MORE ALL-COLLEGE DANCES

IDAHO'S all-college dances are gradually disappearing, and the few survivors are hard pressed by the constantly-increasing number of smaller functions on the social calendar. The change is a natural result of the steady growth of the university—a change that is nevertheless regrettable.

Dances at which all the students of the university felt themselves welcome were once one of the important unifying factors on the campus. Increases in enrollment and the number of social and extra-curricular organizations are tending to break down the old Idaho spirit, the "we" spirit that is vital in all types of social organization.

A suggestion that will perhaps help to remedy the situation will be brought up before the weekly meeting of the ASUI executive board tonight. It will be proposed to have the Associated Students sponsor several all-college dances each year, to which any students of the university would be admitted by presenting one of the coupons in his ASUI coupon book.

Under such an arrangement, all the expenses would be paid out of funds of the ASUI. The executive board would in all probability appoint a committee to arrange for music, decorations, and refreshments. These dances would necessarily be held at the Memorial gymnasium, the only floor on the campus large enough to accommodate a maximum attendance.

One of these dances could be given shortly after registration, each fall, to take the place of the traditional freshman mixer which is becoming less successful each year. Another could be given later in the fall, perhaps about the week of Easter, which is a good time for the last one, especially if the present plan of eliminating the spring vacation is followed.

The plan is a good one, and it works successfully at other universities about the size of Idaho. At the University of Utah, the all-college dances sponsored by the Associated Students are among the most important social events of the year.

The faculty calendar committee is hard pressed to take care of all the petitions for Friday and Saturday night dances. There are 24 group houses and halls on the campus, each of which holds an average of four dances a year. At least 20 or 25 honorary, professional and service organizations give one or more dances each year. There is nothing wrong with any of the organizations giving dances, but there are too many of them. More functions at which all students could participate would tend to build up the spirit for "our Idaho", which is, after all, the greatest organization of them all.

The Argonaut is heartily in favor of the proposal that will be made tonight, and would appreciate suggestions or criticisms from the student body.

Student Opinion

Dear Editor: Much disrespect was shown for the Idaho and W. S. C. basketball teams by Idaho students Tuesday night. During the last five minutes of the game half the spectators had left or were leaving. This undoubtedly makes the team members feel that their playing does not count for much. Apparently the only thing that does count is the score. The last few minutes of play should be watched if for nothing more than respect for the teams. Let the boys know that their fighting spirit is appreciated, win or lose.

In addition to being disrespectful to the teams, it is thoughtless of those who do want to see the finish of the game. It is impossible to watch the floor work when a steady stream of six-footers is going past. Idaho students should show more respect to the teams and more consideration for those about them.

SEATTLE (IP)—The Student Council of the University of Washington has called for a written criticism of the university curriculum from all students, in an effort to aid in the revision of the university's courses.

Campus in Winter Has a Touch All Its Own—They Say

In concluding, the weather department head said, "All in all, we have had the most unusual change of weather conditions and temperatures that we have had in a great number of years."

"For gosh sakes, Patrick," said Cedric d'Easum as he finished reading my story on weather conditions, "this stuff isn't interesting to our readers; you have to get college personality, bring individualities into it."

"How is this, Dick?"
—Either Bartlett buying a hot water bottle.
—Joe College in golashes.

—Thelma Blayden screaming, "Jay BRILL-L Stop! It's c.o.o.l.!!!"
—"Snowbound" by Campus Cars.
—Dr. Barton's red flannels.
—Bob Allshie saving steps on the way to lunch.

—Heels and skirts appearing from the snow.
Or perhaps something like this has more appeal:
Awakening . . . contemplation . . . relaxation . . . anticipation . . . determination . . . (passage of time) . . . action! Refrigeration.

Or this:
Crisp, cold mornings, jingle of sleigh bells, painted cheeks and noses, tink of golash buckles, objects d'art by I. Frost, and the rattle of tire chains.

Better though, than any of those would be:
—The weather?—'S awful, isn't it?

A New York Sunday paper makes much ado about a newsboy who became a radio chief. It is our opinion that most radio men would make better newsboys—judging from what we hear over our radio.

STAFF MEETING

All members of the Argonaut staff and students who wish to try out for staff positions must be present at a short meeting to be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in room 201 Administration building. Announcement of staff members eligible for Argonaut plus will be made at that time. Be sure you are there.—Editor.

Jazz Appropriate Expression of Day, Says Mrs. Quinlan

By Hazel Simonds.
"This jazz isn't awful. It's merely the peppy expression of a peppy, modern age." Mrs. Winifred Quinlan, vice president of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music sorority, visiting the local chapter, doesn't disapprove of the jazz that is "jazzing" across the country today.

