

DON CLEAVER WILL HEAD IDAHO TRACK SQUAD THIS YEAR

Vandals Famous Distance Man Elected Captain Saturday

HOLDS RECORDS Defeated Both Gillette and Devine at Coast Meet

Don Cleaver, Boise, outstanding distance runner of the Idaho track squad for the past two years, was elected captain of the 1928 varsity squad at a meeting of candidates Saturday afternoon at the gymnasium.

Since coming to the university, Cleaver has become one of the most noted distance men on the coast. At various times during his two successful years he has defeated such veterans as Johnnie Devine of Washington State and Arnold Gillette, the Montana speed merchant, in addition to having broken the university record in both the mile and two mile.

His outstanding performance was his defeat of both Gillette and Devine at Los Angeles in the two mile event, last June at the Pacific coast track and field meet.

Cleaver became noted as a runner in his junior year at Caldwell high school. In his senior year he won the mile event at the state meet with the record time of 4:37 which still stands for high school contestants. As a freshman at Idaho Cleaver ran away from all competition in the long grinds and also showed ability as a cross country runner. In the latter sport he has earned two letters and would undoubtedly have made a third if he had chosen to run in that sport this fall.

The two new Idaho records which Cleaver established last year were 4:31 for the mile and 9:32 for the two mile.

He is a member of Sigma Chi national fraternity.

Fifty Turning Out

Fifty candidates for positions on the squad have started training this week under "Cap" Bryan, coach. Although the Vandal squad has been injured by the graduation and failure to return to school of six lettermen of last year, prospects indicate a successful year is in the offing.

Included among the fifty men seeking positions are six lettermen, representing distance events, weights and discus, javelin, sprints, high jump and middle distance. Although these men have the advantage of experience in varsity competition over the rest of the aspirants, few hearts are assured on this year's squad, said Coach Bryan. Cleaver, is working daily and seems assured of his place. He is being crowded in the mile, however, by Glenn Griffith, Burley, a sophomore. Milton Collins, Moscow, who won his sweater in the weights last season, is loosening up kinks for a hard season's work. Jack Mitchell, Parma, whose performance over the hurdles was outstanding in conference circles during the last two years is entering his last year of competition for Idaho. Willard Klingler, Halley, middle distance man, has reported his James O'Brien, Lewiston, high jump and John Norman, Wallace, sprints.

CURTAIN PLEDGES EIGHT DRAMATISTS

Honorary Dramatic Fraternity Pledges Embryo Actors Between Acts of Play

Eight students in advanced play production were pledged Thursday night by the Curtian honorary dramatic fraternity. The announcement was made by Marie Johnson between acts at the A. S. U. play "Not Herbert."

Those pledged were Jean Collette, Burley; Pauline Brown, Homedale; Louise Lamelle, Kellogg; Lillian Woodworth, Moscow; Frank Eggers, Coeur d'Alene; Mattland Hubbard, Pomeroy; Clair Gale, Spokane; and Burdette Belknap, Lewiston.

Trousers, according to evidence obtainable in advance, will show a noticeable narrowing at the cuffs, and will be worn from a half an inch to an inch shorter.

Soft, conservative patterned and wrights will replace the "wild" patterns and ice-cream chevrons of previous years. Dotted cravats will challenge the popularity of small-tiled foulards and geometric patterned ones. Blunt-toed shoes are giving way to narrower, roun-toed shoes.

BARTON TO SPEAK AT SCOUT MEETING

DAILY NEWSPAPER IS NEW STYLE JOURNAL

Says College Men Will Wear Camels Hair Polo Coat

Style magazines and articles early prophesy the fashions for women every season, but an entirely novel thing in the fashion field is the Daily News Record, (New York, the only daily business and style publication in the man's apparel field.

Styles for college men for this spring are discussed at length in this daily. Undoubtedly the most striking developments in university styles is the camel's hair polo coat, already popular in the east.

