Panting in the Spring

WOMEN are criticized for spending too much time with their wearing apparel but the question of what to put on for spring months is not worrying the coeds half as much as it is the underclassmen of the campus. Moleskins, whipcords and campus tradition are at the mat again. What the properly dressed sophomore should be wearing when an "I" man appears should be decided soon if the last nine weeks of the semester are not to see a turmoil of many sorts and colors of pants, a row between the two underclasses as to what group should adopt which, and an inactive dilemma on the part of the "I" club as to who is violating campus law.

Wednesday evening the sophomores tentatively decided that they favored adoption of moleskins as a distinctive trouser for second year classes to come. They disliked to adopt them for the remainder of this year because the prospect of stepping into corduroys next fall is more gratifying than the thought of having to make a large round zero of five dollars if the moleskins are taken up now.

Moleskins are now being seen frequently on freshmen. Such is the accustomed dress of yearlings on many other campi today. Whipcords are recognized as distinguished dress for sophomores in the same schools. Corduroys are reserved everywhere for upperclassmen.

Last fall the "I" club took action against allowing sophomores to wear whipcords. That was that. The idea was nipped in the bud because the whipcords too closely resembled real cords. Reports from several neighboring institutions are to the effect that trouble is being caused there by that very fact—not enough distinction between whipcords and cords. It is practically certain that cords will not give way. Idaho is wise in keeping the whipcords out until upperclassmen no longer want to be known by their pants.

The freshman class should decide for itself whether moleskins are to be worn by the sophomores next year. The verdict should not come from the sophomores. If neither class takes up the matter the "I" club might decide for them.

Meantime underclassmen are wearing anything and everything as usual.

Pearl-less Oysters of Wisdom

HANTS on how to study for quizzes contained in a story on another page have sound advice from faculty members but they solve no problems for the student. "Study during the entire nine weeks" say the faculty, say group house scholarship president, say parents, say students themselves. Such infallible words of wisdom butter no parsnips for the man and woman starting exam week without having studied more than three of the nine weeks period. Those who have studied don't need any advice about the best procedure to follow in cracking quizzes. They are sinches to get by and they know it.

Telling a student to prepare for a quiz by studying faithfully for half a semester is like telling a drowning man the best way to normal life is not to have gone in the water, or instructing a truck driver how to fix a puncture by telling him the avoid rocks, glass, and nails.

The bird of knowledge has been out of the cage for nine weeks. How best can the average student entice it back for the duration of quiz week? If we know—if anybody knows—the idea would be worth millions.

It is not the business of the faculty to tell students who have not studied how to hit their quizzes. If, however, they would drop a sensible hint or two their cooperation would be reflected in attitude of students later. No amount of lecturing can force a student body of 1800 students to work conscientiously for nine weeks, let alone nine months.

"You should have studied" brings no gleam of hope.

Back From the Dead

NEBRASKA is still having difficulties with politics. Last week class elections took place. Officers, however, were deprived of the satisfaction of being the "big-shots" of their various groups by action of the student council which declared the election null and void and abolished class elections for the future.

The beginning of a step in somewhat the same direction was occasioned on the Idaho campus early in the semester but it was not necessary for such drastic action to be taken. The stir of dissatisfaction at the way things had been running themselves apparently started a swing back to active class functions. The Junior class is really busy preparing for Junior Week. Committees are meeting frequently. The spark of life is being fanned.

The same is true of the sophomores and seniors. Both class presidents are out to put class organizations back on the campus map. Sophomore mixers, plans for the frolic and senior class arrangements for the annual picnic and graduation ceremonies are ahead of former schedules. Freshmen are also coming from their coma. Class officers are finding themselves with real jobs on their hands. That's the way it should be. The office should not be created for the man, but to fill a real need on the campus.

Students at the University of Kansas, where the cheating epidemic is said to be worse than anywhere else in the nation, eat less during examinations than any other period of the year, says the manager of the student cafe there. No reason is given in explanation unless it may be that the Kansas cribbers find that horse feed takes most of their spending money while quizzes are on. Ponies can't live on wild oats.

Picking out picnic spots is decidedly more popular than picking out principal parts. The contest is on in full swing between nature and education.

