IDAHO TO ADD AT LEAST THREE MORE CONTESTS TO LIST

Schedule of Four Conference Games To Be Built Upon

PLAN MID-WEST TILT

Fail to Get Together With California for Game Next Year

Three more contests, at least, will be added to the Idaho 1927 football schedule which now includes four conference games, according to Dean M. F. Angell. George Horton, graduate manager, and Dean Angell have just returned from Los Angeles where they were Idaho's representatives to the Pacific coast conference and manager's meetings.

Although no definite arrangements have been made, Idaho has received an offer to play an inter-sectional game with a leading mid-western school at Portland. Other possible opponents are Gonzaga university, Montana State college, Whitman college, University of Utah, Utah Aggies, and the College of Idaho.

Difficulty Experienced

Difficulty was experienced at the Los Angeles meeting in negotiating with California schools. U. S. C. offered a game with Idaho at Los Angeles on November 5, but as that is just a week before the game with W. S. C., it was deemed inadvisable from the standpoint of the Idaho team. The University of California, under the leadership of "Nibs" Price, would not meet Idaho in 1927, but definitely promised a game in 1928. There is still a possibility of a game with U. S. C. for the 1927 season, according to George Horton.

The University of Washington, which scheduled a game for next season with the University of Montana at Missoula, also promised to meet Idaho in 1928. The game will probably be played in Moscow.

Idaho's chief problem now is centered around the annual Homecoming. No game suitable for the occasion has been scheduled. The University of Montana meets the Vandals at Moscow on October 22, but past performances have shown that Montana would not be a drawing card. It has been suggested—and the suggestion has been supported by some alumni and students—that the Homecoming battle be fought annually with Washington State college, whether the

Is It 'Are' Or Is It 'Is'? R. R. Officials Ask; Learned Ones Disagree

It seems that the only course left is to have some spirit medium get in touch with the shade of Noah Webster. Otherwise, the executive staff of the Burlington railway system will continue to flounder over a problem that the experts of Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and other great seats of learning have failed to solve.

The Burlington road is seeking to tell the world that "along its right-of-way there are vast areas in which 'is' or 'are' produced two thirds of the oats, more than half the corn, etc., in the United States."

The agency which serves the road wrote "is" into the advertisement, but the passenger traffic manager substituted "are."

Then the traffic vice-president deleted the "are" and reinserted "is," with some caustic remarks about the grammar of the passenger department, if any. The passenger traffic manager then referred the matter to the University of Chicago, which voted for "is." Fortified with this authority, he resubmitted the copy of the advertisement to the traffic vice-president, adding that vice-presidents were all very well, but did not involve any great knowledge of the niceties of speech.

Thoroughly aroused, the traffic vice-president then summoned the legal department, the public relations official and an S. O. S. was sent to the Northwestern university, which supported "are." Submitting this decision to the passenger traffic manager he added that "as an authority on English speech Chicago hardly compares with Northwestern. Quite likely you consulted Coach Stagg."

This led to a meeting of all concerned and the problem was submitted to Harvard, which voted for "is." The lexicographer of a widely-accepted dictionary voted for "are." Princeton university decided in favor of "is," and Yale promptly came to bat in favor of "are."

So there the matter stands. Plainly it is up to Noah Webster.

U. of A. Meets Oxford

The University of Arizona debating team will meet a team from Oxford, England, this year for the second time. The English team comes to Tucson as part of a tour of the United States.

MAY SECURE ONE FARE ON SPECIAL

University Officials Are Seeking Reduced Rates To South Idaho

Efforts are being made by university officials to secure reduced railroad fares to south Idaho over the Oregon, Washington Railroad and Navigation company. One and a half fare for a round trip has been granted by the company, but it may be possible to get a single fare rate from Moscow to Huntington and fare and a half from Huntington to other points eastward.

Pres. A. H. Upham is negotiating with railroad officials, but there is nothing definite as yet.

Another possibility is that a single fare rate for the round trip can be secured from here to Huntington, Ore., and an additional one and a half tickets from there to south Idaho points. In case this is done, Wednesday's assembly will be cancelled and the 11 o'clock classes advanced to 10 o'clock. The special would leave at 12:30 in the afternoon. This would allow an hour and a half to get tickets. It may be possible that tickets can be obtained in Moscow to Huntington and eastward.

