WORLD WAR VETS AND CADETS WILL STAGE PROGRAM

Armistice Day Will Be Observed By An Appropriate Celebration

R. O. T. C. TO PARADE

Student Soldiers Will Be Reviewed By Dudley Loomis Post

Activities of the university R. O. T. C. corps and the Dudley Loomis post of the American Legion will make up most of the program for Armistice day next Thursday, according to plans announced by Major F. R. Fuller, executive officer of the university corps. Armistice day has been announced as a holiday for university students.

A colorful and elaborate military program has been outlined by the military department and the legion. This program includes a parade and football game and two dances are scheduled for the days.

To Fire Salute
At 11 o'clock Thursday morning will be the firing of the national salute and raising of the flag on the American Legion flag pole at the site of the Memorial armory gymnasium, immediately north of MacLean field.

A luncheon for members of the American Legion and legion auxiliary will be given at the Moscow hotel at 12 o'clock noon, according to the plans.

GROUP HOUSES COMPETE IN RACES

Intramural Cross Country Is Introduced To Idaho

For the first time in the history of the University of Idaho cross country races will play a part in intramural athletics Saturday, November 13 at 11 o'clock. All men's group houses are expected to enter teams in the event. Any man is eligible to run who has not earned a letter in distance running. Each house may enter any number of men, but the first three finishing the course will count in the team scoring. Medals will be awarded to the winning team, and points will be given its house toward the intramural athletic cup which will be awarded under the present system of intramural athletics.

BLUE KEY VOTES THANKS TO HELP

Floyd Lansdon Represents Fraternity at Chamber of Commerce

Reports from the various committees who had charge of exploitation and arrangement of the Homecoming day program, were read at the regular luncheon meeting of the Blue Key at the Blue Bucket Monday noon.

Thanks were voted the Spurs, women's honorary organization, for its help in selling programs during the football game; to the underclassmen's organization which gave its time to decorating houses for the event, and to others who gave their help.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING TONIGHT

Departmental Budgets Will Be Considered; Open to Student Body

"DEAR BRUTUS" PLEASES HEARERS

Characters of Barrie's Play Are Wonderfully Portrayed

"Dear Brutus", the three act comedy presented by the Moroni Olsen players Monday evening, at the Kenworthy theatre was written by J. M. Barrie. The theme of the story was centered about this quotation from Shakespeare, "The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars but in ourselves, that we are underlings."

BABES PLAY LAST GAME SATURDAY

Scheduled to Meet University of Montana Frosh on MacLean Field

The Baby Vandals will play their last game of the season, on the regular schedule, next Saturday against the University of Montana frosh eleven on MacLean field. The Idaho yearlings came out of the W. S. C. tangle last Friday without any injuries and Coach Syb Kioffner is putting on the finishing touches on the early part of the week for the battle Saturday.

The Montana yearlings have a powerful team, according to reports received here. They were defeated by a small score by the Washington State frosh two weeks ago. The Cougar Babes scored a touchdown in the last quarter against the Idaho yearlings last Friday to beat them 9 to 7. Dope would indicate that the Idaho frosh are due for a trimming, but it is the opinion of the frosh team that the dope bucket will be upset.

The Baby Vandals have had a successful season so far this year, losing but two games, one to the Ellensburg normal eleven and the other to W. S. C. With the Montana game being the final game of the season for the frosh, the teams will open up, if necessary, to take the visitors into camp.

GRAD IS ELECTED COUNTY OFFICER

Fred Taylor, 26, Chosen Prosecutor at Recent Election

Fred Taylor, an Idaho graduate of '26, was elected prosecuting attorney of Valley county at the election held last Tuesday. Mr. Taylor was raised in Nampa, and received his early schooling there. After completing his high school course, he entered the University of Idaho as a law student. Shortly after graduation last spring, Mr. Taylor was admitted to the bar and then went to Cascade, where he opened a law office, and this fall was put up as a candidate for county attorney.

