

HOOVER SELECTS IDAHO PRESIDENT FOR WELFARE POST

NEW MOVEMENT

Nation's Chief Executive Takes Intense Interest In Children's Health

Following a conference at Washington, D. C. on child health and protection Dr. F. J. Kelly, president of Idaho university, was named chairman of the section committee on education and training it was learned Thursday after the president's return from the capitol city. The proposed survey is expected to be one of the greatest ever attempted in the United States concerning child welfare.

The child welfare program is sponsored by President Herbert Hoover because of his intense personal interest in the field. He called together at Washington about thirty leading authorities in the United States on various phases of child welfare and protection. These representatives have been organized into a planning committee which outlined at a meeting late in July a general survey program to cover the entire United States. The various survey units will have several hundreds of thousands of dollars available to pursue their activities although none of the funds are from government sources. After the first report is made, which will be in about 18 months, the committee will narrow the field to certain particular subjects to which major attention is to be given.

Hoover Enthusiastic

President Hoover first became interested in the field of child welfare, explains President Kelly, while he was in charge of feeding the thousands of homeless in Europe during and following the World war. President Kelly feels the nation's chief executive to be an eminent authority on caring for the unfortunate. "With his broad view of the general conditions, he has instituted a program for children which goes far beyond the most constructive and far-reaching ever undertaken and which should greatly improve existing conditions," says Dr. Kelly.

The procedure outlined by President Hoover calls for committees in the various fields to do the following: gather information, compile reports, prepare recommendations for presentation to a general conference to be called when the work is completed.

President Hoover's intense personal interest in the movement was apparent when he called the conferences for the cabinet room of the White House. During the conference President and Mrs. Hoover entertained the 24 representatives at luncheon at the White House. Dr. Kelly is the only man west of the Mississippi asked to accept a committee chairmanship in this movement. His section, education and training, is one of the major assignments.

PROGRAM PLANNED FOR HOMECOMING

Executive Council Rules In Favor Of A Huge Celebration

Homecoming celebration, such as the bonfire, pep rally, parade, and dance was definitely decided by the executive board to be held on the evening before the Idaho-Gonzaga game. While great interest will be shown in the W. S. C. game, it was found more fitting to hold the traditional festival at a time when the game will be played on the home field, when the alumni and others who will gather here will not experience an affair hitherto unknown to any college campus—that of holding a homecoming game on the field. In addition to the pleas of the alumni for a Gonzaga homecoming, it was decided fitting to break the old tradition since the Cougars failed to observe Idaho as their homecoming rival.

The W. S. C. game, however, will not be without proper pep and rallying. It was further decided, because arrangements for a special train to Pullman are well under way, and a torch parade, and possibly a small bonfire will serve to arouse the traditional hard feelings existing between the two institutions. "Serious consideration was given every angle of the situation, committed, and I believe that the proposed double celebration will prove the solution of the problem."

Further plans were made by the executive board when they decided that a silver loving cup will be given as permanent possession to the best decorated men's group house and the best decorated women's house during homecoming. The only regulations set were that the decorations is that not exceed 25 square feet and that an impartial committee composed of town people will serve as judges. The awards will be presented between halves of the Idaho-Gonzaga game.

In a single pound of clover seed 14,000 weed seeds of 44 varieties have been found.

Dainty Maiden Is Rudely Assaulted By Herd of Goats

A panic, almost culminating in disaster, occurred in the peaceful old road near the orchard the other morning.

One of the fairest of the Idaho co-eds, as dainty as a doll and gentle as a fairy, was rudely assaulted by a vicious herd of goats who objected to having their breakfast disturbed. The lady in question was out walking on that road so early in the morning because—well, just because. She was suddenly aroused from her contemplation of the road, by the realization that she was surrounded by a herd of brutal looking goats.

The poor little girl had never been in such a predicament before in her life. Spokane's worst traffic jams had never been as bad as this. She tried to think of all the methods she had ever heard about of soothing goats. Didn't her frailest, her beauty, her graceful appearance have any effect on a goat? The horns kept coming nearer to her, threatening her with mutilation. She tried all the wiles of a vampire, the coquetties of a flapper, and the wide-eyed appeal of a baby on those goats to coax them to withdraw. She tried tickling them under the chin, scratching them on the back of the neck, and blowing in their ears, but all in vain. Their stony hearts would not be melted. She was about to give herself up to them and let them use her as a rubber ball, when the owner of the goats came to the rescue and called off her animals.

There's a moral to this story: People who have sneak dates at night in the orchard and lose their glasses, shouldn't go back alone the first morning to look for them. She thinks the goats ate them and she hopes they'll be cursed with indigestion.

WOMEN'S TENNIS WELL UNDER WAY

Cunningham, Last Year's Winner, Takes All Corners In Opening Rounds

Seven matches of the W. A. A. tennis tournament were completed today, leaving only one more match to be played in the third round, it was announced last evening by Katherine Roe, tennis manager. Semi-finals and finals will be played some time next week. Following are the results of the third round:

Shirley Cunningham defeated Lois Thompson 6-2, 6-2; Helen McCann defeated Ethel Tobey 4-2, 6-0; Lois Porterfield defeated Mildred Axtell 6-2, 6-4; Bernice Schwerdfeld defeated Helene Heliker 4-3, 6-4; Hazel McCann defeated Eunice Hudelson 6-0, 6-0; Marthalene Tanner defeated Elizabeth Hoover 6-0, 6-0; Jean Edmiston won from Mildred Patterson by default.

