Figures Don't Lie But They Don't Tell The Whole Truth

GROUP grade reports released last weekend told the same old story—women get the best grades. As has been noted before, the lowest women's group average was above the highest men's average. The natural conclusion of the statistics is that women are more intelligent than men.

In view of such evidence the men who are constantly criticizing the women for their lack of interest in things intellectual must take a place in the shade. Grade averages tell no lies. What the averages do not tell is how the grades were earned. Such interesting reports would reveal more of the intellectual power of women and give man a chance to justify his claim to mental equality.

Chivalry still exists in the breasts and on the class record books of professors. Few of them are able to do justice to feminine students. The benefit of the doubt always favors the soft-soaping, rouged, silk hosed, becoming coed. Men who object to such a system of raising grades from "C" to "B" or "B" to "A" would do the same thing were they in the professors' shoes when a coed with a good line of hokum and body by Ziegfeld came for an interview about grades.

This mere feminine trait of taking every advantage of natural abilities cannot account for all the difference in grade averages. Few women will admit that it accounts for any. Few professors will admit that they give grades in any such manner. The idea shocks them. It can't be so. If it isn't they aren't human.

Women aren't more intelligent—grades to the contrary. Women study more. Their regulations of living are more conducive to study. Activities do not take up so much of their time. Some women, of course, take part in nearly everything that comes and goes and still make good grades. They are the exception. Women must admit that there is not the athletic diversion to take them from their books. For every Saturday afternoon a coed spends at a football game fifty men have to work out six afternoons. For every hour a coed sits in the gymnasium and makes wise cracks about the Vandal basketball team fifteen or twenty men are sweating three hours a day for six days. Baseball and track are the same way. Intramural sports take a lot of time for men.

In social activities the men and women are at a stand off. The weak and gold-digging sex cannot claim time lost on that score. For every date there is at least one man in the best regulated social activities.

The grade reports are astounding. How the average woman can look so dumb for eighteen weeks and then hatch out an average that shames the male population is beyond the realm of logic.

Six of the nine students making straight "A" averages were women. These six, like the three corresponding men, are entitled to all the credit they get. Making a straight "A" is not easy. Clara Bow herself would have to study a little. Men don't incline to scholarship. Women hold it as one of the best targets the university has to shoot at. They succeed in spite of their intelligence, rather than because of it.

The supposition that the dullest woman is smarter than the brightest man is entirely false. The reverse is not true either. Neither group is in the seventh heaven of intellectual attainment. The figures do not show the equality of intelligence that really exists.

Wanted: Real Competition

STUDENTS who will control the A.S.U. next year will be nominated in assembly tomorrow morning. The entire student body may take part in the nominations and in the elections that follow April 17 and May 1. The importance of nominating suitable candidates at the nominating assembly is evident. There may be dozens of men and women with ability equal to that of any students on the campus. There may be several who are brilliant along such lines as would materially assist the government of the student body. Unless they are nominated they will not have an opportunity to run for such office.

It is a well known fact that the ticket of one party will be very much in evidence from nominating assembly to general elections. No party, however, can pick out all the good men and women on the campus. In selecting their candidates the Alpha party undoubtedly had difficulties in some cases. Whether or not the best candidates have been selected can only be determined if opposition is brought up.

Unanimous votes are inspiring to a candidate if he is assured that he is really the choice of the students—not being placed in office to satisfy the political interests of the group with which he is affiliated. Unless there is active opposition the position is cheapened, the candidate feels that he is not being given a fair chance to run.

Officials who feel that they have been shoved into office rather than proved their capabilities and superior abilities by receiving more votes of the electing body than other persons named for the same position will not consider the position as seriously as otherwise.

The party in power does pick capable men and women for a majority of positions. Where the combine falls down and becomes irksome to other factions on the campus is in the selection of a candidate from a group which has no men or women qualified for the position. Another group might have six or eight outstanding students. The ability of all but one or two is sacrificed for the spirit of brotherly love in putting the weak group candidate in office.

The first step toward making the 1930 spring elections a success is to nominate the best students. Opposition is the spice of any race. Trackmen would have hollow joy in running a race with no other men on the cinders. There wouldn't be any track team, in fact, if such a condition prevailed.

Clean politics above all, but for the sake of the new officers to be, politics with a tick.

