WHY HAVE GREEN CAPS?

FRESHMAN green caps are not symbolic of lowliness as many new students believe. They have a valuable "socializing" influence, an editorial writer in the Washington State college. Evergreen declares. Green caps were donned by the freshmen at W. S. C. on St. Patrick's day, the same day that they made their appearance on the Idaho campus. Explaining the reason for the custom, the W. S. C. writer says in part:

One of the oldest traditions in the collegiate world as well as on the State college campus is the labeling of newcomers each year. College freshmen are "socialized" when they wear and accept the classification mark of their institution. It may be a green crush hat, a black cap or a green "dink." They are all a class distinction, a privilege denied members of any other organization in the institution.

Freshman days are filled with bumps which make rugged going, but those very jolts impress and fill the memory with yarn-telling material for the rest of a lifetime. Alumni of the State college are prone to recall when they wore the green as their happiest days on the campus. It is a method of individual recognition and enables fellow classmates to become better acquainted and thus form friendships and associations that make for a strength in class organization throughout the next three years.

A first-year man should begin his college career by supporting locally all the traditions of that institution and should be slow to question that custom which is an outgrowth of many, many successful seasons.

A. I. E. E. SHOW MOVIE TODAY

Film Depicting Manufacture of Cables Will Be Run at 4 P. M. in Science Hall.

"The Single Ridge," a three-reel motion picture illustrating the manufacture of insulated wires and cables, is being shown at 4 o'clock today in the Science hall. The film was brought here by the Idaho branch of the A. I. E. E. for the benefit of its members, but all students interested are free to attend.

The film, which has a running time of 45 minutes, opens with a few scenes on the Amazon river showing the natives at work gathering and smoking the "latex" or sap. It then follows through to the completed product in logical sequence. Some of the steps include the treatment of the rubber, drawing the copper rod into wire of required sizes, applying rubber compound to the copper and the application of outer protective coverings of various types. The picture was made available through the courtesy of the San Francisco office of the Okonite Cable company.

ORATORY CONTEST GOES TO ACKERMAN

Coeur d'Alene Senior Wins District High School Forensic Meet; Coached by Idaho Graduate.

Edward Ackerman, Coeur d'Alene, won first place in the northern Idaho oratorical contest held at the Moscow high school, Friday. By virtue of his victory Ackerman, eligible to enter the state oratorical contest at Pocatello next week. Second place in the district contest was awarded to John Farris, Wallace senior, and Miro Mikkelich, Mullan sophomore, was third.

The subject of Ackerman's speech was "The Present Significance of the Constitution." The contest as a whole was closely contested. Jasper M. Garland, varsity debate coach, acted as one of the judges of the contest.

Ackerman is a senior at Coeur d'Alene and was coached by Herbert Wunderlich, former Idaho student and forensic leader, here.

STUDENT'S PLAY REACHES MOSCOW

Marjorie Albertson Is Composer of Music For "Glory"; Here April 1.

"Glory," a three-act musical comedy for which Marjorie Albertson, senior from Blackfoot, wrote the musical score, is to be presented in Moscow April 1 by a cast made up of university students and townspeople. The play, which is being presented here at the University of Idaho, is the arrival here of Ralph Herron and Robert Dels, of Twin Falls, co-authors of the production. The Moscow Women's Historical club is sponsoring the play which is to be given at the University theater.

A chance meeting in Yellowstone National park furnished the incentive for the work. Miss Albertson, spending her vacation in the park met two young men who wrote the play and aided them by providing a musical background. Both Mr. Herron and Mr. Dels were employed in the park and were able to use only their spare time in producing their musical comedy.

Success has greeted "Glory's" several performances in south Idaho towns since its first appearance last October.

Sovereignty Can Be Divided Says Boyd; Proves Point

A Columbus in the sea of government has been found. Paul Boyd, Lindley hall senior, has been giving most of his attention for the past week to the question of "sovereignty" and has made some startling new discoveries.

