

REXBURG QUINTET TAKES HOOP TITLE

Nose Out Boise by Single Point In Race For Pennant

Madison high school Boobats of Rexburg provided the upset in the State interscholastic basketball tournament held in Reed hall, Pocatello last week-end under the auspices of the State Branch by thrashing the Boise Boobats in the thrilling finale, 29-16-28, to gain their first state hoop championship. Trailing the Capital City five for three periods, Rexburg spurred in the final canto to assume an advantage which they held until the final gun.

Rexburg earned the right to enter the finals by surviving her semi-final test, defeating the previously undefeated Coeur d'Alene Vikings, 29-20-20. Coach Loren Baxter's Braves gained a berth in the finals by defeating the fabled Pocatello Bananas, 23-21 after the Pory cagers held the advantage from the opening whistled until the dwindling minutes of the fray.

Third place in the tourney went to the Montpelier Bears who jolted Coach Guy Wick's Moscow cagemen, 22-15, in the finals of the consolation bracket, played Saturday night.

The state meet, although held on a single elimination basis, proved very successful and featured some of the best prep hoop talent ever gathered for a state showdown.

Scores & Points.

Watts, brilliant Rexburg forward, led his team to victory in the final game, notching a points in the game co-starred with Watts for the Boobats and was instrumental in capturing their first state hoop title.

Following the championship game a committee consisting of Leo Calland, head of the athletic department at Idaho university, Rich Fox, basketball and baseball coach at Idaho, F. A. Plastico, coach at the Southern Branch and D. W. Bliss of Pocatello selected the mythical all-state teams giving Rexburg two places on the first team, Boise, Pocatello and Montpelier one. The all-star selections follow: First team—Watts, Rexburg; and Van Orman, Montpelier, forwards; McOmber, Pocatello, center; Richman, Rexburg and Frost, Boise, guards. Second team—Carlson, Coeur d'Alene and Warner, Boise, forwards; Nelson, Montpelier, center; and Boothe, Coeur d'Alene, and Griffin, Boise, guards.

W. S. C. ZOOLOGY PROFESSOR DEAD

Washington State College. — Dr. Anna J. Lettingwell, assistant professor of zoology and curator of the college museum, died March 7 at a Colfax hospital following a four-day attack of pneumonia.

Doctor Lettingwell received his doctor's degree from Cornell as well as his master's and bachelor's degrees. He came west in 1926 and has been at the State College a little over three years. He was married last summer to Anna MacClay, teaching fellow in the department of botany.

TOUGH RECORDS THIN AS PAPER

Ex-Idaho Chem. Professor Makes Valuable Contribution to Phonograph Field

Unbreakable phonograph records, the invention of a former Idaho instructor, received favorable comment in the February 17 issue of Time. The record is brown, not black, scarcely any heavier than the stiff piece of paper; it bears the name of an unknown corporation called Durium Products.

The inventor, Hal Trueman Beans, was an instructor in chemistry and physicist for the experiment station in 1900-1902. At the present time he is professor of chemistry at Columbia university, from which institution he received his doctor's degree in 1906.

Unbreakable records are made of a synthetic resin that in the original form is a liquid composition the color of varnish. Like varnish it can be spread with a brush, but when exposed to heat becomes so solid that dropping or mild whacks will do it no harm.

Durium hardens so quickly that phonograph records, which are pressed from metal disks, can be stamped on it with the speed of a printing press. Manufacturing of a new record is so cheaply accomplished that the first ones were offered at 15 cents apiece. Durium records will be issued each week, played by a leading Broadway orchestra and chosen as "hit of the week" by a jury composed of Producer, Florenz Ziegfeld, Comedian Eddie Cantor and Bandman Vincent Lopez.

HOVE ELECTED CAPTAIN OF QUINTE

Whitman College, Walla Walla (P.I.P.A.) members of the 1929-30 basketball squad were presented with their official basketball awards by the associated student body. Captain "Bevo" Croxdale received his fourth award. Kenneth Hove has been elected captain for the 1930-31 squad.

RADIOS INCREASE AT O.S.C.

Oregon State College, Corvallis (P.I.P.A.) The increase in the number of radios at Oregon State College since the school year 1928-29 is 500 percent. Six was the number in use two years ago. At present twenty four fraternities, four sororities and four men's halls have these instruments that lead a person so willingly from studies and other minor matters.

STUDENT OPINION

If students are forced, by requirement or moral suasion, to go to assembly, why not do a thoroughly good job of compulsion and force them to act like ladies and gentlemen. Some few people go to assembly for the benefit they may be able to derive from it; but to these few it is highly exasperating to have a math problem being worked audibly on one side, a prolonged date-making conversation on the other, a new dress being purchased just ahead and a house party being discussed just to the rear. Then there are a few others who flounce about in their seats creakingly, sigh loudly and make remarks in a loud undertone about the program. There is a large campus and an abundance of classrooms that these people might utilize and not have to bother about trying to be polite ladies and gentlemen. The speaker, at least, deserves a little courtesy whether your fellowmen do or not.

