HEAR DR. DURANT

TONIGHT university students will have the opportunity of hearing one of the leading thinkers of the present generation—Dr. Will Durant, nationally known and recognized as an authority on philosophy.

Doctor Durant is the man who has popularized philosophy in his book, "The Story of Philosophy." Professor Chenoweth in commenting on the lecturer said: "Doctor Durant has mastered his field of philosophy and has the unusual ability to make his material understandable. In the form in which philosophy is often presented, it is quite likely to be misunderstood. After one has heard Doctor Durant he is quite certain to know at least one thing what it is."

His subject, "Is Progress Real?" is one that should interest all college students, as it concerns problems that are of vital interest today. Those who attend the lecture will hear an analysis of our civilization which they will long remember.

MAY QUEEN POLITICS

THE OPENING GUN of the annual campus political campaign was fired Tuesday evening when the Associated Women Students presented a plan to the executive board which would take the "May Queen" offices out of politics.

Under the present ASU constitution, the May queen and her maid of honor and page are nominated and elected by the student body. The women students are not satisfied with the arrangement, and want the offices to go to three senior women who have proved themselves worthy of the honor by popularity and achievement in campus activities.

The suggestion that all three of the candidates should be seniors is a good one. Under the present arrangement, the May queen is a senior, her maid of honor a junior, and the page a sophomore. If all three were required to be seniors, then selection on a basis of accomplishment would be more logical. The women students claim that only three ASU officers, secretary of the student body and senior women's representatives on the executive board, really mean anything to them. Their chief objection to the present plan is that the May queen offices are used as political footballs to petty groups which do not receive one of the three major offices. An office for one day is poor consolation they claim, compared to the other elective positions.

If the change is made, then the system of choosing the candidates must be carefully worked out. As long as there are fraternities and sororities on the campus, there will be politics of some kind or another. The success of placing the offices on an honorary basis will depend entirely on how the candidates are selected. Sorority affiliations should not be considered as an activity. No plan has been presented to the board to show that the proposed change would work out any better than the present one. The women themselves must work out a nominating or election body that would be fair and impartial for everyone concerned.

The majority of the business men operate on an advertising budget. After they have spent the money set aside, all other forms of advertising, no matter how good they may be, are rejected. Solicitors for campus publications, who present a card of approval, will find some of the merchants more willing to listen when they know that the committee has passed favorably upon the advertising they are selling.

ZELLNER MAY MEET WITH ENGLISH CLUB

Famous Characterizer Asked to Talk to Club Before Performance

J. W. Zellner, nationally known characterizer and makeup artist who is scheduled to appear here on the evening of February 15, may put on a short performance for the English club during the afternoon, if present plans materialize.

It has been customary for the club to arrange such engagements for the benefit of members of the organization whenever artists coming to the university under the auspices of the club are able to spare the time.

Zellner is to appear in the evening at the public performance in 16 different roles, ranging from Huckleberry Finn to King Lear. Each impersonation is made with lightning speed and remarkable transformation of appearance and mood that has won for him the name of "The Protean Artist." He is one of the most outstanding authorities on stage makeup in the nation today and he uses his ability in such a clever manner that it is scarcely detectable.

Tickets will go on sale next week. Special prices have been granted to university and high school students and members of the English club.

Lewiston Once Offered State University To Keep Panhandle in Idaho, Says Shaff

Idaho's educational system is not the result of a happening. Back in those early days when the population was much less than today and when the total assessed valuation of the state did not exceed $28,000,000 there were men of vision and courage who labored persistently for the inauguration of a system that would meet the growth of the west country and provide the foundation for the enlargement as the state grew in population and wealth.

The program was fostered by but a few men and one of those who took a very prominent part in the organization and who since has been actually identified with Idaho's education, is Dr. C. W. Shaff of Lewiston. These were trying days and there were many disappointments but the result of the effort put forth by these pioneers citizens is now the pride of every Idaho citizen.

Lewiston was not even a good sized village when Dr. Shaff came here from the Willamette valley in 1858. There was steamer service on the Snake river twice each week and there was a stage line to Spokane and a stage line to Dayton but the really important stage was that going to Mt. Idaho and its departure at 2:30 o'clock each day was a paramount event.

