SPRING FOOTBALL STARTS UNDER NEW GRIDIRON COACH

Forty Answer Calland's First Call; Expect Fifty To Report

DRILL TO LAST 30 DAYS

Final Two Weeks Will See Scrimmages Between Picked Teams

Forty men Monday afternoon answered the call of spring—and their new football coach, Leo B. Calland. Comprising the bulk of material from which Idaho's new grid mentor will select his 1929 varsity squad, nearly four full eleven limbered their arms and legs on MacLean field yesterday afternoon, their first tryout for a month of practice. Coach Calland returned to Moscow Sunday afternoon and will spend April here in developing football material.

A week of kicking, passing and loosening-up exercises, combined with the fundamentals of the game, is the first step in Calland's spring program. Then will follow two weeks or more of hard schooling in the basic style of play that Idaho will adopt under his new coach next fall. Calland plans to devote a part of the fourth and final week of practice to actual scrimmages between two picked teams. Additions to the initial turnout is expected to boost the total to more than 50 players this week.

Appointed One Month Ago

Almost exactly a month after he had been formally appointed as head of the department of physical education and athletics and head coach at the University of Idaho, Calland was putting his Vandal prospects through their paces on Idaho turf. But grant of only a month's leave of absence from the University of Southern California, where he had been head basketball coach and freshman grid mentor, Calland will have to return to the southern institution the first of May. He had hoped for a six-weeks practice period, but found it impossible to make arrangements.

Speculation as to the style of football that Calland will introduce into Idaho has been particularly rife ever since Calland's appointment a month ago. Calland, an all-American guard when playing for U. S. C. under C. Henderson, later returned to his alma mater under Howard Jones, Idaho's new coach, then will bring to the northwest a combination of Henderson and Jones' football as played

MARKED UNINTEREST ATTENDS ELECTION

Only 294 Vote On Amendment To Enlarge Executive Board

Less than 300 students, barely enough to make the election legal, voted yesterday at the special ASUI election on the constitutional amendment adding a sophomore man and another senior woman to the executive board. The returns show that 272 votes were cast in favor of adopting the amendment and 22 were against its adoption.

The amendment voted upon, Article IV, Section 2, Sub-section B of the constitution reads as follows: "Eight members of the executive board to be elected as follows: two men members and one woman member from the incoming senior class; two men members and one woman member from the incoming junior class; and a man member from the incoming sophomore class."

Candidates for both of the new positions will be nominated at the annual nominating assembly next Tuesday at 11 o'clock. The primary election will be held April 15 and the annual student body election is scheduled for May 2.

The ASUI constitution provides that at least one fifth of the members of the student body must vote at an election to make it legal. The total enrollment is over 1700 making the vote cast yesterday less than the required one-fifth. Only 1100 students, however, have drawn their second-semester ASUI coupon books certifying their membership. With that figure as a basis, the election has been declared to be legal by several members of the executive board.

The election was held in room 104 Administration building, the former ASUI office.

FIVE STUDENTS GET POSITIONS

Placement Bureau Obtains Teaching Positions for Twelve Graduating Seniors for Next Year.

Five seniors in the school of education have been placed in administrative positions as superintendents of Idaho schools for next year, according to Miss Bernice McCoy, director of the bureau. The placements have been made during the past two weeks.

The list, along with the name of the school where they will teach next year, includes: William D. Riddle, Genesee; Norman Johnson, Council; Kenneth Dean, Weippe; William Gartin, Mountain Home; and James Allen, Troy.

The following have been elected to teaching positions: Marguerite Oliver, Rupert; Floren Grabner, Winchester; Agnes Eckermann, Hagerman; Marion Vorous, Cottonwood; Jeannette Arntzen, Burli; Cleo Decker, Arvo; Ralph Peterson, Filer; Fredrick Baumgartner, Southwick; Leigh Dickson, Bliss; Beatrice Hardin, Meridian; Wilfred Turner, Emmett; and John Redford, Emmett.

Reports indicate that the Idaho men are almost 100 per cent successful in administrative work, said Miss McCoy. Several of those who have been holding superintendents have been given substantial increases in salary for the coming year.

"Senior Sneak" Dates to 1906; First Held at Moscow Mountain

By Elsie Warm.

"They used to sneak out of their dormitories before daybreak and completely disappear," said Miss Belle Sweet, university librarian, when questioned concerning the senior sneak in years gone by. "They weren't so many of them then, and they could get away without being caught. As the senior class increased in numbers, it became harder to keep the date from the other students."

The tradition originated in 1906, Miss Sweet said. It seems that the senior class, seized with acute spring fever, decided one day to pull stakes, abandoning text books and lecture notes, and go for a picnic in the near-by hills. In order to prevent interference from faculty and to eliminate the unwelcome company of unheralded and unsuspected. One bright spring day the seniors became just that, neither in their class rooms, their beds, nor anywhere that one could ordinarily find them.

The sneak continued successfully for several years, until the juniors, jealous at being excluded from the fun, determined to put a stop to it. They did some sneaking themselves, to find out the date of the annual picnic. As soon as warm weather began in the spring, each junior kept a sharp ear open for information concerning the time of the holiday, and woe to the seniors if their sneak was discovered. Great numbers were kidnapped and held under guard until the merry makers were so far away that they could not be rejoined. As a result both juniors and seniors were often missing.

