VANDAL ACE RATES BERTH ON BOHLER'S ALL-PACIFIC COAST CONFERENCE FIVE

Frank McMillin, Idaho Forward, Choice of W. S. C. Athletics Director

IS ALSO HIGH SCORER

Two California U. Men, One Washington and One Stanford Player Make Up Balance of Squad.

ALL-PACIFIC COAST CONFERENCE BASKETBALL TEAM

(Selected by J. Fred Bohler, W. S. C.)

First Team.
Corbin, California, forward.
McMillin, Idaho, forward.
McClary, Washington, center.
Rothert, Stanford, guard.
Coffield, California, guard.

Second Team.
Fawcett, Stanford, forward.
Stephens, California, forward.
Ten Eyck, California, center.
Bolatad, Washington, guard.

Honorable mention: Forwards—Jaloff and Smider, Washington; Luthcum, U. C. L. A.; centers—Bursler, Idaho; Mortenson, U. S. C.; Endsow, W. S. C.; guards—Gregory, California; Ridings, Oregon.

Frank McMillin, leading forward of the northern division and high scoring Idaho ace, Sunday was named as a forward on the first All-Pacific Coast conference basketball team, as officially selected by J. Fred Bohler, director of athletics at Washington State college. For the past 16 years, Bohler has selected the official all-coast team for the national collegiate basketball guide.

McMillin, after completing two years of college basketball play was extended the highest possible honor a western basketball player could receive. Leading all scorers in 10 division games with 127 points, McMillin not only set a record for total season scores, but played the same 10 games with only five personal fouls being called against him. He has one more year of varsity competition.

Two men from the University of California, one each from Idaho, Washington and Stanford, comprise Bohler's first team.

California Took Title

University of California by two straight wins over Washington, topped the conference title. Stanford and Idaho were the runners-up in each division, all four team ratings in the first team selections. Bohler, in commenting on his selections in general, admitted that "there was a surplus of fine forwards and several good centers, but a varied

CO-EDS TO DECIDE HOOP TITLE SOON

Juniors and Seniors Will Play Off Title For Women's Class Championship Thursday

Women's basketball teams representing the junior and senior classes will decide the women's hoop title in the final game of the series which will be played at the old gymnasium Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

These two teams are even in standing, both having won two games. The seniors defeated the sophomores 29 to 11, and the frosh 27 to 14. The juniors won from the sophomores 41 to 14, and from the frosh by a score of 22 to 18.

These scores give the juniors a slight edge over the seniors, but they do not indicate this team will be winners of the tournament. Thursday is the final day of the tournament, since the second teams also finish their games.

In the second-team division, the scores show a tie between the two teams. The first place, having won all of their scheduled games. The rest of the standings can not be determined at this time.

NO BALL PLAYING IN STREET, IS ORDER

"Make Whoopee in Vacant Lots," Advises Police Chief; Students Block Thoroughfares, He Says

Warning that the city ordinance against playing ball in Moscow streets would be enforced was given university students Monday by W. E. McCauley, chief of police.

"You can make whoopee all you want in some vacant lot with the horsehide sphere, but you just must not play basketball in the streets," said Chief McCauley. "Too many people are having to replace broken windshields, or are having to wait for a bunch of students playing ball to get out of the way before they can drive where they are supposed to drive. The ordinances are made for the public safety."

Last year several of the fraternities were warned against the practice of using the streets for their recreation grounds by Moscow police.

TRACK MEN TRAIN IN LEWIS COURT

Monday the varsity and freshman track squads switched from the new gymnasium to Lewis court for their workouts. The cinder men are now doing calisthenics and jogging short distances to get themselves in condition so that they may work into the season's grind. The men have not had a chance to show their ability yet, but there are some very likely looking prospects in the squad of over 70 men.

Moscow Coach

GUY WICKS, coach of the Moscow high school basketball team, was graduated from the university in 1925 and has been busy turning out winning teams ever since. Moscow has been in the finals for the state championship for the last two years, and is considered a serious contender for the title that will be decided this week at the Memorial gymnasium.

NOTED MUSICIANS TO TEACH HERE

Louis Victor Saar and Waldo Gettich Are Billed On Summer School Faculty

Two nationally known musicians, Louis Victor Saar of Chicago and Waldo Gettich of Lawrence, Kansas, will give courses here during the university summer school session, according to Dean J. F. Messenger of the school of education who will again be director of the summer school. Dr. James F. Burch, director of educational research for the city of Sacramento, and Dr. E. Phillips of Denver university, will also be brought to Idaho to serve on the faculty.

Mr. Saar, dean of the faculty at the Chicago College of Music, is a famed pianist and composer, who has been connected with eastern music conservatories and has studied extensively abroad. He will be on the campus for a week the latter part of June to offer a master's course in piano. He will conduct one class daily, offer private lessons to a limited number of advanced students and will also give a recital.

Professors Attacked By Spring Fever Bug

"Oh," sigh the college students, "spring is terribly hard on us," and never once do they think of the faculty.

