CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION

POSSIBLY that the constitution of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho will be revised and some of the bulkier features of the instrument removed in favor of a less cumbersome document now has the aspect of certainty. The idea, presented editorially some time ago and considered unofficially by student body officials for a long time since that, has taken definite form with the announcement by President Harry Baughman that a committee of representative students would be named to work out a new constitution and at the same time, formulate plans for a book of statutes, which will contain the less permanent provisions for student body government.

For several years it has been apparent that the constitution was growing more unwieldy each year, with a consequent disappearance of the old framework conceived several years ago to fit conditions of the time it was drawn. And with this realization came the demand for a constitution which would provide for the fundamental principles of student body government, be sufficiently inclusive to cover all the aspects of government, yet having woven into it the vision and foresight to allow it to stand more or less permanently. With the present system, the constitution, as it existed following its adoption was in danger of becoming extinct. New amendments, often introduced two or three times a year, replaced the original provisions until now very little of the original document exists; and the amendments are coming thick and fast. With each new year comes new ideas, new conditions and new persons, each of which demands an additional provision be written into the constitution to cover its individual needs. So, it seems, that the tendency driving the constitution along with this idea is well established, with all the promise of permanency.

The constitution now contains many provisions which have become antiquated, no doubt, and which will become more so as time goes on. So it seems that this new move is worthy of support. The Argonaut has expressed ideas on constitutional revision and the following will be a development of the earlier expression, these to be only suggestions. As the constitution should not be the document which contains the statutes by which the student body is administered but a thing which

ON BEING COLLEGIATE

(The Daily Kansan)
"COLLEGIATE" — one dictionary gives the meaning, "related to a college," and others assign a similar meaning. We can read or hear of college literature, collegiate athletics, or collegiate drama without flinching, even with a little pride at times; but when it comes to hearing the word bandied around by merchants and sales-people as the choice adjective in regard to the prevailing mode, it is almost more than any thinking college person can endure. To be sure, college trousers may be greater in circumference than the established sixteen inches, and college coats may have lost the cape effect from the waist down, but at that, colleges should not be blamed for the sartorial extravagances that sections of the "garment trust" have managed to thrust upon the shoulders of their customers under the misnomer of "collegiate."

Permanently flipped hat brims, never-turned-down coat over-coat collars, and the eternal bare-headedness of a portion of the younger generation is entirely in accord with the trend of modern fads among college students, but it is no doubt an idiosyncrasy and a temporary convenience with the students, more than it is a showing of law and order in regard to the rules of dress. But such things as these idiosyncrasies and conveniences are promptly seized upon and made a uniform, stereotyped thing by those who never attended college and don't want people to find it out. Many things are really collegiate, but they're not the glaring styles or ultra-modern fads which outsiders deem collegiate.

The Literary Corner

SO SAY WE ALL OF US

In days of old, when knight-hood bloomed;
The world was young and gay,
I'm glad to know folks did not speak
The way we do today.
T'would somehow spoil the romance
Of a tale of long ago
If they had used the language
That our friends and neighbors know.
If knights who danced with maidens,
To music dim and vague,
Had whispered on the ballroom floor,
"You shake a wicked leg."
T'would take the romance from a scene
Of gladiatorial joy
If maids had thumped knights on the backs
And shouted, "atta boy!"
Or if our Shakespeare's "Juliet,"
To lady shy and meek,
Had whispered in her lover's ear,
"Romeo, you're some sheik."
Or, Raleigh to the smiling queen,
Had gravely doffed his lid,
Had laid his coat down in the mire
And said, "Step on it, kid."
But if my fellow said to me,
And gravely said to me,
"May I have the pleasure
Of your charming company?"
I'd wonder what was eatin' him,
And though I'd call his bluff,
I'd more than likely say to him,
"Where'dja get that stuff?"
For though the maids of yesterday
Thrilled to words spoken daily,
The dear old Americans' language
Is good enough for yours truly.

DON'T GIVE UP HOPE

Don't give up all hope, but keep desperating all the time.
When you have a chance to win,
you only try.