STUDENTS HEAR DIENST SPEAK

Boise School Superintendent Addresses Assembly on "Futures in Idaho"

"Futures in Idaho" was the subject of the address of Charles F. Dienst, superintendent of Boise schools, who talked to the postponed university assembly Thursday morning.

"The question of studying the future of the state in many fields with a view to determining an occupation, should be foremost in the minds of the citizens of the state," Superintendent Dienst said. "The future of the state and the chances within its domains stands out as a challenge of the youth of today."

"Intelligent observation and careful study of the future state are the two factors which form the basis for a choice of a vocation in the present day. With this study comes the call of the builder, the agriculturist, the miner and the engineer, who promise to play a large part in the future of Idaho."

DEBATE FINALS TO BE HELD MONDAY

Ridenbaugh and Tau Kappa Iota In Race for Trophy

Intramural debate finals will be held Monday evening, December 13, at 7:15 o'clock in room 205 Administration, with Ridenbaugh defending the negative and Tau Kappa Iota upholding the affirmative of the question, resolved: "That the allied war debts should be cancelled." Both of the teams have proven their right to debate in the finals by decisive victories throughout the season. The Theta Epsilon debating cup will be presented to the winners in Monday night's contest.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon lost its right for further competition in intramural debate by a 3 to 0 defeat at the hands of Ridenbaugh hall, November 30, on the question, resolved: "That a cabinet officer should be created with provisions to govern primary, secondary and higher education."

Charlotte Smith and Merna Adams debated for Ridenbaugh and Milton Zenger and George Young represented Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Intramural debate has been well attended throughout the season and a large crowd is expected Monday night, according to Herbert Wunderlich, manager. The question, being an international one, bears more proof, constructive arguments being lengthened to several minutes and rebuttals to five minutes.

TEAM SHOOT WITH MONTANA

Women's Squad Opens Season; Scores for Match Not Yet Announced

The university women's rifle team fired a match with the University of Montana this week. Ten scores were fired and the five high total scores will count. The ten members of the squad who fired in this match are: Josephine Keane, Ruth Schwarz, Alta Tupper, Gertrude Gould, Helen Dalton, Elva Reid, Ila Peairs, Marlon White, Mary Huff and Josephine Broadwater. The alternates are Helen Kerr, Marylou Craven, E. Curtis, Helen Gould and LaReta Beeson.

The Idaho and Montana scores will be announced next week. The range will be open on Saturday from 11 to 12 o'clock for team members and alternates for practice.

HUNTERS UNABLE TO FIND KLEWENO

Workers to Search Streams for Clues of Missing Man

Most of those searching for R. C. Kleweno, missing for 10 days near Harvard, Thursday gave up the search after being unable to find a single clue leading to the fate of the 27-year-old Genesee man.

Nearly 150 workers were out Wednesday and Thursday, but by Thursday afternoon, having covered every foot of territory for miles around the place where Kleweno was last seen Tuesday, December 2, decided further efforts useless. Nearly all the ground covered the past several days had previously been gone over thoroughly.

Streams Now Low

Streams of the region, swollen a week ago, Thursday were down to normal near-dryness, and were followed for many miles in the hopes of finding the hunter's body. Forest service men declare, however, that they will continue their search all winter, following animal tracks wherever possible in the knowledge that coyotes would hover around a dead body for months.

Most of the searchers were returning to their home Thursday afternoon, but a number from the Harvard region will continue to go over the region for several days and at odd times in the hopes of finding a clue.

BOARD APPROVES DEBATE BUDGET

Becher Is Held to Be Ineligible for Glee Club Manager

Approval of the debate budget and the proposed barnstorming tour of the Idaho Vandal basketball squad during the Christmas holidays was voted by the executive board at its session Thursday night. The proposed glee club type was discussed and tabled pending the presentation of figures on finances by E. Orin Bangs, head of the music department.

Edmund Becher, who has Mr. Bangs' recommendation as manager of the Glee club, was declared ineligible for that position. It was pointed out that the constitution of the student body requires that the club select one of its membership to serve in that capacity. And Mr. Becher is not a member. A manager probably will be elected by the club and presented to the executive board for approval soon.

Robert Davidson, secretary of the university unit of the Y. M. C. A., reported to the board on the new Inter-Church Student council, asking that the organization be granted recognition. The board held it was without jurisdiction in the matter of recognition, in that the constitution requires only that the organization submit its constitution and bylaws to the board to be placed on file. Recognition is in the hands of the faculty.

