New Home Probably to be Located South of Blue Bucket Inn; Start Construction Work Soon as Possible.

Construction of a $50,000 home by Alpha Tau Omega near the present fraternity district was announced Thursday by A. H. Over-smith, Moscow attorney and president of the alumni building corporation. Among the sites considered as the location of the new fraternity house is the property on the corner of Deakin and University avenues, immediately south of the Blue Bucket inn. Although purchase of this property has not been definitely closed, it is probable that the new home will be constructed at this location.

Plans for the building of the new fraternity home have been held up for some time pending the purchase of the present site of the fraternity and other property south of Hays hall, by the university. This deal was closed the first of this week and announced by L. F. Parsons, executive secretary of the university, following his return from Boise where he met with the executive committee of the board of regents.

The Blue Bucket Inn site is most favorable as the location of the fraternity home, according to Mr. Over-smith, although several matters must be taken care of before definite purchase can be made. It is hoped that the deal can be closed immediately so that work can be started on the new building as soon as possible.

The plans call for spending $50,000 on the building and furnishings, Mr. Over-smith said. The property to be purchased will cost about $15,000, bringing the total expenditure for the new house to $65,000.

Contract for the construction of the new fraternity home has been let to C. M. Conley, Spokane, who also has the contract for the building of the new Memorial gymnasium. Plans specifications were drawn up by David Lange, architect.

Excavations for the new building will be begun in a short time it was announced. The new home will be ready for occupancy next fall at the opening of the school year. Building materials shipped to Moscow can be used on the gymnasium can be used for the group house, cutting down delays and facilitating rapid progress during the summer.

The new addition to Idaho's fraternity row will be of modern Gothic architecture, in keeping with the general nature of campus buildings. It will face both east and south on Deakin and Idaho avenues. If this site is chosen, and the plans have been drawn so that the house will look equally well from either side. It will be four stories high including basement and will house 40 men. Brick and pre-cast stone will be used in its construction. Copper clad shingles will be used on the roof.

The basement will include the dining room, kitchen and the chapter rooms. A living room, library, entrance hall and sun parlor, so arranged that they can be opened together for dancing space, will occupy the first floor. A guest suite and housemother's rooms will also be included on this floor. A guest suite and housemother's rooms will also be included on this floor. Three dormitories, one for athletes and the other two for the main group, divided in order to cut down noise, will be located on the second and third floors.

VON ENDE IN WALES MEETS IDAHOANS

A house, within several hundred feet of the ocean is the comfortable dwelling place of Dr. Carl L. von Ende and his family during their stay in Aberystwyth, Wales, where the Idaho chemistry department head is doing research work on sabbatical leave of absence, he writes to a member of the Idaho faculty.

Outstanding in his letter is the reference to former Idaho students and faculty members. He writes that R. T. Parkhurst is not far away in Sloup, England, and that they are planning to exchange visits before long. Mr. Parkhurst for five years was head of the poultry husbandry department here, leaving last fall for the English position.

RIFLE TEAM MAKES HIGH MATCH SCORE

Score of 824 May Place Team High In Hearst Trophy Match

Indications that scores of 824 by the Idaho first team and 820 by the second team will rank the Gem State ROTC unit high in the national William Randolph Hearst Trophy matches, finished April 14; were given this week by Lieut. Charles C. Hart, men's rifle team coach.

Lieutenant Hart has expressed optimism concerning the outlook for the final match of the year, although the standing of the Idaho team has not been received. Last year Idaho ranked 29th out of 125 competing schools and should rank equally high this year, he believes. Idaho won the right to compete in the national matches by placing among the first six in the Ninth Corps Area matches.

Norman D. Luvaas led the Idaho shooters with a score of 170 out of a possible 200 from the two positions. Other scores of the first team were: A. B. Hatch, 159; C. A. Gregory, 169; P. C. Manning, 161 and C. J. McCall, 165.

Second team scores were: Arthur Griffin, 165; E. W. Johnson, 164; C. B. Collier, 169; D. Flack, 165; and F. Schelder, 157.

FROSH GLEE TO BE NO CHARGE DANCE

Simple decorations, no admission, but plenty of pep and novelties is the lineup for the annual "Freshman Glee" to be given this evening at the Elks Temple. The dancing will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Romer Teller is in general charge of the dance.

