

MERCHANTS FAVOR BLUE KEY IDEAS FOR HOMECOMING

Civic Clubs Will Get Behind Campus Plans For Decorations

SLOGANS SUGGESTED

Window Displays to Indicate Interest of Town in Bulldog-Vandal Mix

Group house decorations will be the feature of the homecoming celebration on the campus and the business district this year, reports Clair Gale, chairman of the Blue Key committee in charge of decorations.

Cups will again be awarded to the men's and the women's houses best exemplifying the spirit of homecoming. Groups will be limited to an expenditure of $25, in order to give all of them an "even break." Last year Beta Theta Pi won the men's cup, and Gamma Phi Beta the women's award. For the two years before Sigma Chi took first honors.

Gale advises groups to make use of night displays, as illumination and effectiveness at night will be counted more than the daytime effect.

Businessmen Co-operating. Business men will carry out the same idea in special store front and window displays. Cecil Hagen, representing Blue Key, spoke at the chamber of commerce Wednesday noon and outlined plans that the organization has for the campus. Best co-operation, he suggested could be obtained if every merchant in the city would make a special homecoming window display.

The plan was received favorably by the businessmen, and a committee consisting of L. A. Boas, chairman, Harold Cornelison and Gerald Hodgins was appointed to take charge of the project. Hagen told members of the chamber of commerce that merchants in Corvallis and Portland had particularly effective displays at the Oregon and O. S. C. games.

Blue Key plans for decoration include lighting of the "U" tank and the tower of the Memorial gymnasium. An arch probably will be erected at one of the so-called campus entrances, Sixth and Deakin preferably.

BUY "GEM" NOW URGES MANAGER

No Extra Copies of "Bigger Gem of 1930" Other Than Actual Subscriptions.

Owing to the increased size and publishing expense of the "Bigger Gem of 1930," there will be no extra annuals printed in addition to the actual number of subscriptions, according to Frank Smuin, business manager. Students are urged by the Gem staff to get their subscriptions as soon as possible in order to assure them of an annual and to speed plans for publication.

This year the book will be the largest that has yet made its appearance on the Idaho campus. It contains many of the ideas installed in the greater annuals of the country.

The Spurs, and Inter-Collegiate Knights have volunteered to assist in promoting a sales campaign for a publication. Representatives have been appointed in each group and subscriptions can be obtained from them, says Smuin.

W. S. C. INSTRUCTS DANCERS

PULLMAN.—The physical education department of the Washington State college is offering a class in social dancing for men and women. Anyone who does not know how to dance and is interested in learning may enroll in the class. The class meets once a week.

Oxford Men Are Experts At Sarcasm in Debates

By M. A.

That the audience and the debaters, too, will have something to think about in the coming Oxford debate, may just as well be granted as a foregone conclusion. According to those who have heard English teams in America before, that something will not necessarily be the deep and dark realms of some marvelous theory of prof. In many cases it has been the question of how such supposedly intellectual persons as English debaters from Oxford or Cambridge, could behave in a manner so perfectly idiotic as they sometimes do. For instance, one occasion upon which this question was at the forefront of the minds of the audience was three years ago, when before an eastern audience, the first two Oxford representatives appeared in the conventional evening dress only to be followed by the third who was attired in a perfectly disreputable pair of golf knickerbockers. At least, they were as disreputable as these weeks constant wear could make them, and that is not taking time out for such occasions upon which pants are not worn.

Masters of Ridicule

It is a well known fact that English debaters like to dwell in the realms of philosophy and other subjects about which they say they know nothing and then go ahead

TIME SHORT FOR BUYING TICKETS

Students Have Only Three Days to Make Reservations for Cougar Game

Idaho students have only three days left to buy their tickets for the Idaho-W. S. C. game at Pullman, November 9, according to George Horton, graduate manager. All tickets not sold by that time must be returned to the Washington State graduate manager, who will place them on sale at Pullman.

Tickets can be obtained at Mr. Horton's office in the Memorial gymnasium today and tomorrow. Monday they will be sold at a table in the main hall of the Administration building. Coupon books and $1 will be necessary to get the desired pasteboards, said Mr. Horton. Idaho coupon books must be presented with the tickets in order to gain admittance at the game at Pullman, he added.

