

IDAHO TO HAVE STRONG QUINTET FOR NEXT SEASON

Many Veterans to Answer Coach Fox's Hoop Call

DRUMMOND RETURNS Addition of 1929 Guard To Strengthen Vandal Chances

With Vandal followers already speaking of a none too successful basketball season in the past tense, speculation is rife concerning the chances of the Idaho quintet in the 1931 campaign.

After an invasion of Corvallis and Eugene the Vandals returned home with two wins and two losses and Idaho fans became optimistic over chances on the home court.

Graduation will take two of the best offensive players that ever wore Idaho uniforms, this spring, Harold Stowell and Frank McMillin, the Pocatello twins, are the two big cogs in the Vandal machine who will be missing when Fox sounds his first "hoop call" next winter.

Drummond to Return. Vandal stock took an upward trend a few days ago with the announcement by friends that Bobby Drummond, regular guard on the strong 1929 quintet, was planning to return to school next fall.

Wes Shurtliff, sophomore forward injured early in the season, will undoubtedly be called on for one of the regular forward assignments next fall if he can avoid the injury bugaboo which has stalked him throughout this season.

The other forward is the question. Henry Snodgrass, a sophomore, looms as one of the most likely candidates though there are several other men who will be demanding recognition before the next basketball campaign opens.

Three men from the freshman quintet of this season will be fighting hard for places. They are Facey, Wicks and Nelson. Wicks and Nelson are small, but both are fast and show lots of promise of developing into sharpshooters.

Although firing their highest score this semester, the men's rifle team lost their match last week with the Mississippi Agriculture and Mechanical College. The score was 3599 to 3524.

W. A. A. will hold a business meeting Tuesday night at 8:45 o'clock in room 207 A building, to elect new officers for the coming year.

HASHING BY FAR THE MOST POPULAR JOB ON CAMPUS

The world of business is no more monopolized by men on Idaho's campus than anywhere in this modern world. Co-eds have invaded this realm in the past few years and are making success of positions.

Fewer Working Girls. The number of girls who work while going to school is very much less than their male competitors—93 as contrasted with 336. Of the former number, 48 work on the campus, the other 45 are employed down town, while the unemployed number is 299.

Some students are not content with only one job but have collected several to help keep various campus wolves such as bill collector, house treasurer and the burser from the door.

When interviewed, Dr. Mosher said that the statistics while accurate do not include everyone in the University, just those for whom they received data blanks.

TRACK TEAMS TO MEET MARCH 22

Varsity and freshman track teams of the University of Idaho will participate in their first indoor track and field meet March 22, announces Otto K. Anderson, coach.

ONE ACT PLAYS BEGIN MARCH 12

"His First Dress Suit" is Title of Opening Production

The second group of one act plays to be presented March 12 and 13 includes two pure comedies, "His First Dress Suit" and "Upper Forty," a farce, "Postal Orders" and a tragedy, "The Vahant."

After her appearance in the assembly Wednesday morning, at which time she read Martin Flavin's "Broken Dishes," she gave the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet" at the garden scene from "The Taming of the Shrew" for Mr. Cushman's Shakespearean class.

COEDS DELAY COURT TOURNEY

Practice Begins Next Week; Eight Organizations Will Be Represented in Contest For Cup.

The women's intramural basketball season will be run off on March 15, instead of March 12, as previously announced, because of conflicting schedules.

H. S. Hoop Tourney Drawings Made By State Board

Announcement of the drawings for the state high school basketball tournament to be held at the Southern Branch, Pocatello, March 13 and 14, has been announced by officials of the state athletic department.

Coeur d'Alene, champion of the Panhandle district, is pitted against Twin Falls, south central champion, in the first game of the upper bracket to begin at 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

Incidentally, the meeting of the Coeur d'Alene Vikings and Twila Falls Bruins makes it the third successive year that these two quintets have drawn each other in the opening clash of the tournament.

Vandals Will Meet W. S. C. And Washington Tomorrow

Selected for their athletic prowess in minor sports, a group of about 25 Vandals will invade Pullman, Saturday, to compete with athletes of Washington university and Washington State college in a minor sports carnival.

At a meeting of athletic directors and coaches of Washington State college and Idaho here, Wednesday night, plans were shaped for the meet and a decision on the number of minor sports open for competition was reached.