Boyd, a member of one of Prof. T. S. Kerr's classes, made the statement that sovereignty could be divided. Mr. Kerr, the class, and probably the rest of the world could scarcely agree with his individualistic viewpoint. It was then Mr. Boyd's task to prove his statement at the next class meeting. Day and night he pored over books on principles and theories of government.

Finally, he prepared two long gallery sheets full of absolute proof. These he read to the students in this class and all had to admit that he had proved his point—that sovereignty can be divided. The difficulty was found to have been in different interpretations of the word. Boyd, instead of taking sovereignty as meaning the supreme power, interpreted it as meaning government. He said, therefore, that sovereignty could be divided between the national government and the individual states.

Childhood Lingers In Kiddish Scraps Of Neighbor Groups

Children should agree, but unfortunately they don't, always, judging from the antics of a group of boys and their sorority neighbors last Friday noon. It all started when one small youngster scattered little pieces of paper over the girls' lawn. While the boys were lunching, their neighbors launched their attack. What a wonderful time they had dancing lightly over the fraternal lawn, showering quantities of tiny paper scraps everywhere. When the little boys discovered what the girls had done they armed themselves with soap and centered their attention on sorority house windows.

After that the girls declared armistice, exacting promises from the enemy, who agreed to send a couple of frosh over in the morning to undo the damage.

Peace having been thus restored between the college boys and the college girls they went back to their own yards to play contentedly.

RICH FOX IS PESSIMISTIC ABOUT BASEBALL PROSPECTS

Millin at first base, Cheyne at shortstop and probably Greeling at third base, are slotted as regulars. Fox may possibly slite one or two of these men around, but they will stay in the infield. Other infielders and outfield candidates outstanding at the present time include: Burton, Richardson, Fuller, Duffy and Johnson. Fox is anything but optimistic over the Vandal prospects, but sees possibilities in the Idaho squad if the handicaps of inexperience can be somewhat removed before the season is too far underway. The Idaho coach believes the pitching staff at present is his weakest spot, particularly with Idaho playing 16 games during May. Idaho, too, may be weak in the hitting department.

The Idaho schedule this year includes an eight-game trip to the western division of the northern Pacific Coast conference, with the traveling squad to be gone more than 10 days.

No Blarney—they Satisfy!

The Blarney Stone still does business at the old stand. You tip the guide to hold onto your heels, lean far over the castle wall, and print a respectful smack upon the famous relic. Thereafter you can charm the birds out of the trees; you can talk anybody out of anything, even to switching his favorite cigarette.

Unfortunately, the writer has never had this privilege, and his effort to make you see the light and light a Chesterfield must limit itself to a plain quotation of cigarette fact, namely:

"We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price."

If that isn't the last word on the subject of smoking, your correspondent engages to eat the Blarney Stone upon his very next trip to the Emerald Isle.

INDOOR BASEBALL TAKES SPOTLIGHT; RELEASE SCHEDULE

Saturday to See Completion of First Round; Play is on Single Elimination Basis

BETAS TAKE LEAD

Sigma Chi Noses Out S.A.E. by 12 to 11 Count; T.M.A. vs. Ridenbaugh Wed.

Indoor baseball, the fourth major event on the intramural athletic program for the present school year, will be well under way by Saturday, when the first games in both "A" and "B" leagues will be run off. The tourney is on the single elimination basis, but the winner of the consolation tourney in each league plays the loser of the league championship finals for second place.

Beta Theta took the lead in "A" league in the first game of the tourney last Thursday by narrowly defeating Beta Chi 6 to 5. Monday night's game between Sigma Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, the first "B" league contest was won by Sigma Chi 12 to 11.

The remainder of the schedule for the following week is:

League A.
Tau Men Alpha vs. Ridenbaugh hall, Wednesday, 7:30 p. m.
Delta Chi vs. Alpha Tau Omega, Thursday, 7:30 p. m.
Lambda Chi vs. Kappa Sigma, Saturday, 3 p. m.

