Idaho Gets $55,000 Endowment Honoring Senator Borah

Donor Is World Peace Leader

DONOR IS NOTED THROUGHOUT LAND FOR PEACE EFFORTS

Prominent Corporation Lawyer Long Interested in Prevention of War

RAILROAD MAN ALSO Was Opposed to League of Nations Because it Countenanced War

Salmon Oliver Levinson, donor of the William Edgar Borah Foundation for the Outlawry of War, is internationally known for his work toward the establishment of permanent world peace. Recognizing his great work toward that end, the Manchester Guardian, liberal newspaper of London, England, has nominated him for the 1929 Nobel peace prize, referring to his plan for the outlawry of war as a "one man achievement," worthy of the prize.

Mr. Levinson is one of the most prominent corporation lawyers in the United States. He received his A. B. degree from Yale university in 1888 and his LL.D. degree from Lake Forest university in 1891, and was shortly afterwards admitted to the bar. In 1898 he reorganized the Westinghouse companies and the personal affairs of George Westinghouse. He has also reorganized several large railway companies. A writer in the "World's Work" refers to him as "a lawyer and a great reorganizer of ailing railroads and other large corporations—reconciler of debtors and creditors, the deviser of adjustments, and the accomplisher of agreements."

"Irrepressible reformer," the same writer further refers to him as the "most irrepressible reformer that ever upheaved Washington." Mr. Levinson was bitterly opposed to the League of Nations because he said it countenanced war. Being a lawyer, he became interested in the legal aspect of war. His whole idea has been to make war illegal—an international crime.

With that as an ideal, he began descending on Washington in 1919. For 10 years he has carried on the battle for the outlawry of war, with Senator Borah as his stoutest ally. At first his efforts were limited to personal interviews with key men in the senate. Later he organized the American Committee for the Outlawry of War, originally composed of fewer than 25 members.

Borah Became Leader. Senator Borah became the leader of the movement after the death of Senator Knox of Pennsylvania. In February, 1923, Borah introduced into the senate a formal resolution for the outlawry of war, accompanied by a full plan to outlaw war, written by Mr. Levinson the previous year. The significant parts of his original plan are embodied in the Kellogg pact which was recently adopted by the senate.

In recognition of Senator Borah's services to the cause, Mr. Levinson has established the foundation here in his honor. President F. J. Kelly was called to Chicago about three weeks ago to complete arrangements relative to acceptance of the endowment.

ANNOUNCEMENTS OFF SALE FRIDAY

Caps and Gowns Must Also be Ordered by April 15, According to Committee

Graduating seniors have until this evening to put in their orders for announcements, said William Callaway, president of the class yesterday. Up to Thursday evening approximately 200 of the 293 seniors had placed their orders. Cooperation of the members of the class is necessary in bringing the year to a successful close, Mr. Callaway said.

Following Friday it will be impossible for anyone to place orders for announcements. The invitations will be in the hands of the seniors the early part of May. Members of the class must have their measurements made at David's for their caps and gowns said Mr. Callaway. This date has been set so that caps and gowns may be ordered and on hand by commencement time.

Plans for the annual senior picnic are still held up as the place for the picnic has not been decided upon. The picnic is scheduled for the middle of May, although the date has not been approved by the calendar committee. The senior assembly will probably be held a day or so before the picnic according to Mr. Callaway. Plans for the assembly are progressing rapidly, he said, and a real treat is in store.

CHENOWETH TO SPEAK AT COSMOPOLITAN BANQUET

Prof. C. W. Chenoweth, head of the philosophy department, will be the principal speaker of the evening at the annual Cosmopolitan club banquet next Friday at the Presbyterian church. His topic has not been announced. Music will be furnished by club members from each of the countries represented. The W. S. C. chapter will be the guests of the local group at the banquet.

Touches of Spring in Elaborate Panel; Decorations Await Couples

Junior Week activities, which teed off with a unique serenade Tuesday night and Wednesday's assembly comes to a climax tonight with the annual Prom, when more than 125 third-year couples are to trip the light fantastic on the Elk's ballroom floor. But as the burning particles of this mounting bubble of merrymaking are falling, Junior fun-seekers bring festivities to a close Saturday night with their annual cabaret at the Blue Bucket inn.

Panel of futuristic floral decorations in keeping with the approaching spring season will be the feature of the Prom decorations as they will be viewed for the first time tonight. Flood lights and special soft electrical effects will combine to make these elaborate panel schemes one of the best in the past 12 years of third-year class festivities. Prof. O. C. R. Stageberg of the architectural department has worked with the decoration committee in arranging these designs. Eddie Peterson is general chairman for the Prom, with Bus Brown in charge of decorations.

BOTANIST WORK TO BE PUBLISHED

Results of Idaho Professors' Research in Forestry is Accepted for Publication by Botanical Gazette.

Doctor Floyd W. Gail, head of the botany department, Prof. William H. Cone, and Prof. Louis C. Cady, both of the chemistry department, have recently completed a paper, "Osmotic Pressure and Measurement of the Cell Sap of Pinus Ponderosa (yellow pine)," which has been accepted for publication by the Botanical Gazette, and will probably appear in the May or June issue of that periodical.

