To Split Or Not To Split

They have robbed us of those beautifully balanced, novel length sentences; they have all but scared the life out of the shades of Webster and his beloved rules for spelling and substituted an inane theory called phoneticism; they have walked rough shod into the precepts of the old school stylists and forced new ideas of sentence construction, leaving, instead of those graceful old expressions, a modernized, trip-hammer type of thought pictures with nary a sign of a subject and often without even the hint of a predicate; they have twisted our dear old English until the queen herself, should she appear now, would go into hysterics when some of the apparitions in the guise of English jumped out at her; they have, in fact, turned topsy turvy everything once dear to old philologists, laughed at Roget until his famed Thesaurus has hid in obsolence and the shades of that honorable gentleman now must be writhing in agony.

Even now they (we moderns) are pressing their confounded ideas further and have picked out the harassed, split infinitive to be symbolic of their latest onslaught. "Split it," one eminent philologist has said. "Split or whole, it means the same thing, and often, split, makes for a greater precision of meaning than when it is left undissected." To split or not to split is the privilege he gives to writers. And these persons, most of them writing under the new, super modernized school of literary creation, have thumbed their noses in derision in the direction of the ramparts of those who for many years have held the fort under a withering barrage and they have scattered with a scoop shovel throughout their work one split infinitive after another. They split them without rhyme or reason, it seems, because this is the modern thing to do.

But this move notwithstanding, we, who have been trained in a newspaper office, where the split infinitive has occupied a position somewhat similar to that of an empty paste pot, a college graduate and a publicity hound, not to mention the hundred and one other things which plague man's existence, still are standing by and will do so until our judgment shows us new paths. But to split an infinitive and, perchance, to wail loudly: "to not do" when we mean clearly, "not to do" is the acme of things gone wrong. And feeling thus we plead: "Please do not force us to split our infinitives. We love them whole. We can stand with them undivided, but we fall when they are split."

Better than to split, we should accept Esperanto, where a split infinitive is known no more than Esperanto is known to we who attempt to write English.

Merry Christmas

Once again the Yuletide spirit prevails over this earth and again comes the time dear to the many gift givers. We look back on the year that is fast slipping from under us and see the many changes that have come, not only in our lives but to our surroundings, some of which were good and some appear bad. And when we return to the campus, many of us will have resolved to make as many changes as possible come out happy for us.

The Argonaut, going to press shortly before the annual south Idaho student Christmas special pulls out, wishes each student and faculty member and other readers the merriest of all Christmases and a happy new year.—B. L. M.

Go Get 'Em, Vandals

Wednesday noon the Vandal basketball squad leaves Moscow on its annual barnstorming tour of the Pacific coast. The team will come up against some of the strongest competition the coast has to offer, and it is with wishes of a merry Christmas and a happy new year that we send them on their way.

The results of games on this trip will serve as strong indicators of the Vandal strength in the coast conference race this year. It is with a firm belief that they will produce the goods that we send them on their way tomorrow.—B. L. M.

Student Opinion

THE BRAY, IN FACT, BETRAYS THE ASS

Since like can only be returned by like, because of theory and the physical handicaps, we—perforce—are compelled to write this article in retribution.

'Tis regrettable that one of our most ideally founded publications—the Blue Bucket—is crumbling on its noble foundation as a literary production. Why? Because, as one of the assistant editors has said, it must be a financial success.

If to be original, it even on a most degraded plane of intelligence, let's at least give them degraded truth and not unfounded statements.

It is lamentable that the noble efforts and successes of really literary geniuses as published in the front of the Bucket, must have a background of slander.

We wish the Blue Bucket the heartiest of success, but some of us do feel that the course now being pursued is in need of a jolt. H. J. W.

REVELATION!

This is written in sincere humility, but in great wrath and sorrow. Realizing, that as a low frosh I should be seen and not heard; I ask you, on this occasion, to bear with me. My complaint is well founded, in that coming to college for bigger and better things I am confronted by a dilemma. Is the Blue Bucket a literary magazine or a high school paper? It would seem that in a college with an advertised enrollment of 2000, that there must be ample talent to supply the literary representative of Idaho with intelligent material. In stooping to personalities the Blue Bucket has made the individual, its self, and my Alma Mater, the laughing stock of a literary world. C. R. G.