The proposed "chest fund" drive contemplated by the council, however, must receive the sanction of the executive body, it was pointed out. Under the proposal of the church organization, all funds needed by the various units in the council would be solicited at one time, to be apportioned by the council by budget. Each church club and the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. would elect members to the student council, under the by-laws of the group.

President Harry Baughman presided for the first time since he was stricken with appendicitis November 18.

ENGINEERS' DANCE IS TRADITIONAL

Associated engineers will give their twelfth annual all-college dance next Saturday night, December 11, in the Blue Bucket. The hall will be appropriately decorated with engineering apparatus. Rex Brainard's orchestra will furnish the music.

This dance resumes an old tradition which was omitted last year, said Hugh Carroll, general chairman.

Student Window Cleaners' Union Organizes Branches in Many Colleges and Universities

"In the morning we begin on the outside looking in Massaging window panes," New York (By New Student Service)—"This 'ditty' might well be the official anthem of the intercollegiate organization of window cleaners which has branches at a dozen or more colleges and universities in Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. These students earn their way in college by their window-cleaning activities.

Clarence and Walter Rose began this student organization, which they still control, in 115 while working their way through the University of Colorado. Each branch that is formed has its own local manager.

Large contracts are often secured. The Rice Institute group, composed of fifteen students, has contracts for cleaning windows of some of the most important banks and office buildings

IDAHO TO DEBATE GONZAGA THURSDAY

Affirmative Team to Remain Here; Negative Squad to Spokane

Thursday evening, December 16, in the university auditorium, at 8 o'clock, Idaho's affirmative team, composed of J. Lale Simmons of Burley, and Edmund T. Becher of Twin Falls, will debate the negative team of Gonzaga university on the question, "Resolved that the United States Government is justified in recapturing one-half of the railroad earnings in excess of six per cent on the fair valuation of the property, as is provided for in the transportation act of 1920."

This is to be a no-decision debate, however, an unofficial audience vote will be taken.

The negative team of the University of Idaho, composed of Maurice Nelson and Warren J. Montgomery, both of Boise, will travel to Spokane to meet Gonzaga's affirmative team there, according to Edmund Becher, varsity debate manager.

The question to be discussed is one in which the business men are intensely interested at the present time, and is one of general appeal to the thinking public.

Professor Virgil R. D. Kirkham will preside at the local debate, and music will be furnished by members of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music fraternity.

ANNIVERSARY OF PHI BETS SUNDAY

Phi Beta Kappa Chapter to Celebrate Founding of the Fraternity

Idaho Alpha of Phi Beta Kappa will celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the fraternity next Sunday afternoon, December 12, at 4 o'clock at the Blue Bucket Inn. The Idaho celebration is only one of more than a hundred such celebrations throughout the country. The exact date of the anniversary is December 5; but out of respect to Francis Eldridge, who made Phi Beta Kappa as a junior and who was the first member to die after the founding of the chapter, the Idaho meeting was postponed for one week.

The Idaho chapter will have as its guests Sunday the wives and husbands of its members, visiting members of the fraternity from W. S. C., the entire membership of the 14 honor societies on the campus that demand high scholastic standing, and representatives from all the social Greek letter fraternities and sororities. The selection of these student groups was made because not only all honor scholastic societies but also all Greek letter social fraternities trace back to Phi Beta Kappa.

Preceding the celebration on Sunday will come the initiation Saturday afternoon of McKean Fitch Morrow and Professor Arthur Sylvester Howe. Mr. Morrow graduated in 1908 from the University of Idaho. He held the Rhodes scholarship at Oxford, has a B. A. from Oxford, and is Doctor of Jurisprudence from the University of Chicago. Professor Howe is a graduate of William and Mary college in Virginia in the class of 1911. The Idaho chapter is initiating Professor Howe for the mother chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. Had it been possible for him to have left the University he would have been initiated at William and Mary in connection with the national celebration there at Thanksgiving.

UNIVERSITY ISSUES FACULTY DIRECTORY

A faculty directory has been compiled by the University of Idaho and is ready for distribution, according to university officials.

The book is one of 15 pages containing the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of the university faculty. It also gives the official rank of the faculty members and the department that they are located.