Don't say you can't, but work and start preparing
For the greater things you must do by and by.
Don't think you're lost, because luck turns against you.
Luck is bound to turn your way some day.
Just work with all your might, keep firm and true,
With these few words, I'll win if I only try.
There's one thing sure, you're not the only person
Upon whom fate has cast his luckless eye.
You can climb up from amid luck's ill desertations
And rejoice in victory, if you'll only try.
Don't blame your friends for what fate casts upon you,
They probably do their best to help you on,
It's up to you to win your way, and do,
The necessary things, to help just you along.
Don't take your time to despair and fret,
No one has ever beat a game that way.
But hope that you may win your battle yet,
And always look on forward to a better day.

CAMPUS KATIE

HUSH!
SH-SH-SH!
HIST!
Did you know (please speak in a whisper) that there was a Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at Idaho? Well, (softly now) there is. We know that there is such a group for one of the Kappa Neis on her way to the Oriole Nest found the music to the Fiji song, and handed it to the Argonaut. It is sung to the tune of "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," and is entitled:
"YOU CAN'T FOOL ME, 600 UNIVERSITY IS THE FIJI HOUSE."
We are the mystical Fijis,
Who never write our name
If you find out our officers,
It is an awful shame.
All our doors have secret locks,
Our thoughts are private too,
In fact we never tell a soul,
In fact what we're going to do.
Six hundred university,
Is the title that we use,
We never publish our dinner guests
Someone might see the news,
That there's a Fiji frat at Idaho
If really our greatest fear,
So we will not have another verse
You might find out we're here.

Patrons and patron were Dean Fermeal French and V. R. D. Kirkham.

A brief but, spicy program was given by the following: Dorothy Howerton pleased every one with a comic reading. Dawn Siggins and Maurice Morley entertained with songs with ukulele accompaniment.

Guy Williams and Spike Gregory played several selections on the violin and banjo.

At the business session president Elbert Stillman introduced Harold Tinker as general chairman in charge of junior week, who stated that as a whole the plans of last year will be carried out, including the parade, party, assembly, prom, cabaret, and play which will be Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night."

Final Schedules For Exams Posted

Final schedules for semester examinations were posted Thursday afternoon. Examinations will start Friday, January 28, and continue until Saturday noon, February 5. No exams have been listed for Thursday afternoon, February 3, on account of the Mordkin ballet matinee. The new lists have been carefully checked for conflicts. Examinations for subjects not listed will be arranged by the class instructors. Absolutely no changes will be made in the schedules and any conflicts that might occur must be reported to the registrar's office for adjustment.

VARSITY AND FROSH GRIDIRON AWARDS MADE THURSDAY

Seventeen "T" Sweaters and Twenty-two Numerals Are Given

TWO FOR RUNNERS Tom McGonigle and Harold Steele Get Scholarships Presentations

Seventeen football letters, two cross country letters, and 22 frosh numerals were awarded yesterday at a special assembly. The awards were made by Coaches Charlie Erb and Philbrook. Scholarships honors were also announced.

The men who received football "T" sweaters were: Leonard Beall, Charles Diehl, Frank Powers, John Bauer, Sammy Perrins, Hugh Hughes, Geo. Hort, Maurice Brimball, Con Dewey, Troy Moore, Glen Jacoby, Darwin Burgher, Carl Hutchinson, Lyle Stark, Charles Gartin, Bud Bliss, and "Sody" Owens. In awarding the sweaters, Coach Erb gave a short talk telling of the merits of each man, and complimenting the team as a whole on its general conduct.

Frosh Win Numerals
Those receiving football numeral sweaters were: M. B. Kinney, G. Christianson, Kenneth Barrett, C. E. Carney, John Berr, Diehl, L. Kirkpatrick, A. Riley, Harvey Sumpter, "Red" Jouno, Frank Tatum, Jay Christians, Albert Frann, Orville Huff, Dale Munden, Al Niemann, Ted Jensen, A. Norby, H. Price, William Frazier, H. Nelson and William Kerlbank.

Cross country letters were awarded to Arthur Matthews and Don Cleaver. The whole football squad with the exception of Glenn Jacoby, Darwin Burgher and "Bud" Bliss was present at the assembly and were marched up on the stage to receive the sweaters.

Tom McGonigle, '22, and Harold A. Steele, '23, received scholarship awards from Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity, and Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, respectively, for being the two freshmen of last year's class having highest averages in their respective schools.

