YEARBOOK WILL BE DISTRIBUTED HERE WITHIN TWO WEEKS

"Gem of the Mountains" for This Year Has 450 Pages

HAS NEW FEATURES

Only Subscribers can Obtain Copies of Annual, says Editor

"The Gem of the Mountains" will be printed and ready for distribution within the next two weeks which is according to the approximated schedule set by the editors and managers, said Leland Chapman, editor-in-chief. A definite date for distribution will probably be known by next Tuesday, when Mr. Chapman may have made a trip to the printer in Spokane. The book consists of approximately 450 pages printed in a new shade of ivory enamel, a stock shipped directly from the paper mills in the east to the printers. The book contains four distinct feature sections which have been carefully worked out by the editors in co-operation with the engravers and printers, and with the addition of an index section, the annual should not only be the largest publication of its kind printed by the University of Idaho, but should be the best, according to Mr. Chapman.

The nature of the feature sections so far withheld from public attention, will be published in the Tuesday edition of The Argonaut, according to George Young, associate editor. The index will include all the names of undergraduate students whose names or pictures appear in the annual, and by its use students will have no difficulty in referring to the activities or interests of their friends. This is the first time an index has been published in an Idaho annual.

Care Is Used

Division pages for the book have been worked out with special care and will play a major part in making the book attractive, according to the editor. The ink used was chosen after several tests with ink manufacturers in Seattle and consists of a dark shade of green. Nowhere in the book is black ink used. Warm and cold shades of green, maroon, and orange, constitute the colors used throughout the book, and the combination deviates from the conventional black and white, the annual will not be lacking in dignity and yet will have added color and pep. The cover is worked out to harmonize with the general scheme of the book.

COLUMBIA PROF LECTURES HERE

Dr. J. T. Williams Gives Talks on Physical Education Topics

Dr. J. T. Williams, professor of physical education at Columbia University, delivered two lectures to the Idaho students Friday morning at 9 and 10 o'clock in the Science hall. His lecture at 9 o'clock was given for the pre-med, pre-nursing, personal hygiene and zoology classes. At 10 o'clock he met those who are especially interested in physical education. Dr. Williams is considered by critics one of the best educators of the day. He has written many educational books, two of which are used as text books in the personal hygiene and zoology classes.

CLASSES VOTE TO SCRAP "SNEAK" IN FAVOR OF "PICNIC"

Sophomores and Juniors to Prevent Recurrence of Recent Mishap

STOP "ROUGH STUFF"

Juniors Will not Interfere With Picnic; Other Traditions Kept

Resolution to the effect that the senior "sneak" be changed to a picnic were adopted at a meeting of the sophomore and junior classes Thursday night. The resolutions will be given to the academic council for approval.

According to the new plan, the seniors will get a date for the picnic from the calendar committee and there will be no opposition from the junior class in attempting to prevent seniors from going. On the night of the senior picnic, the juniors will have a party. These resolutions were adopted to stop any recurrence of the mishap in connection with this year's sneak.

Eliminate "Rough Stuff"

The only tradition that will be done away with under the plan will be that of the "rough stuff" in connection with the sneak. The other traditions, such as the seniors missing a day of school and all other classes moving up a step, will be retained as formerly.

George Yost had charge of the meeting. The following are the resolutions passed at the meeting:

1. "Due to the unpleasant occurrences that followed this year's senior 'sneak', we, the members of the classes of 1928 and 1929 in joint session, passed the following resolutions in order to prevent a recurrence of this year's accident.
2. Be it resolved that:
3. The day known as the senior 'sneak' will be known as the senior picnic.
4. That the date for the picnic will be made public and secured through the calendar committee.
5. That the junior class will show no opposition in keeping the seniors from attending the picnic.
6. That on the night of the senior picnic, the junior class be permitted to hold a mixer, such date will be automatically set by the time chosen for the senior picnic.
7. That the above changes in the rules governing the sneak be adopted as traditions by the incoming classes."

HUNGERFORD WILL BE ACTING DEAN OF AG COLLEGE

Dr. Charles W. Hungerford, head of the plant pathology department and plant pathologist of the university experiment station, has been appointed as acting dean of the college of agriculture, according to a recent announcement by President Upham. This appointment will be in effect during the absence of Dean E. J. Iddings, who leaves next week for a tour around the world, planning to return to the university in January of next year.

