The "special" will leave Pocatello on the return trip on January 4, and arrive in Moscow on January 5. The exact schedule will be announced later.

Christmas Spirit of Cheer Settles on Campus

Christmas tide is here! Until a few days ago the holiday spirit was not felt. However, now snow flurries in the air and an icy wind brings home the fact that it is truly the last of December.

Now Christmas parties hold the spotlight. Wreaths of holly and sprigs of pine boughs decorate the houses. Mistletoe, beloved of Druides of old, hangs from chandeliers and doorways to ensnare unsuspecting swains. What Christmas party has ever been complete without a fat Santa Claus to make wise cracks as he distributes bags of candy and nuts? The Christmas tree radiating cheer and good wishes in the form of inexpensive gifts, is the center of attraction. Christmas carols are sung around an open fireplace and the feeling of universal peace and good will is keeping with the season is prevalent.

CHRISTMAS PARTY SATURDAY NIGHT

Yuletide Celebrations of Other Nations To Be Described by Cosmopolitans

A "Christmas All Over the World" program will be given at the Cosmopolitan club meeting next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the U-hut. Representatives of different nationalities on the campus will explain Christmas as it is carried out in their countries. Among the countries thus described will be India, China, Canada, Scotland, Philippines, Russia, and the United States.

Club members are requested to bring a gift which is to be handed to the entertainment committee, it is announced.

BLUE BUCKET TO BE ON SALE MONDAY

Featuring a cover design by Howard Taylor, '26, stories, and cartoons the second issue of the Blue Bucket left the press Thursday evening and will be on sale not later than Monday. Margaret Kinyon, editor, announced stories by Lulu Smith, Elinor Yaggy, Smith Miller; cartoons by members of the staff and Mr. Taylor; a comic section, a burlesque newspaper, and a feature of the Christmas student special train.

"Never have we had so many cartoons in the magazine," said Miss Kinyon. "The Christmas spirit dominates this issue of the Blue Bucket," she continued.

SEVENTEEN ARE PLEDGED W. A. A.

Membership Is Gained By Participating in Athletic Activities

Seventeen girls were pledged to the Women's Athletic association at its meeting last Thursday evening. Membership is gained to the association by making a certain number of points on some athletic team. Two girls have had their points transferred from other colleges.

The following girls were pledged: Dorothy Bears, Mildred Williams, Therna Lincoln, Eleanor Beamer, Maryvina Goldsmith, Marguerite Ames, Genevieve Budrow, La Reta Beeson, Mary Lou Craven, Leona Deldrickson, Jane Reid, Dorothy Sage, Florence Shinner, Cleo Miller, Edith Huston, Helen Gould, and Ruth Schwarz. Miss Gould was a member of the W. A. A. at the University of Nebraska, and Miss Schwarz at the University of Kansas.

ARGONAUT TO HAVE SEVEN COLUMNS

New Press Permits Increase In Size of Page, Starting January 7

Starting Friday, January 7, the first issue of the paper after Christmas vacation, The Argonaut will be printed with seven columns to the page instead of six, as has been the policy for several years. Added press facilities of the Moscow Publishing company, where the paper is printed, have made this change possible.

The new Argonaut will contain considerably more news as well as more advertising as a result of the change. The paper originally was printed only three columns wide; but as the school and reader interest grew, six columns to the page were used. For the time being, at least the paper will be printed on the basis of four pages and will continue to be issued every Tuesday and Friday of the school year.

The new press installed in the basement of the Star-Mirror building is one of the latest type of Duplex flat bed presses and will print, cut and fold the papers in a single operation. Approximately 4000 copies can be printed an hour. The press was initiated this morning.

EXECUTIVES VETO GLEE CLUB TRIP

Board Fails to Heed Director's Plea for South Idaho Tour

The Glee club will not make its proposed 10-day tour of south Idaho and portions of Montana this year.

This was voted by the executive board of the A. S. U. I. at its regular meeting Tuesday night, following the appearance before it of Prof. E. Orlo Bangs, head of the music department and director of the club, to enlighten the board on the program and other details of the proposed trip.

Suggested tours through north Idaho and Inland Empire cities have not been placed before the board and it is not known whether these or any trips will be made by the club this year.

