VANDAL-COUGAR ELEVENS PRIMED FOR GORY BATTLE

Gridiron Fued Flares Up Again as Date of Hostilities Draws Near

W. S. C. GIVEN EDGE

Crowd of 15,000 Expected to Witness Clash on Pullman Field Saturday

By Paul E. Jones

With the gridiron classic of the Inland Empire less than a week off, Orin Hollingberry and Leo Calland are putting the finishing touches on their charges, preparing to settle, for the 32nd time, the annual football supremacy of the Palouse hills.

Thirty-six years ago the first game of one of the longest and most colorful plights in western history was played, the Cougars winning 10 to 0. Since that time Dario Fortune has smiled on W. S. C. 17 times and on Idaho 12 times. Two of the encounters in 1908 and 1927 ended in ties.

More than 10,000 tickets have already been sold to students, townspeople and fans all over the Inland Empire and Lloyd Bury, assistant graduate manager at Washington State is expecting 15,000 persons in the stands when the opening whistle blows at 2 o'clock next Saturday on Rogers field, Pullman.

Dope Favors Cougars

The Cougars have every advantage as far as dope is concerned, their last victory being a 9 to 0 win over Oregon State, the same team that spilled the Vandals 27 to 0 the previous Saturday. However, the Idaho-W. S. C. game is a game that dope may or may not affect—and most frequently doesn't. While the Cougars were busy studying the Oregans in a nighty tough battle, Coach Calland was in Portland looking the situation over and most of the squad spent the afternoon at the Idaho-W. S. C. freshman game. The strain of the O. S. C. game is sure to tell of the Cougars while the Vandals will be fresh and in good shape, barring further scrimmage injuries.

Vandals out for Hides

All of the regulars with the exception of Walt Price, regular end, probably will get a few bruises and minor sprains on the squad but by the end of the week all the players should be in condition. The Vandals are already beginning to show the fight and spirit that made them unstoppable in their first three games and if determination means much, the Pullmanians haven't a prayer.

On the other hand, if W. S. C. disposes of the Vandals and then beats Montana the following week the Cougars will get a team with the winner of the O. S. C.-Oregon game for the northwest title and, with that at stake, the Cougars will be fighting.

Blg Bill vs. Schwartz

Brilliant, versatile and scrappy football will mark this game no matter who wins. Speed and power will be the Vandals' best bet while the Cougar attack is built on steam roller lines. Two of the best fullbacks in the northwest will be seen in action.

AIR CIRCUS WILL AID HOMECOMING

Blue Key Committees Seek Help of Planes in Decoration

Extensive decoration of the campus such as has not been attempted for many years and possibilities of advertising from the air as well as by the more conventional methods were suggestions of committee chairman that marked the progress of Blue Key's plans for the annual homecoming game with Gonzaga university on the Idaho campus November 16 at a luncheon of the upperclassmen's honorary Monday noon at the Blue Bucket inn.

In addition to the construction of welcome arches at prominent approaches to the campus and the individual decoration to be done by each group house, it is very likely that the main buildings of the university will be decked in gala colors and banners for the crowning event of the local football season. Clair Gale, chairman of the decoration committee reports that cooperation has been secured from the A.S.U. and all student service organizations.

That Vandal-Bulldog handbills will be dropped over the surrounding country by planes coming to Moscow November 11 and 12 for the air circus is being negotiated by several members of the club in cooperation with chamber of commerce officials. It is further planned to have one or two planes carry more conspicuous indications of the homecoming tilt on their fuselage.

Programs for the game, printed by the A.S.U. are being sponsored by Blue Key under the supervision of William Galagher. The program will consist of 20 pages of cuts of both squads, coaching staffs and yell leaders. Spurs will have charge of their distribution.

Blue Key alumni will be entertained at a luncheon on the day of the game at 11:30 o'clock at the Blue Bucket inn it has been decided.

The next meeting of the honorary A.S.U. scheduled for next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Sigma Chi house. Final plans will be completed at that time.

OXFORD MEN TO BE ENTERTAINED

Visitors from British Isles Will Meet Idaho Debate Enthusiasts at Teas

Several teas and dinners have been arranged for the Oxford university debate team which is to compete with Idaho Wednesday evening in the auditorium. On their arrival this evening they will be taken to the Delta Chi house where arrangements have been made for rooming facilities during their two day stay on the campus. At noon Wednesday the three men will be honor guests at a dinner given for all debate teams at the Blue Bucket inn. The men's and women's varsity teams and the freshmen team recently selected, will be present.

Following the debate Wednesday evening an open house tea will be given in honor of the Oxford men at the Kappa Alpha Theta house from 10 to 11 o'clock. Thursday afternoon Prof. W. E. Masterson is to entertain the visitors at tea and it has been indicated that the four Idaho candidates for the Rhodes scholarship will be hosts to the Englishmen Thursday at luncheon.