Foresters Pounce On Brush Blaze; Pants in Hard Luck

Students of the school of forestry conclusively proved the practicability of their fire protection course Tuesday afternoon. At 2:40 twenty-one students, under the directions of Harry I. Nettleton were called to fight a fire burning near university property on Thattuna ridge. The fire had been out of control since noon, but by 6:15 the fire fighters had the upper hand.

Professor Nettleton estimated the area of the fire at one hundred acres. Most of the burned area was a young stand of pine. The smoke and flames of the fire were easily visible from Moscow as the fire crowned into a few trees.

Coming down the hill one of the students breathed in great relief, and confided to his companions that this was the first fire he had ever been on in which he had not torn his pants. At that moment he ran into a barbed wire fence, and practically ruined his ill-fated article of apparel.

ENGINEERS FORM A. S. A. E. BRANCH

Idaho Students Affiliate With National Organization; Elect Officers

A student branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers was organized Wednesday at a meeting called by Professor Beresford, head of the department of agricultural engineering. Clyde Anderson was elected president, Harold Snow, vice president; and Emlen Mays, secretary-treasurer.

The American Society of Agricultural Engineers was founded in 1907 to promote the arts and sciences of the fundamental branches of engineering as specifically applied to agriculture. It promotes intercourse among engineers in this field as well as engineers and scientists in other fields.

Its main objective is to formulate a distinctly agricultural engineering science—based on engineering technique and specific agricultural requirements—to serve as a foundation for the profession of agricultural engineering.

COLLIER CHOSEN CADET COLONEL OF R. O. T. C. REGIMENT

Entire Personnel Appointed By Colonel E. R. Cushman, Commandant

PEDERSEN STILL LEADING VANDALS

Yardage and Scoring Column Shows "Galloping Swede" First; Barrett Second

Waldemar Pedersen, Vandal quarterback still leads the yardage and scoring column for the Idaho squad although his average, as well as that of the other three main ball players, fell considerably in the Oregon contest last week. The Swede has carried the ball 477 yards in 64 attempts and he still has a fairly respectable 7.4 average. In addition he has carried six Vandal touchdowns for a total of 36 points.

Ken Barrett, the Swede's nearest competitor for ball carrying honors has reeled off 264 yards in 58 attempts for an average of four and a half yards each time. He has scored three touchdowns for a total of 18 points.

Close on the heels of Barrett is Fred Wilkie, Idaho's hard hitting fullback with a 4.2 average. Wilkie has made 192 yards in 46 tries and he has made two touchdowns, contributing 12 points to the Vandal total.

Herby Owens, the third member of Calland's quarterback trio, has an even four yards for his average, having carried the ball 48 times for 192 yards. He has also scored two of Idaho's touchdowns.

CROSS COUNTRY TRIALS HELD

Heath and Wilks, Idaho, Lead W. S. C. Men on Long Grind.

Charles Heath, captain of the Idaho cross country squad, and Dave Wilks, a teammate, finished in a tie for first place in the practice cross country run with W. S. C. held Tuesday afternoon, finishing the three mile course in the time of 19:19.

Taylor of W. S. C. finished third, coming in a half minute later. Hughes, W. S. C. was fourth; Shear, W. S. C., fifth; Kirk, W. S. C., sixth; Hoagland, W. S. C., seventh; Chisholm, Idaho, eighth; Davis, W. S. C., ninth and Sewell, Idaho, tenth.

The contest was arranged by coaches of the two institutions to enable them to see their material in actual competition. No score was kept as it was a practice meet.

Otto Anderson, head coach of the Vandal squad, said that the first conference meet would be held in about two weeks with Washington State as the probable opponent. One or two more practice contests may be held in the near future to get the squad in condition.

Captain B. M. Crenshaw of the military staff managed a mountain goat on a weekend hunting trip in the Selway river district.

Co-eds Brush Up On Latest Thing In Bum's Rush

Hello, Anybody?

Well, Saturday night is going to be a period of open season on a lot of young aspiring frosh men. The Co-ed Prom will be held in the gymnasium which is the proper place for all indoor athletic contests. The women are bound and determined that they're not going to let Eddie Coon slicker them like he did last year with a fake camera. If a guy wants to crash the safe, here's a pointer don't dress like a girl, but like a boy and you might get by. And if you're unsuccessful why it just means that you're going to get the biggest rush from the fair sex you ever got.

The juniors threw their first mixer the other night without too many getting mixed.

Did you read in the morning paper where a Japanese can make an Indian into a Caucasian. That'll raise hob with our immigration laws and make it tough for the southern senators in excluding the colored gents from voting in the South.

And Bagshaw turned in his resignation because he's been "wolved" for having two bad seasons out of nine years. No one hollored outside of San Francisco the year that Washington was the first team to beat over the Golden Bears after five years of undisputed supremacy. If any "wolf" so much as whines around here, we ought to hamstring him.

Yours, as is,
TWO STAR

Tradition Busters To Stop 'Paddles

That the male population of the campus cannot continuously violate Idaho traditions without meeting some sort of punishment is made evident with the announcement of the "P" club's first fall "warming up" exercises immediately in front of the Administration building steps next Monday noon at 12:45. Invitations have been extended to 18 guests who will have an important part in the ceremonies and receive a hearty welcome.