A rut may be a great simplification in that it keeps one from being worn and fretted by unrestricted liberties. And it may be made a track which will guide one to success. It is the rut that one can not see out of that is to be avoided, the rut in which we try to hide.—Purdue Exponent.

Baseball really seems to have been intended as a woman's game. A constant line of meaningless chatter is part of each player's equipment.

Art students have the edge on the rest of the campus these days. An easel, a pot of paints, a cow, beside them grazing in the wilderness, oh wilderness were Paradise, and how!

"Skidding", which is to be produced in the auditorium Thursday and Friday evenings, is not an advertisement for tire chains.

Nine weeks' quizzes aren't quite our idea of a cunning little April fool prank.

Cheap shoes squeak the loudest. So do campus flivers.

LAWYERS TO HEAR JUSTICE BRINCK

Prominent Idaho Judge Coming in May For Lecture on Trial Practice.

Dean E. Brinck, judge of the third judicial district of Idaho, will give a series of lectures to Idaho law students during the first week of May it was announced today by Dean W. E. Masterson, head of the law school. "Trial Practice" will be the subject of Judge Brinck's lectures. Actual practice and procedure hints will be given to the student lawyers.

Judge Brinck is considered one of the outstanding lawyers of the state. He has practiced for many years and has been on the bench for the past five years. He is a graduate of the Iowa university school of law. The series of lectures will supplement a course in procedure which is being offered at Idaho for the first time this year. Plans are being made to have a special lecture on mining law later in the year.

Society has many festivities scheduled for the short time left before spring vacation, after which the thread of activities is resumed with full swing for several weeks.

Last Friday evening Tau Kappa Epsilon held a very pretty spring formal dance at the Blue Bucket. Also that evening, Spurs, sophomore women's service organization, entertained at a semi-formal dance at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

Saturday evening was the date set for the Alpha Tau Omega formal dance at the chapter house. Ferns, and red carnations were effective motifs for decoration. Other dances that evening were the Gamma Phi Beta spring informal at the chapter house and the Tau Mem Aleph initiation dance at the L. D. S. seminary.

The dramatics department's three-act play entitled "Skidding", to be presented on Thursday and Friday evenings, is a promising attraction this week.

Friday evening women's groups of the campus have monopolized the calendar, for on that evening there are four dances scheduled by the fair sex. Delta Delta Delta will give a spring formal dance; Forney hall, a formal dinner dance; and Hays hall and Pi Beta Phi are planning spring informal dances also Friday.

Saturday evening the annual Miami Triad will take place. Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Chi, and Phi Delta Theta, the three groups which were founded at Miami university, join in giving this dance, which bids fair to be one of the season's most prominent informal affairs.

INITIATES HONORED BY GAMMA PHI BETA
Gamma Phi Beta honored its initiates at a spring informal dance at the chapter house Saturday evening. Decorations consisted of green lattices and trellises on which were twined various colored flowers. Guests included Mrs. Inez K. Smith, Mrs. Warren J. Truitt, Miss Katherine Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Max W. Griffith, Lieutenant and Mrs. John W. Sheehy, William Renfrew, Harold Boyer, Galen Willis, Wanek Stein, Ambrose Adams, Kenneth Barrett, Harold Snow, Forrest Irwin, Robert St. Clair, Sebastian Welpert, Dale Goss, Wesley Leach, Ralph Langston, George Green, Winfred Janssen, Elmer Nelson, Robert Vance, Eugene Iverson, Julius Hall, Marvin Holm, Joe Nye, Walter Price, Robert Grant, Fred Robertson, Harry Camp, Harry Robb, Russell Randall, Lester Kirkpatrick, Joe McFarland, Henry Van Haverbeke, Gene Reid, William Hawkins, Jere Long, Louis Lindquist, Ervin Stanley, John Hanson, and Eugene Ware.

Dinner guests of Gamma Phi Beta on Sunday were Rea Ruth Hurst, Seattle, Virginia Gascoigne, Opal Schrack, and Jean Polcell.

Laura Mae Greene, Spokane, was a Sunday guest of Gamma Phi Beta.

FORMAL DANCE BY ALPHA TAU OMEGA
Delta Tau chapter of Alpha Tau Omega held its formal dance at the chapter house Saturday evening. Ferns and flowers formed the motif for the decorations. Special entertainment was rendered during intermission by Regna Campbell and Dorothy Lindsey.

