VACATIONS' CAUSE SHIFT IN FACULTY

New French Instructor Employed in Absence of Two Department Heads

During the next semester several changes will be effected in the faculty. The absence of Dean J. C. Eldridge, and Doctor H. L. Axtell, who take their respective leave soon, will cause readjustments in the modern language and classical language departments.

Miss Mabel Winifred Rentro, who has been in both the modern and classical language departments, will be transferred to the classical language department exclusively. Miss Emma Sturaw, formerly instructor in French, will teach French in the school, and will meet French classes at possibly will have a hearing class in German. Mrs. Ned Hattie probably will teach elementary Latin.

HONOR SYSTEM WOULD GET "COLD SCHEDULES" AT IDAHO

(By Cedric d'Esam)

For some time past there has been a good deal of discussion both pro and con in regard to the honor system of class work for college students. Just lately particular attention has been brought to the subject by the number of violators before the University of Washington student board and by the dropping of the system by the University of California.

The honor system is used by Oregon Agricultural college, Oregon University of Montana, Montana State college, and Stanford in the west and by Columbia, Cornell and West Virginia and others in the east and central states. It is of course a well known fact that a system very similar to this plan is used at Oxford University, England, and at Antioch college which is one of the pioneers in the new system of college education in America.

A partial consensus of opinion on the University of Idaho campus indicates that the system would not be received with favor. The chief objection against the adoption of the new existing dishonesty among the students, by this they contend, is the idea that there is not a sufficient degree of honesty inherent in the school as a whole to permit the proper functioning of such an honor code.

Minor objections to the plan are that it offers no advantage to the honest students and unfolds untold opportunities to the habitual "pony rider" that it forces students to betray co-students who take advantage of this method; that under this system professors would be more inclined to discount high grades; also that in classes that are large with instructors not popular with the students dishonesty will crop out. Students endeavor to show their antagonism through dishonest means. These and other phases of the question will be more fully expanded upon at a later date. Views of faculty members and a complete consensus of opinion will be expressed later.

NEW WOMEN'S GYM STARTED AT U. OF W.

Will be $235,000 Building Ready to Occupy By Next Fall

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, Jan. 10.—PIP—Work on the new $235,000 women's gymnasium has been started and the building will be ready to occupy by next fall. Two floors, one 120 by 90 feet, and the other 40 by 65 feet will be included in the new structure, as well as locker, shower, and dressing accommodations for 3,500 women. The larger floor will take care of basketball, volleyball and indoor sports, and will be used for the annual high school sports day meet. The smaller floor is to be used entirely for dancing classes and will have a specially designed covering of cork-linoleum.

SPINSTERS SEEK MARRIAGE IN PLAY

Third of One-Act Offerings Billed in Auditorium for Next Week

Four unusual and entertaining plays, none of which has been presented before at the university will be given in the auditorium next Thursday and Friday evenings, as the semester's third one-act play group under the direction of John H. Cushman. The first play is "Makeshifts" by Elizabeth Robbins, with a modern dramatic plot involving the competition between two spinster sisters for an offer of marriage from the man they both admire, and the makeshifts they resort to when they find that neither is successful.

Love Tale Second

The second play will be "Postal Orders" by Roland Petwée and is concerned with a young man's desperate efforts to prevent his angry sweetheart sending a telegram of acceptance to an eager rival. The third play, "Garryowen" by Glen Davis, is a costume play based on Custer's last fight, with a setting in the orderly room of a troop supply base on Powder River in Wyoming in June, 1876. This play is unusual in that it makes use of Indian sign-talk to describe the "Custer fight."

"Such a Charming Young Man" by Zoe Akins will make the fourth play of the group. This play is an amusing comedy of a charming young man who is a "famous" and "famous" stories which invariably turn out to be true.

To Use New Scenery

This play will be the first to use the new scenery which will be used by Mr. Cushman for the first time. For "Garryowen" special costumes will be provided including the old army blues worn by United States troops in 1876.