Authorities predict that the two-button jacket, steadily usurping the position of the three-button model, will make a tremendous gain among students this spring. Those who do not wear the two-button jacket will probably roll their three-button jackets to the middle button in an effort to gain the effect of the newer style, observers say.

Trousers, according to evidence obtainable in advance, will show a noticeable narrowing at the cuffs, and will be worn from a half an inch to an inch shorter.

Soft, conservative patterned and wrights will replace the "wild" patterns and ice-cream chevrons of previous years. Dotted cravats will challenge the popularity of small-tiled foulards and geometric patterned ones. Blunt-toed shoes are giving way to narrower, roun-toed shoes.

WOMEN LOSE RIFLE MATCH TO MAINE

Alta Tupper Scores Perfect Score of 100 in Contest

A perfect score of 100 points, fired by Alta Tupper, Welpe, failed to bring the Idaho women's rifle team score above that of the University of Maine women, according to telegraphic results received here. The Maine team won the match by two points, 495 to 493.

The individual scores of the Idaho team follow: Alta Tupper, 100; Elva Reid, Colfax, Wash., 99; Avis Bowdish, Ashland, Ore., 99; Marylou Craven, Boise, 97 and LaReeta Beeson, Buhl, 97.

University of Nevada will be Idaho's next opponents, the match to be shot off March 3. Shooting will be both prone and sitting. This will be the first time this year that the Idaho team has shot a match sitting.

Idaho has only taken part in one other contest before, this one, that with the University of Washington. The Idaho women lost 493 to 500, a perfect score.

Last year the women's team won eight matches out of the 12 shot. They lost by one point to the R. O. T. C. rifle club in the dinner match, the boys scoring 1234 and the girls rating 1232.

In an informal triangular meet between the R. O. T. C. rifle club, women's rifle club and the Moscow rifle club the women's club won.

Milton A. Line, sophomore in the business school, left Moscow for his home at Pocatello early Monday morning on receipt of word that his father had been killed in a shotgun accident.

Mr. Line had just returned to the university this semester after a year's absence.

A brother, Dewitt, student here for three years, is now at Stanford university.

VIRGINIA GRANT IS EDITOR-IN-CHIEF OF '28 CO-ED ARGONAUT

Journalism Senior Leads Staff of Traditional Issue

HELEN KERR ASSISTS Mildred Perry, President of A. W. S. U. I., Announces Appointments

Virginia Grant, Moscow, a senior journalism major, has been appointed editor-in-chief of the 1928 issue of the Co-ed Argonaut which will be printed Friday, March 30. Helen Kerr, Moscow, a sophomore in the department of journalism, was named associate editor. The appointments were made by Mildred Perry, president of the Associated Women Students of the University of Idaho.

The Co-ed Argonaut is a tradition at Idaho. One regular issue each spring is turned over to the girls, who do all the work of gathering and editing the campus news. In addition, they work up special feature articles, making the issue distinctively a girls' issue. This year it is expected that the Leap Year idea will be played up in the features.

Three Year's Work

Miss Grant has had three years' experience on The Argonaut staff. She began as a general reporter in her sophomore year and has worked at a copy desk position on three issues of the Co-ed Argonaut. Miss Kerr is completing her first year's work on the staff as feature writer. She has edited a column recently published, "Gleanings From Other Campuses."

Work of selecting a staff for the issue will be done immediately by Miss Grant and Miss Kerr. The appointments will be announced in a short time. Miss Grant says so that work can be started on the issue. It is planned to make the Co-ed issue this spring one of the best since the tradition was established, she said. A number of special feature articles will be written by women on the campus, while other articles featuring women's activities will be included.

A number of positions on the staff are to be filled, Miss Grant said, and women desiring to work on this issue should report to Miss Grant at once.