The big political issue in those early days was the question of annexing what is now northern Idaho to Washington. The feeling in Lewiston ran high and a delegation was sent to the legislature to work for the annexation memorial. The southern part of the state made an offer of the state university to Lewiston in the event that the fight would be dropped. This offer was turned down and a memorial was secured asking for the annexation of the northern part to the state of Washington. The sentiment aroused in those early days has not entirely died out and only recently was there an attempt to organize a movement to annex northern Idaho to eastern Washington and create a new state.

About the time Moscow wanted to eliminate the long trip to Lewiston to transact county business and because of Idaho being a territory, a bill was passed by congress creating Latah county and making Moscow the county seat. In the original draft, Genesee was left in Nez Perce county but Lewiston was afraid that it would lose the county seat to Genesee and a change was made to extend the Latah county boundary farther south to take in Genesee.

About this time Moscow got its first railroad and had a population two or three times as large as Lewiston. The resources of Nez Perce county were very limited and there were lean years for the county but perhaps Lewiston could get the state get. The idea then developed that agricultural college and a delegation was sent to the state legislature, but the sentiment was very strong for keeping the agricultural college and the university together and the effort failed.

Willis Sweet was then serving in congress and he wrote to the late Robert Schlichter suggesting that Lewiston get the state normal school. This idea was adopted and the late Attorney James W. Reid prepared the bill for the creation of the state normal school to be located at Lewiston. The southern part of the state wanted something and the Albion normal school was included, but the Reid bill was defective. A new bill was drafted by a famous attorney, George H. Parsons, and this bill was passed.

The measure was vetoed by the late Governor McConnell but the seed had been planted and the legislature voted the bill over the governor's veto and the Lewiston and Albion state normal schools were created.

Dr. Shaff had served on the board of regents of the University of Idaho for two terms and with the creation of the Lewiston State Normal school, he was named a trustee for that institution, where he served for 14 years.

Robins on Campus Said to Be Omens of Shaded Ground Hogs

"Well, Cock Robin, what's our daily bread for today?" It was Bob Robin speaking, one of the small flock that has been flying around the campus for the past week.

"Not much," grumbled poor Cock Robin. "A few scrawny bugs back of the Engineering building and some berries from the vines on the Beta house. That's about all. House managers are getting awfully stingy—and all this snow, too."

University of Idaho students, hurrying across the campus on a cold, windy day wonder how these little birds survive, strangely out of place hopping about on the snow covered trees.

They have been here a week now, sleeping in any sheltered nook they can find. Tonillies or adenoids must be a common affliction among these robins as their customary chirp is lacking, and only once in awhile they utter a feeble half-

Changing Horses

At the portals of our large cities—New York, Baltimore, Detroit, and soon Cleveland—a semaphore halts a luxurious flyer drawn by a puffing steam engine. A simple switching maneuver, and electricity takes charge. A giant electric locomotive, quickly under way, glides silently into the home stretch with its long string of Pullmans.

Like a thoroughbred it makes the run—tirelessly. Passengers alight in a clean terminal—clean because there is no smoke or soot.

Another milestone in transportation—another event in the life of the iron horse!

Civilization is progressing, with electricity in the van. How far this advance will take us, is a problem for our future leaders. It is for them to develop and utilize new applications of electricity—the force that is pointing the way over uncharted courses, not only in railroading, but in every phase of progress.

The G-E monogram is found on large electric locomotives and on MAGDA lamps, electric vacuum cleaners, and a multitude of other appliances which serve us all. It is the mark of an organization that is dedicated to the cause of electrical progress.

Eastern Educator Undertakes National Survey in Effort to Set Public Right on Recent "Creations"

The University of Idaho has been invited to participate in a nation-wide survey of educational institutions, undertaken to ascertain the real status of the so-called "collegiate" in American college life. Henry Gratton Doyle, dean of men of George Washington university, Washington, D. C., has addressed a questionnaire to Idaho officials asking a number of significant questions pertaining to the "collegiate" type. He wishes to know whether the "collegiate" is the typical college student; also whether slouchy dress or neatness in appearance is typical of the student body.

He further asks whether student opinion favors neat dress and courteous manners or approves slouchy appearance and careless habits of dress and conduct. Other queries calculated to classify the "collegiate" are also made.

A similar questionnaire has been sent to the heads of four hundred leading colleges. When replies are received Dean Doyle believes he will have a survey which will be of wide informative value, which may be presented to the annual convention of the Association of Deans and Advisors of Men, in Washington, April 11, 12, and 13.