The Oxford team will leave for San Francisco Thursday evening to debate colleges of California. Idaho is the only university in the Pacific Northwest that is on the team's schedule according to Thelma Melgard, manager of debate.

PROGRAM TO SHOW ARMISTICE RESPECT

Military Review and Speeches Arranged for Observance November 11

Final plans for the university Armistice day program are nearly completed according to an announcement from the president's office yesterday. Two hours, from 10 to 12 o'clock in the morning will be set aside while students commemorate the signing of the World War armistice on November 11, 1918. Classes will be held as usual during the remainder of the day.

The program to be held on MacLean field will consist of a military review participated in by the university R. O. T. C., and the Moscow American Legion. The review is expected to last 45 minutes. This will be followed by a 15 minute address by the Rev. Clifford M. Drury, recently elected commander of the Quince Loomis post of the legion, on the significance of Armistice day to the cause of international peace. At 11 o'clock a two-minute silence will be observed in tribute to World War dead. Immediately after the program, the regiment will form for the parade and march to the down-town section. The services are not only for the university students but also for the public. The program has been arranged by I. W. Jones, chairman of the university committee, and Abe Goff, chairman of the chamber of commerce committee.

Another feature of interest will be the dedication of Moscow's new municipal airport by the chamber of commerce. Work has been started on the site just south of town, and plans are nearly completed for a two-day air circus and program Sunday and Monday, November 10 and 11. Nick Mamer's endurance plane, "The Spokane Sun God" will give a demonstration of a refueling flight. Filers from other airports throughout the northwest have also been invited to participate in the program.

Changing Slang Illustrates Growth Of English Tongue

By M. M.

"By Ginger ma! Millie and Sam must still be keepin' company 'cause I seen 'em sparkin,'" exclaimed grandpa wagging his chin whiskers, gleefully to think he's pulled a fast one in the slang of the galloping '90's. If grandpa, however, were real up and "sparkin'" ever, were real up and "sparkin'" he would realize that "sparkin'" was tagging along behind leg of mutton steaks and walrus mustaches when they went "out." Slang styles change models now days as fast as cars.

The co-ed of 1980 will probably giggle heartily and cry, "Why grandpa, you old, fashioned dear!" should the old gentleman dare reminisce about hanging good-bye and sneaking smooches. Not so long ago, during the reign of King Old Teen, everything was keen, hot, the bees knees, or the snake's hair ribbon. To be told to go home "stitch a hankie" was to be utterly stumped, and the snappiest of snappy comebacks was, "Say, don't get canary, or I'll jump down your throat and teeter on your wish bone!"

Such old favorites as my gosh and golly! shucks! gee whillikers! along with heck! and darn! are so trite that they have almost gained the prestige of good usage. Some of the latest new fangled expressions the Idahoan now yodels when he wishes to get by big are, "Oh yeah? (accented by one cynically raised eyebrow)" "say isn't that snazzy?" (set off by a sophisticated shrug of the shoulders), "Tush, Tush, Twaddle" (escorted by a merry ha-ha!) and "whoop te do!" (delivered with as much vim, vigor and vitality as possible).

Arthur M. Sower, of the extension forestry service, was a Monday evening dinner guest of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

SPURS TO SPONSOR ALL-COLLEGE DANCE

Mixer Will be Held in Memorial Gym Next Monday Evening

Announcement of plans for an all-college mixer, to be held in the Memorial gymnasium next Monday evening, were made yesterday by members of the Idaho Spur group, sponsors of the affair.

Permeal J. French, dean of women, has granted open night to all college students to extend until 9:45 p. m., as a special concession to the Spur group.

Since the dance will be the only one of the evening, following a partial holiday on the campus, it is expected to draw a large crowd. Rosie Lane's orchestra will furnish the music.

ROOTERS START NEW ENTHUSIASM FOR VANDAL TEAM

By G. C.

Lots of pep was displayed by the new Idaho rooters club last night when they met 320 strong in Science hall to prepare for the game on Rogers field, Pullman, next Saturday between Idaho and W. S. C.

When Ralph Ormsby, yell king, announced to the Rooters that the W. S. C. yell aggregation, "with the complex in their heads that the Cougars were going to have a cinch win over Idaho," were making big preparations for their "win," his speech brought forth a new loyalty to the Vandal squad.

A visit to all sorority houses on the campus after the club meeting last night, the club giving yells and singing Idaho songs created a spirit of enthusiasm among the women that Ormsby believes will be greatly needed next Saturday.

No Pyjamas Friday

No pajamas will be worn for the big parade next Friday night, Ormsby announced, it being thought best to wear the night regalia only in the Homecoming parade. Next weekend students will assemble at the campus steps, for the rally, which will start at 7 o'clock, with the pep band furnishing the music. A 10-car special to Pullman is promised by the Union Pacific officials, who are to include a baggage car in which is to take place a student dance. The pep band will travel on the special. The special cars for which went on sale in the administration building today, will leave Moscow at 1 o'clock, stopping at the bottom of the W. S. C. college hill.