THE LINE

THE trend of student government took an upward giant Thursday when students were willing to stand in line to await their turns to vote in the primary elections. More interest in voting was expressed Thursday than has been seen on the campus since the days when politics was a major sport.

Interest in student government has been gaining momentum as the year progressed. When school opened last fall and up to early in this semester there was little interest in politics. During the last few days, little groups have been seen in the halls of the Administration building between classes. Candidates and political combines were the topics of discussions.

It has been several years since enough interest was shown by the students to contest various ASUT offices. Three years ago an interesting election was conducted, and although it was much more quiet than this year's it caused considerable ripple on the surface of the political sea. It was before that election that general student-body elections meant something.

A demonstration of interest, as was seen Thursday is as it should be. It shows that students want a voice in their government and also that all students are not of the same opinion regarding choices for officers but have individuality in thinking. There is little doubt that when the general election is held May 3 the largest vote in the history of the institution will be cast. Interest will continue to gain momentum, reaching its height during the polling.

THE GOLF BUG

IDAHO students have the golf bug again. Followers of this sport are getting so numerous that flying golf balls are not a rarity on the campus. This points more strongly than ever to the need of a golf course near the campus.

The campus and athletic field are the only places large enough to provide improvised golf courses for practice. With the sentiment favoring golf more all the time it is probable that enough pressure can be brought to bear to establish at least a practice course.

An offer has been made by the city for student use of the Moscow golf course when it is completed. A certain charge will be made to students in order to handle upkeep. Definite announcement regarding this offer other than the fact that students will be given the chance to use this course, has not been made. This course is now being constructed near the city cemetery, southeast of the city.

If such a plan as this is carried through, the main bad feature will be the distance of the course from the campus. Students usually have but a few hours each week for such sports, and with the course so far away from the campus it will be hard to reach it. One way this play can be facilitated would be to put in a five or six-hole course near the campus to be used for practice. On such a course/students would be able to play when they were unable to reach the city course. Regular matches, however, could be played on the city links.

If we are to have even a practice course here, the students interested in this sport must get back of the project and promote it to the fullest extent.

WHY DO STUDENTS FLUNK?

A NEW experiment is being conducted at the University of Wisconsin under "a bureau of academic records and vocational guidance." The bureau, under the leadership of Frank O. Holt, registrar, and carried on with the cooperation of the faculty, is carrying on a study of academic failures in the incoming freshman class of this year. The causes for failure and means of eliminating them are studied.

In the first report issued on this experiment it is shown that out of an enrollment of more than 2900 freshmen who entered the institution last fall, approximately 1700 will be asked not to return next fall. This does not include those dropped from the rolls during the first part of the year. The chief cause of the elimination of these students is because they are lacking in ability to climb to the academic levels required at an institution of higher learning. Another reason, Mr. Holt reported, was that they came to Madison thinking they would find a "glorified playground" on the campus or because they were in reality only children.

This experiment shows the trend of American colleges to weed out all persons who are not attending the institution to receive an education. It is being felt from coast to coast, and Idaho is coming in for its share.

The state institutions of learning are coming to realize that the people's money is being spent to support them and that they are to turn out educated men and women. When the institution is hampered by such persons that don't care for this education but merely want to loaf a while longer, it is necessary that they get rid of them and give the interested student more attention.

The editor sat in his sanctum, getting his best to please, His hair stuck out through a hole in his hat, His elbows were out at the knees; His brow well stained with printers ink, Showed that he was trying to think.

The editor sighed in his sanctum, Trying his best to please, In spite of "plaints a piling up, In spite of his bony knees; Doing the best that he could do.

The editor died in his sanctum, Trying his best to please, He never did make the public admit That he was earning his fees; Folks never helped him—not one note, But kicked, from habit, on what he wrote.

The editor went from his sanctum, Up—the golden stair, But he had to pay for his sins, Publishing newspapers there, If angels, like mortals, are hard to please, His elbows may still be out at the knees.

And the red of our tie to boot, I'm glad I came, though not from choice, For I like the cut of your suit, to boot.

I'm really convinced by your looks, young man, And long before you begin That were I the judge at the desk up there

Yours is the side that should win, Yes, I would say, were I up there, You've a handsome chin, young man, you win.