N. R. O.

Hell week, the time honored institution of fraternities, is rapidly becoming less hellish.

If it continues at its present rate of degeneration, what will it be like ten years from now? Will the members serve their "Larrys" breakfasts in bed, give them alcohol rubs and burn incense in honor of their initiation?

The good old days, when a member was a mighty personage and a pledge a moth-eaten worm, are slipping off the calendar. Instead of the old iron sledge-hammer, paddles, guaranteed not to injure permanently, are now wielded. Prehistoric mangles, stretchers, electric horses, and fire spitting contests have given way to cold showers livened by the gentle flipping of wet towels. The all night chain gang has melted into a congenial midnight mass accelerated with a little boxing and massage.

Indeed, though we still have hell week with us, it is now being conducted most humanely. The faculty and administration, despite their vows that hell week was the time of their lives, have protested that pledges, milkmen, factory hands, in fact all the laboring classes, should have nationally protected health. And if the world is becoming civilized, why should not hell week advance from prehistoric to primitive tactics.

ARCHITECT SCHOOL WILL BE REPEATED

Pullman, March 18—The first annual State College institute for architects, the initial meeting of its kind in the country, has proved a remarkable success and will no doubt be continued each year, according to Stanley A. Smith, head of the Washington State department of architectural engineering.

Over 100 students of architecture attended the sessions held at the college campus March 11 and 12. The meetings held at Spokane the following day were attended by 35 professional architects and draftsmen. Twenty representatives of the Associated General Contractors of America were also present at the lectures and round table discussions concerning current building problems.

All-night Whoopee Among Swiss Coeds Okay With Deans

Oregon State College, (P.I.P.A.)—College women who object to being in at 11:30 o'clock on date nights should go to college in Switzerland. There girls can stay out all night and still be regarded as respectable. At least that is what Andre Roth, senior in engineering and the only Swiss student at Oregon State college, says. Andre is a native of Switzerland, having received his high school education in Geneva; and three years training at an engineering university in Zurich.

According to Andre, Swiss universities do not have a social life as here at Oregon State. They do, however, have one big annual student dance in one of the university buildings. All the classrooms are thrown open, four or five orchestras hired, and the students dance from classroom to classroom.

When asked what a Swiss collegian does to entertain his lady friend during the evening Andre shrugged his shoulders and said, "Oh, one goes to the theater, the cafe, or the dance. Dances in Switzerland begin about 9 o'clock, and continue until morning. About 5 or 6 o'clock we eat breakfast at some cafe, then go home." Andre says that Swiss collegians dance just like Americans, that young ladies in Switzerland enjoy just as much personal freedom as do American girls.

COAST ATHLETES GATHER AT W. S. C.

Northern Division Meet Held in May; Outstanding Entries Expected.

Washington State College.—Pullman will become the mecca for sport followers on May 30 and 31 when Washington State will host to the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference track and field meet.

More than 150 athletes, including outstanding college stars from all parts of the northwest will assemble, representatives from Oregon, Oregon State, Washington, Idaho, Montana, and Montana State being among those to compete in the annual classic.

In last year's meet, held at Eugene, Oregon, Washington State finished in third place, the Huskies carrying off top honors for their third straight conference championship.

The list of probable entries includes: Steve Anderson, Washington's stellar hurdler; Crosby Pendleton, Washington speedster; Eddie Gemung, Washington intercollegiate champion; Ben Herron, Cougar pole-vault artist; Ed Moehler, Oregon discus man, and Wes Foster, W. S. C. sprint demon.

ECONOMY RECORD

Oregon State College, Corvallis (P. I. P. A.) A lesson in economy might well be learned from one Oregon State College student in the forestry department. This man has gone through four years at the state college with his entire expense account totaling only $1408. Out of this sum, only $468 was not earned during that four year period.

WHITMAN STUDENTS GIVE "ROYAL FAMILY"

Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash., March 14 (P.I.P.)—Thursday, March 27 is the date set for the annual Dramatic Club play, "The Royal Family". This play is the most unique and ambitious production the club has ever attempted, and is also the most elaborate and expensive ever given. A complete new set modeled by Tommy Leake, Whitman student, is being patterned after the new professional collapsible sets. The cast is progressing well in the rehearsals.

DYNAMITE clears the way for modern engineering wonders

The Cascade Tunnel

America's longest railroad tunnel built with the aid of DYNAMITE!

The first train breaks through the paper barrier!