Agnes Moore, A. W. S. yell queen, declared last night that the women would cooperate with the Rooters Club in every way possible to stir up "the old Idaho spirit!"

Dean French Says Homecoming Event Oldest Tradition

"Homecoming is one of Idaho's oldest customs, according to Dean Permeal French, who has been a member of university faculty for 22 years. It has always been customary for alumni to return to the campus ever since I first came to the university," she declared. "I believe the custom has existed ever since the first Idaho-W. S. C. football game."

There has never been a year during my stay here that old "grads" from far and near have not returned to the campus for homecoming. It has always been a gala occasion for both students and the faculty," she declares. "There has always been the huge bonfire, the night shirt parade, the pep rally, the student mixer, and in general a feeling of good will and enthusiasm among the students, alumni and faculty. Old students are always willing to return for a few days to join hands in support of the football team, and enjoy the thrills of college life once again."

"Several years ago the custom of decorating the campus and group houses was adopted; and in recent years a trophy has been offered for the best decorations. This is an evolution in the homecoming custom, and certainly adds to the spirit of the occasion," she affirms.

IDAHO YEARLINGS BOW BEFORE CUBS FROM W. S. C. CAMP

Coach Jacoby's Crew Goes Down to Another Defeat, 25 To 0

PLAY IS RAGGED

Frosh Get Within Scoring Distance But Fail to Shove Ball Across

The W. S. C. frosh grid team smashed its way to a 25 to 0 victory over the Idaho yearlings here, Saturday, with a series of fake reverses and criss-crosses the Cougar babes marched down the field despite the efforts of the stubborn yearlings for three of their touchdowns. The fourth was made in the final period when a blocked Idaho punt was converted into a score.

The Idaho frosh seemed erratic and lacked that final scoring punch. Three different times they had the ball within scoring distance only to be held for downs by the heavy W. S. C. line. The frosh were in that unavoidable slump, missing tackles that were costly and falling to block successfully. The interference that has been Coach "Red" Jacoby's pride could not get going. It was the frosh eleven's off day.

Unable to Punch Over Score.

The first quarter showed the yearlings at their best. With straight football and the aid of three W. S. C. fumbles they worked their way to within four yards of the goal line. There were forced to give up the ball on downs. Twice more they bucked their way within the Cougar's 20-yard line only to lose the ball. The quarter ended with the Idaho frosh still trying to overcome their inix.

The Kittens woke up in the second quarter and carried the ball to the Idaho 20-yard line. Then Davis, W. S. C. full, faked a reverse and dashed across the goal for the first touchdown. Dahlen, quarter, was responsible for the next two touchdowns, one in the second and one in the third period.

Run Daring Half

Just as the second quarter of the freshman game ended the barriers gathered at the start. At the gun they moved as a group but before the first rise had been topped the leaders took their places at the front. The first men to appear in sight strode over the hill about a dozen minutes later having covered the two and one half mile course in 13 minutes and nine seconds.

The leaders in the event, the order in which they finished and the score of their respective groups follows:

Leness Hall, L. D. S. institute (10), first; James Hawkins, Tau DuSaut, Sigma Chi (8), third; Raymond Chisholm, Senior Hall (15), fourth; Fred Roberts, Tau Mem Alpha (6), fifth; Robert Throckmorton, Senior Hall, sixth; Byron Sewell, Delta Chi (4) seventh; Fred Doerrle, Senior Hall, eighth; Joe Coffee, Kappa Sigma (2) ninth; Jack Frederick, Lindley hall (1), tenth.

Volume of Silence Dulls Serenaders' Ardor for Harmony

Hello, Students and Sleepers:

Well, last Saturday night I went on a serenade with the Sig Chi bunch. We tramped all over the campus yodeling at all the houses because it was supposed to be a "general" serenade, tho there wasn't a guy higher than a corporal in the crowd. Finally we drew up along side the house noted for the song, "Gamma Phi Beta, tra la, tra la." The orchestra lambasted some notes out, then we waited for the deafening applause. But no; silence, except for the low wheeze of snores, sounding like Niagara at its best, and us out there freezing. Well, Chuck McConnell sparked and played reveille. And from the results, I suggest to the prospective R. O. T. C. officers that they be careful in their selection of brides and at least get one that'll know her bugle notes.

Of course, they shouldn't feel like they're in a class by themselves as the Delta Gammals pulled the same slumber on the Kappa Sigs a couple of years ago.

The Pi Phi's are well on their way to rival the firm of Herbie Helms; so far they have been having seven different varieties of macaroni every meal.

It's reported that with each twenty cents paid this year a purchaser actually gets his Blue Bucket. Some of us are still waiting for a few of the issues we paid for last year.