The article, which deals with the effect the acidity of pine needles has on the death of the needles in winter or the falling of needles, is the result of over two years intensive research on the part of the three men. Research was started in November 1925, and tests were taken of the pine needle sap every month for a year in order to find the effect of seasons on the needles.

Another discovery of Professor Cone's, an optional method for the detection of zinc, which he uses in his work with second-semester freshmen in chemistry, appeared in the Journal of the American Chemical Society in September, 1927.

BUSINESS STUDENTS TO HEAR J. A. FORD

J. A. Ford, managing secretary of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, will be the first of a series of speakers to address the Associated Business Students, a new organization of business school students. He will talk on "Business Opportunities in the Northwest" Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in room 110 Science hall. No admission will be charged.

At the same meeting the new constitution will be presented for ratification and adoption.

Don K. David, vice president of the World Baking Powder company of New York, and formerly dean of the business school of Harvard university, will be the speaker at the next meeting, which will be held in May. At that time officers for the following year will be elected.

PRESIDENT KELLY PAYS TRIBUTE TO DONOR'S PURPOSE

Establishment of Foundation At Idaho Has Deep Significance Kelly Says

PRAISES SEN. BORAH Institution Doubly Grateful In Being Able Thus to Recognize Statesman

"Establishment of the William Edgar Borah outlawry of war foundation has a significance which might not at first be readily conceived," said President Kelly. "The effort to develop throughout the world a public opinion sufficiently strong to carry against the natural tendency of governments to resort to war to settle their disputes is now enlisting the interest of many influential individuals and organizations. All of these are seeking materials which may be used authoritatively to advance the cause of the outlawry of war. There needs to be some center where the most authoritative data may be assembled by those who are taking the lead in this new psychology. It is hoped that the William Edgar Borah Outlawry of War Foundation at the University of Idaho may prove to be such a center.

Lead Movement

"Without doubt, Senator Borah has been the leading statesman in the advocacy of this movement. That Idaho should be the home of this leader is something of which the state is of course proud. That the University of Idaho should be able thus to recognize him by virtue of a gift from one who has given so generously of his time and finances to this cause is doubly gratifying. The great west in America can speak effectively through this foundation. We believe that the west is more insistent than any other section of the country that the time has come to inaugurate a new psychology among the people of the world with reference to war.

"The University of Idaho is indeed grateful to Mr. Levinson, the Chairman of the American Committee on the Outlawry of War, for this generous gift. Through it we shall hope to serve humanity in setting forth the most fundamental materials bearing upon the important issue of the outlawry of war."

SPENCER TO TALK TO SENIOR CLASS

Executive of Washington Scheduled to Deliver Final Address to Class of '29 June 10.

Dr. M. Lyle Spencer, president of the University of Washington and former professor of Journalism at that institution, will deliver the commencement address for the Idaho graduating class of 1929 it was announced yesterday by J. W. Jones, assistant to the president. The exercises at which Doctor Spencer will speak are set for Monday, June 10.

The Right Reverend Middleton S. Barwell, D. D., Episcopal bishop of the state of Idaho, will give the baccalaureate sermon to the class in the auditorium the previous day. Bishop Barwell appeared before the student body for the first time last year at a general assembly.

Doctor Spencer will be taking part in the convention of the Inland Empire Teachers' association, now in session in Spokane.

Spring is a mythical term. Florida and California real estate dealers claim it is in December, Oregon in March and Idaho in the future.

Senator Borah, Enigmatic and "Irreconcilable", Is Outstanding Independent U. S. Statesman