"I" CLUB FAVORS MATMEN LETTERS

Wrestler Should Get Award if Requirements are Met, Organization Votes

Members of the wrestling squad who have fulfilled the requirements specified by the A. S. U. I. constitution should be awarded an "I" sweater, it was voted by the Varsity "I" club at its last meeting. This action followed a request for an expression of opinion on the movement when would abolish wrestling as a major sport at the university.

The constitution provides that a wrestler, before he is eligible for a letter award, must win matches in at least three conference meets, or win one match in a conference tourney.

The movement to abolish wrestling as a major sport is gaining legs and in the northwest, several colleges and universities have already done so. The executive board of the A. S. U. I. will take action if campus sentiment trends that way.

VANDAL HOOPSTERS OPEN CONFERENCE RACE HERE TONIGHT

Idaho Will Meet Montana Grizzlies in the Local Gymnasium

EXPECT GOOD CROWD

Miles and Nedros Expected To Start Game As Forwards

Coach MacMillan's Vandal hoopsters will demonstrate tonight how they regard the basketball they learned on their recent basketball tour when they face the University of Montana grizzlies in the local gymnasium.

Spectators may look forward to something new in this contest as the strength of both teams is an unknown quantity. Little or nothing is known of the quality of Montana players as they have had no conference games as yet. However they played very impressively in this section. From all indications the game, that the Vandals played with Montana, state before Christmas, is no fair test of their ability. Several of the trial-horse teams that were Idaho's victims along the coast on the trip are reported to be more powerful than the teams of the largest schools, and easily better teams than Montana state.

Miles and Nedros will start the game as forwards, Erickson center, and probably Canine and Jacoby forwards, Burgher center, and Lamphere and Judevine forwards, probably will be seen in action before the final gong.

A record-breaking crowd is expected to attend Friday's game. All the reserved seats, except a few in one corner, have been sold, and approximately all of the faculty tickets have been sold. The game will start at 7:30 o'clock sharp.

WOMEN TO MEET IN TANK CONTEST

New Rules Will Govern Entry in Scheduled Swimming Event

Plans are now under way for a women's swimming meet to be held during the last part of March at the first of April, according to Miss Janette Wirt, head of the physical education department for women. The plans are under the direction of Miss Wirt and Jean Emery, W. A. A. swimming manager in order to schedule special practices it is necessary that names be turned in to the athletic representative of each group house.

According to the new plan for the meet, individual entries will be made during the class, teams previously chosen except the class relay teams. It will be permissible for a girl to enter any three events aside from the class relay and to try for W. A. A. points. As soon as the list of those desiring to enter the meet is completed a special schedule of practice hours will be announced, at which time assistant coaches will be on hand to give suggestion in training.

Plenty of Good Seats Are Available for Russian Ballet

O. Bangs, head of the music department. They may be obtained from Mr. Bangs also.

Examinations will not be scheduled for the afternoon in order to give the students an opportunity to attend the performance.

There are plenty of good seats both for the matinee and the regular performance, it is reported.

TWIN FALLS STUDENT SHOT, IS IMPROVING

Ed Martin May Soon Return to Moscow for Work

Ed Martin, Twin Falls university student, who was injured in a gun accident during the holidays, is reported as having improved considerably. He is now past the critical stage of his injury. He plans to return to Moscow and be under physician's care here. He will then be able to keep up his assignments in school work. Mr. Martin is a student in the school of business and a promising athlete in track and javelin throwing.

COLLEGE BAD PLACE TO FORM GOOD HABITS

That college is not an ideal place for the formation of good habits was asserted by the Dean of Washob College.

The reasons given by him were that "outside attractions and over-loaded schedules are so prevalent in modern college life that regular physical and mental habits are difficult to form."—Stanford Daily.

Sigma Nu Brother Hit By Cadillac; Dies In Hospital

University of Oregon Eugene—Eet, beloved brother of some forty Sigma Nus, who was run down by a Cadillac in front of the Campus Shoppe yesterday afternoon, will be buried in state today. The military cortege will leave the Sigma Nu house at two o'clock.