"Everybody is humming and singing it," she said. "So we might as well accept it. More serious composers object to it because of its lowly origin. You know, syncopation had its origin among the negroes. Most of the din and cowbells that accompanied ragtime when it first became popular have disappeared. The time remains, and through the effort of Paul Whiteman, who believes that every tune can be syncopated successfully, it has become music."

"It's fast," affirmed Mrs. Quinlan. "But, so is the age. Everyone is rushing along—going, going, going, always to save time and effort. Efficiency is the key word in business. I think we are now living at as fast a rate as we can. What the outcome will be I don't know. We may revert to an age of conservatism, I hardly think so. But in this age the music is just keeping up to the speed of living. It has to; it's what the people want, and what they get."

She put her arm on the back of the chair and looked out of the window, not at the Moscow hills, but at years, and music and things.
"The classics will never die," she said slowly. "Jazz is all right in its place, but we all like something deeper when we grow more serious—and older. Ragtime froth passes by us like bubbles. They're pretty, and we try to catch them, but after all, pieces that are older and more meaningful are what we want when the bubbles have broken."

SOCIETY

This week's social calendar is devoted almost entirely to second-semester rush parties, each group being limited to one by Pan-Hellenic rules. "Rush week" will be concluded by next Saturday, when the new women are pledged.

Attention to the foreground as the various forms of entertainment for the second semester. Almost every group has on the campus has secured a date for a formal dance. A glance at the social calendar reveals several initiation dances have already been scheduled, within the next two or three weeks.

Affairs of prominence last week were the Alpha Chi Omega formal dance which was held at the Blue Bucket Inn last Saturday, the Associated Miners' dance at the Elks' temple the same night, the Delta Chi garter dance Saturday, which was the first social function to be held at the new Delta Chi chapter house.

Haverbeke, Kenneth Jensen, Garber Green and Kennard Jones, Pullman.

Omega Alpha announces the engagement of Virginia Nelson to Charles Fowler, Gamma Chi Alpha. Both students are from Idaho Falls. Miss Nelson will attend the university this semester, having left for her home Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Winifred Quinlan of Portland, Oregon, national vice president of Sigma Alpha Iota, musical honary, left Monday morning after spending three days on the campus visiting the local chapter of the organization. Mrs. Quinlan is a teacher of music in Portland.

A fireside was held at the Pi Beta Phi house Sunday night in her honor. She sang a number of French, German, and modern English compositions.

Mrs. Quinlan announced the invitation to second degree membership of Miss Maude Garnett and Isabel Clark of the music faculty, and Josephine Harland, a senior in the department. This honor is the highest that can be given to members of S. A. I. There are only two members on the campus, Lucell Ramstede, assistant to Professor Kraft of the music faculty, and Goldie Smith, president of Idaho's Sigma Alpha Iota chapter. This distinction can only be given by a national officer in recognition of service to the fraternity.

DELTA CHI BALLROOM IS UNIQUE

The third-floor ball room of the new Delta Chi fraternity house was the scene of a very surprising and lively informal dance Saturday evening. The hall was decorated futuristically with rays of bright colored crepe paper giving the effect of a garret in modernistic attire. A very clever feature was given by Emily Osgood and Ruth Randall. "Little Nick Lucas" entertained the crowd for a time with several solo dances, among them the Greenwich village trot and Missouri hop.

Patrons and patronesses were: Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. David W. Cook and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Davis.

ALPHA CHIS GIVE FORMAL DANCE

Alpha Chi Omega entertained at a formal dance Friday evening at the Blue Bucket Inn. The decorations were in keeping with Saint Valentine's day. Caryl and Lois Thompson gave two vocal selections. Music was furnished by Clair Gale's orchestra.

Date Problem Solved By Campus Fussers

The ingenuity of Idaho students is hard to beat. In the spring the dates flock to the arboretum, to the graveyard and to the hills. But in winter they are not to be left out in the cold.

The latest report is that they have invaded the heating tunnel which runs from the Memorial gymnasium under the sidewalk near the U-Hut, where it joins the old pipes and winds up at last in the heating plant.

This tunnel is made of reinforced concrete and is about 6 feet high and about 4 feet wide. It houses the electric wiring and gas and heat mains for the gymnasium, and was installed last fall for the above utilitarian purposes.

About the date problem—it would probably be nice and warm in this snowbound weather. Yet, one would hate to get tangled in the steam pipes, or tangled up with the night watchman.