A LITTLE more than a year ago, the Great Northern Railway trains began running through the Cascade Tunnel. Engineering skill had finished another great job . . . in record time. And dynamite helped to make it possible. Du Pont Dynamite was used in driving the pioneer tunnel . . . in sinking a 622-foot shaft so that blasting attacks might be carried on from four primary faces. Cascade Tunnel is only one example of the use of dynamite in modern construction. Dynamite is indispensable in building highways, bridges, skyscrapers, dams, subways. It is a powerful tool which modern engineers could not well do without.

The du Pont Company has had 128 years' experience in making and improving explosives . . . in testing them for all types of blasting operations. A wealth of information about explosives . . . and how to use them . . . is contained in the Blasters' Handbook, a copy of which will be sent you free upon request. Write for your copy.

March a Month of Planning

LIKE a trough between two waves, the latter part of March is without the usual campus extra-curricula activity that marks the other eight and one-half months of the school year. One athletic season has just been finished and two more are being started but there are no games scheduled for the immediate future. A long period of practice will precede the next encounters between Vandal and athletic foe.

Junior and Senior classes are making plans for spring events. Little is scheduled to happen until the latter part of April when Junior week comes. Student elections will claim the spotlight before the end of April. Campus day preparations are already taking time of A.S.U. officials.

Stunt fest chairmen are tearing their hair in an effort to make the skits the most novel and entertaining that have ever been presented. Song chairmen for the same event are overhauling old tunes and concocting new melodies. The results will not be seen until some time in May.

Play production classes are rehearsing for the last big play of the year to be presented in April.

The Gem staff is burning more midnight oil than ever in order to get copy and pictures in on time for a "Bigger and Better Annual."

Everybody is busy preparing something for April or May. March is sadly neglected. Either the roar of the lion was too frightening or the beat of the lamb too pitiful to entice campus organizations to schedule events for March. St. Patrick alone sticks faithful to the month.

And of course the nine week quizzes come in April when everything else is popping at the same time.

Ganders Lay the Golden Eggs

SEVERAL campus papers are taking up the old question of "Dutch dates." Spring months are most appropriate for the discussion for it is then that young "man's fancy turns—etc." with emphasis in the pocketbook which is stressed without rhyme or reason to the last syllable. The best argument of those in favor of the idea is that the women are equally able to pay. Women get as much or more money from home on the average and should be able to share the burden of social activity with the constantly cooling men.

The respect of women for men would be destroyed, contends the opposite faction. "It would drag the women down to the level of the men."

As far as respect for men is concerned the argument is without premises. Women have respect for men as long as the men are spending money on them. Respect for the value of money would, perhaps be gained, instead of an increased lack of regard or admiration for the male purse. The person who made the remark about women being dragged down to the level of men was undoubtedly a woman. The argument is therefore biased. One could not expect the fortunate sex to vote themselves off the "gravy train."

Male pride is the chief obstacle to the plan. Custom has grown so strong that a man feels rather embarrassed when a woman accompanying him to a dance or theatre pays her own way or foots her bill in the lunch room. The social conventions must be ignored when a college campus goes "Dutch." Wholehearted cooperation of the entire male dating group would be required if the system were to be a success.

If women want equality the way is clear for them. That they don't want equality when it may mean the sacrifice of a dollar or two for a couple of dates would be obvious if the new date plan were started.

The greatest benefit the plan presents seems to be the likelihood of a decrease in dates. Women would not be so willing to pick up the first chance offered if they had to stand half the expenses. Truth in dating would be developed.

A Sunday Haven of Refuge

SUNDAY afternoon is a distressing time for a student. Studying is practically out of the question. What with a radio going in the living room, a bridge game in progress across the hall, a ukelele concert in the bathroom, a putting exhibition beneath the window, a bevy of chattering coeds across the way jumping rope, and a gang of men playing baseball in the street there is little chance for a book to get a break. The university library is closed.

Although the usual diversions of Sunday afternoon take the campus population to all sorts of places away from the semi-studious atmosphere of the rest of the week there are some who would like to use the library. It is not fair that the local amusement houses should have a practical monopoly on Sunday afternoons. Students are not forced to attend the theater, it is true, but there is little else to do except put up with the racket of playful college cutups. An open library could solve the problem. The additional expense entailed in the salary of the desk assistant for Sunday afternoon would be justified if only a handful took advantage of the opportunity each week.

If the library was a factory and the students employees the situation would be different. Recreation in some other line would be advisable in that case. The library isn't a dull work house that students yearn to escape from six days a week. Assignments keep students running down references during all available time. Pleasure of reading for personal amusement could be greatly increased if the book shelves were open to the campus public on Sunday afternoons.

Here is a new remedy for the liquor drinking habit. An old timer of Arizona, Dan O'Leary, attributes his age to the fact that he had his teeth pulled out when he was young. After having the teeth extracted he says he never wanted to touch another drop of liquor. Probably he couldn't get the cork out of the bottle after the operation.