Eet did not pass away immediately after being struck, but was picked up by a campus Dodge which rushed to a veterinarian. He died on the way.

Eet, who looked like one of those dogs often referred to as "a half-dog, half-horse, and a dog-and-a-half long" joined the fraternity last spring. Besides being one of the most enthusiastic barkers at rallies, and a friend of all the campus, Eet did much to win the personal affection of each member of his house. He never failed to recognize one of his order even across the campus, and was always ready to entertain them with singing, shaking hands, rolling over or such tricks, and had, near the end, become so obliging as to close the door when ordered.

Since his inauguration into the house, he has been the chief publicity agent of the group.

Eet had just recently recovered from a collision with a Ford 40 for more than a day.

"I" CLUB INITIATES NINE GRID MEN

Group to Enforce Traditions and First Year Men Will Carry Paddles

Nine gridmen who won their letters for the first time last fall, were initiated into the club Monday night. Following the initiation a meeting of the club was held at the Sigma Nu house at which the club, at request of the executive board, took a vote to members of the wrestling squad who comply with provisions of the constitution and the club voted in favor of making these awards.

The nine men initiated Monday night were the right to membership in earning regulation letters during football season last fall. These men are Leonard Beale, Troy Moore, Con Dewey, Maurice Brimhall, John Bauer, Lyle Starke, G. Hort, Darwin Burgher, and Hugh Hughes.

Enforcement of all university traditions will be carried out in the future to the fullest extent, it was voted at the meeting. The club adopted a resolution in which it was specified that all first year "I" men are to carry paddles at all times on the campus and see that violators of campus traditions are punished. This method of enforcing traditions will be in full swing by St. Patrick's day when the freshmen are to wear their green caps on the campus, it was agreed.

IDDINGS WILL GIVE EIGHT ADDRESSES

Ag. College Dean Away on Two Weeks' Tour in Two States

Dean E. J. Iddings, of the college of agriculture, left the university Monday on a two weeks' tour during which he is scheduled to give eight addresses at as many meetings.

Dean Iddings went to Moscow to Yank Veto, where on Tuesday he spoke before the Washington Wool Growers' association. Wednesday afternoon he was slated to be in Meridian for an address before the Farmers' club there. Thursday, he visited and spoke at the state poultry show in Caldwell. Today he attended the state seed show in Emmet.

On January 17, the dean will attend the Idaho Wool Growers' sessions in Weiser and deliver a talk there. On the 19th he goes to Twin Falls for the state Grange meeting. From the 20th to the 24th he will be in Boise and vicinity and will be held there before the congress, and the 24th he will speak at the ewine meeting in Nampa and then he will return to Moscow.

PROFS. LIKE MARRIED STUDENTS

Marriage is good for students, say members of the faculty of the University of Washington. "They aren't thinking of heavy dates," explained one professor. "I don't believe that the married students are any smarter. They have been through the excitement, and can adjust themselves to the more serious problems."

A four-day trip north includes games with Spokane college, Spokane university, Coeur d'Alene Elks, and the Kellogg town team.

In spite of the unlucky number of games, the freshman are stepping out into some real basketball, having defeated the Lewiston All-Stars, a team comprised of experienced old-timers, 43 to 23, and the Palouse Athletic club last Tuesday, 34 to 30.

MacMillan is back into the game now and is playing forward with Stowell. Thornhill seems to be the best bet for the center position, and Drummond and Christians are playing steady as guards.

SENIOR BALL TO BE COLORFUL AFFAIR

Decorations Will Be in Black and White at Blue Bucket Inn

The senior formal will be held Friday evening, January 14, at the Blue Bucket Inn. Bids for this affair are given only to seniors, but each member of the class may, if he wishes, invite someone who is not a senior.

There will be feature dances during the evening.

LONG IS ELECTED HONORABLE DUKE

The Knights are constituting suggestions for a more active and useful future on the campus.