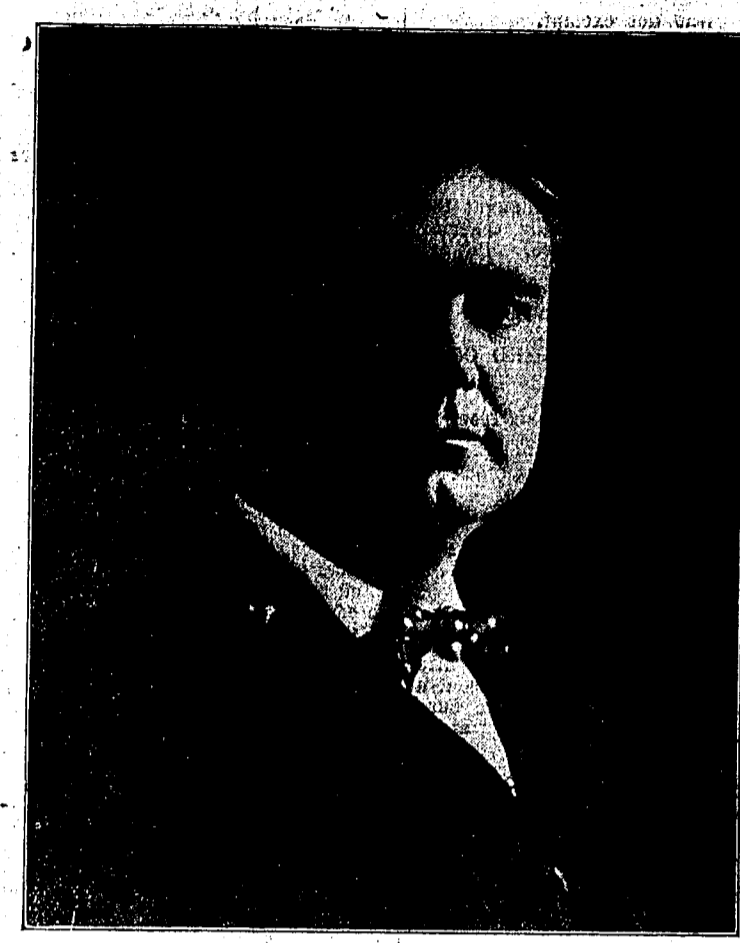

Senator William E. Borah, in whose honor Salmon O. Levinson has established at the university a foundation for the outlawry of war, needs no introduction to students of the University of Idaho. Hardly a day passes without prominent mention of his name in national news. Two years ago he addressed Idaho students at a general assembly.

His political career has been a noteworthy one. He started out in Boise as a lawyer, and his first client is said to have been a "timber" gambler. During the early days of Idaho's statehood, when times sometimes were turbulent, he always stood for law and order, and figured in some notable criminal trials. He was elected to the United States senate in 1907, after having been previously defeated in 1903.

Borah's record in the senate has stamped him as one of the foremost men of the day. Independence of thought he has placed above everything else, even party affiliations, much to the embarrassment of party leaders who were unable to whip him into line. He sponsored the constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of senators, and had a big part in the passing of the prohibition, woman suffrage and income tax amendments.

Since the close of the World war, he

"Peace on Earth"

(Special to The Argonaut) WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9, 1929. Editor Idaho Argonaut, University of Idaho:

As I understand some devoted advocates of peace propose to create a foundation or endow a chair for the advancement of this cause. Its genesis springs from the story of the outlawry of war as carried on during the last few years in this country.

This effort finds expression now in the Kellogg peace pact which has been signed by sixty odd nations.

My great interest in the endowment arises out of the fond hope that it will be helpful to the University of Idaho and contribute something to the further advancement of the institution in which we all take great pride.

William E. Borah.

CLOCKS MAY BE SET ONE HOUR EARLIER

Chamber of Commerce Sponsors Daylight Saving System

Daylight saving, moving the time one hour ahead, may be instituted in Moscow if a majority of the residents and university students favor the change. The chamber of commerce is sponsoring the movement for the change.

Petitions favoring the change have been sent to all the group houses and halls on the campus by a committee appointed by the Moscow Chamber of Commerce to make a survey of the possibilities of such a change. If a sufficient number of names are obtained on the petitions, the new time probably will go into effect immediately. However, since there is no official body with power to authorize a change, it may be adopted simply by general agreement.

Members of the committee are making a similar investigation in the downtown and residence sections of Moscow. I. W. Jones, assistant president, is a member of the committee. The proposed plan would give the university and the town daylight-saving time which is used advantageously throughout the eastern states, said Mr. Jones. Railroad time probably would remain unchanged, causing the only conflict.

An honest confession is good for the soul and it also gives the neighbors a lot to talk about.

Local Will Rogers Slings Mean Line On Campus Politics

Howdy Suckers! All I know is what the politicians tell me, and that's damn little. 'Pears to me that the Mortar Board hassies got left out in the Moscow spring weather. You can't mix mortar and politics and expect to get anywhere. Seems as if this political lineup is about as interesting as an extinct meal ticket.

From what the Juniors and the women say, this guy Hagen must be a rough hombre. I'm all agin having co-ed newspapers if they're going to let out all the scandal on us. Concerning that sassy editorial by the editor, one politician says to me, he says, "It sounds like sour apple to me"; I says, "No fella, some of the apples is just gettin' ripe."

All I can say to the women is that they'd better leave politics alone. It's pretty dangerous business monkeyin' with T. N. T.

These "Campus Grinchers" are like a collegiate Ford—they may rattle but you can't ever tell—they might get somewhere.

And say buddies, don't try using any of this political machine oil on your typewriters. It's liable to get you all gummed up in the end.

Guess we'll get a good lot of sleep election day while the frosh do our voting for us. Sure is great to have someone do your thinkin' and voting both.

Proceeded Dynamiters. Mr. Borah, Judge Forney and J. H. Hawley were associated together in the Coeur d'Alene about 1899 when they prosecuted the dynamiters who blew up the Bunker Hill mine. Dynamiting the mine was the work of the Miners' Union, according to Judge Forney. Martial law was declared and Judge Forney was appointed prosecuting attorney with Senator Borah as his assistant. "We were together in Coeur d'Alene two months," said Judge Forney. Senator Borah also assisted in the prosecution of Haywood, Pettibone and Moyer, charged with the murder of Former Governor Stuenkelberg.

Salmon Levinson, Chicago, Is Responsible For Gift

Prominent Lawyer, Establishes Fund To Perpetuate Contribution of Idaho's Senator Toward Outlawing of War

Acceptance of a $55,000 gift, the largest private endowment ever tendered the University of Idaho, was announced from the office of President Frederick J. Kelly late yesterday afternoon. The gift came from Salmon O. Levinson, prominent Chicago attorney, with the provision that the money be used to establish the William Edgar Borah Outlawry of War Foundation. Mr. Levinson is organizer and present chairman of the American Committee on the Outlawry of War.