BLIND GRADUATE SELLS INSURANCE

In Spite of Handicap Carries on Active Business in San Diego

Fred Pearson, familiarly known as "Fred" to townspeople and faculty members of the university, who, though blind, received a master's degree in English at the University of Idaho in 1924, has overcome his handicap and is making a business success selling insurance at San Diego, according to word to friends here. Pearson, it will be remembered, set out in the fall of 1924 to skirt the borders of the country on foot, travelling with a friend equally handicapped by being lame. They reached southern California, where an accident forced them to abandon their venture. They had planned earning their way on their 10,000 mile trip writing and by odd jobs. Mr. Pearson has taken an active interest in the San Diego Braille club, a society for the advancement of the blind. Shortly after locating there he was made president of the club. Victor Pearson, a brother and also a graduate of the university, in civil engineering, also is at San Diego, employed as a concrete inspector on dam construction work.

PLANS LANDSCAPING FOR HAYS HALL

Vincent Arranges Elaborate Layout; Will Use 275 Shrubs

Mysterious stakes which made their appearance this week on the lawn surrounding Hays hall are the forerunners of extensive landscaping around the women's hall, according to horticultural authorities who have the plan in charge. Each stake is being replaced by some form of shrubbery and vines and the plan is to attractively cover nearly half an acre around the new dormitory. In the front, Spirea and Forsythia will predominate with Oregon Grape and a variety of roses adding beauty and color. Honeysuckle, Tamarisk, Virginia Creeper and Lilacs will be the outstanding shrubs in the rear and back lawns. Approximately 275 shrubs in all will be planted. C. C. Vincent of the horticultural department is in charge of the work.

Allen Janssen, for two years art editor of the Gem of the Mountains, was the sole nominee for the position of managing editor of the year book for next year to be named by the Gem of the Mountains board Tuesday.

Being the only qualified candidate eligible, his nomination is practically foregone, and did not therefore appear on the primary election ballots Thursday.

Janssen is well qualified for the position, his two year's art experience providing an excellent groundwork for the position, according to George Young, present editor.

ADVICE GIVEN ON HOW TO HOLD JOBS

Dean Messenger and Miss McCoy Tell How Positions Are Won and Lost

Practical advice regarding any and all kinds of jobs was given to the students at the Wednesday assembly when Miss Bernice McCoy of the placement bureau talked on "Getting a Job" and Dean J. F. Messenger, head of the school of education, spoke on "Losing a Job."

Miss McCoy mentioned the excellent work done by the placement bureau during the last few years and stated that the office had been very successful in placing Idaho graduates in good positions.

The fine art of losing a job seems to be mainly the art of not paying attention to one's manners, one's dress and one's actions, according to Dean Messenger who pointed out that little things will prevent men from losing jobs.

Prof. Carl Claus and Miss Isabel Clark of the music department gave violin and piano solos.

Many Lost Articles Turn up In Bursar's Varied Collection

The existence of a "Lost and Found" department at the university seems to be a mystery to the majority of the students, if one can judge from the accumulation of the articles found in the bursar's office, the refuge for orphan belongings.

Gloves head the list in number, there being at present 11 pairs and 15 single gloves. Keys and pencils for second place, with 13 of each.

Eighty-six cents is the total of money found, although there are five coin purses in the collection. This is an index of the typical impunctuality of college students.

Only two fountain pens were found, both minus the cap. There are also two pen caps, neither matching either of the pens.

Miss Lillian Froman, Pi Beta Phi housemother, is in Spokane this week. Miss Isabel Clark is acting as housemother during her absence.

Eleanor Beamer and Blanche Broadard were dinner guests of Pi Beta Phi Wednesday.

Dinner guests of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Wednesday were Miss Isabel Clark, Margaret Mitchell, Dorothy Nixon, Hazel Simonds, Helen Douglas, Marylou Craven, Helen Young, Frances Gallet, Vera Hardine, Letha Wilton and Lourene Doolittle.

IDIOSYNCRASIES OF GOLF ARE EXPLAINED BY COMPLEX RULES

Sudden enthusiasm, on the part of a number of Idaho students for the ancient and honorable game of golf, evidenced by putting, slicing and topping badly battered golf balls about the campus, is due to the movement recently started for a university golf course, it is believed by "golf bugs" here.

The beginners are find out that the game is far from the simple one it appears to observers. Some one has described it as the "putting of little balls into holes, with instruments ill adapted for the purpose."