AMERICANS LEAD IN COMMUNICATION

President of Spokane Chamber Delineates History of Phone at Assembly

Of six men most responsible for development of communication, five have been Americans, John F. Davies, president of the Interstate Utilities company, told the university Wednesday morning.

"Bell, Thedoroff, Vail, Stratton, Marconi and DeForest are the Americans who, during the past 60 years, have contributed to the modern science of communication, making greater strides than in thousands of previous years. Bell, with his invention of the telephone, perhaps leads the list, although assisted to a great degree by Vail, who sponsored extension and development of the instrument on a 'charge scale'."

To Stratton goes credit for invention of the automatic instrument which is replacing manual operation. Mr. Davies said, Marconi gave the world its wireless shortly after the opening of the twentieth century. DeForest made a great contribution to wireless development with invention of the vacuum tube, revolutionizing the science and making possible voice transmission through the ether.

Mr. Davies traced the story of communication, following smoke, signals, picture writing and tower transmission with discovery of the properties of the simple electric magnet, up through Samuel Morse's telegraph and the rapid advance from that time on.

"In conclusion Mr. Davies paid a tribute to the 'Hello' girls, who in time of disaster cling to their posts in spite of all danger."

Mr. Davies is president of the Spokane chamber of commerce. He was introduced by President A. H. Upham.

THREE TEAMS ENTER FORENSIC CONTEST

Whitman, W.S.C. and Idaho Will Debate Marriage and Divorce Law

Washington State College, Whitman and Idaho will enter teams in the women's triangular debate which will be held here February 16. The negative of the question: "Resolved, that there should be uniform laws regulating marriage and divorce," will be upheld by the university.

The schedule for the women's team will be enlarged to include Utah and Oregon. Idaho will meet the former about the last of February to decide the question: "Resolved that democracy is a failure."

Last debate in the season is April 7 which is a triangular meet with teams from University of Oregon, University of Washington and Idaho participating. This last affair will be conducted in an informal manner. It is planned to make this debate among these three schools an annual event.

Columbia University—Willard V. King, graduate of Columbia, now New York banker, has provided in his will to leave one-tenth of his property to his alma mater. He invites others to join him in forming a Columbia Legion, composed of men who provide this in their wills.

AGS REOPEN BETTER FEUD WITH LAWYERS WITH HOT CHALLENGE

Lawyers! Hear ye, skulking jackals! Cancerous Hypertrophies on Modern Industry! Moral Lepers in Modern Society!

Disciples of Ananias in Modern Religion! Profligates, crawl out of the gutter and endeavor with your atrophied, amoebic brains to comprehend that which follows.

Noble tradition dictates that again we must defile our spotless integrity by encountering such loathsome ilk as those who prey on the fruits of the labors of others. Consider this a challenge to display your degenerate ability in a game of basketball to be played not later than January 28, 1927.

Let this be impressed on your distorted intellects, you protectors of criminals and pilferers of wealth, that players may be selected only from regularly enrolled students in the College of Agriculture or the College of Law. Preparatory, postgraduate and irregular students must be barred.

Let it be understood further that the college represented by the losing team agrees to entertain the college represented by the winning team at a smoker which must be given not later than fourteen days after the contest.

Ascend, you nauseating bipeds, and surely condemnation and censure worthy of your perfidious occupation will follow you thru the remaining years you are suffered to exist.

Disgusted though we be with those with whom we must converse, yet will we condescend to incline an ear over the curb to listen to a reply from the mire beneath.

Signed, THE AGS.

FEATURE NUMBERS MAY BE ADDED TO PEP BAND PROGRAM

Organization Leaves Moscow to Tour South Idaho on February 3

MISS JOHNSON TO SING "Dolly Sisters" Will Have Song and Dance Novelty

Twenty-two members of the Pep band and possibly three feature set entertainers, will leave Moscow February 2 on a two weeks' tour of south Idaho, according to plans completed last night. The number of persons who will make the trip, which will be under the direction of Prof. David Nyvall, Jr., will be passed upon by the executive board at its next meeting. According to a tentative itinerary made out by George Horton, graduate manager of student activities, who is in south Idaho, the first engagement will be played at Weiser, February 3. Probably 10 performers, including appearances at Boise, Twin Falls, Pocatello, and Idaho Falls, will be made.