The carnival at W. S. C. will begin early tomorrow afternoon and will conclude at about 9 o'clock in the evening. The program will be interspersed with a basketball game between Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, intramural champions of Idaho, and the Independents, intramural champions of W. S. C.

Swimmers Strong. Tank star expected to uphold Idaho's name in the swimming tourney are Gerald Grinnin, C. Smith, Eric Richter, Stanton Hale and Harold Ostrander.

Noel Franklin, wrestling instructor has picked a six-man squad including Don Grayott, Carl Kyselka, Sam Swayne, Art Nordby, Dan Lopez, to represent Idaho in the wrestling tourney. Franklin will compete in the welterweight division.

NEW RHODES PLAN GIVES UNIVERSITY TWO CANDIDATES

Taylor Publicity Manager For Rhodes Scholarships In Idaho

NATION IN DISTRICTS Scholars Have Holiday in States After Three Years of Work

Beginning this year Idaho will enter two candidates for a Rhodes scholarship every year, instead of having two scholars appointed every three years, announces Mr. Eugene Taylor, professor of mathematics at the university, recently appointed to promote interest in Rhodes scholarships in Idaho.

Under the new system of selection announced by the Rhodes trustees each state selects two candidates annually. The nation has been divided into eight districts of six states each.

Another significant change in Rhodes scholarship procedure, announces Prof. Taylor, is that a Rhodes scholar may be allowed either to postpone the third year period of work in his own country, or to spend the third year in Great Britain, and in special cases at any university on the continent of Europe, the overseas dominions, or in the United States, other than the country of his origin.

Under the existing plan of selecting Rhodes scholars Idaho was not to have one in 1930, as the state set for the new plan. With the new plan now operative, announces Prof. Taylor, Idaho will enter two candidates in the district competition this year.

CALLAND TELLS GRID SECRETS

Idaho Mentor Compiles Booklet On Coaching Methods; to be Used Throughout State

Coach Leo Calland, leader of the Vandal gridiron forces, has recorded in book form his views on football and discussed some of his best formations and tactics. The Vandal mentor's 73-page treatise on this subject is for coaches and players, high school as well as college, but the publication is likely to be scanned by scouts who are always on the lookout for crumbs of inside dope about plays and tactics of a rival.

Coach Calland's football publication "Football Coaching Methods" will supplement the regular "skull practice" sessions given Vandal varsity and freshmen gridlers. It is also intended to be serviceable to high school coaches throughout the state and in the classes in which future high school coaches are being trained.

In a general discussion of athletics in school life the Vandal coach says: "All types of athletic activity form an important part of the extra-curricular activities in modern school life. The athletic traditions of an institution are the strongest unifying force and the greatest builder of morale in the student body.

Maud Scheerer, dramatic recitalist who has been entertaining Moscow audiences during the past week, expressed her delight in the fact that her audiences appeared so much more responsive this year than last.

Talkies immediately came into the conversation and the reporter found that Miss Scheerer, in addition to her European traveling, has recently been watching talkies in the making.

"Talkies will never take the place of the legitimate stage," said Miss Scheerer, "People like too well to see the real people on the stage before them."

In spite of the fact that the noted critic prefers the four dimensional drama, she had much to say for the talkies. She was tremendously impressed by the mechanical wonders in her talking productions. The audience, she says, has to use its imagination so much in the "talkies," that she wonders how they can be so popular with the lazy public.

"Snapping a rubber band in front of a huge amplifier," Miss Scheerer explained is the mechanical device used in making the noise of huge wings in the airplane productions, such as "Wings" and "Lilac Time." In addition to the wonders that the talkies promote in the way of mechanics, they are doing much in emphasizing the importance of the voice. Several producers remarked to her that

IDAHO COACHES TO MEET ALUMNS

Alumni to Effect Permanent Organization in Coeur d'Alene March 8

A group of representatives of the athletic department of the University of Idaho plan to attend an organization meeting of University alumni at Coeur d'Alene, Saturday, March 8. Among those who will attend are George Horton, graduate manager, Leo Calland, head of the athletic department and head football coach; Otto K. Anderson, varsity and freshman track coach; and probably Rich Fox, basketball and baseball coach.