Formerly the sneakers "snuck" to Moscow mountain and other points of scenic beauty near Moscow. They left before dawn, in buggies, hay wagons, or any other vehicles which could carry a load of men, women and food. It was the custom also, to abduct a faculty member to serve as chaperone.

Soon the picnickers went farther and farther from Moscow, the farther and the better. When they at last went to Palouse one year, the trip was looked upon as a great achievement. Later Spokane and Coeur d'Alene were the scenes of senior holidays, and last year they went to Bozeman tavern at Hayden lake.

After the juniors had been forbidden to enjoy the annual picnic, to get even with the seniors they raided their rooms on sneak day, stole their

TRIO NEAR NUDE IN FIRE'S WAKE

Blaze Wipes Out Garments of College Students; Cause Unknown; Taxes Saved

Two tuxedos, three pairs of corduroy trousers, three suit coats and several pairs of oxfords were all that remained of the wardrobe of three university students Friday afternoon following a fire of undetermined origin which gutted the clothes closet of their room in the residence of W. B. Casey, 1016 Denkin avenue.

The "tuxes" had fortunately been sent out for the evening. Jack Pang-borne, Tacoma, junior in the college of engineering; Harding Townsend, Great Falls, junior in the school of education; and Kenneth McDowell, senior of the school of education, are now wishing that more of their apparel had been on the backs of something other than clothes hangers that afternoon.

The alarm was turned in by Pangborne who saw the blaze from the street where he was working on a car. Efforts with a water pail and under control before the fire department arrived and little damage was done to the woodwork or furnishings of the room but the clothing was an entire loss. Pangborne suffered burns on one hand and arm in his efforts to have the apparel.

"Our suits weren't burned very bad," said Pangborne Friday evening, "just the shoulders and backs out of the coats and the legs off the pants."

Purchasers of tickets for the cabaret will have to reserve their tables at the Blue Bucket inn, but these reservations will not start until next Monday morning, April 8, according to Harry Daubert, chairman of the cabaret committee. Tickets must be purchased before reservations are made. Table arrangements for the most part call for two couples to a table, although five tables accommodating seven couples each are planned. Arrangements for the larger tables can be made with the cabaret committee.

Stellar Forward

"CAT" THOMPSON, Montana State's premier forward, has been named on practically all the national basketball selections, including those of Knute Rockne and Alan Gould. He averaged 16 points in each of the 12 games of the Rocky Mountain conference schedule. His work was a big factor in the Bobcats' record of 33 victories in 35 games played this season, including two wins over the Kansas City Cook Painters, 1929 A. A. U. champions.

OMEGA ALPHA BUYS BUILDING PROPERTY

Deal Closed For Two Lots On Elm Across From Alpha Phi

Future plans for the construction of another group house on Idaho's "fraternity row" were revealed last night by the announcement by Omega Alpha, women's local, of the purchase of two building lots at the southwest corner of Sixth and Elm streets. Last week the group, the only women's local on the campus, was granted a chapter by Delta Delta Delta national fraternity.

The property is located directly across from the Alpha Phi house, occupying a frontage of 132 and one-half feet on Elm street. A two-story frame house on the property is included in the transaction. The deal was closed today with the signing of final papers. The consideration was not announced. The property was formerly owned by Mrs. Amanda Bolander who died in December. H. H. Smith, Moscow attorney, is executor of the estate. The deal was handled through the Veatch Realty company.

No definite plans for building have been made by the new owners. Ruth Story, president of the group, said that building probably would not be started before two or three years.

Omega Alpha has occupied a rented house at the corner of Deakin and College avenues since it was incorporated in 1925.

Present plans call for the installation of the new Tri-Delt chapter on May 24, 25 and 26. The installing officer probably would be from the west, said Miss Story.

BAND CONCERT DATE NOT FIXED

Postponed Again Because of Junior Week and Glee Club Tour, Until April 24.

The pep band concert has been postponed until about April 24, Sam Hutchings, student director of the organization, said last night.

The coming of Junior week, and the northern Idaho Glee club tour will take up the next two weeks, so that it was thought best to postpone the concert," Mr. Hutchings said.

This year the pep band has been wholly under student supervision. Three years ago David Nyvall, assistant professor of music, took over the supervision of the band. New members are selected each fall by the try out pep band.

Idaho's pep band is one of the most unique musical organizations in the country, according to many critics. Heretofore the band has gone on an annual tour of the state, and has played at football games on the coast. Last fall the band made a trip to San Francisco to the Idaho-Stanford game.

Old Buildings Were Once Pride and Joy Of State's Citizens

By Elmer Yaggy.

Back in 1909, when Fred Skogg, dean of janitors, first came to the Idaho campus, it wasn't as imposing as it is today. The famous old hill that the glee club still sings about had been leveled down, and construction of a new Administration building had been started. It was of Tudor-Gothic design and made of red brick. And when the completed structure was dedicated, the surrounding countryside came, gazed in wonder on the enormous new building—which is today but the auditorium wing—and when he swelled with pride for the wonderful building of learning.