W. S. C. KICKS WAY TO 6 TO 0 VICTORY OVER IDAHO TEAM

Meeker Boots Ball Between Goal Posts for Cougar Scores

PLAY ON MUD FIELD

First Win for Pullman Over Vandals in Four Years

Through three seas, a half a dozen lakes, five quagmires and one river, Babe Hollingberry's Cougars outswam Charlie Erb's Vandals and won their first gridiron classic from the silver and gold in four years, at Idaho's annual Homecoming game here Saturday afternoon. The final score, a result of "Buch" Meeker's toe kicking the silly ball from its bed of muck for two perfectly executed placekicks, was 6 to 0. It is coincidental that the Cougars score last year came from two placekicks by this midget, eel-hipped football flash.

A twelve hour rain, the heaviest seen in Moscow this season, prepared the gridiron for the 1926 chapter of the "battle of the century." The center of the field was a pool, the outer edges of which were an oozing mass, over which snappy football could not be played. Both teams, coached in aerial playing, found it impossible to get up sufficient momentum to carry the ball closer than 15 yards to the goal line. Four other attempts failed.

Idaho Threatened Once
For its efforts, Idaho got within the 35-yard line only once. The remainder of the game was played in her own territory, with Meeker's crew finding little difficulty in pushing the ball forward at will. Showing occasional spurts of brilliancy however, the Vandal forward wall tightened sufficiently to prevent the

DEBATERS ARGUE LIQUOR QUESTION

University of British Columbia Will Meet Affirmative Team Here

Wednesday evening, November 10, the affirmative varsity team of the University of Idaho will debate the University of British Columbia on Resolved: "That nation wide prohibition is to the best interests of Canada." The debate will be held in the university auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Members of the negative and affirmative teams were selected Saturday by Debate Coach H. Carter Davidson. George Fresse and Warren Montgomery will defend the prohibition movement at home and Herbert Wunderlich and Samuel Chadburn will take the negative side of the question at Vancouver, B. C., November 11.

MATINEE DANCE ON THURSDAY

Mortar Board to Give College Dance Armistice Day at Bucket

The feature event of Armistice day will be a tea dance given by the members of the Mortar Board at the Blue Bucket. Plans are under way to make it one of the unusual and individual dances of the year. Good music is assured, tea will be served during the afternoon, and as a special attraction Misses Maurine Godfrey and Tess Burke will entertain.

WASHINGTON TRACK CHANCES BELOW PAR

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—PIP—Washington's chances for a successful year on the cinders are below par, according to Coach Hec Edmundson. Nine lettermen are lost to the university, and but eight have returned. Because of Edmundson's duties on the football coaching staff, no supervision of the fall track turn-out is to be had. The most likely performers of last year's prospects are the freshmen who earned points in the broad jumps, low hurdles, and sprints, Edmundson said.

'PLUS FOURS' CAST IS ANNOUNCED BY PROF. CUSHMAN

Four Dramatic Veterans To Take Leading Parts In Production

MUSIC BY D. NYVALL

Talbot Jennings and Ada Burke Are Authors of Show

Cast of players for "Plus Fours", the annual production of the university pep band, was announced Monday afternoon by Prof. John H. Cushman of the dramatics department, who is in charge of the dramatic part of the show. "Plus Fours" will be presented November 18 and 19 at the auditorium.

Rehearsal work on the show has been progressing for over a week and reports are that the production this year will be the best ever staged by the organization. It will outshine "The Tea Hawk" given last year by the band. It is stated, "Plus Fours" which is all original, has been written by Prof. David Nyvall of the music department while the words and skits were written by Ada Burke and Talbot Jennings of the English department.

Production Postponed.
A conflict in dates necessitated the postponing of the present action of this year's play from November 12 and 13 to the following week end. This extra time is being used advantageously by those in charge of the production in rehearsals, which are conducted each evening.