How's for a few of the rooters to get their tickets for the game next Saturday over at Pullman. You ought to know that you all can't get in as Knights. In fact you'll be darned lucky to hear about it, if you don't get your ticket now.

AUTO COLLISION SCATTERS GLASS

Betty Driscoll Bumped When Cars Crash at Beta Corner; Glass Flies Thickly

The windshield of her car was demolished and she received minor bruises when a Chevrolet coupe driven by Miss Betty Driscoll, junior, collided with a Nash touring car at the intersection of College and Elm streets Saturday morning just before noon. The crash and sound of breaking glass drew a crowd of students to the scene of the accident. Aside from the slight injuries suffered by Miss Driscoll, no bruises were sustained.

The Nash car was filled with students from Washington State college, it was said. Both cars were able to continue under their own power, neither having been overturned at the impact.

Candidates for freshman and sophomore basketball manager ships have been asked to report to Jess Eggen, senior manager, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Memorial gymnasium. Men will be picked after two weeks' try-out.

TICKETS ON SALE IN AD. BUILDING

Students Start Rush to Get Admissions to W. S. C.-Idaho Game; 1000 Limit.

Thursday afternoon will be the last day students can buy tickets for the Idaho-W. S. C. football game at Pullman, Saturday, November 8.

Tickets are on sale every morning at the graduate manager's office in the Memorial gymnasium and in the hall of the Administration building every afternoon.

One thousand tickets were ordered and students who intend to see the game are urged to get tickets at once. It will be possible to procure an additional number if such demand is shown. Otherwise the original number will stand and those without tickets after Thursday will be unable to buy them.

Places will be reserved for the Spurs and also for the Rooting club which is composed of approximately 300 students.

SENIOR HALL WINS TWO MILE RACE

Group Places Three Men in Intramural Cross Country Event

Placing three men in the first 10 to finish for a total score of 15, Senior hall had little difficulty in walking away with honors in the intramural cross country race held Saturday between halves of the W. S. C.—Idaho freshman football game. Leness Hall finished first to give 10 points and second place to L. D. S. institute. Raymond Chisholm, Robert Throckmorton and Fred Doerrle, all of Senior hall, placed fourth, sixth and eighth respectively, to give the meet to their group.

Widespread interest was evident from the fact that there were 63 entrants, representing 17 campus organizations. Of these, 41 started, those absent dozen probably taking fright from the strong Moscow wind that blew cold drafts through the clothes of the most heavily dressed and made scantily clad entrants keep moving.

Head of Southern Branch is Chief Speaker on Wednesday Program

The principal speaker at the 10 o'clock assembly tomorrow morning will be John Ruskin Dyer, head of Southern Branch of the University of Idaho. The subject of his address has not yet been announced, but it promises to be of great interest and value to all who are present, say those in charge of the meeting.

Mr. Dyer, a native of Ohio, came to the Southern Branch this fall. Formerly he held the position of assistant chancellor in the University of Kansas, to which position he was called from active work in the industrial division of the Y. M. C. A.

He is a graduate of the University of Ohio and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. During his stay at Kansas university he completed the requirements for his master's degree. His doctor's degree is to be granted him with the completion of a single course at the Columbia university.

During the war he was in an artillery unit, serving in France. After demobilization he spent three months in England before returning home. Six weeks of this time he was in Cambridge university.

IDAHO DEBATERS MATCH WITS WITH OXFORD TOMORROW

Argument Is Chance To Make Study of Yankee-British Intellect

PARTICIPANTS CLEVER

Englishmen Veterans at Work With Wealth of Valuable Experience

The debate between teams of Oxford university and the University of Idaho here tomorrow evening will not only be a matching of debating skill, but also of a comparison of English and American intellect. A summary of the lives and achievements of the Oxford and Idaho men shows that they have many points in common, and they each excel in their own particular line of work.

One of these students, William Kenneth Diplock has written two biographies, one on the Prince of Wales and the other on the Duke of York. He is the author of a number of articles on the royal family and is at present engaged upon a book, "The Future of Oxford." He has been a member of the staffs of two Oxford papers for the past two years.

Family Prominent

Richard Thomas Dyke is a law student. He comes from a line of Englishmen who have been prominent for the last five centuries, and whose name is familiar in American history because of the part they took in the Revolutionary War.

Edward Joseph Maxine McKenna is also a law student. He received his bachelor's degree from Dublin college, studied a year in Berlin, and the past three years he has spent in Oxford where besides studying law he is writing a thesis on the Greek novel.

Idaho's debaters compare very favorably with the Oxford men. John Ewing, a law student, has had two years debating experience at the southern branch and two year's experience here. He represented Idaho in the Pacific coast extemporaneous speaking contest of 1928 and won second place. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Delta Sigma Rho.

Idaho Sophomore

Paris Martin, a sophomore in the university, has had four years' high school debating experience and was a member of the freshman squad last year. He has written for the Blue Bucket, Gem of the Mountains, and the Argonaut.