Male High Average
The Sigma Tau award consisted of a gold medal. McGonigle maintained a 5.351 average all last year in chemical engineering. The Alpha Zeta award was a scholarship sum. Steele had an average of 5.914 in his frosh year.

WANDAL BABES TO MEET W. S. C. FROSH
Idaho Quintet Will Have a Hard Tussle With Cougar Kittens

The Idaho Vandal Babes quintet will tangle with the Cougar Kittens Saturday, January 23 at the university gymnasium in what promises to be one of the toughest games of the week's schedule.

The W. S. C. team already has made a good record for itself by defeating Cheney normal, Lewis and Clark high school, and the Lewiston all-stars—all strong teams. They boast of a crack whistling center who is playing his last semester, and who, it is predicted, will make the varsity team next semester.

No doubt this game will be a close hard fought contest, but if the Idaho Babes are up to their standard as they should be after a three-day rest from their disastrous trip to Lewiston Wednesday night, they should have little difficulty in outplaying the invaders.

The starting line-up will probably be: Neuman and McMillan, forwards; Thornhill, center; Christians and Drummond, guards; with Ut, Drummond, St. Clair and Barrett on reserve.

Frosh Average Beaten Oregon Aggie Varsity
OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Ore.—If the varsity gets beaten, send the Frosh against them, might be a good slogan for O. A. C. to adopt during basketball season. In a recent game the varsity went down to defeat before the Southern Oregon Normal of Ashland. The game was fiercely played and ended 23 to 22 in favor of the teachers.

It so happened that the Aggie Rooks also had a game scheduled with the Normal. Naturally when they went to Ashland everyone expected to see them square it. But the reverse happened, as it will do in athletics. The O. A. C. Frosh won by a score of 21 to 15.

Some 2000 fans witnessed the game, and at the end of the first half found the Aggie Rooks ahead 13 to 10. The Babes rallied in the second half and came out on top. The accurate shooting of Frosh was mainly responsible for the winning of the game.

VANDALS TO MEET O.A.C. AND OREGON

Real Test Comes in Game With Webfooters Saturday at Eugene

After two successive defeats, by the University of Washington 33 to 23 and Whitman college, 21 to 16, Coach MacMillan's hoop quintet should be sufficiently warmed-up and ventural to take the O. A. C. Aggies for a good cleaning tonight at Corvallis, and should be able to put up a real fight against the Oregon five tomorrow night at Eugene.

Of course, predictions of victory are merely speculations, but if history should repeat itself, the Vandals are on the way to another coast pennant as beginning the season with a few defeats and then winning all the home games was the way Idaho copied the Pacific coast title four years ago. Even if Mac's team should drop the two remaining games on this first conference tour, the championship possibilities are not necessarily lost.

The Oregon Aggie team is reputed to be one of the weakest teams in the conference, all of the players being sophomores with the exception of one. Coach "Bob" Hager of O. A. C. has been grooming four full teams for the conference season and seems to have an abundance of good but inexperienced material. The real test of the trip will come when Idaho lines up against the old timers that compose the University of Oregon quintet. The Webfoot five has been considerably strengthened by the return of Ingram at forward. Ingram, who is one of Oregon's best bets, has been laid up with an injury received in football. Much confidence is expressed by the Oregon camp in the strength of their Okechberg, "Sidy" Whitman. He seems to be able to connect with the circle with considerable accuracy. Other members of the Webfoot quintet who have been playing regularly on the squad are Ridings, Bally and Milligan, all well experienced men.

Contrary to expectations, Oregon has not been up to championship form for the Blue Buckle in games with the smaller colleges in its vicinity.

Wednesday night saw some interesting games played in the intramural basketball tournament. The first game, although by the score looks like a walk-away, was far more interesting than the 34-14 score shows. In this game the S. A. E. team was on and they made all of their shots count. The game was very fast and exceptionally clean.

Idaho's frosh hoopsters dropped a game by 17 to 15 score to Kieffner's battling Bengals of Lewiston high school at Lewiston last Wednesday evening. After a cold, slow ride, in which everyone suffered the chilling effects of the weather, it took some time for the frosh to get warmed up to playing ability in the Lewiston game.
