FREEDOM OF THE COLLEGE PRESS?

FREEDOM of the college press is becoming more and more the cry on the campuses of the American institutions of higher learning.

The movement for the granting to college editors more freedom in expressing their views and opinions and more leeway in the news columns is being felt on all campuses of the country.

Absolute freedom, as advocated by Mr. Studer, would probably be carrying it a step too far. Most college editors are aware of the situations as they exist on their own campuses and feel that they owe it to their institutions to keep out of print such stories that would be detrimental.

In speaking of the new spirit of criticism that has appeared on American campuses since the war, Mr. Studer said that this has continually brought on conflicts between editors and college authorities.

"The relation of the college editor to student opinion is, I would say, no different from the relation of the Boston Transcript to the people of Boston. Both editors have responsibilities to their communities, both ought to have the right to their own opinions.

Why is it that we cannot achieve the honesty in research in social fields that we do in other lines? Then perhaps we might find new means for happiness much greater even than that afforded by the scientific discoveries.

to approach. I expect to see Idaho grow a very markedly under his administration.

There is little doubt that when Doctor Kelly was named as chief executive of the university that the education board made the best possible selection.

PARKING REGULATIONS

CERTAIN parking regulations on the campus specify that no cars are to be parked in the circle in front of the Administration building.

The regulation was made because of the size of the circle, and if cars are allowed to be parked in it, there will hardly be room for other autos to drive through.

Parking space for all cars on the campus is provided at the south side of the Administration building.

ONE-SIDED SCIENCE

THIS is certainly the age of the scientist, says the California Daily Bruin, commenting on the many achievements in the field of the physical sciences, and then adding:

Is it not strange that with such activity in one phase of our existence, there should be such lethargy in others? The papers publish stories of the Havana conference, of Geneva conference, of disarmament conference, of pacts, treaties, and agreements of every description imaginable.

Why is it that we cannot achieve the honesty in research in social fields that we do in other lines? Then perhaps we might find new means for happiness much greater even than that afforded by the scientific discoveries.

STUDENT RECITAL IS WELL RECEIVED

Varied Program Presented By Music Pupils In Sunday Concert

An audience of more than 500 persons was present at the recital given by students of the music department at the auditorium Sunday afternoon.

Two entirely different types of songs were presented by the University Male Quartet, "Sylvia" by Speake and "My Lady Chlo", a negro love song by Clough-Leigher, were both characterized by splendid harmony and interpretation.

Beethoven's "Dutch Dance" and Eccossaises were played by Marian McComb, piano student. In these two numbers Miss McComb's technique received favorable comment.

Dash and individuality characterized Laura Clark's performance of the two Schumann numbers—"Romanze in F Sharp" and "Soaring."

More than 350 people attended, and according to Dean Angell, approximately 50 were turned away for lack of table accommodations.

Dean Kelly spoke briefly on "The Southern Branch and Plans for its Development." The talk went over big, Dean Angell said.

Administrative duties at the university of Minnesota at Minneapolis necessitated Dean Kelly's immediate return from Corvallis.

Student Opinion

In the last issue of The Argonaut there appeared an editorial on "Student Elections." The editor seems to lament the lack of interest shown in ASUI affairs and points to the assembly of last Wednesday, wherein but one man out of the junior class was nominated to fill a vacancy on the executive board.

Why should students be interested? Wherein do they get a chance to express their interest? Surely not by casting a ballot for a "hand picked" nominee, who has been put up by the "clique", who in turn, term themselves as representatives of a questionable majority of students on the campus.

I wonder how many students were aware of the fact that a vacancy existed on the executive board prior to assembly last Wednesday when the president of the ASUI called for nominations for a junior representative?

One might correctly say that class officers are chosen and elected by the "insiders" before any class meeting is held, literally speaking.

make an intelligent choice of the one whom they think most fitted for an office.

We are not puppets but college men and women capable of using our own minds in the selection of those whom we think best fitted to lead us.

The Idaho student body is not very small. Political competition should exist on our campus in a greater degree. It would mean a greater interest in student affairs.

students as a whole, in some cases, reluctantly accept their choice? The editor is right. Our lack of interest, initiative or what not is appalling.

It is to be hoped that the election of ASUI officers this spring will not be the listless, uninteresting duplication of last spring's election.

A TRIBUTE TO THE NEW PRESIDENT

EDUCATORS in Oregon believe that Idaho will have one of the outstanding college presidents in the west when Dr. Frederick J. Kelly is inaugurated this spring.

