Editor's Note:
 The following editorials were written by candidates for the position of managing editor of The Argonaut. Subjects were chosen by the writers.

WHILE progressive western colleges and universities are lopping off out-grown customs which, for several decades, have masqueraded as traditions, Idaho continues to brandish her sword, feebly enough, 'tis true, in defense of an atrocious set of rules which tell her male students what they may or may not wear until they have reached their senior year. By this time even the "tradition hounds" realize that a man should be able to clothe himself sufficiently. And the "I" club, with unusual insight, continues to enforce these rules whenever enough interest can be aroused among its members to hold a meeting on the Ad. building steps, thinking all the time, that the crowd which gathers to witness the kangaroo court is laughing with them and not at them.

Idaho has several worthy traditions which will continue to exist on their own merit without enforcement but there are others which students do not like to observe and which they do not observe if they see a chance to avoid a meeting with some brawny letterman whose unfortunate duty it is to bruise the nether portion of some yearling felon merely because he has dared appear this side of Paradise creek (may God have mercy on the despicable humorist who named it) minus his green dink. And the letterman's club refuses to allow a class to wear whipcords because they look like cords—at a distance—and glance askance at moleskins for, cannot they, too, be keen for the shined corduroy after they have accumulated several layers.

And at Idaho, sophomores and juniors must keep their heads covered as they appear within the liberal "I" club interpretation of what takes the campus, in spite of the fact that it is spring and one's hair has advised him to go bareheaded as a relief for dandruff or scurvy. The Argonaut has no quarrel with the "I" club. Its members are doing a duty and, inasmuch as it is a duty, their efforts are appreciated. However the executive board could relieve the letterman of a thankless job by following the example of Oregon and Washington and lopping off a few of the most worthless traditions or at least finding out which ones the students wish to keep. If a tradition is worthy, as such, it will be perpetuated by common consent and not by the big stick policies of such an unrepresentative organization as the "I" club. After all, if a casual observer is unable to distinguish between a freshman and a man who has been here four years without noticing which of the two is wearing the dirty cords, then the senior may as well have spent his four years down on the farm wearing that well known brand of trousers by Levi Strauss; college has done nothing for him.—PAUL JONES.

The art of passing conversation has seemingly lost away in the modern American colleges. Instead of students meeting in small groups to discuss social, economic and political situations common to their institutions, they rely upon the "talkies" and phonograph records as a means of hearing someone talk to sing. The problem has become worse and worse, until today, small groups have gained control of student government and campus functions in every large university throughout the nation.

Politicians, themselves, admit that the present system of organized committees is far from being ideal; yet no one has manifest enough interest to warrant a change in the present policy. Idaho is not the only institution where such parties exist, but there are hundreds of other universities that have developed similar political systems as a direct result of the activities of a small band of students in one of the large eastern colleges. Individuality has been suppressed to such an extent that students take the whole affair as a joke and don't even know or care to know what constitutes the party nominating committees, when they meet, what they discuss, and where they originated, and the merits of their nominees.

A short time ago several professors volunteered to speak to men's groups on worldwide subjects, specifying, however, that the students should challenge their statements and present counter arguments as a means to revive individual thinking.

Bullfests, oxfests, or gabfests, whatever they may be called, are one of the commonest evidences of present day methods of passing conversation on subjects far removed from the daily routine. Let's have bigger and better conversational groups and above all let us find out what exists on our home grounds before criticizing them.—PAUL AUST.

THIS seems to be the time of the year when every student, from the first semester freshman to the soon-to-be-graduate, throws up his hands in despair and wonders if it is all worth while. They all sit back and do a bit of mental calculating as to whether the 4,000 hard earned dollars and four valuable years spent in the course of the average student's career are not slightly out of proportion to the end achieved, a degree and a sheepskin.

Every student reasons that he could build up the same foundation by working and studying without ever bothering with college. It all appears to be a waste of time—the many hours sleeping—the nights of useless-cramming—the afternoons strolling. Are they also vital parts of an education? Do they mould the character and personality? Every student seeks the answer to these questions—hopelessly. He murmurs to himself that all college seems to do is breed dissatisfaction and then sighs resignedly.

That is just the purpose of college—to instill dissatisfaction—to cause the student to set a goal and never cease working until he reaches it. The little book knowledge and the wee social training are small matters compared to the fundamental aim of the university—to develop and train an attitude of fiery restlessness and ceaseless discontent until a goal worthy of a human being has been attained.

So forget your self pity, hit the grind, and keep your chin up for just a few more weeks, and then the pickandshovel—"vacation."—WALTER GILLESPIE.