Walter Price, president of the letterman's club, Juniors going about the campus without hats, freshmen improperly wearing their green "hids" and sophomores without head coverings at all are included on the list of offenders. The following men are requested to appear: James Finch, Charles Hauck, A. D. McMillin, Thomas Yarnum, John McDaniel, Eugene Smith, Wesley Shurtliff, John Hanford, John Mellinger, June Soden, Robert Beasley, Murray Estes, Joe Gillett, Richard Brown, Leo Gehl, Henry Sneddon, Lawrence Holzhhead, and Ernest Frasch.

Murray and D. McMillin are old offenders it is said, their names having been on several lists last spring. Soden was president of the junior class last semester.

D'EASUM RETURNS FROM CONVENTION

Delegates to Pacific Intercollegiate Press Association Tell of Proceedings

Organization of a central news bureau, establishment of a cut service for all member schools, and discussion of a proposed division in the association were matters of major importance taken up at the annual convention of the Pacific Intercollegiate Press association at Stanford university last Friday and Saturday. Idaho was represented at the convention by Cedric G. d'Easum, editor, and Jack T. Parker, manager of The Argonaut.

Under the new system college papers on the coast will be furnished with news items and mats from one news dissemination office. At the present time it is the custom of the editor and manager of the member institutions to send each other brief items from time to time. The central office will act in the capacity of a news clearing house and pictures of prominent students and faculty members on each campus will be kept on file for the use of any paper that requests them for publication.

Next year's convention will be held at U. C. L. A. it was decided at the final session of the editors and managers. The editor and manager of the California Daily Bruin automatically became president and vice-president of the association for the current year. Cecil Hagen, editor of the Argonaut last year, is a retiring member of the board of directors.

Parker and d'Easum returned to the campus early in the week.

FROSH DODGE PADDLE UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene (P. I. P.)—Oregon freshmen were spared the paddle this year, and instead were initiated at a formal inaugural on Hayward field between the halves of the Oregon-Willamette football game. John Straub, dean emeritus of men, and Tom Stoddard, student manager, spoke to the yearlings, and capped them with the official "green lid" for their first college year.

CROSS-COUNTRY IS FIRST EVENT ON 1929 INTRAMURAL

Jacoby Announces Preparations For Two and Half Mile Course

BASKETBALL IN LINE

Officials For Hoop Tournament Named and Games Placed On Schedule

The cross-country event, the first intramural contest of the season, will be run off soon, over a course of about two and a half miles, according to Glenn Jacoby. Both leagues will enter together and the number of entries will be unlimited.

The men must train for the event and qualify with the physical education department before being allowed to enter the race. All varsity lettermen and freshman 1932 numerical winners in track are ineligible to enter. Four places will be awarded; the champion to get 100 points; second place winners will receive 75 points; thirds will get 60 points and 40 points will be given to fourth place. The course is being laid out now.

All officials have been chosen for intramural basketball games. The following men were appointed to officiate all the games: "Fat" Sumpter, Frank McMillin, Harold Stowell, Harold Sneddon, Wesley Shurtliff, Edward Hurley, Stanton Hale, and William Hall.

Competing teams are to choose their own official for their games. If no agreement can be reached to the satisfaction of both teams the athletic department will act as a committee to decide upon a suitable official.

The same plan of paying the referee will be used this year that was used last year. Each house contributes one dollar a piece per game to the official. In this way a business like attitude will be assured on the part of both the official and the house in question. The athletic department has asked for better co-operation between officials and competing teams. This can be done by a minimum of "crabbing" and "razzing" by the various group members at officials.

A. S. U. I. RULINGS NOT OBSERVED

Organizations Urged to Abide by Constitution; Board Explains Provisions

There seems to be some misunderstanding among various organizations as to their function and membership with the A.S.U.I. president. This pertains mainly to the men's glee club, the women's glee club, the Pep band, debating organizations, university judging teams, and publications which play a vital part in the functions of the student body. As required by the constitution, all student managers of such organizations must be elected within one week after the regular A.S.U.I. election, such elections being subject to the approval of the executive board. No approvals or recommendations have been made from most of these clubs, and the executive board urges them to act on this matter as soon as possible.

Another misunderstanding among the same organizations is the ruling that they must place their budgets with the graduate manager and the executive board before any remunerations will be given. Therefore any organization that has failed to observe these provisions are asked to facilitate matters by taking action at once.

JANSSEN STARTS PLANS FOR BALL

Plans for the annual senior ball got underway Wednesday night with the appointment of committees by Allen Janssen, class president. Clair Gale was named as general chairman and the following seniors were named to work with him: Orchestra and floor, Bus Brown, Marylou Craven; entertainment, Dorothy Fredrickson, Maitland Hubbard; Invitations and announcements, Jesse Little, Ed Coon; Decorations, Phil DuSault, Lucile Gilmendean; Finances, John Gale, Dan McGrath.

All committee members are asked to meet at the Phi Gamma Delta house Sunday morning at 10 o'clock to discuss preliminary plans which will be presented to the class. At the present time it is planned to hold the ball early in December.

R. O. T. C. HONORARY TO MEET TUESDAY

An important business meeting of the Scabbard and Blade, National Military honorary society for members of the R. O. T. C. will be held some time next week, probably on Tuesday, it was announced by Virgil Estes, captain of the company, today.