Camel attracts the quality smoker

CAREFUL observation will reveal that men of quality demand quality in a cigarette—smoke Camels. A Camel smoker goes straight to the point in cigarettes and demands enjoyment.

For there are no better tobaccos or blending than you get in Camels. There is no other cigarette taste and fragrance that can compare with Camels, because they are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. In a cigarette, as in the smoker, there is nothing that can substitute for quality.

If you want to know what experienced smokers like, just try Camels. Each year new millions try them all and find in Camels enjoyment realized. Camels never tire the taste. To test the quality of Camels, compare them with any cigarette made regardless of price. "Have a Camel!"

SOCIETY

With all social functions on the campus over so far as this year is concerned, society will not offer much until after the holidays. A number of house dances during the weekend concluded the social program on the campus.

The exciting, romantic, colorful and joyous days of '49 were brought back momentarily when Sigma Alpha Epsilon entertained at a house dance reminiscent of the "good old days", Saturday evening. The chapter house was transformed into an old fashion saloon-dance hall. The walls were effectively decorated with an elaborate assortment of valuable furs and one corner of the hall was used to hold the bar. This bar, typical of the days of '49, was one of the greatest attractions of the dance. The dancers dressed in appropriate costumes, many of them representing cowboys and trappers; others of a more sedate nature, costuming as dudes of the time.

During the program of dances Professor Kirkham entertained with two clever recitations.

The guests were brought to the hall in a two-horse buggy, in typical olden day style. Nunemaker's orchestra furnished the music. Patrons and patronesses were: Mr. and Mrs. David MacMillan, Prof. and Mrs. Kirkham and John D. Remsburg.

The guest list included Monte Pringle, Helen Voak, Afton Marinelli, Jack Kennedy, Maurine Godfrey, Aileen Kelly, Dorothy Howerton, Vera Harding, Dorothy Neal, Eva Anderson, Margaret Mitchell, Laverina Mason, Louise Grunbaum, Louise McKinney, Pearl Cordray, Jean Beeson, Mildred Hausen, Reta Beeson, Betty Driscoll, Alice Hundie, Janet Hawkins, Bernice Kendall, L. Gimble, Eleanor Brody, Josephine Standahl, Ersie Tauger, Josephine Harland, Grace Gooding, Elinor Jackson, Kathleen d'Esam, Eloise Wright, Lulu Conner, Clarice Anderson, Margaret Elder, Vi Bernard, Flo Mathewson and Julia Dunn.

Sigma Nu gave an informal Christmas dance Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. George Phillbrook were patrons and patronesses at the dance.

Guests were: Misses Eloise Barker, Beatrice McDonald, Cecil Smith, Ella Waldron, Maryvina Goldsmith, Ethel Green, Joan Allebaugh, Orvetta Jones, Mary McGonigle, Betty Driscoll, Mary Gilmore, Alene Kelly, Laura Clark, Irene Auger, Lucille Haddock, Phyllis Fritzel, Ruth White, Anette Blodgett, Laverina Mason, Katherine Shultis, Tess Burke, Grace Gooding, Elizabeth Dunn, Ruby Williams, Truth McArthur, Agnes Bowen, Margaret Ames, Bernice Suppliger, Helen Kerr, Rachel Jenks, Alice Vang, Leah Timm, Louise Lamelle, Edith Bradshaw, Elizabeth Kennedy, Sarah Trousdale, Vaughn Prater, Irene Costello, Margaret Ostrout, and Mesdames Esther Allen, Jack Musser, and Messrs. Herbert Lattig, Orval Garrison, Harold Cornellison, Guy Wicks, and Albert Graf.

Beta Chi gave a Christmas dance at the Blue Bucket Inn Friday evening. The music was furnished by Beardslee Merrill's orchestra. Patrons and patronesses were: Dean and Mrs. E. J. Iddings, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. von Ende, and Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Kostalek.