Nor was this all there was to our university. To the north was a very modern, scientific mining building; to the south an elaborate, many-towered school of mines building, which is now known as the Engineering building. East of that was the up-to-date women's dormitory and home economics building, Ridenbaugh hall. Nor was the mind the only thing cared for in this progressive institution. The new Memorial gymnasium, then the 1907 student wing of the mosque stepled brick and stone edifice which has been today scorned as a scene of manly sports and turned over to the interclass women's athletics. Many's the good old scrap has been fought there after a W. S. C. basketball game. Many's the good old Junior Prom's been held on its now pillared old hardwood floor.

There was a frisky spirit of fellowship in the small student body. The hello spirit was instinctive for everyone else so well that the omission would have been a direct snub.

LIVE STOCK SHOW DATE SET FOR MAY 4

Parade Will Precede Annual Agriculture College Exhibition in Lewis Court.

The best stock in the barns and sheds of the college of agriculture will be on public display in Lewis court May 4, Bruce Sifton, chairman of the Little International Livestock exhibition, announced last night following a regular meeting of the Ag club in Morrill hall. Students will groom their individual entries in the several exhibits and prizes will be awarded to the best specimens. Judging contests will also be participated in by the ag students.

Preceding the official inspection of stock in Lewis court a parade of all entries and a number of floats arranged by the several units of the agriculture college will take place on the campus and through the business district of Moscow.

Superintendents of the judging business as announced by Dean E. J. Idings of the college of agriculture are Austin Steers, animal husbandry; Harold Steels, dairy cattle; Tony Anderson, dairy products; Charles Spencer, poultry; Albert Koster, grain; Albert Murphy and S. LETTERS, SCIENCE WANTS TO BECOME A SENIOR COLLEGE

New Junior College Would Be Tenth Division Of University

MAY ABOLISH MAJORS

Proposed Changes To Be Voted Upon By General Faculty Tomorrow

Extensive curricula changes and reorganization plans which would make the college of letters and science a senior college and the new junior college the tenth division of the university will be voted upon for final approval and adoption at a general faculty meeting tomorrow afternoon.

Proposed changes necessitated by the adoption in January of the junior and senior college plan of university organization were unanimously approved by the 60 members of the letters and science faculty Saturday afternoon. The changes were worked out by the letters and science committee of the letters and science faculty, following a series of 22 meetings lasting from one to four hours each, the first of which was held early in November.

Would Be New Division.

If the changes are approved tomorrow the junior college would then be added to the present nine divisions of the university and would have its own administrative organization. Letters and science would be a senior college alone, instead of a junior college and a senior college, as was originally planned at the January faculty meeting. Two other divisions, the schools of education and business administration, voted to become senior colleges under the new system, at the January meeting. The college of law has really been a senior college for a number of years. The junior college here will be identical with the one at the southern branch of the university at Pendleton.

The present system of majors and minors would be changed into a comprehensive scheme of curricula, 26 of which have been outlined in detail for the college of letters and science. Under the new curriculum plan, departments may be the basis for the courses of study, but subsidiary and collateral courses will be included from other departments. The collateral material could and would in many cases amount to as much as the original basic courses.

"SPANISH HOUSE" AGAIN PLANNED

Advanced Students Will Speak, Act, and Dance Spanish During Special Residence Course in June.

A "Spanish House" lasting six weeks is to be opened again for advanced Spanish students during the coming summer term in a fraternity house adjoining the campus. This house will be managed by Professors Arthur Howe and Alberto Vasquez and chaperoned by Mrs. Geoffrey Cope, a native of Mexico. Everything done by the occupants of the house will be Spanish. All parties, games, songs, dance music and lessons will pertain to Spanish, and everyone, not excluding the cook, will speak Espanol at all times. The mornings will be devoted to classes, but the afternoons and evenings will be free, although the majority of social affairs will be planned by the students themselves.

A very successful school of this type was maintained last summer, and a larger group have applied for admission this coming summer, said Professor Howe. Each week the students will have a dance and a picnic, and during the term several trips to nearby vicinities will be taken.

According to Professor Howe, a member never regrets living in this house for six weeks. In addition to the Spanish instruction, students may take two credits of outside work. Six credits will be given for work satisfactorily completed at the "Casa Espanola."

YOUNG PROSECUTOR LEAVES FOR WEISER

Herman Welker, senior law student, will leave today morning for Weiser where he will take over the office of the prosecuting attorney of Washington county for the spring term of district court.

Welker took the state bar examination here Thursday and Friday and was passed by the local examining board composed of A. H. Owersmith and T. A. Feehey, Moscow attorneys. His examination will be passed upon finally by the state board at Boise.

He will return to the university about May 15 to finish his senior law courses in order to be eligible for his LL. B. degree at commencement.

"Strong Box Bobby" at Phi Deltas; House Manager Saves Cash

By Paul Jones.