W. S. C. WANTS IDAHO BLOOD WEDNESDAY

Cougars' Loss a Straight May Play Behind Closed Doors

Smarting under an unbroken string of seven defeats, Washington State College varsity quintet will meet the Idaho team here Wednesday evening. According to word received up to Monday afternoon, it is likely that the game will be played behind closed doors, due to the infantile paralysis scare on the Washington State campus. The Cougars' last game at Pullman Friday evening with Washington, was played without spectators.

Although W. S. C. has several old lettermen on the first string, a winning combination has not been found so far. Coach Carl Schlademan, Cougar mentor, has changed his lineup time after time in an effort to obtain a formidable team. The schedule started off at Missoula, and the Grizzlies, usually hibernated during the basketball season, ran away with the long end of a 40 to 16 score.

The Cougar, then left its lair to travel over the coast. In three successive games Washington, Oregon State and University of Oregon chalked up victories over the despairing W. S. C. five upon returning home the state team dropped another two Montana by a close margin and then to Idaho by 11 points. Idaho defeated W. S. C. in the first half, but the second half was nip and tuck, each team scoring an equal number of points.

Idaho is doped to win Wednesday evening, but W. S. C. is always an unknown quantity when lined up against Idaho. Anything might happen to change the dope. Last year Idaho won from the Cougars at Pullman and then lost to them at home in the most surprising defeat of the year.

Tentative lineups are:

Idaho	McMillin	R. F.	Buckley
	Stowell	L. F.	Gilleland
	Burgher	C	Brumblay
	Greene	R. G.	Rowher
	Jacoby	L. G.	Averill

LUCILLE RAMSTEDT JOINS MUSIC STAFF

Increased Enrollment Necessitates Studio Accompanist and Assistant

Increased enrollment in the music department has necessitated the addition of Miss Lucille Ramstedt to the studio staff, according to Professor Theodore Kratt, head of the department. Miss Ramstedt, a former Idaho student with a B. M. degree from here, will be studio accompanist and will assist with administrative duties.

Enrollment in music courses has increased approximately 10 per cent, declared Professor Kratt, with the greatest gain in the voice department, second in violin and piano. Additional practice rooms and pianos will be needed in order to accommodate so many new students.

A great deal of interest was shown in public school music and many rearranged their courses to fit in with next year's curriculum.

SENIORS MUST FILE APPLICATIONS BY FEBRUARY 15

Seniors expecting to qualify his spring for degrees in June must file their applications for degrees in the registrar's office not later than February 15. It was announced Monday by Miss Ella Olesen, registrar. These applications must be filed at this time so that records may be checked for graduation and diplomas ordered.

Applications-blanks are to be obtained from the various dean's offices and properly filled out.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS RECITAL

Miss Isabel Clark's Offering is Considered to be one of the Best This Year

An audience of more than 400 persons was present Sunday afternoon at the recital in the auditorium given under the direction of Miss Isabel Clark of the music department, by students of violin, voice, and piano. According to music authorities the concert was one of the best presented here this year.

As the first number Eleanor Beamer, versatile piano pupil of Miss Clark, played Beethoven's "Sonata in D. Minor" (first movement) op. 31, no. 2.

The next number consisted of two violin selections—"Canto Ranzoso" by Sammartini Elman and "Gonzonetta" by d'Ambrosia, played by Dorothy Messenger, pupil of Prof. Carl Claus, with her usual artistic technique.

Margaret Solley, contralto, voice pupil of Miss Johnson, sang Schubert's popular "Who! I Sylvia," and Greg's "Autumn Gale." This was followed by three Greg numbers "Arista," "Watchman's Song," and "Elfin Dance" which were played in true Greg style by Phyllis Shirley, violinist, by Helen Grant and Ruth Newhouse, "Dancing Little Symphony no. 2," was the next number. Florence Oberg soprano, sang the aria "One Fine Day" from Madame Butterfly by Puccini and "Ho Mr. Piper" with her usual dexterity and ease. Moszkowski's "Caprice Espagnole" which was played by Deliah Budrow in a truly artistic style was the last number.