Unfortunately Doctor Kelly was unable to visit on campus on his trip west. He stopped at Pocatello en route to Corvallis, Ore., and became acquainted with the southern branch. He made a hit at Pocatello.

In rural high schools of the state, four of the 30 rural high school superintendencies are held by Idaho men and of the smaller principalships, 16 are filled by graduates here. In addition to these there are approximately 200 Idaho graduates teaching in high schools of the state while at least 200 more sophomores are teaching in Idaho grade schools.

In State Normals Gradually a number of Idaho men and women are becoming members of state normal school faculties. At the Lewiston Normal school Robert Lough, Miss Ethel Greene, Miss Genevieve Watson, Miss Lydia E. Winkler, and Miss Margaret Sweet are employed as instructors. At the Albion Normal school in the southern part of the state Miss Lola Gamble, N. J. Jacobson and Nest Nash are teaching.

Large numbers are teaching in eastern Washington and a few in the western portion of that state. Still others are found in eastern Oregon, California, western Montana, Utah, Arizona and a few in the far east and middle western states. Several are teaching in the Hawaiian Islands and Alaska.

In glancing over the Idaho list of educational administrators Miss Bernice McCoy in charge of the placement bureau of the education says: "The record as reported is encouraging, but our task of placing our young people in the important positions in the state's educational work is far from complete. The task as we view it is two fold: first, the university must encourage more of its young people who have the right ideas and standards to enter the work of teaching, and secondly, every effort must be put forth to give them the kind of training schools of the state demand for their teachers."

AN ADDITION TO CAMEL SMOKE-LORE

WE SUBMIT the sad case of the freshman in zoology, who, when asked to describe a camel, said, "A camel is what you wish you were smoking while you try to think of the right answers." He flunked zoology—but he knew his cigarettes. For in time of trial or time of joy, there's no friend like Camels.

The subtle influences of choice tobaccos upon the smoke-spots of mankind have been carefully studied, identified, and blended smoothly into Camels—the finest of cigarettes. And we'll bet an alkafitch on this: Camels have just the taste and aroma to pack your smoke-spot with the "fill-fulment" every experienced smoker seeks. Got an alkafitch you want to lose?

O'BRIEN KICKS MAN IN HOOP TOURNAY

Makes Total of 64 Points During Intramural Series

In spite of a dislocated knee that kept him out of three quarters of the last game of the season, O'Brien, Kappa Sigma center, retained his lead on the individual scoring column of the intramural series. His final total is 64 points, five tallies more than that of his nearest competitor, Herndon, Lindley hall forward, who scored 59 points during his season of six games. Herndon did not play in the first game that Lindley hall took part in as he was a candidate for the frosh squad. O'Brien participated in eight games all together in the A. S. league series and two in the intramural championship. His Homer Brock, scoring 13 points in the two games with Beta Chi, raised himself to third place with a total of 51. Beyer, Sigma Chi, ends the season in fourth place despite the fact that he played in but five games. The top leading scorers are:

- O'Brien, Kappa Sigma, 64
Herndon, Lindley hall, 59
Beyer, Sigma Chi, 51
Albertson, Beta Chi, 44
Lawrence, Beta Chi, 44
Rutledge, Lindley hall, 42

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

Are you lonely? Unpopular? A Parlor Failure! If you are Write to Katie She's paid to find each one a nibble Or else advise The latest ball.

Dear Kate: What should be done in this case? First: You invite her to your house dance and have a wonderful time.

Second: You stop with her and spend all the money you were saving to buy that ticket home next summer, finally in desperation to supply more funds, you stop smoking.

Third: You take her to your house formal.

Then this happens: First: She takes somebody else to the Spilster Skip.

Second: She talks like this: "I think that the Kappas have two of the keenest hangers, when I was asked down to the Beta house for dinner, I had no idea, who was coming for me, because I have so many Betas—there goes Bud. Don't you think he's darling? He's such a good friend of my Kappa Sig—I'm sorry, but you see I got in so late last night that I'll have to go in early tonight—Yes, you must leave at once.

Kate what's the answer? Ed

Dear Ed: Her eyes may glisten, Her cheeks may be ruddy Now's your chance, Ed, To get down to study.

Clash for Third Place is Lively Affair; Shorty Cheyne High Point Man

Sigma Alpha Epsilon easily defeated Beta Chi the second time Saturday afternoon 33 to 14 in another lusterful exhibition, the only redeeming feature of which was the occasional flashy shots of Carney, Beta Chi center, and Cheyne, S. A. E. guard.