It is thought that a number of important discussions will be brought before the next meeting.

Family of Smiths Hold First Place On U. Register

The Smiths, despite of the strong competition offered by the Johnsons hold the official record for having the most popular surname among students at the University of Idaho. First place was captured by those bearing the appellation of the famous tough brothers by virtue of 17 persons enrolled under that name, while the Johnsons easily took the second notch with 14 representatives. Third place is awarded to the I. Browns. The Andersons and Millers tie for fourth with 10 apiece. The Moores, Jones and Clarke-Clark group fight for next in line with 9 each. Other high scoring names are Larson, Davis, Hall, Harris and Thompson.

The McIntyres, McRaes, McGinys and McGonigles make a remarkable Scotch-Irish showing with a group of 51 names bearing the prefix Mc. Virginia Angelle McCraw Schlotthauer has the distinction of being the woman with the longest complete name, while the similar honor in the boys group goes to James Maurice Donald Wilkerson. For plain nationality consistency in names James Riley O'Brien has won all honors. Some of the prize tonque twisters are Kalbfleisch and Illchevesky. In the girl's division are Schwerdfeld, Crutchfield and Oonaughton. A few of those classified as more unusual are found Cress, Hall, Ulrich, Isaac, Oretro, Oetere, Deles, Lally, Hays, Brewitt, Pettibone, Berlino, Harrymon, L'Herrison, Schory, Rhina and Yurri.

FROSH SMOOTHING OUT ROUGH SPOTS

Jacoby Prepares Eleven For W. S. C. Meeting On November 2

An enthusiastic frosh football squad has been practicing all this week, smoothing out the rough spots that Coach "Red" Jacoby discovered in last Saturday's game against Ellensburg. The frosh have had a few light scrimmages with the varsity to build up both team's defense of the overhead attack.

Coach Jacoby has spent most of the time finding a smooth running aggregation to send against the W. S. C. frosh November 2. The two frosh elevens are matched nearly even in weight with the W. S. C. babes having a slight advantage in the backfield. The W. S. C. frosh will be a bit more experienced which counts for a lot in as close a game as this is expected to be.

George Wilson, captain and quarterback, is laid up with a few pulled ligaments in his leg. He will be unable to practice for a few days, but is expected to don the uniform for the W. S. C. game. Otherwise the squad is intact and ready to go.

"Hymns" Are Out of Luck as "Hers" Go Stepping to Prom

What will all the "Hymns" be doing Saturday night, the one night when the fair sex say, "We're not dating out tonight except with girls?" However the girls are not going to concern themselves with such a trifling question at a time like this. They are far too busy thinking about an event of greater importance and one that will bring more thrill than a date with John or Tom. They are getting ready for the Co-ed Prom.

Saturday night will see the fair and fairest blossoming forth in a bright array of colors and costumes. Characters of all descriptions will be in attendance, from the historical Sir Walter Raleigh and the notorious Captain Kid down the modern gentleman, Red Riding Hood and Buster Brown.

The women's gymnasium will be artistically decorated to present a Halloween atmosphere and refreshments will be in keeping with the occasion. Johnnie Soden's orchestra, dressed in the costumes of the fair sex, will furnish music for the evening. Each group house will present a stunt and prizes will be awarded for the outstanding costumes.

Approximately 150 Attend Mixer Wednesday; Novel Entertainments Given

Nearly 150 students (not all of the class of '31) attended the first Junior Mixer Wednesday evening at the Blue Bucket Inn. The patrons and patronesses, Dean and Mrs. Crawford and Dr. and Mrs. Barton stood at the head of the receiving line.

The entertainment was furnished by Lois and Caryl Thompson who sang several jazz numbers. Ralph Hagan and Max Funke presented some unique selections on the ukelele and harmonica.

Kenneth O'Leary, acting chairman of the mixer, introduced the class president, Raymond Kelly, who gave statistics about the class. There are 340 members of the junior class; of these 135 are girls, and 205 are boys.

REVIVED VANDALS HIT NEW PACE FOR BATTLE WITH O. S. C.

Beavers Crushed by Stanford But Still Tough Competition

COACH FIGHT PASSES

New Defense Prepared For Aerial Work Expected At Corvallis

By Paul E. Jones. Far from disheartened by their defeat at the hands of the University of Oregon last week, the Vandals yesterday climaxed a week of strenuous preparation for the Oregon State game tomorrow and 29 members of the squad entrained last night for Corvallis, anxious to meet the Beavers.

Coach Calland has devoted the entire week to defense drill with emphasis on the covering of passes, a weakness that gave the Webfoot two touchdowns, and the Vandal coach and the squad feel that when the O. S. C. aerial attack comes the Idaho backs will give a better account of themselves than they did last Saturday. Moreover, the Beavers have no one who can pass like Kitzmiller or receive like Robinson or Archer.

Few Injuries. A brisk scrimmage Wednesday found all of the regulars, with the exception of "Irish" Martin and Fred Wilkie in condition to play. Martin has slight bruises and a throat infection while Wilkie's shoulder was severely bruised in the Oregon contest last Saturday. Wilkie will probably not play tomorrow. Martin can play but is not likely to start the game.