MOST OF CLASS OF '26 IS EMPLOYED

176 of Students Graduated Last Spring are Placed, Says Report

With 176 members of the graduating class of 1926 placed in good positions, Miss Bernice McCoy, head of the University of Idaho placement bureau, is searching her files for names of teachers to fill demands of school boards all over the state. Practically every member of the graduating class has been placed without filling the great demand, said Miss McCoy.

In addition to the large number of graduates placed, 32 of the 85 sophomores who studied education last year have been given teaching positions. These persons, however, may not teach in high schools, under the state law, but are allowed positions only in grade schools.

GROUP DEBATES ARE POSTPONED

Date Has Been Changed From Monday to Wednesday

All intramural debates which were scheduled for Monday were postponed till Wednesday evening, it was announced Monday evening. It was necessary to postpone the debates because of the Moroni Olsen players show Monday night at the Kenworthy and because of which no judges could be secured.

The debate between the Ridenbaugh hall affirmative and the Sigma Nu team on "Resolved, that all jobs offered to students by the university should be distributed irrespective of athletic prowess" will be held Wednesday night. The postponement of the debate between the Tau Kappa Iota team and the Kappa Alpha Theta negative was also made till Wednesday. The question to be discussed is "Resolved, that the 'Dutch Treat' should apply to all students, irrespective of sex."

Another debate set for Wednesday night is to be between the Beta Chi affirmative and the Alpha Chi Omega negative on the question, "Resolved, that all institutions of higher learning should abolish co-education."

IDAHO DELEGATE ATTENDS CONCLAVE

Ruth White Leaves for Mortar Board Convention in St. Louis

Ruth White left Sunday afternoon for St. Louis where she will attend the national annual meeting of the mortar board. Miss White expects to be gone two weeks and will return about November 21. The Mortar Board is an honorary women's society for upperclassmen, and membership is based primarily on campus activities and scholarship.

BOARD GOES INTO BUDGET DETAILS

Executive Committee of State Body Holds Short Session Saturday

Routine business connected with administration of the university was transacted at a meeting of the executive committee of the state board of education here Saturday.

Those present at the meeting were President A. H. Upham, Stanley Easton, Kellogg, Huntington Taylor, Coeur d'Alene, and Clency St. Clair, Idaho Falls.

From Moscow Mr. St. Clair went to Lewiston, where he will spend some time inspecting the state normal school. He spent two days at the university acquainting himself with the work being done by the university and discussing the budget which will be presented to the forthcoming session of the state legislature.

10,000 PEOPLE VISIT CAMPUS

Townpeople and Students Entertain Homecoming Guests Over Week-end

Approximately 10,000 or more visitors were on the University of Idaho campus for the annual Homecoming of 1926 during the last weekend. Wet and cold weather, which started Friday night, did not seem to dampen the spirit of the visitors already on the campus and those that continued to pour into Moscow Saturday morning. Complete plans had been made for caring for the visitors and it is believed that everyone was taken care of satisfactorily, according to officers of the Blue Key fraternity, which was in charge of Homecoming plans.

Programs for entertaining visitors, alumni and friends who were here for homecoming were staged Friday night by the various group houses on the campus. Saturday night the Athletic ball was the main drawing feature. In spite of the rain Friday night and Saturday morning a record crowd turned out to watch the Vandals and Washington State Cougars tangle in their annual grid battle. The bleachers were practically loaded to capacity, seating approximately 10,000 persons. Nearly a thousand students from Pullman journeyed to Moscow in a special train to see the contest.

The condition of the athletic field, due to the heavy rains, made it impossible to stage the annual stunt contest between the two schools and this event was called off. The trophy, which is put up by the alumni associations of both schools, has been won by Idaho twice in succession and three times are necessary for permanent possession.

Between halves at the game two bombs, which burst high in the air producing pennants representing Idaho and Washington State, were fired. Most of the visitors stayed on the campus over the weekend and did not leave for their respective homes until late Sunday. A large number remained until Monday before leaving.