Many balmy mornings, contrary to outward appearances, the professors labor under difficulties as great as those bearing down upon their victims recent rumors indicate. They are restless and anxious to be elsewhere "doing things". I. W. Jones, assistant president, claims that as yet the days are not warm enough to trouble him seriously. "It is true that I do have spring fever," he said, meditatively rubbing his chin and blinking his eyes, "but you've heard of the old couplet, 'In spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love'—and well, I'm no longer a young man so I'm more or less immune."

"Yes," declared Miss French emphatically, "on the other hand, when the students get struck by spring it certainly is hard on the faculty. Perhaps it's the love of spring that makes everyone languid," she continued, "I don't know, but that is why we attempt to arrange it so that the students will get their hard work done out of the way before the warm days arrive. As for myself, I'm still susceptible to spring's charms, but of course, I'm not nearly as bad as I was when I was about the age of the youngsters running around here."

MRS. ROBERT M. DAVIS GIVES ILLUSTRATED TALK TO S. A. I.

Mrs. Robert McNair Davis gave an illustrated lecture on symphonies at the regular monthly musicale of Sigma Alpha Iota Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Warren L. Truitt. Mrs. Davis spoke particularly on the New York Philharmonic orchestra. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the talk.

Reporter—What shall I say about the two peroxide blondes who made such a fuss at the rugby game?

Editor—Why, say the bleachers were wild.

CAR TURNS OVER, NO ONE INJURED

"Fiji Corner" Scene of Crash Late Yesterday Afternoon; Autos Only Slightly Damaged

Providence smiled on three autolists when a Nash sedan driven by Ruth Morris, a university student, and a Dodge touring car driven by H. Martin, a Moscow resident, crashed at the "Fiji corner" at 8:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon. None of the occupants were hurt.

The collision hurled the sedan on its side, breaking one of the windows and denting a rear fender. The front of the Dodge car was only slightly damaged. Miss Morris was driven toward the University avenue hill toward the S. A. E. house, and Mr. Martin was coming south on Elm street. Evidently neither driver observed the other until the two cars were too close together to avoid a collision. The Dodge car hit the rear fender of the sedan with a terrific crash, throwing the sedan back up the hill on its side.

Within two minutes approximately 200 spectators had gathered at the scene of the accident. Miss Morris and her companion, Rose Lewis, an Alpha Chi Omega at W. S. C., were pulled out through one of the windows of the sedan, badly frightened. Spectators soon righted the sedan and Miss Morris drove off, evidently none the worse for the experience.

The intersection has been the scene of several near accidents in previous years.

GROS' MARIONETTES TO SHOW THURSDAY

Many Students Compete for Ticket Selling Prize

An active ticket selling campaign for the two performances of Jean Gros' French marionettes at the auditorium Thursday has been launched with 29 students competing for a $10 prize being offered to the student selling the largest number of tickets. The marionettes will be seen in "The Magical Land of Oz" Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock and "The Blue Bird" Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Gros and his marionettes are being brought to the campus, for the second time, by the university public events committee. Handling of the ticket sale and publicity and advertising was turned over to Frank Carrell and Burton L. Moore. At a meeting Monday night at the Phi Delta Theta house the tickets were distributed to the students working for the prize.

Students selling tickets are: Jane Myer, Constance Woods, Marguerite McMahon, Ruth Roberts, Marylou Craven, Ruth Miller, Germaine Gimble, Evelyn Meeker, Cathryn Callaway, Alice Kelly, Lucile Glindeeman, Glenn Shaw, William Cummings, Dennis Hogue, Robert Yochel, Paul Petzold, Gerald Welch, Harry Yock, Phil DuSault, William Shalberger, William Hawkins, Paul Boyd, Asael Tall, Lamar Ferguson, Charles Scarborough and John Harrison.

The afternoon program of "The Magical Land of Oz" has been especially arranged for children, although this production has been popular with adults wherever it has been played. This play is based on the Oz books by Ruth Plumly Thompson.

Idaho's New Director of Athletics Rides Steadily

With Lady Luck, Says His California Friend

By James Grant
Athletic News Bureau, U. S. C.
People call him "Lucky Leo," but that doesn't explain the man!

For Lady Luck's too fickle a sweetheart to explain the 10-year record of athletic success that "Lucky Leo" Calland will bring with him to the University of Idaho this September, Lady Luck has showered too many of her favors on this 29-year-old coaching marvel for one. Leo Calland and Blakely Calland has nothing but "luck" to thank for his record.

"Everyone's lucky some of the time, but no one is just 'lucky' for his four playing years and for six years of coaching after that. Fortune is a factor, admitted, but Lady Luck's too much a roaming vampire to abide with one man for ten years. Lady Luck will help a man, but Lady Luck will help any man, and he who wins her favor over a 10-year period must have something else in offer besides a pleasing personality and an urge to victory.

More Than Luck
He's the "Lucky Leo" of the University of Southern California, but he's more than that. He was a player who studied athletics until the proper move became an instinctive reaction with him; he simply couldn't do a wrong thing in his career as a football and basketball player at the Trojan school. His six-year record of victory as a coach demonstrates that he has taken this happy inability to pull a boner into his life work of teaching men to be athletes.

