SOCIETY AS A MIRROR

If one wants to see himself clearly he has but to look at the social institutions for which humanity is responsible, said Prof. C. W. Chenoweth in addressing the congregation of the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Man will understand that these institutions are himself magnified, as Plato declared the state to be man writ large.

Sympathy is the agency in constructing the social world, he pointed out. "This should not be confused with pity, which is an ambition of those trying to put themselves in a higher position so that they may look down and pity others. Sympathy puts the people one is to associate with in the world and to get the right people in and the wrong people out is the problem."

We see the results of our own living in the social institutions and the strength or weakness of ourselves are magnified many times in the society that surrounds us. When we examine ourselves through the social institutions we see today a social world that seems to be weakening—everything tending toward material advancement with little consideration for the human lives sacrificed in the attainment of the goal. A new type of family life has come into existence, where the child takes upon itself the task of shaping its own destinies without the necessary steady hand of the parent. Crime seems to prevail, while the wheels of justice become slower and often clog up with murder cases and other crime hearings.

If man would look upon this social condition as being a part of himself—examine his own social world in the mirror of surrounding social institutions—the truth would be thrust home and a change for the better quickly effected.

SUGGESTS DONATION

IDAHO'S mineral resources have made millionaires out of several men, says an editorial appearing recently in the Wallace Miner. With this accumulation of wealth from a natural resource of the state is connected an obligation to do something for the state or district, something that would be a lasting contribution to the welfare of the state and to future generations.

In this editorial the Miner advances the proposal that such a contribution take the form of a building for the school of mines on the Idaho campus.

Profits amounting to $133,000,000 have been earned by the mines of the Coeur d'Alene district during the past 25 years, the Miner says. Many of the men who have shared in this vast profit are well up in the millionaire class and "not one seems to have been impressed with the thought that the accumulation of this great wealth from a natural resource of the state carries with it an obligation to contribute something to the state."

The Miner does not overlook the great benefit the state has derived from the investments and operations which have earned these large profits, but that is a natural and inevitable result.

U. W. JUNIOR HAS LOSS OF MEMORY

Member of Varsity Basketball Team Found Wandering Around on Vancouver Dock

SEATTLE, WASH., (IP)—A state wide search for Claude Brannon, University of Washington Junior, and a member of the varsity basketball team, was brought to an end when the youth was found on the Vancouver terminal dock here, wandering around bewildered and dazed. In a mental condition which is thought to be only a temporary lapse of memory, he did not recognize any of his fraternity brothers. Brannon had been ill for several days before his mysterious disappearance, and alarm was felt when he did not show up after leaving for a moving picture theater. Strain of over work it thought to be the cause of his lapse.

Behold, the Stars and Stripes above the trees, Mute token to you, Son of History, George Washington, who might have been a king, But crowned Democracy. —PATSY CALHOUN

BEAUTIES REFUSE TO APPEAR ON STAGE

K. U. Beauty Queens Decide Not to Commercialize Their Beauty

LAWRENCE, KANSAS, (IP)—Being beautiful is more or less of a personal matter, and does not necessarily mean that the one so endowed automatically becomes a source of public revenue. At least this is the opinion of 28 candidates for the 1928 Jayhawker Beauty Queens of the University of Kansas.

Some one made a mistake in believing otherwise, for it was widely advertised last week that these maids would appear on the stage of a Lawrence theater on three successive evenings, and a large audience was urged.

The co-eds immediately became stubborn and said that since they never had been approached on the matter, they certainly would not appear. They didn't think they wanted to anyway.

So apologies were in order, the dean of women expressed her pleasure at the sensible attitude of the women in question, and things seem about smoothed over.

OREGON WINS 32-23 AS IDAHO WEAKENS

Vandals Stay Within Five Points in Early Part of Game

After having kept within five points of the Oregon squad for 30 minutes of play, the Vandals weakened in the last five and allowed Ridings and McGorrick to drop in three baskets and win Saturday night's game here, 32 to 23. Idaho had the lead but once during the contest. Thornton scored a field goal as the first tally of the game but Oregon sank a long one to even the count and from then on Idaho never led Oregon or tied the score.