SIGMA CHI WINS DECORATIVE CUP

Pi Sigma Rho Sorority First in Women's Competition for Homecoming Celebration

Sigma Chi, national fraternity, and Pi Sigma Rho, local sorority, were given cups for having the best house decoration for Homecoming Saturday by the associated students of the university. Kappa Sigma fraternity and Alpha Chi Omega sorority were given second placement in the dual contest.

TEN MEMBERS OF CLASS OF '01 HOLD REUNION SATURDAY

Revive Life of a Quarter of Century Ago at Gathering Here

SEE MANY CHANGES

Congressman Burton L. French Entertained At Dinner for Classmates

Ten of the surviving members of the class of '01, some of whom paid their first visit to the campus since graduation, revived life of a quarter of a century ago when they held their twenty-fifth reunion here Saturday. Some of the members came half way across the continent to swap yarns with men and women with whom they carried books "up the hill" before most students now in school were born.

Members of the class who answered the roll call were: John T. Burke, Lewiston; Samuel P. Burr, Helena, Mont.; Lucille F. Sinclair, Yakima; Congressman Burton L. French, Homer, David and Galford P. Mix, all of Moscow; Minnie Galbreath Marcy, Portland; Claude Gibson, Boise; Mayme Hunter Fisher, Orofino; J. Elbert Moody, Chicago; George Snow, Salmon; and Carol Lee Smith, Spokane. Several ex-'01 members, including John Boyd, Wallace, Edna Fife Little, Spokane; Flora Moore, Bennett; and Dolly Wethered, of Moscow, attended the meeting.

The old grads all voted that the 1926 version of the quarter of a century of reunions was the most successful of any.

When these men and women went to Idaho to root for the then unnamed Vandals, none of the buildings now on the campus had been erected, streets were not paved and fraternities had not yet appeared here. All remarked on the great change which has come over the school since that time. Then the student body was numbered in the low hundreds and the graduating class was less than a tenth as large as the one which receive sheepskins at commencement last June.

Following the actual reunion, the graduates were the guests of Burton L. French at a dinner. After this they were taken on a tour of the campus. They attended the Vandal-Cougar football game in a body. The day was closed at the Athletic ball Saturday night.

COUNCIL VOTES AGAINST FAVORS

Fraternity Groups Feel Gifts at Formals Too Expensive

Favors will not be distributed at formal balls given by University of Idaho fraternities, it was voted at a recent meeting of the interfraternity council. It was brought out in discussion preceding voting on the question that the practice involved too great an expense.

Following the passage of the motion, it was agreed by practically every fraternity on the campus that the sense of the motion would be carried out. It is not known at this time whether the Pan-Hellenic society will follow the example of the council in this matter.

New Homecoming

Idaho's Homecoming has passed, and with it another epoch in the history of the University of Idaho. More people were entertained in better fashion than ever before. Idaho's football team was defeated and Jupe Pluvius did his utmost to defeat the spirits of the 10,000 persons who saw the struggle on the gridiron. But defeat wasn't the outstanding feature of the weekend. The result was tinted deeply with victory off the gridiron. Visitors, many of whom were paying their first visit to the campus in 25 years, returned to their homes with a warm feeling in their hearts for the youngsters who were carrying on the work here that they left off before this generation was born. And that sort of a result is laudable.

Now it remains for those of us who will be on the campus for another year to start planning for the next Homecoming celebration. The one just past was successful. The one immediately ahead can be made more so. A greater crowd will be here; greater efforts should be made to entertain it.

It's a thing worth thinking about occasionally right away.

We Have Erred

Although Homecoming was a great success, taking it all in all, there were some events which went far toward marring it in the eyes of many students and visitors on the campus. Members of the sovereign freshman class, imbued, no doubt, with an idea of collegiate "as she is printed in the stories" went far beyond the limits outlined for them.

