POCATELLO TAKES STATE HOOP TITLE FROM LOCAL FIVE

Moscow Falls Before Rush of Heavier Gate City Quintet

DECIDING PLAY FAST Ade Nelson's Team Defeats Boise to Win Place in Finals

Coach Rich Fox's speedy quintet of Pocatello took the lion's share of honors in the high school basketball tournament which ended here Saturday night by winning first place in the meet and by placing three men on the all state first team. The Moscow team, losing the final game to Pocatello, was awarded the cup for second place. Sandpoint received the sportsmanship cup.

Crowds Filled Gym

Long before the game was scheduled Moscow high school fans and university students filled the gymnasium and there was a never-ending din of yelling and cheering during the whole game. Pocatello took an early lead and soon had a 5 to 1 margin over Moscow. Moscow then scored two long shots and within a short time had the Pocatello boys doubtful of a victory. The half ended with the score 10 to 7 for Pocatello, when Nelson and Smith of Moscow talked one each. Pocatello increased her lead by close guarding and by her wonderful team work, until she led the Moscow boys 15 to 9. Nelson of Moscow hung in another field goal just before the final gun making the final score 15 to 11.

Moscow sprung the big surprise of the tournament by defeating Boise 15 to 13 Saturday afternoon in the semi-finals by a strong spurt at the beginning of the game and then guarding closely and stilling until the final gun. Coach Buster's men helped Pocatello come through the semi-finals in the first game of Saturday afternoon beating Sandpoint 22 to 17 in one of the hardest fought games of the tournament. Demers, all state guard, went out in the third quarter on personal fouls, giving the Gate City boys the advantage in a game that had been practically an even break.

Lineups of the semi-finals were:

Moscow	Boise
(15)	Eaton
Nelson	Felipe
Phelps	Blaine
Randall	Wakeman
Woody	Myers
Smith	Hale
Pocatello (22)	Sandpoint (17)
Paulson	Bandelin
Ahlstrom	Wendel
Gross	Demers
Hall	Shook
Shurtliff	Folden

Student Suicide Would Be Curbed If Educational Activity Were Guided In Right Direction, Chenoweth Believes

BY PROF. C. W. CHENOWETH Head, Department of Philosophy

In view of the widespread currency given to some instances of irrationality among students, culminating here and there in acts of self-destruction, it has become a common query whether or not the educational system is contributing to that result. But where answers to the query are forthcoming, they invariably neglect some factors that make for irrationality.

The professor himself is the source of some of these. Almost any student knows that the marvel is not that a few lose their sanity, but rather that any retain it in the face of their faculty handicaps. And many who have but little taste for anything else find wholesome diversion in devious ways and means of saving their sanity from the professional tant.

Other irrational factors originate with the student. There is something unbalanced in the riotous scramble of rainbow tinted interests after the "plus fours" have reached their limits. There is abnormality in the campus gyrations of the four wheeled flappers with their misplaced cosmetics and their misty epigrams. Their close affinity for the two footed sort manifesting itself more emphatically yet in their badly disorganized tops. The fraternity orchestras bear an insanity taint. Music, it is true, hath charms to soothe the savage; but where, oh, where is the savage who hath the charm to soothe the music and quell the lament of the troubled saxophone?

A SUCCESSFUL TOURNAMENT

IDAHO has just gone through another state interscholastic basketball tournament. Absolute cooperation on the part of the entire organization here made the tournament a gratifying success. Everybody who took part in this venture is deserving of praise.

From a financial standpoint, although figures have not been announced, the affair was successful; efforts of the Moscow chamber of commerce, the Spurs and the Intercollegiate Knights are mainly responsible. The tournament proper was conducted in the best possible manner; the athletic department had this in charge. The players and their retinues were entertained properly; fraternity houses, with considerable inconvenience and expense, handled this. Much of the credit for the success of the tournament, from every standpoint is due Blue Key, national service fraternity, which was in charge of exploitation and other phases.

