A LAST WORD

IMPORTANCE of the new student drive should be pressed home to the students once more before they leave the campus next week for the summer months for the first time a really organized campaign is to be put on under the direction of and by the student body.

Because the decision to conduct such a drive was not reached until late this spring, it was impossible for work to be started as early as it should have been. In order to put on such a campaign as it should be done, several months should be set aside for the complete organization of a machine to function most efficiently. But this could not be, so it is up to the students themselves to get in and work to make the drive a success.

Captains have been named for the students placed on committees, representing the towns of the state. But this does not mean that these people are to do the work, for every one in the town must do his part in pointing out the advantages of attending the university for a higher education will be the principal duty of the students in talking to high school seniors. They must sell them the idea of coming here and then see that they reach the campus. The university comes first in all such talks.

Members of the committees in each town should get together as often as possible to go over plans and report on progress. Near the end of the summer it would be an added feature if these committee members would stage a banquet for prospective students. Alumni would attend and the affair could be made an "Idaho banquet."

Every student must bring back a young vandal with him next year, but be careful in making the selection and return with men and women who are interested in higher education.

PROVED MERIT AND ABILITY

EVIDENCE that the present system of appointing business managers of ASUI publications can be improved was shown when the executive board had to meet three times in order to appoint a circulation manager for The Argonaut. The ASUI constitution specifies that "a circulation manager shall be appointed by the executive board within one week after the annual ASUI elections from the membership of the incoming junior class."

Positions on the editorial and business staffs of publications should depend on proved ability and a record for satisfactory work done. Students who would like to work for the positions have absolutely no assurance of any kind that their applications will receive consideration or that their work will be counted as a factor in making the appointment. The executive board last week named two men, one of whom resigned, neither one of whom were connected with the publication. Two candidates who had been working for the position were eliminated early in the voting.

Members of the board had no choice but to appoint a man from the candidates who applied for the position. They were in no way bound to follow recommendations of the editors as to who had shown the most interest and promise. Members of the board suggested that in the future candidates for such positions be required to do a certain amount of actual work on the publication before their application would be considered. Such a plan would encourage those most interested to turn out and would mean better material from which to choose. The whole plan would be that of appointing men to positions who had earned them, and who had proved themselves capable and dependable.

Athletic managers are chosen on such a basis with satisfactory results both to coaches and the men concerned. The present plans call for the appointment of the senior, two junior and four sophomore managers each year from the managers in the class below. Ability and record are the factors that count, not chance or favoritism. The recent organization of the Managers' club tends to promote further cooperation and efficiency among student athletic managers in all lines of sports.

That basis of appointments could be used on all ASUI publications. An amendment to the constitution properly drawn up would need to be passed by a two-thirds majority of the student body before it would become effective.

The idea may be worthy of consideration over the summer.

NOVEL

ONE instructor in a California university, realizing that college students see little in general of life outside the classroom, tried the idea of making all students studying under him interview personally some authority on a given subject, outside the academic sphere.

Another instructor at a northern university recently advocated a year of honest-to-goodness hobo life as a preparation for college. Perhaps that is carrying things a trifle too far, but nevertheless the idea back of the proposal is one which is certainly good enough.

When we realize how narrow some sheepskin holders and undergraduates really are, how concerned entirely with affairs in their own background, how utterly unable to understand the breadth of the world and life itself, in spite of their "higher" learning, the value of these contracts with the world is apparent.—Purdue Exponent.

CRAWFORD SPEAKS AT BOISE

STAFF POSITIONS

Students interested in working on The Argonaut staff next year should see the managing editor, Cecil Hagen, before they leave for home next week. A number of staff appointments will be made early next fall, and people who have had experience will receive most consideration. Inexperience is not a bar. News writing courses offered next fall will equip anyone with the fundamentals we require. Dependability is the factor that is most important. Those who have ability and who are willing to work will be the ones to be promoted.

Tennis Court Site is Fill in of Deep Hollow Veteran Gardner Says

The tennis players who work out on the new courts, and the spectators who watch from the shade of the huge willow tree at the west side of the courts enjoy themselves with no thought as to the developments that have made this possible. John Hansen, university gardener, who has watched the growth of Idaho for the last thirty-five years, could tell them interesting stories of the work that has been accomplished, and the time that has passed before either of them was available.