ATTILA CLUB MEETS

The Attila club, underclassman's service organization held a meeting at the Beta Theta Pi house Wednesday evening. It was decided to hold a special luncheon meeting at the Blue Bucket Inn next Tuesday, to consider pledges who will be named at the beginning of the second semester.

Three freshmen at Butler University in Indianapolis were shorn of their hair because they refused to buy freshman caps or to stop wearing their high school letters.

LEGISLATORS COME TO IDAHO CAMPUS

North Idaho Law Makers Visit University Friday and Saturday

LEGISLATORS COME—24 POINT

Several Idaho state legislators are guests on the university campus today remaining here until Saturday morning when they will go to Lewiston for a meeting there. Charles F. Dienst, superintendent of public instruction at Boise, is also a guest and spoke to the student body at the assembly Thursday morning.

Members of the legislature, who are from the northern part of the state, made a tour of the campus this morning and during the afternoon continued looking over the campus and buildings. Thursday Mr. Dienst and legislators were guests of the Moscow chamber of commerce at its regular weekly luncheon.

Legislative visitors who are on the campus today are as follows: Alex Kasburg of Lewiston; Lloyd Fenn, Kootenai; G. H. Hastings and M. Harding, Nezperce county; Reader, Clearwater county; J. B. Manifold, Kootenai county; J. A. Marsh, Deary; Lieut. Gov. O. E. Halley, St. Maries; A. C. Wunderlich, St. Maries; E. W. Trueman, St. Maries; Secretary of State F. E. Lukens; E. L. Taylor, Coeur d'Alene.

NAME 12 FROSH ON FIRST SQUAD

Yearling Basketball Team Best Ever Seen Here, Says Coach

Coach David MacMillan, who is handling the frosh as well as varsity basketball, has named the 12 leading frosh players, from which will be chosen the freshman squad. He names Stowell, McMillan, Nieman, Mitchell, Berg, and Barrett, forwards; Munden, Bob Drummond, Frazier, and Christians, guards; and Thornhill and Christianson, centers.

"The actual cutting of the frosh team which still stays around 50, will not be done until after Christmas vacation. A schedule is not as yet completed, but will include a long list of hard games. The frosh team looks like the best bunch of material Idaho has ever had, according to Coach MacMillan.

OWINGS NAMED ON ALL-COAST ELEVEN

Vandals Captain Chosen By Louttit as Fullback on Mythical Team

Tom "Sody" Owings, Idaho's red-haired fullback, has been named by Tom Louttit, sport writer for the Portland Telegram and coast conference official, as fullback on his choice of coast conference all-stars.

Louttit says of Owings: "The outstanding fullback is Owings of Idaho. He has without a doubt been the backbone of Coach Charlie Erb's Vandals. Owings has been Idaho's most consistent ground gainer, is a good thrower of forward passes and the best defensive fullback in the conference."

Owings has played three years of varsity football at Idaho and has always been a consistent backfield man. Throughout the 1926 season, he has shown himself to be the mainstay of defense and offense of the Vandal squad. Owings played his last game for Idaho Thanksgiving day, when he helped the Vandals close the season with a brilliant victory over Creighton university at Omaha, Nebraska.

Men chosen on this all-coast first string are:

- Cravath, U. S. C. .... Center
- Swan, Stanford ..... Guard
- Kramer, W. S. C. .... Guard
- Hibbs, U. S. C. .... Tackle
- Dressel, W. S. C. .... Tackle

VANDAL QUINTET WORKING HARD

Fast Rounding Into Shape for Games With Montana Next Week

Idaho basketball fans will have their first chance to view Vandal hoop marksmanship on December 18 and 20, when Montana State will invade Moscow on its barnstorming tour. The games will be played in the gymnasium on Saturday and Monday.

Coach MacMillan plans to have his men ready for the Montana contests by that time by dint of constant pre-arrangement in which they are located.

It's sad when the tailor has to start a suit to collect for the one he's made.

FOUR PRODUCTIONS MAKE UP SECOND SERIES OF PLAYS

Four One-act Plays Please Large Audience Thursday Night

SHOW AGAIN TONIGHT

New Casts for Presentations This Evening; Curtain at 8 o'clock

Members of the elementary and advanced play production classes presented the second series of plays when a large crowd turned out for the four one-act productions in the auditorium Thursday night. These plays are to be given again this evening in the auditorium at 8 o'clock. The presentations are under the direction of Prof. John H. Cushman.