MEN SCHEDULE INDOOR BASEBALL

Sigma Chi and Senior Hall Will Open Intramural Baseball League Monday

The race for the intramural sports trophy will be resumed Monday evening at 7:30 when indoor baseball teams representing Sigma Chi and Senior hall tangle in the Memorial gymnasium. After that, one game will be played every week day at 7:30 except Saturday, the game that day being at 3:00.

Regular indoor baseball rules will be followed with the exception of a few minor points where discrepancies will be necessary to meet local conditions. The teams will each be composed of ten men and the games will be seven innings each. In the event that there is a discrepancy in the regular schedule it will result in a forfeit-ure by the offending team.

The schedule until March 18, as it has been drawn up by V. A. Eaton, intramural indoor baseball manager, is as follows: March 10—Sigma Chi vs. Senior hall. March 11—Sigma Nu vs. Delta Chi. March 12—Beta vs. S. A. E. March 13—A. T. O. vs. F. J. K. March 14—T. M. A. vs. T. K. E. March 15—Phi Delta vs. Lindley hall. March 17—Beta Chi vs. Lambda Chi. March 18—Ridenbaugh vs. Kappa Sigma.

RECITALIST DELIGHTED WITH HER RECEPTION AT IDAHO

Maud Scheerer, dramatic recitalist who has been entertaining Moscow audiences during the past week, expressed her delight in the fact that her audiences appeared so much more responsive this year than last.

DIAMOND SQUAD READY TO BEGIN SPRING TRAINING

Varsity Baseball Candidates Wait Coming of Favorable Weather

FOX IS OPTIMISTIC Believes He Has Material For Strong Nine; 14 Twirlers Out

ASEBALL BLIND-SPOTS will soon yield to the impact of the leather-horseshoe on the grass. Just with the varsity nine eagerly awaiting a relief from inclement weather before taking to the out-of-doors.

In reviewing this material for the forthcoming campaign Coach Rich Fox divulged prospects of a successful season to the Argonaut reporter yesterday, and declared that he would leave the first call immediately upon his return with Leo Calland from an eight day trip to the southern part of the state where the two Idaho coaches expect to witness the state basketball tournament at Pocatello. Unless weather conditions will permit outdoor practice, aspirants for the team will confine their early-season efforts to Memorial gymnasium. Lumbering and loafing up exercises will occupy the major share of the candidate's time for the first two weeks of the season.

Cheyne's Loss Felt Finding a capable infielder to fill the post left vacant by the graduation of Art Cheyne, phenomenal shortstop and a leading hitter of the Vandals for three seasons is, perhaps, Coach Fox's biggest task. Cheyne has been signed by the Detroit Club in the American league and will be farmed out in class "A" baseball league this year.

Fourteen would-be flingers are practicing daily in Memorial gym and from this list Coach Fox must select a hurling staff to depend upon during the present season. Clive Lindsay and Darrel Smith, relief pitchers last year, will probably break into regular roles. Frank Judy, first relief moundman in 1929, has failed to return to school, leaving Coach Fox without his three best pitchers from last year.

Among the others reporting for indoor pitching duty are Otto Licht, Art Spaugy, Ed Harvlev, Homer Seifort, LaVerne Randall, Harold Jacobs, Clarence McCall, Noyl Lake and Frank Honsowetz. Price at Old Post

Walt Price, for two years a letterman behind the bat, is back for his third season and Coach Fox figures on using him for regular battery use. George Bearmore, utility catcher, is slated for receiving duty this spring, thus giving Coach Fox a pair of dependable backstops. Fred Willie, football player, has also reported for catching services.

Besides Walt Price, Coach Fox has five other lettermen available for positions on the team this year. Frank McMillin, colorful basketball star and for two years a star infielder on the Vandal nine, will again be stationed at the putout bag, his favorite position. McMillin is a heavy clouter and a member one of the most consistent infielders.

The University of Tulsa, Okla., hopes to build up the world's largest collection of genuine Indian relics.

Clayton Loosli, who recently underwent an operation for nasal infection, is rapidly recovering, according to word received from the Sacred Heart hospital of Spokane. Mr. Loosli was taken ill during examination week of last semester and had apparently recovered when infection spread to his eyes, and necessitated an operation. He will return to the campus about the middle of April.