The endowment, President Kelly's announcement said, is in honor "of the almost priceless contribution of Idaho's senior senator, to the cause of world peace."

WODESDALEK WON'T RETURN TO IDAHO

Dean of Graduate School Resigns to Accept Minnesota Position

Dr. J. E. Wodsedalek, dean of the graduate school, and now on sabbatical leave of absence doing research work and part time teaching at the University of Minnesota, wired his formal resignation to the president's office yesterday morning. He has accepted a full professorship of zoology on the Minnesota faculty.

The resignation will be accepted in accordance with a previous arrangement with President F. J. Kelly whereby Doctor Wodsedalek was permitted to accept any offer for a position that would give him better opportunities than the one he occupied here. His successor has not been selected.

The telegram read in part: "Regret severing my relations with Idaho; however, material improvement financially and broader opportunities for research in a great university have prompted my decision."

Doctor Wodsedalek is recognized as one of the leading scientists in the United States. He came to Idaho in 1913, shortly after he had received his doctorate from the University of Wisconsin, as professor of zoology and chemistry. In 1917 he was made head of the division of zoology and entomology of the Idaho experiment station, and in 1925 was advanced to the deanship of the graduate school. He left the university in July, and was to have returned before September.

He is listed in "Who's Who in America" as being a member of the following organizations: American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Society of Zoologists, American Genetic association, American Ecological society, American Society of Naturalists, American Microscopical society, Sigma Xi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Masons.

He has contributed extensively to scientific journals on animal behavior, cytology, starvation experiment, economic entomology and genetics.

STUDENTS 'SNEAK' BY, SAYS KELLY

Sixty Per Cent Will Steal Grades and Cheat In Education, Idaho President Tells Teachers Convention.

It is not so much what a student has been taught but how he has been taught, Dr. F. J. Kelly, president of the University of Idaho, declared in addressing the first general session of the Inland Empire Teachers' association in Suokane Wednesday, according to news reports received here. Doctor Kelly's talk opened up the topic of entry credits and a motion was made, on the strength of the address that colleges accept students from accredited high schools without reference to the classification of their high school credits.

"Our education system is wrong," he declared. "We are not teaching them to want an education. Sixty per cent of the college students are willing to steal their grades. They come to the university with the idea—'Here I am, I dare you to make me.' If they can, they squeeze through, get a mark, and call it an education. Entrance requirements should not be essentially a matter of studies, but of qualities developed by study in high school, said President Kelly. Efforts at Idaho to prevent students from repeating courses they may have taken in high school and the plan under which stress on grades at the university has now been lifted were discussed by Doctor Kelly.

Franklin college juniors will have the first junior prom ever presented at the college. Preceding the dance, the juniors will fetter the seniors at a banquet. The prom is open to the entire college and alumni.

Sigma Chi Indoor Team Wins Another

Tekes Defeated 16 to 13 in First Game of Series After Intermission For Swim Meet.

Sigma Chi put itself forward as a contending factor for the "B" league indoor baseball title, by defeating Tau Kappa Epsilon, 16 to 13 Wednesday, the second in 10 days. Sigma Chi nosed out S. A. E. 12 to 11 in their first game.

Sigma Nu slugged hard and long to crush Phi Gamma Delta 19 to 1 in the first game of the evening Wednesday, the first contest for each team. Two games originally set for Thursday evening—A. T. O. vs. Ridenbaugh hall and Tau Mem. Alpha vs. Delta Chi—have been postponed until Saturday afternoon.

INDIVIDUALITY IN POLITICS

"WHATEVER crushes individuality is despotism, by whatever name it may be called." If John Stuart Mill had been a student at the University of Idaho within the last 10 or 15 years, he might have added a list of names such as Alpha party, indifference and laziness as possible synonyms for the despotism to which he referred.

There are a few members of the ASUI who are politicians, and they are good politicians as politicians go; there are a few more who make futile attempts to be politicians; there is a larger group which wonders how and why the small clique of students stays in power from year to year; there is another group, small but praiseworthy, which has tried to put an end to the annual rule of rings; and last, there is a group, comprising approximately two-thirds of the student body, which doesn't know what's going on, and, sad to say, doesn't care.

With the last group lies the blame for the present deplorable political situation on the campus. It is hardly fair to blame the Alpha party for its clever methods. Without a party organization of some sort, good or bad—ASUI selection of officers might as well be put before a faculty-picked executive board. Whenever there is an office at stake upon which a vote must be cast, and there are more than two voters casting their ballots, there will be a scheming majority. Politics is based only on shrewd thinking, even if the results are conscienceless. The power of thought is what 60 per cent of the student body lacks.

"A fine piece of machipery," "It's all settled now," "What's the use of starting anything," were remarks that filled conversation immediately following the nominating assembly Tuesday morning. Great was the company of "grippers" and "criers," each with his own pet peeve as to whom would have been better candidates. If the discontented element could get together and place another ticket before the student body, there would be some purpose in the ballyhoo against politics.