The plays include "Her Tongue" by Henry Arthur Jones, a comedy wherein a marriageable young woman talks herself out of a good match with a shy bachelor; "The Bell Tolls Three" by Lynn Davis, a swiftly moving episode from Chaucer's "Pardoner's Tale" with the scene laid in a sinister medieval tavern; "The Fifth Commandment" by Stanley Houghton, the story of a daughter's sacrifice for a selfish mother; and "Followers" by Harold Brighthouse, suggested by Mrs. Gaskell's famous stories of Cranford village.

Practically new casts for each of the plays will appear on this evening's program, with one set of performers taking parts last night. Following is the casts for the productions tonight:

- "Followers" by Harold Brighthouse: Lucinda Baines—Germaine Gimble; Susan Crowther—Violetta Spurgeon; Helen Masters—Irene Agner; Col. Charles Redfern—Mac Hardwick; "The Fifth Commandment" by Stanley Houghton: Mrs. Mauntain—Lola E. ## Three Chief Executives Planted Trees on Campus; Who Were They?

Did you ever notice the triangle composed of three medium sized trees southeast of the Administration building? They have a history. In April 1911 when making a western campaign tour President Roosevelt visited the campus. On April 10, he planted the Colorado blue spruce that forms the south angle of the triangle. The Lawson cypress which is at the north angle of the triangle was planted by President Taft October 4, 1911. The red oak, at the eastern angle of the triangle was planted by Vice President Marshall November 17, 1917, when he and Mrs. Marshall visited the university campus.

On the three occasions when national executives have honored us with their visits, they have been entertained. Special assemblies have been held and receptions given in order that the students might have the opportunity of meeting the president. The students enrolled at the university at that time no doubt received a lasting impression of the nation's chiefs.

PLAN OPEN MEETING OF FRESHMAN GIRLS

Wardine Jessup of Pullman, Y. W. C. A. freshman commission advisor at W. S. C., addressed the meeting of the freshman commission of the Y. W. C. A. held Friday evening at the Gamma Phi house. Her subject was the work of the freshman commission on the campus.

Plans were formed for a big open meeting for freshman girls on December 17. The freshman commission will take charge of the next meeting of the Y. W. C. A. to be held Tuesday, December 14, it was stated.

A recent rule has been put into effect.

MADE 4TH RECORD IN CROSS-COUNTRY

University of Washington (P.I.P.)—Rufus Kiser, freshman, made his fourth consecutive record-breaking run in a recent three-mile cross-country run when he finished the three-mile course in a time of 14 minutes and 39 seconds. Kiser first lowered the 15:09 record held by "Red" Ramsay, varsity star, in the early part of the season, and in consecutive trials has further depleted the mark.—The Evergreen.

Student Educators

In a short time the campus will be deserted and students will have scattered to their various homes for the Christmas holidays. Before they leave, however, there are certain definite things to be done by every student.

Perhaps the first thing in order is that knowledge of the university should be classified so students will be prepared to answer the thousand and one questions that are always propounded to the person just home from college. He will be called upon for minute description of almost everything at the institution: members of the faculty, names of the buildings, traditions, conditions of various kinds on the campus, names of all the fraternities, both social and honorary; who is here, what he is doing. These subjects will be asked about and a thousand others not mentioned.

As a representative of the university, every student should be informed upon every phase of its activity. The one per cent of the total population which is supposed to be pursuing a college education is a curious object in the minds of most people, especially those who have never been to college and who have rather doubtful opinions as to its worth. Every act of the college student is watched by these persons; and every misstep is gloried in and taken as prima facie evidence of the failure of the college to do what it is popularly supposed to be doing toward educating youth.

This suggestion is directed mainly toward the freshmen who have yet the ordeal of the first visit home before them. They are the "home town's" most recent contribution to college life. And, naturally, the home town will be watching them closest. And, too, these students probably are the ones who know least about the institution. They should make an added effort to gather about them whatever information they can before they go home. A better impression will be left in the minds of those propounding the questions and the student himself will be benefited by being able to discuss clearly and to give first hand information of campus life, which between the opening of school last fall and now, has been discussed only through correspondence and the press.