The Oreganmen will be at their strongest although it is possible that Coach Schlessler may not start Ralph Burke, regular quarterback, who got twisted up a bit in the Stanford game. Bruce Noles, 130-pound sophomore flanker, probably will take the helm if Burke is benched. Hank Hooper, the red and sea-slide through an unusually small opening. Schlessler has been working his squad all week on a good passing attack and patching up weaknesses in the line. The O. S. C. mentor realizes that Idaho has one of the strongest lines on the coast and that the starters will have to show plenty besides line plays and end runs to score.

The Oreganmen started the season with a rather green line but with the aid of Stanford and U. S. C. conceded the two toughest teams in the United States behind them. The line has shown much improvement. The Beavers have played Southern California four successive seasons and the veterans on the squad are all thoroughly familiar with the system which is the same one that Calland brought to Idaho. Especially are they familiar with that smothering interference on end runs which is one of Southern California's and Idaho's best ground gains. (Continued on page 4)

THESE seems to be a movement on foot, down in the land of sunshine, to change the name of Idaho's athletic representatives from Vandals to Cossacks.

L. F. Gregory, sports editor of the Oregonian, started it all in his column last Monday. "Why not call them Cossacks," he said. "They come from Moscow." Marvellous reasoning, that. If the university were located in Kellogg, the "Idaho Cornflakes" would probably be the moniker attached to the team.

Wednesday's Oregonian carries the startling headline, "Cossacks of Idaho worry Orangemen." And, the article itself, half a column in length, with a Corvallis gate line, employs Cossack and Idaho throughout but not once does it mention Vandals. Some employee of the Oregonian very generously inserted—"Dashing Vandals threat to Schiller's eleven" in a headline, but that, presumably was a slip, since the Oregonian has decreed that we are henceforth Cossacks and not Vandals.

The Argonaut is aware that Gregory is trying to compliment us by suggesting the name of a tribe that was once strong and his intentions are appreciated to a degree. However, that connotation no longer remains. All that one thinks of now when the word Cossacks is mentioned, is a horde of grizzly men with long beards, short swords and an alarming disregard for personal cleanliness, riding about on Siberian ponies which are today being cleaned as beef or served in tamales as chicken.

Idaho's teams are not invincible teams but they have been called Vandals for some time and that name commands a pretty wholesome respect from Seattle to Los Angeles.

Public opinion and the press can change Vandals to Cossacks or even Hottentots but, may we be consulted first, please?

ONE of the best and most noticeable features of this fall is something that is dangerous to mention. By the time this gets in print it will probably be raining or snowing, but the whole campus is rejoicing just now over the wonderful weather. The only complaints have been very slight; the football men have noticed the heat in several games at home. Even to them the clear weather is far from objectionable. Slicker business is poor, picnics are still popular, gardeners and pledges still have to care for lawns, and late summer flowers are continuing to bloom in gardens of the campus city.

If we could be assured that there was not some trickery in the heart of the weather administrator we could be filled with rejoicing for the most unusual days. Two football games yet remain on the home and near-home schedule. We don't like to be pessimistic but we can't help feeling that things are going happen then in the way of balancing up the fall moisture question. Chances are good that we are right. Bask in the sun while we can!

THE cautious junior class is not counting the drumsticks of any unlaid eggs. For perhaps the first time in recent history a group of students have sounded an ominous note in their announcement of a social gathering—"mizer" it is commonly called. For some the announcement "Junior Mixer Tonight. Class of '32" will perhaps prove true, but the pessimism of the majority of the junior class in such a handbill is exaggerated. By 1932 it is to be hoped that a smattering handful, at least, of the present junior class will be thinking of returning to Idaho for their first homecoming as alumni. As for the rest, time and the registrar's office alone will tell. That the juniors are catching onto the ways and means of the university so early in their college careers is encouraging. It usually takes a student seven semesters and sixteen weeks to come to the conclusion that there might have been a discrepancy in his choice of graduation class numerals. The juniors were, of course, so busy preparing neglected assignments and getting ready for the nine-week's exams that they didn't have time for such paltry details as correct class numerals. What discernence does it make anyhow, '32, '33, '76, or '99? It's all just another date. And think how original it was for the sophomore class to throw a mixer so early in the year, and how strange it was that the Class of '32 didn't seem to have anything to do with the arrangements. We wonder if the administration has been warned of the demise of the class of '31—"Rest in Peace." It would be a memorable year with no graduation exercises, no new alumni to put the world on its feet, and no attractive degrees to bestow. Toll the bell for '31. "Thirty-two has double strength."

THE new whipcord trousers that the sophomore men were so strenuously campaigning for 10 days ago have yet to make their appearance on the campus, despite the fact that the "T" club granted permission to wear a black variety. The "kick" in being new and different has lost its power and lure now that the desired end has been reached—for it must be said that what the sophomores wanted was a distinctive and reasonably priced brand of pants. Black really has more advantages for the economy of striving men than the white corduroys of the upper-classmen. The dirt wouldn't show on black and would, therefore, eliminate the necessity for washing every semester or so as is the habit of the junior with his soiled badge of seniority. The matter should be pushed further: by the ardent agitators from whom there has been heard little of late. The first one to appear in the black whipcords, a nice bright red sweater, a Joe College hat, and a nonchalant smile would be a leader of proven ability—if he lived. Luckily there still seems to be a brain functioning somewhere in the group. The issue is being dropped like a hot rock.