Idaho's best showing was made in the last five minutes of the first half. With the score 11 to 4 against them, the Vandals staged a rally that brought them within one point of a tie score in the last half minute of play. Just as the gun sounded, Epps got thru for a field goal and was fouled as he shot. He converted both tries and gave Oregon a five point advantage, 18 to 12.

Ridings scored at the beginning of the second period and Greene converted a free throw before Idaho got another field goal. From then on Oregon held a lead of four or five points until the close of the game many substitutions were made in the Idaho lineup and Oregon ran up her lead to nine points. Bus Greene, sub forward, scored two field goals for Idaho in the last three minutes but the rally did not stop the Webfoot scoring.

Ridings was high point man with 10 scores. Burgher and McMullin lead the Idaho list with six points each.

Out of 17 chances from the foul line, Idaho converted but 5 baskets.

TAXI CRASHES PHIL'S FLIVVER

Force of Impact Pushes Lighter Car, Parked, onto Lawn of Sorority House

Falling to make the turn at the icy corner of Elm and Idaho avenues shortly before 12 o'clock Saturday night, a Moscow taxi collided with a car belonging to Phil Cox parked in front of the Delta Gamma sorority house. Considerable damage was done to both cars.

Force of the impact of the two cars was sufficient to push the lighter car, parked, onto the lawn of the sorority house. The rear of Cox's car was damaged and the right rear wheel broken. The front portion of the taxi was damaged.

Cox's car was parked on the opposite side of the street from the Beta house, of which he is a member, in compliance with the new traffic ordinance of the city which makes parking on the west side of Elm and Idaho avenues, unlawful.

Principal Steps in Smelting and Refining Processes of Steel Holds Interest of Students

An assembly of 200 students reviewed the film "The Story of Steel" Thursday evening at the Science hall. The film showed the various steps in converting the iron ore into steel, refining the different kinds of steel through the blast furnace operation and the medium of Bessemer converter and open hearth process.

The picture gained its interest because it showed the principle of many of the steps in the smelting and refining processes of steel.

The picture was furnished by the department of commerce in cooperation with the United States Steel corporation.

INTRAMURAL PLAY NOW IN FULL SWING

Kappa Sigma, Delta Chi and Sigma Nu Won Games in Last Night's Play

Kappa Sigma, Delta Chi and Sigma Nu scored victories in the intramural basketball games played last night and Saturday afternoon.

Kappa Sigma, by defeating Ridenbaugh hall 29 to 22, seems a likely champion in the "A" league. Ridenbaugh hall showed lack of practice and missed many set up shots. The word of Sommercamp was a big add in the Kappa Sig victory. O'Brien was high point man with five baskets. Southworth and Jones followed close with nine and eight points each.

Delta Chi swamped Lambda Chi Alpha 22 to 12 in the second game of the evening. During the first quarter, the losers didn't score a point. After they got started, the game was a nip and tuck affair, although the play at times was rough. The floor work of Pyrah and the basket shooting of Cross added materially in the Delta Chi victory. Cross was high point man of the game with nine counters. Nims and the losers scored five points.

Sigma Nu Team Wins

The first game Saturday afternoon between Sigma Nu and Phi Delta Theta went to the Sigma Nu by the close score of 12 to 10. But three field baskets were made, in the first half, Sigma Nu accounting for two and Silverthorne, Phi Delta forward the other. Play was a little more consistent in the last half. Sigma Nu increased her lead to 3 to 5 before the Phi Delta came out of their lethargy and got into the game with a will. The rally fell two points short of tying the score. Norman scored high with six points. Hall was the star for the losers with two field goals.

T. H. A. Defeated

Delta Chi tripped the league leading Tau Mem Aleph quiet Saturday afternoon 23 to 17 in one of the best games of the intramural tourney. Hodson, Cross and Klingler dropped in basket after basket to run up a 15 to 2 score in the first half. The winners were breaking and passing faster than the town men and kept them well covered up when they had the ball. The first five minutes of the second half was a repetition of the first. Delta Chi ran up a 21 to 9 margin before substituting an almost entire team. Against the Delta Chi reserves Bartell and Funk, T. M. A. forwards, hit their stride and were well on their way to a tie score when the final whistle put a stop to their rally.