GIGANTIC RALLY SET FOR FRIDAY

All Idaho Will Join In "Victory" Celebration on Eve Of W. S. C. Game

Pajamas, probably torchlights, and all other incidents connected with a football rally will be held next Friday night before the W. S. C. game, reports Ralph Ormsby, Idaho yell king.

Officers of the A.S.U.I. decided that some sort of rally before the W. S. C. game would be advisable because of the fact that homecoming, the usual date for the rally, does not come until the following week end.

Ormsby will assemble his rosters' club and all the men and women he can find at the campus steps immediately after dinner Friday evening. The parade will start promptly at 7:15 o'clock, and wind through the campus streets to the downtown section. When the parade arrives in the business section, several stops will be made at street intersections for yells, songs and speeches.

Tentative Program. Last night the tentative program included speeches by members of the coaching staff, the administration, Aldon Tall and other student body officers.

The night before homecoming the traditional rally specified in the A.S.U.I. constitution will be held, starting with the traditional pajama parade. It will start from the steps, will be routed through the business district, and will end at the old fair grounds at the freshman bonfire. George Wilson, class president, is organizing the first year men into committees for gathering fuel for what he claims will be the biggest bonfire in the history of Idaho homecoming games.

Graybill in Charge. Charles Graybill, junior representative on the executive board has been appointed general chairman of the bonfire committee and will have charge of arrangements being made by the freshman class. No information could be secured last night as to excuses from classes that men working on the bonfire might receive. As interschool warfare with W. S. C. has been done away with and as Gonzaga students are not expected to make any demonstration in Moscow previous to the game, it is not thought necessary for the freshmen to guard the campus during the big game season.

TICKETS SOLD OUT

All available tickets for the Association Forsters game to be held tomorrow evening at the Blue Bucket have been sold, according to Doren Woodward, chairman of the committee in charge. Admission will be by ticket only, due to the limited space of the floor.

IDAHO YEARLINGS READY FOR CLASH WITH COUGAR KITS

Dope Places Frosh Squads at Even Break For Tilt Here

IDAHO LINE HEAVY

Wilson May Not Start Game; Jacoby Announces Lineup

With light scrimmage and signal practice yesterday the Vandal oaks finished a strenuous two weeks preparation for their annual battle with the Washington State Frosh football team here Saturday.

Coach Red Jacoby has given the Babes a number of plays, stressing deception and an overhead attack. The Frosh have taken to the new system like ducks to water and are running off the plays in varsity style. This bewildering attack and the fast, hard hitting offensive will keep the Cougars guessing.

The Kittens only lost to Ellensburg Normal by a 7-to-0 score, exhibiting a good eleven, with plenty of power and speed. Coach Karl Schlademan has put the W. S. C. Frosh through an intensive drill, developing an impregnable defense, and a capable offense.

Cougars Rated High

The young Cougars are rated high this year and the Yearlings will have their hands full to take them into camp. However the Frosh have portrayed an excellent brand of football in stiff scrimmages against the varsity in the last two weeks. With this in mind Jacoby expects to turn in a winning score tomorrow and avenge the drubbing the Frosh received last year.

Both Frosh squads have perfected a fine passing game so that the clash tomorrow is liable to end with a thrilling overhead attack by either team. The Yearlings have been a bit weak in their passing.

Two Hour Vacation Promise Brings No Joy to Hennessy

HELLO, PEOPLES:

Well, I reads in the Argonaut where leader W. S. C. says the Pep band "members feel that they are not striking enough at present." What does he think they're doing, playing baseball?

Among the latest "finds" of the season in the field of oratory and humor is Clair Gale. At the senior meeting time, it is not thought necessary for the crowd spellbound and then moved them to uproarious laughter. Yes, sir, the staid, froshy seniors actually guffawed. It is likely that Clair will give the next hotly lecture.

Did you read where Matty says, says he, that Gonzaga will probably not have enough players to get into the game tomorrow up in Spokane because so many are on the hospital list. Well, I just hope that he doesn't try to "borrow" any players from here or W. S. C. Just an old Gonzaga custom.

The classes will be held on Armistice day. Why? Well, you know what Sherman said about war. Well, so's school. And if there's anything to math then school is war and in that case there's no need to have an armistice celebration with profs. Nor will a two hour respite take much off the edge of the swords' points that we're at.

Where does the Carnegie committee get this stuff that Idaho athletes are paid? Of course they ain't. They just have all the jobs.

As is,
TWO STAR.