Dean Perneal French, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Calland, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Barton, Mr. Bert Hopkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brenn, were the patrons and patronesses. Guests were Maxine Birlew, Ruby Pool, Violet Adams, Harriette Lundgren, Ardith Mellinger, Eleanor Berglund, Jewell Leighton, Grace Parsons, Louise Dunlap, Georgetta Miller, Elsie Warm, Austa White, Jesse Little, Pauline Paterka, Anne Johnson, Helen Newman, Daisy Moore, Julia Hunter, Lois Miller Bertha Moore, Mary Brosnan, Aurel Laxton, Fay Wilson, Jane Maxwell, Louise Mulliner, Bernice Schwerdfeld, Mabel Bithell, Betty Wilson, Juanita Maston, Caryl Thompson, Marcella Winters, Florence Coughlin, Helen Whitehouse, Lois Thompson, Maude Galloway, Ellen Jack, Vera May Barker, Belle Porterfield, Ellen Chandler, Helen Hanson, Ruth Turner, Esther Thompson, Flora Corkery, Katherine Collins, Louis Morley, Lela Code, Lillie Gallagher, Bethel Packenham, Lulu Shank, Hazel Simonds, Mrs. R. F. Potter, Lauria Wood, Aldon Tall, Asael Tall, Cedric d'Easum and Ed Poulton.

Out of town guests were Jeanne Adams, Pullman, Eula Bryant, Orofino, Marvin Soderquist, Idaho Falls, an dClair Reem and Donald Randall, Spokane.

Dr. A. R. Soderquist and Marvin Soderquist of Idaho Falls were week end guests of Alpha Tau Omega.

TAU MEM ALEPH INFORMAL SATURDAY
Tau Mem Aleph entertained at an informal dance at the L. D. S. Hall Saturday evening. Futuristic flowers and colored lights were used in the decorations. The music was furnished by Conrad's orchestra. The patrons and patronesses were Major and Mrs. Barton Cruikshank, Prof. and Mrs. Henry Gauss, Prof. and Mrs. G. L. Luke, Prof. and Mrs. W. J. Wilde.

Guests were: Olivia Arneson, Helen Atherstone, Fae Bauscher, Miss Buchanan, Dorothy Carney, Helen Clark, Ruth Daniels, Jean Edmiston, Vivian Edmiston, Elizabeth Fleming, Helen Gaddes, Mary Hall, Leah Harris, Louise Hauck, Wanda Henderson, Helene Hilfiker, Maurine Hoffman, Louva el Stellmon, Katherine Hart, and Patricia Lee.

The fraternity of Phi Gamma Delta entertained the following dinner guests Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Max Griffith, Lieut. and Mrs. John Sheehy, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Mosher, and Mr. Lester Schuidt.

Week-end guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma were Opal Shrock of Spokane, and Jean Polcell of Pullman. Mrs. J. Gilgan, Joseph Gilgan, and Pearl Walters were Sunday dinner guests. Dr. Ella Woods, Mrs. Lenore Scott, and Mrs. J. Gilgan were fireside guests Sunday evening.

Sunday dinner guests of Beta Chi were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Calland, Mr. and Mrs. Rich Fox, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Anderson.

Miss Esther Piercy, Lewiston, and John Torgerson were Monday dinner guests of Beta Chi.

Thursday dinner guests of Pi Beta Phi were Walter Pierre, Edward McBratnev, Richard Moonsey, John Corlett, Louis Jones, Randall Wallace, Robert Beglan, Roland Walker, Milo Axelsson and William Tatro.

Dinner guests of Pi Beta Phi Sunday were Lela Code, Cather-

Encouraging the long distance habit

An interesting example of organization is the development of long distance telephone business. Men and women of the Bell System made this service worthy, and the public has recognized this by its greatly increased usage.

The Bell Laboratories improved the quality of sound transmission by modifying existing apparatus and designing new. Western Electric manufactured the necessary equipment of the highest standards. Operating telephone companies, working with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, shortened the time for completing calls and reduced the rates.

In all a coordinated work, bringing together many and varied activities, and typical of the way in which telephone service is constantly being made a better tool for the nation's needs.