"Thirty years ago," said Mr. Hansen, "the level space that is now the courts did not exist. In its place was a deep hollow, part of the same one that still extends beyond the road, and between the Kappa Sig and Sigma Nu houses. When the old administration building burned down, and the new one was built, the refuse, and the dirt from the excavation for the new building was thrown into the hollow. Since then other materials have been put into it, with the result that the flat ground for the new tennis courts was built up."

The big willow tree, comprised of thirteen trunks, averaging over a foot in diameter, which tower high in the air, shading an area of over fifty feet square, has also grown with the university. Thirty-five years ago it was a mere switch. It has flourished and grown rapidly. Now it is a source of grief, perhaps, to the players on the court it shades in the afternoon, but this is more than offset by the pleasure that it gives the spectators who lounge in its shade to watch the matches, grateful for the coolness it affords.

NO MORE ARGONAUTS

This will be the last issue of The Argonaut this year, as examinations next week make it impossible to issue on schedule. The first issue next fall will be on the day when the student special train from southern Idaho arrives in Moscow. Argonauts will be distributed on the train several hours before it arrives here.

BUSINESS GROUP HONORS DEAN DALE

Alpha Kappa Psi Presents Him With Pen-Set at Senior Dinner

Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, held its annual senior dinner Tuesday evening at the Hotel Moscow banquet room. This meeting was the last one of the year for the group, and was also the official farewell to Dean Harrison C. Dale, charter member of the group, and the man who was probably most directly responsible for the founding of the chapter here.

Dean Dale was presented with a fountain pen desk set, suitably engraved, as a token of the appreciation for his valuable service in making it worthwhile. Leroy Long made the presentation for the chapter. Dean Dale resigned in April to accept the deanship of the school of business administration at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio. He came to Idaho, in 1920 with Dr. A. H. Upham and by coincidence follows him to his new position in Ohio.

Nine graduating seniors gave short farewell talks, regretting their leaving Idaho and wishing the dean success. Seniors who were present were Beardley Merrill, Donald Cleaver, Leroy Long, George Yost, Victor Craig, George Ross, Louis Soderberg, Edward Equals and Glenn Smith. G. W. Sutton, faculty member who leaves Idaho this year to accept a position at the University of Michigan next fall also gave a short talk. A comprehensive alumni bulletin is being prepared and will be sent out in the near future. Letters from former members that were read at the alumni banquet held several weeks ago, have been mimeographed on 12 pages. This will be the largest bulletin the chapter has sent out.

ALPHA ZETA PICNIC SONG

Ain't afraid o' bears 'n things,
Er bats 'er rats 'er mice,
Ain't afraid o' porky-pines,
'N I think cows is nice.
Ain't afraid o' dogs or pigs,
Er elks er ants er mice,
Ain't afraid o' elee-phants,
Er l'ns 'er tigers—much—
But—I don't like bumblebees
A buzzin' from the blue;
An' do I flee from skeeters stingers?
Betcher life I do.

ACT II

Cathryn, she says, "I hate
I hate to hear a "skeeter" sing,
Because I always start to think
About that "skeeters sting."
Now when I hear a "skeeter"
Sing, I'm glad. My sadness melts;
For, I know, when the beastie sings,
He can't do nothin' else."
—Patay Calhoun.

FROSH BALL TEAM HAS SHORT SEASON

Three Games Lost to State College Yearlings Despite Good Work of Fast Infield

The frosh baseball season ended last Saturday, when they lost to the Cougar yearlings by an eight to one score. The season has been very short, only three games being played, all of them with the first-year team from Washington State college. The Cougar Frosh won all three games.

Despite the short, and unsuccessful season, several men were brought out who may be future timber for the varsity. Vavrick, Jacobs and Wilson are promising young chucks; and Beglan, who caught all the games this year, will probably make a bid for that position on next year's varsity. Burton, shortstop; Richardson, third base; and Martin, fielder are all good enough to receive consideration when next baseball season calls around. Numerals will probably not be awarded for spring sports this year, owing mainly to the shortness of the seasons.

SECOND FRESHMAN MEET CALLED OFF

Exams and Conference Meet Cause Cancellation of Last Dual Contest with W. S. C.