PLAN JOINT BANQUET

Pi Lambda Theta, women's education honorary, will entertain the W. S. C. chapter at a banquet Saturday at 1 o'clock at the Hotel Moscow.

One of the speakers will be Goldie Smith, president of Phi chapter of Pi Lambda Theta, answered by the president of the Pullman chapter. Fifty guests are expected.

SET MADANIEL FUNERAL

Funeral services for Allen McDaniel, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. McDaniel, who was murdered last month in Manila, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the McDaniel home. Dr. William Hints pastor of the Methodist church will conduct the service. The body arrived here today.

FROSH DEBATERS WILL MEET W. S. C.

The first freshman debates to be held this year are scheduled for the latter part of this week when the Idaho teams will meet the opposing Washington State team, according to J. V. Garland, debate coach. "Resolved: That the United States should recognize Soviet Russia" will be the question for debate.

The affirmative team consisting of Ralph Olmstead, Jack Petzold and Lewis Jones will debate the opposing frosh at Lewiston Thursday afternoon, February 14.

IDAHO TITLE HOPES CRASH AS HUSKIES WIN HERE 38 TO 28

Vandals 'Unable' to Cope With Opponents' Giant Pivot Man

SECOND HALF EVEN

Burgher Plays Great Defensive Game Despite Handicap; Injures Knee

Unable to cope with a center over six feet six inches in height, the giant pivot from which all University of Washington scoring plays started, Idaho Vandal basketballers were toppled from their possible perch Saturday night by the University of Washington Huskies. The final count was 38 to 28 and Washington had met her hardest opponent so far this season.

With either Bolstad, Jaloff or Snider receiving the ball on the tip-off, with but rare exceptions, Idaho was under the most severe handicap, and as the game wore on, the handicap increased. Outshot and outplayed in the first half, the Vandals came back in the second period to hold the visitors to a standstill, keeping the first six minutes of play scoreless. Each team scored 12 points in the second half, after the tally had stood 26 to 26 at mid-time.

Jaloff Is Star

"Jiggs" Jaloff, diminutive dark-haired sharpshooter for the Washington quintet, started the "bar rolling" after a bare two minutes of play when he sank a long shot from outside the free throw line. But Idaho made her free throws count and locked the score at 3-all. Baskets by Bolstad, Berenson and Jaloff, however, broke up the tie and at quarter time Washington was in the lead 11 to 6. Idaho kept consistently five points behind the winners until less than five minutes remained to play. Berenson got a short basket and was followed by Jaloff with another. Then Berenson was fouled while making a basket and Washington annexed another three points. The score was 24 to 12, McMillin and Burgher sank rapid-fire baskets for Idaho before the half ended.

After six scoreless minutes in the second half, Washington drew first blood in the form of a basket by Bolstad when an Idaho man missed his pass under the basket. Snider added two baskets and before Idaho started again the score was 33 to 16. Stowell started the ball moving with a long shot and then followed it with another. But at this point, misfortune struck its strongest against the Idaho quintet. Captain Burgher, whose feet had troubled him all evening, was forced to leave the game when a Washington man jumped on him in a melee under the Idaho basket. The two of them crashed to the floor and Burgher injured his knee in the tumble. Collins went in his place and converted the free throw that the Washington team had given Idaho. Burgher had played a great defensive game under conditions when any center would be handicapped.

Sinks Three in Row

With less than seven minutes to go Stowell sank his third basket in succession, only to have Jaloff counter with a short tally. Idaho kept Washington well under cover in the final minutes of play, while running up five points to two for the visitors. Thornhill scored Idaho's final basket less than a minute before the final gun, after McMillin had tallied on a long toss.

To its towering pivot man, the Washington team virtually owes its victory. Hopelessly outjumped, Burgher was rarely able to take the tip-off away from his lanky opponent. Percy Bolstad, who on three occasions dribbled half the length of the floor to score baskets while running at full speed, gave some stunning exhibitions of class and speed throughout the contest. Jaloff with five baskets, not only was a constant threat, but accounted for nearly a third of his team's points. Captain Monte Snider played his usual cool game marked by brilliant floorwork, and scored on several occasions. Berenson went out of the game to four personal fouls in the second half.

For Idaho, Frank McMillin, forward, perhaps played the best general offensive and defensive game, and in addition topped the Idaho scorers with nine points. Stowell's accurate shooting in the second half was a big factor in Idaho's recovery.

Washington 38—Idaho 28.

In our humble opinion it was a game of Confidence versus Lack of Confidence, with Confidence on the winning end of the score.

True, Washington is a much better team than W. S. C., but did the Idaho team bear more than a faint resemblance to the snappy quintet that humbled the Cougars? The dash, speed and accuracy was missing.

