NO ROOM!

The University of Idaho has been making wonderful strides during the past few years in enrollment and building, but the building program has not kept up with the enrollment. The situation has reached the point where it is imperative that more classroom space be provided on the campus.

At the present time there is not adequate room for holding of all classes. Many professors have had their office rooms taken away from them so the rooms may be used for classes, and these professors have all been moved out into the halls. Every available room is now being used.

During the last few years the freshman classes have not shown any decided increase, but there are more juniors and seniors staying in school and completing their work than in the past. This accounts, in part for the lack of room, while another factor is that more professors and instructors have been added to the faculty from year to year.

With the six weeks quizzes now on, one of our outstanding needs is brought to the front. This is the library. During all the years of growth of the university the library has remained stationary. No more room is provided now than when the enrollment of the university was little more than 1,000 students.

The library is, naturally, one of the most used sections of the university. For it is necessary for all students to do a certain amount of work there. One glance into either the one large room provided on the main floor of the Administration building or the small room on the second floor will bear out the statement that Idaho needs a new library building. There are but few times during the day that the library is not crowded.

Not enough books are provided in the library for the use of students. But this condition cannot be remedied until more space is available so that additional books can be taken care of. It is impossible at times to secure certain books required, due to the fact that there are but a small number of copies kept in the library.

An attempt to secure a library building for the campus was made at the last meeting of the state legislature. But this attempt failed when no money was appropriated for this purpose.

Another outstanding need on the campus that is becoming more imperative each year is that of a new music hall. At the present time three buildings and part of the Engineering building are being used for music classrooms and practice rooms. Facilities in this department have been inadequate for several years and two years ago two buildings, formerly residences, were taken over to help remedy the situation.

Litz hall, one of the first buildings erected on the campus, is still being used as the central music hall. This small building housed the entire department up to two years ago. The present buildings are not big enough to handle the large enrollment this year, nor are they fit for housing of expensive equipment.

With the lack of housing space for this department also appears the failure of the university to provide an up-to-date pipe organ for students studying organ. Classes are being offered in this course but no pipe organ is available on the campus and it is necessary for students to use a church organ, considerable distance from the campus. An organ, suitable for use on the campus, should be installed in the auditorium.

The need of these buildings on the campus to take care of students in the best possible manner is apparent and it is hoped that some definite action will be taken to procure these buildings.

REVIVE ENGLISH

One of the so-called "dead" subjects in universities has become very much alive on the Idaho campus this year. This subject is that of Old English and Middle English. Interest in many languages under the head of "dead" subjects seems to be increasing in many American colleges.

When the final check up on registration was made, it was shown that 55 students are enrolled in Old English, a class that has usually been low in registration. In fact the average enrollment for this class has been about 12 students each year the course is offered. The increase this year is due partially to the larger number of English majors in school, while many students have elected the course.

It is through languages that communications are carried on throughout the world and why shouldn't students be interested in the history of their mother tongue? Exactness and accuracy in language are acquired through the study. It has been shown that language, because of its everyday use, is probably the most practical training given in our universities.

FOR SCIENCE TO CONQUER

In this age of performing the heretofore impossible, such as flying across the Atlantic and similar difficult feats, it is interesting to think a moment on the numerous things left for science to conquer.

As yet, no one has found a satisfactory method to can heat; that is to store up some of the excess heat of the summer months and use it during January and the other cold months. We still use gasoline for automobiles because no one has discovered a satisfactory substitute. In the field of medicine, doctors have yet to discover a sure cure for cancer and tuberculosis. The smoke nuisance is one of the many evils of the manufacturing city for which no one can find a remedy.

We could name these things indefinitely. We still have never found a cigarette lighter that will work every time. A noise-reducing instrument in a golf ball would save many balls from being lost. And flies—how about a method of ridding us of them?

The scientists are waiting for help along these lines. We are not living a generation too late. Millions of improvements are left to be performed. The world is still in swaddling clothes.—University Daily Kansan.

IDAHO ALBERT

TIPS TO SOCIAL CLIMBERS

The informal introduction at the Kenworthy. By special request, Albert will devote this weeks tip to the informal introduction at the cinema.

How many times have you sat next to some four alarm fire at the Theater and have been unable to promote her simply because of convention?