Stripped down to its essentials, golf consists of a competition to determine the number of strokes required by an individual to propel a small, hard rubber ball from a starting point, called the "tee," to a finishing point, called the "hole."

All the ramifications of the game are compressed in that one simple statement. No attempt will be made in this brief sketch even to touch on the technical rules of the game. These are given in full in the MacGregor Rule and Score book which can be obtained on application.

The Lay-out of the Course There is no well defined scheme for the lay-out of the golf course. It can be whatever the area and nature of the available site will permit. No two courses can possibly be just alike. Therein is one of the unending charms of the game. Every course you play over presents its own new problems.

Courses are built (by custom) in units of nine holes. The standard course, developed by usage, is one of eighteen holes, 1, e., eighteen sections consisting of a "tee" and a "hole" each. The distance from "tee" to "hole" may be anything from a hundred yards, or less, up to six hundred yards or more.

Miss Opal Nichols, winner of a scholarship in San Francisco last year from the eminent piano teacher, Sigismund Storzowski, will play several piano numbers. Betty Lou Kennedy, five-year-old musician, will play violin and piano numbers. Betty Carol, 11-year-old violinist, will also appear on the program.

fact obstacles of any kind are a valuable asset in a golf course, and should not be disturbed. In fact, they should be developed.

Manner of Playing A pleasing feature of golf is its flexibility. The basic style of play is by "angles," i. e., two players contesting with one another. With a great degree of pleasure a solitary player can play the game, his goal in that case, being to beat his own previous record. There may be a combination of three players, the play, in that case, being either a three-ball match or a best ball match.

The most common manner of playing the game is in "foursomes." This means that a party of four forms a group for the playing of a match. To illustrate: In a foursome, the players are paired off as partners. In any agreeable way, either by preference or by lot, one pair or the other wins the "honor," which carries with it the privilege of playing first. The two comprising the pair having the "honor" play in succession. The ball is placed on a slight elevation to aid in producing a good stroke, and driven from there by any club the player may choose. Custom and maximum results indicate the wood driver as the choice for this stroke.

When all four have driven, they advance to their respective balls, the one farthest from the "hole" playing first, until all have made their second strokes. This process is repeated as often as may be necessary until all have reached the "green." On the "green" the "putter" is used to propel the ball into the "hole," the one farthest from the "hole" playing first; as before. The player reaching the "hole" in the least number of strokes, thereby wins the "honor" for the next hole.

This is a typical "hole" or "flight," and this process is repeated throughout the 18 holes. Every hit, or effort to hit the ball, counts one stroke.

Chaucer Pilgrimage Prevented By Rain

When that April with his shrouds stole The droghte of Marche hath perced to the rote,

Than longen folk to goon on pilgrimages

So the Chaucer class, with its instructor, Dr. G. M. Miller, went on a "pilgrimage" Wednesday morning to celebrate the anniversary of the beginning of the Canterbury pilgrimage 411 years ago.

The intention had been to hold an outdoor session, but the Marchness of the April day caused the pilgrims to seek the warmth of the classroom immediately after the outdoor roll call.

Doctor Miller delighted the erstwhile pilgrims by reading the first act of Mackaye's play, "The Canterbury Pilgrims" during the remainder of the hour. The refreshments consisted of Hershey bars.

On alternate years the English majors and minors with the genial major professor celebrate this event. On the intervening year the memory of Shakespeare is similarly honored.

FOUR OF THE MOST ACTIVE WOMEN ON THE IDAHO CAMPUS

MILDRED PERRY

ALENE HONEYWELL

NORMA GEDDES

MARY MABLE MORRIS

WOMEN STUDENTS PLAY AN IMPORTANT PART on the Idaho campus in student affairs. The above are four of Idaho's most active women in campus work. Mary Mabel Morris is a member of Mortar Board, honorary senior women's organization. She belongs to the Y. W. C. A., has been an officer of the DeSmet club, an Associated Women's cabinet member, this year's chairman of the Big Sister movement and is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, honorary women's music fraternity. Mildred Perry, senior from Wenatchee, has been active in women's work since her sophomore year when she was a Spur. She is a member of Phi Chi Theta and for two years she served as president of the Y. W. C. A. She was chairman of the Big Sister movement last year and associate editor of the Gem of the Mountains. She is a member of Mortar Board and president of the Associated Women's organization. Alene Honeywell has been active in campus dramatics since her freshman days. This year she has played leading roles in all the three-act plays. She was vice president of the Pan-Hellenic and a member of the women's league cabinet her sophomore year. She has served as chairman of the junior and senior stunt committees. This year she is president of Curtian, dramatic honorary group, and secretary of Mortar Board. Norma Geddes is one of the junior girls honored this year as a guest at the Mortar Board's first annual matrix table. She was recently named president of the Y. W. C. A. She is a member of the English club, of the Spur organization. She served on the executive board of W. A. A. and is now secretary. Last year she was maid of honor at the May festival. She served as a Big Sister captain and is an "I" girl.