In addition to his duties connected with the acting deanship, Doctor Hungerford will perform in the capacities of acting director of the experiment station and acting director of the extension service, these being the three offices filled by Dean Iddings. J. H. Bearden, now county agent leader in extension, will become acting assistant director of extension service. Doctor Hungerford will continue with his present instructional work and direction of the research conducted in his department, although he will be aided by an additional number of student assistants, said President Upham.

Won Regard of Students

The appointment comes as a well earned recognition of Doctor Hungerford's abilities, as demonstrated during his nine years on the campus, for in addition to carrying on the work of his department in an unsurpassed way, he has won an enviable place in the regard of both faculty and students.

Doctor Hungerford received his bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1915, having the position of assistant botanist there at that time. Two years ago he completed the work for his doctor's degree, which came from the University of Wisconsin also.

CAST OF PAGEANT WILL BE COMPLETE BY THIS WEEK END

Students Take Many Parts; Abe Goff and Marie Gauer Have Leads

REHEARSALS BEGUN

Prof. Cushman Reported Considerable Progress in Afternoon Practice

Selections of the entire cast for this year's production of "The Light on the Mountains", by the students of the university June 4 will be completed by the end of this week, according to Prof. John H. Cushman, head of the dramatics department and director of the pageant. Rehearsals for each of the scenes are being conducted under the direction of Professor Cushman.

The entire cast for the production, with but a few exceptions, is being taken from the student body. Abe Goff, who appeared in the pageant when it was given four years ago, and Marie Gauer, who was graduated last spring, have been assigned leading parts. Mr. Goff will take the part of the Indian horseman and Miss Gauer that of the Indian Bird woman.

A number of Indians from the Nez Perce reservation at Lapwai will also be used in the Nez Perce Indian war scenes.

With rehearsals being conducted every afternoon on MacLean field, where the pageant will be given, considerable progress has been made, according to Professor Cushman.

Rehearsals for each of the nine scenes are done each week.

Five high-power search lights, purchased last fall by the university, have been installed on the roof of the gymnasium in such a position to throw light upon the stage on the field below. A test was made recently of the lighting effect and it was found that these lights are ample for the pageant, according to Professor Cushman.

Work of securing properties and stage settings for the production is being carried on by the production committee, according to Beardslee Merrill, general student chairman. Committees are working to have all needed equipment on the campus by the end of this month. Indian costumes have already been arranged for with the Nez Perce Indians at Lapwai.

Advertising of the pageant throughout the state and northwest is being carried on to a wide extent. Automobile banners, advertising the pageant, have been sent out over the state to alumni and other car owners.

RICH FOX NAMED HEAD BASKETBALL COACH AT IDAHO

New Man Former Member Vandal Coast Championship Squad

HAS GOOD RECORD

George Philbrook Resigns as Track Coach; Successor Not Chosen

Rich Fox, athletic director of Pocatello high school and former member of the University of Idaho Pacific coast conference championship basketball team, has been appointed head basketball coach and assistant in the department of athletics. It was announced today from the office of President A. H. Upham. Fox succeeds David MacMillan, who resigned recently to accept a similar position at the University of Minnesota.

The new Idaho coach received his degree from the university in 1925. He played three years of varsity basketball, being captain of the team in his third season. "Bulleit", as he was called by coast basketball fans, was one of the best guards Idaho has ever produced and his consistent playing was a great factor in bringing to the Vandal campus the first conference championship.

Fox has had a remarkable success as a coach at Pocatello. During his two years there he has regularly produced championship contenders, both in football and in basketball. This year his basketball team won the state championship, without losing a game and then went to Chicago and won its way into the semi-finals of the national interscholastic tournament. The Pocatello five was pronounced one of the smoothest running quintets ever entered in an Idaho state tournament, and it was a favorite with fans at Chicago because of its display of team work and cool headedness.

"We are mighty glad to get Rich Fox back on the campus as a coach," Upham said in making the announcement. "And we are proud that we can, with so much confidence, tender a coaching position to one of our own graduates. He has shown himself to be just as good a coach as he was a player and he knows the Idaho system of basketball from top to bottom."

