Handling the Surplus

Creation of a sinking fund or a reserve for money not expended by the executive board during the school year, has been suggested on the campus.

If proper provision were made for expenditures of moneys relegated to this fund at the close of the school, action of this sort would be met with favor by members of the student body. And, in addition, it might be a solution to problems which have received much mulling in past years.

Such a fund of reserve would be available for emergency work on the campus; and often emergency situations arise. For instance, last year students clamored for improved tennis courts. Lack of money in the treasury precluded repair work sufficient to bring the tennis courts to first class condition. Had there been a reserve, the accumulation of "fat" years, this work could have been done.

On "lean" years, when expenditures exceed receipts, the surplus from former years, which, by the way, would be drawing interest while it was in the bank, could be thrown into the breach.

The graduate manager of student activities could be made trustee of the fund, inasmuch as the student association is not incorporated under Idaho laws and therefore does not legally exist.

Under such a system and under normal conditions, funds would be immediately available. Action of this sort would meet instant approval on the part of the students.

Save Our Constitution

The perennial student athletic managerial question has arisen from the grave in which it was buried last year when an amendment was voted to the constitution. And, consequently, another amendment is in the offing.

This does not mean that the amendment passed last year was a foolish piece of legislation. It was not. It fitted the situation which existed last year. But now there is a new head of athletic teams and he sees new conditions, which, of course, must be met by new constitutional provisions.

There is no reason to believe that with each new coach there will not be a need for new managerial systems and subsequent revision of the constitution. And this is not good. The A. S. U. I. constitution should not be changed every year with additional amendments, interlineations and the like. It should contain the fundamental principles upon which the student association exists, and not be amended except in instances of the direct need. Minor statutes should be incorporated into some other document, or action of the sort which is pending should be left in the hands of the executive board.

The First Pep Rally

The first "pep rally" of the season has been called for next Wednesday afternoon, on MacLean field.

This gathering should be attended by every student in the university. The "I" club, properly, should see to it that every student does attend. For it is in meetings of this sort that the real Idaho spirit is nurtured.

Together with the "pep rally" will be open practice of candidates for football teams. For the last few years closed practice has been the rule. Lack of knowledge and consequent lack of spirit was the result.

Every student should turn out, engage in the rally and see the fighting Vandals get into trim.

Instructors have complained of loud talking, whistling and an excess of commotion in the halls of the various buildings on the campus. The whistling, they say, is especially objectionable, as the shrill notes are not confined to the halls, but penetrate into the classrooms.

Courtesy to the instructors and students in classes should forbid such commotion.

The "keep to the right" idea in ascending and descending stairways in the Ad building is being observed faithfully by a majority of the students. This is commendable and should be encouraged among the few who still insist on going upstairs "left handed."

BULLETIN BOARD

KNIGHTS TO MEET
The first meeting of the Intercollegiate Knights for this year has been called for Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock, according to Mac Hardwick, honorable duke. The meeting will be held in the "U" hut and all old members are requested to come out. Officers will be elected for this year.

TOWN MEN WILL MEET
A meeting of Tau Mem Aleph has been called for Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the "U" hut, it has been announced. Plans and organization for the year will be the principal business to come before the meeting.

WILL GIVE RECEPTION
The Altar society of Moscow will entertain all Catholic students and their friends at a reception and dance at the Blue Bucket Inn Friday night, it has been announced. Refreshments will be served during the evening. Dancing will start at 9:30 o'clock while the reception will take up the earlier part of the evening.

FROSH GET FIRST REAL SCRIMMAGES

Over Hundred Men, Including Leading H. S. Stars of 1925, Are Out

More than 100 freshman football candidates are turning out daily for workouts under Coach "Syb" Kleffner and his staff of assistants. This year's frosh material is of higher quality than any previous yearling class has produced, including as it does many of the leading high school stars of 1925, and Coach Kleffner hopes to give the varsity some stiff scrimmages when Coach Erb turns his men loose on the yearlings next week.

The freshman team is getting the same kind of drill that Coach Erb is giving the varsity. Stress is being laid on fundamentals, and the first year men have a tackling dummy for their own use.