Warren Montgomery is a graduate student working on his master's degree in history. He has been on the Idaho debating team four years, and is a member of Delta Sigma Rho.

Both teams have a good background to enable them to discuss the question, "Resolved, that this is the best of all possible worlds."

"So Many Worlds, So Much to Do"

A LONG with the two most important games of the football season comes the most outstanding indoor contest of an entirely different type. The Oxford University-University of Idaho debate tomorrow evening will bring together representatives of one of the greatest universities in the world and a team of men from one of the smallest and least pretentious. The question indicates that the debate will be interesting and full of humor and imagination. Intercollegiate debates, however serious and profound, have never yet decided the issues under discussion. The information and food for thought that is presented to the audience is usually the chief benefit that debates offer. Why audiences are not large and enthusiastic is because the average debaters confine their speeches to a small group of well versed listeners and who know what is being talked about and why. Questions of political dispute are favorites. Statistics, quotations from dull books, weighty statements of somebody-or-other most of us never heard of or have the slightest inclination to know, and "conclusive proof" that sounds like a big bluff, leave the audience behind in a fog five minutes after the first speaker says, "Honorable judges, worthy opponents, etc."

Now there comes a time when the audience is starting on a par with the debaters. "Resolved: That this world is better than any other possible world," is a question that has great possibilities. Originality is an opportunity to flourish and the wit for which the Oxford men are famed is given a fertile field. Curiosity as to what line of argument will be presented on such an unusual question and an interest in Oxford university itself should draw a large audience to the auditorium. This globe we live on doesn't seem to be such a bad little world but it may turn out to be "a bally rotten ole."

Concentrated Yelling

ALTHOUGH getting off to a rather slow start due to uncertainty as to who was to be "head man" and who just "one of the boys," the Vandal cheer leaders are showing such signs of pep ability that bid fair to keep Idaho known on the coast as a college with yell kings that know their "rah! rah!" At Portland the new combination proved capable and entertaining. Reporters commented on the unusual program that the tumbling trio presented while keeping the "old giniger" up in the Idaho stands. They are learning more about the yelling game all the time and are slowly but surely bringing back from the days of "you remember when—" the enthusiasm for Idaho that the old timers brag about and which has been seldom seen for several years.

The organization of a Rotators Club is a long stride in the direction of the "break-away" from a lazy, semi-sophisticated idea that the typical rooter has cultivated. Three hundred men who understand what rooting means and are willing to get on their feet and yell can inspire the half-hearted remainder of the student body to cast off the mantle of indifference and actually do something more than fill the stands and buy hot dogs.

"Much Ado"

ECHOES of a popping cork on the north Idaho special train last Christmas are still being heard. The question of student responsibility or improvements in university is brought up. The unfortunate circumstance is that the question is magnified each time it is passed from one person to another. The opinion of the conductor and special agent on the train was that the students were behaving themselves rather well. Very few of the students on the special were aware that such a terrible exam was being held on the university reputation was being dragged on the mire of their actions on that train. As far as most of them were concerned, it was a party and they were orderly. Students played bridge, read reasonably sensible magazines, danced a little to phonographic music, behaved as they should in the dining cars and on the whole acted just like any normal bunch of young people going on a vacation should act. If there was drinking on board it was well concealed and 99 out of 100 hadn't the slightest hint of its existence until returning to the campus and being informed that a bunch of "sats" they all were.

Several students making the "special" trip for the first time were greatly surprised and somewhat disappointed at the dullness of the ride. How the impression got out that it was a demoralizing influence and a contributory "whoopie" party is an inexplicable mystery. Certain persons on the train have asserted that they saw more drinking on regular trains carrying the general public than was in evidence on the student special.

It's time the mountain was reduced to its true mole-hill proportions.

Necessity Has No Holidays

CONSIDERABLE disappointment is being expressed by students who have been deluded by the assumption that Armistice day was to be the occasion of a brief respite from university work. While it lies in the hands of the administration to decide whether or not a day of national importance and commemoration shall be an institutional vacation, many under-graduates are of the opinion that November 11 is a legal state holiday such as Memorial day and the Fourth of July. The idea of the powers that be in having a brief program of observance instead of an entire day devoted to the separate wills of each person concerned is to be preferred from the standpoint of stressing the significance of the day; but to the majority of the students Armistice Day will be just another Monday, notwithstanding the military review in the morning. True it is that if a holiday were declared there would be a small number on hand for any exercise that the university might sponsor. Hunting trips, visits at home for those living within reasonable distance, and sleeping would be indulged in to a great extent. The significance of the day would not be uppermost, if recognized at all. The same may be said of other national holidays and pseudo-holidays.