Instead of guarding the campus, as is traditionally the duties of the class during the week immediately preceding the Washington State college game, many members, organized and unorganized, went on rowdy expeditions to the neighboring campus. Painted buildings, sidewalks and posts were the result. While they were at their work, no doubt, the Idaho campus received its annual coat of paint.

And all this came in the face of requests from both President Upham of Idaho and President Holland of Washington State that such expeditions not be made.

This doesn't seem to be an expression of college spirit. It doesn't seem to have the earmarks of even gentlemanly conduct. It seems more like the action of rowdies. Forgetting for a moment the justified rivalry between the two schools, the request of President Upham should have been sufficient to stop an expedition of the sort Idaho and Washington newspapers are eager to give front page space to, with subsequent damage to the school in the eyes of progressive looking citizens of both states.

It doesn't seem like Idaho spirit when members of the largest class in school defy the wishes of a man who has worked unceasingly for six years to place Idaho in the position it now holds.

This certainly cannot have received the sanction of the entire class. For most of the members can see the potential danger to college buildings in retaliatory moves on this campus. And those students feel already enough pride in this institution to see that such a thing would be shameful.

This editorial is not seeking punishment for those who paniced the Washington State campus. It merely wishes to point out that some members of the A. S. U. I. have erred, hoping fervently that these same members will not repeat the error.

It is traditional that the bonfires of both schools are open to attack. Tradition tells us that for an Idaho student to fire a Washington State rubbish heap is glory to Idaho. And destruction of Idaho's wood pile, accordingly, brings shame upon the freshman class whose duty it is to prepare and guard it until the pre-game rally. And with this in mind the rivalry should be fostered. Set fire to the Washington State pile, if possible; expend all your energy to repel an attack on the Idaho wood heaps. But do not destroy property, and paint buildings.

Vandalism of the most distasteful sort should not be initiated by students who have concern in Idaho's welfare.

Hell

Hell has a new function in the scheme of things.

Instead of serving only for the purpose of frightening timid souls into a wholehearted movement toward good, the concept has come to have an entirely different and extremely useful function. We take Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, as authority.

"Hell," said Doctor Butler, in a recent address, "whether it be used figuratively or otherwise, is necessary for man as a 'cuss' word, if for no other reason."

Doctor Butler told his audience that his remarks were occasioned by serious consideration by some ministers to chase the vile word from the language.

It is possible that the great educator is doing a piece of work for humanity when he defends the word. For if there be no "hell", then what in heaven's name would happen to the man of high temper and careless tongue who wishes to express himself with vigorous and virulent speech, not to mention impressive emphasis?

Most of us, probably, would feel a distinct loss if this all powerful aid was skidded from the language.

CLASS OF '26 HOLDS LUNCHEON SATURDAY

Many of Last Year's Class Attend Luncheon at Blue Bucket

The class of '26, members of which were her for Homecoming, gathered at the Blue Bucket Inn Saturday noon for a class reunion and luncheon. The program was presided over by Wallace C. Brown of Lewiston, who was president of the class last semester. Approximately 100 members of the class attended the luncheon and outlined plans for organizing so as to keep in the closest touch possible with the university and its activities. It is planned to stage a similar gathering at each of the homecoming events in years to come.

Student Opinion

To The Editor:

Friday noon a committee meeting was called at the S. A. E. House to discuss William Lansdon's action in releasing on his own authority three W. S. C. men. Representatives from every house on the campus voted to adopt the following protest as a means of showing their resentment.

In as much as the freshman class of 1930 has on four successive nights, patrolled the campus of the University of Idaho, with loss of sleep, and great inconvenience to themselves, that they might prove their loyalty to their Alma Mater by successfully upholding her traditions, and preserving her honor and name; we feel that the rights and privileges of the class of 1930 have been grievously outraged, when an "IT" man, namely William Lansdon, who willfully misrepresented his powers as a member of the I club, and acted without authorization from that body, forcing us to release three W. S. C. men who were caught on our domain with intent to paint our campus.