Coeds are "gold-diggers" say owners of food shops on the university of Nebraska campus. The majority of women will eat twice as much when a boy-friend foots the bill, they declared. The women pay? Yes, for the proprietors of cafes.

A battle royal ensued when Calvin Coolidge threw away a cigar stub down at Los Angeles recently and a woman finally got it. If that was a cigarette we might understand her eagerness.

Put a little sex appeal in the kitchen stove if you want to get women out in the kitchen again. Samuel Insull said the other day. Sounds easy, but how?

A man in the East got a divorce in three minutes. Bet his courtship wasn't much longer than that.

Illiteracy is a help to longevity, a study of old men made recently seemed to show. The less educated the human being, the longer he is likely to live, was the claim made. That's because he doesn't come to college and learn ways of getting himself killed off, such as jazz dancing, rooting for the wrong team, or making breaks at the dinner table.

Sleeper Sam

O-Hell-O—This column is dedicated to the collectors who are making good use of this fine weather. It is always invigorating and refreshing to see "gentle youth" blossom out like a flower grasping for light, but, light or dark, blonde or brunette, we sigh languorously with youth, for we know that after all the result produces only cloyed honey and soured sauce. Anyhow, we dedicate this column to them even if we do smile at their pulling antics.

FAMOUS CAMPUS SONGS

Spud's Song.
"I faw down 'n gaboon"

Edward Elihu Poulton would like to know why co-eds love romantic old runs when there are so many lovely college boys in circulation.

ARBORETUM ALONZO SAYS:

"The co-eds certainly aren't considering the poor college lads who have no imagination when they lengthen their skirts."

DON'T PITY THIS GAL!

This etching does not have a theme song—nor the husky A. T. O. (the cherub curling his mustache) garters. Rather this portrait shows a Gaamma Phi covering in the presence of a bold A. T. O. lad who is rightfully lashing (verbally as all gentlemen do) the sorority lass. It seems the dainty lady had been extremely brutal and desired this chastisement. Yes, friends, she had put up barbed wire for a clothes line so the birds couldn't sit down.

BOARDWALK BETTY SAYS:

One little Nellie wasn't the track coach's daughter, but darling, she was fast on every lap.

The type of co-ed we all hate is the dimpled darling who sets her watch ahead so that she will always be called fast.

THESE SUNNY DAYS

Dear S. S.,
Here's a horse on the co-eds: One these sunny spring days what could be more fitting than that old saying, "Coming events cast their shadows before." Avoid that future shadow by wearing a petticoat.

Once upon a time there was a college boy who went to Spokane who did not meet any "hot dates", take a drink, or throw a party in a hotel room. Yeh, he had his appendix out.

MINERS GET LOOK AT GEM STATE ROCK

Class Leaving on Annual Surveying Trip to Whitfeld For Practical Experience.

Thirteen members of the mining survey class at the University of Idaho school of mines, accompanied by W. W. Staley, instructor in mining, left Sunday, March 16, for the annual week's mine surveying trip. The class will work at the Whitfeld mine near Clarksfork. During the week the students will make a complete survey of the mine, getting such special training as plumbing of shafts and the carrying of their survey from one level of the shaft to another.

EIGHT DROWN IN WINE

For a little matter of three hundred years London has been a theater town; but surely no London theater has an odder claim to interest than the British capital's latest—the Dominion, which opened this winter. It is built upon the former site of no less respectable an institution than Meux's brewery, which leapt into fame in 1814, when the huge central vat collapsed and eight people were drowned outright in creamy porter.

HEAVY SCHEDULE FOR IDAHO NINE

Sixteen Coast conference and four non-conference games comprise the schedule for the University of Idaho 1930 baseball team, announces George E. Horton, graduate manager. Idaho opens the season against Whitman, at Walla Walla, April 11.

The Vandals play four games each with Washington, Oregon, Washington State and Oregon State, and four non-conference games with Whitman. The complete schedule follows:

- April 11-12, Whitman at Walla Walla.
- April 25-26, Washington State at Pullman and Moscow.
- May 2-3, Washington at Seattle.
- May 5-6, Oregon State at Corvallis.
- May 7-8, Oregon at Eugene.
- May 12-13, Washington State at Moscow and Pullman.
- May 16-17, Oregon at Moscow.
- May 19-20, Oregon State at Moscow.
- May 27-28, Whitman at Moscow.
- May 30-31, Washington at Moscow.

SOCIETY

Lillie Gallagher, Editor, Phone 2178

Spring is here—the tennis players know it, all the resurrected cars on the campus prove it, and society is not the least conscious of its presence in the rush of social events scheduled for the next several weeks.