HOME COMING, with its annual excitement, pep, hard work, and general enjoyment is not many weeks away. The football season is well started. Preliminary details of starting the school year have been gone through and Idaho is well launched into another year. From many reliable sources it is being reported that the Vandal campus will experience its largest crowd in history at the Gonzaga game November 16. It will be Idaho's next and last home game. Spokane will send down thousands of supporters for the Bulldogs, a strong team for anybody to tangle with.

Group houses will have a new job this year in decorating for homecoming. It has been the custom to give the W. S. C. cougar a constant skinning. Now some new material on a different brand of animal will have to be worked up and an entirely different trend of decoration followed. Start early. Don't wait until the day before alumni start coming in. It doesn't cost anything to begin thinking.

GOING to college would be of more educational advantage if it wasn't for the week-ends and the week-ends would be of more enduring effect if it wasn't for classes that interfere in the mean time.

GRIDIRON GOSSIP

Idaho will go into the game without the assistance of Fred Wilkie, her dynamic fullback who dislocated his collar bone in the Oregon game last week. Wilkie's loss will be weenly felt. Just who will replace him is not known as yet. We have a hunch that maybe Kershnik may take his place. You know Kershnik is the boy that U. S. C. said was the best fullback he played against last year. Maybe that hunch is all wrong and they will use Berg or Halliday.

O. S. C. is slightly favored to win the game Saturday. Despite the fact that they have quite a few green men on the team they are given an edge on their superiority in the air. O. S. C. also has the advantage of having already met both Stanford and U. S. C. two of the best teams in America. The experience from these two games should have helped to build up their team considerably.

The battle of the century will be between U. S. C. and Stanford at Palo Alto this Saturday. Practically all of the sports writers and coaches who have played against the two teams figure he game to be a toss up. The breaks no doubt will decide the outcome. Stanford with an impregnable line and U. S. C. with the fastest and most deceptive backfield seem on the score for years should offer a combination the outcome of which would be hard to guess. Considering the experience and deception of the great Pop Warner I place my bets on Stanford and admit that I'm probably wrong.

The only other conference game is between Oregon and Washington and despite the comparative scores and records of the two teams nothing may happen. If Kitzmiller gets his passes going it'll be tough for Washington and if some of the Washington backs get driving it may be tough for Oregon. On the hole it looks like Oregon has a better chance but you never can tell. The Oregon-Washington game always has been a jinx. In the years when Washington had their super teams Oregon would tie or beat them. When Oregon has a good team then Washington does the same. So I won't be surprised no matter what happens.

$600 FELLOWSHIP GIVEN FORESTERS

Dean F. G. Miller Announces Acceptance of Potlatch Lumber Company

Acceptance of a research fellowship valued at $600 for a year for two years, donated to the forestry experiment station by the Potlatch Lumber company has been announced by Dean F. G. Miller head of the school. Thomas H. Harris, a graduate of the University of California, has been appointed research fellow to fill the position made possible by the gift.

The Potlatch Lumber company is particularly interested that the fellowship be used in some phase of wood utilization. Under the present system of lumber manufacturing, only about 50 per cent of the original tree is used in the finished product. Lumber by-products that may possibly be utilized from the wood now wasted are to-

PEP RALLY CHEERS DEPARTING VANDALS

One of the most energetic pep rallies so far held on the Idaho campus took place on Thursday evening at the O. S. L. depot when the Idaho Vandals left for Corvallis to play the O. S. C. football team. Between two hundred and three hundred students were present and led by the Yell leaders, Ormsby and Grimm, rendered a splendidly presented group of songs and yells. In spite of the fact that it was a cold evening, a noticeable spirit was evident. The train left the platform slowly as the waiting students sang, "And Here We Have Idaho."

Books Lose Lure To Listless Luck

Just one more thing to write home about—a Friday afternoon in the library. An "I" man asleep—the low hum of whispering—the hissing of a radiator—doors swinging—almost everyone is gone. Ho hum!—a few people waiting for a o'clock classes—a few library gates—a girl writing a letter—a future Phi Beta Kappa reading Dewey.
Someone drops a book—the "I" man awakens—looks at his watch—looks at the clock—rushes out. The Sigma Nu who has been trying to decide whether to take the girl friend to eat now, or to the show tonight decided in favor of eating. They leave.
Others leave for 4 o'clock. The wind is blowing outside. A window rattles. The librarian turns on the lights. Just the Phi Bet and I are left in the library. Let him stay. I'm looking for a human interest story.

MISS BARRY STRUCK BY CARELESS DRIVER

Miss Margaret Barry, English instructor, was struck by a car Wednesday night. The accident occurred about 8 o'clock when Miss Barry was returning home and she was unable to obtain a description of the car or its occupants. She was knocked unconscious at the time but recovered sufficiently to gain the curb and was taken home by a passing motorist. Miss Barry was able to continue meeting her classes.
No report of the accident was made by the young men. This is the first "hit and run" accident that has been staged in Moscow for several years.

LOVELY and lonely, the moon shines down on the deserted earth. The flock of fast-scudding clouds that scamper over its face cast inky shadows that form an ever-changing pattern on the white road that extends like a ribbon off into the dim and hazy distance. We sit in silence in the little roadster beneath the tree, for conversation seems futile in the face of mental fool and resolve never to do that again. But tomorrow night, I suppose, I shall do the same thing in the same way, forgetting the disgusted words of the morning. Why are we so inconsistent?