The freshman class protests against this action taken by Mr. Lansdon in interfering with their duties of

SOCIETY

Even more enthusiastic and more brilliant than had been anticipated were the various events of Homecoming. The number of guests on the campus might be regarded as a fair estimate of the enthusiasm felt all over the state for this particular event. The firesides, luncheons and smokers scheduled for the entertainment of the guests were marked by unusual success, and it becomes obvious that the term "Idaho Hospitality" was, this past week end, made by means of these various social events, a reality.

With Homecoming over it might be expected that a reactionary period with no social events would follow, but the calendar shows that this is far from the case. The following week, with all its activities centering around Armistice day, is filled with a series of events that promise to be highly enjoyable. The night before Armistice day finds several house parties scheduled, Sigma Nu, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Chi, and others. The event of the day itself is to be a tea dance at the Blue Bucket, sponsored by Mortar Board. The American Legion dance will take place in the evening.

The weekend also is well filled, among the most important events being the Sigma Alpha Epsilon dance, and the Alpha Tau Omega annual "tin-can" dance. The appearance of Mary Lewis, noted singer on the evening of November 15 fills the calendar of the near future with a number of most pleasurable affairs.

The culmination of the numerous social events concerned with Homecoming was the Athletic ball, held in the gym on Saturday night. Decorations, carried out by the "I" club, were appropriate to the occasion. A huge block "I" suspended in the center of the room served as the beginning out of which red and white streamers wound, thus forming a false ceiling.

In the receiving line were: Ralph Erickson, president of the "I" club, Miss Louise Grunbaum, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erb, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Neidig, Miss Permeal French, Mr. Harland Simons, Mr. and Mrs. David McMillan, President and Mrs. A. H. Upham, Miss Ethel Green, Gifford Davidson, Miss Elizabeth Dunn, and Sylvester Kleffner. The dance as a whole proved to be the success which it has traditionally become.

Weekend guests of Phi Delta Theta were: James E. West, Hedley Dingle, H. Turnbull, Maurice Jackson, Harold Murray, Arthur Egbert, Leonard Bullcock, Clifford Hunter, Harold Telford, Wallace Brown, Bert Stone, Ernest Poe, Frank Kendall, Homer Kendall, Fred Shields, John Middleton, Port Arthur, Otto Leushel, George Castle, Homer Lipps, Howard Brashears, Chief Justice William E. E. Platt, Mrs. A. E. Bradshaw.

Kappa Sigma Homecoming guests were the following: R. M. Crump, P. J. Martin, J. A. Brown, W. C. Arnold, J. B. McDonald, James A. Thornton, Enoch A. Barnard, Victor Cameron, E. E. "FOR want of a nail the shoe was lost; for want of a shoe the horse was lost; and for want of a horse the rider was lost."

Production of materials, efficient work, progress and prevention of accidents are dependent upon the reliability of such an agent as a blasting cap.

Yet the actual cost of reliable blasting accessories is relatively so trifling that it is obviously wasteful to compromise with anything less than the accessories made by du Pont, thoroughly dependable for three very logical reasons:

FIRST: The products of 125 years of explosives experience.

SECOND: Made in the most complete explosives plants in the world; rigidly inspected at every step, and their performance practically observed in the field.

THIRD: The increasing demand for du Pont Blasting Accessories.

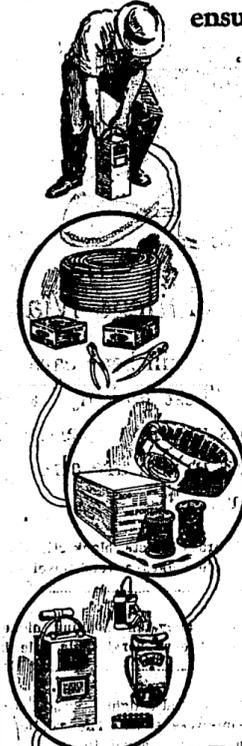

Students and instructors of many of the leading technical institutions are making extensive use in class rooms of "The Blasters' Handbook." Copiously illustrated and splendidly arranged for study and quick reference. Ask for a free copy!