The question of a program raised a question on the part of the board in its considerations. Some doubt as to the popularity of the type of program being arranged was expressed, this doubt based on receipt figures of the other trips south. Mr. Bangs ended the discussion relative to a possible change of program, insisting that he would not change the type any more than it had been changed, arguing that he was attempting to make the Idaho club distinctive in the selection of pieces it sung. In reply to the argument that light programs were apparently meeting success in other schools, Mr. Bangs declared that experience has shown him that such programs are losing ground and that he did not see fit to change his idea.

In the following resolution the board made itself plain as to the proposed trips: "Due to the feeling of the student body, the executive board of the A. S. U. I. does not feel justified in sending the Glee club on a trip to represent the university."

NEW YORK U. FROSH KIDNAP SOPHOMORES

Six sophomore girls of New York University were kidnaped recently by a large group of freshmen women at the university entrance. They were taken in taxicabs to an outlying district of New Jersey, and kept there twenty-four hours.

The kidnaped women were among the most prominent members of their class, and the first-year girls wished to prevent their attending an upper-class dance given that night.

CONTEST CONDUCTED
University of Southern California—A need for more "high-powered vocal selections" and better bleacher stunts prompted the university to conduct a contest offering prizes for the best yells and card stunts.

BOARD ACCEPTS AWARD DESIGNS

Argonaut Will Give Ping to Members of Staff This Semester

Acceptance of a design for the proposed Argonaut pin award submitted by the staff of the paper was voted at the regular meeting of the executive board Tuesday night. An order for eight pins has been sent to the jeweler and the pins will be presented probably at the end of this semester.

Although pin awards to members of the staff who had served satisfactorily for three semesters were authorized by a constitutional amendment in 1925, this year's staff will be the first to receive the pins. Difficulty in the selection of a design held up action before this year.

The pin is made of yellow gold and is constructed so as to represent a block of type. On the printing surface of the piece is a gothic letter "A" for Argonaut. On the side of the block is engraved an "I" for Idaho. It is to be worn on the dress if the member be a woman.

Eight persons now serving on the staff are eligible to receive the pin according to constitutional requirements and recommendation of the editor. They are: Floyd W. Landon, editor; Charles Kincaid, business manager; Dorothy Darling, society editor; Watson Humphrey, sports; Gertrude Gould, reporter; Virginia Grant, reporter; Clarence Janks, desk editor and Lucile Eaton, columns.

UPHAM OUTLINES BUDGET REQUESTS

Charts and Plats Used to Explain Need of Funds; Heating Plant Sought

Charts and plats were used by President A. H. Upham at the regular Wednesday morning assembly of the university in showing division of receipts and expenditures during the past six years, together with the growth of the institution.

"Since 1920 the University of Idaho has more than doubled its enrollment of regular students, going from somewhat more than 850 registrants in the fall of 1920, to 1925 for the first semester of the 1926-27 year.

"Budget prepared will necessitate asking the state legislature for approximately $1,998,000 for the coming biennium period, compared with approximately $1,300,000 received for maintenance and instruction from the last legislature body. The amount asked for the coming period, however, includes approximately $450,000 for new buildings and maintenance of the present structures.

"The new building program sought, includes a new library building, which with equipment will cost about $345,000, and for a central heating plant to be located near the railroad tracks to facilitate reception of fuel and heat distribution. Last year more than $3000 was spent in hauling coal to the present heating plant," President Upham explained.

GIVES ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON ART

Dr. Traumenhauser Shows Pictures of Original Paintings at Meeting

Dr. Traumenhauser gave an illustrated lecture to the members of the A. W. U. I. Tuesday evening on the work of artists of different countries in portraying the madonna and the child. Dr. Traumenhauser's collection of prints showed a very wonderful representation of the art on this subject in the various countries of the old world, especially Italy, France and Spain. The work of American artists show much promise in this field and in the opinion of Dr. Traumenhauser that some of the best works will yet be produced by artists in this country. Her lecture was illustrated with descriptions of many of the originals which she has seen in the European art galleries.