Mid-season finds the Idaho football team tied with Oregon State, one game won and two lost for a percentage of 33.3. The Vandals have scored 106 points to their opponents 74.

DEAN DYER NEXT ASSEMBLY SPEAKER

John Ruskin Dyer, executive dean of the Southern Branch of the University of Idaho, President F. J. Kelly, and possibly D. W. Vincent, commissioner of education of Idaho, will be among speakers at next Wednesday's assembly, said I. W. Jones, yesterday. Mr. Vincent has wired that he must attend a meeting of the State Teachers' association in Lewiston, Thursday, and he is making the effort to be in Moscow Wednesday.

Mr. Dyer was selected by the board of regents as executive dean of the southern branch this fall, succeeding Dean M. F. Angell, now dean of the college of letters and science at the University of Idaho.

Rooters Club Builds Pep For W. S. C. Fray

By C. C.

Everybody's going to W. S. C. November 9. Approximately 320 husky-throated men from Idaho will be seated in a block especially reserved for them to do a whole lot of organized yelling.

House captains for the Idaho Rooters' club were appointed last night at a rooters' meeting in the Kappa Sig house. Carrying the conviction that "in unity there is strength" the rooters chose as their slogan "More Pep". The club will have a special section of the stands reserved for them at all of Idaho's athletic contests, and will be attired either in white sweaters or white shirts.

House captains are Lambda Chi, Clark Smith; T. K. E. Harold Waters; Beta, Vernon Eaton; Sigma Chi, Edward Douglas; S. A. E., Jack Nunemaker; Kappa Sigma, Joe Coffey; Phi Chi, Carl Yanick; Phi Delta, Bill Cummings; Delta Chi, Byron Sewell; A. T. O., Frank Buhl; Lambda Chi, V. C. Thompson; Sigma Nu, Bill Ennis; Ridenbaugh, Kent Fuller; Beta Chi, Wayne Burke. Ormsby said that if other groups would appoint their captains immediately, they should be represented in the club.

An Idaho special of 12 cars, will be run for the game, a round-trip ticket costing 75 cents. Students, Ormsby said, are urged by the student councils and graduate managers of both Idaho and W. S. C. to go by train to facilitate traffic difficulties.

That all Idaho students stand, the men removing their hats, when the Pep band strikes up "And Here We Have Idaho" was urged by Ormsby at the meeting. A general pep rally, he announced, will be held at the campus steps the night before the big contest.

Tickets are on sale in the office of the graduate manager now, and will be sold after next Monday. Gate crashers will be sorely disappointed at the W. S. C. Stadium this year, Ormsby declared.

World's Worst Words Of Pledge Challenge Startle Staid Campus

"Here come the worms! Here come the worms! Tra la! Tra la!" With horns tooting and banjos strumming, with a clatter and bang of hastily improvised drums and cymbals, with loud non-musical singing, a semi-nude troop of S. A. E. pledges paraded up the street Tuesday evening to issue the challenge for the traditional brawl and smoker Saturday night. The challenge, a masterpiece of literature and obscenity, was read with insinuating sneers and interjections. Using four dictionaries, one encyclopedia, 10,000 words of a mule-skinner's vocabulary, they called the Kappa Sig pledges a bunch of good for nothing (various things) and invited them to do battle Saturday night in their majestic abode. Then they distributed an accumulation of trash throughout the living room, left their cards, and with clamor departed. But the Kappa Sig pledges, undaunted, bid them God speed with an impromptu shower-bath of over-ripe tomatoes and cold, clear water.

In answer to the S. A. E. neophytes the Kappa Sig frosh pranced down the street last night, displaying their many figures—scantly clad and soot smeared to the tune—"my pardon to the musicians—"Yes, we have no pans." They tramped into the S. A. E. house, with shouts and jeers and cat-calls, and proceeded to read their acceptance of the challenge in slurring, mocking, vituperative voice. The acceptance fully qualified that of the Sig Aloha. After their rendition distraction, they began their march homeward, but he vibrant S. A. E. neophytes bid them a hasty adieu with streams of water, and a barrage of perishable fruits.

If anyone wishes to know who was the least dressed, they may call up the modest Thetas. These cool maidens speedily pulled down their minds, jerked the curtains that shut, and dashed to the street to get a close-up of these aspiring or shall we say perspiring young gentlemen.