Features—Billed

Leading the feature act performers will be Jennie W. Johnson, assistant professor of voice here and a singer of national reputation. Miss Johnson will sing a group of songs, accompanied by the pep band. Assisting Miss Johnson will be two women dancers in a "Dolly Sisters" singing and dancing act. The dancers have not yet been selected. Men who will make up the band for the tour have not been announced by Professor Nyvall, who will personally conduct the organization at all appearances.

Program Select

One of the most select programs ever arranged for a popular audience is being arranged by the conductor. A feature number will be "Doctor Phrampton's" an original piece composed by Professor Nyvall. According to a tentative outline the program will be divided into two main sections: the first to include classical numbers and the second "collegiate" selections. The specialty acts will come under the second grouping. The program will be closed with "El Capitan" and "National Anthem" marches. A feature number on the band program will be "Crest Street Rag," an old dance selection made famous in the north-west by pep band traditions.

The full program for the tour will be presented at a concert in the auditorium shortly before the departure of the company.

University of California—With an annual expenditure of approximately $12,000,000, the university has been classified by the Berkeley chamber of commerce, as the chief interest and largest revenue-producing project in Berkeley.

Response to Secure Appointments for Picture Sittings Is Good

The response of students to the request to have appointments made with photographers for sittings, is so far satisfactory, according to Leland Chapman, editor of the annual.

As many as 30 student sittings a day has been reported by J. J. Stern, of Sterner's studio. And Jack Miklos, of Miklos studio, says that he is being kept busy.

In the last issue of The Argonaut the editor of the annual published as his closing date for appointments, February 1. "I again urge those who have not made arrangements for an appointment to do so before it is too late," said Mr. Chapman.

Moving pictures are now being used in the "stereograph" of Atlantic steamers to teach Americanization to immigrants coming to this country.

The Newest Race

IDAHO is about to enter its newest race. Tonight the University of Idaho and the University of Montana will spill the first blood in the Pacific Coast conference to start a struggle which will end with one of the member teams wearing the laurels of the championship. And ten men, members of the varsity basketball squad will carry the brunt of the struggle for Idaho.

If these could be presented to Idaho citizens a deeper understanding and consequent favorable appreciation of the work we are trying to do here would result.

"Hello"

AND here we have the "Hello" one of the most hated on subjects, editorially, of any utilized by campus editors. But it is a subject which stands a heap of harping and yet not suffer for the comment.

Never has Idaho entered a conference season with hopes as bright as those which now face Coach MacMillan and his players. Never, so authorities skilled in forecasting season results have said, has Idaho entered the season with more brilliant prospects. A team of veterans will wear "Vandal" colors through the struggle; and these veterans, headed by a man who has shown upon two different occasions that he can lead a team to the championship. These ingredients usually develop into a title, but, if they are developed in the right way, they are developed in the right way.

Hours and hours of grueling practice, mixed with a strenuous harnstorming tour and then another grind of practice in the gymnasium and his team say they are toward developing the matter of a championship. There remains another vital effort—the from the students and fans who will watch the Vandal play. And this last seems to be an important factor.

No matter if the greatest players, coached by the greatest coach, made up the Vandal squad, it is probable that they could win without the proper support. There is small remuneration to the players when the cheering of the spectators, the only concrete proof that the students of the school for which they are fighting are out to cheer them on, is not there. Empty stands do little to inspire a fighting pitch in a basketball game. Full stands, crowds of spirit-maddened fans, all cheering, is the magic formula for success of a college athletic team. With that to back it up, even a mediocre team can spurt to victory over a much stronger opponent. A good team, backed by that sort of support, can go far toward a championship.