Philbrook Resigns

Coincidentally with the announcement of Fox's appointment, President Upham made public the resignation of George Philbrook, university track coach for the last two years. Mr. Philbrook is considering several offers from institutions in the middle west, but has not yet announced definite plans. His successor has not been chosen.

Philbrook came to the university last spring from the Multnomah athletic club, Portland. He is a former Olympic star, and has been well known in track circles for the last two decades.

ABOLISHED

THE sneak is dead! Long live the sneak!

Student opinion has virtually abolished the senior sneak at Idaho. This is the passing of one of the oldest traditions on the Idaho campus. And the great wonder is: Why in the world wasn't it abolished many years ago. And along with it that inorganic riot which goes under the name of the sophomore-freshman mix should be abolished also.

A MOVEMENT

THE passing of the senior sneak is another phase in the movement which is making itself felt in nearly every college in the land during the last few years. Seldom now does one hear of the type of activity which college men of another lay love to tell about: broken heads, torn clothing and even more serious casualties received in young riots by pseudo-enthusiastic students, expressing their deep-felt support of a team or a tradition. It wasn't so very long ago that a hundred, more or less, events during the college year called for rah-rahing. And these festivals, which generally started quiet enough, were stimulated often by a beverage now forbidden or concentrated college spirit, ended sometimes disastrously for participants. An effusion of college pennants, torches and downright rowdiness were the distinguishing characteristics of such demonstrations. Most of these, notably at Idaho, have passed.

There is a different spirit growing rapidly on the American college campus. Although some over-zealous and generally misinformed guardian of the weal of American youth cries to the high heavens about the moral deterioration of collegians, there is a quieter atmosphere on the college campus of today. The modern institution has absorbed the air of efficiency which has taken the industrial world and is becoming a place for business of the sterner sort. The business of the college student is going to college and acquiring whatever rudiments of education he can during the four years of his course. This is true despite the dramatic exhibitions given the public on the occasions when the public is on the campus. Homecoming days and similar affairs. With a campus loaded with spectators willing to revel in a touch of collegiate life, the students are more than eager actors to stage a show for them. Were the visitor to spend a few days here at any other time of the year he undoubtedly would be sadly disappointed in the crew of hardworking students he should find.

Along with the disappearance of the rah rah spirit is fading the more or less mythical athletic spirit. It is probable that the most enthusiastic follower of the fortunes of the football team is off the campus. The student accepts these as a part of college life. But his enthusiasm is not nearly as high as that of the man on the outside.

The college of America is passing through an interesting phase.

The governor answered their telegram, informing him of their marriage, by telling them that it was somewhat of a surprise but that he and their mother would be waiting for their return.

CAMPUS KATIE

KAMPUS KATIE

UG! ME. TAKE YOST!

Above quotation from the following story by George Wise Greene. "George Yost and I were passing through the Indian Reservation country near Culedeas several days ago, when suddenly it became necessary for me to leave George a few minutes in order to negotiate some business affairs with the storekeeper in the neighborhood. I disliked the idea of leaving my friend Yost because the Indians were thick in the neighborhood and like all Culedeas Indians, excessively friendly. It is not unusual for one of the redskins to greet a fellow by slapping him on the back with a tomahawk, or to bestow a friendly benediction on his forehead by first removing the scalp.

"But to make a long story short, I left Yost for an hour, and on my way back to the clump of trees where I had stationed him for a safe wait, I began to worry concerning his safety. To increase my fears I heard, suddenly, the loud, frenzied, half-mad cries of an Indian coming from the clump of trees as I approached Yost's hiding place. Running at break-neck speed, my face and body fevered with fright, I came upon the scene. My eyes bulging from my head at the sight before me; my legs and arms paralyzed; my throat burning with fire, with words of protest that would not come.

There before me sat George, and sitting beside him, holding his hands was squaw "Standing Cow", whose muttered love words came tumbling forth: "Ug, Ug, I throw in sixty acres if you take me, my little Hiawatha Vandal!"

PAT: "My dear, your curves are wonderful."

LIEF: "O, thank you, honey, I surely do hope we beat those horrid old Montana boys today."

