

ALL GIRL CAST IS FEATURE OF BILL THURSDAY NIGHT

First Play in History of Idaho to Be Done Entirely By Girls

COMEDY INCLUDED Three Other One-act Plays To Be Given Thursday and Friday

An all girl cast in "Black Berrying" will be the feature of the group of one-act plays to be given by the play production classes in the university auditorium, Thursday and Friday evenings, January 19 and 20. This is the first time in the history of Idaho dramatics that an all girl cast has been featured. The other plays are "The Store," "Pears" and "The Dickey Bird."

"Black Berrying" is the first play on the program of four. It is a pastoral comedy. The plot centers around Tilla, the daughter of a poor family, played by Madeline Yeo and Oliver, the son of a rich family who are secretly married. Jean Collette, in the part of Mrs. Walste, proves a blessing in the trying circumstances. Lucile Eaton, as Tilla's mother, Gladys Barth, the wealthy land owner, and Germain Gumble, who plays the part of the village gossip, complete the cast. Miss Marie Johnson is coaching the play.

The utter futility of trying to overcome an environment is the theme of "The Store," a trag-comedy. The "Pilot" of the store, the booming father, will be presented by Frank McKeown. Lucile Howe, as Ma Dickey, is the crystallized future of Grace's fate, played by Grace Parsons. The second mate of the store is Harry, James McDevitt. Bud Robb is George, a "lunky" for the crew. Pauline Brown, Mary the eldest daughter, is chief revolutionist. "The Store" and "Pears" coached by Mrs. Harry Brehm.

Mystery in "Pears," Thieves, stolen pearls, detectives and mystery are the predominant features of "Pears." Polly, Behlah Bangs, and Peggy, Mrs. Brenn, are bothered by the possibility of their brother's having stolen some pearls. Thursday evening Mattland Hubbard plays the role of Lewis, the brother. William Rentfrew takes the part Friday evening. George Justice plays the part of a self-assured detective. Carol Pettis was to have played the part of Peggy, but illness prevents her from appearing.

One man with two wives affords excellent comedy situation for "The Dickey Bird." Marlan - Howerton, Anne Johnson, Edith Miller and Dean Edith Miller are members of the cast. Edith Miller takes the part of Hedvig, the Swedish maid who starts the action of the plot. Miss Johnson has charge of this production.

This group of plays will be the last presented by the dramatics department this semester.

REED IS ELECTED HEAD OF A. S. C. E.

Herbert Reishol and Harold Nelson Also Are Officers; Engineers See Motion Pictures

William Reed, junior civil engineering student, was elected president of the Idaho chapter of the American Association of Civil Engineers at a meeting of the organization held in the Science hall Friday afternoon. Herbert Reishol was elected vice-president and Harold Nelson, secretary-treasurer.

A two-reel picture was shown entitled, "Explosives", and was followed by a talk of the same subject by Fred Johnson. Gus Bjork, president of the Associated Engineers, stated that he has six pictures varying from four to six reels in length to be shown in the next two months. The pictures are furnished by the department of the interior and are part of the engineering activities for the year.

"Compressed Air", was the title of a motion picture shown before a meeting of the Associated Engineers last Tuesday evening in the main lecture room of the Science hall. The picture, which showed the value of compressed air, was furnished by the Compressed Air Society of New York. A crowd of 175, a record attendance for such a picture, turned out.

ASSEMBLY MONDAY FOR DR. A. H. UPHAM

Students to Give Retiring President Farewell Meeting; Special Numbers

A farewell assembly for President Alfred H. Upham will be held under the direction of the associated students next Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the auditorium, it was announced Monday by Frank W. Cluck, president of the A. S. U. I. Special music will be included on the program, it was announced.

A song has been written by David Nyvall, Jr. for Doctor Upham. It has been announced, and will be sung at the assembly. A definite program for the assembly has not yet been arranged, Mr. Cluck said, although the tentative program calls for several speakers and other special numbers. The exact program, however, will not be announced previous to the assembly, Mr. Cluck said.

The assembly next Monday will be the last one Doctor Upham will attend at the University of Idaho during his presidency here. He will leave Moscow the last of that week for Oxford, Ohio, where he is to assume the duties of president of Miami University February 1. Doctor Upham has presided over Idaho assemblies during the last seven years and has been well-liked by students here during those years. Students will turn out en masse for the special assembly for Doctor Upham.

Monday's A. S. U. I. meeting will take the place of the regular weekly assembly scheduled for that week, Mr. Cluck said, with Monday 10 o'clock classes to be held at that time on Wednesday.