NINE WOMEN ARE GIVEN T SWEATERS

Awards Granted at Assembly Wednesday; Two Are Sophomores

Nine "T" sweaters, the largest number ever to be awarded at one time to Idaho women were given out at the Wednesday assembly. Men's basketball letters were also awarded. Of the nine girls receiving sweaters, two were sophomores. This is the first time that an underclassman has been able to earn her sweater, as the former number of points, 1000 was too great to earn in two years. By a special amendment last year, the number was cut to 800. Those to receive sweaters were as follows: Eleanor Beamer, Barbara Rugg, Elva Reid and Edith Houston; Juniors, Alta Tupper, Marguerite Ames, Norma Geddes and Margie Green; sophomores, Lillian Woodworth and LaReta Besson. Miss Ames' sweater is on display at the W. A. A. conference at Tucson, Ariz., this week.

FROSH TRACK MEN STRONG IN SPRINTS

Twenty-five Men Issued Equipment; Some Work With Varsity

Yearling track candidates to the number of 35 answered Coach Will C. Bryan's call for material Wednesday afternoon. Equipment was issued to 25 of the frosh cinder artists and further equipment will be given out as the remaining men show their ability. The squad is particularly strong in the sprints, but there appears to be plenty of material for all the other events. Allen, Bradshaw, Schwartzbauer, Sargeant, Werner, Redman, and Rosenbaum are trying out for the 100, 220 and 440 relay team. Shook, Sweetley and Urell are 440 prospects, and Urell, Mitchell and Clark are candidates for the half-mile run. In the mile and two mile grinds, five men, Willis, Heath, DesMarais, Rafde and Gustafson are working out with the varsity distance men under the tutelage of Don Cleaver, track captain. Crandall is the lone prospect for the pole vault.

BOYER TICKET WINS ASUI PRIZES; 1019 VOTES CAST

Bob Auger was eliminated for the men's position while Artyle Hallada and Margie Ford were eliminated in the contest for the woman representative position. Murtha, Cline was eliminated from the race for the vice-presidency of the student body, leaving Burton Ellis and Gilbert Schumann in the running. Election of the ASUI officers for next year will be completed at the general election to be held May 3. The same ticket, with the exception of those persons nominated in the primaries will be voted upon. Two senior men are to be named, one senior woman; two junior men and one junior woman. In all other offices but one is named. Fireman, Spare My Truck! CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Robert E. Cuniff struggled with firemen to keep them from choppin' up the floor boards of his truck. He said the fire was out when he arrived. It was "charged" with "wilfully obstructing firemen," but a grand jury wouldn't indict him.

STAMM ATTENDING MILITARY MEET

Senior Military Student Leaves Wednesday to Attend Scabbard and Blade Convention in Ohio

John Stamm, senior in the school of business, left Wednesday for Columbus, Ohio, to attend the national convention of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity. Approximately 200 delegates from chapters in 40 states are expected to attend. Nationally known military men will be present and will speak on national defense and technical military subjects. Officers of the Idaho chapter are Hartley P. Kester, captain; Eugene Beebe, first lieutenant; Phil Cox, second lieutenant; and W. Vaughn Irons, first sergeant.

GROUPS DRAW FOR CONTEST ENTRANTS

Nineteen Idaho Towns Represented Among 215 Contestants

Housing for the 215 entrants in the second annual state high school music contest to be held here next Thursday Friday and Saturday, will be provided by the various halls and group houses on the campus, according to Miss Maude Garnett, who is in charge of the contest. Representatives from each group house will meet Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at apartment 2 of the Morris apartments to draw for names of guests whom they will entertain. Each fraternity will house four men, while sororities will each draw for six girls. Fifty girls will be accommodated by Forney and Hays halls. Nineteen Idaho towns will be represented in the contest, which will be divided into three classifications: orchestras and bands, glee clubs and soloists. Soloists have been entered in violin, cello, voice, wind instruments and piano.