Beta Chi started the game minus two regulars and the S. A. E.'s ran up an 8 to 2 lead before the opposition was bolstered by the arrival of Glase and Albertson. The Beta Chi first string had little better success than the subs and were unable to score more than one more field goal during the first half while the S. A. E.'s boosted their score to 20 points.

During the third quarter the winners were held scoreless while Beta Chi made three points. In the last period Cheyne, Brock and Taggart hit their stride again and steadily drew away from the outclassed Beta Chi quintet.

Shorty Cheyne was high point man with nine points. Albertson was high man for Beta Chi with two field baskets.

Lot Is a Muddy Reading Room

One of Uncle Sam's "small" relatives, sneaked down University avenue, looking furtively around, and now stands in the hands of the "muddy" reading room. Sounded like a futuristic French phrase. He had listened to the whisperings at the Phi Gamma House, been scorched by the "Blazing A. T. O.'s" and ever smelled of the "Ooo Ooo" note, but this address—now it had had: Street Baseball Club; it would have been the S. A. E. house, but this—in despair he wandered to the "muddy" lot where the historic Miller Mansion had been, but had a scrap of paper with the words, "L. D. S. Seminary, on it, flew up and hit him in the eye, and he did a neat infirmity into a mud puddle. When he arose, he muttered—"So this is the place." He looked at the few loismose bricks scattered about, some nails that had fallen to be on time and save nine, a bird's nest, and what was most interesting—a hole—a large hole in the ground.

Once again, (this is no English theme) he looked at the address in his hand. It was READING ROOM L. D. S. SEMINARY, Moscow, Idaho. Scratching his head after the manner prescribed by the civil service—he carefully deposited the newspaper in the very center of the mudhole.

handicapped by the loss of O'Brien from the lineup, scored but one basket while Lindley hall rolled in three. O'Brien sustained a dislocated knee in a miscalculation at the center of the floor and was unable to return to the game. Sommercamp took his place at center and Robbins was put in at guard.

In the last half, Kappa Sigma outscored the winners one point 8 to 7, but the three point lead at the end of the first half left Lindley hall a two point margin of victory. Two field baskets and three free throws were made by Lindley hall and four field goals were looped by Kappa Sigma, three of which were scored by Kenzie Jones, as results of his fast dribbling.

The third quarter ended 17 to 13 in favor of Lindley hall. In the first minute of the last quarter K. Jones scored, bringing the score to 15 to 17. Two fouls tripped in by Herndon gave Lindley hall a four point lead and ultimately won the game. Southworth scored his first and last basket of the game in the last two minutes of play and Robbins opened up with a series of long shots but the lid was on and Lindley hall emerged victorious with the score 19 to 17.

IDAHO W. S. C. PLANT PATHOLOGISTS MEET

Second Joint Meeting This Year; J. M. Raeder Elected President

Use of mercury compounds as a control for potato tuber diseases was the main topic of discussion at the second joint meeting of the plant pathology departments of the University of Idaho and Washington State college, held at Morrill hall, Friday afternoon. Election of officers followed the program.

J. M. Raeder, associate pathologist of the Idaho station, gave a report on potato seed treatment experiments which have been carried on over a period of more than seven years, terminating last fall. Other papers were given by faculty members and Idaho students follow: "Bean Mosaic", Walter H. Pierce, assistant pathologist, and "Germination of Rust Spores", by Wayne Bever, graduate assistant. Dr. F. D. Heald, W. S. C., read a paper on "The Spore Load of Apples Treated for Removal of Arsenic Residue".

Faculty members of the two institutions comprise the Inland Empire section of the Pacific division of the Phytopathological Society of America. Mr. Raeder Friday being elected president for the coming year. George Ruehle of the W. S. C. faculty was chosen secretary.

According to Dr. C. W. Hünigert, head of the Idaho department, the two faculties usually meet at the annual session of the Northwest Scientific Association at Spokane in December. As a result two meetings were held during the past three weeks, the first being at Pullman, Pullman members were in charge of the program there.

seems to me probably the wisest thing to do from the standpoint of my own professional interests." Appointment of Dean Dale was approved Friday at a meeting of the board of trustees of Miami university.

Dean Dale in a statement Friday added that he felt also that it will be a distinct pleasure to continue his associations with Doctor Upham, both from coming here in the same year, 1920.