The guests were: Katherine Steele, Pearl Glenn, Anne Will, Mildred Axteill, Verna MacMahon, Virginia Vance, Irene Erickson, Helen Wann, Katherine Beam, Vera Chandler, Doris Squibb, Norma Geddes, Ethel Larson, Dorothy Carney, Meroe Cornellison, Dorothy Neal, Dorothy Shireman, Edith Larson, Patsy Payne, Mary Lou Craven, Dorothy Nixon, Edith Lemox, Clarice Anderson, Ruth Newhouse, Eleanor Souger, Connie Elder, Velda Bryant, Dorothy Darling, Nadine Tucker, Louise Dunlap, Evelyn Styner, Alice Mundel, Eleanor Hyslop of Pullman, and Fred Dicus of Genesee.

Phi Upsilon Omicron entertained at a fireside at Forney hall Thursday night in honor of the freshmen and new students of the home economics department.

The reception room, decorated with holly wreaths and evergreen boughs was aglow with a lighted Christmas tree, lighted candles at the windows and a crackling fireplace.

During the evening the guests enjoyed a stunt by members of the group; the reading of a Christmas story by Dorothy Howerton and talks by Miss Katherine Jensen and Mrs. Curtis Talbot explaining the organization and purpose of the fraternity. Before the serving of refreshments, Christmas carols were sung around the open fireplace.

The refreshments, served on individual trays on which were tiny candles and sprigs of holly, were in keeping with the season.

Sigma Pi Rho entertained Saturday evening at an informal Christmas dance. The decorations carried out the Christmas idea very prettily.

Prof. and Mrs. Brosnan, and Prof. and Mrs. Luke acted as patrons and patronesses.

Guests were: Wilda Langdon, Eva Baker, Lucy Harding, Peggy Souger, Ruth Newhouse, Edna Richards, Doris Fouch, Gussie Maher, Sarah Trousdale, Louise Dunlap, Freida White, Nell Turner, Elizabeth Haller, Dorothy Sims, Rowena Hanson, Markon Dick, Ethel Larson, Mildred Perry, Eda Vehrs, Avis Bowditch, Beth Sham-berger, Mary Huff, Therma Lincoln, Cecelia Nacke, and Kenneth Hensley and Kenneth Dick.

Sigma Chi entertained at an informal Christmas dance at the chapter house Friday evening, December 17. Holiday atmosphere was created by attractive Christmas decorations. Every guest received a novelty gift. Music was furnished by Brainard's orchestra.

Patrons and patronesses were Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Hubert, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hagan, and Mr. and Mrs. Don DuSault.

Mr. Wallace Scales and the girls of Pi Sigma Rho entertained at a formal Christmas party Sunday evening. A buffet supper was served at 7 o'clock and entertainment was furnished throughout the evening. The house was effectively decorated to carry out the holiday scheme. Guests were: Mr. J. H. Day, Mrs. John Maloney, Mrs. G. M. Miller, Mrs. Warren Truitt, Mrs. T. S. Kerr, Mrs. Inez Tracy, Mrs. Stone, and Mrs. R. B. Ward.

Upper-classmen of Alpha Chi Omega held a Christmas dance Saturday evening, December 18. Main feature of the evening was a dance given by Helen Wann and Vernon Taylor. The guests were: Ralph Erickson, Kenneth Jones, Harold Boyer, Clayton Pickett, Kenneth Barclay, George Yost, John Hamilton, Lester Kirkpatrick, John Turner, Eugene Williams, Max Landon, Wyman Williams, Frank Sinsol, Carl Nelson and Tom Boardman.

Dinner guests of Alpha Chi Omega Thursday evening were: Paul Atwood, Carl Nelson, Dean Arnold, Gene Beebe, Mac Hardwick, Kenneth Jones, Fred Robertson, John Leiser, Max Landon, Jimmie O'Brien, Wayman Williams, Howard Stethens and C. Taylor.

Sigma Chi entertained its alumni and faculty members at a fireside Sunday evening. The guests were: Messrs. Anderson, Gordon, Young, and Breeden of the Montana State basketball squad; Dr. E. E. Hubert, C. A. Hagan, Frank Stanton, Don DuSault, Louis Boas, and Alfred Hagan.