The above theme by a student, needs no comment. It typifies so well that which is common to most of us and does it so nicely that it can stand alone.

SO THEY SHOW

Kenworthy, Thursday and Friday—Lucky in Love, starring Morton Downey and Betty Lawford. Michael O'More, an American, is living with his uncle in Ireland in the employ of the Earl of Balkberry. He falls in love with the earl's granddaughter, Lady Mary Cardigan, but is forced to go to America through the villainy of Captain Fitzroy, another of Mary's suitors. When Mary goes to New York, where Michael has made good, Fitzroy follows her to get her signature on a paper that will give him possession of the earl's estate. He is tricked when Michael and Mary unexpectedly return to Ireland in time to save the castle, and, of course, for a big wedding.

Saturday—Barnum Was Right. A poor man in love with a rich girl, an irate father, mystery, a treasure hunt, a roof blown from the hotel to find the jewels all follow each other in fast and funny succession in this farce comedy starring Glenn Tyron and Merna Kennedy.

Sunday and Monday—"Imagine My Embarrassment!" cry many people when three clever showgirls (including Sue Carol) with three other women's husbands, and the wives with the show girls' college sweethearts, (with Nick Stuart) all go to the same roadhouse for the evening unknown to each other. The happy climax is reached when after complications, the rightful partners are reunited and doing the "boom-boom."

STUDENTS WILL SEE GAME ON GRIDGRAPH

A gridgraph presentation of the football game tomorrow afternoon between Idaho and Oregon State college at Corvallis will be given in the women's gymnasium by the Intercollegiate Knights. The first plays are slated to be thrown on the board at 2:30 o'clock, says Stewart Kimball, honorable duke who was in charge of the first "graph" last Saturday. Students will be admitted free of charge but a fee will be charged for all persons not members of the A. S. U. I.

NEW BOOKS ARE MADE AVAILABLE

Nearly a dozen volumes of the best recent literature will be placed at the disposal of the Idaho student body within the next two weeks through the efforts of the English club bookshelf committee. It was announced yesterday by Lucille Glindeman, chairman of the group. All books will be carefully selected by students with the advice of members of the English faculty and a small rental fee to cover the cost of the books will be charged to students who have the opportunity to take them out. Short reviews of the books on the shelf will be given through The Argonaut as soon as they are ready for student reading. Miss Glindeman has not yet decided what hours the shelf will be open, but expects to announce the schedule with a list of attendants early next week.

Wisconsin will have 85 college football games this year.

ENGLISH CLUB WILL NAME NEW MEMBERS

Chandler Named Head of Membership Committee; List Being Compiled

All students eligible to membership in the English club will be announced in the next issue of 'The Argonaut' and a general social meeting of the club will be held as soon as the number of new members is accurately determined. It was decided at a meeting of the club executive board Thursday afternoon in the office of Dr. G. M. Miller, head of the English department. Zella Newcomb, president, has appointed Vera Chandler chairman of the membership committee. Miss Chandler is at the present time compiling a list of old members and ascertaining from professors and editors of campus publications the names of those recently qualified.

Committees at Work

Work of four committees, Idaho literature, Chimes, Yearbook, and Bookshelf was inaugurated in addition to the membership drive. The idea of installing chimes in the clock tower of the Administration has long been a project of the English club. This year it is the ambition of the committee, headed by Andrew Thompson, to gain sufficient enthusiasm from the students and state to make definite action possible. The size and policy of the yearbook "Under the Helmet" was not determined at the meeting of the editorial staff already gathering material it is reported.

dentally, O. S. C. held Southern California to the lowest score this season and Noster, the midwest State quarterback returned a Southern California punt yards through the whole U. S. C. team for the Beavers lone touchdown. Schliser is not thoroughly satisfied with the work of some of his linemen and one or two regulars may find themselves holding down bench positions tomorrow. Buck Hammer, who started the season as a fourth string fullback, was shifted to guard last week, but has been playing with the first string at center this week in practice. He may replace Bob Geddes tomorrow in the starting lineup. "Pete" Miller, who started college before the war, entered business afterward and then re-entered college this year "to play football" showed a lot of stuff last week at Palo Alto and he may get a chance at right tackle in place of Bill Byington. Miller is 30 years old and weighs over 200.

Passes Are Flux

If Calland arranges an effective pass defense for the Vandals the two teams will enter the game on even terms but Idaho is sure to meet an aerial game and her defensive strength in this department will probably determine the outcome of the game. The Vandals have power—any team that can creep off 181 yards from scrimmage against Oregon must have—and the fact that the Webfeet could only penetrate the Idaho line for 88 yards indicates defensive strength but if Schliser decides to throw passes, and many of them are successful, it may prove disastrous for Idaho. Inasmuch as Idaho and O. S. C. both dropped games last Saturday it should be a battle royal, both teams trying to climb at the expense of the other. The Beavers have yet to win a conference game and as Saturday is homecoming day in Corvallis they will have the support of several thousand alumni.