"Lucky Leo" started making loyal fans of his friends at Broadway High school in Seattle, where he was twice elected captain of the football team. In his senior year Calland enlisted in the navy and patrolled the Pacific from the careening deck of a destroyer. In the duration of the war his capacity for leadership brought him

DRAMA RECITALS BY MAUD SCHEERER

HERE NEXT WEEK

Five Performances Scheduled for Noted New York Dramatics Artist

ASSEMBLY TUESDAY

No Charge to Students, Says I. W. Jones; Begins Monday Night

Broadway's best modern plays will be presented before Idaho students next week at the auditorium when Miss Maud Scheerer, nationally known for her unique play recitals, will analyze, evaluate and present in broad and character some of the outstanding productions of current and recent New York seasons.

Five presentations have been arranged by the faculty public events committee, primarily in the interests of the student body, said Irving W. Jones, assistant president and chairman of the committee. No admissions will be charged. Miss Scheerer's first performance is scheduled for Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the auditorium. Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock she will appear before a general student body assembly, for which all classes will be excused. The remaining performances will be given Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Admission Usually High.
"Miss Scheerer's recitals in New York and the east generally are offered at an admission charge of from one to two dollars each, and attract large audiences, even among those who have some opportunity to attend the actual performances," said Mr. Jones.

The plays to be presented probably will be selected from the following list: "Wings Over Europe" and "Caprice," both plays of the present season; "The High Road," "The Thing Called Love" and "The Little Accident," outstanding comedies; "Pepper Pan," "Cherry Orchard" and "Invitation to the Voyage," production of the Civic Repertory theatre; "Strange Interlude," "Trial of Mary Dugan," "Paris Bound" and "Road to Rome," plays of last year or recent years.

Receives High Praise.
"I have had it said to me," declared Mr. Jones, "by persons in Miss Scheerer's audiences, 'I'd rather hear Miss Scheerer read a play than to go and see it myself.' Miss Scheerer would be the first to discount such a statement as this; but I'm sure she would be willing to accept my own opinion, which is that she can, and does, make me experience a sensation that I am actually seeing the characters whose lines she reads—which is pretty close to actual attendance at performance."

"I hope every Idaho student will find it possible to have this experience at least once while Miss Scheerer is here—and as many more times as the capacity of the auditorium permits."

LUCILE GLINDEMAN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF FORNEY HALL

Lucile Glindeeman, Coeur d'Alene, junior in the college of letters and science, was elected president of Forney hall, following a constitutional amendment making elections semi-annual instead of annual as before. Other officers elected were Henriette Paroz, vice president; Prudence Raby, treasurer; and Grace Raphael, secretary. The new officers will take over their duties April 1.

STAGE SET FOR SENIOR MIXER

Novel Program Arranged for Second Affair Tonight at Blue Bucket; Nelson in Charge

A program of songs, dances and dancing has been prepared for the senior class mixer at the Blue Bucket inn this evening at 8:30 o'clock, according to Maurice Nelson, chairman of the mixer committee. The mixer is scheduled to start as soon after 8:30 o'clock as members of the class arrive.

One of the headline events on the entertainment program will be general song numbers by Ethel Lafferty and Estelle Pickrell. The Lafferty-Pickrell team has appeared many times on programs during the past four years on the campus. Ruth Randall is scheduled to give a dance. A clog dance will be given by Ralph Ormsby, completing the entertainment program Mr. Nelson said.

Following a short business meeting, at which William Callaway, class president, will make a number of announcements, dancing will be in order. Music will be furnished by John Soden's orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Oswald, C. P. Stagerberg will be chaperones for the mixer.

A big turnout is expected. Mr. Nelson said, as this mixer will be something of a "get-acquainted" affair, to be followed by one or two mixers before the annual senior class picnic. Plans for the picnic will be made at the next mixer.

HISTORICAL ESSAY CONTEST PLANNED

Trophy to Be Awarded to Winner of Annual Competition

Announcement of the opening of the annual history essay contest for the sons of the American Revolution trophy was made Monday by Prof. J. L. Hetherford of the history department, who is in charge of the contest.

Heretofore all history students have been required to participate in this contest, but this year it is to be voluntary and will be open to anyone who belongs to any group on the campus.

The prize is a bronze bust of Washington, which, according to the rules of the contest, will be held by the group who wins it until such time as it may be lost to another group in the annual contest.

Selections of subjects are to be made from among the following periods of American history: Exploration and colonization; The beginning of the revolution and the growth of cooperation among the colonies.

The revolutionary war and the heresies it produced; The critical period under the Articles of confederation; and the development of the national spirit.