IDAHO LOSES STIFF HOOP CONTEST TO HUSKIES, 34 TO 26

Vandals Lead in First Half of Basketball Game

RIVALRY IS KEEN McMillin, Stowell and Jacoby Are High Scorers for Locals

Fighting a desperate battle Saturday evening on its home floor, the Idaho Vandal quintet carried a sparkling offensive continually into Washington's half of the floor and piled up a 16 to 12 lead in the first half only to be turned back in defeat in the last by the long shots of Albie James and Monty Snider that added a 34 to 26 victory to the Huskies impressive string of wins.

Idaho started out with a rush and held a small lead until the last eight minutes of play when the score tied at 22 all, James' long shot swish-thru the hoop and the Washington five took the advantage from which it was not jolted during the remainder of the game. Idaho tied the score again but could not forge ahead. While Snider and James alternated at poking in short and long shots for an additional 10 points, the Vandals had to be satisfied with a beautiful long goal by Frank McMillin, Idaho's high point man who shared starring honors with James of Washington and Stowell and Jacoby of Idaho.

Started Cautiously

Both teams started cautiously, taking few chances from long range and Idaho took the ball from the Husky passers several times within dangerous territory before getting a chance at the Washington net. Stowell was fouled in the middle and converted both his tries. Burgher followed up with a neat side shot under the basket and Greene and Jacoby each tallied from within the Washington defense before the Huskies were offered a chance to score on a foul. Bolstad muffed his chance, and Idaho passed down fast to "Lefty" McMillin who tallied from the corner bringing the Idaho score to eight points. Snider opened the program for the invad-

BELLINGHAM BEATS FRESHMEN 31 TO 24

Normal Wins in Final Period as Rooks Weaken

Leading the Bellingham Normal five 15 to 14 at the end of the first half, the defense of the Idaho freshmen squad weakened in the final period to drop the game 31 to 24. Friday evening at the university gymnasium.

The going ending the first period found the first year men leading by a one point margin, but the Normal took the lead in the first few minutes and won with a total of 31 points to 24 of the Rooks. Thorson, Normal guard, was high point man of the evening with a total of 17 points to his credit. Doyle, freshman guard, gathered second honors with a total of eight.

A good brand of ball was displayed by both sides and at no time did the game seem cinched for either side. Wickerstrand, rook pivot and high point man of the W. S. C.-Idaho frosh game, did not see action in the contest. His absence was decidedly marked in the lineup.

Lineup is as follows:

Freshmen	Bellingham Normal
Duffy	F. Isaacson
Carlson	C. Benson
Milliner	G. Jewell
Doyle	G. Thorsen

Substitutions: Milliner for Oud, McCrory for Milliner, Varerock for Doyle, Clark for McClurken.

GROUPS ACCEPT PLEDGING RULE

Interfraternity Council Formally Acknowledges University Rule to L. F. Parsons Monday

Formal acceptance and acknowledgment of the university ruling regarding pledging and moving men out of the halls two weeks after fall and midyear registrations, was made by the Interfraternity council at a meeting held in the president's office Monday afternoon.

L. F. Parsons, executive secretary of the university, explained that the rule now stands that after a period of two weeks after the last day of registration, each fall and spring, no student can be pledged and moved out into group houses and still get a refund of room rent and board.

Fraternities can pledge men and let them live in the hall the remainder of the semester, but the practice is discouraged by university authorities. February 22, at midnight, was the final date set for pledging men out of the halls this semester.

WOULD INCREASE AWARDS.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, (PIP)—"Pop" Warner, head football coach, is in favor of the proposed amendment to the student body constitution which will allow three players instead of one, other than those who gained their letters by playing the required time in the specified games, football block "S" letters at the end of each season.

JUNIORS PICK FRIDAY, THE 13TH

Class Refuses to Note Superstition; Set Unlucky Date For Promenade

Refusing to be daunted by superstition, the junior class has chosen Friday, April 13, as the date for the annual Junior Prom to be held at the Elks Temple.