Men who made the trip to Portland are as follows: ends—Walt Price, Clarence Dittman, Harold Carlson, Ted Jensen, Arthur Norby, Cal Souther; tackles—Gordon Diehl, William Bessler, Russell Juono, Daniel Lopez, Frank Tatum; guards—Elmer Martin, John Corkery, Homer Seifert, Richard Thomas, John Armatage; centers—Leslie Kirkpatrick, Arthur Spaugy; quarterbacks—Waldemar Pedersen, Kenneth Barrett, Herbert Owens, John Norman; halfbacks—Orville Hult, William Kershnik, Otto Licht, Howard Berg; fullbacks—Fred Wilkie, James Halliday and John Booker.

Accompanying the squad are Coach Leo B. Calland, assistant coaches Otto K. Anderson, Rich Fox and Ralph D. Hutchinson and two student managers, Frank Winzler and Sol Beadner. Calland put his men through a final workout yesterday afternoon, and planned to give them limbering up drills on Muttonah field Friday.

WOMEN PLEDGED TO JOURNAL SOCIETY

Murphy and Mattes Iamed by Theta Sigma; Both on Argonaut Staff.

Mary Murphy and Katherine Mattes were pledged to Theta Sigma, local journalistic fraternity for women, at the regular bi-weekly luncheon Tuesday at the Blue Bucket inn. Theta Sigma chooses its pledges for the interest they show in journalism as a profession, and for active work on the Idaho Argonaut. Miss Murphy has been a special feature writer and Miss Mattes a reporter for the last two years.

A general program for the year was outlined at this meeting, and includes the annual state-wide contest for the best high school paper edited by women, entertaining the Theta Sigma Phi chapter, national journalistic society for women, from Washington State college at Pullman, and giving for town and university women a banquet featuring some noted woman journalist.

SMOKER A SUCCESS

The annual Associated Foresters' smoker, held in the U-Hut Tuesday evening proved to be one of the most entertaining affairs that the organization has witnessed. The liveliest fight of the evening was between "Buck" Buchanan and "Tony" Anderson, both men stopping only when they became exhausted. Among the features of the evening were playlets and black-face skits given by each class. Cigars, cigarettes, and refreshments concluded the traditional affair.

CLARK RECITAL SLATED SUNDAY

Piano Instructor on Music Faculty to Present Program

Miss Isobel Clark, head of the piano department and senior member of the music faculty, will be presented in recital Sunday afternoon, October 27 at 4 o'clock in the university auditorium.

Miss Clark was graduated from the New England Conservatory of Music with Bach honors. She then studied with the famous pianist, the Leginska, in New York City, and for one year with Louis Victor Saar. The last four summers she has studied with the famous Polish pianist, Sigismund Stojowski, whom Paderewski classifies with the greatest of the master teachers.

Before Miss Clark came to Idaho she was head of the music department at Blue Mountain college, Mississippi.

She will play the following numbers:
I
Variations Serieuses...Mendelssohn
II
Waltz, op. 64, No. 2.....Chopin
Prelude, op. 28, No. 3.....Chopin
Etude, op. 25, No. 1.....Chopin

SHORTHAND BY RADIO

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis. (PFA)—A radio shorthand contest for high school and college students throughout the state is the latest feature of broadcasting over the college radio station KOAC. Special awards will be given by the secretarial training department which is sponsoring the event.

IDAHO JOURNALIST RECEIVES PROMOTION

Joel L. Priest, jr., graduate of the University of Idaho, and former editor of The Argonaut, was recently promoted to news editor of the Salt Lake Tribune according to an announcement in Editor and Publisher, national journalists' publication.

Mr. Priest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel L. Priest of Boise, has followed newspaper work since his graduation about six years ago, working for southern Idaho and Utah papers. He also was Associated Press correspondent at Boise before going to Salt Lake, to accept the city editorship on the Tribune in 1928. Mr. Priest is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

WELCOME PLANNED FOR IDAHO ELEVEN

All students are asked to be present at the Union Pacific station at 9 o'clock Monday morning to meet the Idaho team on their return from the Corvallis game. The Pep band will be out in full force to meet Calland and his squad. Classes will not be excused.

Tau Mem Aleph will hold its regular meeting Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the U-Hut.

Gordon Individually-Proportioned Stockings

Stockings that fit your individual foot and leg dimensions. Stockings to fit the individual foot and leg dimensions of your mother, daughters, sisters, aunts, cousins and friends.

No matter what your body proportions—tall, average, short—with slender, average or plump legs—this store can supply you with stockings that are not only right in leg length, but right in leg width.

Think what this means to you. Smarter, better looking stockings—because they fit you smoothly, without wrinkles or surplus that needs to be rolled. More comfortable stockings—because they fit without straining or binding. Consequently—longer wear, since there is less chance of runs.

The new Individually-Proportioned Stockings come in all the famous Gordon styles and shades. And the various sizes are all the same price in the same style. They are divided into four groups in all foot sizes—because actual measurements show that women are divided naturally into four groups as regards general proportions. One of our saleswomen unobtrusively measures you (it takes about 10 seconds)—tells you accurately just which stocking will fit you best—and records your measurements for future reference. And here are the four groups. Remember their names!

The Gordon Petite—designed for the short woman with average leg measurements—for the woman of average height with slim legs—for the growing girl.

The Gordon Regal—designed for the tall woman with average leg measurements—for the woman of average height with heavy calves or thighs.

The Gordon Princess—designed for women of average height and leg measurements—for the short woman with plump legs—for the young girl whose skirts are brief.

The Gordon Splendide—designed for the thousands of women, who—whether tall or short—are generously proportioned throughout the lower part of the body.