IDAHO LIVESTOCK SCORES HEAVILY

Winning at International Exposition This Year Breaks Past Records

Winning four grand championships, seven championships, and 27 first places, University of Idaho livestock registered at the 1926 Pacific International Livestock exposition and broke the university's own impressive past records. The previous high mark, set last year when the college of agriculture entries were awarded two grand championships and 22 first places was far surpassed.

The four student judging teams, facing the keenest competition in the history of the show, also made good showings. The stock and dairy cattle judging teams each took a second place, the grain judging team was third in an exceptionally close contest, and the dairy products team took a fourth.

For the tenth time in the 14 years of competition a university fat wether was made grand champion. The winner, a Southdown lamb, sold for 40 cents a pound. The other three grand championships were won by a fat barrow, and by a pen of barrows. Championships were won by a two year old Forcherson filly, and by Hercules Prince, Shorthorn calf. The steer was sold to the Portland Hotel at 25 cents a pound.

A peculiar situation prevented the selection of a grand champion steer by the breed judges. Hercules Prince, an Angus steer, and a Hereford were in the running and the judges were unable to agree on a selection. A Denver packer, called in later to decide the contest, selected the Angus. Last year the university showed both the grand champion and reserve grand champion steers.

In addition to the championships and first places the university collected a large number of lesser awards. Its exhibits won 16 seconds, 16 thirds, three fourths, seven fifths, two sixths, and one seventh. Winnings in the different classes follow:

- Horses—One grand championship, one senior championship, one junior championship, three firsts, one second, and two thirds.
- Fat Hogs—Two grand championships, eight firsts, six seconds, four thirds, one fourth.
- Hogs (Breeding classes)—two seconds, two thirds, one fourth.
- Beef cattle—one championship, five firsts, two thirds, three fifths, and two sixths.
- Fat sheep—one grand championship, six firsts, four seconds.
- Sheep (Breeding classes)—three firsts, two seconds, five thirds, and two fourths.
- Dairy Cattle—two firsts, one second, one third, one fourth, and two fifths.

"PLUS FOUR" CAST IS ANNOUNCED MONDAY

together by interfering in every chorus number and every stunt, according to Mr. Cushman. They will exhibit the latest thing in plus-fours—and tee-off in unexpected places.

Dancers Named
Twelve dancers have been selected to "keep the dust flying" while the cast stops to catch its breath, says Prof. Cushman. These dancers are Georgette Miller, Maurine Godfrey, Beatrice Meeker, Helen McConnell, Barbara Rugg, Helen Wann, Mildred Axtell, Jessie Musser, Verna McMahon, Ruth Greene, Helen Samuels and Vernon Taylor.

New acrobatic chorus steps typical of the latest Broadway musical comedy successes will be performed by the mens' chorus, who will support the comedians. Men in the chorus as they will appear, are Maitland Hubbard, Harry Jones, E. V. Jenkins, N. Zener, Fred McEachern, Eugene Ware, Forrest Howard, E. A. Coons, J. H. Levander, Tom Humphrey, James Dunn, Robert St. Clair, Hal D. Bowen, Jack Metzgar, and George Yost.

FRENCH TO LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON

Congressman From Moscow Will Start for Capitol Wednesday

Congressman Burton L. French of the first district of Idaho will leave Wednesday for Washington, D. C., to participate in the short session of congress which opens next month. He will be accompanied by Mrs. French, Miss Edna Jackson, Mr. French's secretary, is visiting her parents in Boise before returning for the short session.

Following the close of the short session, in March, Mrs. French, accompanied by Miss Jackson, will start on a European tour. Mr. French probably will be busy in Washington with committee assignments and other official business. In view of that, the date of his return to Moscow is uncertain.