Among the most prominent ex-high school stars now wearing freshman uniforms are the following: Diehl of Filer, Frahn of Twin Falls; Sumpter of Mullan, Christianson of Firth, Gruenthal of Lewiston, Ault of Gooding, Kinney of Nampa, Frazier of Moscow, Christians of Kellogg, Neimans of Sandpoint, Kershnik of Burley, Ted Jensen of Firth, Ut of Kellogg, Morley of Idaho Falls, Croy of Lewiston, Berg of Firth, Hult of Burley, and Lydum of Firth.

IDAHO FANS EAGER FOR OPENING GAME

Excitement Pervades Campus as Montana State Contest Approaches

The opening of a football season is always anticipated with eagerness and impatience, but these are pale and inadequate terms to describe the spirit of suppressed excitement pervading the Idaho campus this fall. When the Vandals trot on the field October 2 to tackle the Montana State Bobcats their performance will be followed by one of the most acutely interested and hopeful crowds of rooters that ever attended a season opener.

At present, 9 days before the curtain raiser, there is more speculation and gossip than is usually to be heard before the more important midseason games. The first week's practice under Coach Chaley Erb has done much to promote this speculation. The new mentor's manner of taking hold of his problems has inspired self-appointed dopesters to venture more optimistic predictions than have seemed reasonable before September 15, and the men themselves are displaying a dash and drive that has given these wise ones another surprise.

The first game probably means more to the fans than it does to the team or to the coaches. Coach Erb is laying the foundation of a football machine and he is thinking about building up his squad rather than about winning games. He plans to continue instruction in the fundamentals well into the playing season.

The Montana State battle, however, will furnish Vandal supporters some basis for their 1926 seasonal hopes, and for that reason they are playing for the intervening time to pass quickly. The game will mark the first appearance of the Andy Smith percentage football on the Idaho gridiron. It will also afford spectators an opportunity to get "a line" on the players, none of whom is yet certain of a first team berth. This keen competition is another reason for the unusual curiosity existing among sports followers.

Finally, the contest should develop into a whale of a good opening day football game. The Montanans are a team of veterans and they will be primed for the Vandals. Reports from their camp at Bozeman are to the effect that the eleven will be considerably stronger than it was last year. The Bobcat stock was given a decided boost this week, with the unexpected return to school of Babcock, all-Montana halfback last year.

EXECUTIVE BOARD STARTS FUNCTIONS

Changes Meeting From Wednesday to Tuesday; Names Committees

The executive board will meet Tuesday nights at 7:30 o'clock in room 104 of the Administration building for this year, instead of Wednesday nights as of last year, it was voted by the board in its first regular session Wednesday night. Meetings of the board are open to all students of the university.

The first session was attended by Harry Baughman, president of the student body and ex-officio chairman of the board; Arthur Emerson, Edson Morris, George Austin, Frank Click, Anne McMonigle, Alice Ross, and Josephine Keane. Beardsley Merrill was absent.

Dean Ivan C. Crawford, head of the college of engineering, was reelected faculty representative on the board. Harold Cornelison, former member and vice president of the student body, was chosen to represent the Idaho Alumni association. These names will be submitted to President A. H. Upham as the choice of the board. Dean Crawford is now in Washington, where he is taking special instruction in the war college. Mr. Cornelison is employed by a Moscow real estate firm.

The election committee, which, according to A. S. U. I. law, must be present at all elections of that body, was named as follows: Charles Kincaid, George Freeze, Hugh Carroll, Virginia Angell, Kerube Steensland, and Beulah Brown. The constitution requires that the committee shall be composed of six members—three men and three women.

Arthur Emerson and Alice Ross were named members of the entertainment committee of the board, with Mr. Emerson chairman. The duty of this committee is to administrate the date calendar.

Because of the failure of Archie Kennedy to return to school this year, the position of assistant manager of the Blue Bucket is open. The executive board issued a call for candidates from which to make a selection. These names should be handed Anne McMonigle, secretary of the board. Burton Ellis is business manager.

The failure of Clair Killoran, editor of the Gem of the Mountains, to enter school this fall has caused Leland Chapman, elected associate editor, automatically to become editor of the paper, with the office of the associate editor absent. The board will act on the appointment at the next meeting Tuesday night.

Selection of an acting managing editor of The Argonaut to fill the vacancy caused by the automatic promotion of Floyd W. Lansdon to editor, was left in the hands of the editor for temporary appointment. Burton L. Moore, former member of the Argonaut and Star-Mirror staffs and reporter on the Boise Statesman for two years, was selected to serve until an election can be held.

