UNDEFEATED U. W. FIVE PLAYS IDAHO QUINTETS SATURDAY

Vandals Planned to Put Stop to Huskies' Winning Streak

PREDICT FAST GAME

Washington Leads Northern Division With 1,000 Per Cent; Wants Lead

Coast Conference	Standing	Won	Lost	Pct.
Washington	1	5	1	1.000
Oregon State	2	4	1	.800
Oregon	3	2	2	.600
Idaho	4	2	2	.400
Montana	5	2	4	.333
Washington State	6	0	6	.000

The undefeated University of Washington Huskies meet the rejuvenated Vandals here Saturday evening for the second time this season in a basketball game that promises to be the best of the Idaho season.

Washington State since returning from the disastrous coast trip, the Idaho quintet showed big improvement. Examinations of the season, the Vandals are concentrating this week on breaking the consistent winning streak Washington has struck. The Huskies have won once from each team in the northern division of the conference and are now making the rounds for the second of the two games series played between all teams in the league.

Coach Fox is of the opinion that the Vandals will play their best basketball game of the season against Washington. In addition to the fact that the two teams have met before this season, which gives both teams a chance to get into the opposing defense, and the fact that Idaho appears to be in a winning period, is to be added the force of tradition which the Idaho men have to uphold. In five years of conference basketball Idaho has never finished below third place. At present the Vandals are leading the bottom half of the six teams in the group. The three defeats "right off the bat" preclude championship hopes for Idaho but she still has a chance to finish second or third.

Fox may have a new combination to spring on the Huskies. Harold Thornhill who has been alternating with Burgher at center, may be shifted to guard and Canine, veteran guard, may go in as forward, the coach intimates. Bob Drummond has been showing up well as a guard and is likely to see action in that position.

BELLINGHAM HERE FOR FROSH GAME

Baby Vandals Set on Victory Over Washington State Normal Crew

With a week elapsing since their last game, Vandal freshmen are looking forward with vigor this evening to their contest with the Bellingham Normal outfit on the Idaho floor. The freshmen have been put through repeated scrimmages this week, a large part against the varsity squad. The coast aggregation is reported to be strong. During their trip into the Inland Empire they will play W. S. C. freshmen and Lewiston Normal school.

Members of the public speaking classes will receive extra credit for attendance at the debates.

"GREEK" FUR FLIES WHEN INTRAMURAL PLAY IS RESUMED

Four Teams Remain Undefeated in Group Tournament

SIGMA CHI DEFEATED

Fiji Team Wins From Sigma Nu by One Point Last Night

Four teams in the Idaho intramural basketball tournament still have a 1000 average of straight wins as the result of five games played since semester examinations.

Beta Theta Phi and Tau Mu Alpha are tied for high honors in the "A" league, while Sigma Alpha Epsilon is on an even basis with Lindley hall in the "B" league.

Phi Gamma Delta defeated Sigma Nu to the tune of 22 to 21 last night when Richardson dribbled the length of the floor to score the winning basket for the Fijis. The Sigma Nu team had the lead for the first three quarters, in play that was slow and unexciting. In the last quarter the Phi team seemed to wake up to overcome a six-point handicap in a burst of furious and desperate play.

Richardson and Sohus again showed their ability as scorers with nine points each. Wescott and Norman carried off the honors for the Sigma Nus.

ENGINEERS' DANCE TONIGHT

A slide rule program, one that works, will be one of the novel features of the Engineers' all-college dance at the Blue Bucket Inn tonight. The program is made of cardboard and has a slide of celluloid that indicates the dances when set on the numbers on the front. Johnnie Soden's seven-piece orchestra will furnish music for the dance. W. Vaughn Iorns is in general charge of the dance, which is a traditional one on the Idaho campus.

EFFICIENCY, SPEED MARK REGISTRATION MONDAY, TUESDAY

Total Number Will Reach 1700 When Finished, Is Report

OLD STUDENTS BACK

February 25 Set As Final Date for Change of Study Lists

Registration at the University of Idaho for the second semester will reach the 1700 mark when late registrations are completed, according to L. F. Parsons, executive secretary of the university.