"Strong-Box Bobby", the unknown footpad who is alleged to have been molesting fraternity and sorority houses on the campus for the past few months, entered the Phi Delta Theta house at about 2 o'clock Monday morning, nonchalantly went into the house manager's room, opened the desk and departed—or rather started to depart with the strong box under his arm.

Harry Robb, house manager, who had been attending a "bull fest" in a nearby room met "Bobby" at the head of the stairs and, on seeing the strong box, decided that the stranger had probably not been paying a social call. At any rate, formalities were dispensed with, and instead of introducing himself, Robb started calling the names of his colleagues and a few other names, which modestly for bids printing.

"I loved that strong box like I loved my mother," said the house manager when questioned. "You can imagine how I felt when I saw 'B' going down the stairs in the arms of a perfect stranger. I was paralyzed—but not for long, I remember shouting a few words that probably conveyed the idea that all was not right to the few fellows who were up, and then started after the man. He went out the front door 'in high' and I was not far behind. I guess he thought the strong box was retaining him because he dropped it after he had gotten outside and then sped up. Several of the men chased him—but he ran like an A.A.U. sprint champion."

"There was no cash in the strong box—just some checks but somehow I'd become really attached to that box and I hated to see it go."

"What did he look like?"—"I don't know. It might have been President Hoover in a pair of B.V.D.'s. All I saw was the strong box."

That is Robb's story, and he sticks to it. So do five or six others who were in the room when the robbery occurred. But the fact that it did occur so shortly after April 1 was overshadowed in caused some nodding of heads and winking of eyes among the other brothers in the Phi Delta house. Nevertheless, there is a dent in the strong box and Robb will show anyone where it hit the ground just a little to the right of the front porch. More credulity was given the story later that morning when two men announced that they had missed sums of $5 and $10 respectively, and that one of the cars parked in front of the house was found to have been tampered with.

BETAS TAKE LEAD IN SPORTS EVENTS

Group, with 300 Points, Far Ahead Of Nearest Competitor

Beta Theta Pi fraternity, by virtue of winning the university championship in the three intramural athletic events held to date, is far in the lead in the intramural trophy race, with a total of 300 points. Kappa Sigma is second with 90 points. Charles Heath won the cross-country run for the Betas, also winners in volleyball and basketball. Kappa Sigma gained 40 points in cross-country and 50 points in basketball. Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Tau Omega and Ridenbaugh lost 25 points each for non-appearance in events.

The group having the greatest number of points at the end of the program will be awarded an intramural championship trophy. This differs from previous years when the events were fewer and awards were made for each branch of competition.

The intramural swimming meet scheduled to be held last night was postponed until tomorrow evening, according to Gerald Grimm, swimming manager. Lack of training and preparation on the part of nearly all the competing teams was the reason given for the postponement. The two day delay is expected to afford ample time for the needed polish.

The "truth-stranger-than-fiction" accounts follow:

Beta Theta Pi.....300
Kappa Sigma.....300
Sigma Alpha Epsilon.....75
Sigma Chi.....75
Tau Kappa Epsilon.....60
Sigma Nu.....60
Phi Delta Theta.....50
Lindley hall.....50
Alpha Tau Omega.....minus 25
Ridenbaugh hall.....minus 25

OMEGA ALPHA BUYS BUILDING PROPERTY

Deal Closed For Two Lots On Elm Across From Alpha Phi

Future plans for the construction of another group house on Idaho's "fraternity row" were revealed last night by the announcement by Omega Alpha, women's local, of the purchase of two building lots at the southwest corner of Sixth and Elm streets. Last week the group, the only women's local on the campus, was granted a chapter by Delta Delta Delta national fraternity.

The property is located directly across from the Alpha Phi house, occupying a frontage of 132 and one-half feet on Elm street. A two-story frame house on the property is included in the transaction. The deal was closed today with the signing of final papers. The consideration was not announced. The property was formerly owned by Mrs. Amanda Bolander who died in December. H. H. Omega Alpha has occupied a rented house at the corner of Deakin and College avenues since it was incorporated in 1925.

Present plans call for the installation of the new Tri-Delt chapter on May 24, 25 and 26. The installing officer probably would be from the west, said Miss Story.

A McDUGALL MEMORIAL

FIVE MONTHS ago, Harry McDougall, Idaho's only World war ace, was killed while piloting a plane at an Armistice day celebration at Pocatello. Ten years after the end of the European conflict, fate ironically brought about his end by the same means that he won the distinguished service cross and the French croix de guerre, overseas.

McDougall was a graduate of the University of Idaho, and was one of the most loyal alumni that the university ever had. He upheld his alma mater during the turbulent years of conflict between the northern and southern parts of the state over the old question, now happily settled, of a four-year college at Pocatello. His efforts probably as much as those of any one individual helped to bring about the consolidation of the two rival institutions.

So far no action has been taken by any university body to erect a memorial in his honor. The Argonaut believes that it would be fitting to finish the construction of the Memorial gymnasium by placing on top of the memorial tower a bronze statue commemorating the services he rendered, both to his country and his university.