Repeats "Collegiate" Creations. "I am sure that in common with me, you have felt concern and sometimes chagrin over the mental picture of the 'collegiate' boy or girl which the general public has apparently created during recent years," says Dean Doyle, in his letter of inquiry.

"I feel that this imaginary individual is by no means typical. For the purpose of contributing something toward the correction of what I believe to be erroneous public opinion and the creation of correct opinion founded on facts, I am sending this letter to deans in a number of the leading colleges and universities throughout the country in order to get a consensus of fact and opinion which can be presented to the public."

List of Questions.

Dean Doyle then propounds the following questions:

1. (a) Is the "collegiate" of the humorous press and the vaudeville stage the typical student of your college? or
(b) Is he an exception in the personage of your enrollment, and if so, what percentage of the total student body is like him?

2. (a) Is a slouchy appearance, as evidenced by garterless socks, rumpled shirt and collar, sloppy shoes and wrinkled suits of clothing, typical of your student body? or
(b) Is neatness in appearance, as evidenced by clean shaving, well-shined shoes, starched linen, appropriate neckties of neat appearance and well-pressed suits of clothing, typical of your student body?

3. (a) In the main, does the psychological attitude of your student body approve slouchy and careless habits of dress and conduct or neat habits of dress and courteous manners?
(b) Is there any appreciable attitude of disfavor in your student body toward carelessness in dress and manners?

4. Is there any connection, in your opinion, between the attempt to be "collegiate" and such problems as:
(a) "Drinking?"
(b) "Necking?"
(c) Neglect of class work?
(d) Dishonesty in examinations?
(e) Other ethical problems?

5. Does the "collegiate" type of student referred to in the opening of this letter excel, as a rule, in:
(a) Scholastic standing?
(b) Sports?
(c) Other student activities?

6. In your opinion is the "collegiate" type diminishing or increasing?
7. Do you or do you not agree with me that in general our student bodies are composed of reasonably serious young people, whose ideals and standards of conduct compare favorably with those of preceding generations—in short, that their faults are faults of manners rather than morals?

BOOK CHANGED DURANT'S LIFE

Spinoza's "Ethics" Led Famous Lecturer to Forego Plans For Life in Priesthood.

A copy of Spinoza's "Ethics" was the factor which changed the entire career of Dr. Will Durant, famous philosophical writer who will speak here tonight.

Doctor Durant was studying for the priesthood when he read Spinoza's book, which proved to him that his real interest was philosophy, not ecclesiasticism. He gave up plans for his chosen career and became a student, and later a teacher, lecturer and writer in philosophy. He received his B. A. and M. A. degrees from St. Peter's college, New Jersey in 1907 and 1908.

He first became prominent at Columbia university, where he taught for several years after he had earned his doctorate there in 1917. It was while he was teaching at Columbia that he began the series of lectures at the Labor temple in New York, which resulted later in the establishment of the Labor Temple school. The lectures he delivered there were combined into his "Story of Philosophy."

Doctor Durant is also the author of "Philosophy and the Social Problem" and "Transition." His articles have appeared in numerous national periodicals.

Pipe Smoker Has a "Kick" All His Own

St. Paul, Minn. June 1, 1927

Larus & Bro. Co. Richmond, Va. Gentlemen: About five years ago, after trying out many different styles of pipes from the Missouri meerschaum to the genuine meerschaum, including the upside-down style made popular by Vice-President Daves, and experimenting with just about all the tobaccos then on the market except Edgeworth, I finally decided that pipe-smoking was not for me.

For the last year or so I noticed the boys around the office here using Edgeworth to the exclusion of all other tobaccos and evidently getting real pleasure from their pipes.

In April of this year I was in Canada on a business trip and decided to take another whirl at pipe-smoking. So I invested a good share of my savings in a pipe and a few cents additional for a can of Edgeworth.

From then on I have been figuratively kicking myself around the block about once each day when I think of the five lean years I put in trying to get along without a pipe. However, I am trying to make up for lost time and am succeeding quite well. Why I failed to try Edgeworth long ago will have to go down in history as an unsolved question. But now that I have found it, the years ahead look rosy to me.

Very truly yours, Ben Bayer

Beam, assistant varsity grid coach, who has charge of this phase of inter-group athletic competition on the campus. Play will be resumed probably Tuesday, February 11, Mr. Beam indicated.