A sorority riding contest was a feature at the Ohio State college livestock show. The horses should by this time be able to sympathize with the brave young men who take the same coeds to dances each weekend.

The only sure route to a professor's heart is through his hobby. Ride it and the grades follow as the night the day. Scorn it and joggle along in the low "C's".

Daybreak military prospects all remind us of Valley Forge. Not every Idaho youth, however, wants to be father of his country.

The buzz of politics failed to sound as was expected on announcement of nominating date. Tickets are being primed without a doubt, like nobody's "beeziness".

Absence makes the marks grow rounder.

STUDENT OPINION

One of the great discomfitures of going to school at Idaho is the necessity of taking military according to some victims of that sad circumstance. A common occasion about the campus on the days the "monkey suit" must be worn is to see some unfortunate Joe College ambling up the campus walk busily engaged in scratching his legs, this being caused by the none too smooth inside of the military trousers. It does seem a shame that a person should be so inconvenienced on some of the nice warm mornings by the compulsive act of donning a military uniform and soaring forth to the armory to receive instruction, followed by taking morning exercise in the form of walking up and down the campus thirty or forty times with that warm, itching sloppy army uniform on, buttoned up under orders as though the instructors thought you were going to freeze.

One of the common ways of eliminating the discomforts caused by this suit, according to an authority is to wear one's sleeping attire underneath, thus avoiding the itching irritations.

Ten minutes after the dismissal of the regiment a rather unusual thing is to see anyone wearing a monkey suit.

Students I should say are all in favor of this plan for outdoor life of war. Maybe then the compulsory military training would cease and boys in college would be happy on Thursday morning, as well as the rest of the week.

ALPHA ZETA HOLDS INITIATION DINNER

Annual Event Attended by Pullman Chapter Members

In honor of the 13 newly initiated members of the Idaho chapter of Alpha Zeta, a banquet was held at the Moscow hotel last Wednesday evening. About 25 members of the Elliott chapter from Pullman were also present.

The joint banquet is an annual affair, being held at Pullman one year and at Idaho the following one. The toastmaster for the banquet Wednesday night was John Sandmeyer. The main talk of the evening was given by Professor Wakeland of the Idaho entomology department.

Oliver Espe, president of the Idaho chapter, gave a word of welcome to the new initiates. Donald Bell gave the response of the new members.

Pullman Speakers. Shirt talks were given by Arthur Chatman, who also introduced the men from W. S. C. and Tony Harms, both of the Elliott chapter of Alpha Zeta.

Dean Johnson of the Agriculture club at the Washington State college and Dean Idding of Idaho also gave short talks.

In conclusion a gift as a token of appreciation for the work done and the interest shown in the local chapter of Alpha Zeta, was given to Professor Anderson of the dairy department who is transferring to the extension department at Boise.

Officers of the fraternity are: Oliver Espe, president; Clement suit, vice president; George Johnson, secretary; Harold Waters, treasurer; and Austin Summers, historian.

TWO IDAHO MEN AT DEBATE MEET

Forensic Conference in Program at Tucson, Arizona; Herndon and Martin Represent Gem State

An Idaho debate team composed of Paris Martin and Charles Herndon, has been for the last three days at Tucson, Arizona which is the seat of the Pacific Coast Forensic Conference. Mr. Martin is entered in the extemporaneous speaking contest and Mr. Herndon in the oratorical division of the conference.

According to Thelma Melgarde, debate manager, no word has been received from the team as to the outcome of their contests of words in the conference. Prior to the meet at Tucson the team debated at the University of Montana at Missoula, Montana State college at Bozeman and the University of Denver, Colorado.

At the University of Denver a split team debated resulting in Martin and Herndon opposing each other. After the debate open forum was held and the teams were opened to cross-questioning by members of the audience.

Today is the last day of the forensic conference.

HOME EC. HONORARY INITIATES MEMBERS

Phi Upsilon Omicron Takes in Eight Women at Its Last Meeting.

Phi Upsilon Omicron, national home economics honorary, initiated eight women at its last meeting. The initiates were Lois Fredrickson, Valetta L'Harrison, Josephine Kincaid, Maxine Thornhill, Irene Luke, Marjorie Griffith, Beth Wood and Violet Bohman. A formal banquet at the Moscow hotel followed the initiation ceremony.