Futuristic designs will serve as a motif for the decorations and programs. Prof. Virgil R. D. Kirkham, working on the decorations committee, promises bizarre effects, entirely different from anything ever seen on the Idaho campus.

Selection of the orchestra has not been announced. The music committee is working on the plan. Tickets will be two dollars a couple.

SHOW NEWSPAPER PICTURE TONIGHT

Film Shows "Making of a Modern Newspaper," the New York Times

"The Making of a Modern Newspaper," a three-reel film showing the operation of the New York Times newspaper plant, is scheduled to be shown tonight at 8 o'clock in room 110, Science hall. The picture is being presented under the auspices of Delta Sigma, local honorary professional journalistic fraternity.

The film for the picture had not arrived here late Monday night, according to Floyd W. Lansdon, president of Delta Sigma, so that it will be necessary to notify members of the fraternity and students in journalism today by telephone as to whether or not the film arrives. In case this is necessary the showing of the film will be postponed a day or so.

The entertainment is open to all students and townspeople who desire to attend, Mr. Lansdon said. The picture will show all the various details of publishing a metropolitan newspaper. It will show one of the largest plants in the world in operation.

Starting with the reporter on the streets, collecting news, the picture will show all the steps necessary in gathering, editing, and publishing this large paper. It will show the news rooms of the Times, press rooms and other parts of the building.

After the picture is shown here it will be sent to Pullman where students of Washington State will be given a chance to see it. The picture will be shown there by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity.

GROUPS ACCEPT PLEDGING RULE

Interfraternity Council Formally Acknowledges University Rule to L. F. Parsons Monday

Formal acceptance and acknowledgment of the university ruling regarding pledging and moving men out of the halls two weeks after fall and midyear registrations, was made by the Interfraternity council at a meeting held in the president's office Monday afternoon.

L. F. Parsons, executive secretary of the university, explained that the rule now stands that after a period of two weeks after the last day of registration, each fall and spring, no student can be pledged and moved out into group houses and still get a refund of room rent and board.

Fraternities can pledge men and let them live in the hall the remainder of the semester, but the practice is discouraged by university authorities. February 22, at midnight, was the final date set for pledging men out of the halls this semester.

WOULD INCREASE AWARDS.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, (PIP)—"Pop" Warner, head football coach, is in favor of the proposed amendment to the student body constitution which will allow three players instead of one, other than those who gained their letters by playing the required time in the specified games, football block "S" letters at the end of each season.

JUNIORS PICK FRIDAY, THE 13TH

Class Refuses to Note Superstition; Set Unlucky Date For Promenade

Refusing to be daunted by superstition, the junior class has chosen Friday, April 13, as the date for the annual Junior Prom to be held at the Elks Temple.

Futuristic designs will serve as a motif for the decorations and programs. Prof. Virgil R. D. Kirkham, working on the decorations committee, promises bizarre effects, entirely different from anything ever seen on the Idaho campus.

Selection of the orchestra has not been announced. The music committee is working on the plan. Tickets will be two dollars a couple.

SHOW NEWSPAPER PICTURE TONIGHT

Film Shows "Making of a Modern Newspaper," the New York Times

"The Making of a Modern Newspaper," a three-reel film showing the operation of the New York Times newspaper plant, is scheduled to be shown tonight at 8 o'clock in room 110, Science hall. The picture is being presented under the auspices of Delta Sigma, local honorary professional journalistic fraternity.

The film for the picture had not arrived here late Monday night, according to Floyd W. Lansdon, president of Delta Sigma, so that it will be necessary to notify members of the fraternity and students in journalism today by telephone as to whether or not the film arrives. In case this is necessary the showing of the film will be postponed a day or so.

The entertainment is open to all students and townspeople who desire to attend, Mr. Lansdon said. The picture will show all the various details of publishing a metropolitan newspaper. It will show one of the largest plants in the world in operation.

Starting with the reporter on the streets, collecting news, the picture will show all the steps necessary in gathering, editing, and publishing this large paper. It will show the news rooms of the Times, press rooms and other parts of the building.