TAYLOR NAMED TO YEAR BOOK STAFF

Floyd Taylor has been named organization manager of the Gem of the Mountains, to fill the place made vacant by the death of Francis Elbridge. It was announced last night by Clair Reem, business manager of the year book. As organization manager, Mr. Taylor will have charge of the sale of space in the annual to campus groups.

Contracts for space for organizations will be closed by January 20, Mr. Reem announced.

OPEN DISCUSSION FEATURES DEBATE

Instigate Open Forum Method at Idaho-Gonzaga No Decision Contest

The Idaho debate team encountered the Gonzaga university squad here and at Spokane last night in the second variety debate of the season. The contest last night was a no-decision meet with no judges selected or a vote of the audience taken.

The affirmative team met the Gonzaga negative squad in the auditorium while the Idaho negative team went to Spokane.

The question debated was, "Resolved, that the United States government is justified in recapturing one-half of all railroad earnings above six per cent of the assessed valuation of the property." Idaho was represented here by Warren Montgomery and J. Lael Simmons, while Maurice Nelson and Edmund Becher made up the negative team.

Idaho debaters based their argument for the question on the constitutionality phase declaring that the government had the right to take this amount above the earnings. The affirmative also argued for the economic soundness in so doing, stating that it would encourage the railroads to increase their investments.

The negative based much of its argument on the economic unsoundness of such a project, as it would "inhibit competition which is the life of trade." The justice of taking away from the railroads and not from the other profit making organizations is not right, according to arguments of Gonzaga debaters.

Following the debate proper a 20-minute open forum discussion on the question, in which the speakers answered questions brought up by the audience, was held.

The audience noted that the open forum discussion is the best form yet attempted at Idaho.

"I" CLUB DANCE IS SET FOR SATURDAY

Members Will Sell Tickets at Group Houses and at Door

The last all-college dance before the Christmas vacation will be given by the "I" club, Saturday evening, December 18, at the Blue Bucket Inn. Merrill's orchestra will furnish the music.

Members of the club will sell tickets at the group houses. They may also be obtained at the door.

VARSITY JUDGERS TAKE FIRST PLACE

The school of practical agriculture at the University of Idaho was winner in a poultry judging contest held in conjunction with the Panhandle Poultry show, Wednesday afternoon. The school scored 1282 points of a possible 1500. A team from Moscow high school, coached by Boyd Brigham, was a close second with 1267 points and Lapwai high school, third. Edward Hill, Moscow was high man of the contest with Edwin Lough of the school second. Gainford Mix, Moscow, and Carl Anderson, of the agricultural school tied for third place. Judging of the birds was done on utility.

ALLEN TO ATTEND STUDENT MEET

Will Leave Next Week to Represent Idaho at National Conference

James Allen will leave shortly after Christmas vacation starts, for the National Student conference to be held at Milwaukee, December 28 to January 1. The conference is composed of the Christian associations throughout the nation. Mr. Allen will represent Idaho at this convention.

A special train will carry 70 representatives from Montana, Washington, and Idaho. Mr. Allen will join the train at Spokane Christmas morning. Only one college in the northwest will not be represented at the meeting.

The conference is the first of its kind to be held in this country. Students from every state in the union will attend, it is announced. The problems to be studied there will be linked up with those of student life.

AD MAN TELLS OF PRACTICAL WORK

Raymond Kelly, Spokane, Addresses Alpha Kappa Psi Banquet

Practical phases of commercial "agency" advertising were explained to members of the Idaho chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi by Raymond Kelly, Spokane, at a banquet Tuesday night. Mr. Kelly, a member of the firm of Sievers-Kelly agency, Spokane, secretary of the Spokane Ad club, considered one of the foremost authorities in advertising circles in the northwest. Members of the fraternity, faculty of the school of business administration and a few invited guests attended the banquet.

Mr. Kelly went into the technical details of running an advertising agency, phases of the work, from the copy writing to sponsoring huge sales and civic campaigns were graphically described, as well as methods of exploitation used by agencies and newspapers.

The banquet was presided over by Paul Atwood, president of Alpha Kappa Psi.

TYPHOID GERMS KILL EXPERIMENTOR

Girl Student Dies After Inhaling Bacteria In Laboratory

PULLMAN, WASH.—Alice Lindborg, 19, Bremerton, Wash., a bacteriology student at Washington State college, died Wednesday morning of typhoid fever following a bacteriology experiment at the college last month. According to workers at the laboratory she accidentally inhaled some of the germs while at work on the experiment.