The armory-gymnasium was built as a memorial to Idaho's war dead. Although McDougall's cannot be included in the names on the bronze tablets in the memorial room, yet it seems fitting that some memorial should be erected at Moscow, the scene of his university life. The original plans for the gymnasium call for the bronze doughty statue at the top of the tower. Here is an opportunity to commemorate one who served in the war, and one who rendered a great service to the university. What organization would be fitted to take up such a movement could be decided later. The Argonaut believes it is a suggestion worthy of consideration.

WOMEN TO ELECT OFFICERS FOR 1929

Vote Tomorrow For Leaders Of A. W. S. During Next Year

Election of officers of the Associated Women Students for the 1929-30 school year will take place tomorrow afternoon between the hours of 10 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon in room 206 Administration building. Helen Taylor, president of the organization, announced the place of holding yesterday after consulting with university officials. It was originally planned to conduct the voting in room 104, now not available for student activities. No names have been added to the list previously nominated by the A. W. S. and no further names may be written in on the ballots according to Miss Taylor. Picking of the candidates is done each year by a group of five women, chosen by the president, and the ex-president. One cabinet member from each house will be officially elected tomorrow. There will be no opposition for these positions, only one woman being named for each group.

Candidates for major offices are: Zeldia Newcomb and Helen Vasey, president; Dorothy Neal and Frances Gallet, vice president; Betty Wilson and Josephine Thompson, secretary; Virginia Peck and Dorothy Shears, treasurer; Edna Richards and Anne Day, exchange manager; LaReta Beeson and Agnes Moore, yell queen.

NOT INTERESTED

LESS THAN 300 students voted at the special ASUI election yesterday, a mere handful of the student body. Large posters in the Administration announced the election, additional reminders to the verbal and published announcements that had been made before.

Many students stopped at the door of the old ASUI office, stared blankly at the members of the election committee who were on duty, and passed on down the hall. If half of the students who saw the posters had voted, the vote would have been more than doubled.

Lack of interest in their own affairs is the only plausible explanation for such a poor showing. Several student body assemblies have been held lately, and for the most part, students took advantage of the free hour and spent that time at places other than the auditorium.

In exactly one month the nominating assembly, the primary and the annual general election will have been held. Every year the non-interested students suddenly wake up and realize that there are organized political bodies at work on the campus. The same students who before cared nothing about student affairs are the ones who raise the cry of political corruption. They howl for a reform and bemoan the extremists to which the campus has fallen.

HOME EC LEADER SPEAKS IN SOUTH

Miss Katherine Jensen, head of the home economics department, has been on a lecture tour of the state for the past week in connection with the University of Idaho extension department. Miss Jensen has addressed a number of groups of women on subjects of interest to housekeepers. Among the places that she has visited are Vesper and Pocatello, where she gave a talk at a meeting of the southern district of the Home Economics association, an organization composed of home economics teachers and housekeepers. The association is divided into two districts, the northern district of which held a meeting here a short time ago.

Miss Jensen will return to Moscow this week.

Women's Touch Turns Old Silks and Sateens Into Dance Costumes

Faded curtains, discarded sheets, old silk and sateen and cheese cloth are being transformed by W. A. A. into costumes for Taps and Terpsichore, the dance festival which will be given in the auditorium April 4.

The results achieved with these rather doubtful looking materials, are quite astounding. The cloth is dyed in the south laboratory of the home economics department, to which W. A. A. has been given free access until the costumes are completed. The workers turn out many surprising effects, stripes, spots, tie dyed patterns, amber shaded dyes, and flat dyes. W. A. A. pledges who have been enlisted into service may be distinguished by their stained finger tips.

After the faded materials have been changed into colorful lengths they will be transformed into baggy pantalons for the Oriental numbers, comely bodices and flounced peasant skirts for the folk dances, airy slips for sea gulls, dashing pirate costumes and their quaint and interesting forms of dress which might be visualized in an imaginative "trip around the world," such as the festival will portray.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI MEMBERS TO HEAR LOCAL CREDIT MAN

Alpha Kappa Psi, national business honorary, will hold a regular monthly meeting and dinner at the Blue Bucket Inn tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. Max W. Griffith of Moscow, head of the Latah County Credit Men's association and a member of the Inland Merchants' association, will talk to the members on "Retail Credit."

W. A. A. MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of W. A. A. will be held tonight at 6:45 o'clock in room 206 Administration building.

LETTERS AND SCIENCE MAY BECOME A SENIOR COLLEGE

The whole plan, members of the committee say, is intended to give a better and more rounded out course of study for students entering the university.

Must Have 68 Credits

Under the new system students must have completed a total of 68 credits, including physical education or military, before they are eligible to enter the senior college. The required junior college subjects make up 38 to 42 credits, distributed as follows: natural science, 10-14; social science, 12; English composition and literature, 12; and art, 4. Junior college courses will be numbered from 1 to 49. These courses cannot be taken for credit in the senior college, with the exception of a very few courses numbered from 50 to 99. In some cases, foreign language and philosophy as degree requirements and mathematics may be deferred until the senior college.

The senior college requirements are divided into departmental and college material totaling 66 credits. Departmental material will be from 26 to 30 credits of required and recommended courses. Collateral material to make up the balance will be required courses, recommended courses and electives, departmental, collateral or free. Courses wholly in the senior college are to be numbered from 100 to 199.