Xi Sigma Pi, national honorary forestry fraternity, gave a dinner at the Blue Bucket inn Wednesday in honor of the new members, James Sower, Russel LeBaron, George Jamison, and Charles Sargent. Short talks on the aims and ideals of the fraternity were given by members.

COURT BATTLES RAGE AS TEAMS GET UNDER WAY

First Round of Intramural Basketball Comes Through With Close Competition

MATERIAL IS GOOD

Next Week Expected to Reveal Contenders for Campus Championship

Competition in intramural basketball swung into full stride this week in memorial gymnasium, most of the teams seeing action for the first time in their battle to win the campus championship. In virtually every instance the scores were fairly close, indicating plenty of keen competition before the pennant winning five is decided.

Next week will see the opening of the second round, many of the five faced with a second defeat unless they play at top form, consequently followers of the game are predicting some clever teamwork.

Results of the first round follow:

Lambda Chi-16-Sigma Chi-12
The Lambda Chi's dressed in flashy green suits turned the tables on the Sigma Chi quintet and came out on the long end of a 16-12 score Tuesday night in the Memorial Gym. Alden and Wright led the attack for the Lambda Chi's and Lemp, Burns and Whit-taker played good ball for the losers.

Lambda Chi Alpha Sigma Chi
Angely F Herndon
Alden F Lemp

ORIGINAL HUMOR FEATURES BUCKET

"Outweazel" is Queer Title of Story in First Issue

The first issue of the "Blue Bucket" which was out this morning is being distributed through representatives in each group house and hall. For the benefit of those that did not subscribe for the humor magazine they will be placed on sale in the main hall of the Administration building.

"Outweazel" and "Campus Life" by John Forrest and Ralph Hagan are outstanding stories of this issue. They are snappy and original. "Outweazel" is an original enough name to arouse the curiosity and make it read, and it will be necessary to read "Campus Life" to see what this author has to say about the eternal problem.

"1929 Vandals" Idea.

"Prospects of the 1929 Vandals" by Andy Tomson carries out the cover idea which is an action picture of football heroes. The cover, which is, in color, was designed by Dale Goss, editor. Original jokes contributed by George Gray, Charles Herndon, William Stenton and Burt Woods have been illustrated by Dale Goss, Gerald Grimm, Elmer Martin, and Howard Johns.

Staff for the quarterly humor magazine is: Dale Goss, editor; Gerald Grimm, associate editor; James Mitchell, business manager; James Mitchell, assistant business manager.

Montana State Luck In Crucial Battle Credited to Mascot

BOZEMAN.—The famous old Bobcat which followed football teams into action against State University for so many years, has been replaced by a most active and satisfactory emblem of good luck. The emblem is Master "Bill" Israel, a mite of a Butte boy who last year attached himself to the Bobcats with the announced intention of "bringin' luck."

"Bill" sat on the Bobcat bench in Butte through the famous title basketball game against the Cook Painters, when the Bobcats won; he wormed his way back to the Bobcat bench when Bobcat reserves were trying to conquer Montana Mines there in a critical game, and "Bill's" rabbit foot brought his one-point victory.

Bill "Good Medicine"

When the Bobcats hit Butte last week, well,—there was Bill, with a friendly smile, and a declaration that he was still good luck to them. Coach Dyche considered a moment, then ordered that the boy be taken to the Bobcat bench on the sidelines. "We can't afford to ignore Bill's belief that he is good medicine for us," said the coach. "He's officially our mascot for this game."

The Bobcats won, by a great upset of dose, their first victory over the Grizzlies in 21 years. "Bill" took it all nonchalantly; he knew all along that he was key of the situation.

CURTAIN PLEDGES SIX STUDENTS

Dramatics Honorary Takes in Building Actors; Will Initiate Sunday.

Announcement of the pledging of six persons was made yesterday afternoon by officers of Curtain, honorary dramatics fraternity. The pledges, Grace Parsons, Amne Johnson, Mrs. Dorothy Pierce, Harold Packer, Harry Robb and Dan McGrath, have taken an active part in university dramatics during the most of their college careers, appearing in various roles in the past three years.

The pledges will be initiated at a special banquet to be held Sunday by members of the honorary.

Curtain has been an active organization on the Idaho campus for a number of years, taking a leading part in the sponsoring of student play production.