The bubble of discontent is seething to the top in a number of group houses among whose members there are students who refuse to be dictated to by political bosses who base their appeals on fraternity loyalty. From this source, individuality, and this source only can come reformation in ASUI elections. When one or two men from each group house can meet without the general knowledge of the groups they are representing, pick out a list of candidates, also without the general consent of the groups from which the candidates are picked, go back to the group and say, "We are voting for so-and-so and so-and-so," regardless of the fact that several of the "so-and-so's" are unknown to the whole group, and ELECT THEIR CANDIDATES WITHOUT A HITCH, there is something rotten in the University of Idaho, as the editor of the Co-ed Argonaut has already pointed out.

—C. W. C.

UPHOLDS "COLLEGIANS"

HENRY GRATTAN DOYLE, dean of men at George Washington university, recently said of today's college student: "He is a reasonably serious-minded young man, who is particular about his appearance, keeps his hair neatly trimmed, wears clean linen, light starched collars, shines his shoes and eschews the coonskin coat, tumble-down socks, the gaudily painted flivver, hard drinking and bad manners." The Moscow Star-Mirror commenting on Dean Doyle's statement said, "We believe he is correct." The editor further went on to say of college students:

"All too frequently the 'collegiate' whom the magazines and the movies flaunt before our eyes constitutes an unimportant fraction of the American college youth, and his idiosyncrasies are high school stuff indulged in frequently by irresponsibles who are not even in college, or if they are enrolled it is a foregone conclusion that they cannot pass more than their freshman examinations."

Now we say, "Thank you, Mr. Star-Mirror editor, we believe you are correct." The George Washington university dean further says, "The student of today has higher ideals and purposes, does better and more serious scholastic work, and lives by a higher standard of moral conduct than the student of any preceding generation in the history of the country." Yes, we believe that is correct too.

—C. W. C.

ANOTHER RESIGNATION

GETTING the break on the news of the resignation of Dr. J. A. Wodsedalek caused little satisfaction at The Argonaut office last night. Staff members commenting on the story remarked curtly, "Well, we lose another valuable faculty member."

Doctor Wodsedalek came to the university as professor of zoology and chemistry 15 years ago. During that time he has become one of the leading scientists in the United States, and has won for his department an enviable reputation. Greater opportunities for research in a larger institution, and a substantial increase in salary, were the reasons he gave for accepting his new position at the University of Minnesota.

Therein are two of the handicaps a small institution must contend with. When faculty members become outstanding in their particular fields, their services are sought elsewhere. Naming a successor of calibre equal to Doctor Wodsedalek will be no easy task.

SIX IDAHO WOMEN LEAVE FOR ATHLETIC CONFERENCE.

Six representatives from the University of Idaho left Monday morning for the Western division conference of the American Association of Women's Athletics to be held this week in Seattle at the University of Washington. Idaho delegates were Marguerite Ames, Lillian Woodworth, Loretta Beeson, Lois Larkham, Miss Lillian J. Wirt, director of women's athletics, and Mrs. Abe Goff of the faculty. They will remain in Seattle until the end of the week. Round table talks and lectures will be held in effort to bring about a beneficial exchange of ideas between women of western universities.

The most important problem to be solved by the extra session of congress is not the farm relief or the prohibition question but that of determining the social standing of Vice President Curtis' sister.

Student Opinion

DEAR EDITOR:

Petitions have been circulated about the campus upon the proposed daylight saving plan. These circulars inform us that, "Of course we are impressed with the desirability of doing this and will be glad to have it brought about." However, we wonder if this is true.

Advantages to business men are evident; such as, more time to daily in the garden, more opportunities to ride around the country in the twilight, and more time to amuse themselves after their daily work is done. However, as students, we are necessarily compelled to regard it from a different angle. If existing reports are true, mid-semester grades are lower than they have been for the past several years. Would the proposed plan raise them or lower them? It is our opinion that the grades would be lowered. Why? Because it means just one hour more in the evening before a student can successfully apply himself to his studies. Either that or one will be compelled to remain up later at night thus losing an additional hour of sleep, which, we all know, is at a precious minimum at the present time. There then remains two alternatives, either 1800 hours of work must go undone each day, or 1800 hours of sleep must daily be sacrificed. Personally we desire neither.

We are given the impression that although the university does not ratify the change it will, nevertheless, be put into effect by the townspeople. The disadvantages accruing from such a double time standard are evident. Inasmuch as the students give the major share of support to the city of Moscow, why should the university be compelled to yield to the town on this question?

We are not bucking the proposal of daylight saving, but merely the time of its installation. We believe that if most logical time for its adoption is immediately after the university closes on or about June 10.

J. E. S. G. L. H.

ELECTIONEERING

The opening guns of the annual ASAP election were fired Tuesday. Perhaps they will cause more damage, but a hunch says there is more smoke to follow.

How come two of the AWFUL party groups were left out of the nominations? Extreme tact is necessary to satisfy all the tongs with not enough positions to go around.

Why not create more offices because we may have more tongs on the campus?

Small people make a small town. (granted). Will Idaho ever be a BIG university with the 99 and 44-100 per cent of the students acting as trailers?

What glory it must be to be nominated for one of the campus offices! To earn such a distinction and solely on the individuals merits, too!

Much midnight and fusel oil will be consumed from now until the time elections are over.

Hail the Alpha party. The future of campus politics rests in its hands. That is, providing, of course, that the students do not think in the meantime.

A solid thought per day would reduce the politics to its real state—garbage.