Unusual quietness and efficiency marked the midyear registration Monday and Tuesday. Less than 500 students had passed the bursar's desk at the end of the line in the library Monday, Tuesday, more than 1000 students went through the lines with less commotion and congestion than there was the day before.

Classes opened Wednesday at 8 o'clock with only a few stragglers registering at the registrar's and bursar's office. It is estimated that not more than 25 additional students will enter during the next week.

Approximately 150 less students registered Monday and Tuesday than did last fall. This decrease is noted every year, and this year it is said to be about the same as it has been before. The mortality rate due to low scholarship, "dunking out", is low. Most of the withdrawals are due to lack of finances to continue another semester. A number of new students, plus the return of quite a number of old students who were not here last semester, brings the total number back to normal.

The system of passing out numbered cards at the library door worked exceptionally well. In former years, students waiting their turn time to register reached the length of the main hall in the Administration building. As it operates now, each

DEAN IDDINGS TO TALK AT O. A. C.

Idaho Agricultural College Head Leaves to Address Oregon Extension Workers' Conference

Dean E. J. Iddings of the college of agriculture left the campus Thursday afternoon for Corvallis, Oregon, where he has been invited to speak at the statewide extension workers' conference which is in session on the Oregon Agricultural college campus. Dean Iddings, who recently returned from a tour of the world, will talk on a similar subject to a number of talks he has recently given, relating to agriculture throughout the world.

REGET SUCCEEDS COACH MATTHEWS

Former Vandal Grid Star Named Director of Athletics at St. Louis

Harry Reget, former Idaho quarterback and understudy of the famous Vernon "Skippy" Stivers in 1924 and 1925, has been named acting director of athletics at St. Louis university, succeeding Robert L. Matthews, Idaho coach from 1923 to 1925, according to press dispatches reaching Moscow this week.

Reget went to St. Louis with Coach Matthews two years ago when the latter resigned here and took the directorship of the St. Louis institution. He played two years with the Vandal team, first as an understudy to Stivers and his second year as a regular player of the Idaho squad.

Reget is a native of La Crosse, Wis., coming to Idaho in the fall of 1923. Stivers is at St. Louis at the present time as assistant football coach and baseball coach. Erla "Squinty" Hunter, former Vandal basketball star, spent one year with Matthews at St. Louis and then returned to a coaching job in Spokane, where he is now director of athletics for Lewis and Clark high school.

IDDINGS TELLS OF EUROPEAN TRIP

Touches Highlights of 40,000-mile Journey Around World at Assembly Last Wednesday

How one University of Idaho dean depended upon another dean from the same institution as an interpreter when the former wished to visit the famous Rambouillet sheep herd near Paris, was told to the student body at assembly Wednesday morning by Dean E. J. Iddings, who recently returned from a 40,000 mile trip around the world.

Dean Iddings told of his meeting with Dean J. G. Eldridge in the Parisian area, and how the latter aided him in speaking to the French, who had charge of the herd. This incident he declared was one of the high lights of the entire trip.

Dean Iddings went into his trip in detail and traced the eight-months journey throughout Europe and Asia. He spoke in some detail of the Australians placing special emphasis on their marketing and agricultural problems.

WORK RUSHED ON NEW GYMNASIUM

Four Different Sub-contractors Are Working; Structural Steel Ordered From Seattle Firm

Four different sub-contractors are at work on the new gymnasium and memorial building now. The steam fitting, plumbing, sheet metal and electrical contractors are rushing their work, part of which is being done as the concrete is being poured. One hundred seventy-five yards of concrete were poured within the last three days.

The intermediate office floor has been completed so far as possible until the structural steel is raised. Orders for the steel were sent Monday to the Hoffs Steel and Equipment company of Seattle. The company will send its own crew of men with the shipment to raise the steel.

Gravel and sand pits near Spokane have been opened and sufficient materials are being supplied the general contractor, Erickson, for the building will be ordered from the Moscow Fire Brick and Clay company.