PLACE-KICKS ARE FATAL TO VANDALS

Idaho Drops Two Important Games Via This Method of Play

The lowly place-kick has proved the undoing of the Idaho Vandals in their two most important contests this fall. The Idaho goal line was uncrossed but the Vandals lost both games.

Wes Schulmerich, giant fullback of the Oregon Aggies, converted what should have been at least a scoreless tie into a victory for his team, when, in the closing minutes of the struggle at Portland, he booted the ball squarely between the bars from the 17 yard line. This kick came after Maples, flashy O. A. C. quarterback, had intercepted a Vandal pass and run more than half the length of the field to the 10 yard line. Three tries at the Idaho line netted only three yards, so the Aggies took the slim three-point win.

Last Saturday in the Homecoming game "Butch" Meeker, Washington State quarterback, earned the six point margin by which W. S. C. won, with the two perfect place kicks. He tried five altogether—one was blocked and the other two fell short.

Vandal fans feel that, according to the law of averages, they should have had the higher score in one of the games. Idaho was outplayed by W. S. C. on a muddy field, but the Vandals outplayed O. A. C. even more decisively. Followers, however, are more than satisfied with the team's unexpectedly strong showing, and they are already talking in big terms of next season. Coach Erb will then have all but two or three of this year's first string to work with, and in addition, the most promising array of freshman material an Idaho coach has ever had.

The University of Southern California game at Los Angeles is now the leading topic for the campus football stove league. It comes November 20.

YEA VANDALS

You fought in the wet and the mud and the cold,
Your hearts were both faithful and true;
You fought with a grin, and you never gave in,
And, boys, we are sure proud of you.
You battled for us in the rain and the mire,
With a spirit that faltered none.
Though scores, they made, you were unafraid;
You were true to the very last one.

You were blackened and bruised outside; but in—
You were white, pure white, through and through;
You stood by each fold of the silver and gold,
And, boys, we are sure proud of you.
Praises we shout for your sportsmanship
Not once forgotten; and, so,
Here's to you and the fight you made,
Ye Vandals of Idaho.

W. S. C. KICKS TO 6-0 VICTORY OVER IDAHO

Wash. Staters from going over for a touchdown. One of the brilliant spots of the game came when Leonard Beall, rangy end, broke through to head off Meeker. He grabbed the midget quarterback and shook him as a tarrier shakes a rat. Offensive and defensive work of Con Dewey and Gartin, tackles, Bliss center, Bauer, Hjort and Stark, guards and Chuck Diehl was outstanding; but it lacked the drive to stop the rush of the crafty Meeker.

Despite the fact that "Red" Jacoby led his eleven with skill, he was outfoxed time and again by Meeker. Then, too, as contributing factors, Sody Owings and Frank Powers, who furnished the booting power for the Vandals, found it impossible to average 30 yards with their punts. And, as Saturday's was a punting proposition, Idaho suffered accordingly.

Vandals Outplayed
Idaho was outplayed in practically every department of the game. Statistics show that the Vandals gained only approximately 80 yards in scrimmage. While the Cougars were piling up 175. Owings and Powers averaged only 27½ yards with punts, while Koenig booted for an average of 33 yards. The Vandals made three first downs to their opponents eight.

The Cougars' first score came within three minutes of the opening of the game. Meeker and Powers exchanging punts, with Washington State winning by 20 yards. A Line buck put the ball on Idaho's 30-yard line. From there Meeker made his place-kick. The second score came 10 minutes later, after Idaho had lost in a series of bucks and punting exchange. When the ball reached the 30-yard line, Meeker sent it through the goal posts.

Ferrins Gets Away
For the rest of the game—three whole quarters the ball was pushed back and forth down the field. A brilliant triple pass sent Ferrins down the field for 25 yards; but he died before he could get within scoring distance.

Nearly 10,000 persons braved threatening skies and occasional flurries of rain and sleet, to watch the Vandals and Cougars in their 28th struggle for football supremacy.
