between players and coaches and that it is an honor that is rightfully due to the player who has earned it, as a just reward that will be his long after his varsity playing days are over. And with such ideas of my own on the subject I will revive the election of a football captain at the University of Idaho."

URGES IDAHO MEN TO ENROL FOR AG

Big Field Open for Technically Trained Men, Iddings States

Because the demand for agricultural graduates is greater and the supply somewhat less than at any time in recent years, Dean E. J. Iddings, of the college of agriculture, is urging Idaho young men to enrol in the four year course in agriculture, in order that they may take advantage of the opportunities that await capable, technically trained men.

Dean Iddings is anticipating a good enrolment this fall. An increasing interest in the study of agriculture was found by the dean in trips over the state this summer. Young people are beginning to feel, he said, that agriculture and allied sciences offer one of the most attractive and probably least crowded fields for the college man.

Five recent graduates of the college of agriculture, who have been appointed to new positions or have changed positions in the last two months, he points out, start with salaries ranging from $1800 to $2100, and averaging $1944 per year.

Secretary of Agriculture William M. Jardine recently emphasized in a similar manner the need for technically trained men and women in agriculture.

"More farm boys and girls in college," he said, "this is an integral part of any sound program for the permanent betterment of agriculture. And agricultural enrolments have begun to come back. There are opportunities for trained young people."

YEAR BOOK AND BLUE BUCKET SUBSCRIPTIONS BEING TAKEN

Subscriptions for the "Gem of the Mountains," university year book, and the "Blue Bucket," Idaho literary magazine, are being taken during registration. The "Blue Bucket" is issued monthly by the student body carrying articles, short stories and poetry written by students.

All students are reminded that this year subscriptions for the "Gem of the Mountains" must be made during registration. No extras will be printed this year and unless subscription are made it will be impossible to obtain a year book in the spring.