PLAY PRODUCTION CLASS SCORES HIGH IN "NOT HERBERT"

Beardsley Merrill is Outstanding in Difficult Role

PLAY AGAIN TONIGHT

Special Scenery Adds To Effect of Mystery; Designed Here

First as a society "sissy" and then as a hardened crook, and with a character almost as changeable as Doctor Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, Beardsley Merrill, Thursday evening scored his best performance in the play, "Not Herbert," which, with most hearty response of more than 6000 last night, is to be presented again this evening. John H. Cushman, dramatic coach, supervised the production.

In a play that centered largely around him, Merrill, who for the past three years has been one of the outstanding dramatists on the Idaho campus, reached the height of his career. His character interpretation was excellent and his ability to carry the dual character role made his performance a little short of almost unattainable.

He was supported by a cast of advanced play production students with Beulah Brown in the leading feminine role opposite him. When Merrill and Tracy Sutton, his crook partner, played by Harold Pecker, were cloistered together in the play, hardly a sound could be heard through the audience, as the wary crooks laid their plans on a wire-tapped setting.

To James Allen in the part of Bunsen, the blustering detective, goes credit for the comedy element of the play, as he attempts to find the missing "corporal" who is supposed to have stolen the jewels. His confident "you ain't going to make a fool out of me no longer," never failed to bring a laugh.

Louise Lamielle had a sparkling comedy part as Cynthia Alden, indirect contrast to her more dignified parts of Mrs. Alden, played by Pauline Brown and Mrs. Blaine, characterized by Violet Spurgeon. Playing her usual quiet, feminine part, Beulah Brown as leading lady, made a decided hit playing opposite the invincible crook.

Frank Egbers as the third crook, portrayed "his part" admirably, as did Alene Honeywell in the role of Polly. Marion Fleming was excellent as Jim, while Arthur Blinn portrayed the difficult part of head of the Alden family, Bolknapp, played the part of Fletcher in an excellent fashion.

Settings Elaborate

Rich decorations during the first part of the play with bright, showy colors, and in a later scene with red and green subdued, features the scenery which in the second and fourth acts consisted of trick furniture and moving fireplace, a trick table and chair, and buzzers. Trick properties and furniture were designed by T. J. Pritchard and O. C. R. Stageberg. Members of the production staff were Miss Maude Garnett, Marlon Fleming, Lillian Woodworth, Robert St. Clair, Maitland Hubbard, Glenn Patchen, Dan McGrath and Clair Gale, business manager.

Settings Elaborate

Tickets will be sold at the door Friday evening 50 cents for students and 75 cents for adults.

BRYAN STARTS ON 1928 TRACK GRIND

Many Outstanding Men Working Out Regularly for Varsity Positions

Regular track workouts for the Idaho 1928 squad began Monday afternoon with the opening of the second semester.

"We have a number of outstanding men but we need second and third year men to build up our squad," Coach Will Bryan said in commenting on the season's outlook. "Idaho will be badly handicapped this year by the loss of Clayton Pickett, weight tosser and high-jumper; Jay Thompson, hurdler and sprinter; Leon Pagaoga, pole vaulter, and Arthur Matthews, distance man."

"However, we should be able to offset this loss with present available material," he concluded.

Efforts of the Idaho squad during the next two months will be concentrated in preparation for the first meet of the season, a quadrangular meet with Montana, Gonzaga and W. S. C. at Spokane, April 28.

THE NEW 'HELL WEEK'

GREEK fraternity pledges at various colleges and universities over the country about this time are learning first hand the real meaning of 'hell week'. Initiations are in full swing on most campuses, with many and varied methods of torture, punishment and means to make the pledges understand on what level of civilization they are placed.

At all hours of the night we hear resounding 'whams', groans, laughter, and what not issuing from Greek letter group houses. We see dark figures prowling around in some alley or walking about the streets and in the country. The night is full of weird and unheard of sounds.

But taken all in all, it is hard to say that the initiations of today are worse or even as bad as they were in former years. In the old days it took about all the strength and vitality a man could muster in order to stand the gruelling test he was put to during 'hell week'. It was a real hell week in those days.