SPARKLERS DEFEAT VANDALS 29 TO 25 IN LAST OF SERIES

Winners Had Lead Only Two Times During Game; Smith High Man

RALLY WINS GAME Green and McMillin Are Idaho's Leading Scorers

Two field goals sunk in the last four minutes of play gave the Spokane Sparklers a four-point victory over the Vandals here Saturday night in the third of a three-game series. The game was the fastest and closest seen here this year and marks the end of the pre-conference tilt of the varsity five.

The Sparklers had the lead but twice during the game. Once just as the game began when Endslow scored a field goal from a difficult angle and the second time just before the end of the game. The last rally was too much for the Idaho men and, in spite of desperate shooting from all over the floor, the Sparklers ended the contest four points to the good.

Idaho jumped into the lead after the first basket had been shot and soon piled up a lead of 10 to 3. Endslow and Campbell led the lead down to 12-8 with rapid fire baskets, and a foul loss brought the Spokane team up within one point of the Vandals soon after. George Green then sank two perfect shots from the open floor, McMillin found the hoop from close range, Thornhill dropped in a free throw and Stowell scored from under the basket giving Idaho a 17 to 13 at the half.

Dussault opened the second period with a foul conversation. Smith sneaked in for a field goal to bring the Sparklers within one point of the Idaho team again. Jacoby widened the distance by two points and Campbell came back with another field goal. From then on the game was more furious than ever, Idaho holding a one point lead 27-24 up to the last five minutes. Cal Smith and

Go to the Movies to Put Your Senses to Sleep, Says Miss Miner

(By Sylvia Oldman)

"If you want your senses put to sleep, go to the movies," says Miss Maud A. Miner, dramatic reader and lecturer, who will appear in two programs at the university this week, being presented by the Associated Women Students in the auditorium this evening and by the English club in Hays hall tomorrow evening.

Miss Miner's objection to the morning picture is that it demands nothing of its audience. "All of your thinking is done for you," she points out. "The movie can never take the place of the spoken drama." Miss Miner justifies the instructive movie, commonly called the educational picture. She thinks that there are a few good movies, such as Ben Hur, in which there are elements of realism which produce definite mental pictures of things which were formerly but vaguely visualized. She cited the chariot race and the galley slaves as examples.

"As for stars," she said, "I presume that there are many who are excellent in a way. They might have been great successes on the stage." She remarked that Douglas Fairbanks is very agile, that Harold Lloyd can scale a wall with apparent ease. "But," she concluded, "their art escapes me."

Even John Barrymore, who is considered a peer among cinema actors, is wasted on the movies, Miss Miner thinks, agreeing with many of his admirers that he should return to the legitimate stage, where he won just recognition.

Miss Miner, who is a cousin of Dean Farnham J. French, came to Moscow for the holidays. Her first visit was fifteen years ago. She was much pleased and surprised at the many evidences of growth both in the university and in the city of Moscow. She particularly admires the attractive group houses, which she considers a great addition to the campus. She has visited Dr. G. M. Miller's ballad class and Prof. C. W. Chenoweth's class in ethics and plans to visit one of Dr. J. W. Barton's classes. These three fields are particularly interesting to Miss Miner, who thinks that students of dramatic art should study them as a basis for their work.

"The study of one art, is enriched by the study of all arts," she said, adding that the art of expression through voice and action is basic, touching every other art.

For a number of years Miss Miner's headquarters have been in Chicago, where she has a studio and conducts classes in private work, as well as engaging in public work, including reading and lecturing. She meets with men and women in organized groups in various cities, giving them intensive courses in the cultivation of the speaking voice and in the philosophy and technique of self expression. One course which Miss Miner considers peculiarly her own, strives to develop in the individual his powers of expression, his poise and self command. The result is to render him more efficient and powerful in any field of endeavor.

Her activities include work in the Better Speech Movement, which carries on a nation-wide campaign of instruction in the proper use of English. This movement, which was started ten years ago, has already accomplished a great deal. "Speech is our passport to society," says Miss Miner. "We stamp ourselves by what we say. Poor speech is a handicap."

That training in dramatic art is beneficial to all is Miss Miner's belief. It offers a means of growth in the ability to express oneself. It should be studied from the educational standpoint and not for the sake of being able to "show off" in plays. While plays are a splendid application of expression, the most important result of having had dramatic training. Such training gives one poise and grace in bodily action, an added appreciation of literature and a more active imagination.