PULLMAN EXPECTS BIG VANDAL CROWD

Attendance at Nov. 9 Game Expected to Rival Homecoming

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Pullman.—A crowd rivaling the record host of 15,000 fans that gathered here for the annual Washington State-University of Washington game is expected to jam the Rogers field, bleachers when the Cougars meet the University of Idaho on Saturday, November 9.

Although the clash with the Vandals is almost two weeks away, ticket requests have already started to pour into the graduate manager's office. While many choice seats are still left, reservations from Inland Empire towns should be filed as early as possible. A first-come-first-served policy will be followed in distributing the tickets, according to Loyd Bury, assistant graduate manager who is directing the ticket sales. Prices are $2.50 and $2.00.

The largest single delegation to the Cougar-Vandal battle probably will come from Moscow, with 1500 University of Idaho students and many townspeople planning to "cross the border" for the fray. Hundreds of other Idaho supporters will come from Genesee, Lewiston and other Gem state towns to vie with the thousands of Washington State followers who trek to Pullman from neighboring centers.

Spokane will send a huge automobile caravan carrying several thousand grid fans to the final home game on the W. S. C. schedule, and special trains will bring hundreds more to the scene of combat.

INTRAMURAL RACE TO BE SATURDAY

The first intramural track event of the season, the cross-country run, will be held Saturday between halves of the Idaho-W.S.C. frosh football game according to previous plans.

Attempts to determine who would be entered in the event by the various houses met with little success last night, but few of the managers being ready to announce their team.

Every group on the campus is expected to enter representatives. The winning group will be awarded points counting toward intramural standing.

D. G. TEAM GETS CUP

Delta Gamma won the J. M. Bolding trophy cup for women's intramural horseshoe competition Monday. Grace Eldridge and Helen Bonnell played for the winning group and Dorothy Dewey and Dorothy Kleinholz played for Daleth Tech Gimel, the losing team.

VARSITY GRINDING HARD FOR NEXT TWO GRID GAMES

Coach Calland Puts Vandals Through Strenuous Workouts

TEAM SPIRIT HIGH

Squad Determined to Reap Revenge; Several Regulars On Injury List

By Paul Jones

The picnic season is over on MacLean field. At least that is the gist of what Coach Leo Calland has been trying to impress on his proteges this week, the most strenuous training period since the start of the season.

After dropping games to Oregon and Oregon State on their first road trip of the season the Vandals returned to the home camp, crippled but still fighting, and went back to the training grind with a spirit that looks like a bad omen to someone's football club.

The Vandals' rest this weekend, that is, they rest in the sense that they have no actual game but there is no loafing during Calland's practice sessions and most of the men probably will be as tired by Sunday as if they had gone through a game with a couple of extra periods thrown in.

Long Injured List

The scrimmage has been so brisk this week that four "wrecks" are on the injured list: "Herbie" Owers, quarterback; John Armata, guard; Cal Southern, end, and "Art" Nordby, half, are all out, temporarily, with various injuries received during practice sessions. Fred Wilkie, regular fullback who was injured in the Oregon game two weeks ago has not yet reported for practice and probably will not be ready to state the Washington State game a week from tomorrow.

Big Bill Kershinik was back in uniform last night for the first time since the O. S. C. game last Saturday. His ankle is still a little weak but will probably be in shape for the Pullman game. Walt Price, regular end, is back in school and able to attend classes but it is almost certain that he will not be able to get into the game next week.

Cal Southern, first reserve end was injured in scrimmage early in the week and Ted Jensen was working on the first string right end position last night in practice.

Calland's first string lineup last evening included Dietman and Jensen, ends; Bessler and Diehl, tackles; Martin and Corkery, guards; Kirkpatrick, center; Hult and Kershinik, halves; Booker, fullback and Barrett, quarterback.

GEM EDITOR ON TRIP TO COAST

Allen Janssen, editor of the Gem of the Mountains, will leave this evening for a week's stay in Portland and Seattle on business concerning the annual.

Janssen will meet Mr. Irvine, the representative of the Western Engraving and Colorotype Co. in Portland and make the trip to Seattle with him. When Mr. Irvine was in Moscow last week, he estimated the approximate costs of the engraving.

In Seattle Mr. Janssen will examine the various annuals in the library of the engraving company. He will make final decision as to the style of cuts and designs throughout the book. He also will see that the expenses of the annual are kept within the budget allowed.

This year's annual will not only be larger than before, but will carry several new features and requires a special amount of consultation with the engravers.