Miller Heads Committee. Members of the senior college committee which has outlined the plans are as follows: Dr. George Hovey Miller, chairman; Dr. F. B. Laney, Prof. C. W. Chenoweth, Dr. H. B. Stough, Dr. F. C. Church and Prof. A. S. Howe. Irving W. Jones, assistant president, Miss Ella Olesen, registrar, and Dean J. G. Eldridge are ex-officio members.

SOCIETY

Easter was the inspiration for most of the social happenings on the campus last week. Among Easter affairs were the Delta Chi annual formal dinner dance held at the chapter house Saturday, the Delta Gamma formal dinner dance held at the Blue Bucket Inn Friday evening, and the Easter breakfast given by Phi Gamma Delta Sunday morning. The Associated Engineers' all-college dance held at the Elks' temple Friday, and the W. A. A. dance at the L. S. social rooms Saturday were other affairs of interest.

Tonight the 300 members of the senior class will be guests of President and Mrs. F. J. Kelly at a reception held at the Memorial gymnasium. The W. A. A. dance festival "Taps and Terpsichore" will be an event of Thursday evening.

Dear Sirs:

Having just returned from my fishing camp in northern Ontario, and in the reflections upon a night of most excellent weather, wonderful fishing and complete camp comfort, I feel that an appreciation of Edgeworth is due, as one of the principal factors of our enjoyment.

In past years, I have taken along a supply of various well-known brands of smoking tobacco, never having become fully acquainted with the difference in the smoking qualities of the so-called high-grade tobaccos now upon the market, and acting upon a tip from an old smoker friend, and as a matter of convenience in packing, this year I took along a dozen tins of Edgeworth Plus Slice.

There are no places nor conditions in existence where the contentment drawn from a briar pipe meets with keener enjoyment or more critical analysis than beside the camp-fire after a strenuous day in the great outdoors.

It is the unanimous opinion of the smokers among my party that Edgeworth is without a peer, and that its smoothness, fragrance and fine smoking qualities are unsurpassed and unmatched; and I thank you for making it possible to obtain it.

Yours truly,
(Signed) H. N. Curtiss

clothes, and wore them on the campus. This custom developed in recent years, until now on sneak day each class adopts the clothes and privileges of the class above it. Juniors go hatless, sophomores don cords, and freshmen leave off the despised green cap.

Two years ago a senior woman was seriously injured by being pulled off a truck by some juniors who were attempting to prevent the seniors from going on their holiday. Since then the affair has been stripped of all its secret characteristics. The seniors must announce the date of their outing and the place where they are going. Juniors are forbidden to interfere with the affair. It is now a senior picnic instead of a senior sneak.

FORENSIC MEET FINISHES SESSION

Arizona Chosen As Next Meeting Place; O. S. C. Man New Head

"This conference has been the most successful of any it has been my pleasure to attend," declared Dr. Earl W. Wells, newly elected president of the Pacific Forensic League, Saturday noon as the final session of the sixth annual convention came to a close at the Blue Bucket Inn. Wells is assistant professor of public speaking at Oregon State college.

Frederick W. Orr, University of Washington, was elected vice president, and W. Arthur Cable, University of Arizona, was elected secretary-treasurer. Mr. Cable is the retiring president of the league.

Decide on Arizona

After much discussion, the University of Arizona, was given the honor of being host to next year's conference. The University of Washington was the other strong contender for the conference. One of the League questions for next year was adopted, which is, "Resolved: That the foreign placement of American culture is justifiable." The delegates decided to hold north and south preliminaries in next year's oratorical contest. The three high men from each division will then compete in the final contest.

VANDALINE WINS FROM NORMAL 11-4

Coach Fox Substitutes Often And Tries Out His Men

The Vandal baseball nine opened the 1929 season with a win over the Lewiston Teachers at Lewiston last Saturday. The Vandals converted 13 hits into 11 runs, while holding the Normal lads to 11 hits and five runs. The day was unfit for real ball playing, the weather being cold and a raw wind showered the players and the few fans with dust and chills.

Every man of the Vandal combination got a turn in the game. Halliday, second and pitcher, led the scores with three tallies in five times up. He also finished the game in the flinging department, throwing the last two innings, holding the Teachers at bay. Runs were sprinkled all through the contest, the second and eighth being the only 4 runs, in which scores were not made. The Vandals chalked up two in the first, fourth and seventh and one in each of the fifth and ninth innings. Substitutions were made every inning in an attempt to give Coach Fox an opportunity to look over his material.

The opening lineup found Carl Kyselka doing the receiving with Lindsay chipping. McMullin as at first and Monk Halliday was on second with Arthur Cheyne and Lawrence Burton holding down the rest of the infield. The garden positions were occupied by Walt Price, Merritt Greeling, and Everett Lawrence. Later in the game Smith was sent in to relieve Lindsay, while Price was stopping them behind the bat. Halliday and Albertson were the last batters to make appearance for the Idaho club. Burt Richardson was substituted at third for L. Burton, while the remaining subs were put into outfield berths.