To the polished snake it is really no trick at all, but to the average frosh the task seems impossible. One thing that makes this seem so hard is that in almost every case the F. A. F. is already dated.

Authorities differ as to the correct mode of approach but the accepted method on our campus is to let the picture present all opportunities.

Let us assume you are sitting next to a male you wish to make. The best and easiest way is to wait until the hero of the picture steps up to bat and hangs a Greta Garbo on the leading lady then you may say in an undertone to the dizzy at your side (being careful that her boy chum don't hear you)

"Say Babe, if that was me and you up there they wouldn't even have to pay me, I think I'd hold about a thousand feet of that for nothing!"

If she measures up to Vandland's standards of the coy co-ed she will say:

"Wow.....wotta noive you got—I ain't never been introduced to you that I can remember."

It should be noted that both may remain seated and do not shake hands. Too many times the unformed frosh will hesitate at this point. According to Doc. Barton, eminent social authority, our hero should slip over a fast curve similar to the following.

"Noive? Say babe, that ain't noive, that's a git."

To this she may reply, resting assured that she is remaining within the bonds of good taste, "Well, fattie, all I got to say is you ought to wrap it up and send it back."

And now, dear Frosh, is the psychological moment to make your grand sale.

"Alright kid, chalk yourself up with a three bagger—Tell that bim at your side that you heard Jerry was giving away gum and you'll dash out and get some, ——— I'll meet you out in front."

It is perfectly proper for you to get up and walk out—don't worry. She will be right behind you in a receptive mood for your sales talk.

According to the October 21 edition of the Argonaut the membership of the men's glee club includes men! "Much emphasis is placed on the glee clubs. Men are now singing in the men's club."

An old timer is a guy who can remember when the "Pen" was located at Boise.

Regular meeting of Blue Key will be held at the Blue Bucket Inn next Monday noon.

TENNIS COURTS READY FOR USE

Nets Provided for Four New Lay Kold Courts; Draw up Rules

Following delay of several weeks due to adverse weather conditions, nets and lines have been provided for the four new Lay Kold tennis courts on south Blake avenue, and at the present time a special committee is working on court rules.

The courts await only fair weather now for use! Yellow playing lines were laid the first of this week. A committee to determine who can play on the courts, when and how, is drawing up a plan of rules.

Although the courts have been constructed so as to drain themselves pockets of rain water still collect in the courts. It is likely that these holes will be remedied.

Love is responsible for a good many frosts in summer and for a few hot waves in winter.

SOCIETY

The Moroni Olsen play to be presented at the Kenworthy theater Friday night will add interest to the list of social functions scheduled for the week end. Otherwise, the calendar shows nothing unusual. Pledge dances are still "starring", the Beta annual barn dance being the only variation in events on the campus. Most of the other dances will probably have the hallowe'en atmosphere, giving a new touch to a common but always pleasant affair.

The Junior mixer, November 1, is being eagerly looked forward to as it will be the first Junior event of the year.

POSTPONE DATE FOR FORESTERS DANCE

Annual All-College Affair to Be Held in Gymnasium

The Associated Foresters have postponed the date of their annual dance from October 29 to November 19, according to Charles "Spike" Gregory, president of the association. Too many other college affairs scheduled near the original date was the reason assigned for the change.

FROSH TURN OUT FOR BASKETBALL

Thirty First Year Men Answer First Call Tuesday Afternoon

The call for frosh basketball candidates was answered by a squad of 30 men Tuesday afternoon in the university gym. Drill was begun at once in the fundamentals of the game under the tutelage of members of the varsity club. Special stress is to be laid on this department, and all candidates who expect to make the yearling squad are urged to turn out every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. All men are required to furnish their own outfits. New uniforms will be issued only after the squad has been cut to 15 men.

Varsity basketball men will have charge of the "rook" squad until after the football season when Coach "Rich" Fox takes them over. He expects fundamental work to be well under way by that time. Members of the freshman class who fail to turn out now will lose out on fundamental workouts, and consequently will stand a poor chance of making the team.

A schedule of 16 games is to be arranged with other colleges and nearby high schools.