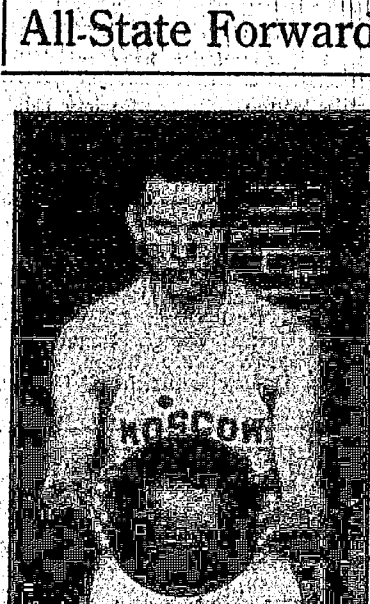

The adoption of the Constitution and the statesman who conceived it. The trophy was first offered in 1926, and was won in that year by Lewis Williams, Sigma Chi. In 1928 Floyd Landis won it for Phi Delta Theta. In 1927 the trophy went to Kappa Alpha Theta, the winning paper being written by Dorothy Bueks. Herbert Wunderlich, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, won the trophy last year. The bust is now at the S. A. E. house, and will be given to the next winner when the award is announced next September.

STATE BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT OPENS IN MEMORIAL GYMNASIUM THURSDAY

All-State Forward

ERNEST "SKINNY" NELSON, is captain of the Moscow high school basketball team which, it is reported, will give the seven other teams a run for their money in the state title series here this week. He has been picked as an all-state forward for the past two years. His brother, "Ade" Nelson, was a former Vandal basketball star.

WELKER SLATED FOR LEGAL JOB

Will Be Prosecuting Attorney at Boise During Spring Court Term if He Passes Examination

Herman O. Welker, senior law student, has been granted an indefinite leave of absence by the university, to take over the duties of prosecuting attorney of Washington county at Boise for the spring term of district court, according to Dean R. M. Davis of the college of law.

Mr. Welker must first pass the state bar examinations which will be given to him at Boise by special dispensation of the state bar commission. W. J. Nixon, present prosecuting attorney at Boise, has been forced to give up the office on account of business interests.

Mr. Welker will leave for southern Idaho March 31, and return to the university at the close of the court session to finish his requirements for an LL.B. degree.

He was first-semester president of the Idaho chapter of Phi Alpha Delta, national honorary legal fraternity, and was first-semester president of the junior class last year. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity, and won honorable mention for his performance on his house team in the intramural basketball tournament. He also was a member of the Lawyer team that was defeated last week by the Ags in the traditional Ag-Lawyer basketball game.

Dean Davis declared that it was unusual for an undergraduate to win such consideration from a state bar commission as Mr. Welker has received. Ordinarily the bar examinations are given shortly after the close of the college year.

Hoax or Actuality? But Glow Was There

The phone rang viciously. A reporter leisurely lifted the receiver to his ear and mumbled "Hello." A strong male voice inquired: "Is this The Argonaut office?"

"Yes," was the sleepy reply. "Do you want a good feature story?"

"Sure!" "Well, the northern lights are burning."

The receiver clicked at the other end and the identity of the speaker became a mystery. The reporter was baffled, nevertheless he candidly told the staff members that some one wished to inform them that "the northern lights were burning." A twitter swept the room and someone remarked that the reporter was the object of a "wolf, wolf" story.

"Call him up and tell him the nightwatchman will turn them off in the morning," the copy editor suggested.

Typewriters rattled on—but only for a moment. The idea refused to be dismissed. Already the supposedly gullible reporter was out on the street gazing at the northern sky, soon others joined him. All eyes were turned skyward. The report became a fact. Even through the glare of street lights a faint glow could be distinguished in the north.

MARIONETTE COMPANY TO BE GUESTS OF ENGLISH CLUB

English club members will meet with Jean Gros and his Marionette company at an informal luncheon at the Blue Bucket inn Thursday at 12:00 o'clock. Mr. Gros and his group will be in Moscow on Thursday with their puppet production. It is expected that Mr. Gros will speak on the technique of his unique presentation. Vivienne Mosher has charge of the arrangements for the luncheon.

Eight Teams, Five From Southern Idaho, Will Battle for Title

DRAW WEDNESDAY

Championship Game Scheduled for Saturday, Following Two Days of Eliminations

PARTICIPATING TEAMS
MOSCOW HENRICH
BOISE FOCATELLO
COEUR D'ALENE BALCON
LEWISTON TWIN FALLS

With every indication for one of the most closely contested intrastate tournaments in history, eight teams, high school district basketball champions throughout Idaho, Thursday morning will start their battle for the state hoop title.

Five southern Idaho teams, traveling in a special Union Pacific train, are due in Moscow Wednesday morning, while the Coeur d'Alene and Lewiston fives are expected in Moscow at the same time or possibly Tuesday night. Moscow, as host team, competes for the state title without district participation. Wednesday evening, the coaches will draw for placements in the first four games.

Madison High school, Rexburg, by defeating Idaho Falls 59 to 29, Saturday night, won the northern district title, while Salmon City romped off with the central Idaho championship. The Madison team is competing in the state meet for the third time in five years, the same record that Salmon holds.

Double Elimination Plan
Double elimination as in past years, but with the addition of a consolation tournament, the winner of which goes into the semi-finals in the "best-of-three" for the 1929 tourney. Two teams are to be eliminated in eight games Thursday, and four squads will be counted out in five games Friday. The final game will be played at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night, at which time cups will be awarded and all-state selections announced.

Wednesday evening attending tournament players and coaches will be guests of the university at a special basketball game between two picked varsity and freshman teams in Memorial gymnasium. President F. J. Kelly will give a short talk and during halves of the feature game, Idaho tumblers, under the direction of Coach R. F. Hutchinson, will perform.