Poonok Kim, a Korean girl who is a senior at Oregon State college, spoke on the needs for home economics work in the Korean schools and the opportunities for girls trained in this line.

CO-EDS ORGANIZE TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Eighty-Five Candidates Turn Out For Indoor Ball Practice on Campus Green.

Idaho women are enthusiastic exponents of baseball, according to Miss Verna MacDonald, their coach. This is the second week of practice and so far about eighty-five have turned out. Bad weather has necessitated indoor practicing. However, games are being scheduled which will be played at 4:45 in front of the president's office almost every evening.

Miss MacDonald urges that all houses should schedule their dates for intramural games immediately. The blank date list is posted in the women's gymnasium.

Hays hall is looking for an opponent for Tuesday, April 1. Foreney hall for Friday, April 4. Interclass tournaments will start in four weeks.

"AG" ANNUAL OUT WITHIN TWO WEEKS

"Idaho Agriculturist" Goes to Press Next Week, Says Kenneth Platt, Editor.

The annual issue of the "Idaho Agriculturist" will go to press next week according to Kenneth Platt, editor. This magazine contains a resume of the activities of the agriculture college for the past year, besides articles on recent developments in scientific farming. Contributed articles come from graduates of Idaho who are employed in outstanding work throughout the state.

The issue will be illustrated with cuts of the school and experiments carried on during the past year.

The "Idaho Agriculturist" is distributed to all schools in the state using the Smith-Hughes plan, alumni, and all agriculture colleges in the country.

SPOKANE MECCA FOR EDUCATORS

Idaho Faculty to Take Part in Teachers' Convention as Speakers

Extensive preparations are being made for the thirty-second annual session of the Inland Empire Education association, to be held in Spokane April 9, 10, and 11.

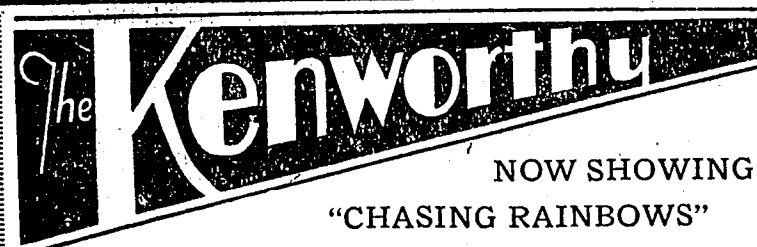

Members of the university faculty who will speak at this meeting are Dean J. F. Messenger, on "Vocational and Liberal Education"; Dr. J. W. Barton, on "Implications of Behaviorism for Education, Ethics, and Criminology"; Claude W. Ashby, "A Reading Technique in Elementary Foreign Language Instruction at the University of Idaho"; Dr. Henrietta Trommhauser, "The Challenge in Internationalism for the Study of Foreign Languages"; Professor T. S. Kerr, "Tariffs and International Relations"; and Miss Dorothy Ellis, formerly state supervisor of the Idaho Home Economics association who will speak on "Training for Homemaking in Indian Schools."

STUDY COURSES TO BE CHANGED

Idaho High School System Will be Revamped, Says Dean Messenger

Summer school courses at the university this summer will be devoted in part to preparation of the proposed new course of study for Idaho high schools, according to announcement by Dean J. F. Messenger, director. Courses will run for six weeks, beginning June 10 and closing July 18.

Teachers from Idaho schools will form 10 committees to work on the new high school course, under direction of Dr. R. D. Russell, professor of secondary education at the university. Members of these committees, it is announced, will be required to take a university course in curriculum construction. This course may be taken in summer school, by correspondence, or at the regular session.

SOCIETY

Lillie Gallagher, Editor, Phone 2178

In spite of nine weeks examinations, this week has been characterized by a series of diversified entertainments.

Sigma Alpha Iota entertained Tuesday evening with a fireside and musicale at the Kappa Alpha Theta house in honor of all the women students enrolled in music. Pledging of four girls immediately preceded the fireside.

The visit paid to the campus by Mrs. Eva Hunt Dockery and Mrs. Rose Gigan of Boise was the occasion of a reception held at Hays hall Wednesday afternoon. Many faculty members and students went "a-teasing" to meet the honored guests.