St. Patrick's day, with its suggestions for colorful decorations, along with pink rosebuds, and a lighted fraternity pin, lent themselves admirably to the effectiveness of the Sigma Chi cabaret held Friday evening at the Blue Bucket.

Saturday evening the "I" Club formal at the Elks' temple was a very successfully conducted campus affair attended by upperclassmen and members of the "I" club. About forty couples from the Phi Delta Theta chapter of W. S. C. were guests Saturday evening of the local chapter at the Phi Delta joint dance held at the Blue Bucket. That evening also the Delta Chi underclassmen held a very pretty dance at the chapter house, having the shamrock as the theme of the decorations, which were rendered unusually attractive by lighting effects furnished by spot lights from outside the windows.

The coming weekend promises to be one of society's busiest for there are seven group dances scheduled, including spring formal and informal dances. Friday evening the Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Sigma upperclassmen will hold a formal joint dance, while S. A. E. and Kappa Sig underclassmen have an informal dance the same evening. A spring formal dance is scheduled by Beta Chi and the Associated Engineers' are holding an informal on that evening also. Saturday evening is the date set for the Interfraternity council and Forney hall informal dances and the Lindley hall formal dance.

Nu chapter of Delta Gamma announces the engagement of Gladys Taylor Pence to Adrian DesMarais, Sigma Chi. Miss Pence is a senior at the university and her home is in Fayette. Mr. DesMarais is from New Bedford, Massachusetts and is enrolled in the Idaho law school.

Delta Gamma Founders Day was celebrated by a banquet at the Moscow Hotel. Bronze, Pink and blue, the sorority colors were followed out in the decorations. Guests were Mae Alvord of Lewiston, Mrs. J. G. Eldridge, Mrs. Otto Anderson, Mrs. Pendleton Howard, Mrs. T. Matthews, Mrs. Carl Bonham, Miss Mary Williamson and Miss Agnes Peterson.

Sunday dinner guests of Delta Gamma were Gladys Miller, Helen Lucas, Mae Alvord and Lulu Shank. Guests Monday night were the Misses Hildegard Wannow, Margaret Barry, Pauline Lamar, Virginia Peck and Geneva Handy.

The "I" Club formal, which was held Saturday evening at the Elks' Temple was a huge success. One hundred couples, formally attired, presented a motley picture of beautiful pastel colors and shades. The large illuminated "I" was the center of attraction in the decorations, which consisted of myriads of flowers, cedar boughs and softly blending lights. Walt Price, as president of the "I" Club, was at the head of the receiving line. George Hjort was chairman of the affair.

FOUNDER'S BANQUET BY PHI DELTA THETA

Phi Delta Theta celebrated its Founder's Day with an annual banquet held at the chapter house Sunday. Alumni attending were Floyd Lansdon, Orin J. Fitzgerald, Howard David, Theodore Turner, Harvey Smith, Earl David, John Montgomery, John Hamilton, George E. Horton, Gub Mix, Ralph Washburn, Fulton Gale, Gale Mix, and Cliff Green. The banquet closed with a business meeting.

Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Brosnan, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Retherford, and Mrs. J. F. Montgomery were Sunday dinner guests of Phi Beta Phi.

Sunday dinner guests of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were Dr. and Mrs. C. L. von Ende, Eunice von Ende, and Dr. F. C. Church.

George Jimison was a Monday dinner guest of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Sunday dinner guests of Kappa Alpha Theta were: Mr. and Mrs. Jean Cummings, Lillian Larson, Bertha Herald, Blanche Evans, Lucile Womack, Grace Raphael, Katherine Butler, Rex Howard, Josephine Kincaid.

DELTA CHI UNDERCLASS MEN ENTERTAIN

Delta Chi Underclassmen held a dance Saturday, March 15, which was featured by a St. Patrick's day regalia in the form of shamrock rocks and clay pipes. Flood lights were played on all the windows, which were covered with green paper. This arrangement gave a dull light inside. Music was furnished by Lloyd Whitlock's orchestra.

The guests were Professor and Mrs. T. S. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. William Moran, Howard Johns, William Blake, Lucinda Parker, Lois Thompson, Lily Lewis, Alice Nash, Harriet Kinney, Ruth Miller, Ellen Jack, Eileen Beckman, Dorothy Brossard, Blanche Detwiler, Mary Darling, Betty Ashworth, Mildred Patterson, Norene Pearce, Dorothy McCauley, Ruth Crowe, and Ella Mae McAllister.

Sunday dinner guests at Hay's hall were Violet Werner, Flora Fisher and Thomas Wahl.