The tournament was a success because this cooperation was present. It is but another development of the famous Idaho spirit. The visitors, most of them at least, went away from Moscow "sold" on the University of Idaho; and undoubtedly the results will be evident in registration during the next two years.

LOOKING BACK

IN THE years to come, when college students of today have reached "the older generation" and are able to survey their college careers with perspective gained through studying in the broader curriculum of life, undoubtedly they will look back and enumerate things they should have done while undergraduates. And undoubtedly they will form, mentally, a number of rules which should be followed by the student now in college.

Some of them will regret one thing; others will regret another, and all will decide, undoubtedly, that were they to be given another chance, they would certainly follow another path; one which would give them the things which they found necessary to success. No matter what goal they achieve, whether it be "the goal" or whether it be short of it, they will be able to see things which they did not do and for which their stride was impeded. Whether they reach the highest pinnacle of success or whether they perform manual labor for a livelihood they will recall certain lines of activity pursued in college which gained them nothing.

Thomas Arkle (Clark, writing in the Dearborn Independent recently, outlined "The Things Which I Should Do If I Were In College Again." Doctor Clark is dean of men at the University of Illinois. He lists the following things he would do:

- "Develop concentration—work harder but not so long.
- "Learn to work while others are around.
- "Put more stress on learning how to get information than upon the information itself.
- "Find more difficult tasks to do.
- "Learn to speak in public.
- "Learn to play some athletic game.
- "Learn how to do one line of work particularly well.
- "Get better acquainted with his instructors.
- "Take fewer courses which are strictly practical.
- "Have an avocation which will bring him into closer touch with men."

There is a world of wisdom in this man's discourse. He speaks with the authority of a man who has spent a lifetime with college students and their activities. He has seen graduates start from the campus, diploma in hand, to make their way in the world. Some of these have reached the heights; some have stumbled downward. He should know what he is saying. College students today should profit by the dean's learning.

HOLY! HOLY! HOLY!

SHADES of William Jennings Bryan! We have lately learnt of a new society called "The Supreme Kingdom" and described as "a religious, patriotic and benevolent organization to combat atheism and its accursed ally, evolution." We wonder if America will ever grow up, or will ever forgive a certain Charles of England who prattled to the world about monkeys in 1859.

The spirits of Tennessee, it seems, must be upheld and old Bill Bryan avenged. The mantle of leadership has fallen on the able shoulders of the Rev. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in New York City. This reverend gentleman is to deliver 60 lectures on the aforementioned "accursed ally" as the leader of the Supreme Kingdom, not from the fiery zeal to preach of a Christian martyr, not from the immortal urge of a John Wesley, but, we are told, from the attractive glamor of $30,000.

To us, five hundred dollars seems a lot for one little hour of hypocrisy. But this is the plastic age; it nourishes its liberty with intolerance and waters its freedom with bigotry. For $30,000 a man is to tour the country proclaiming the incompatibility of the laws of nature with those of God. May we humbly advise Dr. Straton that possibly he has struck the one case in which all the money in the world cannot influence the judgment.

Perhaps, however, he aspires to a noble award for his services after death. For if the Heaven of the Supreme Kingdom Society honors its workers at face value, we can surmise the mighty paean of praise as the Rev. John Roach Straton rolls his $30,000 clinking cartwheels before the final altar, an, as the clatter dies away, rise to the imperious command of his Supreme King: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant!"

THE WHY OF THE GRAM

F I CAN only get through these next two weeks—"There isn't a student on the campus who if he has not expressed that thought has not been conscious of it. The last two or three weeks of any semester have come to be a nightmare to every student, conscientious in his work or not.

Nine instructors out of ten will advise the student not to cram the night or so before an examination and yet these same instructors will assign so much extra work during the last weeks, to prove that their courses are not pipes, that there is no chance for a sane review if the student expects to keep up with his daily work.

The result is that there is a mad rush and dash that sets everybody's nerves on edge and gains the ones concerned practically nothing.