Fraternities receive a great deal of criticism today for the terrible things inflicted on pledges during initiation. People on the outside listen to the fearful groans and howls issuing from a fraternity house all during the night and picture the poor freshman as being tortured in such a way as to make the inquisitorists turn their heads. This is exactly the impression the Greeks want to give out, while in reality the loud smacks are made by hitting a paddle against a leather chair or in some other manner while the freshmen are standing around laughing and enjoying it.

It is true that initiations are still something of a trying task for the pledges; but hardly any more trying for them than the members. Initiates are made to do many stunts that would cause them to be termed as insane if their actions were followed closely by someone unfamiliar with the procedure. But as for punishment, most of this has passed out, with the paddle coming into use only for disciplinary means.

One of the best results of initiations is undoubtedly the binding of the initiates together in a closer unit. When the pledges have finished rough week, it is found that, in most cases, a real bond has sprung up to make them into a strong working machine. They have gone through many trying hours together, taken punishment together, experienced the same things together and come out ready to continue together.

A LEAP YEAR FLOP

WOMEN on the Whitman campus failed to fall in with the idea of having to wait for their dates during leap year week and consequently the program failed. The men decided to reverse completely the tables on the women, but this did not get a good response from the girls.

Under the program planned, it was agreed that the women do all of the dating and paying of expenses on their dates for two weeks. The women balked first at calling for the men at their various homes, but the offense that brought an end to this leap year week plan was when the men were not ready on time for their dates. The girls refused to wait for them and then appealed to the student body to reconsider the plan.

Waiting for their dates is probably one of the best things men do. It wouldn't be so bad, waiting for their dates, if smoking and lounging rooms could be provided at each house for their conveniences. But, there are also the men who never arrive on time for their dates, and they deserve to have to wait until their dates are ready to come down.

There has been some talk of staging a leap year week on the Idaho campus. Although no plans have been announced, it is probable that a program similar to that tried at Whitman would be used here. As a novel stunt this plan should work out in fine shape here and should receive the support of all women students. If the girls are made to wait for their dates, they should reflect back over their college career and see how many times they made their dates wait for them; then use their own judgment.

CROWDED CURRICULA

WHEN the college man makes his formal entrance into the world after graduation, he is naturally subjected to a minute and microscopic examination. His mental makeup is the basis of consideration, so to speak. On the results of this inspection depends his status in the social and business circle of the community in which he is desirous of residing. Far from being a cursory inspection, this examination is a rigid test, governed by the rules and convention of society. Too often a specialized highly trained scientist fails to achieve the honor and consideration due his mental capacity, because he is lacking in one essential. What that essential characteristic consists of cannot be definitely stated; it can only be descriptively defined as polish, cryptively defined as polish.

Whether or not the present day conception of the college man is being tortured in such a way as to make the inquisitorists turn their heads. This is exactly the impression the Greeks want to give out, while in reality the loud smacks are made by hitting a paddle against a leather chair or in some other manner while the freshmen are standing around laughing and enjoying it.

The curriculum in most colleges, despite all averments to the contrary, is becoming too specialized to permit of any but the most necessary reading. It stands to reason that when the demands of a lecture schedule are too burdensome, when too much concentrated research is required for a specific branch of study, very little time is at the disposal of the student. It will be admitted that a great deal of leisure time is necessary if every man is to have a thorough acquaintance with the modern and ancient literature, history and philosophy. And when the curricular demands of a system have become so great that they make it practically impossible for the student to do any reading, no one will deny that this system is defeating the very purpose of education.

We know that many men will not attend literature or philosophy lectures, because they are more interested in economic or scientific work, but these men should be given more opportunity to acquire the culture of literature and philosophy in their leisure hours.—The Holy Cross Tomhawk.

ENLARGE ENGLISH CLUB

High scholarship by freshman English students will result in a decided increase in the membership of the English club, according to Dr. George Morey Miller, head of the department. All students who receive a grade of A for one semester in any English course are eligible for membership. A careful check will be made by the membership committee of the organization to weed out members who are delinquent in dues who continue to list "English club" as one of their activities in the Gem of the Mountains.