Sophisticated

UNIVERSITY underclassmen seem to be having a hard time these days trying to convince other people of their importance. We realize it is quite a letdown for the pride of Podunk High when he finds himself bounced from his little gilded pedestal—and in no uncertain manner, when he arrives there as a frosh. But after all, most of them later are willing to admit they needed just such a jolt to jar them loose from their false impressions.

Idaho has made an effort to see that her frosh never let those ideas linger long after their arrival here. Right off the bat the newcomers are subjected to a series of incidents which serve as a reminder that a frosh has his place—and is expected to stay in it.

Thanks to the one group on the campus which has the time and energy to enforce traditions, infractions are not as frequent and bold as they might be. But that does not mean Idaho is beyond reproach on the matter.

We do not know what the conditions were five, ten, or fifteen years ago, but we'd be willing to wager that a great deal more respect was shown by the underclassmen in those days than you'd see around here now. As an example of today: A group of men, including a couple of "I" club members, were enjoying a smoke at the main entranceway of the Ad. building when a sophomore approached—without headgear.

The two "I" men halted him and prepared to administer the customary penalty—but no—the culprit would not have it so. He resisted until overpowered. Needless to say, he took his medicine, and would have taken more perhaps had the fountain been full that afternoon.

The following article suggests that, like the crime wave, underclass rebellions are becoming quite the thing. No doubt a move of this sort would meet with a warm—very warm reception at Idaho.

Deploping the lack of college spirit at Columbia University in New York and attributing it to the "sophisticating" influence of the big city, a secret society of upperclassmen called the "Black Avengers" has been formed to curb cocky freshmen.

The freshman class that entered Columbia this year was adjudged the smartest in ten years, "on every one of the traditional physical combats with the sophomores, and consistently breaks all campus traditions like wearing the green lid, walking on the grass, and smoking on the campus.

With the "I" club's recent announcement of a new enforcement program it is useless to add that Idaho will not be caught unaware should symptoms of the "wave" appear here.

There's Still Hope

WAYS AND MEANS of conducting campus day in a more efficient and up-to-date manner have been discussed at recent meetings of the A.S.U.I. executive board. That there is room for improvement is generally admitted—how to bring it about is quite another matter.

Years ago when Idaho students planted ivy along the north wall of the Administration building, campus day was an institution, involving hard work, productive of lasting results in improvements. Year by year the ivy has grown, and each year campus day has become more of a tradition, and less a day of service to the university.

Growth in the size of the student body perhaps is one of the reasons for the decline, yet universities larger than Idaho have not found it so. In recent years campus ray has involved a clean-up of the grounds, three or four hours of work for—not nearly all of the men students. Efforts have been made to sponsor building projects, such as the widening of the north walk between the Science hall and the Administration building, graveling parking spaces for cars, and clearing additional spaces for lawns and flower beds. Such proposals have not met with success, due in part to limited finances.

Cleaning up the campus is worth while, but a full day with no classes should be productive of more. Today the May fete, with its announcement of Mortar Board and Silver Lance pledges, is the chief attraction. The picnic dinner in the evening has been suggested as another event in need of renovation. In its stead members of the executive board have suggested a real all-college dance, to be held in the Memorial gymnasium.

The Argonaut is heartily in favor of the spirit shown for improving the present situation. Beginning now instead of two months later, a few days before the 1930 campus day, is the proper way to institute desirable changes. Campus day is still one of Idaho's most prized traditions, and should not be allowed to ossify.

Our Sympathy!

From The Oregon Emerald:

The Oregon Emerald recently commented editorially on the student political situation at the University of Idaho. The Idaho Argonaut disliked the effusion and came right back with an article entitled, "Let Him Who Is Without Sin Cast the First Stone." May the Barometer suggest to the Idaho editor that the Emerald columns must be filled with something?

Automobiles and Morals

ARE AUTOMOBILES a menace to the human race? Carl E. Dent, of the sociology department at Washington State College, indicates somewhat elaborately that they are; cause, and the source of a problem that is undermining our whole social system.

He says the auto accentuates the problem of youthful drunkenness, it provides youth with additional opportunity to carry on surreptitious practices which in themselves have been taboo. It has given the discourteous, ill-mannered and vulgar element increased opportunity to express themselves to the disgust of everyone. It has revolutionized the technique of crime, providing the crook with an effective weapon in his preying upon society.