The leading hitter for the game was Art Cheyne with three blows for five, one of them a three base knock. Cheyne tried to stretch it into a home-run but was nipped off by a fast relay in from the outfield. Bovey was the best performer for the losers, holding the clubbing nine to three runs during his stay in the box, yielding the glove to Weberling, who was pounded severely. Heath caught the entire game for the losers.

HOOP CHAMPIONS BACK IN CHICAGO

Pocatello Careers Will Make First Bid for National Title in Game Tomorrow Morning

Pocatello High School basketball team, 1928 champions of Idaho, arrived in Chicago Saturday night to participate in the national high school basketball tournament. The Pocatello lads will play their first game tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock against the team from Cumberland, Ky.

The $1300 necessary for the trip was oversubscribed in Pocatello by tag sales, benefits and contributions, soon after the drive was started. The ten men who accompanied Coach Godfrey are Captain Golden Ahlstrom, Afton Barrett, Hugh Daley, Emerson and Calvin McOmber, Robert Leute, Vernon McLaugh, Kelly Kinnersley, George Rice and Russell Garst, manager. While in Chicago, the team will stay at the Loyola hotel.

The tournament is featured by entries from small, secluded towns from all sections of the United States and the entries number 40 teams from 33 states, many states having had no tournament to pick a championship team. The little town of Joes, Colo., is representing that state. Joes is a town of 45 inhabitants, 28 miles from a railroad. The husky lads won the final game in the state tournament from Fort Collins by a score of 34 to 1.

Heath, the champions of Kentucky, come from a town of less than 100 inhabitants and played without a gymnasium. The rocky outdoor court made dribbling impossible so the passing attack was perfected to the degree of winning a state championship.

PROFS CHOSEN TO GIVE TALKS

Idaho Faculty Members Will Address Graduating Seniors at Commencement Programs.

With high school commencement exercises in the offing, members of the university faculty are being engaged to deliver baccalaureate and commencement addresses at the high schools throughout the state. More schools in the southern part of the state have asked for speakers this year than schools in the northern part.

Many schools are corresponding with Edward P. Mason, university editor, concerning commencement speakers, though there are quite a few schools who have not as yet engaged speakers. President Frederick J. Kelly has been engaged to speak at Rosalia, Washington on May 17, American Falls, May 21; Idaho Falls, May 22; Shelley, May 23 and Bliss May 24.

The schedules for the other faculty members are as follows: Prof. C. W. Chenoweth of the philosophy department, May 1, Carey; May 12, Jerome; May 13, baccalaureate sermon, Jerome; May 13, Fairfield; May 15, Parma; May 16, Gooding; May 17, Burley; May 18, Richfield; May 19, Paul; May 20, Piler; May 22, Weiser; May 23, Mountain Home; May 24, Buhl; May 28, Winchester. CLUES TO CRIME GO ON SCREEN

Noted Criminologist Shows Latest Scientific Means of Interpreting Clues Left by Criminals.

How physical evidence, so minute that it is visible only with the aid of a microscope, can successfully lead to the detection of crime was shown by Luke S. May, Seattle criminologist, in his illustrated lecture to the sociology and law students Friday afternoon in 110 Science hall.

By means of slides, Mr. May presented pictures showing how a fore-gery may be recognized when placed under a microscope by the unsteady wavering of the lines as opposed to the straight lines made by a firm, swift moving hand. An erasure always leaves its mark in torn fibers even though done sufficiently careful to be indiscernible to the human eye. Every drop of blood tells its tale: by examining the position of its nucleus, the direction in which a man fell can be detected. Small particles of lead left around a bullet hole bear mute evidence of the nature of the missile.

Before the day of bobbed hair, a woman's hair was round and even on the end, whereas a man's was rough and jagged; but now that short hair is common among women, science can no longer tell to which sex the owner of a lock of hair belongs, said Mr. May.

SPRING GRID PRACTICE STARTED BY CALLAND

This mode of grid warfare will call for at least one distinct shift in the line. And if Calland chooses the Southern Californian backfield set-up, the bulk of the offensive work will fall on one and possibly two men, with the other two stationed defensively. But Calland invites Idaho grid fans to observe the Idaho squad at work during the next two or three weeks to judge for themselves. At least the system will be different than the one to which Idaho has been used for the last few years.

Calland is well satisfied with the Idaho grid schedule for next fall, and believes that Idaho could not have done much better in its selection. But as to the chances of the Idaho squad next year. Calland is not so sure—he is unacquainted with the Idaho men. He might be able to answer that question a month hence!

No coaching staff appointments have been made to date, and Mr. Calland brought no assistants with him. He drove up from California accompanied by his wife and two children.

RAISE OVER HALF OF ARMORY FUNDS

Committee Hopes To Assure Construction For Cavalry In Few Days

More than half the number of bonds necessary to build an armory for Moscow's cavalry unit in the Idaho national guard had been subscribed at noon Monday, a committee comprised of George N. Lamphere, Gerald Hodgins and Howard David reported.

The committee is endeavoring to sell $10,000 worth of the bonds bearing six per cent interest and to be amortized serially through rental receipts, the government allowing $1000 a year rental on the building. While it is estimated that the building can be erected for $8000, subscriptions are sought for a larger amount to assure its completion if the cost should run higher than the estimate.