EXECUTIVE BOARD CONSIDERS AWARDS

A. S. U. I. May Provide Trophies for Winners in Intramural Sports

Intramural athletics, including cross country, tennis, wrestling, boxing and basketball with medals for the winners in each division and an intramural cup for the group winning the largest number of points during the season, were urged at the meeting of the executive board Wednesday night by David MacMillan, director of athletics.

Mr. MacMillan stressed the importance of intramural athletics in school life and also the advisability of offering medal awards to winners as a means of reviving interest in this sort of activity. Wrestling has been dropped from the list of major sports in the conference and the director would keep it alive through intramural competition.

For each branch of sport recognized by the director, there will be a competent coach selected by the department of athletics. This includes boxing and wrestling instructors.

For the award system, Mr. MacMillan suggested gold and silver medals for winners in the various events. The winners in boxing and wrestling would include a medal man for each of the standard weights.

The board, without open discussion, took the matter under advisement until the next regular meeting, Tuesday night.

FIRST PEP RALLY TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Students to See First Open Grid Practice at Rally

The first big pep rally of the year will be held Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock on McLean Field, according to John McMurray, yell king.

At that time University of Idaho students will have their first opportunity to see the Vandal football squad in action during practice hours. Coach Erb has consented to have an open practice Wednesday afternoon with the idea of instilling the "Idaho fights" spirit into the new students and the old who are to lend moral support to Vandal grid stars this fall.

Members of the W. A. A. will be at the pep rally with a large supply of "I" caps to dispose to the students who have not yet made the purchase. "We hope to have a 100 per cent turnout, and a manifestation of football spirit and enthusiasm," said John McMurray to an Argonaut reporter.

IDAHO GRADUATES MAKE DARING TRIP

Glenn and Jeanne Hyde, Take 350 Mile Voyage Down Salmon River. Lewiston, Idaho.—(Special.)—Glynn Hyde and sister Jeanne of Kimberly arrived at Lewiston after a trip of 350 miles down the Salmon river from Salmon City, in a flat bottom boat. The hazardous trip was made in 10 days.

At one point the river drops 20 feet, over rapids and falls, within 50 feet, the navigators report. At this point in the Box canyon their boat lodged and nearly upset on the rocks. Mr. Hyde and his sister had spent the summer in the scanty populated upper Salmon river district.

Jeanne Hyde received her B. A. degree from the University of Idaho and has since taught in Honolulu and in California. Glenn also was an Idaho student, who will be remembered especially for his parts in dramatic productions a few years ago.

ERICKSON OUT

Ralph Erickson, Pocatello, Vandal all-round athlete and star end on the football team, will not be in the lineup this fall. An ankle, broken in the Idaho-Creighton game last Thanksgiving day, is not yet strong enough to stand the wear and tear of football, it has been definitely announced.

Erickson, who is a senior, is back in school and is assisting "Syb" Klemmer in coaching the freshman football squad. His ankle will not interfere with his participation in basketball and baseball. He was able to perform at center in the last few basketball games last winter and he did the lion's share of mound duty for the Vandals on the diamond in the spring.

Competition for Erickson's wing position is exceptionally keen. Eight candidates on the two squads recently selected by Coach Charley Erb are contesting for end berths and the contest is still highly unsettled. It seems probable that Herbert Canine, the only letter man in the bunch, may protect one wing more or less regularly, but the other job is still wide open to competition.

"I" CLUB PLANS FOR HULME FIGHT

Freshmen and Sophomores Will Clash in Traditional Struggle Saturday

Divisions of competition in the traditional Hulme fight on Saturday afternoon have been announced by Mark Lehrbas, "I" club chairman of the affair. Winners of each event will be allowed a certain number of points the total of which will determine the class winning the meet. Under an old Idaho tradition, if the freshmen are victorious, the customary green hat can be discarded at the Christmas vacation, never to be donned again. If they lose, the first year men must don the hats again on St. Patrick's day and wear them until the close of the school. All freshmen must wear this distinguishing mark after 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The events in the Hulme fight have been announced as follows: Boxing, light, middle, and heavy weight; wrestling, three events; pole fight, three events; tug-o-war, 12 men on each side; Hulme fight, 15 men on each side; pick-a-back race, 12 men; mounted fight, with one glove, three events; battle royal, with one glove, five men; flag rush, soph, the defenders, 15 men; freshmen, attackers, 20 men.