MAC: "Now, boys, remember all I have told you and do play your best."

THE UMS: "Play Ball."

THE CLUB TROTS OUT TO POSITIONS. SHORTY CHEYNE STOPS AT PITCHER'S BOX.

LIEF: "Heavens, I forgot my chewing tobacco, do you have any?"

Shorty: "Really this isn't very good, you know the quality of Clintax is not nearly so good as it used to be."

ERICKSON BITES OFF ENOUGH FOR 5% INNINGS. SHORTY TAKES PLUG AND RUNS BEFORE UMS HAVE CHANCE TO BUM ANY. SHORTY STOPS BY POLLY AT 2 B.

SHORTY: "I hate to talk about people, but do you know I don't think Erickson is very polite. Just look at the piece he bit out of my Clintax."

POLLY: "I know, dear, he really doesn't come from a very good family, I mean, he is kind of crude in some ways."

THE GAME STARTS: ERICKSON THROWS A STRIKE.

MURRAY: "Splendid Eric, they just can't hit you, I know."

SHORTY: "Oh, goody, goody!"

POLLY: "Lief, you are just grand!"

GEORGE: "Lovely, Lief, lovely!"

FEMALE VOICE IN BLEACHERS: "ATTA BOY, ERIC, SHOVE IT RIGHT PAST THAT BIG FALSE ALARM!"

ERICKSON THROWS ANOTHER, KELLY GENTLY BUT FIRMLY LIFTS THE BALL THROUGH A WINDOW IN JENKINS COTTAGE.

BAIRD: "Oh, dear!" (faints).

POLLY TO SHORTY: "Oh, goodness, I don't see why they let him pitch, I think he is just too rough."

MURRAY: "How do they expect us to win when they let him do all the throwing?"

FEMALE VOICE IN BLEACHERS: 'HEY, ERICKSON, YOU BIG KALKA KAK, YOU'VE GOT TO PUT SOMETHIN' ON DAT BALL BESIDES TOBACCO JEWELRY IF YUH EXPECT TO GET ANY OUTS'

MAC: "Those girls must just watch their language or I shall insist that they stay away."

CLEANUP SQUADS NAMED TUESDAY

Students Will be Assigned Jobs for Traditional Campus Day

Work assignments for Campus day next Thursday, May 19, will be published in the Tuesday issue of The Argonaut, according to George Austin, vice president of the A.S.U.I., who is in general charge. The names of all men students will be listed in groups under the direction of captains who have been appointed by Mr. Austin. Each group will be assigned to a particular task, and the size of the groups will vary according to the nature of the work to be done. All groups will assemble at designated places at 7 o'clock Thursday morning and will work until noon.

Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity, has been given supervision of the projects to be undertaken. Work will include a general cleanup, repairing and home construction.

Work is planned in the concrete sidewalks, concrete steps, and concrete floors in the buildings. The work could not be done satisfactorily.

The Intercollegiate Knights, under the direction of Larry Long, president, will provide tools and equipment.

The club will be on hand to discourage loafing. All members will patrol the campus armed with stout paddles. They will have orders to use them whenever and wherever they see fit, according to Lieut. Erickson, president of the club.

In the afternoon the annual May day festival will be held on the campus in front of the Administration building. Seats will be set up to accommodate a large crowd of students and townspeople.

The coronation of the May queen, Josephine Kéane, attended by her court, will be the feature event of the festival. Following the coronation of the May queen, a group of senior girls will give an exhibition of aesthetic dancing. Dorothy Darling is chairman of the committee in charge of the dancing.

Entertainment will be under the direction of Arthur Emerson. The military band will give a concert on the campus during the afternoon.

ESTIMATES GIVEN ON HEAT PROJECT

Initial Cost Would be About $60,000, says Report; No Action

Estimates on the cost of supplying fraternity and sororities on the campus with heat from the central university heating plant were presented to the interfraternity council at a meeting Thursday evening at the S.A. building. The report, submitted by the committee on the heating plant project, was accepted by the council but due to the high cost of installation of such a system no action was taken. The initial cost of laying of the main for the proposed project would be approximately $45,000, according to the report submitted. Cost of pressure valves and taps, $9,000, and other incidentals would probably bring the initial cost of the installation to $60,000. The report stated, "Figuring that this cost would be divided between the 19 houses, the approximate split on the initial cost would be $3,000 for each house," says the report.