The value of gaining possession of the ball after tip-off was fully demonstrated Saturday night. McClary, the six-foot-five, Husky center, kept his mates well supplied, rarely failing to slip the ball into Washington hands.

Burgher displayed the old Idaho fighting spirit when he continued playing after a serious injury. The Vandal center guarded McClary effectively, keeping his scoring down to 5 points.

Imp Jaloff, despite his five feet six inches of shortness, was very much in evidence and was the high point man, with eleven tallies. The two midwits, Cheyne and Jaloff were pitted against each other and what a battle they waged.

After 15 minutes of play the score was 17 to 12 in favor of the winners. At half time the breach had widened and the Huskies led 26 to 16. The Vandals battled on even terms with the visiting firemen during the second half, each team scoring 12 points.

Proceeding the varsity tilt, the yearling squad struggled with Lewis and Clark, losing to the Spokane lads, after improving their play slightly in the second quarter.

The assemblage of coaches, Buck Bailey, Hal Orlov of Washington State and Charley Erb and Stewart Beam of Idaho awakens us to the fact that the "Humorous Classic of the Hardwood" is before us. At present the date of the annual coaches' basketball game is uncertain.

GREEK HOOPSTERS TO MIX TOMORROW

Second Half of Tournament Will Be Resumed This Week

The intramural basketball tournament, halted because of final examinations, will be resumed Wednesday night at 7 o'clock when the Betas meet T. M. A. and Beta Chi clashes with Lambda Chi in the A league contests. The league-leading Betas are expected to win over the Townmen with little difficulty.

In the B league the undefeated Sigma Nu quintet is faced with the task of replacing their two leading scorers, Wilkening and Zaring, who left the university at the end of the semester. The most important games in the B league will be played Friday when the Sigma Nu Reptiles play Lindley hall, and Saturday when Sigma Chi and S. A. E. battle.

Schedule Announced.

"Hec" Edmundson, Washington Mentor, Was Prominent Vandal Track Athlete

Until Coach "Hec" Edmundson, of the Washington basketball team, was introduced to the spectators Saturday night, few knew that he had any relations or connections with the University of Idaho.

Edmundson was born and raised in Moscow and attended the University of Idaho in the days when prep were eligible for varsity competition, and consequently participated in track events for six years. He ran the 440, 880 and mile. The three jumps, comprised a full afternoon's work but he was not alone in the successful quest for honors in the distance events.

Salariated coaches were unheard of in those days and the leading man on the squad usually coached the beginners. At the start of Edmundson's college career, Thomas Matthews, better identified as "Tommy" of campus fame, was the luminary to the visiting firemen during the second half, each team scoring 12 points.

It is interesting to note that Edmundson did not make a letter in basketball while attending the University of Idaho.

After graduating from Idaho in 1909, Edmundson coached at Coeur d'Alene high school and took part in the 1912 Olympic at Stockholm. Later he was appointed coach at Texas A. & M. where he remained for several years. From there he went to his present position of basketball coach of the University of Washington.

It is interesting to note that Edmundson did not make a letter in basketball while attending the University of Idaho.

LEWIS AND CLARK BEATS FROSH 17-11

Slow Preliminary to Varsity Tilt Goes to High School Quintet as Yearlings Slump.

In a listless game that showed the effect of lack of practice during exam week and a marked decrease in shooting ability the Idaho freshman quintet was defeated Saturday night here by Lewis and Clark high school, Spokane. The game was a curtain-raiser to the conference tussle between the Idaho and Washington varsities.

VANDALS WILL FIGHT FOR SECOND PLACE

As characterized their play against the Cougars last Tuesday, the score will be close. A center more than six feet six inches in height, plus two all-coast stars from last year, proved a disastrous combination to Idaho on her own floor, however.

Nine Will Make Trip.

Just what nine men will comprise the Idaho squad is still uncertain, although eight men are practically sure of making the trip. Stowell,

Now Finds Sad World Young Again

DREAMS THAT COME TRUE

I am sitting alone in my room tonight, dreaming and smoking my old cob pipe.

I smoke and dream, and dream until I get a plot, and get a thrill. I am in the writing game, you see; And the pipe dreams softly bring to me Scenes of carnage where the red blood ran.

And the dreams all come from a bright Blue can.

It's just a can of Edgeworth-cut—Fragrant as flowers—sweet as a nut; Of all Fate's kindly gifts to man Is this gift of dreams from the bright Blue can.

I sit me down at eve, to smoke; And soon am wrapped in a magic cloak; It has banished trouble, it has banished pain, And the sad old world is young again.