The committee from the "I" club in charge of each event are: Gehrke, boxing and wrestling; Mitchell, tug-o-war; Stockdale, pole fight; Greene, Hulme fight; Thompson, pick-a-back race and mounted fight; Erickson, battle royal; Lehrbas, flag rush. All freshmen football men are exempt from any class combat.

having been trainer under the late Andy Smith for Erb during the three years of his college football career at the University of California. Bryan was trainer at California for five years and last year he managed the Los Angeles Athletic club grid team at Los Angeles which was made up of mostly All-American men. He comes to Moscow direct from Los Angeles.

His first experience in athletics after he quit the track was in the capacity of director of athletics at the University of Pennsylvania for five years. After that he was director of athletics for two years at Northwestern University; two years at George Washington University, Washington D. C.; and 12 years at the Colorado School of Mines. While at the latter place, Capt. Bryan put out several championship grid teams. Previous to his career as athletic director, Captain Bryan played, considerable professional baseball, he said and was prominent in organizing several of the leagues operating today.

Upon his arrival here some two weeks ago, Captain Bryan began making many and varied improvements on the training quarters in the gymnasium. Practically all remodeling work has been completed and he now claims one of the best training quarters in the northwest.

BORAH STRIKES FIERCELY NULIFICATIONISTS' PROPAGANDA

"This educator," he said, "teaching college students disloyalty to the constitution, is dangerous. He has said, 'Why observe this particular amendment (the 18th) when we are convinced that it is wrong?' In my mind he is more to be feared than the unclean, unshaven, uncultured Bolshevik who makes his way into this country." Applause greeted this statement.

"In New York," he continued, "both parties have accepted nullification as a basic principle. The referendum is nothing more than a smoke screen to protect the candidates until after the fall election in November. The idea of state referendum is ridiculous, when it is remembered that the 18th amendment was passed to get away from state determination as to liquor prohibition. If we were to allow each state to determine what is the percentage of intoxication in liquors, we should have 48 different determinations in the United States."

Senator Borah made it plain that if a majority of the people in the United States wanted a repeal of the liquor law amendment, then the constitution makes plain provision for this, and these steps should be taken and the trampling under feet of the law should be eliminated for in this stands one of the greatest dangers to the preservation and the integrity of the nation.

In reply to arguments presented by wet forces, that the fifteenth and other amendments had been violated with impunity, Senator Borah replied: "Just because one law has been violated, that cannot be used as a precedent for the violation of other laws. And in my opinion, the fifteenth amendment has never been violated. The people of the south, facing the problem of existence, worked in good faith and with sincerity to protect themselves from an evil that threatened to blot them out." This was reference to the "grandfather clause" in regard to negroes having the vote.

"It is said that the 18th amendment is not entitled to respect because of the haste in which it was ratified. Can you call it haste when 38 states in the union had acted toward liquor prohibition before the question was submitted to congress for a constitutional amendment? No particular amendment has ever received so long a consideration as did the eighteenth. But whether the consideration took 50 years or 10 minutes for passage, if it is the will of the people that it is wrong, there is only one way to take it out of the constitution, and that is through the machinery provided in that great document. And this latter procedure is obligatory."

The speaker made it plain that he does not criticize anyone for wishing the repeal of any act. He has a right, he continued, to object just as much as he wants to and to repeal the act, if the proper procedure is undertaken. "I am hitting only at the program which calls for the utter disregard of the constitution."

He referred to a recent senate debate with Senator Bruce, Maryland, on the 18th amendment. Senator Bruce was characterized as the spokesman for the so-called wets, "and is a man with great courage, speaking the thoughts of hundreds of thousands of other men who have the conviction but not the courage to utter it." During the progress of the debate, Senator Bruce admitted, said Senator Borah, that conviction that the amendment was wrong, justified disregard of it. Here he assailed the leaders of the nation for openly advocating violation of the constitution.

Senator Borah was introduced to the assemblage of students, faculty and townspeople by President Upham as "the Prime Minister of the United States", the title given him by Will Rogers, self-styled diplomat and Ambassador to all of Europe. Throughout the formal introduction, the senator, stern visaged, sat with his head inclined characteristically forward, giving a hint of the virility and aggressiveness which has made him the greatest and probably the only true individualist in congress since the