Referees chosen to handle the tournament were: Elra (Squibby) Hunter, former Idaho star and now Lewis and Clark high school coach at Spokane, and W. R. Strimater, prominent northern Idaho official.

COACHES TANGLE IN SECOND TILT

Mentors Mix in Annual Battle For Benefit of State Tourney Trophy Fund

In a return game this evening at 7 o'clock in Memorial gymnasium, Vandal and Cougar coaches will match wits that have propelled their varsity and frosh quintets through long seasons, and brought what has marked them as stars in their college days.

In the first game of the annual two-game hoop series last week, the Idaho mentors drubbed their rivals with ease, 25 to 11. "Rich" Fox, varsity basketball and baseball coach, rung up a lion's share of points with his freak overhead hooks, and "Red" Jacoby starred as a guard. "Big Buck" Bailey, giant assistant coach of the state college crew, is known as the leading battering-ram of the invaders' defense.

Proceeds from the small admission fee charged will be turned over to the state athletic association for the purchase of trophies awarded winners of the intercollegiate basketball tournament which will be held here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

TUMBLER CRACKS ARM ON HARDWOOD

Corliss Fractures Wrist When Hat Is Missed After Spring-Board Dive

Diving from a spring board and landing on the floor instead of the canvas mat resulted in a broken arm for Donald Corliss, Memorial agriculture student, at the Memorial gymnasium Saturday afternoon.

Corliss had been practicing some fancy tumbling, diving from a springboard over a rope stretched between two standards. In some manner the landing mat was shifted and instead of hitting on the soft canvas, he landed on the hardwood floor and snapped his right arm at the wrist. He was rushed to the infirmary where his arm was set by Dr. C. O. Armstrong. He was under ether most of Saturday afternoon.

He attended classes Monday, handicapped by having his writing arm tied up in a sling and cast. He is a member of Beta Chi fraternity.

PI LAMBDA THETA PLEDGES ELEVEN

Eleven women students in the school of education were announced as pledges of Pi Lambda Theta, women's national-honorary educational fraternity, Monday evening.

They are as follows: Anna Covin, Marylou Craven, Hazel Ouse, Myrtle Rach, Ruth Randall, Elizabeth Steward, Hazel Voll, Agnes Warlick, Marjorie Wornell, Vera Sackett and Mrs. Mabel McConnell Allen. Membership in the organization is based primarily on scholarship.

CARELESS DRIVING

TWO AUTOMOBILE accidents have occurred on the campus within the last two weeks, and almost miraculously, neither one resulted in more than slight injuries to the persons involved. In both cases the facts point to carelessness on the part of drivers.

It is a wonder that there are so few accidents, considering the way in which some drivers negotiate their vehicles about the campus. Last year the city installed large yellow caution lights at the most dangerous intersections. Parking regulations were adopted because two rows of parked cars in a street left too narrow a space for safe driving. For a time, before they had ceased to be novelty, the "slow" signs at the intersections were heeded. The rule now seems to be to get there first and be careful afterwards.

Good weather will see an increasingly larger number of cars on the campus. Owners of the cars should realize that unless they are careful, more accidents will occur, and the result will be a traffic cop.

ARE TRADITIONS PASSED?

TRADITIONS are the things that are breaking down? Judging from periodic efforts to revive and enforce certain so-called traditions, evidently some of them are.

The next project that will be taken up by the student body government is the question of traditions—what ones to keep, which ones to discard, and, queerly enough, how to enforce the ones that are approved. Before long the freshmen will be required to don their green caps, and with the donning there will arise the annual problem of the green cap rule.

Traditions are a necessary and vital part of college life. In the background, upheld by many students, is the distinction between traditions and customs or rules. Traditions do not need enforcement. They are spontaneous and operate instinctively. Rules must be enforced, so must many customs. Confusing rules with traditions is probably at the bottom of the whole problem.

Idaho students recently witnessed a tradition working out automatically—the annual Ag-Lawyer basketball game. Assuredly no "shot in the arm" measures were necessary there. Stanford students have one tradition they do not think of violating, that of refraining from smoking within the Quadrangle. Washington State has its traditions, so has every other college in the country.

If Idaho is clinging to "rah rah" practices that have been discarded generally over the country, then the solution to the whole problem would be to start in and do some eliminating, and let the traditions take care of themselves.

JEAN GROS MARIONETTES TO SHOW HERE THURSDAY

An added feature is a 14-piece marionette orchestra, composed of characters from Oz.

Maurice Masterlock's "The Blue Bird" will be played in the evening, this program being planned for adults. Advance press reports indicate that this production has been well accepted throughout the country.

Until recent years marionettes were presented on small stages ranging from six feet to ten feet. The puppets were small, generally about 12 to 18 inches high. During the last seven or eight years, a number of companies attempted to enlarge the idea of presentation and Jean Gros began touring with his stage that covers about 30 feet of space. The French marionettes carry over 4,000 pounds in baggage, representing a complete miniature theater, complete lighting equipment, backdrops, wings, spotlights, curtains of every description, transformation scenes and over 150 puppets. In the company is also a concert harpist and a violinist, along with singers and actors.