After the picture is shown here it will be sent to Pullman where students of Washington State will be given a chance to see it. The picture will be shown there by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity.

GROUPS INITIATE 125 NEW MEMBERS DURING PAST WEEK

Forty-one Are in Sororities and Eighty-four in Fraternities

FORMALS SUNDAY Several Houses Are Conducting their "Rough Week" Now

One hundred and twenty-five men and women have been initiated into thirteen national and local Greek letter sororities and fraternities, according to reports received Monday night from the various group houses. Fifty-one of the newly initiated were taken in by five sorority houses while fifty-four were taken in by thirteen fraternities.

Many of the houses put their pledges through "rough week" last week and finished up with formal initiation ceremonies Sunday. A number of houses are conducting "rough week" at the present time and will probably not formally initiate their pledges until the latter part of this week.

Girls Initiated

Following are the lists of initiates taken by sororities and announced Monday night:</

COLLEGIATE SLACKERS

PRODUCTION, representing several weeks of hard work on the part of the cast and directors, was witnessed by small crowds when "Not Hubert" was presented last week end in the auditorium. The play was undoubtedly one of the best done on the Idaho campus for some time and those who failed to attend the show missed one of the main events of the season.

The auditorium was not more than half full either of the two nights that the play was given. And, if a check could be made on the audience it is probable that the results would show that at least half of those attending were townspeople. Students do not seem to care for such productions as presented on the Idaho stage, at least they do not take the trouble to walk the short distance to the auditorium to see the plays when given.

Every incentive is given the students to get them to turn out for these productions. They are given usually on Thursday and Friday nights so as not to cut in too much on the week end programs. Thursday evenings, that plays are given, are declared open by Dean French for all girls on the campus, who care to go. Small admission prices are charged, but still the students would rather pay more money to see a movie.

Considerable money has to be spent in order to produce these plays. Stage scenery must be constructed and painted. Costumes are rented, while several other expenses are added before the production is ready for the public. Then on top of this comes the long and tedious rehearsals, where members of the cast and the directors put forth the best they have to produce a play worth the while of the persons attending.

After all of this work and expense, it is somewhat discouraging to the cast, as well as the directors, to look out into the auditorium from the stage and find about half of the seats empty. This has been the case for so long, however, that the actors would probably get stage fright and forget their lines if the auditorium was packed.

Interest on the campus seems to have died down. First the students fail to support the artist course numbers and it was necessary to discontinue these high classed entertainments. Then all-college play productions fail to draw the students. It is hard to get all the students out for athletic contests. About the only college functions that do appeal to the students are dances, movies and parlor dates, and even then we find a large percentage of students who would rather sit at home. It seems that we have slipped into a rut; we do just what we have to, wasting many hours each day sitting around in easy chairs in front of the fireplace talking about nothing; but when it comes to doing something that requires a little extra effort, there is nothing doing!

NO PLACE FOR THE UNCONVENTIONAL THINKER

MOST any time now one can expect to see on the book shelves a new book entitled "Liberalism as It Does Not Exist on the College Campuses."

Material for such a volume is rapidly increasing. The college campus, theoretically a site of intelligence, in often nothing more than a hide-bound conventional oasis of lip liberalism.

The colleges preach liberalism as long as it does not reflect in any way or put them in the spotlight unfavorably.

It is with refreshing hope that we notice that Grinnell College is permitting Miss Agnes Maud Royden, English minister, to speak on the campus there. Miss Royden is reputed as believing in companionate marriages and as occasionally smoking cigarettes.

She was barred from speaking at the University of Iowa and described as a lady with high ideas, but low ideals. As one of the ladies out there said, "students will admire her for she has a strong personality and is able to sway her audience. Admiration will cause the susceptible girls of the University to ape the woman." Poor things.