The question is: Is Armistice Day a legal holiday and if so are students of a state institution entitled to privileges that industry and commerce may take on such an occasion? The added regard that the student will have for the purpose of the day would be negligible whether it is a holiday or just an additional two hour drill for the cadet corps. If the student body could be assured that no injustice were being done; if the administration would explain the necessity of continuing classes as usual, and the R. O. T. C. be convinced that it was a privilege to take a prominent part in the parade under the existing circumstances there would be no ground for the dissatisfaction.

STUDENT OPINION

THE IDAHO SPIRIT
Democracy! We have all heard the word every since we can remember, but I doubt if most of us have considered it much more than a good term to use in a campaign speech. Here in the Idaho campus it is almost tangible. One stranger meets another, and the two invariably nod and often give a cheery "hello." This spirit is so contagious that it breaks down the egotism of the most confirmed "snob." Perhaps it will be hard for him the first few times, and he will merely grin a bit, or speak under his breath, but this reserve cannot last long.

In one's own home town he is apt to have "this crowd," and he is just as apt to be seeking new "friends or seeing the best characteristics of more casual acquaintances." It is so much easier for "the crowd" to drift along, and day by day to become more impressed with its own importance, and independence of others.

"The crowd" has its good points too, but not if it discourages its members from meeting new friends. In "his crowd" a person usually finds his companions have interests in common, and that therefore, a foundation is laid for friendships that may be very close; for such friendships as it is possible to have only a few of during a life time. On the campus sororities and fraternities exemplify "the crowd" in the best sense of the phrase. They are groups of girls who have interests in common, and yet are broad enough to recognize the admirable qualities of other groups or of individuals. They realize that only through emulating the good qualities of other people and weeding out of our personalities the things we dislike in others, is it possible to develop and expand our own personalities.

If the time spent here at Idaho accomplishes no other end, it makes you aware of the fact that there is almost no individual you might meet but has some good qualities; it gives you the ability to make friends; and the capacity to appreciate friendships.

THE LINE IS BUSY

The writer wonders if a certain sorority house ever stops to think that maybe their frosh might have more dates if they would install another telephone like the rest of the group houses on the campus have done. A house full of "steadies" keeps one line mighty busy.

Yours, 'till the Alpha Chis get another phone,
I. U. C.

Editor's Note: If the writer (note spelling) wants to crash the social gates he might try calling up the lucky frosh before the Friday evening rush. It might also be true that the Alpha Chis get all the dates they want with gentlemen. Just the same the Simple countryfolk arriving in hayracks made a gala scene in John Luedke's barn last Saturday night when they gathered for the annual Sigma Chi barn dance. The interior was decorated with advertising posters, and orange and black streamers with bails of hay serving for davenport.

Green trees and a deer head peering through the "underbrush" formed the setting for the Associated Foresters' informal dance last Friday night at the Blue Bucket Inn.

Other equally delightful but less elaborate affairs during the past week-end included the Phi Beta Phi formal reception, the Tau Mem Aleph mixer, the Ridebaugh hall informal dance, and the Phi Gamma Delta, Alpha Phi and Delta Gamma pledge dances.

President and Mrs. F. J. Kelly will entertain the University of Idaho faculty this evening with their annual reception given at the president's home on 514 East First street.

Scio.
I know the music of a violin.
I know the singing of a happy heart.
I know the beauty that the sunset brings;
I know the wonders of the day and dark.

To see white blossoms of a cherry tree,
Or purple lilacs in a bowl of blue,
Is joy enough, for don't you see?
Dear God, I know that these are you!

A beautiful super-sensitiveness clothed in common words gives the above poem, by Mildred Weston, an appeal that reaches to most of us. It is readily conceivable that the same author could have written the following:

"Aes Triplex Circa Pectus" which, despite its name, is a poem that one likes to read, think about and read again - - -

Breast enclosed by triple brass.
A calla lily under glass.
But there is the unguarded foot—
And in the earth the flower's root.

"She is hard," I heard them say.
"Hard as steel," but yesterday
I saw her watch a sparrow hop
Along the gutter. I saw her stop.

"She does not speak when we go by."
"She lost her watch, she did not cry."
Breast inclosed by triple brass—
I saw her lying on the grass.

Blasting drilled wells

to increase water supply

LESSON No. 10 OF THE BLASTERS' HANDBOOK

VERY frequently wells, even though drilled through known water-bearing strata, will not yield sufficient water. Only a few pores or crevices intersected by the drilling supply any water. Certain blasting methods will open up all of the fissures for a considerable distance in all directions, thereby greatly increasing the supply of water.

But such blasting requires very careful procedure. For instance, questions arise as to the proper depth of the charge; the amount and kind of explosives to load; the methods of loading and firing charges, and other details associated with blasting.

Do you know how to make a "jack squib," or how to prepare a nitroglycerin charge to explode by means of an electric blasting cap, or how to make a dynamite "torpedo?"