The evening program will be concluded by Mr. Gros when he will show the audience just how the stage is worked and how the marionettes are operated.

The Chicago gangster's cry: "Don't shoot until you can see the back of his neck!"

DR. CHURCH GIVEN LEAVE OF ABSENCE

History Professor to Take Position at University of Chicago

Dr. Frederick C. Church, a member of the history department faculty since 1921, will leave Idaho March 26 on a leave of absence to the University of Chicago where he will teach two courses in history during the spring quarter.

Doctor Church will teach courses in the history of the Renaissance and Reformation and a course in the Absolute Monarchy from 1600 to 1789. Just what he will do next summer

"Comrade II" Recruited As Sigma Chi Mascot

A new two-month-old police dog pup has been adopted by the Sigma Chis to fill the vacancy which Comrade, their former mascot, left when he departed a week ago. Nels Werner, senior from Chicago, purchased the dog Saturday after noticing an advertisement in the newspaper.

Werner said Monday that the dog is already beginning to take on the characteristics of his predecessor. He is learning to run after baseballs, and he can ride in the rumber seat of his yellow roadster, Werner declares.

Comrade left a real impression when he deserted the Sigma Chis, according

Roller Skates Take Place of Galoshes; Women Skip Rope

By Helen Veasey.

With the first signs of spring a college campus takes on the appearance of a private kindergarten for select young babies, or a nut house for psycho-neurotic morons. But it is all accepted very naturally because it is collegiate.

It is then that each intellectual reverts to his second childhood and dons his roller skates. How masterful the 6 foot 3's look, skidding dizzily down hills and round corners on their ball-bearing! It is then that husky heroes stoop on the main drag to shoot a game of marbles for "keeps" with some third-grader.

In the spring each clothes line leaves its domestic existence and becomes a jumping rope for athletic co-eds. Challenges are sent around to the "fellows" houses to jump "double Dutch," a favorite stunt of the girls. The boys seem to like "Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear, Turn Around" better, or "Ella, Ella, dressed in Yella." When the snow has barely melted the baseball season begins. Streets are closed to motorists while the ball game is on and even the campus is transformed into a diamond.

Although the above are all good symptoms, when the S. A. E's start dragging the leather furniture out on the porch, it's a sure sign: When the Kappa Sigma sit in little shivering groups on the stone steps and listen spellbound to orthophonic concerts, when the Sigma Nus sit on their roof and listen to the birds twitter, the questioning soul is silenced—no matter if it snows tomorrow, today spring is here. Bring on your sulphur and molasses!

Hardit Dhillon, Here from Far Away India, Was Once Shocked by Sight of Short Skirts

"Oh, what a civilization!" exclaimed Hardit Singh Dhillon, senior in the college of letters and science, when he first beheld the silk-stockinged legs of women on his arrival in San Francisco three years ago. Mr. Dhillon, the only Indian student here who wears the turban head-dress, left his home in Punjab province, India, to seek a college education in the United States.

"Indian girls all wear ankle length dresses and I have known only one Indian woman to have bobbed hair. She is Amar Kaur, wife of Mankaraj of Jind. Since 1875 there has been a campaign against the caste system which I think will ultimately be successful," he declared in an interview yesterday. There are four main castes which are inherited from father to son, and then there are the adherents, like myself, of Sikhism, who belong to no class.

Mr. Dhillon, who is 30 years old, received his elementary education in India before coming to the University of Idaho on the advice of his friend, Mr. Khalsa a student in 1925 and 1926.

"One thing I've noticed in America," he remarked, "is that on the street

Replying to your circular letter of June 29, be informed that your sample packages were received. With them I received the pamphlet describing your product, which I was able to enjoy reading because there was not in the circular matter the usual distasteful sales talk which makes the recipient of a sample package feel obligated or uncomfortable.

I believe your practice of giving your prospect a sample and then letting him make up his own mind will gain you many more customers than will the usual modern sales practice of pushing the product down the prospect's throat. As a matter of fact, since receiving your sample and your advertising matter I smoked up the sample package and have since purchased a number of cans from neighborhood dealers, all of whom carry this tobacco in a city of this size.

Band Concert April 2, It Was Announced Yesterday

The concert this year takes the place of a pep band show, which is given yearly by the organization. "The band has been several weeks preparing for this concert," said Sam Hutchings, leader, yesterday, "and the fellows promise something that is unlike anything they have presented previously." Definite announcements regarding the necessity for women in presenting the program will be made later by Hutchings and Tom McConigle, student manager.

Hardit Dhillon, Here from Far Away India, Was Once Shocked by Sight of Short Skirts

There is no noticeable difference between the rich and the poor in India. A rich man would consider it a disgrace to drive his own car, and people with little money wear no shoes and wear a "topi" costing only a few cents. A topi is a tiny, round, hard hat that sits like a pan upside down on the top of the head. Standards of living are higher in India among the rich classes than in America, Mr. Dhillon believes.

"Why," he said with a smile, "they spend money like water, but of course the lower classes are much worse off than those in America. You can find men working for 15 hours a day for miserable wages, and only time off for one bowl of rice during the shift. Their homes are brush heaps."