JOINT DANCE OF PHI DELTA THETA

The W. S. C. and Idaho chapters of Phi Delta Theta entertained at their annual joint informal dance at the Blue Bucket inn, Saturday evening. Patrons for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Pendleton Howard, Lieutenant and Mrs. W. W. Sheehy, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Plaskett, and Lieutenant and Mrs. W. H. Schilthoff. The guests included Harold Coffin, Robert Allehe, Harry Williamson, Glenn Silverthorne, Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallis, Nathaniel Congdon, Rudy Nelson, Josephine Thompson, Betty Wilson, Jean Tedford, Beryl Davis, Vera Chandler, Margaret Ryan, Gladys Miller, Iben Graye, Elizabeth Rafter, Marguerite Morrow, Virginia Lee Maguire, Helen Hanson, Helen Mains, Ruth Gray, Helen Douglas, Irma Williams, Vera Mae Barker, Alberta Edwards, Dorothy Lindsay, Evelyn Schumaker, Lulu Shanks, Florence Coughlin, Mae Alvord, Eloise Castler, Janet McCoy, Agnes Ramstedt, Marguerite Watson, Betty Merriam, Kathryn Collins, Elsa Eisinger, Geraldine Morse, Helen Whitehouse, Gladys Timken, Marjorie Weber, Marthalene Tanner, Jeanne Cherrier, Catherine O'Neil, Teresa Connaughton, Catherine Edyvean, Elaine Cash, Mary Bishop and Irene Vang.

Wednesday dinner guests of Kappa Sigma were Mrs. B. J. Oleson, B. J. Oleson, Jr., and George Stalker of Seattle.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon announces the pledging of George Jimison, Spokane, Wash.

SIGMA CHI FORMAL CABARET

Sigma Chi entertained Friday evening at the Blue Bucket inn with its annual formal cabaret dance. The St. Patrick's Day idea was cleverly carried out in both the decorations and in the three course supper. During the program a novel song and dance skit was given by the Misses Virginia Steward and Marthalene Tanner, followed by two violin solos by William Ames. Serpentine, paper hats, and horns closed the dance with a realistic cabaret effect.

Patrons and patronesses were Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Barton, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Hubert, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hagan, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Dussault, Mr. Louis Boas, and Mrs. J. Montgomery. Out-of-town guests were the Misses Fynette Guthrie, Coeur d'Alene; Christine Broderick, Welsler; Melva Royal and Frances Hadley, Pullman.

Guests of the chapter were Millicent Walker, Virginia Steward, Bertha Moore, Betty Merriam, Fay Tatro, Vera Forbis, Dorothy Mellinger, Marthalene Tanner, Margaret Fikkan, Margaret Watson, Elizabeth Rafter, Catherine O'Neil, Austa White, Katherine Roe, Grace Parsons, Irene Killion, Violet Bohman, Florence Sampson, Gladys Pence, Laura Clark, Marion McGonigle, Gretta Brossard, Dorothy Lindsay, Virginia Gascolgne, Violet Hagen, Ellen Jack, Elsie Warm, Helen Tellifero, Helen Young, Ruth Turner, Catherine York, Florence Coughlin, Bernice Schwedfield, Dorothy LeMaster, Flora Corkery, Dorothy Olson, Bonita Rice, Elaine Stone, Helen Newman, Lillie Gallagher, Eleanor Berglund, Helen Kerr, Marguerite Thometz, Frances Dussault and Harold Boyd.

CLEANUP IN APRIL

Oregon State College, Corvallis, March 14 (RIP)—The first week in April has been set aside at Oregon State College as cleanup week.

PULLMAN'S DIAMOND SQUADS KEEP BUSY

Washington State College—The new field house at Washington State is echoing with the crack of wood meeting horsehide. Pepper games, infield work and batting practice are the features of the early turn-out. The pitchers have been warming up their soupers and taking a short turn at the mound, while the varsity candidates have been taking their turn at the plate. The first games scheduled are triple contests with Whitman on the Walla Walla school's home ground, April 11 and 12.

COACHES GET BACK FROM SOUTH TODAY

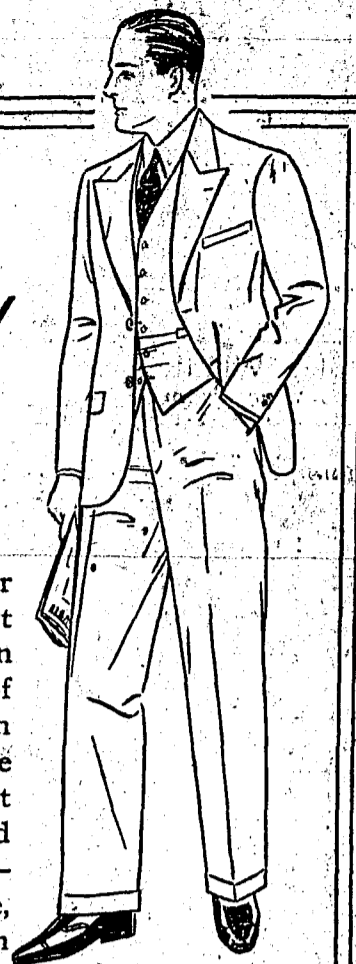

Leo B. Calland, head of the athletic department, and football coach and Rich Fox, baseball and basketball coach, returned to their posts today after a seven-days' leave of absence to the southern part of the state where they took in the state high school basketball meet at Pocatello and conferred with coaches of several high schools while on the trip.