The details of a great many blasting operations are fully described and illustrated in the Blasters' Handbook. You will run into some of these operations. Then the Blasters' Handbook will prove to be a friend indeed!

A copy of the Blasters' Handbook, already used in many of the largest engineering classes, can be obtained free by mailing this coupon.

EDUCATORS MEET THIS WEEK FOR FALL CONFERENCE

Second District of Idaho Association Convenes in Lewiston

TWO-DAY SESSION Many U. of I. Faculty Members to Take Part in Program

The annual district convention of the Idaho Educational Association, district number 2, will be held at Lewiston, November 7-8. In this association are included Latah, Nez Perce and Lewis counties, comprising the second district, under supervision at executive committee composed of Miss Bernice McCoy, chairman, Miss Evelyn S. Merwin, Secy., Mrs. Stella Chamberlain, Miss Ellen Peterson, Mr. C. C. Lane and Mr. P. A. Swiger.

A special feature of the convention will be the presentation of Anthony J. Dewar, "The Hood River Poet", in both lecture and recital, on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Members of the university of Idaho faculty appearing on the convention program are Dr. F. J. Kelly, head of the music department; Dean J. R. Dyer, southern branch; Miss Maude Garnett; Dr. C. W. Chenoweth; Dr. Raymond Mosher; Dean J. G. Eldridge; Miss Katherine Jensen; Miss Elizabeth Johnson; and Prof. H. E. Laitig.

VANDAL-COUGAR ELEVEN PRIMED FOR GORY BATTLE

(Continued from page 1) tion when Elmer Schwartz, W. S. C. giant line smasher, and Big Bill Kershnik, Idaho's battering ram, meet George Hill, W. S. C. wingman and Mel Hein, one of the most consistent defensive centers on the coast, will probably be pretty much in evidence in the Cougar lineup along with the aforementioned Mr. Schwartz.

Idaho's fighting Irish trio, Les Kirkpatrick, John Corkery and Irish Martin, will probably give Hein and the W. S. C. guards plenty to think about. Bud Dittman and Ted Jensen at end, and Bessler and Diehl at tackles probably will complete the roster in the Idaho line. The starting backfield combination still offers speculation but Barrett, Pedersen, Owens, Wilkie, Kershnik and Hult would be pretty valuable additions to anyone's football squad and Calland should be able to find four men out of that group to give Idaho a good starting backfield group.

IDAHO DEBATERS MATCH WITS WITH OXFORD TOMORROW

Pep Sadly Lacking In Idaho Student Groups, Is Claim

PEP—just a three letter word that seems to be sadly lacking in the vocabulary of the Idaho student. In fact it is wondered if they even know it is in the dictionary. Pep is not a medical term employed by Madam Curie for radium, but according to Webster, means vim, vigor, and vitality. It is just the thing the Idaho student hasn't. Last night the rooters club displayed some, but so far there hasn't been a cheap out of anyone else. Even our prehistoric ancestors jumped around more than the Idaho student and their renowned fighting spirit.

Idaho students are getting to be too sophisticated, blasé, to show any spirit and let the football team know that the school is back of them. Fact is, all the Idaho student wants is to be amused without expending any effort for it.

STRING QUARTET PERSONNEL NAMED

Personnel of the University of Idaho string quartet has been announced by Carl Claus, assistant professor of music, director. Prof. Claus plays first violin in the quartet in addition to directing the group. Other members are York Kildea, Coeur d'Alene, second violin; Ruth Newhouse, Kuna, viola; and Geneve Snook, Post Falls, cello. Prof. Claus, York Kildea and Ruth Newhouse were members of the quartet last year. The string quartet has become one of the outstanding musical organizations of the university.

FROSH-SOPH MEETING A short meeting of all freshmen and sophomore men is called for Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in room 110 Science hall. The meeting will have reference to an agreement between Idaho and W. S. C. concerning the coming game.

Six Lettermen to Enter Line-up Against Cougars for Last Time

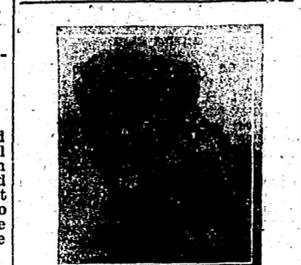

When University of Idaho and Washington State college football teams take the field at Pullman Saturday for the thirty-second game between the two schools, it will be the last time 13 of the Idaho players will don suits to tackle the Cougars. Of this number six are lettermen.

Heading the list of departing Vandal veterans are Orville Hull, halfback and backfield captain, and Gordon Diehl, tackle and line captain. Three more of the "big guns" on Calland's 1929 Idaho eleven step out. Lester Kirkpatrick, who has played center against three Cougar elevens, finishes his conference career this year, as does Big Bill Kershnik, halfback, and Walt Price, end. In the two previous encounters Kershnik has been the Vandal fullback and main ball carrier, but this year Kershnik has been shifted to an interference running job and his main duty will be to crash Cougar tackles. It is unlikely that Price will get into the Cougar game. He was injured in the Oregon State game and may be on the bench for several weeks.