After his graduation from the university in June Mr. Dhillon will work for a master's and doctor's degree.

"Unless," he said in conclusion, "there is an opening in the political situation in India. You see, India will slowly revolt against English rule if they don't give us a dominion form of government before December 31, 1929. I expect to return to my native country."

MILD enough for anybody .. and yet .. THEY SATISFY

The hard-looking stranger only yawned at the pay-day activities of Red Gulch. Piqued at his indifference, several citizens asked why, if Red Gulch wasn't tough enough to interest him, he didn't go back where he came from. "I can't," the stranger drawled. "That place is so all-fired hard, they kicked all us sissies out!" A clear case of relativity. If you've smoked merely mild cigarettes all your life, you can't imagine how much you'd cotton to a cigarette that's mild and something more! We refer, as you guess, to Chesterfield. For mild as they are, they satisfy. You know you're smoking them—and you're right glad of it. They're rich with taste, tobacco taste. They... there's no other word, and no other cigarette that fits it... they satisfy.

HOUSES DRAW FOR VISITING TEAMS

S. A. E. Gets Pocatello Squad; Beta and Sigma Chi, "No Luck"

Representatives of nine fraternities on the campus drew slips from a hat at the Phi Delta Theta house Sunday evening to decide what groups would house the seven visiting high school basketball teams that will be in Moscow tomorrow for the state high school basketball tournament.

Results of the drawing were as follows: Sigma Alpha Epsilon drew the Pocatello team; Phi Gamma Delta, Lewiston; Sigma Nu, Twin Falls; Delta Chi, Madison high school at Rexburg; Kappa Sigma, Coeur d'Alene; Alpha Tau Omega, Salmon; and Phi Delta Theta, Boise. Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Chi drew blanks and consequently will not entertain any of the teams. Three fraternities, Beta Chi, Lambda Chi Alpha and Tau Kappa Epsilon, did not draw for teams on account of limited housing facilities.

Intercollegiate Knights will meet the teams tomorrow and conduct the visiting teams to the houses where they will be quartered for the remainder of the week. Harry Jones, in charge of the tournament for Blue Key, announced that the Managers' club would handle the sale of tickets and all other work at the gymnasium.

Tickets were placed on sale at the Administration building Monday and were allotted to members of Blue Key. A special price of $2 will be charged students for a season ticket that will admit them to all games. Down town people will be charged $2 for a season ticket, and all reserved tickets will sell for $3. Admission to single games will be 25 cents for students and 50 cents for townspeople and will be 25 cents higher in each case for the final game Saturday night. Harry Jones pointed out that the price was unusually low, $2.50 being charged at Pocatello last year, resulting in a packed gymnasium during the whole series.

Sunday morning coaches and members of the high school teams will be entertained at a breakfast at the Blue Bucket inn. Frank Wenzler, in charge of the entertainment, said that probably the entire Idaho coaching staff would be present, besides university officials and members of Blue Key. Entertainment numbers and short talks are listed on the program.

Frosh Observe Irish Snake Charmer's Festival with Green Derby Rejuvenation

By Elsie Warm. St. Patrick's day is anticipated with anything but Irish optimism by the University of Idaho freshmen men, for on that day tradition decrees that the green cap, symbol of mediocrity and humility, must be again brought forth to decorate the heads of the yearlings. Why St. Patrick should be honored in this way by the freshmen the tradition does not, however, make clear.

The origin of this tradition, as of many other customs which are handed down by practices and by word of mouth, is completely shrouded in mystery. Miss Perneal J. French, dean of women, who has been with the University of Idaho for 21 years, stated that she does not know how it came about nor how long it has been in effect, but to the best of her knowledge it was an old practice when she joined the Idaho administration in 1908, two years after the big fire which destroyed the old Administration building.

The first trace in writing which can be found of the tradition is in a set of rules which the seniors placed before an assembly of the University of Idaho student body on October 11, 1911. The wearing of the green cap was at that time considered important enough to be embodied in a measure which included saluting the president and uncovering the head when singing the alma mater song. Since then the custom has been a tradition in the strict sense of the word, but it had been observed for some years prior to the time the rule was adopted.

"All freshman boys must wear the verdant sky-blue whenever they appear on the campus between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m., except during athletic events, at which time they must wear official Idaho 'frosh' caps," is the stern warning set forth in the University of Idaho handbook.

Tradition has, however, softened and modified this harsh rule somewhat. The freshmen don the despised headgear at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of the annual freshman-sophomore combat, the Hulme fight, which is supposed to take place the first Saturday after registration in the fall. If they triumph over the sophomores in the fight, they may remove it at the beginning of Thanksgiving vacation, probable so that they will have one reason for offering thanks on that day. If they lose the fight, they must wear the cap until Christmas.

The cap is brought to light again on St. Patrick's day, and is worn until Campus day, when it is burned with last rites and everlasting relief. Enforcement of this tradition has been rather lax during the last two years, but it measures being considered by the ASUI executive board and other student organizations are adopted—wamp be unto the frosh caught on the campus without his green cap.