Miss Lindborg was a sophomore majoring in bacteriology. She took the germs into her mouth through a pipette with which she was working, but failed to notify the instructor, according to Dr. Victor Burke, who was in the laboratory at the time. She became ill with typhoid immediately.

In his knowledge, said Doctor Burke, the student notified the instructor immediately and remedial measures, applied at once, prevented death.

IDAHO WINS FIRST SHOOT OF SEASON

Women's Rifle Team Defeats Montana Squad by Two Points

The girl's rifle team defeated the University of Montana team by two points in a match held last week, it was announced Thursday. Idaho's score was 471 points and Montana 469. Both teams fired higher scores than were fired in last year's match. Following are the Montana scores: B. Sanders, 96; Kathleen O'Donnell, 95; B. Kester, 93; C. Pospisil, 93; M. Sterling, 92.

Challenges have been sent to Washington State college, Oregon Agricultural college, and the University of Washington, Kansas and Wisconsin, it was stated.

Each girl reporting for practice on Thursday had a chance to win a large red apple. Small clay pipes were placed as stems in the apples and if the pipes were hit in two shots, the apple belonged to the sharp shooter. Very few left the court without an apple, the manager indicated.

Relations Severed
Breaks in athletic relations in the east now claim a total of six colleges with the discontinuance of the Pittsburgh and Lafayette games. Pittsburgh refused to play the 1927 grid game on the Lafayette field. Harvard Princeton and Syracuse-Army are the other games which have been halted due to strained relations.

The public may get tired of the pictures of bathing girls but the bathing girls never get tired of publicity.

VANDALS TO MAKE DEBUT HERE WITH TWO-GAME SERIES

Doors Open at 7 Saturday for Game With Montana State

PLAY AGAIN MONDAY

MacMillan's Men in Good Shape for First Inter-collegiate Test

Coach David MacMillan's newest aggregation of Vandals will make their debut against a college squad Saturday and Monday nights against the Montana State college five, in the gymnasium here. These two games, dopsters have conceded, will serve to place the Vandals as to playing strength and determine what sort of a chance they stand in the forthcoming race for the Pacific Coast conference championship.

Form Is Good
Thus far the team has been running in near midseason form, and looks to be good for the conference race. Daily practice sessions of two hours each have been capped by a brace of successful lifts against the Lewiston Normal squad and an All-star team from Pottlatch. In these games the team showed itself to be well oiled in and fine fettle to start on its annual barnstorming tour.

Little concrete information as to the playing strength of the Montana aggregation has reached here, but backers of the Vandals concede that although the contest will rate no higher than a practice game, the Vandals have a fast time awaiting them. Montana State has the reputation of putting a nasty squad in the field and it is entirely probable that such is the case again this year. Anyway, the Vandals cannot loaf on the job.

Lineup In Doubt
Coach MacMillan has not announced a probable starting lineup, but he will throw all his men against the invaders. "Lief" Erickson may start at center, with Nedros and Miles at forward and Greene and Jacoby at guard. The game has been scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock, although the doors will be opened at 7 o'clock.

The Pep band will be out in full force, under the direction of David Nyvall, Jr., as will John McMurray, yell king and his dukes.

Dutch Treat Being Tried at Redlands

Dutch treats—the one dream of college men that has never been realized—may be a reality if the University of Redlands is successful in persuading its co-eds that the thing to do is to foot half the bills—at least part of the time.

The idea probably originated in some of the eastern universities where a movement has been going on for some time which is intended to benefit the young man who falls to have a vehicle in which to transport fair damsels hither and yon. It is said that only men with cars rate with the fair sex, and realizing the importance of "rating" (ahem), eastern universities have attempted to forbid the use of cars at all times in order to give every sultor a fair chance.

The plan now in vogue at Redlands is not to forbid the use of cars, but to divide expenses of stepping out. The plan is very satisfactory so far—with the men. Should it prove as popular with the women, other universities may give the Dutch treat plan a trial.—The Trojan.