Instead of allowing this type of machine to set a problem for us we must set a problem for it, Professor Dent believes. To liberate himself, a man must cause the machine to work as his servant, and one of our greatest needs is an adequate technique for putting these marvelous machines to the task of helping to realize worthwhile social goals.

What a fine bit of impractical, nonessential and strictly theoretical speculating this particular professor has been doing, we say. Automobiles are an essential part of this great mechanized age. That they are a detriment to morals or anything else, seems the height of fallacy. It is our contention that if an individual's character is weak, it will continue to be weak, whether that particular individual has any definite means of conveyance or not.—Ex.

The question "Why do women come to college?" is solved on the occasion of each fraternity dance. Flunking a three credit course is a pleasure compared with the agony the desirous campus affliction has at not being included on the guest list. The house makes no difference, the male key to social success nothing at all, as long as the everlasting woman is being fussed over.

Flotsam 'n' Jetsam

Father Time and Santa Claus are males, far from complex; The Father of Our Country was of the stronger sex; Chaucer fathered poetry; the Devil heads the clan, So History has its weakness too—and it must be man!

Fame is churlish, ignorant and without any college degree, the only woman it can see is—Mother of Necessity, But SHE—is quite enough for me.

A dietitian has made the startling announcement that hash contains vitamins. Washington's Emerald says that, "if any food contains vitamins, hash should be well supplied." Maybe Cougar hash has vitamin A, B, C, D, and E, but the Idaho mixture doesn't know its alphabet.

W. S. C. seniors can do cadet teaching work in Spokane high schools. The honorable cougars are in, on, or around a dilemma. Spring brings banquets and picnics and kisses from the sisters in the mystic bonds, and how can one graduate properly with all collegiate impedimenta and be teaching infants ninety miles away.

Be nice to Mexico. Go to Tia Juana and buy hot dogs and—well, anyhow go to Tia Juana—go often and stay long and spend plenty of money. We must be nice to our next door neighbors who have almost as big a bull dog as we have and who have a much smaller backyard to protect. Their standing army is 50,000 and the United States army approximates 85,000.

If we had a couple revolutions maybe we would have as good a legislature as our tamale loving friends; but now, we haven't the money appropriated for our full quota. Maybe we need cactus to make our jackrabbits feel at home in D. C.

We are getting as sarcastic as Will Rogers, only he is privileged.

Our most "honorable" contemporary columnist, Bus Grimm, you know the one who is not such a far cry from a cross legged, cross eyed, pop eyed missing link, has stooped so low as to make remarks in print about his fellow columnist. That is a thing, we would never do. Bus, of course, ran out of things to say, or he wouldn't have fallen from grace. In honor of his desecration we produce this:

Grimm, is a him, on a whim, on the rim, of a him—from us!

University of Washington has a brand new idea for the seat of higher education. The seat can now be sit within the hall of learning—the library, and—on Sunday afternoons. This is a new era for colleges and controversy at the university is growing loud and long. A Phi Beta Kappa over there said he disapproved of the new system as he believed in enjoying nature on Sundays.

Nature is grand, but skirts are getting longer. —H. K.

STUDENT OPINION

The University of Idaho, although only forty years old, has become enhanced to an unaccountable degree with traditions. They are one of the big selling points of the university in canvassing for new students each year. A list of the better known and older traditions occupy a prominent part in the advertising material of the university; and well they may for they are what makes this university the "best in the west."

Traditions, however, are not made or altered in a day. They may be curbed when their worth has been proven of negative value, but the tradition remains long after active accordance has ceased. Quite a number of years ago the traditional fight with W. S. C. was curbed by officials of both colleges, but the tradition is still carried out to a minor degree by students every fall.

A true definition of the term "tradition" is an unwritten law or custom handed down from year to year—generation to generation. A tradition grows much the same as a pipe that is properly broken in. Much care must be exercised and a strict obedience to the tradition followed.

One of the oldest Idaho traditions has to deal with class distinctions in wearing apparel. This tradition has grown through a strict observance enforced by the "I" men at all times. In the last few years, however, another tradition has been in the progress of formation: that once a year, at this time, after initiation stress is over, after semester quizzes are but a half forgotten nightmare, at a time when athletic activity is at its ebb, the "I" club endeavors to set up a new tradition or alter an old established one.