VANDALS CONQUER COUGAR QUINTET

Shove W. S. C. Further Into Conference Cellar by Victory Saturday

Leading all the way and displaying some of the fastest ball passing they have yet shown, the Idaho Vandals shoved Washington State college still further into the conference basketball cellar and raised themselves another notch toward the top by defeating the Cougar five, 35 to 24 at Pullman Saturday evening.

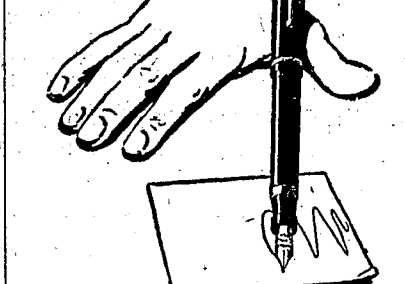

Idaho scored first and held a lead of three points for the first five minutes. Washington State then tied the score at five all but failed to take the lead. From that time on the Vandals were the masters of the floor and at half time had piled up an 18 to 7 advantage. W. S. C.'s five men defense was solved for many close range shots.

Changing from "five man" to "man-for-man" defense in the second half, the Cougars scored on even terms with the Vandals, each team making 17 points. Several times Idaho allowed her lead to be cut within ten points but maintained her 11 point margin of victory during the last five minutes of play. Harold Stowell, Idaho forward, was high point man with 10 points to his credit and Frank McMillin, Idaho and Archie Buckley, W. S. C. hooped nine points each. Canine played a good game at guard in the last half when he scored five points in rapid succession. Buckley, McDowell and Rowher starred for Washington State.

Idaho's next conference game is to be played in Moscow, next Saturday evening against the University of Washington. Washington is now comfortably leading the conference with five victories and no defeats. The huskies have won from every other team in the conference, including Idaho.

SOCIETY

Society for the next few weeks will be centered mostly on initiation dances. One is scheduled for this week end, but the plain informal dance still holds the lead. The dance given by Alpha Kappa Psi Saturday night will perhaps be the most prominent affair in the way of dances. The play, "Not Herbert" which will be presented by the advance dramatics classes is expected to draw a large audience again this evening.

DEAN THOMSON BACK FROM SOUTH IDAHO

Spoke to Mining Association at Boise and Students of Southern Branch at Pocatello

Dr. Francis A. Thomson, dean of the school of mines, returned the beginning of the week from a trip through southern Idaho in connection with the work of the Idaho bureau of mines and geology.

At Boise Dean Thomson addressed the Idaho Mining Association on "The Geology of Idaho", and at Pocatello he spoke to students of the southern branch of the university on the same topic. He returned by the way of Butte, Mont., addressing the annual meeting of the Montana section of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers on "The Mineral Industry of Idaho".

At the guard berths John Dalquest and Alfred James are paired. Both have earned two letters in basketball and are now in the prime of their third season. Hall Johnson, a lengthy guard from Seattle, has also made his basketball monogram and will probably be in the Vandal game. "Hell Week" and War; Sherman Was Right About Both of Them

Although it is broad daylight, a figure skulks along the alley, casting furtive glances to each side. The figure slinks into the back door of an imposing mansion.

Murder? No.
Burglar? No.
Kidnapper? No.
Escaped convict? No.
No criminal—just a frosh entering his (or her) Tong house.
For that period of probation preceding formal initiation into fraternities and sororities is in full way. Various designated as "rough week", "goat week", and "hell week". It is a mixture of all, thinks the present victims, who agree that Sherman said a lung full about war and pledgehood.

"Rough week", (the politest term) has as its object the belittling of prospective members to Greek letter social organizations. It is traditional that the neophytes shall perform additional menial duties as well as those regularly accompanying their preliminary stage of apprenticeship. It is customary that they be impressed with their insignificance, their incompetence, and their unimportance. They are required to go through antics which would ordinarily cause witnesses to question their mentality. Their status is definitely juvenile. "Except ye become as little children" seems to be the text for every sermon preached by devout members.