James Halliday, first reserve fullback, is the sixth letterman in the departing group. In absence of Fred Wilkie, regular fullback, who was injured in the game against Oregon and may not face Washington State, Halliday is likely to start at this point.

MUST CARRY LICENSE With the announcement of the opening of the local hunting season has come a warning to all students from the game preservation department. Wardens have been instructed to arrest all persons found hunting or carrying fire arms without a license. Section 2686 of the Idaho game laws is called to the attention of students who expect to be on hunting trips in this vicinity.

IDAHO QUARTER

"HERRIE" OWENS, DIMINUTIVE Vandal quarterback, who is recovering from leg injuries, is expected to be in shape for action against W. S. C. at Pullman, Saturday afternoon.

Kentucky Mountain Students Display Hand-made Textiles

Exhibits of hand-woven textiles from Berea College, Berea, Kentucky, were on display in the Home Economics rooms Friday and Monday. Although the exhibits were prepared primarily for the students many townswomen and other people have examined them.

The articles on exhibit were materials of wool linen and cotton, woven in both elaborate and chaste designs. Among the many articles are towels, table covers, dress materials, bags and couch covers.

Berea college is an industrial school for the mountain people of Kentucky. The students weave articles which are sold, and the money realized in this way pays their expenses at the school.

DE MOLAY DANCE NOV. 8 At a short meeting held last Thursday evening the Moscow chapter of De Molay announced a dance to be held in the Elk's temple, November 8. All members and majority members of the order on the campus are being invited.

$1 PER POUND PAID FOR IDAHO LAMB

Grand Champion of Portland Show Brings Record Price

The University of Idaho's stock was a high winner in competition with the University of California, Oregon State, Washington State, University of Montana, and other breeders at the International Livestock show in Portland last week according to C. W. Hickman, head of the animal husbandry department.

The grand champion fat wether and a Southdown lamb sold to the Duffy Commission House of North Portland for the record price of one dollar per pound. The animal was donated to the Shrine hospital in Portland. The grand champion fat Poland China barrow and the grand champion Junior Poland China boar also brought record prices.

In the single and pen displays of Poland, Berkshire and Hampshire barrows the Vandal heavyweights hogs took all the first and second awards. In the Junior Poland China and Duroc Jersey sow divisions the championship money was judged for Idaho. The fat steers won one third of the money, and Hampshire, Southdown, and Rambouillet breeding sheep placed well up in their classes. The first prize for single and pen of three lambs in Southdowns, Shropshires, and grade Southdowns was an excellent victory for the university.

"It was a very successful show for Vandal stock," declared Mr. Hickman.

WOMEN'S "I" CLUB INITIATE QUINTET

New initiates of the Women's "I" club of the university are Jessie Little, Dorothy Neal, Dorothy Klenholz, Charlotte LeFevre and Shirley Cunningham. Initiation was held Saturday morning at the Phi Beta Phi house.

The new members, who had attained the 800 points necessary to qualify for the sweater award, were pledged at a luncheon at the Blue Bucket Inn Friday noon.

DANCE PROPOSED TO FOLLOW RALLY

Discussion favoring a pep rally and all-college dance heard about the campus frequently during the past few days, has influenced groups of upperclassmen to propose a dance in the Memorial gymnasium Friday night to top off the pre-W. S. C. parade and pep rally. It has been the custom, it was pointed out for the A.S.U.I. to hold a rally dance immediately after the downtown celebration, and, according to the upperclassmen, there is no obvious reason why the traditional event could not be repeated this year. The executive board will consider the proposal at its regular meeting tonight, and if the motion is favorably received, word will be spread to houses on the campus.

CUNNINGHAM WINS

Women's fall tennis tournament ended Saturday morning with a snappy three set game played by Lynn Cowgill and Shirley Cunningham. Miss Cunningham winning the championship. In addition to winning the fall tournament, Miss Cunningham holds the trophy cup as winner of the individual matches last spring. Miss Verna A. McDonald, Women's physical education instructor remarked on the skill shown by both performers. She noticed that Cunningham won from her rival by her energetic game while the steady strokes of Cowgill showed more perfect technique, most noticeable in the backhand. The sets were long and most of the games were deuce; the final score being 6-3; 3-6; 6-2.

Key Town selling —a new telephone idea

Commercial development men of the Bell System have originated a new use of the telephone which is proving economical and efficient for modern salesmanship. From important central towns the salesman makes periodic visits to customers and prospects by telephone. To conceive this idea, to make it practical by selecting Key Towns on a basis of most advantageous rates to surrounding points, and to sell it as a business practice—all this illustrates how telephone service is as open as any commodity to constructive imagination. Key Town selling is one of many indications of the steady demand, present and to come, for more and more telephone service.