FOREIGN SPEAKERS AMERICAN CONTEST

Washington, D. C. —(IP)—Speaking in his own language and asking for a revision of the Monroe Doctrine and an American League of Nations, 19-year-old Arturo Garcia-Fermenti, of Mexico City, won the international oratorical contest held here recently.

Georges Guet-Guithan, of France, speaking on his native culture, was given second place, while third place went to Frederick P. Holston, of Canada.

Miss Dorothy Carlson, 17-year-old Salt Lake City high school girl took fourth place with an address on the meaning of the American constitution, and fifth and last place was accorded James K. Watson, of England.

DALE SPEAKS TO SALES MANAGERS

"Some experiences with market surveys", was the topic chosen by Dean Harrison C. Dale of the school of business when he addressed the Spokane Sales Managers association in the Spokane hotel at Spokane last Monday night. The association is an organization of the leading wholesalers, jobbers and national distributors in Spokane and the surrounding country.

Dean Dale dealt with the change in the methods of distribution of commodities in the last few years and the various lines of merchandising. He stressed the usefulness of the study of market conditions and called attention to the attempt being made to decrease the selling costs in many lines. He pointed out that the volume of business doesn't mean it is a profitable business and gave illustrations from the market for men's clothing and furnishings in Idaho and the market for office supplies and equipment.

The meeting was followed by a discussion and Dean Dale was invited to discuss further aspects of the problems of marketing before a retail dealers' organization on November 1.

That smile of satisfaction follows a visit to the Idaho Barber Shop. Adv.

CREIGHTON'S

Chilly? Try Chili!

"The melancholy days have come," sang the poet, years ago, of the fall. We'll surmise that the fellow had been out in the wind or the rain, and maybe didn't feel very well when he wrote it.

Also, that was before chili con carne was such a universal dish for cold weather. And it wasn't in Idaho, where the fine Latah county beans are available for this wonderful dish. And the "con carne" part of the name means, in Spanish, "with beef." Needless to say, selected high quality cows are the only kind honored with an invitation to participate in our chili making.

Try it someday when it's blue and cold. A bowl of our chili, made under the same standards as everything else produced in our kitchen, will bring you right out of it. And another thing—chili costs only a quarter, for a lot of it.

RIFLE TEAM TO OPEN PRACTICE

Women's Club Will Hold First Meeting Thursday; Match Scheduled

First rifle practice for University of Idaho women next Thursday afternoon, with practice hours from 1:30 to 5 o'clock, according to announcement by the military department this week. Major F. R. Fuller and Capt. B. M. Crenshaw will coach and direct the work.

A large turnout this year is anticipated, and with formidable strength in a representative group of last year's first team returning a good season is anticipated. First team members are chosen from the ten highest shots in preceding matches.

Idaho already has accepted one challenge from the University of Delaware team although it has sent none as yet. All matches are telegraph shoots. Idaho won five out of eight matches last season, and ranked high among girl teams in the United States. Coaches are working on a schedule this year. Date for firing Delaware match has not been announced.

Following the first practice, regular range work will be conducted on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1:30 to 5 o'clock on the range in Lewis court. Members of last year's team returning are Elva Reid, Marylou Craven, Marian White, Avid Bowdish, Alta Tupper, Helen Dalton, and Leta Beeson. Elva Reid has been chosen manager.

For ten highest, shooting in a majority of matches, 100 W. A. A. points are awarded and for the next five, 50 points.

at 7:15 o'clock in room 206, Administration building follow:

Pi Sigma Rho, affirmative vs. Beta Theta Pi, negative on the question "Resolved: That Pledging of University Freshmen in American Colleges and Universities be Deferred One Semester."

Sigma Nu, affirmative, vs. Lambda Chi Alpha on the question, "Resolved: That Compulsory Military Training in Colleges and Universities be Abolished."

Phi Delta Theta, affirmative, vs. Delta Theta Gamma, on "Resolved: That American Colleges and Universities should adopt the Oxford system of Education."

Of seven draws for the second group of debates for Thursday night November 3, Phi Gamma Delta drew a bye. Some team will have to debate twice so that house may debate, or some default may come up to solve the problem. The debates which will be held that night are:

Tau Mem Aleph, affirmative, vs. Sigma Chi, Negative, "Resolved: That an A. S. U. I. Book Store Be Established."