THIRTY-FIVE GRID AWARDS WILL BE MADE WEDNESDAY

Seventeen Varsity Letters and 18 Frosh Numerals To Be Given Out

INTRAMURAL TROPHY Tau Mem Aleph to Receive Loving Cup for Cross Country Event

Thirty-five varsity and frosh football players will be presented with "I" sweaters and numerals, respectively, at the general A. S. U. I. assembly Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the auditorium. The entire program will be in the hands of the student body and all awards for the first semester will be made at this time, according to Frank W. Cluck, president of the A. S. U. I.

Awards are made each year for student affairs at a general assembly held during the first semester and at one held near the close of the second semester. At the assembly tomorrow 17 Vandals will be given "I" sweaters while 18 frosh, who played the required amount of time during the season last fall, will be given 1931 numeral sweaters.

Two members of the 1927 Vandal grid team will receive "I" blankets for their work during the past three years. These men are Glenn "Red" Jacoby and Charles Diehl. Both men have won three letters in football, and according to the constitution of the A. S. U. I. are entitled to blankets.

Tau Mem Aleph, townsmen's organization, which won the intramural cross country run this fall, will be presented with a silver loving cup at the assembly. This cup was put up by "Cap" Bryan, track coach, as a trophy for the run.

Decorations Awards Homecoming decoration contest awards are to be included on the program. Sigma Chi will receive its second trophy in the homecoming contest, having won first place again.

MISS MINER WILL READ AT MEETING

South American Missionary Also on English Club Program Wednesday Evening at Hays Hall

Miss Maud Miner of Chicago, will read "The King's Henchman," by Edna St. Vincent Millay, at the second program meeting of the English club to be held at Hays hall at 7:30 Wednesday evening, January 18. Miss Bernice Cornelson of South America, a former member of the English club, will give a short talk.

Miss Miner is well known to university students having appeared several times last week. She read "The Twelve-Pound Look" by Sir James M. Barrie last Wednesday at assembly and she has appeared since at various campus functions.

Miss Cornelson, who attended the University of Idaho, received her baccalaureate degree in 1921. Her present home is in Rosario, Argentina where she is engaged in missionary work. She has been a member of the Methodist church. She is in the United States on a year's furlough.

The membership committee especially requests all members who have not paid their dues, to bring the money to the meeting. The executive committee of the club will decide after meeting what persons shall have their names removed from the roll for non-payment of dues.

CUTS EXCUSED IN ALL COURSES IF AVERAGE IS 5.000

New Ruling Will Become Effective on February 8

LIST READY MARCH 1

All students who maintain an average of 5.000 or better during the previous semester will be permitted to cut classes during the following semester without suffering a tenth of a credit deduction for each class, according to an announcement by university authorities Monday. The old rule of limiting cuts to hundredths of a grade has been changed to include all courses. The new rule will go into effect next semester, it was announced.

The new ruling was approved by the faculty at its December meeting and is to become effective February 8, the first day that regular class meetings will be held in the new semester.

The present rule limited excusing of cuts in courses numbered above 100 in Regulation 37-e on page 39 of the catalog.

Amended Rule: "Students who have attained an average of 5.000 in the work of any semester shall be excused from the provisions of the university regulation governing general attendance the following semester, provided that such privilege may be withdrawn at any time upon evidence that it is being misused; and that such excuses do not exempt a student from any of the required work of a course or from the ten-point cut in grades for absence at certain specified times."

The list of students affected by this rule will not be available until all grades for the present semester have been recorded, probably about March 1, according to Miss Ella Olesen, registrar. Absences made in the interval between February 8 and the date when recording of grades will have been finished will be checked by the attendance clerk at the end of that time. If cuts are made and the student's average is 5.000 or above, the new rule will apply. If the average grade is below 5.000, then unexcused absences will be handled as before, one-tenth credit being deducted for each cut.

Other changes in courses and regulations have been made by the faculty. Few of the course changes will go into effect this coming semester, however. Ten sections of classes will be discontinued.

A few applications for permits to register are being received by the registrar's office. As high school terms will not be over for about two weeks, the greatest number will not be received until later.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT ADDS TEN COURSES

Public School Music Courses Lead to New Bachelor of Music Degree

Ten new courses have been added to the music curriculum which will go into effect next year, has been announced by Prof. Theodore Kratt, head of the music department, who recently made a revision of the music curriculum. The new courses include instruction in orchestral and band instruments, orchestral and band ensemble, accompanying, vocal ensemble, instrumental ensemble, music literature, church music and musical drama.

Courses in public school music will lead to the new degree of bachelor of music beginning next year. Courses in applied music will lead to the bachelor of music degree as formerly.

The number of credit hours for the more important subjects of the present curriculum has been increased.