On Wednesday evening the Junior mixer at the Blue Bucket was well attended. Dancing, a program, a business meeting, and a prize awarded for the dirtiest cords were interesting events of the affair.

Last night the Blue Key entertained at a novel initiation banquet and program at the Blue Bucket following the initiation of six new members.

On schedule for tonight are the Tau Kappa Epsilon formal and the Spur semi-formal dances. Tau Kappa Epsilon will hold its dance at the Blue Bucket, while the Spur dance will take place at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house. Exhaustive efforts have been put forth to make both affairs all that one could desire in social functions.

Tomorrow evening the Alpha Tau Omega formal dance at the chapter house holds much in store for those who "rate". The Gamma Phi Beta informal, also at the chapter house, and the Tau Men Aleph initiation dance, to be held at the L. D. S. seminary are other highly anticipated events on schedule tomorrow evening.

BLUE KEY DINNER HONORS NEW INITIATES

Blue Key entertained at an informal dinner party at the Blue Bucket Thursday evening in honor of the six new initiates of the organization. Dancing and a very clever program were arranged for by Cecil Hagen and George McDonald who were in charge of the affair. Speeches were made by Cedric d'Easum and Robert St. Clair were well-timed and witty. New initiates were Wilford Young, Russell Randall, Kenneth Egbert, Charles Graybill, Harold Carlson, and Gerald Grimm.

Guests were Colonel and Mrs. E. R. Chrisman, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Buchanan, Dorothy Frederickson, Bethel Packenham, Freda White, Catherine Fork Zelda Newcomb, Ruth Newhouse, Arline Johnson, Beulah Papesch, Edith Bradshaw, Grace Parsons, Catherine Leute, Margaret Watson, Beatrice Stalker, Ruth Norberg, Hazel Simonds, Jessie Little, Irby Lou Dunlap, Betty Driscoll, Lillie Gallagher, Mary Brosnan, Ardith Mellinger, Katherine Beam, Elizabeth Gilmore and Laura Clark.

Kappa Sigma dinner guests Wednesday night were Mrs. I. K. Smith, Julia Hunter, Fidelia Harmon, Margaret Scott, Bernice Parish, Katherine Hart, Beryl Davis, Irene Russel, Jean Tedford, Lorna Moore, Catherine Steele and Margaret Morrow.

Beta Theta Pi entertained the following at dinner Wednesday evening: Margaret Barton, Blanche Evans, Dorothy Gooch, Neva Yager, Camille Harris, Elaine Cash, Hazel Stellman, Ruth Goodwin, Ada Mary Little and Isabel Lange.

Wednesday evening dinner guests of Delta Chi were Mrs. E. Given, Grace Parsons, Catherine Leute, Mary Brosnan, Betty Wilson, Vivian Wilson, Kathryn Collins, Helen Whitehouse, Millie Walker, Florence Rohrer, Constance Woods, and Esther Johnston.

Wednesday dinner guests of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were Mrs. Clark, Edith Edmund, Helene Hilliker, Lucile Cris, Lottie Mae Mitchell, Daisy Moore, Lucile Glindeman, Emma Mae Everest, and Florence Redman.

Esther Percy of Lewiston is visiting at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

Wednesday evening dinner guests of Alpha Tau Omega were Lois Miller, Mary Gillespie, Audrey Anderson, Juanita Maston, Beatrice Gibbs, Marcella Kramer, Ruth Miller, Dorothy Torgerson, Ruth Ragan, Helen Maston, and Mrs. Benham.

Alpha Chi Omega dinner guests on Thursday evening were Clyde Ralby, James Mitchell, Charles Cheney, Adolph Nilsen, Darla White, Chud Wendle, William Ehnis, Raymond Davidson, Carl Lettie, and Marvin Olsor.

Sunday dinner guests of Sigma Chi were Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, Professor and Mrs. J. H. Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Peace of Payette were guests of Sigma Chi Sunday and Monday.

Dinner guests of Gamma Phi Beta on Wednesday evening were Miss Helen Kersey, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. von Ende, Mr. and Mrs. Scott, and Dean and Mrs. W. E. Master-son.

Beta Theta Pi announces the pledging of Raymond James Flynn, Burgdorf, and Tom Wall, Lewiston.