With the half way mark passed and only 25 more games to be played in the double-league tourney, four teams, through virtue of no defeats, stand out as promising contenders for the hoop title. Beta Theta Pi is given big odds in "A" league and has only Ridenbaugh hall to down to assure the league pennant. But in "B" league, where Sigma Nu and Sigma Alpha Epsilon are the only undefeated teams, Sigma Chi is still a potential factor. The Sigma Chi quintet, although defeated by Sigma Nu, has an excellent chance to defeat S. A. E. and if the S. A. E.'s are triumphant over the Reptiles, the three teams will go into a triple tie for first place. The Sigma Nu-S. A. E. game will go a long way toward the league title.

Beam has indicated, however, that during the intermission in intramural play, teams may have the new gymnasium for regular practice at certain times. It is understood that a number of inter-fraternity games will be run off in the form of practice tilts during the next week.

Games this week were not particularly important, only inasmuch as they tended to increase the hold the leaders have on the top of the win column.

Phi Deltis Win, 16-15.
In a nip-and-tuck battle that was anybody's game until the final seconds of play, the Phi Deltis won their first game of the intramural season at the expense of the Fijis, 16 to 15, Tuesday evening. The winners led practically all the way and at half time had the long end of a 11 to 9 score.

Redmon, Earhardt and Fuller each scored four points for the losers while Hall was high for Phi Delta Theta with six.

S. A. E.'s Trim Lindley.
Finding themselves after being outplayed in the first quarter, Sigma Alpha Epsilon continued its winning swath by mowing down Lindley hall 27 to 13, Tuesday evening.
The half ended 13 to 8 in favor of the winners. Brock and Barrett were high for S. A. E., while Homling and Van Haverbeck tallied most of the Hill men.

Kappa Sigma took the Beta Chi 14 five into camp by a score of 19 to 14, Tuesday evening. Both teams played good ball. Beta Chi was ahead at the end of the half by a score of 8 to 9, and it was anybody's game up until a few minutes before the final gun. Jensen was high point man for Beta Chi with eight points, and Sommercamp was high point man for the Kappa Sigs with seven points.

Lambda Chi's Win.

The Lambda Chis ran over the Delta Chis in a very ragged game Wednesday night when both teams missed a good many set ups and made many wild passes, although at times it looked like it might progress into a good football game. Hodson, Delta Chi, was high point man for his team with 10 points and Toolson with six for Lambda Chi.

Sigma Chi Wins.
Recovering from a narrow defeat the week before, Sigma Chi used its second and first strings Wednesday evening to utterly crush Tau Kappa Epsilon 40 to 8. Play at the start of the game between the Tekes and the Sigma Chi second string was about even, but the winners ran in their regulars to run up a 13 to 7 lead at halftime. Scoring honors were well divided between the members of the winning team.

Sigma Nu Victorious.
Snapping out of it in the second half after a ragged first period of play, Sigma Nu Reptiles had but little difficulty in disposing of Phi Gamma Delta, 27 to 4, in their fourth consecutive win so far. The score at halftime was 7 to 3 in favor of the winners.
Wilkening was again high point man for Sigma Nu with eight points although Norman and Zaring each tallied six points. Richardson with three points was high for the losers and was their individual star.

Ridenbaugh Trounces A. T. O.
Alpha Tau Omega displayed the best brand of basketball so far this season against Ridenbaugh hall Tuesday night, but it was not enough to defeat the Barbs, and the losers took their fourth consecutive defeat, 12 to 9, after a gallant second half rally. Belknap was high for the Hill men while Sernke, Marker and Wilkie scored most for the A. T. O. quintet.

GOLDEN BEARS GOING STRONG

U. of C. Hoop Team Has Won All Five Conference Games; Lost To St. Ignatius

The California Golden Bear basketball team has won from all conference opponents played so far this season. This includes victories over the University of Southern California, Stanford and the University of California at Los Angeles.
Last week the Bears were humbled by the St. Ignatius quintet, who represent a small sectarian school in San Francisco. "Nibs" Price, football coach of California is also in charge of the hoopers.
That the style of California basketball is different from the brand played in the north, was attested to by members of the University of Oregon squad, who have played in the conference championship games. The Oregonians claim that the southern style is much rougher and the plays do not depend so much on individual floor work but feature a fast passing attack.
Substitutions: Ridenbaugh—Stoewasser for Belknap; Baker for Pierce; Anderson for Baker; Hill for Moss; Scarborough for Hill. A. T. O.—McKinley (1) for Wilkie.