Almost a year ago to a day the "I" club brought to light the ultimatum that "I" men demi-gods that they are, are exempt to the tradition of class distinction in regards to wearing apparel. Much comment was aroused last year, but in the end the "I" men won out and this year they are going to classes with an utter disregard to class distinction. A sophomore "I" man hatless and in cords seems very much the same as a policeman on a drunk. It is unlawful, but there is really very little that can be done about it.

This year's surprise to the students in general came as a result of an "I" meeting last Wednesday evening. This year's surprise was of a milder nature than that of last year, but it is representative of the inevitable results that come from a meeting of well-fed, sophisticated, athletes with too little to do.

According to the "I" men the Idaho campus has been extended to Paradise creek instead of the long established boundary at the campus steps. We wonder if this is a result from reading too many advertisements for the Campus Barber shop or merely an outcropping of their native animals instincts. Are the "I" men trying to start a reign of terror or are they laboring under the illusion that they are really benefiting someone? —J. S. H.

LIBERAL EDUCATION IS SPEAKER'S TOPIC

U. of Oregon Professor To Address Idaho Students Wednesday

Appreciation of art and its relation to a liberal education will be the subject of a talk to be given at the weekly assembly next Wednesday by W. R. B. Wilcox, professor of architecture at the University of Oregon.

Mr. Wilcox comes to the university under the auspices of the American Institute of Architects, professional organization of architects. He has had considerable experience as a practical architect before he joined the University of Oregon faculty and is especially well informed on the historical phase of architecture and the application of artistic design to building construction.

Mr. Wilcox will speak in the Science hall auditorium on "Washington and Its Development and Future" pointing out America's architectural masterpieces in the capital city, Washington, D. C. probably more than any other city in the United States, exemplifies classical architecture, the Lincoln memorial especially.

The talk will be of special interest to students of art and architecture, said Mr. Jones. The meeting will be open to all who care to attend.

Tuesday evening dinner guests of Delta Gamma were Claire Gale, Boyd Martin, James Dunn, William Stenton, John Pohman, Frank Warner, Robert McBride, William Babcock, Dynes Lawson, Max Elden, Kenneth Bradshaw, Leo Neher, and Lawrence Troutdale. Wednesday dinner guests were Mrs. William McBride and Mrs. Lou Thrallkill of Boise.

Dinner guests of Alpha Tau Omega on Wednesday evening were Colonel E. R. Chrisman, Major and Mrs. F. R. Fuller, and Lieutenant and Mrs. J. W. Sheehy.

Dinner guests of Lindley hall Wednesday evening were Bethel Packingham, Helen Kerr, Louva May Jensen, Harriet Wallace, Emily Osgood, Pauline Paterka, Lucille Burgess, Jane Haley, Helen Rowe, McIntyre, Catherine Hanson, Annie Snow and Ruth Newhouse.

HE GOT THE JOB..

WE had a smooth pair of fox trot numbers we were eager to stamp on a new record. One—bit of a great talkie; the other—crammed with irresistible rhythm—BOTH memorably melodic and smartly new.

They deserved the baton of a master bandsman—to be molded into toe-tantalizing form by the delect of syncopators. So of course someone said "Whiteman!"

P.S. He got the job...

SOCIETY

Lillie Gallagher, Editor, Phone 2178

HE cycle of social events on the campus is quickly and steadily turning. Most of the initiation banquets and dances were finished last week and now society is settling down to a rush of spring formal, which are in full swing along with novelty group dances.

Exchanging dinners of group houses and a fireside at the Gamma Phi Beta house, given by Phi Chi Theta for the women students in the school of business were the most prominent mid-week social functions.

Delta Gamma has chosen this evening for its formal dance which promises to be a very delightful affair.

Forney hall is honoring the faculty at a reception from 8 until 10 o'clock this evening, also. Invitations have been issued to faculty members and students.

An unusual affair scheduled for this week-end is the annual formal dance to be held by the Bench and Bar, legal organization, at the Alpha Tau Omega house tomorrow evening.

Phi Gamma Delta underclassmen and Ridenbaugh hall will hold informal dances tomorrow evening, also.