SOPHOMORE FROLIC TO BE HELD MAY 11

Definite decision to hold the "Sophomore Frolic" at the Elks' Temple on Friday evening, May 11, was reached at a special meeting of the sophomore class Tuesday evening. Plans for the dance are going forward at a rapid rate and one of the most outstanding class dances of the year is anticipated. The event will be formal. ASUI PLAY SCORES HIT THURSDAY; SHOWS TONIGHT (Continued from page 1) sweet sincerity which was most pleasing. Jane Weston is a type that is sweet, but brainy, and helps Peter out of two embarrassing situations. Incidentally, she is ever so pretty, and affords a pleasing contrast to the hard-bolled show girls who complete the feminine aggregation in the cast. Always gruff and ill-tempered is Larus & Bro. Co. Richmond, Va. Gentlemen: Two years ago my wife gave me an expensive pipe. I smoked it a great deal for two or three weeks, put it aside, then began smoking it again. This time it was very strong. Veterans told me that it had been smoked too hard for a new pipe and should be put away. The pipe was laid away again. A short time ago I got it out and smoked one of the common brands of tobacco in it. The results were disappointing. I told the druggist of my experience with it. He asked if I had tried Edgeworth. I told him I never had. I followed his suggestion, and I am honest when I say that it has restored the sweetness to the pipe, and has made me wonder. Was it the pipe or the brand of tobacco that caused me to lay it away for the long period of time? As a novice, I prefer Edgeworth. I am going to stick to it, as I feel satisfied that there is none better on the market. Sincerely yours, Philip C. Shera

MILDRED HAUSEN BREAKS ARM IN GYM

Star Sophomore Catcher Attempts Slide on First and Hits Wall

When the light movable first base slid out from under her Monday afternoon while she was playing baseball in the gym, Mildred Hausen, sophomore in the school of business, fell and broke her left arm just above the wrist. Miss Hausen, who is turning out for the position of catcher on the sophomore team attempted to slide to first but the base was not heavy enough to stop her and she was thrown against the wall. The bases which are small and cloth covered, although splendid for outdoor work are too light and slippery for the gym, according to Miss Lillian J. Wirt, physical education director for women, who is coaching girls baseball. The broken arm will mean the loss of the sophomore's star catcher who was a member of the freshman team last year.

POST FALLS: MISS THOMPSON, MISS SNOOK

Elk River, Midvale, Wallace, Plummer and Coeur d'Alene have sent in the number of contestants they are entering but not their names.

JOE LEHMAN, CROOK MANAGER, PORTRAYED BY FRANK EGBERS WHOSE INTERPRETATION WAS CONSISTENT AND CONVINCING

With poetic justice he "gets it in the neck" eventually. His partner, Jack McClure, is played by Burdette Belknap, who is more suave, but equally unscrupulous. Fanny, Joe's wife, ex-Fanita, "The World's Greatest Juggler", has red hair and sees red when her husband attempts to get her money. She gets beautifully inebriated in the second act, and justly walks off with 50 percent of the laughs. Alene Honeywell, plus considerable padding, portrays Fanny. Making her initial appearance in a three-act play, Ethel Lafferty is a big hit as Mary Martin, the passe actress who leads Lehman's productions. She wears a blonde wig and flimsy raiment. One of her best scenes is a gold-digging act with the neophyte manager, Peter. With an amusing "kike" accent and great skill in persuasive gestures, Bernie Sampson does a sparkling bit in the second act. He is Dan McGrath and with him is Miriam Howerton as Peggy Marlowe, an intermitent show girl, who is plain gold-digger during the intervals when she is not gracing a chorus. Delightfully dumb is Oscar Fritchie as interpreted by Maitland Hubbard. Oscar supplies funds and proves an interesting contrast to Peter, whose dumbness was that of inexperience, while Oscar (heaven help him) will always be dumb. Managing a monoco with all the skill of a real Englishman, Jess Honeywell appears as the director, Cecil Behnam, indignant that he must bear the brunt of criticism of the play which has proved a flop at the Syria