Complimentary cognomens are given to the lower caste of Greekdom. They are "scum" or "worms" or "whatsit". But, as Papa Katzenjammer feelingly remarked, "It's a long worm vot has no turning." The "worms" are awaiting their turn. "John Patric, Printer," missed a rare opportunity when he failed to compile a "Goat Week Handbook"—"Things a Young Pledge Should Know". No doubt such a volume would be a best seller, and bring prices more phenomenal than that of law texts. It might contain much useful information: e.g., the number of railroad ties between Moscow and Pullman, the number of windows in the Ad Building and other campus edifices, the number of segments in a given length of paper, the number of rivets in the "I" tank, the exact location of the "Knife Tree" in the park, etc. Testimonials of campus celebrities who survived "goat week" would lend hope to disheartened would-be Greeks. Biblical quotations would lend dignity to the content. "How blessed it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." "Thou shalt not kill." Appropriate selections from the familiar biography of Job will tend to alleviate mental torment. Job had a tough time, too. After all, a week is only seven days. Soon evidences of standing will be visible in the form of decorative hardware on shirts and blouses. Brand new Greeks will begin to see the humor of their experience, and "Goat Week" will be history.

Re-discovers His Favorite Tobacco

Charleston, W. Va., March 4, 1927

Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va. Gentlemen: Recently I stopped in a little village that consisted of about nine houses and a small hotel, which I entered. A little old man wearing a small cap was seated in a rocking-chair smoking an enormous pipe. I had come to buy a can of Edgeworth, but when I caught a whiff of the tobacco he was smoking I changed my mind. The aroma of that tobacco was so delightful that I made up my mind right then and there that I wanted some of the same brand, regardless of the cost. I began with: "I beg your pardon, sir, but I came in to buy a can of tobacco, and I would like the same brand you are smoking if you don't mind telling me." He looked at me for a moment, grasped his pipe with one hand and said: "I'm smoking Edgeworth. Would you like some?" Of course I did, and I secured a supply from the old fellow. The joke, of course, was on me, but I went on my way rejoicing.

Yours very truly,
Dr. John R. Koch

New Frocks of Silk Are the Essence of Spring in Their Gay Colors

After the dark, drab days of Winter comes Spring — with glowing colors that are reflected in these early frocks. Heavy crepes, georgette and printed silks interpret the spirit of the new season.

Tending to More Feminine Lines

Graceful modes are distinctive this year—skirts tend to drape and flutter—without varying too far from the slim silhouette. New girde treatments and necklines appear—all of them charming.

W. A. A. Points to Be Given All Students Who Participate

Both beginners and advanced swimmers are urged to turn out for the women's swimming meet, which will probably be held the evening of February 22, according to a letter sent to all girls groups by Ethel Larson, swimming manager of the Women's Athletic Association. From swimming in elementary, back and side strokes will make possible competition between experienced and inexperienced swimmers. Entrants need not be members of swimming classes.

Fifty W. A. A. points will be given for first place, twenty-five points for second, fifteen points for third. All girls who enter will be given 10 points. The pool is open for girls only from 10 to 12 o'clock each morning; a description of the proper performance of events will be posted at the pool. Each girl may enter only three events aside from the relay. Tryouts for class relay teams will be held the week before the meet. All girls who expect to enter are urged to sign the W. A. A. bulletin board as soon as possible.

- The program of events for the meet is as follows:
1. Elementary back stroke for form,

EIGHT PLEDGED BY PI LAMBDA THETA

Phi Chapter Holds Pledge Meeting Sunday Evening, Eldridge. Will Speak to Group Monday

Eight education students were pledged by Pi Lambda Theta, national education honorary, Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. R. D. Russell, 910 Deakin avenue. Margaret Scholer, Rupert; Barbara Ruge, Buhl; Goldie Smith, Oregon; Kerishnik and Rosenbaum, Miss Mrs. W. Smith, Moscow; Lora Allison, Caldwell; Grace Dawson, Lewiston; Louisa King, Lewiston; and Ada Glessey, Juntura, were the pledges.