VANDAL TANKMEN LOSE DUAL MEET

Score Tied at Final Race; Idaho Nosey Out by Few Inches

In as thrilling a swimming meet as was ever participated in by an Idaho team, the Vandal splashers were nosed out for first place by the Washington State College tankmen, 32-to-27, in the dual meet in Memorial gym Saturday afternoon.

With the outcome of the water spectacle hinging upon the result of the 220-yard relay event and the count in a deadlock at 27-all, the Cougars emerged victorious when their crack quartet of Morris Webb, Orville Dunn, Lorenzo True and Bill Ross defeated the Vandal relay team by the narrow margin of six-inches. By this narrow margin Idaho lost the meet, thus bowing to the Cougars for the second time this season, the Pullman natators having gained a 38-to-25 verdict earlier in the year.

Relay Close Race

The relay was the closest and most bitterly contested event. Eric Richter gave Idaho a two-yard advantage after completing the first lap and Grimm finished in a tie. Holman wrested back the advantage for Idaho and gave Smith, Idaho's anchor man, several strokes advantage on the final 50-yard lap. Smith was nosed out by a six-inch margin in a thrilling finish that saw first place in the meet go to the visitors. Smith encountered difficulty in completing his turn at the half-way control, enabling his Cougar opponent to whittle down the lead noticeably. Idaho captured firsts in the 200-yard dash and 100-yard backstroke while W. S. C. chalked up firsts in the 50- and 100-yard dashes, 100-yard breast stroke and relay.

Idaho annexed second places in five events, the dives, 50- and 100-yard dashes, 100-yard backstroke, and 100-yard breast-stroke. Holman won first in the 200-yard dash for Idaho and R. Smith copped the 100-yard backstroke event for the Vandals. The 50-yard dash ended in almost a blanket finish with Ross of W.S.C. entertained as a narrow victor over Smith of Idaho while Grimm checked in for a close third.

The visitors took first place in the dives by a narrow margin, when Hunnate, Cougar entry defeated Smith of Idaho, by a fraction of a point, 93.95 to 93.9. Vern Peterson, brilliant Cougar frog natator competed in several of the events which he won with ease but he was not allowed to compete for points. Peterson was a clear victor in the 200-yard dash winning by the comfortable margin of about 20 yards.

COLLEGE DIGEST

Thomas Arkie Clark, dean of men at Illinois and a prominent fraternity leader, believes in the "entire abolition of 'Hell week' and in the judicious use of the paddle." He substitutes the moulding of the pledge socially, mentally, and physically in a common sense program.

During the past two years Purdue has been conducting the experiment of exemptions from final examinations. Last year a few courses had exemptions, and this year the privilege was extended to several more. This spring a ballot on the question will be submitted to the students.

The National Pan-Hellenic congress, in its recent convention at Denver, voted equally for Mrs. Herbert Hoover and Madame Curie as the world's most ideal woman. Helen Keller and Helen Wills were next choices, respectively.

A new tradition has been started at San Mateo Junior college (California). It is a "Whiskerino" contest. Entrants refrain from shaving their beards for two weeks. The prize for the longest beard is a semester pass to a San Mateo theater.

"They are dumb, sophisticated, expensive. In addition to being wild for dates, the women try to play too many men at once, and seem to be here only for a good time." In a Joe and Josephine College dispute at University of Nebraska, the foregoing statements were made by the Joes.

"The age of cynicism on the part of college men and women is passing. There is a greater simplicity in the tastes of college students in amusements, dress, and student activities," said Dr. R. D. Bird, president of Occidental college, Eagle Rock, Cal., in a recent address.

Doctor John Lyman of Nebraska has proved that no harmful results come from kissing, hence enterprising Delta Gamma's at Nebraska will have a kissing booth at the Cornhusker carnival. The Daily Nebraskan states that "They're offering a bargain—only a nickel for two, and no counterfeits either!"

MEN AND WOMEN IN FINAL DEBATE

Delta Gamma and Lindley hall debate teams, winners of the women's and men's intramural divisions will vie for the campus title Monday, April 14, according to Walter Slaughter, manager of intramural debate. The question for the meet will be decided at a conference of the two teams Wednesday evening.