Frank Smuin, business manager, will not make the trip as was at first expected.

Gonzaga-Idaho Homecoming Game Is First In History

The homecoming game with Gonzaga, November 16, will be the second in the history of homecoming at Idaho, to be played with a team other than Washington State. In 1925, the homecoming game was played with the University of Southern California, U. S. C. defeating Idaho by a score of 54-6.

It has been the expressed desire of many Idaho alumni to have the homecoming game with Gonzaga this year, and to play the game on Idaho's own field. W. S. C. also played her homecoming game this year with a team other than Idaho, having played it with the University of Washington.

Idaho has been playing her "big" game since 1894 with W. S. C. but this "big" game has been termed homecoming only since 1922. Of the thirty games played, W. S. C. has won 17, Idaho, 10, with two ties—in 1908 and 1927, and U. S. C. one.

Gridiron history of Idaho homecoming games is given in the following list of games and scores:

W. S. C.	Year	Idaho

STUDENTS FIGHT FIRE

PULLMAN.—Ten students are employed on the Washington State college fire fighting patrol. Six of these live at the fire station and work four hours a week. The others spend three hours weekly at the station. The patrol answers both campus and city alarms.

A NEW angle on the problem of handling collegiate athletics has been presented by Jeff Burrus, star end of the 1927 Wisconsin football team, captain of the crew that took second at Poughkeepsie, Phi Beta Kappa man and winner of a Rhodes Scholarship from the University of Wisconsin. Burrus's suggestion that regular salaries be paid university athletes drew the attention of "The Nation." Excerpts and comment on The Nation's story appeared recently in the Pocatello Tribune. Coming as it does at a time when subsidization of college teams is the latest scandal the recommendation of Burrus is not so absurdly radical as it first appears.

"Out of his experience," says The Nation, "has come the conviction that college athletics used him rather selfishly."

"He believes that the exploitation of physically endowed young men—some of whom have intellectual capacities—as if they were game fighting cocks or maddened bulls is something less than one ought to expect at the hands of his Alma Mater. He discovered in his junior year that he possessed a mind as well as powerful muscles—that modern football was not really an amateur sport at all—that it was from the outside a great show by means of which universities keyed up the loyalty of alumni associations and impressed the general taxpayers; from the inside, a relentless industry which built commodities of various kinds upon the blood and sinew and carefully nourished college spirit of the players...."

"Burrus has the notion that fathers of college athletes and the public in general ought to know just how young men with husky frames are utilized as the raw material in a vast industry. His picture tends to show conclusively that a football player has no time or thought to give to anything but football unless he is willing to submit himself to an abnormal strain."

"Burrus has no objection to the frank industrialization of football, for that seems consonant with the American spirit of today; nor does he object to the practical use of football by universities as a means of impressing their public deeply... let the boy who wishes to play gladiator for a few years... be paid a fair price for his services. Salaries should be high because of the unusual talent required and the serious hazards involved. Let coaches discontinue their furtive bids for material in favor of open competitive bidding on a frankly commercial basis. The fact that the amateur spirit no longer prevails in the major sports of many colleges should be recognized and dealt with as a reality."

To adopt such a system as Burrus advocates would necessitate a tremendous revolution in college life. Hired football teams might prove popular with student bodies but the odds are against it. Outstanding athletes are as a general rule conceited enough without being reminded of their abilities to the extent of requesting a salary for the honor of being on a team.

Open buying, selling, contracting, and trading of players as is carried on in professional sports would soon put college athletics on the rocks. Schools with insufficient finances to entice the "big boys" would be forced out of the running and it is not an unfounded guess that the large student bodies would fall to wax wildly enthusiastic over the endeavors of 11 pecuniary pigskin toters whose identity and ability were determined in dollars and cents. A lot of athletes would be so selfish and devoid of respect for their college as to accept greenbacks along with their moleskins, but their popularity would wane.

If such a plan of college athletics should ever come about teams should certainly be paid for victories only. "No win—no pay". The University of Washington, for example, could cut down its sport bill considerably.

THE ANNUAL game with Washington State College is just a week away but the customary air of intense rivalry is absent on the Idaho campus. The Cougar decision not to hold homecoming with the Vandals this year undoubtedly has something to do with the comparatively quiet preparation for the battle which used to be a scrap between the two institutions, the conflict not being confined to the 22 men ripping into each other on the frosty turf.