Weekend guests of Beta Theta Pi were Miss Evelyn Olson and Miss Helen Pickrel, of the University of Washington.

Dr. J. W. Barton and Harold Sprague were dinner guests of Beta Theta Pi Tuesday.

Charles Scoggin and John Torgerson were Tuesday evening dinner guests of Beta Chi. Professor C. W. Chenoweth was a dinner guest of Beta Chi Wednesday evening.

HOME EC. DISTRICT CONVENTION APRIL 5

Northern Division Will Convene in Moscow on Saturday.

The northern district of the Idaho Home Economics association will hold its annual meeting Saturday, April 5, at the Moscow hotel. Katherine Jensen, district councillor, will preside.

The forenoon will be given over to the business meeting and reports from student home economics club representatives from the high schools of the state. The afternoon will include a talk by Dr. R. M. Mosher on "The Value of an Education." Hattie Abbott, district demonstration agent, will speak on modern trends in extension work. Mrs. Stanley Smith of Pullman will address the assembly on the subject of "Home Economics and the Home Maker." A large number of home economics high school members are expected in for this meeting.

In the evening there will be a formal banquet at which the university home economics club will be hostess. About a hundred will be present, including home economics students and the out-of-town visitors.

CO-EDS ATTEND PULLMAN BANQUET

Theta Sigma Sends Delegates to Women Journalists Meeting.

Shirley Cunningham and Elsie Warm were elected delegates to represent Theta Sigma at the Theta Sigma Matrix Table which will be given at Pullman tonight.

The Matrix Table is an annual banquet given to interested women of Washington State college in journalism. A prominent speaker is always engaged to address this gathering. Cynthia Gray, of the Spokane Press, will be the speaker this evening. She conducts an "advice to the lovelorn" column in the Spokane paper, and is prepared to present interesting and amusing sidelights of the journalistic career. Plans for a Matrix Table to be given by Theta Sigma were discussed at the meeting of that organization on Monday. Hannah Hinsdale, formerly a writer for the Spokesman-Review, was suggested as a speaker. About two hundred invitations will be sent to prominent women of the campus and town.

Theta Sigma is the local women's journalistic honorary. The organization is petitioning for a national charter in Theta Sigma Phi.

"Students who earn high grades in college are not those who earn high salaries in their life endeavors," said Prof. G. C. Brandenburg of Purdue. He further stated that "it pays to be impressive, agreeable, but not too intellectual."

MEN'S BASEBALL ENTERS FINALS

Kappa Sigs Defeat Lindley Hall to Enter "B" League Champions

Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Theta upset dope to win from Lindley hall and Ridenbaugh hall in the mid-week intramural baseball games. The win gives Kappa Sigma the right to play the Sigma Nu's for the championship of "B" league. The Phi Delta victory puts them in the lead in the consolation. Kappa Sigma barely nosed out Lindley hall 12 to 10 Tuesday in the semi-finals. The game was close with the lead alternating every inning. Estes and McCauley turned in star performances for winners, while Hall was the mainstay of the Lindley nine. This is the second victory for the Kappa Sigs.

The Phi Deltas developed a battery since their last game that outsmarted Ridenbaugh hall 8 to 5 in one of the fastest contests played in the gymnasium. The game was comparable to outdoor baseball as far as fast and foxy pitching is concerned. Colville, Phi Del, was responsible for their tossing while Terwilliger did the good work for Ridenbaugh hall.

Beta Chi will tackle Sigma Alpha Epsilon, April 2, for the championship of "A" league. The following evening the Kappa Sigs and the Sigma Nu's will decide the championship of the "B" group. Some time later in the week the finals will be played.

BLAIR REPORTS GEM MAKEUP ADVANCING

Delayed Activity Sheets Must Be Returned Immediately, Says Associate Editor

Wayne Blair, associate editor of The Gem of the Mountains, when interviewed Thursday, said that the composition staff was making good progress in the make-up of the Gem pages. However, Mr. Blair said that while most seniors had returned their activity blanks, several juniors had failed to do so. This must be done immediately if they are to be used in the Gem.

In explanation of the absence of several pictures from the yearbook, the associate editor said that out-of-town photographs could not be used. Also, there are several students who did not return the preferred proof to the photographer. In either case it is not possible for the pictures to appear in the Gem.