Sight Singing (music 11-12) has been changed from one to two credits; Pianoforte Playing (music 21-23), Singing (music 33-34) and Violin Playing (music 43-44) have been changed from three to four credits. Counterpoint (music 106-108) and Music and Sound (physics 55-56) have been changed from the junior to the senior year.

The new music curriculum meets the standard of the National Association of the School of Music and thus places the Idaho music department on a par with the leading schools of music in the United States.

FORESTRY SCHOOL DRAWS ATTENTION

Research Projects Attract Favorable Comment at Forestry Men's Meet

Idaho's school of forestry research projects have attracted favorable comment by forestry organizations and officials in the west, according to Dr. E. E. Hubert, who returned Monday from a forestry men's meeting at Missoula, January 12 to 14.

Dr. Hubert represented the Idaho forestry school on an investigative committee of District One of the United States forest service. Different forestry organizations in this section doing research work met to discuss common problems, exchange ideas, investigate wiser ways of appropriating funds and to overcome and prevent useless duplication in research work.

Organizations represented were the blister rust service, the Idaho school of forestry, the Weather Bureau, the bureau of entomology, Montana forestry school and the Idaho-Montana State foresters.

Dr. Hubert reported that "the Idaho school of forestry program was well received and appeared third among the agencies represented, based on amount of money spent and work accomplished."

Moscow and Spokane will hereafter have meetings of the Society of American Foresters, a professional organization that has heretofore held meetings of this district at Missoula. At the meeting the change was investigated and as a result there will probably be a meeting of the society in Moscow some time this spring.

O. forward went out of the game on four fouls in the last half, and three fouls were called on Carney, Beta Chi guard, in the first five minutes of play.

At the end of the regular period the score was tied at 12 and in the additional time A. T. O. hooped a field goal and Beta Chi made one goal and a free toss, to win by one point.

WEATHER HINDERS WORK ON NEW GYM

Landslide and Washout Delay Arrival of Sand and Gravel

Construction on the new armory and gymnasium was held up over the last week end due to the bad weather conditions. The excessive melting of the snow caused a landslide near Lewiston and delayed the shipping of a car of sand, according to A. T. Schneek, supervisor of the construction. The sand had been loaded on a car and was ready to be shipped when the slide obstructed the track.

A car-load of gravel from Spokane was delayed last night. The car had been dispatched from the Spokane yards, but was unable to proceed when it was reported that a bridge had been washed out on the line.

"About ten days of good weather and working conditions, as soon as sand and gravel arrive, will see us ready for the structural steel," said Mr. Schneek last Saturday. "We have to pour about 70 yards on the west wall and 125 yards on the north wall before we will be ready for the structural steel work. The reinforcement steel is in place and ready for the concrete."

The crew has worked overtime on many occasions in order to rush the construction. When the concrete is being poured, it is often necessary to work 24 hours at a time before a "break" can be made in the run. When the swimming tank is being made, it will be necessary for the men to work about a day and a half steady in order to complete the work and not have any "breaks."

"The University of Idaho is fortunate in being able to include the swimming tank in the construction," said Mr. Schneek. Over at the University of Washington we had to leave the tank out due to the lack of money. Here it was necessary to change the tank from the west end to the east end in order to include it in the present building."

MOSCOW TO BID UPHAM FAREWELL

Civic Banquet at Elks Club Monday Night for Retiring President

President A. H. Upham, who leaves February 1 to become president of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, will receive the tribute of Moscow for his work at the University of Idaho, the last seven years Monday evening, January 23.

A community banquet in honor of the retiring university president is being sponsored by the chamber of commerce, with Rotary and Kiwanis clubs co-operating. A meeting of directors of the chamber and representatives of the two service clubs was held Saturday evening and the general banquet program mapped out.

The banquet will be given at the Elks' temple and will be limited to men. Special guests will be members of the state board of education, who will meet here over that weekend, State Commissioner of Education C. C. Vincent and State Commissioner of Agriculture John S. Welch. Possibility that other state officials would be able to attend was seen Monday. County agricultural agents, who will be meeting in Moscow at about the same time, may also attend.

A short program is being prepared, to include remarks by representatives of the two service clubs, the chamber of commerce and the city at large.

HOOP SQUAD LEAVES FOR OREGON STATE

Three Coast Games Will Open Vandal Basketball Season

Three conference games, the first of the season for the Vandals, are to be played away from home this week and next by a squad of ten men who will accompany coach Fox and James Keith, manager, on the coast trip beginning Wednesday.

Friday evening the lid will be lifted on the conference season at Corvallis where the Idaho meets Oregon State College. O. S. C. recently defeated Whitman by narrow margin and indications point to a tough scrap for the Vandals.