—Contributed.

DEAR EDITOR:

A short time ago in one of my classes the professor deplored the fact that students pay attention to the grades received rather than the content gained in their college courses. I wonder if he realizes the important part grades play in our campus life.

We are constantly counseled to seek a well-rounded college education, paying attention to campus activities as well as classes. Yet how can we do this without high grades? For example there is not an honorary society on the campus which doesn't make an issue of the excellence of grades received in admitting new members. A set average is required of initiates by all social sororities and fraternities.

A certain grade is needed to continue participation in athletics. Professors recommend students according to the excellence of their grades as made in their courses.

It is this very demand for high marks that is responsible for the cheating that goes on among students in the class rooms. Cheating will probably continue as long as grades are made an issue in the student's college life.

Students do pay too much attention to grades, and yet how can they help if they wish to be successful college students.

IDAHO GETS $55,000 ENDOWMENT HONORING SENATOR BORAH

tracted him and he advanced his plan for delegating war as the first essential step toward doing away with it. His theory soon grew into the popular expression "outlaw war". Since 1918 he has worked incessantly to bring his "outlawry of war" ideal to fruition.

Senator Borah has become the leading exponent of the outlawry of war idea in public life and Mr. Levinson gives the most of the credit for securing the ratification of the Kellogg pact, which makes the outlawry of war principle the foundation of a new American foreign policy and a new basis for international relationships in general.

See Lecture Series
Just what form the work of the Foundation in honor of Senator Borah's peace efforts will take at the University of Idaho has been left to the discretion of the university.

The regents of the University expressed the hope that, during the first years of the foundation, Senator Borah himself could be induced to visit the University and give lectures under the auspices of the foundation. The University regents also hoped that both Senator Borah and Mr. Levinson could appear during the first lecture series.

Though the foundation specifically is dedicated to the outlawry of war principle, the University may at the end of ten years drop the aspect in favor of more general educational purposes. This can be done if the University, in its official discretion, decides that world peace has become such a reality that war is universally necessary as an outlet and no further educational exploitation is needed on the subject. Then the endowment will be dedicated to other educational purposes but always will feature the "great contribution of William Edgar Borah to the cause of world peace and representative democracy".

Dr. Joseph C. Nate, national traveling secretary for Sigma Chi fraternity, informally addressed members of the Interfraternity council Saturday evening at the Sigma Chi house.

Doctor Nate spoke on fraternities in general, their history, and their place in the modern educational system. He also told what had been accomplished by the national Interfraternity council in the last three years and briefly touched on the merits and disadvantages of deferred initiation.

The next regular meeting of the Interfraternity council will be held April 30, at which time officers for the coming year will probably be selected, according to Allen Jansson, president. A final report on date cards for rushing will also be given by George Huber, who is investigating the feasibility of inaugurating such a plan at Idaho.

The annual Junior cabaret, which will climax Junior week activities, will be held tomorrow evening at the Blue Bucket Inn. Both floors of the Inn will be used, and two orchestras will furnish music.

JUNIOR SERENADE SURPRISES CAMPUS

Picked Group Sings Late Tuesday Night; Original Song Featured

Featuring an original Junior song, a group of 18 picked men and women's voices from the third-year class, "cruised-off" their annual week of festivities late Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, with what probably was the most unique serenade given on the Idaho campus this year. An eight-piece orchestra accompanied them.

Adverse weather was never a hindrance, and for more than two hours clear feminine voices, intermingled with lower male tones, could be heard from nearly any place on the campus. Several feature selections, two solos and finally the climaxing class song comprised the program.

Dorothy Frederickson, composer of the song, and Marylou Craven carried the lead in the original presentation of the feature number—a catchy tune that nearly every student who heard it has hummed to himself of and on ever since. Rachel Jenks was featured in a solo number, as were two members of the accompanying orchestra.

Those who were chosen for the group singing were Edna Richards, Dorothy Frederickson, Rachel Jenks, Marylou Craven, Corona Dewey, Laura Clark, Karleen Morse, Jessie Little, Gladys Pence, Peggy Songer, Louise Dunlap, Georgetta Miller, Frank Smaun, Maurice Brimhall, William Shamberger, Clayton Loosli, Harry Daubert, John Soden and Norman McGinty.

The orchestra, taken entirely from the third-year class, included Clarence and Claude Layne, Charles McConnell, Maurice Brimhall, John Soden, Norman McGinty, Harold Kirkin, and Arthur Kryger.

Clayton Loosli was general chairman of the serenade.

CLASS EVOLUTION TRACED BY CLEVER ASSEMBLY SKITS

Junior Actors Sparkle With Wit Before Capacity Audience

BRIMHALL HAS LEAD

'Dumb' Frosh Taken Over Jumps of College Life In Snappy Stunt

Before the largest crowd that has jammed the university auditorium this year, University of Idaho juniors traced the evolution of a college student in a humorous four-part skit, interspersed special musical numbers that kept a thousand students in paroxysms of laughter for more than an hour Wednesday morning.

President John Soden welcomed the assembly on behalf of the third-year class. Oscar Swinewasher, musician and athlete of Podunk high school, represented by Maurice Brimhall, was the feature character of the skit. His arrival at the university, his pledges and trials and tribulations of fraternity life before and after, are traced and finally climaxed with presentation of his "sheepskin" some years later.