A new plan of judging will be introduced at the final debate in order to prevent any possible chance of partiality, the teams decided yesterday afternoon. The plan suggested was that of allowing the audience to act as the third judge. The debaters of the D. G.'s are Elizabeth Taylor and Kathryn Collins while Earl Stansell and Weldon Shimke will constitute the Lindley hall team.

IDAHO WILL END DEBATE IN APRIL

Oregon Appears Here For Last Meet of Men's Forensic Calendar.

Idaho's debate team, Paris Martin and Howard Ballif will oppose a team from the University of Oregon in the auditorium April 8, arguing the affirmative on the proposition "Resolved: That the nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament except such forces as are needed for police protection."

This will be the last men's debate on the Idaho calendar. The team returns Thursday from Los Angeles where they debated the University of Southern California. According to Thelma Melgard, Idaho debate manager, the Oregon team has two clever orators and the debate should prove interesting.

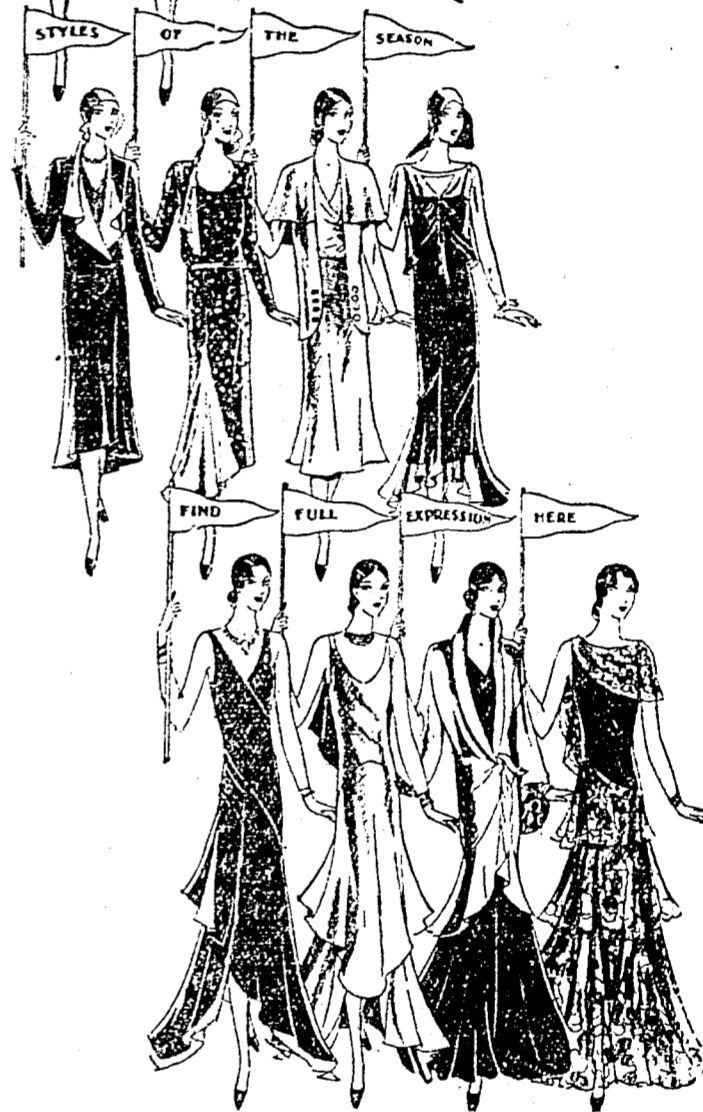

Each year the graduating class at Purdue presents the university with some lasting memorial to show their appreciation of the benefits received from the institution. Two former memorials are known as the '97 gate and the '03 fountain.

SPRING FASHION PARADE

have one thing in common—an innate love for the "new" in fashions. No matter what her vocation or station in life may be . . . she will always be eager to see the newest fashion conceits and, of course, she will invariably be the first to approve and accept them.

We feel sure that every woman who attends this display of New Fashions will instantly acclaim and accept these charming 1930 designs in lovely new wearables. Coats, suits, dresses, shoes, hose, gloves, and millinery. Never have we had the pleasure of offering to our patrons such unusual and distinctive fashions as you will see displayed here. Come . . . see this Spring Fashion Parade. You'll find the prices are pleasingly low.