The next evening the squad will go to Eugene and play Oregon, last year's champions, on their own floor. Although Oregon lost two of her best men by graduation, it is still considered the class of the conference.

The last game of the series will be played in Seattle, February 24, with the University of Washington as the opponents of the Idaho five. Washington has defeated Whitman and during the holidays took two games of a three game series from the University of Illinois five to dedicate the new Washington gymnasium.

Coch Fox has not announced the squad that will make the trip but it is expected that the ten men who made the holiday trips will be given first call.

"THE DETOUR" TO BE PLAYED HERE SOON

Moroni Olsen Repertoire Company Will Appear Here January 30, Is Announced

Moroni Olsen will present his play "The Detour" January 30, at Kenworthy theater, under the auspices of the Moscow Business and Professional Women's club. It was announced Monday afternoon. This will be the second appearance of the players in Moscow this season. "The Lilies of the Field" was given here October 30.

This is a play of American life centered around a Long Island truck farm. It is a story of domestic trials of human people.

The players are being brought to Moscow for the third season. They are headed by a man from Ogden, Utah, where the repertoire company had its beginnings over a grocery store five years ago. The members of the company come from various sections of the west.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY WINS ESSAY PRIZE

Henry Knave, Idaho Falls, Writes Best Highway Paper; Dr. G. M. Miller Makes Award

Henry Knave, an Idaho Falls high school student, is the winner of the National Highway Essay contest for 1928 and will soon receive a certificate of honor which Dr. George Morey Miller, head of the English department, who has been in charge of the contest in Idaho for several years, has just signed.

The Firestone Education board also awards a scholarship on a National Good Roads Essay contest, for four years, paying complete costs of a university education. A few years ago a young woman from southern Idaho won the Firestone scholarship and has had four years schooling at Northwestern university.

A football coach of an English school has just completed 25 years of service at that institution. This is entirely due to the fact, of course, that his eleven always won.—Connell Daily Sun.

JIM ALLEN NAMED GLEE CLUB HEAD

Will Represent Club Before A. S. U. I. Executive Board and Will Arrange Concerts and Trips

James Allen, senior in the school of education, was elected student manager of the University Glee club at its last meeting, Tuesday evening, January 10. He will represent the Glee club on the A. S. U. I. executive board and will arrange for all concerts and trips of the organization during the year.

The University Glee club will give a program soon which will consist of numbers by classical composers and a musical skit centered around university life. The date of the program will be announced later.

NEW INSURANCE RULE

HITS FRATERNITIES

NEW YORK (AP)—Although not planned to affect fraternity and sorority houses in particular, the revised insurance rates made recently by the New York Fire Insurance Rating has increased insurance rates on fraternity and sorority houses about 50 per cent, on an average.

The increase comes through interpretation of a clause concerning the number of families represented in a house. Since the fraternity houses and their sister sorority houses usually have about as many families represented as there are residents, the interpretation lays a heavy load on them.

FALSE IMPRESSIONS

IDAHO is pictured in the minds of many persons over the state as being a mammoth barroom and brewery. Whenever the university is mentioned, they immediately associate drinking with it. In fact reports are being broadcast throughout the state about how bad the Idaho students are; about big drinking bouts that are put on here all the time and how members of the faculty help the students in carrying out this "extracurricular" activity.

It is evident to those who know the campus that all such stories as these are put out by persons who are not acquainted with the campus and do not know what is going on here. They get some vague information, maybe fifth handed, and proceed to peddle this information, maybe enlarged upon a little, as the "truth about the university." Young people over the nation are looked upon as being heavy drinkers, so therefore students must fall into this class.

It hurts the university to have such stories going around about it. These stories give out an impression of the Idaho campus that is not true in any sense of the word. We do not deny the fact that there is undoubtedly some drinking at Idaho, but this does not mean that it is common among the students here. In fact Idaho is probably the cleanest school in the west when compared to other institutions. Out of a student body of approximately 2,000 persons, there are bound to be a few of all types, but why judge the university by the actions of a few?

The university is located in a small town, and a town in which the churches exert considerable influence. Practically all of the amusements participated in by the students are found on the campus itself, including dances. At these functions it is seldom that we see a student under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Considerable work is being done by the administration and students in attempting to keep the campus clean. It tears down the entire foundation of this work when the impression is given out that the Idaho campus is not all that it should be, but is an immoral place. Persons that are acquainted with the campus and students here know that the situation is entirely different. It is hoped that before any one else puts out such information about the campus that they will at least investigate the situation first and find out whether they are hurting the university with untruths or giving out true facts about situations that should be corrected.