Dialogue between Oscar and his fraternity brothers hardly failed to bring in the "low-down" on a number of students and campus affairs and happenings. Parts in the skit were taken by Rex Westcott, Robert Allshie, Stell Holmes, Ruth Randall, George Huser, Corona Dewey, Gordon Diehl, Orville Hult and Ted Jensen.

Orchestra Makes Hit. The third part of the skit representing Oscar's junior year was featured by playing of several numbers by the serenade orchestra of the evening before, and climaxed with singing of the new Junior song. John Soden, Norman McGinty and Maurice Brimhall, the saxophone trio, gave one instrumental feature and several vocal selections.

The seniors were honor guests of the entertaining class and occupied the front section of the auditorium. The juniors themselves were scattered throughout the auditorium, but were not hard to locate with their red, white and blue caps which they wore all week.

Paraders Brave Storm. Thursday was the only two-event day on the week's program and saw most successful execution of the annual parade followed by an informal party at the Blue Bucket Inn. Starting shortly before 6:30 o'clock, floats, and decorative schemes of every description started their slow trek down "Fraternity Row" from the Administration Building. A chilly wind blew from the west and snow threatened constantly but did not hinder the mass turnout of students and townspeople who gathered on campus streets to witness the event.

The parade finally wound up at the Blue Bucket Inn where the party was soon in progress. Jess Egurruza was general chairman of the parade.

The same makeups that featured the parade were worn at the Thursday night "mixer", making it almost a costume affair. A spirit of informality prevailed throughout the evening, dancing being interspersed with "square-dances", "circle two-steps" and special entertainment and refreshments. Betty Grammer had charge of this phase of junior week.

PROM TONIGHT CLIMAX OF JUNIORS' FESTIVITIES

fixed for start of the Prom, according to Job Brown, general chairman of Junior Week. A short receiving line followed by a grand march will start off the evening. Fourteen dances are listed on the programs. Johnnie Soden's 10-piece orchestra under the direction of Ray Kelly will furnish music.

Not a single ticket for the Prom could be purchased Wednesday and only a few cabaret tickets remained Thursday evening. Reservations, which started Monday morning, for tables, are nearly all filled and indications are that at least 175 couples will be present at this final event.

Ticket sales for the Prom were confined entirely to upperclassmen, but a few of the lower two classes will "rate" tonight with their upperclass "steadies". More underclassmen will be found at the cabaret, although again upperclassmen will be in preponderance.

Will be Large "Party." With the increase in size of the Blue Bucket Inn during the past summer, nearly twice the total number of couples accommodated last year will take part in "making whoopee" Saturday. Special feature entertainment from Spokane, novelties, and two dance orchestras are only a few of the high points of the event.

The entire building will be turned over to the third year class, with tables both up and downstairs. The event has been called for 8:30 o'clock.

All reservations for the remaining tables at the cabaret should be made before Saturday noon at the Blue Bucket Inn, according to Jake Daubert, general cabaret chairman.

TAYLOR AND NEWCOMB ON WAY TO NATIONAL A. W. S. MEETING

Helen Taylor and Zella Newcomb, president and president-elect respectively of the Associated Women Students, left Moscow yesterday afternoon for Norman, Okla., where they will represent the University of Idaho at the national women student presidents' annual convention.

Gate Crasher Bested By Junior Bouncers

For the other classmen really to understand the true feeling of class spirit back of Junior week, they should attend a Junior party.

"The procedure," says one who for a time was among those present, "is very simple." Just sneak in and take a position by the door, where, if necessary, you can get away at a moment's notice. You glance casually around to see if any one is noticing you in particular. If not, the next move is to slip out on the floor and tag some entrancing young miss.

"Ah—you think you've crashed the show—but it's a horse of another color a few minutes later when 14 juniors close in and proceed to show you the floor and the ceiling, alternating the scenery in first class Jitsu style. That's the one time every body gets out of your way and gives you plenty of room. The first jolt isn't so bad, but after the second, third, fourth and fifth, it begins to get monotonous, especially after Bill Kershinski takes time out to advise you 'to go home to bed and be new and different'." We decided discretion should be the better part of valor, after counting all our bruises, one for every stair step on the way out.

"And you can take it from us—One-Eye Connolly hasn't crashed anything until he can show a Junior party on his list."

MEN'S GLEE CLUB TO LEAVE TUESDAY

Thirty-two men, the pick of Idaho's male songsters, will leave Moscow Tuesday morning on the North Idaho Glee club tour, according to the director, Prof. Theodore Kratt. ## "Good Smoke!" Says Hubby "O. K." with Wife

Brooklyn, N. Y. August 4, 1928

Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va., U. S. A. Dear Sir: Going to take the pleasure and drop you a few lines to say that my favorite tobacco is your Edgeworth. I have been a user of it for the last eight years and find it's the only tobacco for a real good smoke.

For the last five or six months I have been trying several other kinds but I find Edgeworth is the only tobacco for me.

If I am smoking any other brand my wife will tell me, as she likes the smell of only Edgeworth. When I'm smoking others she opens all windows and doors.

The reason for writing this letter is that I had a card party last night, and most all of the party asked me what kind of tobacco I used.