Sunday dinner guests of Pi Sigma Rho were: Miss Ella Olsen, Geraldine Sherkey, and Miss Agnes Jacobsen from the University of Washington.

On Monday evening of last week the pledges of Pi Sigma Rho entertained the members with a sleighing party. After riding for two hours the group returned home where a fireside was enjoyed.

Guests of Gamma Phi Beta Thursday evening from the Sigma Nu house were: Floyd Packer, Jesse Gray, Harvey Caron, Ray Haney, Edson Morris, Jack Mitchell, Bob Dunn, Harold Allen, Norman Forrester, Chuck Gartin, Sam Chaney, and Mac Yager.

Sunday dinner guests of Gamma Phi Beta were Marjorie Fisher, Janet Hawkins, and Wilma Bope. Gamma Phi Beta announces the engagement of Agnes Bowen to Floyd Packer, Sigma Nu.

PLAYERS SELECT ALL-COAST TEAM

Powers Helps Name Eleven; Four Vandals Get Honorable Mention

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oregon, December 20—An all-Pacific coast conference football team as selected by the players themselves from teams actually met on the gridiron has been compiled by the athletic news bureau here.

Southern California placed six men, Stanford four, and Montana and O. A. C. one each. Quarterbacks who made the selection are Powers, Idaho; Minnaugh, Oregon; Egwert, California; Edwards, Oregon; Agles, Kaer Southern California; Post, Stanford; Kelly, Montana; Meeker, Washington State; and Gutmorsen, Washington.

Here is the quarterback's idea of an all-coast team:

Ends—Badgro (U. S. C.), Shipkey, (Stanford).

Tackles—Hibbs (U. S. C.), J. Dixon (O. A. C.).

Guards—Taylor (U. S. C.), Swan (Stanford).

Center—Cravath (U. S. C.).

Quarterback—Kelly (Montana).

Halfbacks—Kaer (U. S. C.), Hyland (Stanford).

Fullback—Bogue* (Stanford), Laragetta* (U. S. C.).

*Tied for the fullback position.

A total of 51 names were offered for the different positions on this all-coast team. The tackle position led with an offering of 11 names. Halfback followed closely with 10. End, guard and fullback received 8 each, and the center and quarterback three each.

Other names offered for coast honors are as follows:

Ends—Cutting (Wash.); Ward (O. A. C.); Diehl (Idaho); Walker (Stanford); Parkhill (W. S. C.); and Dougery (Cal.).

Tackles—Wilson (Wash.); Hanson (Wash.); Dewey (Idaho); Sinclair (Ore.); Dickerson (O. A. C.); Kramer (W. S. C.); Dixon (Ore.); Dressel (W. S. C.); and Poulson (Stanford).

Guards—Kramer (W. S. C.); Gorrnell (U. S. C.); Nelswander (Cal.); Hibbs (U. S. C.); Cook (Wash.); and Brimhall (Idaho).

Centers—McCreary (Stanford); and Balcom (O. A. C.).

Halfbacks—Maple (O. A. C.); Wetzel (Ore.); Griffin (Cal.); Elliott (U. S. C.); Patton (Wash.); and Rohwer (W. S. C.).

Fullbacks—Schulmerick (O. A. C.); Tetreau (Wash.); Owings (Idaho); Hoffman (Stanford); Jones (Ore.); and Jabbs (Cal.). Schulmerick received the highest vote for the fullback position but Bogue and Laragetta outnumbered him on total votes for a backfield position.

DEPUTATION TEAM PUTS ON SERVICES

Seventeen Students Give Church Program at Garfield Sunday

Seventeen students, composing a deputation team of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., went to Garfield Sunday where they put on the morning and afternoon services at the Methodist church. The team was in charge of Dick Jones.

In the morning Marjorie Albertson spoke on the "Religious Groups on the Campus," and James Cromwell, "Science vs. Religion." Norman Schuttler read the Scriptures and George Ross offered prayer. Dorothy Messenger gave a violin solo and was the pianist.

"The Religious Status of College People," was the topic of the address by Vera Chandler in the afternoon. Lester Roberts gave a summary of the day's discussion.