A return to the devastating inter-campus warfare that made the attendant circumstances of the game more exciting than touchdowns should not be thought of. There is to be no advantage gained from egging the two student bodies to leap at each other's throats on sight. On the other hand, friendliness as well as malice can be carried to extremes. The Damon and Pythias spirit is noble as long as W. S. C. is playing some other school, but when Vandal meets Cougar we ought to get back to our own side of the fence and make a few faces at the "dear neighbor." W. S. C. is a very good college and its team has been fairly successful but Idaho isn't doing any betting on the Cougars November 9.

PROFESSORS who object to students sleeping through their lectures day after day might be able to draw the conclusion that there is something wrong—something not the fault of the student. True it is that many of the men and women who face an instructor don't get enough sleep at night. Usually, however, such students are not the most frequent noddors. It isn't lack of rest that sends them off to illegal slumbers but the boredom of the course, lack of interest on the part of the "instructee," too much lecturing on the part of the instructor, or lack of cooperation on the part of both. Climatic conditions do play a part and the time of day is also to be considered, but when one can see drooping heads in all corners and hear dropping pencils and a chorus of low tuned snores day after day at the same class it's time for a "Great Awakening."

There should, too, be an open season on professors who wait until a student goes to sleep before they ask him a question after their lecture has been responsible for putting him to sleep.

Tickets for the biggest Pacific coast conference game that Idaho students will be able to see this fall are not being sold as fast as the graduate manager and student officials desire. If the Idaho section stands reserved at Rogers field, Pullman, is to be filled by "Vandalists" in a group the W. S. C. authorities must have the definite number by next Wednesday evening. Idaho students undoubtedly want to go to the game and will expect to go at the last minute. By buying the tickets now we are getting the cooperation of the two managerial staffs. Don't forget to take your student tickets to the game.

W. S. C. has a fire department employing students. We wonder if the employment bureau requires the men to pass an examination in bridge playing or the reading of "love lorn" romances.

GRIDIRON GOSSIP

By Bob Ailshie
The Idaho varsity rests this week end. However, we have a good game on for Saturday afternoon between the Idaho frosh and the W. S. C. frosh. This bids fair to be a great game. The Idaho frosh lost to Ellensburg Normal 12 to 0 while the W. S. C. frosh lost to the same team 7 to 0. According to the comparative scores the two teams are about even. There is a keen rivalry between the two teams, just as there is a rivalry between the two varsities. The frosh use the same U. S. C. system as the varsity and the game should be nearly as good as a regular college game. The game will be on McLean field at 2 P. M. Saturday.

The most important game of the week will be played between U.S.C. and California Saturday. By virtue of U. S. C.'s win over Stanford it is doped to beat California rather handily. However, this cannot be taken to mean that it will have an easy time. Due to the fact that California has not played any of the California teams there is hardly a basis for comparing the two teams. California beat Pennsylvania and since we know little or nothing about Pennsylvania we cannot use that score to indicate anything. California beat W. S. C. and W. S. C. is the big team of the North and so it's hard to figure out. U. S. C. with her great team should win. Nevertheless, California may put up a great fight and so don't bet too heavy any way. If U. S. C. gets going hot they may run up a score. If California gets going it may be close and California may even have a chance.

W. S. C. and O. S. C. play at Oregon plays U. C. L. A. and if they don't win they ought to quit.

U. OF I. RECEIVES VALUABLE BOOK

One of Earliest Works on Mines, Signed by Hoover, Presented to University.

An autographed copy of Herbert Hoover's translation of Agricola's "De Re Metallica," one of the earliest known books on mining published in Latin in 1556, has been presented to the University of Idaho by Joseph J. Taylor, mining man of Montpelier.

Georgius Agricola wrote the original books in Latin verse in 1550. For nearly 200 years it was the best and only authority on the subject of mining and metallurgy. It was translated from the original Latin by President Hoover and his wife, Lou Henry Hoover, when they were in England in 1912. It is bound in parchment covers, and the typography matches the original as closely as modern type permits.

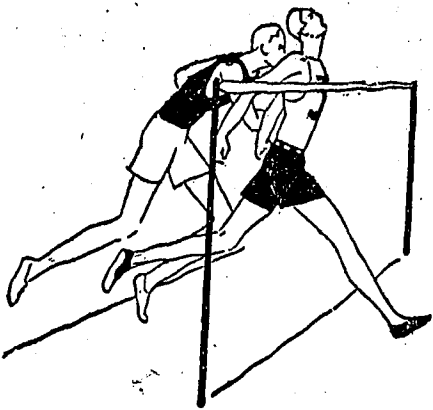

It contains exact reproductions of old wood blocks depicting geological formations, mining practices, machines and tools, and smelting and refining methods used in the sixteenth century.