Calland will call out his gridiron prospects for spring practice tomorrow while Fox will issue his call for diamond candidates in the near future. Battery combinations, including 14 batters and several catchers, have reported for duty since the first of March.

The First of the Spring Coats Are Ready

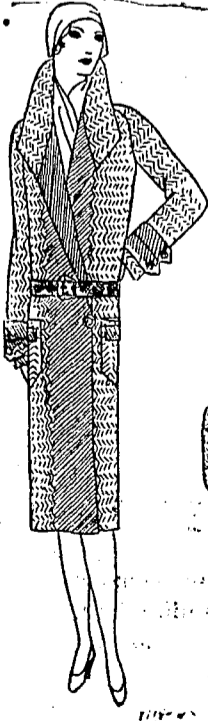

For those to whom first wearing of the really new is important these are safe coats for immediate purchase.

They are coats on which the stamp of Authority has been placed; that have served as inspiration for many that may be seen later elsewhere.

This is a season of many innovations. In conception and execution these are splendid.

And in value they live up to all the traditions and fame of this house. Beyond any and all comparison the values are matchless.

ANDERSON DRILLS TRACK MEN FOR OPENING MEET

Varsity and Frosh Squads Spend Spare Time on Lewis Court Oval

MATERIAL IS GOOD

Coach Sees Possibilities in Several Candidates; First Match March 22

Varsity and frosh track teams are working daily in Lewis court preparing for the indoor meet at Pullman a week from Saturday. The new W. S. C. fieldhouse will be used for the meet, giving both Idaho squads their first try at indoor competition. Otto K. Anderson, Idaho track mentor, has high hopes for both Vandal squads this season. After a month of hard labor both squads are rapidly rounding into shape for the coming practice meet.

The Vandals have some real material for the sprints in Jossis, sprinter from last year's Frosh squad, is likely to show his heels to many a track aspirant this season. Hanford, from Southern California, is rounding in to the best shape of his track career and will from all appearances take many places this season in the century and the furlong. Alvord a recruit from the Southern Branch, is showing up well in the high and low hurdles as well as the broad jump.

Weight Material
Vandals will be represented this year in the weight events by Kerzhinsk, Lopez and Robertson. Under the tutelage of Coach Anderson, Robertson, who has not had a great deal of experience, should become a good man with the javelin. Harold Stowell, mainstay on the Vandal hoop squad is turning out daily to get in shape for the half mile. Stowell showed up well in last year's meets and with added experience will bring many points for the team. Paul Jones, who is accredited with having cleared the bar at 5 feet 11 and 1/2 inches, will have the varsity high-jump to himself. With the graduation of Sid Pearson, Idaho was left without pole-vaulters. Vern Eaton and Frank Wenzler are the new recruits for this event and with coaching are showing up well.

Frosh Prospects Good
The Idaho Frosh have a large group of crack sprinters in Bunn, a Caldwell boy, who has been doing wonders in practice and from all appearances will do better in competition. He is also a broad jumper of repute having done 22 feet 6 inches in practice. On Thomas McCoy rest the hopes of the mile, half-mile and pole vault. Both boys are from Los Angeles and are doing exceedingly well in the tryouts for their events. McCoy is an outstanding pole vaulter, having cleared 12 feet 7 inches officially and Thomas is accredited with running the mile in 4 minutes, 36 seconds.
Smith who was the mainstay for the Twin Falls high school track team for several years is also helping brighten up the Frosh sprint material. He has words of speed and stamina and might try one of the longer sprints this season.

"Knucks Down Kid—Stealies Up—Stick in"

Spring is a time of ceaseless activity—activity of the wrong kind. Some of the men get the urge. Moonlight, a kiss—you know—romance and dreams. Others are content with a bit of baseball or football. But to cap the climax others are reverting to the old days and the kid games.

The Beta Chis and S. A. Es are going to hold a marble contest. The winners will officially challenge all groups on the campus to decide the intramural marble championship of Idaho. The champions will receive no points or a loving cup—just glory, the ambition of any novice.

The rules laid down by the innovators are as follows:
1. Each contest is to be played in a ten-foot ring.
2. No tans larger than a baseball are allowed.
3. Fudging draws a ten-swat penalty.
4. Varsity men are ineligible.
5. Knee pads and knuckle protectors are barred.
Dates for the games will be assigned this week.