Kirby Page is another victim. Mr. Page is to all who have met him a harmless pacifist. West Virginia University has prevented him from talking down there. It might be noted that a military man is in charge of the committee that brought about this ban.

That is to be expected of militarists, but how about Judge Lindsey, Miss Royden, and even Clarence Darrow? Undoubtedly the coach who resigned because of the corruption in attracting players to his particular school is denied the right to talk at respectable universities.—Ohio State Lantern.

FATHER AND SON GET PH. D. DEGREES

Dean Eldridge and Son, Robert, Have Received Highest Honors From Yale

A father and his son, both of whom have received the doctor of philosophy degree from Yale university, are among the group to bring Father Eli into definite kinship with the University of Idaho, a pamphlet issued by the eastern institution shows. These men are Dr. Jay Glover Eldridge, dean of the Idaho faculty and its oldest member, and his son, Dr. Robert Walker Eldridge, who was graduated from the University of Idaho in 1923 and received his doctorate last fall. The father received his doctorate in 1906.

In this pamphlet, "Doctors of Philosophy of Yale University", the names of 10 present and former members of the University of Idaho faculty appear. Of this number, four are graduates and six are or have been connected with the faculty. Included in the list of Idahoans are the names of: Frederick Morgan Padelford, professor of English at Idaho from 1899 to 1901 and now head of the department of English, dean of the graduate school and dean of the faculty at the University of Washington; Aurelia Isabel Henry Reinhardt, instructor at Idaho from 1899 until 1901, president of Mills college in California; Alice Edna Gipson, graduate from Idaho in 1905, now head of the English department, Lindenwood college, St. Charles, Mo.; George Hugh Roe O'Donnell, graduate of 1912, now professor of French and German, Russell Sage college, Troy, N. Y.; Lawrence Henry Gipson, Idaho's first Rhodes scholar at Oxford, now professor of history and government, Lehigh university, Bethlehem, Pa.; Francis Baker Laney, professor of geology at the University of Idaho since 1920; Charles Newton Little, former dean of the Idaho College of Engineering, who died in 1923 shortly after his resignation from the Idaho faculty; Charles Adams Peters, professor of chemistry at Idaho from 1901 to 1907.

SENIORS TO ENTER THROW TOURNNEY

Idaho Women Will Compete in Annual World Basketball Free Throw Tourney

Idaho women will again participate in the annual world basketball free throw tournament, it is announced by Miss Lillian J. Wirt, head of the women's physical education department. Reports must be in the hands of the committee at Charleston, S. C., by March 14. The dates on which Idaho women will establish their records are to be announced later. The senior girls' team which won last year in the tournament was the Takehaya Girls' high school, Tokyo, Japan. The individual championship was won by Miss M. Koyano of that school.

A LITTLE DEED

When you're hurt and all alone What do you remember of days bygone? Other sorrows, hurts, and fears, Weary days and unhappy years?

No, I'll bet you're like me When you look back all you see Is that unlooked for kindness Someone did you in your soul-hindness.

You recall happy hours with friends nearby, When your heart rang with a joy cry, And this love and kindness of the past Is all that really matters at last.

So looking ahead, I think of today as the past I want to do someone a kindness that will last, Some little unselfish deed That in future doys will meet another's need.

A. T. O.'s Sing "Hot Time In Wood Shed" At Annual Blaze Friday Morning

"A hot time in the woodshed" was the tune sung at the annual A. T. O. fire last Friday at 6:30 o'clock when no fire started in the structure in the rear of the premises.

With the announcement that the building was ablaze, the inmates of "Paradise", the sleeping porch, poured out of the house like water from a sieve. The raiment of the brothers was undeniably sketchy. Those who took the time to dress tied their neckties with more than collegiate jauntness and hurried for an exit.

Snappy work with fire extinguishers kept the blaze under control until the arrival of the fire department, just before 7 o'clock. By 7:15 the fire was out.

Almost 100 per cent attendance of fresh men was noticed, since those who were celebrating "rough week" had been engaged in nocturnal revelry until the time of the fire.