League B.
Phi Delta Theta vs. Lindley hall, Tuesday, 7:30 p. m.
Sigma Nu vs. Phi Gamma Delta, Saturday, 2 p. m.

Tau Kappa Epsilon drew the bye. Next week the winners will be paired with winners and the losers with losers, eight teams to be eliminated. The following week will see the elimination of four more teams, and the league championship games will come during the third week.

One hundred points will go to the winner in each league and in the campus title play-off, an additional 25 points go to the winner. Second place winners in each division get 50 points each. Failure of any group house to enter a team constitutes a 25-point penalty. Forfeit of any scheduled game also means a penalty of 10 points.

The games are of five innings each and are run off in the new memorial gymnasium, where two special indoor diamonds have been laid off.

FOUL BALLS

By Paul Boyd

All the ball fans at Idaho are wondering what kind of a club Coach Fox will turn out to represent Vandaland. With seven lettermen back, but with holes to be plugged with inexperienced men, your guess is as good as ours.

Only two men from last year's club are back to round out the infield. Cheyne, shortstop, and McMillin, at first, are the sole survivors. This leaves third, and second open to recruits. Burton, who played short on last year's frosh nine, seems slated for one of these positions. He is fast and has a wonderful arm, but the question is: Can he hit? Hallday, Richardson and many others are all trying out for infield berths, and the job goes to the man who can knock the apple the farthest.

The catching department also is weak this year. At the present time, no one of varsity caliber has made an appearance. Who is going to hold down this mighty important job is a guess. Carl Kyselka seems to have the inside post, due to his three years experience at the southern branch.

The curving department of a ball club is what generally drives most managers to drink. The Vandals have only two twirlers who have won letters at this sport. These are Lawrence and Grabner. One is a crooked arm and the other an orthodox thrower. Two men can't take a club through a 20-game schedule and still retail enough stuff to guess with the batter.

Only one post is left vacant in the outfield. Price and Greeling are on deck to take care of most of the fly balls that will come in the pastures. No outstanding fly chaser is out there now, but one will be there because the rules specify nine men on a side.

We would like to know where W. S. C. gets all her hitters. Each year she presents nine men who get mad if they don't smack that onion for at least one extra base blow per game. We wish we could get the blows.

Idaho has only to beat Montana, W. S. C., Oregon, O. S. C., and Washington to cop the title this year. Of course, this is going to be easy, when the season opens next month, and the club is practicing inside the gymnasium, due to the "good" spring weather that Idaho has here.

FREE THROW MATCH GETS UNDER WAY

Five university women took part in the first day's competition of the world free throw tournament which began yesterday and will continue until Saturday afternoon when Moscow high school girls will be given an opportunity to take part in their division of the annual contest. Each woman entering will have 120 free throws, this number being divided into two parts, the highest score in either 60 to be taken as the woman's record for the tournament.

Last year when Idaho earned seventh place among universities of the United States, Marjorie Green, Loretta Beson and Georgia Hall scored highest.

Hulme Fight Tradition is Outgrowth of Old Hard Boiled Rivalry Between Under Classes

By Elsie Warm
"The fight used not to be the nicely engineered affair that it is now," said Dr. J. G. Eldridge, dean of the college of letters and science, when questioned concerning the freshman-sophomore fight which has been a tradition at Idaho almost since its birth, and which has since evolved into the Hulme fight. "It was just a pitched battle with the biggest and strongest fellow, John Hulme."

Dean Eldridge said that the freshmen and sophomores have fought ever since he came to the university in 1903. Freshmen and sophomores are traditional enemies in all colleges, it seems, and Idaho, of course, is no exception. Relations between the two classes, for some indefinable reason cannot be smooth. Apparently the sophomores, with one year's sophistication to their credit, feel themselves infinitely superior to the freshmen who come to college "green" and "dumb". At any rate, hazing of no gentle sort was the general thing at Idaho a quarter of a century ago and has survived in a somewhat refined form to this day.