Rolce was high man with eight points. Hodson and Klingler scored six each.

WOMEN'S RULES LESS STRICT AT STANFORD

Women's Council Passed Rules Giving Stanford Women Greater Freedom Than Heretofore

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, (PIP)—Greater freedom of action for Stanford women will result from a revision of rules governing conduct formulated by Women's Conference and Women's Council and passed by the women's living groups last week.

Principal changes advanced the hour at which women must return to the living groups. Sophomore, junior and senior women may have 1:30 o'clock leave on Friday and Saturday nights by signing name and destinations.

The other major change was that chaperones are no longer necessary to allow women to enter men's living groups provided there are at least two women present. This ruling does not apply to dances or other social functions.

KNUTE ROCKNE OFFERS COACHING COURSE AGAIN

OREGONSTATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, (PIP)—Knute Rockne, football coach of Notre Dame university, will conduct his fourth consecutive summer course for coaches in the summer session here.

Coach Rockne will teach in only three summer schools before leaving for the Olympic games. More than 80 coaches from all parts of the country were enrolled in his course last year.

"IMITATION" THEME CHENOWETH'S TALK

Man Should Imitate Divine Acts, Professor Says in Sermon

"Fortunate is the individual who can imitate divine workmanship so that in looking back over the course he has taken he can say that it is reasonably satisfactory," declared C. W. Chenoweth, professor of philosophy at the university, in a sermon on "Imitation" at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. "Unfortunately," he added, "is the chaos to pile up in his environment so as he looks back he can scarcely see the course over which he came, nor get the bearings of the one he is to take in the future."

Man is an imitator, he said, in following out as he can divine acts. He is a creative worker, a world-builder. The individual alone is responsible for the sphere he lives in.

Intellect, sympathy, hope and faith are the agencies man utilizes in constructing his physical, social, and spiritual world.

Intellect was defined as that which brings order out of the chaotic occurrences of life. For him whose intellect functions fully, it was pointed out, life is a series of occurrences in which every event has a causal effect. He who sees existence as a hodgepodge is failing in getting his intellect on the right track.

The intellect may be concluded to be small, but the one which does something where little is expected is better than the one which does little where much is expected. Professor Chenoweth explained. "Knowledge is a little thing," he declared, "unless the one knows what to do with it."

Sympathy, the agency in constructing the social world, is not to be confused with pity which is one of the greatest vices of the so-called virtues, was his contention, for it rests upon class distinction. Pity is an ambition of those trying to put themselves in a higher position so that they may look down and pity others.

A firm social universe can never be built upon a basis of pity, but on sympathy which is a straight outlook the quality of which is seeing oneself wherever he looks.

If one wants to see himself more

DHILLON HEADS COSMOPOLITANS

Saturday Evening Program Included Address by Rev. Marshall Wingfield on "Held on Problems" of Russia

Installation of officers for the second semester, and an address by the Rev. Marshall Wingfield, pastor of the Moscow Christian church on the problems of Soviet-Russia comprised the program of the Cosmopolitan club Saturday evening at the U-hut.

Hardt Singh Dhillon was formally installed as president of the club, election of officers having taken place earlier this year. Miss Edith Nancolas was installed vice president; Miss Edie Smied, recording secretary; Karam Singh, corresponding secretary; Walter Dean, treasurer and H. Dadesma, sergeant-at-arms.

The Rev. Mr. Wingfield in discussing the new adjustments of the Russian government laid special stress on the good care of children and the system of mothers' pensions under the present regime. That Russia will prove to be a real democracy in the coming 60 years was the firm conviction of the Moscow minister. He also discussed the changed methods of marriage and divorce in Russia and dealt with various other problems of the country.

Decision that a group picture of the club be taken for the Gem of the Mountains at 12 o'clock Thursday noon, February 23, was made, and all members of the club are requested to be present at the meeting.