Kappa Sigma, affirmative, Forney hall, negative on, "Resolved: That Co-education in Institutions of Higher Learning is a Failure."

Delta Chi, affirmative, debating Tau Kappa Iota, on, "Resolved: That Associated Student Government of the University is a Failure."

P. A. is a grand little pal

PRINCE ALBERT is the kind of a smoke you get clubby with, right off the bat. You'll be calling each other by your first names after the very first pipe-load. It is so genuinely friendly, in spirit and in fact.

P. A. treats your tongue and throat as gently as a mother handles a new-born baby. Never a bite. Never a parch. These are details, of course. The thing you'll remember longest is that wonderful taste! So cool, so sweet, so soothing.

No matter how hard you hit it up, this long-burning tobacco never hits back. You can go to it before classes, and right through to Lights Out. Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. The School of Experience has never produced a greater smoke than good old P. A.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

VANDAL GRIDSTERS END FIRST HALF OF SEASON EVEN

Tie With Oregon and Montana Win Keep Slate Clean HAVE HEAVIEST LINE Idaho Rates on a Par With Husky and Cougar Teams

With three victories and a tie as a result of the four games they have played this season, the Idaho Vandal eleven, after two weeks of uninterrupted practice, as a pause before beginning the second half of its schedule against St. Mary's, November 5. The Vandals have kept their Pacific Coast conference slate clean by battling to a scoreless tie with the Oregon eleven and smashing thru Montana's defense for a 42 to 6 win. Against the Webfooters Idaho clearly demonstrated its superior line and crushing attack but breaks, fumbles and penalties, prevented a score on either side. Several sophomore linemen on the Vandal squad were initiated into conference football during the Web-foot game.

Troncoe Whitman

An overwhelming 40 to 0 victory over Whitman college, following week end on the home field, indicated that the Idaho eleven had improved in all departments of the game and was getting down to mid-season form. Oregon had nosed out Linfield 7 to 0 and then Idaho swamped Whitman. This shows that Idaho is to be considered a serious conference contender.

The first game of the season, a non-conference tilt played on the home field with the Montana State Bobcats, was won by Idaho's powerful line offense 20 to 12, although weak defense against passes, was shown, and proved to be the closest hardest fought home game of the season. The Bobcats came back with a brilliant passing attack after Idaho had bucked across two scores and brought the score to 13 to 12 in Idaho's favor until the last minute of play—an end-run netted the final Vandal touchdown.

The last home game, the conference contest against Montana last Saturday, proved that Idaho is a strong contestant for Pacific coast honors. Washington won from Montana 32 to 0 and W. S. C. humbled the Grizzlies 35 to 0. Idaho's 42 to 6 win shows that the Vandals rate on a par with both Washington and Washington State college.

Coach Erb began fall practice with a group of experienced veterans and many consistent performers from the fresh squad. From this promising squad he has built up a forward wall which, though one of the heaviest in the history of the university, is also becoming noted for its speed and drive. He has also molded a backfield of shifty, plunging men whose total score compares favorably with that of any backfield in the Pacific coast conference.

STUDENT FILES DAMAGE SUIT

Aldon Hatch Asks $15,000 Against Sheriff's and Corporation

Charging brutal assault, illegal arrest and illegal imprisonment, Aldon B. Hatch, a senior in the school of forestry, Wednesday filed suit for $15,000 against Charlie Sumnerfield, Latah county sheriff, G. K. Moody, a deputy, and the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland, a corporation.

The action is the outgrowth of Hatch's arrest about midnight Saturday, October 15, following the Ag Bay, which resulted in filing against Hatch charges of disturbing the peace. Hatch seeks $10,000 damages for brutal assault on a first charge of illegal arrest, $2500 for illegal detention in jail without being allowed to obtain bail or to secure medical aid, and $2500 for a second illegal arrest and jail detention.

Hatch in the complaint alleges that as he was returning home from the dance at the corner of Third and Main street he was accosted by two men, after he had fired a blank shot from a revolver at the sidewalk. The gun was part of his outfit for the dance.

Hatch claims to have been severely injured by the attack. He was taken to the Latah county jail, he alleges, without medical aid and without being allowed to get bail. The charges are denied by the Latah sheriff.