Writing

In the mind of everyone, almost, at some time or another, there lurks the unexpressed idea that if circumstances were favorable, he could write. These persons feel that if given a chance they could train words: make them lie down, play dead, get up again, jump through a hoop and then skin the cat on the bar of a typewriter. And, strange as it may seem, most of these persons can write; but they have not been given the chance, just as they feel they haven't.

At the present time there exists a demand for "feature" writers on The Argonaut staff. There seems to be an unsatisfied demand for human interest stories that is not being filled. Attempts have been made by regular staff members and two or three have been retained partially for this phase of work. But routine news reporting has occupied most of their time, with a consequent injury to the feature end of the paper.

The editor will welcome candidates for positions on the staff in this end of the work. Applications can be handed direct to the editor or at the regular staff meeting, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Room 207, Ad building.

The University of Wyoming is the only institution in the United States to have 12 varsity debating teams of equal rank. A university in California boasts of an all-male sewing society. Co-eds out that way probably dress so stantily that mending is unnecessary.

PROFESSOR HITS FOOTBALL ETHICS

Insisting that the "big games" are "battles" and doubting that there is a real connection between football and college education, an anonymous University of Minnesota professor condemns gridiron activity as "heartless and unsportsmanlike" in an article entitled "As the Professor Sees the Game" appearing in Scribner's.

"It is an economic and financial struggle, at bottom as heartless and unsentimental and unsportsmanlike as struggles of that sort usually are," declared the mathematics instructor. He wonders "if men fulfill scholastic requirements for the sake of football, or do they play football the better to meet scholastic requirements."

The writer questions gridiron ethics of current practices in use at intercollegiate games and is uncertain whether it is quite right with a small college playing a large university and having no extra men to substitute, that the entertaining team put in three new, untired players in the last five minutes and win the game.

COLLEGE DIVISIONS DIFFER SAYS DEAN

Francis Thomson Explains Use of "College" and "School" Terms

The designation of exactly the same types of divisions in universities and colleges in the country as "schools" and "colleges" is apparently an irregularity, Dean Francis A. Thomson of the school of mines stated in an interview regarding the terms "college" and "school." Dean Thomson continued in his discussion: "Officially up until 1917, when I came to the University of Idaho, I think all of the major divisions were officially termed 'colleges', although I recall that in some catalogs prior to this date the caption heading the description of the college of law carried the sub-caption 'Idaho law school.'"

"The four divisions which have been established since 1917—namely mines, forestry, education, and business administration, have each been designated schools. Now of course there is an apparent anomaly, in thus giving two different designations to exactly the same types of divisions for the university has 'colleges' of letters and science, agriculture, engineering, and law, with 'schools' of mines, forestry, education, business administration, and graduate division which is designated 'the graduate school.'"

"Consistency, which is said to be 'the jewel of small minds' would of course demand that all of them be called 'colleges' or that all of them be called 'schools', or that all of them be called something else. However, so far as my own division is concerned, the expression 'school of mines' is an historic one. The three great European schools in my field are: the Royal School of Mines in London; the Ecole des Mines at Paris; and the Bergakademie at Freiberg in the Hartz Mountains. Furthermore, the first institution to attain any eminence in the field of mining education in North America was the Columbia school of mines and we have the Colorado school of mines, the Missouri school of mines and metallurgy, and numerous others.

"It is not probable that because of the familiarity of the expression"

Lucille Anderson was a dinner guest of Kappa Kappa Gamma Wednesday evening.

Dinner guests of Alpha Chi Omega Wednesday were: Dr. and Mrs. Wodsedalek, Dean and Mrs. Dale, and Dr. and Mrs. McGee.

Thursday evening dinner guests of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were Dr. and Mrs. Larsen and Professor and Mrs. Kerr.

Dean of Women, Miss Permeal French was a Wednesday evening dinner guest of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Sigma Chi dinner guests Wednesday evening were Mrs. Kail, Katherine Samuels, Bernice Kendall, Beulah Brown, Margaret Dickenson, Margaret Elder, Polly Parrot and Eldora Davis.

Wilfred Wainsley was a luncheon guest of Sigma Chi Thursday.

Mrs. F. S. Randall spent the weekend in Spokane.

Jean Greenway was a dinner guest of Kappa Kappa Gamma last Tuesday.