Idaho needs the Pacific coast conference basketball championship this year. And paper playing is showing that never have we held a better chance to win. The unstinted backing of Idahoans, starting with the game tonight, is the share non-players should contribute toward victory.

CAMPUS KATIE

WANT A MAKE YOUR FINALS?

HERE'S TWO WAYS:
No. 1. (a) Repeat, persistently to everyone you see, the following phrase: "I just know I'm going to flunk, I just know I'm going to flunk, I just know I'm going to flunk."
b) In case you should meet the same person twice, and would not care to repeat the above phrase, use Dick Whitaker's favorite: "I ought to study, but I can't, I ought to study, but I can't, etc."

c) Spend all of your spare time sitting in the Oriole's Nest telling your friends that finals don't count much.
d) Let your motto be: "It don't do no good to study for finals" and go to class and copy off your neighbor." (In case you find an Accounting student on each side of you in Econ. 11, pull your collar around your neck, rest your head on the back of the chair, close your eyes, assuming Kennedy McDowell's sleeping position, and you will probably dream you made an "A.")
No. 2. Study. This way is a little new and somewhat unique—never having been tried out by the students, but in case other means fail, this might be given a trial. P.S. This would also be a novel way of being "different."

IDAHO MAN TAKES LIFE reads a head in the Morning Oregonian. S'all right, but you should try College Humor too, that's a very good magazine.

"IT'S ALL OFF," said the dancer as the button snapped.

2. Zippit—Whatcha doll's tonight?
3. Aft'—Whatcha—Don't crowd, don't push, there's one for everybody.
4. Ulterioriorium—What the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina.
5. Strum and Drang—Get up, you lazy trosh, the house president's mother is coming for lunch.
6. Hol polloi—Call of one frat brother to another to answer the phone.

HELPFUL HINTS:
1. If your friend is ill at the infirmary send him a book to read. (Bobby Humphrey suggests the book, "Last Words of Great Men," since Stan enjoyed his copy so much).
2. In order to get to classes these cold mornings, it is necessary to leave the house.
3. If you do not know where you lost your fountain pen you may find out by looking for it.

cause of the lingering quarrels between the class members, that should have ceased with the ending of the Hulme fight, that were apparent after the battles in years previous to the get-together dances.
The peace celebration has been a social function on the Idaho campus every year since 1910, and has become one of the university's sacred traditions.

The purpose of the "bury-the-hatchet" party is primarily to get the freshmen and sophomores together the night of the Hulme fight, which takes place, the first Saturday afternoon after registration, to promote a feeling of good will between the two classes thus doing away with any of the hang-over grudges—and give the participants an opportunity to make new friendships.

The first dance was given in the dining room of the old Ridenbaugh hall. Some juniors and seniors, struggling under the strain of surplus energy and a peculiar sense of humor, attempted to steal away the foods prepared for the underclassmen. The attempt did one thing; it left a lasting impression with Dean French. She remembers the date and the incident as if it were yesterday. Since that time the younger set has had their fun without being molested.

In recent years it has become customary for an all-college dance to be given in the Blue Bucket Inn the same night of the peace social for the benefit of juniors and seniors.

But just try shooting on the square. And you'll find some sunshine everywhere. Remember the world can't be made your way. There must be work as well as play. Your soul keeps perfect balance that way. So if you'll loose yourself and the fray You will find some sunshine every day. Remember some days are stormy: some are fair. Some may be filled with worry and care. But you just search; look everywhere. And you'll find that days are mighty rare Where sunshine isn't found if you look for it there. A. T. B.

Remember this when days are blue; When weeks are weary and friends are true; When burdens are heavy and pleasures few. And there are things you'd like to; but cannot do, Remember burdens may be hard to bear. Your trials heart rending, and fate unfair. Then whatever happens you may not care.

SLAVES

In a quarter-century the General Electric Company has produced electric motors having a total of more than 350,000,000 man-power. Electric light, heat, and transportation have also contributed their part to the freeing of men. These are America's slaves. Through their service American workers do more, earn more, and produce quality goods at lower cost than anywhere else in the world.