Dean Dale came to the University of Idaho from the University of Wyoming at Laramie. He received his college education at Harvard, graduating with a B. A. degree in 1907, magna cum laude. In 1908 he received his master's degree from the same institution. Following his graduate degree he spent two summers in Europe studying economic problems.

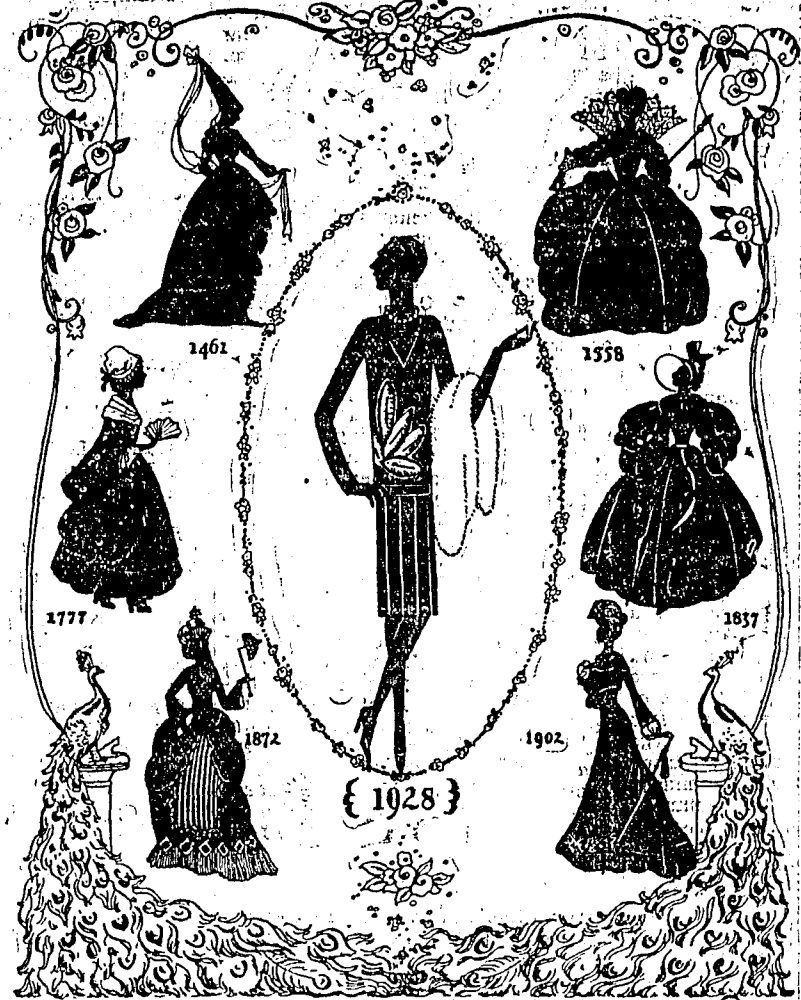

He was appointed to a teaching fellowship at Harvard and remained there until 1910 when he accepted a position at Utah Agricultural college, resigning in 1912 to go to Washington University, St. Louis. In 1916 he went to the Wyoming institution.

In connection with his activities here, Dean Dale was sent by farming interests to appear before the agricultural committees of both congressional houses at Washington to present Idaho's problems, in connection with agricultural relief. Dean Dale is the author of numerous articles and has done much consulting work in the past few years.

He served two terms as a member of the Moscow city council, and was the first president of the Moscow Kiwanis club. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega, national fraternity, and of the Episcopal church.

He is married and has three children, Mrs. Dale being in California at the present time.

Finds Right Tobacco for the Tropics

Larus & Bro. Co. October 6, 1926 Richmond, Va., U. S. A. Gentlemen:

Most all well-known tobaccos smoke well in a cold or temperate climate, but very few in a tropical climate. They are mostly too heavy, don't seem to be blended right—at least that is my opinion gained from practical experience.

However, Edgeworth is the same in any climate. Again that is my opinion gained by practical experience. I cannot get the same pleasure out of any brand of tobacco that I can out of Edgeworth, and I have tried many—and paid fancy prices, too. It costs real money to smoke imported tobaccos here; the import duty is very high.

Anyway, we cannot have everything we would like in these countries, so we hold on to all the little pleasures possible. Now you know why I smoke Edgeworth.

Yours respectfully, R. C. Rigg Cartagena, Columbia, S. A.