ARGONAUT WRITER OF '16 COMPLETES JOURNALISM BOOK

J. C. Safley Contributes Volume On Country Newspapers

IS NOW CITY EDITOR

Former Student Working For Hollywood Daily News

Experience acquired in newspaper work in Idaho, principally during the seven years he was publisher of the Idaho County Free Press at Grangeville, forms the basis of much of the material used by J. C. Safley, in his book, "The Country Newspaper and Its Operation," which has been announced for spring publication by D. Appleton and Co.

Mr. Safley, a former journalism student at the University of Idaho and a member of Phi Delta Theta and a staff writer on The Argonaut from 1916 to 1918, is now city editor of the Hollywood Daily News in California. He wrote the book, which approximates 110,000 words, at night, after he had finished the daily grind on a newspaper.

For Students and Editors The volume, designed primarily as a text for use in schools of journalism, also will serve as a handbook for editors of country newspapers. It is one of the few books devoted exclusively to the country newspaper and its problems. While largely technical, certain phases of the book will appeal to all persons who are interested in community development and civic welfare.

Every phase gives evidence of the author's intimate practical acquaintance with the problems of the country editor and publisher," says an advance announcement by the Appleton firm. "Mr. Safley begins with a frank discussion, based upon his own experience, of the peculiar demands of country journalism and the problems involved in the country editor's relationship with his public.

Given Comments on Libel Chief Justice Raymond L. Givens, of the Idaho supreme court, an old-time friend of Mr. Safley, has contributed comments to the chapter on libel. "The book is regarded as unique, in that it was written by a practical newspaper man. Most texts on journalism have been written by college professors, who have had little experience in actual newspaper work. The book will be off the press in March.

NATIONAL MEET WILL BE HELD AT U OF WISCONSIN Madison, Wis. Entries and inquiries already in hand indicate that the fifth annual national academy basketball, track and swimming championship tournament, which will be held March 20, 21 and 22, by the University of Wisconsin, will draw the largest and most representative entry in the history of the event, which has now attained the importance of an inter-scholastic classic.

AMOS 'N' ANDY 'LL TELL YOU HOW IT'S DONE

Only those who do not care for hearty laughter should pass up this advice. Most of us have heard Amos 'n' Andy on the air in their daily fifteen minutes of clever dialog. Most of us would give a good deal to hear them often. For most of us agree that there is the funniest pair now at large. HERE'S THE WAY TO HEAR THEM IN SOME OF THEIR BEST SKITS WHENEVER YOU WANT... Correll and Gosden (the real names of this team of comedians) have achieved great fame under two names, SAM 'N' HENRY and AMOS 'N' ANDY. They have made Victor records that will make you laugh as you've never laughed before. In one of these, THE DAIRY, Amos tells how he sells milk "F. O. B. de cow" ... it's a riot! So are all these others. Let us play them for you.

FIVE ARE PLEDGED BY PHI CHI THETA

Argonaut Society Editor Included in List of Business Group's Selections; Initiation Soon

Five women students in the school of business were pledged last night to Phi Chi Theta, women's national business honorary fraternity, at formal ceremonies held at the Phi Beta Phi house. Those pledged were Lillie Gallagher, Ella Mae McAllister, Katherine Mikkelsen, Alice O'Hara and Ina Peterson. Eligibility for membership is based principally on scholarship and professional interest in business. Dorothy Shears is president of the group, which has a membership of 12. Initiation will be held in about three weeks.

FRANKLIN DOPES HIS CREW TO WIN

Vandal Wrestlers Expect to Conquer Cougars Saturday

COACH NOEL FRANKLIN is confident that the Vandal matmen will check in a victory over the Washington university and Washington State college in the wrestling tourney of the Minor Sports carnival at Pullman, Saturday, held under auspices of W. S. C. The wrestling tourney will, perhaps, turn out as the feature event of the program.

Idaho "bonecrushers" ended their training preparations for the carnival today and were keyed up for victory. Coach Franklin has entered men in all divisions of the tournament and anticipates that Idaho will win a larger number of points than either the Cougars or Huskies, although stating that competition will be very keen.

On Even Terms Now The Vandals were defeated by Washington state college, 18-to-30, in a recent dual meet at Pullman, after having thumped the Cougars 15-to-8, in a dual contest here one week earlier.

Contestants who will represent Idaho as selected by Franklin are: featherweight, Don Grayott; lightweight, Karl Kyselka; middleweight, Sam Swayne; light-heavyweight, Art Nordby; and heavyweight, Dan Lopez. Noel Franklin will wrestle in the welterweight division.