You will find this monogram on all kinds of electrical machinery. To insure quality, ask for it on equipment when you buy for factory, office, or home.

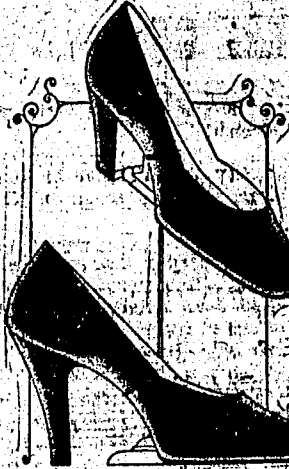

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEE-18.

TRAFFIC stopped as big Frank Ketcheson, Supt. of Steel Construction for the George A. Fuller Co., hurled two Parker Duofold Pens from his perilous foothold on a slender steel girder atop of the new Stevens Hotel, Chicago.

One pen struck on asphalt, the other on cement—away they bounded into the air, then landed in the street—unbroken!

We wanted to give the public proof more convincing than any guarantee. So we have shown by a series of heroic tests that the new Parker Duofold Pen with Permanite barrel does not break. Be sure no fall on corridor or classroom floor can harm it.

Students Pay Visit To Tomb of Tolstoy, Famous Russ Writer

"In America you may ask a man what church he belongs to and he will tell you. But don't ask him his religion, for it is the worship of the Golden Calf." In these words, Count Ilya Tolstoy, son of the famous author, expressed his opinion of American life to Professor Boris V. Morkov's class in Russian Literature.

Count Tolstoy received his visitors "on the lot" at the Edwin Carlowe Studio, where he is assisting in the direction and filming of "Resurrection," one of his father's books, which he has translated into English.

While posing in Russian costume for a portrait which is being painted by Perelma, a pupil of Repin, the greatest of Russian painters, Count Tolstoy after he had realized the futility of class and answered their questions regarding the life and writings of his famous father. He told how "My Confessions" had been written by Leo Tolstoy after he had realized the futility of fame, wealth, and social position, and characterized it as "the awakening of conscience" in his father.

He admitted that much of "Anna Karenina" is biographical, but refused to go into detail, saying that he wanted members of the class to read the book for themselves.

Asked concerning his father's philosophy of life, Count Tolstoy replied with the advice, "Solve your own life problems for yourself, and don't worry about those of others."

For the filming of "Resurrection," Count Tolstoy has brought to the Carewe Studio the only genuine Russian droska in America. The droska is a one-horse sled with a peculiar halter, and is used chiefly in the country.—U. S. C. Trojan.

Savage to Co-ed and Back to Type Goes Sorority Girl

From South Sea savage to sorority girl and back again—is the strange account of the life of Princess Lulu, a native of Hawaii, who was for a time a co-ed at the University of Illinois.

In fact, when she returned to Maui, with the influence of the University still very much in evidence, with her hair bobbed, and liberal ideas about the future of women in her head, one could have easily believed that she was permanently civilized, but the charm of life back in the "old home town" in contrast to the social life at a university with its moonlit yacht rides, numerous parties, movies and motor trips proved too great for her.

Consequently she is a living proof of the statement that "culture comes from within," for she cast her reputation to the winds by violating the custom of allowing only four wives to one man by becoming the fifth wife of Datu Tahli.

WEIGHT REDUCING HELD DANGEROUS

Doctor Says Gaining Fashionable Figure Questionable Business

Weight reduction treatment for vain but lazy women who are from five to fifteen pounds over the stylish figure, and whose craving for slimness is influenced more by consideration of fashion than health, is a questionable business, usually foolish and sometimes dangerous, says Dr. H. L. Lippert, Assistant Clinical Professor of Medicine, and Dr. H. C. Sheppard, assistant in medicine at the University of California Medical School, in an article devoted to the pathological conditions of body glands.

Obesity treatment should be confined to those cases of children or adults who are from 20 to 100 more pounds overweight, the doctors state. But they add that in such cases weight reduction is a matter of health.