Pi Lambda Theta will meet at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, February 13, at Hays hall. Dean J. G. Eldridge will speak on French education.

Ina MacMurray, Liberty, is president of Phi chapter, the Idaho group, of this honorary.

EFFICIENCY, SPEED IN SEMESTER'S REGISTRATION

student receives a numbered card at the door as soon as his course of study has been approved by the dean.

Little Congestion

Students holding numbers smaller than those called out at regular intervals are admitted into the registration line. The little congestion that was noticeable was at the offices of the deans where students crowded in lines waiting approval and signing of their courses of study. Much credit for the efficiency in registering is due Miss Ella Olesen, who has adopted a number of new ideas that she has gleaned in her trips to registrar's conventions.

February 25 has been set as the final date for change of study lists. After that date, changes in courses of study will be made only on written permission of the dean and the instructor concerned.

Seniors must file their petitions for degrees, not later than February 15 if they wish to graduate with the senior class in June, according to Miss Olesen.

PRACTICE HOURS FOR AQUATIC MEET

Pool Is Open Two Additional Evenings, Monday and Wednesday for Women's Swimming Contest

Two additional practice hours for the women's swimming meet will keep the pool open from 8:10 to 9:30 o'clock on Monday and Wednesday evenings, according to Miss Lillian J. Wirt, head of the women's physical education department. Girls who want special help in any event will be given it at that time.

Tryouts will occupy two weeks. Aspirants to positions on the relay team should have their time taken on February 12, 15 or 20. Each member of the relay team will receive W. A. A. points according to the place which her class makes. Membership on the relay team does not prevent entrance in three other events in the meet.

points in the lead and ultimately gave the winners their well earned victory. Kerishnik and Rosenbaum, center, furnished added attractions with their tumbling and blocking exhibitions in the second frame.

Eddie Beyer, Sigma Chi forward, and Haridon, Lindley forward, tied for high honors with nine tallies each. Beyer sank three out of three free throws.

S. A. E. Drubs "Tokes"

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, leaders of "P" teams, had little trouble in trimming Tau Kappa Epsilon 41 to 15 in the second intramural game played Wednesday evening. T. K. E. scored first after both teams had passed and cut cautiously for two minutes. James and Taggart then got loose for two cripples and S. A. E. took the lead and was never headed. The winners scored almost at will, using long passes and fast floor work that confounded the "Tokes". With the score 14 to 4, Sigma Alpha Epsilon sent in a new team with the exception of Tatro at center and the fresh combination continued to run up the score. At half-time S. A. E. lead 25 to 3.

The first strings of both houses began the second half and for the first few minutes scoring was even. Then the Tatro, Peterson, Taggart combination began to register consistently again and the score rolled up.

Brook, S. A. E. guard, was high point man with 11 counters. James and Taggart accounted for eight and seven, respectively and Greening and F. Jennings tallied five each for T. K. A.

Lambda Chi Wins

The second game of the week also proved to be a sleep producer in which Lambda Chi Alpha nosed out Ridenbaugh hall 14 to 18. From the first whistle both quintets appeared dazed and careless, following the ball sloppily and passing lazily in all directions but into the basket. Most of the scoring was done by long shots that were seldom blocked up.

Nate Lambda Chi forward, scored eight points and Neldemeyer and Griffith of Ridenbaugh led the scoring for the losers with 6 to 5 points respectively.

Beta Tau Omegas

Beta Theta Pi opened play in the second half of the intramural basketball series by easily trimming Alpha Tau Omega 34 to 10 in a listless game Monday night. Both teams were off form and after the first few minutes of play in each half, had passing and worse shooting, featured both organizations performances. The Betas took an early lead and at the half were ahead 7 to 9. In the second period the A. T. O.'s were held to three points while Lawrence, Beta forward, got loose for five field goals to increase his personal total to 13 and add to the seven baskets of his teammates to swell the Beta total to 34 points.