If the instructors would only learn to give the bulk of their work at the beginning of the term and allow the students time at the end to get a real review, there might not be so many failures and there certainly would be more education gained, which is usually conceded to be the primary aim of a college course.—Daily Kansan.

We have been told that figures never lie, but we have seen some on the campus that are too good to be true.—Montana Kalm.

A PETROLEUM DITTY— ON TO VERA CRUZ

Come along in Mexico,
 That is where you are due to go,
 With your tin hat, bayonet and gun,
 For the cursed Bolshevik,
 Has the daring to insist,
 That our magnates must obey the law or run!
 No, we cannot arbitrate,
 If he starts to confiscate,
 That would be disgraceful, don't
 you see?
 For Doheny and Sinclair,
 Have so many wells there,
 Far more precious than your life
 can ever be!

Get aboard at Newport News,
 Sail on down to Vera Cruz,
 Dashing blithely through the ocean
 foam,
 Dough-boy, leather-neck and gob,
 Must be promptly on the job,
 To defend the noble lords of Teapot

No, we cannot arbitrate,
 If he starts to confiscate,
 That would be disgraceful, don't
 you see?
 For Doheny and Sinclair,
 Have so many oil wells there,
 Far more precious than your life
 can ever be!

And if you should chance to die
 Underneath that burning sky,
 We will plant a cactus on your grave,
 And with thanks of the whole nation,
 We will pour a rich libation,
 Shining drops of golden oil you died
 to save.

No, we cannot arbitrate,
 If he starts to confiscate,
 That would be disgraceful, don't

Rich and Poor Students Work at Boys' School

Mt. Hermon, Mass.—(IP)—Mt. Hermon School of Boys was founded by D. I. Moody for those boys who cannot gain an education without working for it. Since the founding of the institution the school has come to include in its enrollment many sons of wealthy men. But wealthy and poor alike still work for part of their tuition.

The school, situated on the west bank of the Connecticut river, with a campus of some 1100 acres, is run by students under the direction of their instructors. Students work the farm in the summer, raise prize herds of Holstein cattle, cut down trees in the forests on the campus and haul them to a saw mill where they cut them for use in construction. Students run the laundry, cook the meals and serve them, keep the buildings in repair—in fact do every bit of work which is required to keep the community of 600 undergraduates and faculty in the running order.

When the student arrives at Mt. Hermon he is assigned to two hours of work daily, or its equivalent. He is graded on the quality of his work in the same manner that he is graded in the classroom.

The students also have their own government and enforce their own rules. Smoking is strictly forbidden on the campus, either by students or faculty members. But one month, August, is provided for vacation, the institution having three terms a year.

EXTENSION AGENT PLANS SHORT COURSE

Between 400 and 500 Boys and Girls Are Expected Here

The fifth annual boys' and girls' club short course will be held the week of June 12 to 18 this year, according to announcement by W. L. Stephens, district extension agent for north Idaho. Mr. Stephens will be in charge of the program again this year.

Plans are being made to accommodate between 400 and 500 boys and girls this summer, more than 200 having attended the 1926 course which was the most successful yet held. South Idaho, which was represented by about 40 persons last year, is expected to send a considerably larger delegation this coming June.

Definite plans for the week have not been announced. The program, however, is to be on the order of last year's, and the annual 4-H picnic will again be an outstanding entertainment feature. Several new ideas for the instructional work are now being considered.

Fern Spencer of Grangeville, is president of the state 4-H club organization, having been elected at the business meeting last summer. The other officers follow: vice-president, Dale Clemens, Gooding; secretary, Ellen Hinkson, Boise; choristers, Helen Wortman, Nezperce, and Neal McKinley, Cottonwood.

STUDENTS RESORT TO ROLLER SKATES

Juniors at Princeton Protest Ban on Student Cars; Wear Signs

PRINCETON, N. J., (IP)—As a protest against the recently enacted ban on student automobiles, juniors at Princeton university have taken to roller skates. The campus walks are now alive with the roller-skaters, some of them wearing signs inscribed: "They can't take these away!" or "and mamma said I could!" Many of those on skates have abandoned old-fashioned flippers they have been driving about the campus, in spite of the fact that the ban does not go into effect until July 1.