TIMBER OF FUTURE DEPENDS ON SPLIT OF PUBLIC DOMAIN

Forest Supervisor Explains Need of Action by Federal Government

Topics pertinent to forestry were discussed and solutions to cope with vital problems concerning the present status of forestry offered at the third annual convocation of the Society of American Foresters, Northern Rocky Mountain region, in Morrill hall Monday. The conference was attended by 35 forestry officials and prominent lumbermen of the Inland Empire as well as a group of students enrolled in the school of forestry.

James C. Evender, Coeur d'Alene, entomologist and regional vice president of the forestry society, presided over the session.

A topic that commanded widespread interest among those in attendance at the meeting was "The Future of the Unappropriated Public Domain." C. K. McHarg, supervisor of the Coeur d'Alene National forest, who read a paper on the topic, suggested that a survey be made of the 290,000,000 acres of unappropriated land now situated in 11 western states and that the acreage be classed as desert, forested or fit for grazing, before any attempts be made to dispose of this vast acreage.

Fight With Mines

Mr. McHarg ventured that within ten years the federal government would relinquish certain portions of this domain to private individuals. Mineral rights on this domain, however, will probably never be surrendered, he said. Three methods of disposition of this land were suggested by the speaker viz. through government and state regulation, and regulation wherein the state could lease the land to private individuals. McHarg declared that the forested areas should be retained in possession of the federal government.

For Administration

E. G. Wieschuegel, professor of Forestry, who gave the opening address advocated a sales tax on lumber and forest products to net annually $200,000,000 for purposes of administering a wise forest policy.

Such a tax, Wieschuegel declared, could be operated to advantage, similar to the gasoline tax, and would provide a source of income to permit forestry control on a national scope. The proposed tax does not mean that the lumber producer but to directly affect the consumer through enhanced prices on lumber and forest products.

A. D. Decker, Potlatch Lumber Co., followed Wieschuegel's address with the topic, "An adequate Forestry Policy for the United States." Decker maintained the stand that we should conduct our forest practices by facts and not by public sentiments. He stated he was not in accord with a sales tax and his statement was confirmed by A. A. Segerston, also conducted by the School of Forestry; in an effort to seek adequate means for the disposal of slash on merchantable timber stands. Professor Kempff depicted two categories of slash disposal problem and cited each technically. A discussion on the subject was led by C. L. Billings of the Clearwater Timber Co.

The meeting adjourned following a short session of forestry officials.

COED DEBATE TEAM TO MEET MEN CHAMPS

An agreement has been reached between the Delta Gamma sorority, winner of the co-ed intramural debate, and Lindley Hall, winner of the men's division, regarding the date of a debate between the two teams. The time will be fixed Monday according to Walter Slaughter, intramural debate manager. The debaters for the D. G.'s are Elizabeth Taylor and Kathryn Collins; for Lindley hall, Earl Stansell and Weldon Schimke.

Frosh Baseball Resumed This Year

Aspirants for the rook diamond squad will report for practice late next month following termination of spring grid practice, announced Coach Glenn J. Jacoby.

It is understood that several promising ball players are in the ranks of the yearlings and that a fairly formidable nine will be organized. No games have been arranged. W. S. C. has no frosh baseball this spring.

The outlook for freshman baseball is not too bright, however, as few of the potential diamond performers have had opportunity to play on prep teams. Frosh baseball was added to the sport curriculum this spring after a lapse of a year in which varsity baseball was the only branch of diamond activity offered.

TRACKMEN POINT FOR QUADRANGULAR MEET APRIL 19

Tryouts in W. S. C. Field House Raise Coach Anderson's Hopes

MEN GET OUTDOORS

Dry Cinders Boost Chances of Vandal Men in First Scored Meet

As the time approaches for the quadrangular track and field meet at Walla Walla, the date of which has been changed from April 26 to April 19, the Vandals prospects grow brighter and men who did not place at Pullman against the Cougars last Saturday, from present indications, will give more competition in the coming meet.

The schools included in the meet at Walla Walla are Whitman, Gonzaga, W. S. C. and Idaho.