It is felt, the committee reported Monday, that all bonds will be subscribed within another two days and construction can start almost immediately. It is necessary that the armory be completed by July 1 for Moscow to retain its authorized unit in the national guard organization, granted to the city last fall by Adjutant General W. G. McConnell of Boise.

Hill Mere Mound Of Old Campus Site

"Our college up—on the hill—[it]—[it]—[it]" yodels the Men's Glee club from the auditorium platform, little knowing that the elevation on which they were standing was but a mere bump compared to the original hill.

Back in the good old days before the 1906 fire, when the Administration building looked like an old fashioned court house, the college was on a hill, abrupt, yet so high that the dirt taken out when it was cut down from the present arboratum level was sufficient to fill in the entire hollow on which now stand the administrative buildings and the other halls of learning. Pullman just wasn't in it in those days. Elevators were unknown then and the average student armed himself with an Alpine climbers' stick, hiking books and a ham sandwich to make the trip to and from the village. However, since the average weekly expenditure of the student back in those days has been estimated at $125, it is probable that not much shoe leather was wasted on the hill.

DAVIDSONIAN WINS SECOND IN CONTEST

John Ewing Runner-up to U. C. L. A. Entrant In Extemporaneous

John Ewing, University of Idaho, won second place in the extemporaneous speaking contest of the Pacific Forensic league held at Pullman last Friday night. The subject for his speech was "Advantages of Activities Participation in College."

First place in the contest was awarded to Ervin Kellogg, University of California at Los Angeles, whose topic was "Has Mussolini Benefitted Italy?" Lawrence Rose, of the University of Arizona, was third with "The College as a Training Camp for Citizenship."

Ewing's victory over nine speakers gives him the distinction of being the first Idaho man to win recognition since Idaho entered the league several years ago. Second place in the contest was awarded $25. Ewing is a senior in the college of letters and science, and is a member of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity. He has served for two years on the Idaho debate squad, coming from the southern branch at Pocatello.

The Saturday night cabaret, April 13, will bring to a close the fifth annual Junior Week on the Idaho campus. The entire Blue Bucket inn has been engaged for the evening and two orchestras hired to furnish music. Special decorations and novelties are planned and feature entertainment from Spokane is being brought to Moscow for the occasion. McGinty's and Benson's orchestras will play.

The annual Prom will be held the Friday night preceding at the Elks temple. Futuristic floral designs will dominate the decorative scheme as now being worked out by the decoration committee and G. C. R. Stageberg of the architectural department. Soden's 10-piece orchestra under the direction of Ray Kelley will play for the event.

FORESTERS HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Prominent Lumber Men Discuss Management of Private Forest Land

More than 75 foresters were in attendance at the convention of the northern Rocky Mountain section of the Society of American Foresters held in Morill hall yesterday afternoon, Dean F. G. Miller of the school of forestry was in charge.

The principal speakers at the convention were R. E. Irwin of the Pottlatch Lumber company and E. C. Rettig of the Clearwater Timber company. Mr. Rettig took the place of C. L. Billings who was unable to attend. The two men discussed the possibilities for sustained yield management on private forest land in Idaho, each taking the problem from the standpoint of his own company. After an interesting talk upon slash disposal by Gerhard Kempff, field research man for the school of forestry, the meeting was given over to general discussion. Those entering the discussion were C. K. McIlharg, forest supervisor of the Coeur d'Alene national forest, Ben E. Bush, state forester; A. D. Deeken, W. E. Humiston, and A. A. Segersten, of the Pottlatch Lumber company; and Kenneth Wolfe, forest supervisor of the Selway national forest.

At a banquet of the convention, in conjunction with the Idaho Associated Foresters, Monday evening at the Blue Bucket Inn, Dr. F. J. Kelly, Prof. C. W. Chenoweth, Dr. H. Over-smith, Dean Iddings, and others made short talks regarding the lumber industry and its kindred resources. Fred Kennedy, president of the for-

Conquering the Cascades

SNOW falls every month in the S year where the Great Northern crosses the Cascades. Steep, tortuous grades increase the difficulty of the railroading problem. Nature has stubbornly resisted man's effort to conquer the range.

In January, 1929, the new Cascade tunnel was opened. Man, with electricity as an ally, had conquered the Cascades.

The eight-mile bore was driven in three years—a record impossible without electric power. And electrification has been extended to the entire 75-mile route through the mountains.

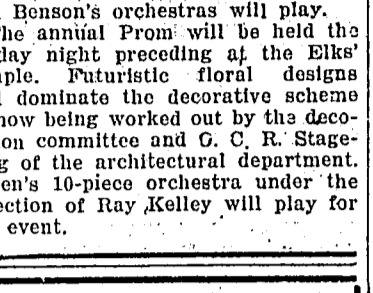

The conquests of electricity on the land and on the sea, in the air, and underground, are making practicable the impossibilities of yesterday. As our vision encompasses wider horizons, electricity appears as a vital contribution to future industrial progress and human welfare.