Men at Stanford university outnumber the women 5 to 1.

OFFICER TO REMAIN

Extension of his time of duty at the university has been announced by Captain B. M. Crenshaw. The captain was to have completed his instruction period here in June, 1930, but will remain with the Idaho cadet corps during the school year 1930-31 according to notification from Ninth Corps area headquarters.

PULLMAN—Almost 90 students have signed up for instruction in golf at the Washington State college this year. Golf is fast becoming one of the most popular sports at the college. Classes are conducted every day during the week.

IDAHO LIVESTOCK WINS LAURELS AT PORTLAND EXHIBIT

Three Grand Champion Ribbons Taken by University Entries

University of Idaho live stock scored an overwhelming victory at the Pacific International Live stock exposition in Portland, Oregon, this week, according to word received from C. W. Hickman, head of the department of animal husbandry.

Three grand champions, two junior champions, twenty-three firsts, eighteen seconds, twelve thirds, five fourths, and two fifths places were won by Idaho entries, making the winnings a continuance of a long string of similar successes at Pacific International expositions where university live stock is entered in competition with private and college herds of the country.

Pigs High Winners.

In the fat hog class showing Poland China, Duroc Jersey, Hampshire and Berkshire barrows, the University of Idaho live stock won twelve firsts, eight seconds, four thirds, and the highest honor, that of grand champion barrow. In the breeding classes of hogs, Idaho won the junior and grand champion prize on Poland China boar, the junior championship for Duroc sow, six first places and two seconds.

Idaho fat wethers won four first places, four seconds, and grand champion wether of the show. In the breeding classes Idaho Rambouillets took one first class, four thirds and three fourths.

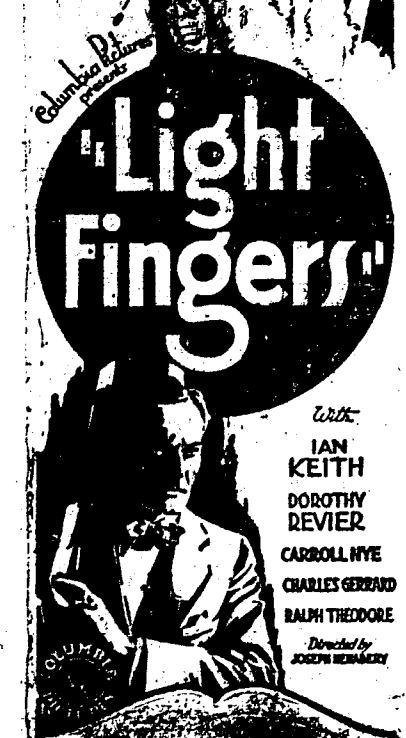

Practically all of the fat livestock taken at the show will be disposed of at the close of the show. Other stock will be brought back to the university for retention in the herds of the institution and for class work.

Wilson Unable to Start

George Wilson, regular quarter, will be unable to start, but three capable youngsters, Bunn, Henry, and Sather will all give a good account of themselves. Sather is an exceptional heaver and safety man. Bunn and Henry can punt and carry the ball as it should be done. Langston, the other quarter, is injured and will probably not get in to the game.

The remainder of the backfield will be made up of Tyrell, Sackett, and Fowles.

"Eyes" for blind flying!

Three new G-E contributions to the conquest of the air

LINDBERGH, flying blind much of the way, hit Ireland "on the nose" as he winged toward Paris. Now, as an aid to air navigation comes the magneto compass, a product of General Electric research, which gives pilots a navigating instrument of extraordinary accuracy. Meanwhile, two other General Electric contributions to aviation have been developed—the electric gasoline gauge and the radio echo altimeter. The ordinary altimeter shows only height above sea level. The radio echo altimeter warns the pilot of his actual distance above ground or water by flashing green, yellow, and red lights on the instrument board.

Every year hundreds of college-trained men and women enter the employment of General Electric. Research, similar to that which developed "eyes" for blind flying, is one of the many fields of endeavor in which they play an important part.