EARTH WAS NEVER MOLTEN MASS, CLAIM

Grow Up Slowly in Solid State, Says Chicago Geologist

Chicago—(IP)—That the earth never was a molten mass as has been believed by modern science, but grew up slowly in a solid state with a core of metallic and stony material is the belief of Thomas Chamberlain, professor emeritus of geology at the University of Chicago. Professor Chamberlain, who is 84 years of age, announced this theory last week after twenty-three years spent in a study of the origin of the earth.

The new theory has it that sometime in the past a star approached near enough to our sun to cause, by tidal action, small portions of it to be thrown off, one of these portions being the earth. If the mass had been molten, Professor Chamberlain says, there would have been no such imperfections in the shape of the earth as now exist.

3. One day he overheard some Nice People referring to him as "Hacking Henry." At last, the truth struck home. They were giving him the "raszberry" because of his Constant Cough.

Memphis, Tenn.—(IP)—When the members of the Kadis legal club at Southwestern college here divided into radical and conservative camps at the annual election of the organization, the liberals were successful in electing their candidates on the following platform:

1. Any law, state federal, that is calculated to control or curtail thought is not only at variance with the spirit of the constitution, but is also an insult to the American Intelligence.
2. Religion that deserves faith and belief is strong enough to withstand the progress and theories of humans.
3. Inasmuch as the nation is a nation of equal suffrage, and the men are in the majority in the Kadis club, we propose to install, upon election, an additional office of vice-president, to which only co-eds may be elected.
4. Attendance of the members should not be forced, therefore the by-laws imposing a fine upon members absent should be repealed.
5. The programs of the meetings should not only be instructive but entertaining.

Declaring that he never invests money unless he can realize at least 10 per cent on his investment, Parmenter figured the interest, compounded annually, and sent Dr. Smull a check for $22.50. In a letter from his home at Providence, R. I., he explained:

"Today I am wealthy, and can afford to pay all of my obligations."

The very best quality ocean pearl buttons are used and are firmly sewed on. Button holes are barred at both ends for extra strength and ample thread of good quality is used for good appearance.

LAUNDERING

We pay a bonus to have our shirts fully laundered and thoroughly ironed, a real advantage for the future wear of the shirt.

YOUTH FREE FROM HYPOCRISY, IS SAID

Virginia President Claims Youth Is Broadening Mind; Good Signs

UNIVERSITY VA., (IP)—The youth of today is free from hypocrisy, is broadening his mind, and is displaying a self-control that bodes well for the future of the world, according to Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia.

SENIOR COUNCIL AT PRINCETON RESIGNS

Comes After Action of Trustees in Banning Student Autos

PRINCETON, N. J., (IP)—Declaring that the action of the university trustees in banning student autos at Princeton is an encroachment on student government, the senior council of the university last week resigned in a body. The 15 members voted unanimously in support of a resolution taking this action in the form of a letter addressed to the entire student body.

Members of the council emphasize the fact that they were not fighting so much for the right of students to own and drive cars as for the principle of student government.

Following the action of the senior council, the Daily Princeton advocated a general referendum of the student body to determine what type of government it wants—government, as in the past, by the senior council, government by a council representation of the entire undergraduate body, or a return to the old government by the administration of the university.

ond revolution, consequently, broke out in 1913. It failed, but the South broke away soon after and formed its own government. Yuan died in 1916, and with the removal of his strong hand, there resulted in the north an era of national warfare among the "tuchuns", or military provincial governors, who had been his henchmen.

WAR CONTINUOUS

Since then war among these tuchuns has been practically continuous. The southern government has been constantly attempting to end this banditry, but backed by strong armies recruited from among the poverty-stricken masses the tuchuns have continued to wage devastating campaigns throughout the north in order that they might secure the booty with which to placate their rabble. This is the "disorder" to which foreign governments object.