AG CLUB STAGES ANNUAL SMOKER

Music, Athletics and Eats Make up the Program; Faculty Attends

The Ag club held its annual smoker Wednesday evening in the University Hut and was one of the most successful ever planned, according to Ralph Stucky, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The program was divided into three parts: music, athletic, and eats. Some quartet numbers and piano and vocal solos were given. The feature of the evening was the boxing match between "Bud" Wideman and "Tiny" Spencer, who both tip the scales near 230 pounds. Royal Irving and "Dutch" Brinkman, and Crawford Nibler and Gene Whitman also trot the rosin square. Further entertainment was given by Cross and Hempleman, who wrestled, with the latter gaining the decision. Just before lunch time Chet Mink and Neil Derrick gave an exhibition of some classical "Ag-tumbling."

All of the Agricultural department students, faculty and the extension men were invited to attend.

Mission Destroyed
The historic Santa Clara mission was destroyed by a fire which broke out on the Santa Clara campus. Students and Jesuit priests aided the firemen in fighting the blaze.

The First Game

Idaho's Vandals in basketball suits will have their first test of prowess on the home floor this season Saturday night. Although it will be only a practice tilt so far as Idaho's conference standing is concerned, it is a basketball game and the players will be fighting for Idaho; and Idaho student backers should turn out en masse to greet them.

Saturday's game probably will indicate, to folks on the campus, the Vandals' much mooted strength this year. It has been said by those who make hoop doping a hobby, that this year should see Idaho close to another coast conference championship. If this doping holds a vestige of truth, then the Idahoans are a bunch of players and should be given whatever encouragement a crowded gymnasium will give. It would be ghastly to start a team of winners in the race for the coveted pennant feeling that the student body was not behind them.

Christmas Carols

Idahoans will carol Christmas tidings before a tree shimmering with vari-colored lights, in accordance with a tradition which seems to have the earmarks of permanency. Group houses have been making their halls ring with "songfests" in anticipation of the event. An assembly has been devoted to the affair. The student body has been working whole heartedly toward the outdoor concert.

It seems that among the songs in the repertoire of the Glee club should be the songs which will be sung Sunday night. Whether or not that is the case, not a great deal of practice would be necessary to prepare the group for carol singing. The club should carol as a unit, thus adding beauty to this year's singing.

Roommates

That ghastly, premediated solitude which is the fate of a man without a roommate is an eventuality which few American college men care to consider. Always excepting the small minority who find endless resources within themselves, college men would be at a loss without companions in their studies. A roommate is always accessible when one wishes money, recreation, or that more subtle shade of human relationship which goes by the name of friendship.

Yet it is just this companionable institution which Professor S. E. Morrison (Harvard), who is possessed of the love of Oxford University, charges with contributing to the low place of scholarship in American colleges. Writing in the Alumni Bulletin, he contrasts the Oxford man's unwillingness to share his room with the American horror of living alone.

That the desire for companionship has any considerable effect on the standards of scholarship would seem to be a hazardous contention. True, on a warm May evening, mutual restlessness often sends roommates off to cyclonic or thunder-bolting haunts. Conversely, however, the inertia of a roommate burdened with work keeps his companion at home.

In any event, the mutual urging of men accustomed to one another's opinions never has the devastating effect which an alien offer to go to the movies can produce.

Indeed, it would appear to be a sorry form of culture that cannot prosper when the lives of two humans of the same plane of intelligence run close together. Such companionships cause an interchange of ideas, a breaking down of barriers, wholly healthy. Surely, the simple fact of closely paralleled lives can be given but a small share of responsibility for the glorification of gentle mediocrity.—The Harvard Crimson.

Sunday and Monday

College gentlemen prefer P. A.

BLOND gentlemen and dark-haired gentlemen, diffident* freshmen and august seniors . . . Prince Albert is the overwhelming campus-favorite of every type and every pipe. (Yes, the pipes do have a voice in the matter. They can act in a docile, friendly manner or they can be mean. It depends on what you feed them.)

Open a tidy red tin of good old P. A. That first fragrant whiff will tell you why gentlemen prefer Prince Albert. Tuck a load into the bowl of your pipe and light up. Fragrance and taste alone are enough to win you.