Eight students made up the choir. They were Suzanna Beasley, Katherine Hanna, Miriam Burton, Cleo Miller, Ray Yost, Cecil Brown, Everett Sanders, and Homer Bell. Truman Poulton accompanied the group.

not in "Glory to God in the Highest." The earnestness and conscientiousness of Mr. Bangg's work are at all times manifest.

To hear our university orchestra render classic music as they did yesterday afternoon ought to be a source of glad pride to us all. And it is. The "Peer Gynt Suite" by the Scotch-Norwegian composer was an especially happy choice for Mr. Claus. He seems peculiarly gifted by nature in the interpretation of Grieg's imaginative lyrics. Schubert's "March Militaire" was played with extraordinary melody, Austrian dash and color. In the "Largo" Dvorak's dream of Hiawatha's wooing, the students caught the elusive lights and shadows of that arresting Bohemian composition. But the astonishing achievement of Mr. Claus' student-orchestra was their performance of the "Lohengrin" prelude to Act III. It is not painting the lily to say that Theodore Thomas or Nizkisch would have smiled, well-pleased, upon those dear, daring youngsters. The ecstasy expressed by their singing violins, the joyous abandon of the whole orchestra, yet under supreme control, were in that prelude nothing short of brilliant. The work of the orchestra Sunday is but another illustration of the power, the sparkling beauty, the clarity, delicacy and unflinching idealism of Carl Claus.

Delightful, Useful Xmas Gifts $1.00

Prepare, weary gift seekers, for a refreshing surprise when your hope eternal leads your steps toward this group of special dollar gifts.

The Old Phrase—"Passing the Buck" meaning passing a disagreeable task or responsibility onto some one else, assumes a different meaning about the dollar gift assortment—the necessity of remembering 3rd Cousin George, or Great Uncle Billy may readily be successfully negotiated with no misgivings, for here are suitable gifts reconciled to real economy.

What the Dollar Gift Array Really Represents

Careful selection months previous to the Christmas season on our part, hence a great uncrowded market to select from with prices "shaved" to lowest "out of season" buying price. This we've passed on to you knowing well the advertising power alone of this feature is ample compensation.

Now Solve Your Problem With the Old Silver Dollar or the Greenback

Come right in and see this remarkable selection of gifts and it's a safe bet that you'll congratulate yourself for truly here's real value.

TRADITIONS AT IDAHO

This is the fourth of a series of articles detailing Idaho traditions. Additional ones will appear in The Argonaut from time to time.—The Editor.

(By George Young)

With the closing of the university for the Christmas holidays, the 1928-27 "frosh" is finding a hiding place for the little green top-piece that made him distinctive during the first lap of the school year. In that the freshmen lost the Hulme fight to the sophomores the first Saturday after registration, tradition says that the caps must be worn until the beginning of the Christmas holidays. Otherwise the caps may be discarded during Thanksgiving vacation. As far as the "T" men know the frosh on the campus this fall have complied with the custom.

To the knowledge of Howard Sampson, manager of a men's department in a Moscow business house, the firm which he represents has been selling the green caps to university students for eight or nine years. In that time the only alteration in the style of the cap was noticeable to Mr. Sampson was the changing of the green button on the top of the cap to a white one. Undoubtedly the idea of requiring the "frosh" to wear the green "head-gear" was adopted from the popular custom in other colleges.

From observation, it is manifest that freshmen boys have the attitude that the green caps are to be worn to signify their lowliness. Dean Eldridge says he does not believe the idea was brought into practice with that principle in mind.

Rather, he inferred, it was to give the older students a chance to know who the freshmen were. This analysis of the purpose of the green cap is especially logical for larger universities and non-coeducational institutions.

At any rate the time has arrived when the freshmen, with untrammelled fervor or with meditative hesitancy, may put away the green piece until St. Patrick's day. At that time the caps will again be brought forth to be worn on the campus from 5 o'clock in the morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon until the closing of school in June, except during athletic events, at which time the official Idaho rooter's cap must be worn. Such is the practice as it is being carried on according to tradition.