Mrs. George Morey Miller was a weekend guest of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

'school of mines', the other divisions which were created since or at the same time were called 'schools' rather than 'colleges.' I think the thing rests on some such basis as this: father than on any deliberate consideration of the relative ability of the two words.

"For the sake of consistency, many of the larger western institutions have designated their mining division as the 'college of mines'. Yale has 'the college' and has schools of this, that, and the other, and there is much variation in practice, within or between different institutions in this respect."

BANQUET VOLLEY BALL SQUADS

Thirty-four Girls Attend Post-season Dinner at Blue Bucket

The prize was given for the freshman stunt. Decorations were in keeping with the occasion and the balloons were used to play volley ball across the table. ## PICKING MEN TO MAKE XMAS TRIP

Nedros, Miles and Erickson Sure of Jobs on Barn-Storming Trip

Middle Nedros, John Miles, and "Lief" Erickson have their old hoop-tossing positions secure for the Vandals' barnstorming trip which begins December 22 and lasts until January 10, according to David MacMillan, varsity coach. The fight for the other two positions will probably be between Lamphere, Jacoby, and Greene. Miles and Nedros are Idaho's star forwards. Erickson plays a stellar game at center, and Lamphere, Jacoby, and Greene are fighting hard for guard positions.

From a list of 13 men, Coach MacMillan will choose his traveling squad of 10. The other men named as floor leaders in basketball are Remer and Collins, centers; Canine and Dawald, guards; Rippe, forward; and O'Brien and Hyde, guards.

The men are working out every night at 4 o'clock and are getting constant drill on the fundamentals of basketball. Prospects of a coast championship team are very bright. Each man on the squad has had considerable experience, and this should be Idaho's strong year in basketball.

The schedule for the barnstorming tour is as follows:

- December 22—Spokane
- December 23—Rothchild's club, Seattle
- December 24—Coliseum club, Portland
- December 27—Marysville, Cal. (fowl team)
- December 28—Ambler's club, Stockton, Cal.
- December 29—Young Men's Institute, San Francisco
- December 30—St. Ignatius college, San Francisco
- December 31—State Normal School, San Jose, Cal.
- January 1—Southern Branch, University of California, Los Angeles, Cal.
- January 3—Los Angeles Athletic club, Los Angeles
- January 4—Pacific Coast club, Long Beach, Cal.
- January 5—Fresno State Teacher's college, Fresno, Cal.
- January 6—Ellery Arms Co., San Francisco
- January 7 and 8—University of Nevada, Reno

High School Sports In Idaho

By Les Robinson

"One of the best coached high school teams ever put out in Idaho" is the verdict of football critics on the Lewiston high school Bengals, newly-crowned football champions of Idaho as a result of the championship game at Lewiston last week between Lewiston and Twin Falls. The Bengals looked much like a college team in action, executing the reverse and fake reverse plays, end runs, off-tackle bucks, and passes with wonderful precision and effectiveness. Their superiority over the southern champions was so outstanding that even the most enthusiastic Lewiston fans were surprised at the result.

Up until the last three minutes of play, when Coach Babe Brown, former Vandal grid star, put in eight of his second string boys, the northern champions had held Twin Falls to a single first down and about 50 yards from scrimmage. Lewiston lost several good scoring opportunities by fumbles with the slippery ball, and might have run up an even larger score. Never has a team functioned more perfectly and fans who have seen both college and high school games this year declare that the execution of the complicated fakes and reverses was almost perfect. The Bengal line outcharged the Bruin forwards both on offense and defense, showing superior effectiveness throughout, stopping every Bruin offensive, and opening holes through which the Bengal backs raced for long gains. The game was played on a wet turf field; one third was quite slippery, but the other two thirds was of solid grass and not bad going. The Lewiston players were more at home on this field than Twin Falls and, with mud cleats, negotiated it with almost the same ability as they would a dry field. But with speed plays, the chief offensive weapon, both teams were handicapped.

For the purpose of making all-state selections within the next two weeks the writer has on hand the team rosters of the 30 leading high schools in the state, and the all-district selections of the coaches of these schools. Newspaper clippings of practically every game played in the state are also available, as well as the all-district selections of sport writers. The writer has seen six of the leading north Idaho teams play and Twin Falls of the south. The writer is judging that Pocatello, Twin Falls, Nampa, and Caldwell are practically on a par, since there was no actual southern series this year.