Seeing such a large crowd assembled, Siggy and Porter, varsity yell leaders, gave the conventional reaction and began to lead some lusty cheers.

That the fire started from a cigarette butt dropped on the floor of the building is the accepted supposition. Since the woodshed is the common scene of chastisement, there was no doubt great rejoicing among the A. T. O. pledges.

Damage to the building was slight and is covered by insurance. Although the roof did not cave in, it will have to be reshingled. A number of trunks which were stored in the building were saved, but four burned, as well as five or six automobile tires and some groceries and coal.

Hal Bowden's Ford, which was parked near the structure, is minus two wheels. One burned off and the other was amputated in the process of removing the car. George Hjort's car was damaged. The top was on fire, but the blaze was checked by timely use of fire extinguishers.

Armed with a fire extinguisher, Siggy attempted to stage a one-man show from the roof of the A. T. O. house, but his stunt was a bit of a fiasco, since a frosh intercepted the chemicals.

The alarm was given by Payton Sommercamp, who was on his way to work at Lindley hall.

Is Anything Free at University? Psych Class Listens to Math Prof.

Who said anything is gratis at the university? A psychology class was treated to a free lesson in math Monday afternoon. With the ingratitude which is commonly attributed to college students, they were not at all pleased with the lecture at which they were guests.

The excess attendance at the class, Mathematics and Finance, scheduled for room 305 Ad. at 3 o'clock Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, was caused by a miscalculation in scheduling Psychology of Advertising at the same hour on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. This schedule was not questioned until Monday, since the latter part of the week devoted itself beautifully, giving a peaceable send-off to the new semester.

However, on Monday, both classes congregated. The math prof. W. L. Harris, arriving first, took possession of the rostrum. Dr. J. W. Barton, the psychology prof. arrived at the last angle of the bell, just in time to intercept the opening remarks of Mr. Harris.

Polite, but insistant, each prof. contended that the room was his for the hour. The schedule of classes offered no solution, since it agreed with both instructors. While seeking arbitration through the agency of Miss Ella Olsen, Prof. Barton sent his shelterless flock of about 40 psych students into the hall. Only 13 math students remained, lamenting the fact that the interesting debate was over, and they would have to listen to class work. But what else could 13 students expect on Blue Monday, the thirteenth?

Psychology finally got under way in Room 317, after the ousting a class in education. Peace was re-established between the two departments, the bobble in official machinery being remedied. Whether the unexpected exposure to math will have disastrous effects upon the psych students remains a matter for conjecture.

I've done a lot of pipe smoking. There's hardly a brand or a blend that I haven't tried out at some time or other.

But speaking of smoking tobacco that brings real enjoyment, and never changes, I want to say that there is just one tobacco that gives me real enjoyment in my pipe—Edgeworth.

I have used Edgeworth Ready Rubbed and Plug Slice for over five years, in all climates and under all conditions, and I find it always the same. It is always mellow and moist, and its genuine flavor lasts. There is no bite or parch in Edgeworth, and the quality, whether you buy it in small or large quantities, is always perfect.

"Hoot, Mon, Luckies dinna hurt my throat or wind," says Sir Harry Lauder, celebrated star. "It takes a Scotchman to truly appreciate that wonderful toasted flavor that comes in Lucky Strikes. I've smoked Luckies for years and all this time I've been active in my work which demands a clear voice for singing and good wind for dancing. And so I say to Sandy McGregor, 'It's always a bra bricht moonlicht nicht with Luckies—Hoot, Mon, they dinna hurt my wind or throat.'" Harry Lauder. VANDAL YIMS

Washington's score as low as it was... The Vandals made a remarkable showing for the first three quarters.

Burgher, big Idaho center from Rupert, played a great game at the pivot position. His close quarter baskets in the first half added materially to the Vandals' lead.

The tallest man seen on the Idaho court in many years was shoved in at center for the Washington boys while Idaho held its most impressive lead.