But P. A. doesn't stop there. It is cool-smoking. It is mild as Maytime, yet it has plenty of body. It is kind to your tongue and throat. You can hit it up all you like and it never hits back. Try a tin of P. A. You'll certainly prefer it after that.

*Not too diffident.

SOCIETY

The last week end before the holidays will be a jolly one on the Idaho campus. The fact that everything including the weather typifies the Christmas spirit and that society is contributing her utmost in the way of social functions assures a most pleasant pre-holiday season. Society is given almost wholly to house dances and a few church parties and plays.

The singing of carols around the campus Christmas tree Sunday evening will be an important feature of the week and will be in keeping with an Idaho tradition.

BLUE-BUCKET INN DRAWS STUDENTS

Recreation Facilities Popular; Cards and Music Available

The Blue Bucket Inn, with its cozy dining room and its dance hall above is one of the most pleasant and attractive places in Moscow for students and townspeople. Most everyone is familiar with the splendid service of the dining room and with the dances, but not everyone knows that it is also a place where music is furnished on Sunday nights, where students may come and sit around the fireside or play cards, and where each one is invited to make himself at home. If one wishes to entertain a friend or a group of friends at dinner there, he has only to make the appointment to be assured of not only the usual courteous service but a little extra attention and preparation by the management. Many students have begun to notice and take advantage of these special privileges and courtesies which make the Blue Bucket more than a student cafe and fill it with the spirit of a home.—Advertisement.

COLLEGE FINISHES MEMORIAL BUILDING

Pacific Completes New Infirmary at a Cost of $50,000

COLLEGE OF PACIFIC—(PIP)—Beautiful in design and equipped with the most modern medical appliances, the West Memorial Infirmary, which was under construction at the close of last semester, is now completed. The infirmary, which cost approximately $50,000, was the gift of Mrs. C. M. Jackson, a pioneer resident of Stockton, and was erected in memory of her parents, George and Ellen K. West. The Heller-Pearce Company planned and constructed the infirmary. This beautiful edifice is constructed of red brick and terra in gothic design to harmonize with the other buildings on the campus. One of the striking features about the infirmary is the soft cream tint of the walls which lends a cheerful coloring to the rooms. This is a departure from the usual practice of painting the walls of the hospital white. The building is equipped with an operating room, X-ray room, two consultation rooms, office, and ten rooms that will accommodate twenty beds.

Tad, Knute, and "Pop", more formally known as Coaches Jones, Rockne, and Warner, are working on selecting their own little All-American. It is somewhat significant that they are to do their choosing after this contest.

Vaccinate Studes

VARSITY FOOTBALL AWARDS OKED

New System of Record Keeping Started This Year

Letter awards to varsity and freshman football players were voted at the regular meeting of the executive board Tuesday night. This action is only a formality before the actual awards will be made the men, as requirements have been placed in the student body constitution and all of the men recommended by Coach Charles Erb have completed time and playing requirements. The awards were made this year on a new system initiated by George Horton, graduate manager. The actual playing time of every man on the squad was kept to the minute and the awards were figured on this basis. The chart thus kept will remain on file in Mr. Horton's office. This is the first year that such a record has been kept.

Owings Gets Last Award

Captain, Tom Owings, who has played his third year of varsity, will receive his last football award from Idaho this year.

Data gathered by George Horton and Gale Mix shows the record of the season of each player. The best individual record was made by "Bud" Bliss, center, who started each of the five conference games, and played a full game in each case except in the game with Montana, where he lost five minutes of play. Captain "Sody" Owings also started each game, and ranks next to Bliss in total minutes of play. He played three complete games losing only seven minutes in the Montana game and eight in the one with O. A. C. "Con" Dewey comes next with a record of being in the starting line-up of every game, three full games played, and with a total of more than 17 quarters. Glenn Jacoby also started each game, and played a total of 261 minutes—a little more than 16 quarters. Brimhall likewise was in each game at the kickoff, and has a record of playing over 15 quarters. Frank Powers was credited in being in each game at the start, and during the season spent 215 minutes in action in the conference games.

All VIII Requirements

With only one exception, each man winning an award played more than six quarters. George Hjort played less than five quarters in actual time, but earned his letter by starting two games.