OLD PROFESSORS OUT OF DATE

The 1910 model college professor is just as much out of date as the 1910 automobile. A teaching product of strictly modern times has taken his place. The pedagogue of twenty years ago who submerged himself in purely academic interests and led a secluded life, aloof from the outside world, is no longer a part of the college picture. He has been supplanted by a new type—the teacher of wide contacts and varied interests.

Versatility characterizes the teacher of the new regime. The college professor knows his art and his music. He is seen at the concert and the latest play. He is capable of explaining a point in class room discussion by an analogy drawn from the mechanics of football. He can hold his own when the conversation turns to the question of German versus American movies. And his acquaintance with the latest novel is not gleaned solely from book reviews.

The traditional picture of the college professor as a man of notorious poor memory and bad jokes lacks even the resemblance of caricature. Unprepared students will vouch that the professor's memory is only too good, and as for his jokes, they are few, but apt and even funny. " Gentlemen, tomorrow we have the final examination. All those who haven't bought books had better get them." It is dangerous to generalize, and any statement as to teaching methods in use is sure to have its share of exceptions. But the professor of today does manage to put a degree of life into the class hour. The old form of question, "Mr. X, cite the causes of this event," has become, "Cite the causes of this event, Mr. X," with the name of the student last, making it necessary for the whole class to think about the question and be on the alert, ready with an answer.

Lectures are intellectually stimulating more often than not, and the wit that can come forward with "Oscar Wilde was a man with a brilliant future behind him" makes it hard for any student who may have come to class expecting to sleep.

The outstanding difference between the college teacher of yesterday and of today lies in the greatly widened sphere of influence. Not only within the college, but even away from the campus the professor is recognized and respected as a factor of authority. Newspapers solicit his contributions, realizing the value of authoritative articles which simplify technical subjects. Business men's organizations and professional associations demand his services as a speaker. He is in demand by women's clubs and study groups as a lecturer.

Never before in the history of education has the teacher had so universal a following, or so comprehensive a range of pupils.

Underpaid, overworked, automatically barred from great wealth in life by his choice of a profession, the college professor is working over time in a voluntary effort to make the college a greater social force. He is injecting new life into the university, broadening its scope, and bringing it in a clear and intelligible form to multitudes off the campus.—The Emery Wheel.

THE PSEUDO-ALUMNUS

PHENOMENAL he must be since he finishes college far ahead of the rest of his class. He has a diploma (a modest little slip of paper from the dean of student affairs) which he has never taken the trouble to frame. He is a "Bachelor of pipe courses and mental lassitude," and well qualified for his present responsible occupation in life which is driving his father's big car back and forth in front of the P. O. In the intervals when there are no young ladies about to chaffer for, he dashes over to the fraternity house to "wollop" a freshman and give his former classmates a few pointers as to how they should run their chapter. He is perennial like a lily of a Scotch thistle, registering each fall for "post-graduate" work which he invariably finishes up, shortly after mid-quarters.

His car is in much demand at every sorority house, but it is most appreciated when it is unoccupied. He trails along in the social wake of the university as a jackal noses the footprints of a great tiger. He is a P. O. lyricist, wasting the emptiness of a large circle of post office boxes with reams of amorous nonsense.

Everywhere he seeks admiration, and nowhere does he get anything but contempt although this is generally coated over with a veneer of civility. He is none the less dangerous to all, however, for he has a sly way of picking Old Father Time's pocket before one's very eyes without one's knowing it. He insinuates himself at many a party, and carries on until he is carried out. Someone whispers "College Alumnus!" and moralists are quick to attribute a perverse and degrading influence to a group which does not deserve it. How can the campus rid itself of these social pests? The business man does it with an open door and a terse "Good-Afternoon."—Minnesota Daily.

UNDERGRADS ASK CURRICULAR CHANGE

Instructors, Alumni and Others Work to Modify Bates Courses

NEW YORK. (By New Student Service)—Football having passed off the boards, curricular reform is again engaging student attention in several colleges. The undergraduate reformers have taken fair notice of the criticisms overhauling current periodicals, and have adopted a vigorous style in attacking their campus problems.

The University of Washington Daily, after publishing a series of student criticisms of the university and its work, has summarized by blaming the faculty "for the lack of intellectual stimulus and study encouragement prevalent on the campus." The main draw-back it conceives as "the appalling over-emphasis on activities for activity's sake, that insistence on activities at Washington which results in the average collegian striving to be an activity hound from freshman days to the end of college." faculty is blamed for having to eliminate superfluous activities, and the Daily presents the problem as one for the teachers to solve.