VANDAL VIMS

(By Cedric d'Esam)

In Pacific coast sport circles, Idaho is said to be "resting" this week end. The Vandals have no game tomorrow, to be sure, but if there is anyone on the campus who actually believes the squad is resting in the literal sense of the word, he should get a glimpse of MacLean field when Erb is grinding more football into his charges.

These two weeks prior to the St. Mary's game are anything but rest cure for the squad. Blocking, tackling, scrimmage, signal drill and then more signal drill, scrimmage, tackling and blocking in a gruelling grind each evening, keeps the grass from growing too long on the gridiron.

Sunny weather, has blessed the Vandals this fall. Each game has been played on a dry field. Spectators have been able to distinguish the battling teams and play has been open and far more interesting. In 1926, the players were covered with a coat of slime and mud before the first quarter was over and the ball would have passed for a leaded squash.

From the standpoint of the casual observer, it seems rather unfortunate for Montana that Davis' haul in Chinick's pass in the third quarter and galloped for a touchdown. His insouciant and rather bored manner of putting the ball down behind the goal line stirred the Vandal ire with the result that three more touchdowns were shoved over to "home for the insult as it were. Even the gridiron hero must know his Emily post.

Montana's passing game, touted as the best trump the Grizzlies had, was smeared continually by the Vandals. Idaho backs and linemen revealed in either intercepting the well placed offerings or knocking them to earth just out of reach of the would-be-receiver's itching finger tips.

"Big Bill" Kershtenik's sprained back was noticed to be hampering him Saturday. Instead of his usual average of five yards to a down he was only able to add a mere four yards, two feet and one-half inches.

Kain was Abel Saturday afternoon. In fact Kain was the most able man on the Montana team. He smashed the line, went around the ends, heaved and caught passes, returned kickoffs and punts and did most of his team's tackling. He furnished what fire and pep the Montana team had until he was taken out exhausted in the last quarter. There was a decided difference after he left the field.

In the Whitman game, after Idaho had made two touchdowns, a Whitman linemen was heard to say to one of his teammates.

"Well, I guess we just can't do it; boys". As far as he was concerned his team was licked then and he was ready to give up. That spirit is a death blow to any team's morale. The Idaho slogan leaves no loop-hole for such disheartening thoughts.

"We may be beaten but we're never whipped".

KILLED IN FALL FROM BED

University of Mississippi—Death resulted here Wednesday morning, when E. L. Mothershead, a freshman, frightened by the sound of an alarm clock fell from the third layer of a triple-decked bed and suffered injuries from which he died several hours later.

Mothershead had placed the clock near his head so he would awaken in time to catch the train for a football game, so fellow students related the accident.

FORMAL OPENING NEW HALL NOV. 6

Reception for Lena Shoup, House-mother of Hays Hall, Open

Sunday, November 6, has been officially set as the formal opening date for Hays Hall, according to an announcement by Dean Permeal J. French, dean of women, Friday.

Special invitations will not be extended to the reception, only through the columns of the Argonaut and the Moscow Star-Mirror. The reception has been postponed for some time, pending arrival of furnishings and completion of interior decorating of the new women's hall on the Idaho campus.

Many are expected to take this opportunity of meeting Miss Lena Shoup who was recently appointed house-mother of Hays hall.

Grounds around the recently completed structure are now being surfaced and soil prepared for spring planting. A lawn is to be planted around both Mary E. Forney hall and Hays hall and shrubbery will be placed to add to the artistic effect of the building.

Sidewalks between Hays and Forney halls, and another behind Forney hall will be completed in the near future.

"Within proper bounds, the navy of the United States would be an agency of peace. Following the war the cost of the navy had advanced to nearly three-quarters of a billion dollars and under the leadership of America was sought in getting a better understanding among world peoples through which the burden of armaments might be reduced and a definite course of conduct undertaken that would remove suspicion of one nation toward another.

"As a result of the armament agreement of five years ago, annual expenditure of the United States has been reduced to more than two hundred million dollars. The reason the armament conference last spring at Geneva was not fruitful was because of the compact area of the United States upon one hand and the widely scattered members of the British Empire on the other, the latter not self-sustaining and depending upon the seas for transportation."

Prior to the address, Congressman French reviewed the Idaho regiment of more than 600.