Have New Equipment "It now appears that the larger houses have expensive new equipment that they would hesitate in junking. This indicates that possibly all the houses would not be ready to accept the community service. Basing our figures on the assumption that 19 would ask for this service, the figures would be at a minimum of $3,000. However, if these new buildings did not come in, the split on the initial cost would be increased.

"In the engineer's estimate, he figures on the basis of 2,000 square feet of radiation per house, basing this estimate on the average size house. Assuming that the service rate and the number of feet of radiation on this estimate could be cut to about half the price, that would be practically the same as the individuals are now paying on their own plans. The amortization on the original investment would have to cover a period of years and this, together with the service charge, the interest on the present system which would be lying idle, plus the possibility of the future inadequacy of the plant, makes it seem to be a little more than is practical for the groups to consider at this time," the report sums up.

Rushing Rules Amendments to the present rushing rules of the council, inaugurated last fall, were proposed at the meeting Thursday. These proposed amendments will be taken up by the various groups and then referred back to the council for action at the next meeting.

CINDER ARTISTS AT STATE MEET

High School Stars Will Compete at Pocatello Saturday

High school cinder artists will gather at Pocatello Saturday for the annual state interscholastic track and field meet. District contests were completed last week and all contestants eligible for the state event. Boise, Twin Falls, and Idaho Falls emerged victorious from their respective tracks and field events. Boise took the state district with little opposition, amassing a total of 81 points, her closest rival being Caldwell with 34. In the southeast district Idaho Falls came out on top and won the right to represent that section at Pocatello. They are especially strong in the sprints, hurdles, and mile events, but appear to be very low in the field.

The south central meet was won by Twin Falls piling up 65 points; to Gooding's 29. As in the southwest district the meet held at Twin Falls showed superior strength in the dashes and nothing better than par in the field entries. From comparative track summaries the north will be favored with a decided edge in the javelin, shot, and discus. The brunt of this attack being upheld by "Jimmie" Demery of Stanpoint. The south side allowed little time in the dashes, half, and mile events; judging from the exceptional strength of the north in the field, and the well distributed power of the southern part of the state in the cinder track, indicates a close contest, with a possibility of three trials of two firsts and a couple of seconds taking the meet.

Any industrial worker who moves things by hand is doing work that Electricity can do for about 2 cents an hour

More than 60 per cent of the mechanical power used by American industry is applied through electric motors. But the electrification of the tasks performed by man power has hardly begun. Electric power not only saves dollars; it conserves human energy for better purposes and raises standards of living. College men and women may well consider how electricity can lessen the burdens of industry and of farm and home life.

You will find this monogram on all kinds of electric equipment. It is a symbol of quality and a mark of service.

BALL CLUB DROPS TWO GAME SERIES

Bunched Hits by W. S. C. Put Skids Under Idaho's Hope for Championship

Idaho's chances for the eastern division championship of the Pacific coast baseball conference were materially diminished by the double defeat suffered by the Washington State Cougars Wednesday and Thursday. The Cougars will have to drop both hits of a two-game series with the Montana Grizzlies next week and if Idaho is to win with them for first place...

Bunched hits, a flock of errors and erratic pegs gave the Cougars eight runs in the third inning of Thursday's match at Pullman. Although Grabber, who replaced Lawrence on the rubber in the third, kept the State sluggers well in hand, his teammates were unable to get over the necessary runs and they continued their inconsistent support. The final score was 10 to 5.

Camel is the modern favorite. MODERN smokers make known their preference. And they call for Camels. Never in any age was there a smoking favorite like Camel is today.

Camel mildness and smoothness are supreme with the critical taste of present-day people. A purchase of Camels brings you the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. Blended by skill into the world's most popular smoke, and the best. Quality unapproached, is the distinguishing mark of Camel. No matter what the price, there is no better cigarette than Camels. Smoke them as frequently as you please. You will never be left with a cigarettety after-taste. Camels aren't made that way. That is why modern smokers everywhere demand them. That is why this age has discovered the tobacco phrase, "Have a Camel!"