The yearling track men, who lost their first meet with the W. S. C. rooks by a rather lopsided score, are to be denied the opportunity to even the count with their rivals. Due to the fact that exams are close at hand, and that Coach W. C. "Cap" Bryan will be away at the Missoula meet, the return contest that was scheduled for this week end has been cancelled. Several men have been outstanding this year, and will probably display their wares on the varsity squad next year. Heath, who took first in both the mile and the two-mile runs during the last meet, may become a successor to Don Cleaver, when that distance devourer has run his last race for Idaho. Sweeley and Bradshaw are coming broad jumpers; and Sargent, a dash man, will probably be doing the sprints next year.

Theta Sigma, local honorary journalistic society for women, announces the pledging of Cathryn Callaway, Caldwell.

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (IP)—In a student vote at the University of Michigan the World Court was defeated by a majority of over eight hundred.

PRINCETON, N. J. (IP)—In a survey the Princeton Alumni Weekly has discovered that with the exception of baseball and crew, all athletics tend to prolong life.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (IP)—Although unable, apparently, to triumph over Michigan in football, the Harvard track team recently defeated Michigan by two points.

Plenit for Choir—Adult members of the Presbyterian church and congregation will entertain members of the choir at a plenit at the Eldridge camp on Moscow mountains Friday, from 4 to 8 p. m. Each will bring covered dish to serve 12, a dozen sandwiches and dishes.

GOOD BYE 'till September

We hope we'll see you all back to Idaho next year and in the meantime—good luck and thank you for your generous patronage during the past school year.

SEEK YE NO FURTHER, DIOGENES . . .

This jobbie Diogenes was a Greek who left his fruit stand for the commendable purpose of questing for honesty by good old-fashioned lamp-light. And now, loud and ever clearer, rings the cry from the housetops: "Diogenes—throw away your lantern . . . here's an honest cigarette! Have a Camel!"

Camels have but one raison d'être—to pack the smoke-spots of the world with the "fill-fulfillment" every experienced smoker seeks. Fill your own smoke-spot with a cool cloud of Camel smoke, and hear it sing out—"Eureka!" (from the Greek, "Eureka," meaning—"Oboy, here 'tis!").

Greek Alphabet and Women Are High Lights in Callaway's Philosophy on College Life

"College life—yes, it is a great thing," said Bill Callaway from a reclining position on the davenport as he was being interviewed.

"As for the value of a college education, that is hard to say for I have been unable to find out during my sojourn here.

"College life is very hard compared to other occupations. The working man, probably holding down a job as ditch digger, is through work when his eight hours are up and throws down his shovel, goes home and enjoys himself as much as possible.

"College life comes in four batches," he pointed out. The first year is spent in learning the Greek alphabet; the second year in learning women.

"No sir, if it wasn't for college we wouldn't have any homecoming, one of the largest events in the world, we wouldn't have any football games, the Greek alphabet would slump into disuse; all the hills, upon which colleges are placed, would be unused.

"Then we find the followers in college life the same as anywhere else. These people are interested in education and want to get ahead.

"The hangers on are also found in college. They barely manage to stay in school and rarely do themselves any good or anyone else.

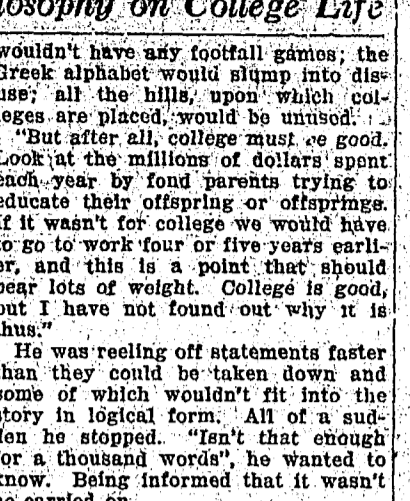

"There was a pause and in a few seconds a faint sound of snoring reached the reporter's ears.

"Oh, yes, the interview," Callaway said, jumping up. "I like college life so well, after four and a half years on the Idaho campus, that I think I will come back for some more.

"I don't know though that college isn't so bad. It keeps one out of mischief, because if he didn't come to college he might go to Chicago and become a gunman or perhaps a bootlegger.

"Summing up the four-year loaf, one gets out of college just what he puts into it, minus a tenth of a credit for each cut he has taken."

Two more scandal sheets have gone the way of the comic things and an editor's position these days on such a sheet is like Jonah's position in the whale. He hasn't been down very long, and it hurt going down, he knows he'll come up pretty soon and it will hurt coming up—in the meantime it is very hot and uncomfortable.

It is hot! If you want any more column—go and get one yourself.