So I told them Edgeworth. Yours very truly, A smoker of Edgeworth (Signed) E. E. Boisvert

NINETEEN WOMEN GET RIFLE AWARDS

Women's rifle awards, in the form of felt emblems, will be granted 19 women who have turned out regularly for marksmanship during the recently completed season, it was announced yesterday. Those who will receive emblems are Alta Tupper, Lillian Woodworth, Marylou Craven, Ruth Ragan, LaReta Beeson, Dorothy Perkins, Opal Garrett, Elsie Geddes, Margaret Fowler, Lois Larkham, Dorothy Kienholz, Shirley Cunningham, Virginia Cornell, Katherine West, Lucille Gildeman, Avis Nelson, Helen Hiltner and Elsie Warm.

A score of 471 out of a possible 500 was made by the women's team in the "Dot and Circle" match which they have been firing for the last two weeks. Results of this match will not be received until later this spring or possibly next fall, as the "Dot and Circle" is a national competition, including a large number of colleges and universities.

The shoulder-to-shoulder match that was scheduled with the Washington State college women's team has been called off because of the inconvenience of shooting a match of that kind on a three target shooting gallery, said Major F. R. Fuller, coach of the women's squad.

KIWANIS ENTERTAIN SONS AND DAUGHTERS AT DINNER

Thirty Kiwanis sons and daughters attending the university were entertained by the local Kiwanis club last week with a banquet at a downtown hotel. The affair was given to encourage friendliness between these students and give them a chance to meet members of the Moscow Kiwanis club.

Miss Marian Treleven of the Idaho music faculty played several piano selections during the dinner hour, and the Kiwanis quartet entertained with popular songs. Harry Whittier of the Moscow State bank spoke on the objectives of the Kiwanis club.

EDUCATORS HEAR IDAHO FACULTY

Six members of the University of Idaho administration and faculty are appearing on programs of the thirty-first annual convention of the Inland Empire Teachers' association, at Spokane this week.

Politics, 'Flowers,' Freaks, and Filmy Frocks Show 'Hot' Ideas as Chilled Juniors Parade

By Elsie Warm Costumed stunts at campus traditions, politics, and events of the year rounded campus streets yesterday evening while a cold wind blew in the wake of a disheartening snow storm but failed to chill the ardor of group house representations in the annual junior parade.

Variety, color, smart wisecracks, clever makeup and costume ranging from devils to queens, brought vivacious antics from the crowd lining the route of march.

Men dressed in women's clothing were to be found in nearly every male section of the parade. A new bond of sympathy for the feminine sex was struck up by men so attired.

Freezing by inches but optimistic to the final pause, the paraders wound down the campus from the Administration building to the Blue Bucket inn where the ensuing party soon thawed the chilled bodies to the temperature of the never cool spirits.

Alpha Tau Omega took clever clams at several groups on the campus. A grass skirted barbarian was labeled "Fiji house mother."

Evolution was a popular theme, for there were depicted the evolution of love, of the co-ed, and of collegiate transportation, by the Alpha Phi, the Forney hall, and Tau Kappa Epsilon groups.

SIXTEEN SENIORS OFFERED POSITIONS

Graduating Engineers May Accept Jobs with Well Known Firms

Sixteen senior engineering students have received offers of positions for next year, according to Dean Ivan C. Crawford of the college of engineering.

The majority of offers come from public utilities companies in the west, although several eastern corporations have offered to take Idaho men. The Westinghouse Manufacturing company has not designated the students it will take, although several are being considered.

The following list of seniors who have received offers was released yesterday by Dean Ivan C. Crawford of the college of engineering:

Campus Queen Backs At Choosing Partner

COLUMBUS, Ohio. (IP)—Holding the honored office of president of the sophomore class at Ohio State university carries with it this year a stumbling block which has placed Miss Marion L. Riggs, of Toledo, the pretty president, in an embarrassing position and her fellow classmates are in an uproar.

As head of the class, Miss Riggs will be "queen" of festivities at the annual Sophomore hop May 17. As "queen" of the prom, she must lead the grand march but she must also select a "king" to conform to tradition.

Poor Marion has no precedent to rely upon in her humiliating predicament. For years past, the president of the sophomore class has always been a man. Whom she rolled around her proudly became "king" of the grand march and as proudly selected his queen. Now things are reversed.

Miss Riggs has revolted and refused to make the choice of a royal partner. She'd be queen of the prom and all that, but she'd be hanged if she'd select a mate.

Subsidiary class officers went into a huddle in the hope of preserving tradition. They prevailed upon the president and called in her sorority sisters for help.

Little more than two weeks are left for Coach Ralph Hutchinson to round into shape the Vandal track team for the first meet of the season. Idaho is scheduled to meet Whitman college at Walla Walla, April 27 in a non-conference dual event.

With a hard conference schedule for this season there is much work to be done to put the team in condition, Coach Hutchinson said. Following is the schedule for the season:

April 27—Whitman at Walla Walla. May 4—Washington relays at Seattle. May 10—Oregon State college at Moscow.

May 17—Triangular meet (Idaho, W. S. C. Montana) at Pullman. May 25—University of Montana at Missoula. June 1—Northwest meet at Eugene.