Points will probably be awarded as follows: five points for a fall and three points for a decision. Judges for the wrestling event have not been announced as yet.

ARREST FOLLOWS HOUSE ROBBERIES

"Guest" Departs With Several Hundred Dollars Worth of Loot

Robbery of two fraternity houses at the University of California recently led to the arrest of a house guest at the Kappa Sigma and Sigma Chi houses. Donald Reesman alias Robert Brennon, fooled his hosts by wearing a fraternity pin of what has been found to be a non-existent fraternity, according to the police.

Reesman, who had spent three weeks on the campus admitted his guilt when arrested Friday morning while driving a car borrowed from Harold Gates, son of a California senator and a student at the University naval air school, with whom he had been making his home.

Took Big Variety An assortment of coats, sweaters and other garments was found in the back of the car. He told of entering two fraternity houses early Friday morning while the occupants slept.

Reesman, said by police to be on parole from San Quentin prison for a Los Angeles robbery, claimed to be a former student of the University of Wisconsin where he said he studied marine engineering. He told of having a big contract with the Standard Oil company to lay a pipe line.

Charged with Burglary Reesman was arraigned on a first degree burglary charge sworn to by James H. Freeman, member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity

Spying Dean Rapped For Sleuthing Work On Student Lovers

MADISON, Wis.—Early returns of a poll conducted by the Daily Cardinal, undergraduate publication, to determine student opinion on the disciplinary tactics practiced by Dean Scott F. Goodnight of the University of Wisconsin showed a three-to-one vote condemning the dean.

The issue brought to the fore by an expose contained in a 15-page letter by Professor William Ellery Leonard of the English department to Glenn Frank, president of the university, was answered by a total of 224 marked questionnaires of which 170 were against the dean's actions, while 24 were in support of his methods of investigation.

The expose, as written by Professor Leonard, was inspired by the report that Dean Goodingth had spled on a couple who spent the night together in an apartment. Leonard charges that after the couple was caught in the apartment, Goodnight arranged a hasty wedding, but the couple rebelled. Instead they went to New York and were married at the home of the girl's mother recently.

In his letter Leonard made a plea for a disciplinary system "based on the friendship and understanding of youth and not one borrowed from methods of police courts and plain clothes men."

The incident has aroused the comments of editors throughout the country, some of which condemn the dean while others agree with him. Others have criticized President Frank for not stepping in and taking an official stand one way or the other on the matter.

POSTON SIGNS UP SEVEN ASSISTANTS

Try-outs for the positions as track managers of the university team has netted Elmer Poston, senior manager, and a staff of seven assistants.

The junior managers are Oscar Brown and Leonard Reinger, sophomore managers Alvin Hoff, man and Melvin Coonrod; freshman managers Kenneth Bradshaw, Lawrence Trousdale, and Neil Fritchman. Positions are still open for two sophomores, and five freshmen for managership jobs.

OFFICERS ELECTED At the last semi-monthly luncheon meeting of the Idaho Chem club at the Blue Bucket Wednesday George Kalousek was elected president to succeed Harold Wayland, who changed his course at the close of the last semester. Carl von Ende was then elected vice president in place of Mr. Kalousek. Tentative arrangements for later speakers were presented. Plans for the club's exhibit in the Engineering show this spring concluded the business of the meeting. About 25 members were present.

PHELAN CALLS FOR GRID TURNOUTS

University of Washington, Seattle.—Spring football turnouts at the University of Washington which northwest and Pacific coast sports followers have been awaiting with intense interest and speculation since Jimmy Phelan, 1929 winner of the Big Ten championship was named new coach at the Husky school, will open the latter part of this week, it has been announced.

Phelan, who has been in the middle west completing his personal affairs and signing his coaching staff, arrived in Seattle Tuesday morning, and immediately announced that preliminary turnouts would begin this week.

Some thirty-three veterans from last year's squad, not counting members of the supervarsity nor players coming up from the frosh squad, are expected to be on hand for opening workouts. Men at the University of Boston recently voted on their favorite type of woman. Brains, beauty, sophistication, education, charm, are among the leading specifications voiced. Some said "affectionate, not too moral and slender."