President C. D. Gray of Bates college has appointed a student committee of twelve to examine the curriculum and suggest modifications and changes. These students will carry on the work begun by a senior committee last year. Three other groups are working on the same problem, one composed of teachers, another of alumni, and a third, serving as advisory, of outsiders.

Students in the College for Women at Western Reserve university have selected representatives to serve as their agents in presenting to the faculty complaints against the curriculum. They are members of the student council, who will work in conjunction with a faculty committee, to whom they will make recommendations after passing on student complaints.

The departure of President and Mrs. A. H. Upham this week will bring a close to the numerous social functions that have been given in their honor. One of the most prominent social events held for them was the informal reception given by the faculty at Hayes hall Thursday evening. Friday night Dean and Mrs. S. A. Harris honored them with a dinner party at the Moscow hotel. Saturday Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Axtell entertained at dinner. Saturday afternoon a tea was given by Mrs. F. G. Miller. Dean Permeal French and Mrs. Louise Blomquist also entertained last week at Hays hall in honor of both President and Mrs. Upham and Dr. and Mrs. C. L. von Ende and family. The dance given by Phi Delta Theta with the Pullman chapter was a very pleasant and gay event and the only prominent event of the week end in the way of house dances. Music was furnished by a Pullman orchestra. The Benefit Bridge tea given by Mortar Board at the Kappa Alpha Theta house Saturday afternoon was a very successful and pleasant social affair of the week end. Society is not looking forward to much excitement for the next two weeks. The only noteworthy event of the next week end is the dinner dance given by Phi Gamma Delta next Friday.

GEM STAFF URGES PICTURES BE TAKEN

Pictures Must Be In Soon If Book Is to Be Printed On Schedule

Students pictures are coming in even more slowly than in previous years which is proving a handicap to the staff in their efforts to give Idaho students their annuals much earlier this year. To do this work the Gem of the Mountains must be kept somewhat ahead of its usual schedule which in turn necessitates the cooperation of all students. The photographic staff of the Gem is spending much time and effort in a last minute attempt to get students to have their pictures taken before February 1. A letter has been sent to each group on the campus urging them to check up on their members and if necessary make appointments for them at the photographers. Enclosed with each letter is a form blank on which to list the name of each student as it is to appear in the annual, their year in school, the photographer and the date the picture was taken. This form is to be filled and returned before February 10.

Wayne Blair, photographic editor, phone 4031, and Burdette Belknap, publicity agent for the Gem, phone 5641, will be glad to assist anyone in making appointments or to give information concerning the procedure.

Eugene, Ore.—(IP)—I nominate for the Hall of Fame the undergraduate who is to be the new campus policeman at the University of Oregon. It is this way. The students got sore when the police interfered with their dances. So the police "compromised" with them by promising to make an undergraduate a policeman. Now the student can interfere with the dances. His will be a happy life—hereafter. Sympathetically, Colleague Bill.

U. C. L. A. TO HAVE OWN TRADITIONS

To Change Yells, Songs and Colors; Ask Sousa to Compose Song for School

U. C. L. A., Los Angeles, Jan.—(IP)—The traditions and customs of the associated students of the University of California will take their own course and go their own way beginning February 11, when the students of the Los Angeles campus of the state institution break the last link which connect them with the Berkeley campus, by abolishing the alma mater song, and all songs and yells originating on the northern campus.

New songs will be composed for the university embodying the ideas and ideal of the southern campus. The changing of the colors from blue and gold to some combination different to that of those of members of the Pacific coast group of universities is also considered but not definitely decided upon.

The new change is looked upon favorably by students of both Berkeley and Los Angeles, for it has been the feeling for some time that aside from sentimental reasons, the only logical thing to do to make the universities more independent was to change the songs, yells, and colors of the southern university.

Since the action of the Student Council, governing body of the associated students, John Phillip Sousa has been approached to write a band number which can be easily adopted as a rally song. The new alma song will be selected from the group of songs by local student composers having already won favor here.

MICHIGAN PRESIDENT RAPS CHICAGO MAYOR

Writes Curt Reply to Mayor Thompson's Invitation to Join "America First Foundation"

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(IP)—"My chief detailed regret in looking over the literature," President Clarence Cook Little, of the University of Michigan wrote to Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, after receiving a letter from the latter asking him to join the "America First Foundation," "is that Washington's farewell message and not yours was enclosed."

The text of President Little's letter is as follows: "I believe that America today needs hard, quiet, creative work rather than flamboyant advertising of the cheap sort. There is no shorthand method of attaining true patriotism by paying $10 and joining any association or foundation."