In former years the fight began the minute the freshmen reached the campus in the fall and lasted until St. Patrick's day, when there was a general free-for-all and after that comparative quiet reigned for the remainder of the year. The sophomores usually came out ahead, said Dean Eldridge, but the battles were quite evenly matched, since the freshmen made up in numbers what they lacked in experience.

Some interesting anecdotes are related concerning these ancient battles. One is told of Elmer J. (Army) Armstrong, '09, who is now an engineer with some electrical company in Seattle. He was also for time football captain at Idaho. "Army" in his freshman year, appeared on the campus on St. Patrick's day in shoes painted a flaming and insulting orange, in direct defiance to the Irish saint and the freshman green. He was ordered by some outraged sophomore to remove the offending footwear, but the demand did not strike home. The sophomore ire leaped into flame, especially among those members whose forefathers had roamed the Shoshone Isle. "Army" was set upon, and a battle ensued into which both classes were drawn. The rebellious freshman was seized upon, and an effort made to remove the shoes by force. They had, been wired to his feet, but short work was made of those weak strands, and "Army" emerged bruised and shoeless, but his true freshman spirit still intact.

The fighting spirit between the two lower classes grew to be something of a nuisance as the membership in each increased, and in 1915 Edward M. Hulme, who was then dean of the college of letters and science, put into practice a scheme of organized fighting by which class supremacy could be established according to civilized methods. There were boxing bouts, wrestling matches, tugs of war, and other forms of combat. The fight was scheduled to take place the Saturday immediately following registration, in order to settle the quarrel early in the year. This fight has become a tradition which is still in practice.

The green cap tradition is closely allied to the Hulme fight. If the freshmen lose the fight, they don the green cap and wear it until Christmas vacation, when it is laid aside until St. Patrick's day. If they win the fight, they may discard the cap at Thanksgiving, but they must begin wearing it again at St. Patrick's day in any event. This month of respite, as a matter of fact is never granted for, as a sophomore boasted, "the freshmen never win the fight."

IDAHO COACHES WALLOP W. S. C.

Vandal Basketball Artists Romp Over Cougars in Deciding Game of Series, 20 to 14.

Overcoming their inability to locate the basket during the first three quarters of a tight and hectic game, Idaho coaches ran away from Washington State college's mentors in the final frame to take a 20 to 14 win on the court of the Spokane Athletic club at Spokane Saturday night. The game was the third of the annual series between the two schools, Idaho winning the first and last.

The Cougar coaches took the lead for the first quarter, but Idaho came back to take a four point lead as the half ended. Washington State rallied to tie the score at the end of the third quarter, but here Idaho braced and took a commanding lead, held until the final gun.

Rich Fox and Glenn Jacoby starred for Idaho, while Doc Bohler upheld the scoring honors for the neighboring institution. Several hundred people saw the championship contest.

This Smoke Aids Artist To Nab Ideas
Independence, Mo. June 24, 1928.
Larus & Brother Co., Richmond, Va.
Dear Sirs:
Perhaps you would like to know in just a word or so how I am in partners with Edgeworth in a business way.
By profession I am a cartoonist, who you probably know is called upon to create new ideas. While this is ranked as the hardest part of the profession, I have proved it may easily be mastered, if a person will but recline in any easy chair, light a pipe, and live with imaginative persons in the aromatic smoke clouds that will soon fill the room. Edgeworth has given me more ideas than any other brand of tobacco, so I "married" my pipe to it quite a while ago. The result has been wonderful. The more you use Edgeworth, the more you crave it—not as a drug, but as a wholesome pleasure.
Complementing the standard quality (which means more than the words signify) of Edgeworth, I am a devoted and profound user.
Yours very respectfully,
James W. Bright