Idaho Squad Finishes Week With Three Wins and Three Losses

With only four opponents this week the next to the last weeks program for the University rifle team has the lightest schedule since firing began in January. The four opponents this week are the University of Illinois, Lehigh university, Louisiana State university, and Carnegie Tech. The total score for last week was slightly lower than the week before with a total of 3504. The individual scores were: P. Crox 357, E. Parker 353, H. Yost 352, C. Talbot 353, J. Crox 352, A. Ladd 352, Ted Helmer 350, J. Grandall 349, H. Doty 344, E. Werner 345, E. Johnson 341, C. Collier 337, K. Platt 336, V. Clark 330, and A. Moss. The team lost to Culver university, Mississippi A. and M. college and Kentucky university by scores of 3672, 3640, and 3546 to 3531. They won from Washington university, St. Louis, and Davidson college by 3511 to 3403, and 3515 and from the University of Maine 1784 to 1775 with a five-man team.

BOHLER NAMES MC MILLAN ON ALL-COAST HOOP TEAM

(Continued from Page 1) opinion as to the selection of at least one guard position." The text of Bohler's comments on his selections follows: "In choosing the forwards I place La Verne Corbin, California's captain, as the leading player. He headed the list of individual scorers of the southern division and has been an important factor in bringing the pennant to California. Although Corbin was shifted from center, where he played during the early part of the season, he strengthens the combination as a forward. He is a consistent performer, tall and aggressive, and scores well from any position. He has been a stiff player throughout his varsity career, placing as center on the second all-coast team both last year and the year before. "Frank McMillan, Idaho's sharpshooting ace and leading scorer of the northern division, wins the other forward position. Without question he was the outstanding forward of the 'northwest.' He is very fast, a good dodger and clever dribbler. His performance is all the more effective because of his left-handed shooting. He is a man that is unusually hard to guard. McMillan is a junior and has one more year of competition.

"For the first center position Harold McClary, the tall Washington player, has the edge on all other centers. Handling himself cleverly for such a big man, McClary with his extreme height has been largely responsible for Washington's fine record. He makes an ideal center, his 6 feet 7 inches of height practically assuring him of the tip-off. Under the basket he is always a scoring threat. He has another year of play ahead of him.

"The opinion seems to be nearly unanimous that Harlow Rohrer of Stanford is the best guard in the conference. He receives the first choice. Rangy and aggressive, he is clever at getting the ball off the backboard and putting it back in play, and is a dangerous scorer when in shooting distance. As a good all-around player he has been important in Stanford's showing this year. He is a junior.

"It is rather difficult to pick a running man for Rohrer, as no other man can be rated as really outstanding guard. Joel Coffield, California's sophomore star, who developed rapidly during the season, however, is given the place. He also is tall and aggressive and is particularly adept at getting the ball away from the opponents' basket. When given the opportunity he is a good scorer.

Second Team Rates High

"It was difficult in several instances to keep the second team players off the first group. The work of these men was very effective in the success of their respective teams. Fawcett of Stanford and Stephens of California are given the second team forward jobs. Both of these men did excellent work and there is little difference in the merit of their play. Stephens is a good shot but not consistent enough to win a first team berth. Fawcett is rather small for the all-star team but he is fast, clever and an excellent shot. He was the scoring ace for Stanford during the past season.

"There were several others who did creditable work at forward. Jaloff, the diminutive Washington forward, shows much promise for the future, while Snider, the other Washington forward, did splendid work for the northern champs, but his play wasn't up to his record of last year, when he won a position on the all-coast first team. Linthicum, U. C. L. A. forward, proved a valuable player for his team.

"Perry Ten Eyck, California center, is named pivot man on the second selection. He is tall and his unlimited amount of endurance permits him to play a fine floor game. He is also a nice shot on both long and short attempts and is a constant threat to opponents. Mortenson of Southern California, who placed on last year's first all-coast team as a forward, is given honorable mention. He was moved from forward to center and turned in a creditable game although it was for below his caliber of last season. Burchler of Idaho and Endslow of Washington State displayed fine playing ability, but neither was consistent.

Lehner Again at Guard. For the second time John Lehner of Southern California has placed on the second team as a guard. He is a consistent scorer and was often high point man in the games his team played. He gave Coffield a close run for first team honors. Percy Bolstad of Washington earned a second team position through his outstanding work in connection with his team's campaign for the northern title. Gregory of California, guard on last season's all coast, pushed both Lehner and Bolstad for the position but fell a little short of his performance of 1928. Gregory is more rugged than Bolstad but the latter is a smoother floor man. Ridings of Oregon, who placed on the second team last season, played a good game although on a losing team.

The above selection form the strongest all-coast team in history, in the opinion of Director Bohler. The team performance from tip-off to basket would be ideal. The lineup would be exceptionally strong in the scoring department with every man a dangerous shot. In a defensive way the team could guard equally as well. Basketball this year was decidedly better," Bohler concluded. "There was less of the stalling type of game and the play throughout the conference was faster, making it of considerable more interest to the spectators. The scores were much higher in the main and ran quite regularly into the 30s compared with the 20s of recent seasons."