"It seems to me personally that it is harder on Washington, Lincoln and Franklin to use their words for advertising your plan than it is to write books about them which tend to show that they were normal human beings as well as divinely inspired. You object to the latter procedure and are urging all people who want to pay you $10 to support the former. That kind of 100 per cent Americanism makes no appeal to me."

"My chief detailed regret in looking over the literature is that Washington's farewell message and not yours was enclosed. Sincerely yours, C. C. Little"

LOSES CAPTAIN'S POST

BOZEMAN, Mont.—(IP)—Because he has played three years of intercollegiate football, Joe Dobeus, elected captain of the 1928 Montana State football team, will have to relinquish his post. This was decided at the conference of coaches at Denver. The conference limits players to three years of competition, but it was thought locally that Dobeus would not come under this ruling because he started to play before the new rule was passed. The coaches thought otherwise, and Montana State will have to elect a new captain.

Finds Tobacco for "Breaking In" a Pipe

Columbus, Ohio March 10, 1927

Larus & Bro. Co. Richmond, Va. Gentlemen:

Two years ago my wife gave me an expensive pipe. I smoked it a great deal for two or three weeks, put it aside, then began smoking it again. This time it was very strong. Veterans told me that it had been smoked too hard for a new pipe and should be put away.

The pipe was laid away again. A short time ago I got it out and smoked one of the common brands of tobacco in it. The results were disappointing. I told the druggist of my experience with it. He asked if I had tried Edgeworth. I told him I never had. I followed his suggestion, and I am honest when I say that it has restored the sweetness to the pipe, and has made me wonder. Was it the pipe or the brand of tobacco that caused me to lay it away for the long period of time? As a novice, I prefer Edgeworth. I am going to stick to it, as I feel satisfied that there is none better on the market.

Sincerely yours, Philip C. Shera

DURANT LECTURES HERE JANUARY 28

Famous Philosopher Will Speak on "Is Progress a Delusion?"

"Is Progress a Delusion?" is the subject of the lecture to be given by Dr. Will Durant in the university auditorium, Saturday evening, January 28, at 8 o'clock.

Much interest among faculty members and university students is being shown in the appearance of "one of America's foremost philosophers" in Moscow. Instructors are recommending that their students attend the lecture, which will be one of the few to be given by Doctor Durant in the northwest.

Prof. C. W. Chenoweth of the philosophy department says that Doctor Durant is not only an excellent writer but he is fast gaining popularity as a speaker.

The printing of "The Story of Philosophy" by Doctor Durant in Canada, England, Australia and even the Soviet republic of Russia shows the interest nations are taking in the subject.

Final plans, however, for the assembly will be made by the executive board of the A. S. U. I. at its regular weekly meeting this evening.

HICKMAN SUBJECT TO EGO-CENTRICITY

Result of Being Patted on Back While in School; Says Psychologist

U. C. L. A., Los Angeles, Calif. (PIP)—"What do you think of the Hickman case?" inquired a reporter of the California Daily Bruin of Dr. Shephard Ivory Franz, head of the department of psychology here.

"I haven't made any sort of a study of the case," he answered, "I think myself that it is simply the to-be-expected outcome of an over-dose of ego-centricity. They patted him on the back in school, and he thought himself pretty good—needed some money—not an unusual thing at all."

"The reporters were out to see me right away, but I didn't tell them anything much they could use," he added. "They brought me Hickman's picture and showed me where one ear was smaller than the other, and some other peculiarities and asked me if I didn't have criminal tendencies sticking out all over him." "It made good stuff for the papers, but unfortunately, the photograph wasn't taken with the subject facing straight front, so the picture was out of focus and all these criminal features didn't mean a thing except that Hickman turned his face a bit."

LITERARY CORNER

IN GOD'S COUNTRY

I know a place where people Are human as you and me. Where streets are clean And buildings gleam

A place where profs aren't common And co-eds with nobby knees Don't walk the street

Where one may stop to hear Know voices constantly Not "hall" or "house" They call it home

In God's cuntry. —Jasell

ANNOUNCING A PREVIEW OF SPRING MALLORY HATS

Just when one gets tired of his old winter hat here comes a gloom chaser that's as welcome as the first robins of spring.

They're correct in style—in fact much ahead—in delicate colors, suggestive of the expected foliage.

You're most welcome to look over these new hats. They will raise your morale.

Just a hint—They don't make them any better than Mallory's at the price.

Distinguished by a favor that places it first

It is a natural pride that Camel feels for its triumphs. Not only did it lead the field shortly after its introduction. It passed steadily on with each succeeding year until today it holds a place in public favor higher than any other smoke ever reached.