BEAVER SWIMMERS MEET COAST TEAMS

Oregon State College, Corvallis.—Oregon State swimmers accompanied by John Kenney, their coach, will leave here Thursday on a road trip that will take them as far as Vancouver, B. C.
The Orangemen will meet Multnomah club in Portland Thursday night and take on Tacoma Y. M. C. A. at Tacoma, the following night. Saturday they will meet the Crystal Garden Swimming club of Victoria, B. C. and Monday the Vancouver All-Stars.

In addition to the regular swimming events, a water polo game will also be played with each team. Oregon State has had a slump in swimming here the last few years but is rapidly coming to the top again. This year the Orangemen split two meets with Oregon.

Women of Port of Spain, Trinidad, will not camouflage themselves during lent. A pastoral letter from the bishop forbids the use of cosmetics during the period of fast. Neither can they attend the theater, cinema, or dances.

Collapsible Opera Hat Needed by This Unfortunate Male

Sou—ush—oop—uh—hey! And it wasn't the I club impressing upon some frosh that St. Patrick's day meant green stinks. It was an impression, though, but on—let the story tell itself.
An eight o'clock—not many people there—those that are, very, very bored—a man comes in—deposits his hat on the seat in front of him—settles back to sleep.
The girl who sits in front of him comes in—sits—turns to converse with her neighbor—The man starts—mutters something—leans forward—taps the girl on the shoulder—She rises—He extracts the remains of the hat—now resembling a slightly overstuffed waffle—He murmurs "thank you so much."
Somebody remarks in a stage whisper—"he should've had a collapsible opera hat."

FORESTRY BANQUET SPEAKERS NAMED

Abe Goff Chosen Toastmaster for Annual Dinner Monday Evening

Final arrangements for the annual banquet of the Associated Foresters to be held Monday evening at the Blue Bucket inn have been completed, according to Doren Woodward, chairman of the committee in charge.

Nearly 125 students, alumni, faculty members, and prominent men associated with the profession will be present, according to advance indications. Abe Goff, Moscow attorney, will act as toastmaster. Special entertainment including the university quartet, and musical numbers by John Soden's orchestra will be featured. Speakers for the evening are President F. J. Kelly, Mr. E. F. Myrick, supervisor of the St. Joe National forest, and a graduate of the forestry school, who will speak on the activities of the alumni, Paul Wohmen, supervisor of the Clearwater National forest, and E. W. Billings, associated with the Clearwater National forest, who has chosen "Merits of Forestry" as his topic, and James C. Evenden, Coeur d'Alene, entomologist, and president of the Rocky Mountain division of the Society of American Foresters.
The committee in charge of arrangements is Doren E. Woodward, chairman, Jack Hume, and Russell LeBaron.

COUGARS READY FOR SCRIMMAGE

Season's First Action on Gridiron in W. S. C. Camp Will Be Seen Saturday

Washington State College. With three weeks of practice left, the Washington State varsity squad is almost ready to begin scrimmage. According to Coach Hollingbery, the first scrimmage will be held Saturday between members of last year's squad and the new members of last year's frosh team. Following this first mixup the personnel of the two outfits will be changed and the men mixed up into two squads resembling the Crimson and Gray teams of last year.

A great deal of time has been spent so far on learning plays and in teaching the new men the Hollingbery style of play. By Saturday the regulars, who have just started turning out, should be ready to go and the underclassmen will meet the old timers. Hollingbery says the chill wind of the open field makes the men appreciate the comparatively cozy warmth of the new field house, but the sod gridiron will probably be the scene of the rest of the practices if the weather holds out. Before the end of the spring workouts there will be two or

CHARIOT DRIVERS GET ULTIMATUM

More than a dozen drivers of campus flivvers were given a jolt Monday when a state patrolman, Robins, visited the campus and issued an edict, requiring all cars to wear their proper license tags. The "wreck skippers" were told to report at the courthouse and procure licenses or to keep their cars in storage.

One warning is all the traffic department will issue. All violators from today on, will be ticketed and fined. A fine of $10 plus the cost of the arrest and a new license is the customary charge for violation of the regulation.
Robins was surprised to find how many students thought they could get by without complying. The checkup is to continue during the week.

BASEBALL UNDER WAY FOR SURE THIS WEEK

Vandal baseball candidates will probably get down to work in earnest some time this week. Rich Fox could not be reached last night but, according to an announcement made by the Idaho coach before he went to Pocatello for the interscholastic basketball tournament, the Idaho tossers will be called out this week.

With ideal weather on hand several of the batterymen have been warming up on MacLean field daily and the fielders will probably be called out some time this week.

Two thousand soap sculptures are being exhibited by the art class at Butler University.