The men upon whom the Vandals chances hinge in this meet are turning out daily, some in Lewis court, where the jumping pits are located, and others out on MacLean field, although the practicing of baseball is slightly impeding the progress of drying up the field without leaving large holes from baseball spikes.

Weather Aids em.

If Old Man Weather does not become riled up again and present conditions prevail, the outdoor track will be sufficiently dry to be tamped down and raked by the staff of managers in a short time. The track is very soggy and a good deal of work will have to be done on it before Vandal track aspirants will dare venture in it without being afraid of sinking in.

Coach Otto Anderson, Idaho track director, although not too confident about the outcome of the meet at Walla Walla has hopes that

Idaho men will take several firsts in the meet. "I was not surprised Friday and Saturday," he said, nor disappointed at the outcome of the practice meets at Pullman last week. "Some men whom I did not expect so much from were the best and many came up to what I expected. The Cougars have a good team and will come out the victors in more than one track meet this season."

June Hanford and Sig Jossis, varsity sprinters, showed that they were not slow when running against Wes Foster, W. S. C.'s invincible dash man, last Saturday and will probably give him more competition at Walla Walla. Bernard Lemp and Norman Alvord, the Vandals stellar hurdlers, both ran very good races, and with a few more weeks under the tutelage of Coach Anderson, who was a hurdler at Southern California, both men will probably kick over the "dope bucket" in the meet at Walla Walla. Charles Heath, two-miler, showed his heels to the field at Pullman Saturday and will probably continue to do so.

Idaho is very weak in some events and the limited number of men out for these events necessitates the building up of first place material in other races.

WOMEN'S TENNIS TOURNAMENT ON ROCKS

Women's tennis will begin as soon as enough players register, according to Katherine Roe, recently appointed manager. There will be a schedule and roster posted on the bulletin board in the Administration building and in the women's gymnasium. New playing rules will also be posted in the gymnasium. All women interested in the game are eligible to register. It is important that all players read the new rules, because definite changes have been made since last year, said Miss Roe.

Many women have already expressed their interest, and the manager feels that the tournament will be a success.

JOBLESS WOMEN CALLED PARASITES

Mrs. E. H. Dockery Tells of Places That Can be Filled By "Weak" Sex

"Every woman should be doing some kind of remunerative work; women who are not earning are parasites upon their husbands, fathers, or brothers," was the message given by Mrs. Eva Hunt Dockery to the university women at a special assembly Wednesday.

University women do not need to take the pin money jobs but should aspire for those requiring skilled labor. Especially is this idea prevalent abroad where it is felt that the college woman has the cultural background that is needed in business. Forty-one per cent of the wealth in the United States is controlled by women," said Mrs. Dockery, "so that to handle this wisely they must be versed in business and economics."

Mrs. Dockery spent some time in Europe last summer on the second good will trip of the Business and Professional Women clubs of America. In each country the American party was entertained by European business women so that Mrs. Dockery spoke to the university women of material she had gained by observation and conversation with the leading women of Europe.

England Blazes Trail.

Ladies forum in England is the trail blazer for women politics. Such a thing as this Mrs. Dockery feels is needed among American women. It is women with money that have time to spend who can help in the diplomatic services and bring about a better relationship between the United States and the foreign countries.

In Italy Mrs. Dockery was asked by the women if American women were happy and if their husbands were true. The Italians had seen American movies and with their own life experience they had deducted that it was impossible for the American woman to be really happy.

"Women are becoming travel minded; it is impossible to rub shoulders with others and not acquire new ideas. The world is becoming travel minded, which means education which will eventually lead to world peace."

In a short business meeting Mary Murphy was elected editor of the Co-ed Argonaut, and a nominating committee for A. W. S. was appointed. Lucile Glindeman, chairman; Ruth Newhouse, Clarice Anderson, Elva Duncan, Dorothy Fredrickson, Elsie Warm, Jessie Little, make up the group. Election date has not been set.

The women's sextette, composed of Elizabeth Gilmore, Ruth Johnson, Marian Lewis, Elnor Jacobs, Lois Thompson, and Valetta L'Herrison, sang, and Ruth-Newhouse played two violin selections.

Zelda Newcomb, A. W. S. president, presided.

Forty-six per cent of the men and twenty-three per cent of the women earn part or all of their college expenses at Purdue university.