The teams of the north and the south have been rated for purposes of making the selections. Some teams are strong due to superior coaching and others because of an abundance of material. These things have been taken into consideration. The writer figures the champion Bengals the best coached team in the state. Lewiston is regretting the loss of Babe Brown as coach, he having resigned from the Lewiston school at the middle of the season following a break with the school board. His contract was terminated after the championship game. "Syb" Kletfner, of Twin Falls, former Rupert coach and Idaho coach football coach this fall, succeeds Brown as head of the Bengal athletic department.

Rating of northern teams is as follows: Lewiston, Genesee, St. Maries, Coeur d'Alene, Moscow, Bonners Ferry, Wallace, Sandpoint, Kellogg, and Plummer. Rating south Idaho teams is a much harder task because there are three districts, but there were enough inter-district games this year that judging is much more accurate than in past seasons. Pocatello is given first rating in the south and the other leading teams follow: Twin Falls, Nampa, Caldwell, Idaho Falls, Boise, Pirth, Shoshone, Piler Emmett.

FIRST ISSUE OF IDAHO ENGINEER

Articles on Various Engineering Projects Included in Publication

The December issue of the Idaho Engineer, official semi-annual publication of the College of Engineering, will be ready for distribution Monday morning, December 13. Copies may be secured at the Engineering building, according to Carl Clare, circulation manager.

Contained in this issue are the following articles: "The Investigation of Engineering Education", Ivan C. Crawford; "The Use of a River", George N. Carter; "The City and the Educated Citizen", Robert Ridgway; "Idaho Highway Problems", Perry E. Oxley; "Manufacture of Plate Glass", A. E. Brawner, Jr.; "Idaho Water Supply and Sewage Disposal Practice", A. P. Ludberg; and some engineering projects in the northwest. The feature article is a preliminary report on the Kootenai Lake project by W. J. E. Biker, consulting engineer of Nelson, B. C. In this article the international complications arising from the use of Kootenai river is discussed from the standpoint of reclamation, irrigation, and power interests. Some interesting notes on campus life 30 years ago, alumni notes, present activities in the Engineering College are also included in the magazine.

IDAHO TO ADD THREE MORE GAMES TO SCHEDULE

Southern Branch Admitted
The Southern Branch of the University of California was admitted to the Pacific Coast conference at this meeting. Dean Angell was re-elected secretary of the conference. May of the University of Washington, succeeds Carpenter of W. S. C. as president of the association. Masters of Stanford and Benedict of O. A. C. were elected president and secretary respectively of the Manager's association.

TOBACCO, PROFANE LANGUAGE TABOO

Tobacco is not used by college men as much as the public thinks, if statistics gathered from the freshman class at Ohio State can be accepted as a criterion. Out of a total of 2184 men, only 35 per cent, or 770 men, use tobacco in any form.

Of the total number of tobacco users, 430 are cigarette smokers, 239 smoke the collegiate pipe, 45 prefer cigars, and 6 confess to chewing.—Stanford Daily.

ISSUE GAME EXTRAS IN 14 SECONDS

Within fourteen seconds after the close of the Harvard-Princeton game November 6, the first copy of an extra edition of the "Harvard Crimson" giving a complete story of the Tigers' 12-0 victory came off the press.

The first of the fans making their exodus from the stadium after the game found Crimson newsmen brandishing the new born extras. The problem of transporting the papers from the press building to the stadium was solved by sending them in a taxi displaying a special traffic mandate allowing it to travel in the wrong direction on a one-way street.—Stanford Daily.

TRACK MEN START WORK AT U. OF W.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—PIP—Track candidates will begin work on January 10, according to track coach Hec Edmundson. Only a few candidates will report at this time. A heavy schedule necessitates an early turnout on the part of the candidates. The first dual meet of the year will be between the Huskies and the University of British Columbia on May 19.

OPEN BASKETBALL PAVILION AT OREGON

A new $175,000 basketball pavilion will be completed at the University of Oregon in time for basketball season. The playing floor will be one of the largest on the coast. Approximately 16,500 feet of floor space will be available for three practice courts with the main playing floor in the middle. The new pavilion calls for 7,338 seats and available standing room for 3,000 more. When the demand warrants, it will be possible to install an additional balcony which would bring the seating capacity to nearly 10,000 persons.