The following men will receive sweaters: Ends; L. Beale, C. Diehl, T. Moore; tackles, C. Hutchinson, W. C. Dewey, J. W. Gartin; guards, M. Brimhall, J. Bauer, L. W. Starke, G. Hjort; center, D. W. Bliss; backfield, F. Powers, D. Burgher, T. Owings, G. Jacoby, M. S. Perrins, and R. Hughes.

A committee composed of Edson Mordt and Arthur Emmerson was named to confer with representatives of the Gem of the Mountains staff on charges for pictures in the "Gem" of A. S. U. I. departments.

Reports from the manager of the Pep band and managers of other organizations were laid on the table until the next meeting, on Tuesday night.

MUSIC PROFESSOR SINGS AT RECITAL

Miss Johnson Explains Meaning of Carols at Lutheran Church

Thirty six Christmas carols, representing 20 countries, were sung by Miss Jennie Johnson, professor of voice in the department of music, at the lecture recital at the First Lutheran church last Tuesday evening. Miss Johnson explained the meaning of the carols. She was assisted by Florence Oberg. Miss Nevora Bergman accompanied her at the piano. The entertainment closed with the singing of "Silent Night." The receipts of the recital will go into the scholarship fund of the Sigma Zeta chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, professional women's musical fraternity.

A REVIEW (Contributed)

A discriminating audience heard Johnson's lecture recital Tuesday night. Miss Johnson presented a program of Christmas carols which could not fail to interest the scholarly mind. The carols were representative of all Christian nations. Several of them can be definitely traced to the XI, XII, and XIII centuries. In her delightful informal way Miss Johnson told of the difficulties she had encountered getting these ballads together. She modestly omitted to state that hers is conceded to be the finest and most complete collection in the hands of any musician. For the past eight years, Miss Johnson has been giving similar concerts at Christmas time in and around the city of Chicago. The pleasure derived from the historical interest of the program is augmented by Miss Johnson's beautiful and intelligent rendition of the folk words and music. Beauty of tone, perfection in technique, and intelligence of interpretation is a rare combination. It is this combination that has made Miss Johnson for the past dozen years a favorite concert artist of the Chicago Musical Conservatory.

The program was given under the auspices of Sigma Zeta chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national musical honorary sorority, of which Miss Johnson is province president. The proceeds were turned over to the scholarship fund of that sorority. Miss Florence Oberg assisted Miss Johnson in several duets and sang very beautifully an old Swedish carol. Miss Nevora Bergman, of the piano department, very ably accompanied the program.

OPINIONS DIFFER ON MILITARY TRAINING

Five Men Address Y. M. C. A. Meeting on R. O. T. C.

Difference of opinion as to the best method of defending the United States in case of an emergency was expressed by five speakers at the Y. M. C. A. meeting last Wednesday evening in the U-hut. All agreed that the University of Idaho should have military training.

"There is no evidence of militarism nor blood thirst in the minds of the high officers of the regular army," said Ivan C. Crawford, dean of the college of engineering. "There is nothing of the spirit of militarism in the R. O. T. C. as it is taught at the University of Idaho."

Need Good Men

"The nation should have access to red-blooded men who would respond to its call in time of need," said the Reverend Roger Oliver, who served in the World War. He criticized the war department for telling parents that the purpose of the training is for the defense of the nation in case of emergency and then to train them as if they were to be soldiers. He said that some histories misrepresented victories and the defeats of Americans in battle.

Major F. E. Fuller, of the military department, pointed out that while some histories misrepresent the history of the United States in its victories and defeats, that the books on military publishing such material traced the history of military training in the United States from the Civil War to the present. "Compulsory military in the basic course is necessary," he said. "In case of a national crisis, the students in the class advanced would become officers, and the basic men would be non-commissioned officers, or would be better trained for advancement."

Training Necessary

"We need military training in case of emergency," said John Bauer, a student in the department. "After I have taken military, I can better appreciate the horrors of war."

"We must get away from the major premise that war is the ultimate thing to settle international differences," said Dr. Ray Culver, Y. M. C. A. secretary of the northwest, who spoke briefly.

Collegiate trousers that make a student look "like the hind legs of a stage elephant" and society pins carry no special privileges at the University of Pennsylvania, declares its president.