GANDHI and his followers marched to the sea last Sunday and made salt in defiance of the salt tax imposed by the English. The British have not arrested the leader because they do not wish to place him in the light of a martyr. Passive resistance is being practiced in India to an extent that borders on revolt.

Boycotts have been put on English made textiles. Hundreds of natives lie down on the tracks and disrupt the service of English built railroads. British "Tomnies" drive the recalcitrants from the tracks with "Indian bullets," stones.

Yet newspaper correspondents cable home that "the situation is resting easy." Something is going to happen someday, sometime, and somewhere, in spite of what the press publishes.

Peace with plenty of spirit is a splendid combination these days of budding flowers and laziness. Spirit that causes midnight serenades by a trio of impromptu performers fails to take the place of appreciated ambition, however.

DYNAMITE clears the way for modern engineering wonders!

NEW YORK CENTRAL used DYNAMITE to widen its main line

from Storm King to Manitou!

THE task of clearing the way for additional tracks on the main line of a busy system seems an almost impossible undertaking. And yet the New York Central Railroad did it.

From Storm King to Manitou, New York . . . a distance of nearly 15 miles . . . new tunnels driven, old ones enlarged, ledges of rock, from 60 to 90 feet high, removed—while 125 trains per day sped by within a few feet of the operations!

Without dynamite such a feat would have been practically impossible. With the help of du Pont Explosives, the job of excavating 900,000 cubic yards of rock went through and this famous railroad improved its passenger and freight service!

What a part dynamite plays in modern life! It breaks ground for towering skyscrapers. It builds tunnels. It aids in the construction of bridges, roads, dams, subways. It digs coal, quarries rock . . . uncovers raw materials that go into the making of a thousand and one every-day products.

No engineer of tomorrow can afford not to know all there is to know about this valuable tool . . . dynamite. You have a chance to learn more about explosives and how to use them . . . now . . . while you're still in college.

All you need to do is to write the du Pont Company for a copy of the Blasters' Handbook. This book contains a wealth of information about explosives—information gathered by du Pont in 128 years' experience in making and improving explosives. So valuable is this book . . . so compact and handy . . . it is used in the classrooms and dormitories of many of the leading technical institutions. Your free copy is waiting for you. Write for it.

VACATION this weekend causes a lapse in social events for other than impromptu get-togethers by those remaining on the campus.

Last Friday saw a bevy of women's dances. The Delta Delta Delta spring formal dance at the Blue Bucket was a very pretty affair. The Forney hall formal dinner dance given annually at the Moscow hotel was a colorful spring-time function. The Hays hall informal carried out the idea of a formal dance, golf knickers and light sport dresses were worn. That evening, also, Pi Beta Phi entertained at a very pretty informal dance at the chapter house.

Saturday evening the Miami Triad was outstanding. Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, and Sigma Chi entertained conjointly at the Elks' temple. Fraternity insignia and crests prevailed as decoration. After the dance, the fraternities of the triad enjoyed a smoker at the women's gymnasium.

Sunday, with its sunshine and 9 o'clock date, privileges, saw many students at the mountains enjoying preliminary spring picnics.

Last night the Treble Clef club recital was enjoyed by a large number of university and town music lovers.

The Sigma Nu upperclassmen dance, scheduled for Wednesday, is the only group dance on the calendar to take advantage of the first open night occasioned by the vacation.

TRI DELT SPRING FORMAL
Delta Delta Delta held its spring formal at the Blue Bucket inn Friday evening. The feature of the decorations was spring flowers, and the lights were furnished by tall silver candelabra.

Patrons and patronesses were Miss Permeal J. French, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Beresford, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sampson, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyd.

Guests were Ernestine Vawter, Marjorie Boyd, Donnie MacDonald, Daisy Moore, Lillian Larson, Grace Raphael, Bonita Bailey, Carolino Schmidt, Florence Lang, Hazel Rhode, Elizabeth Thompson, Evelyn McMillan, Marjorie McVein, Mary Louise Bush, Edna Scott, Patricia Kennard, Frances DuSault, Frank Honsowetz, Henry Sneddon, William Gallagher, Holt Fritchman, Max Elden, Jack Donlon, Bartlett Moss, Donald Equals, Tyler Gill, Virgil Cross, William Stokes, Raymond Davidson, Charles Heath, Howard Johns,

The fraternity of Tau Kappa Epsilon entertained Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Matthews, Jane Haley, Mary Kersey, and Dorothy Neal at a dinner Sunday afternoon.

Lulu Grace Allen is a guest of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Thursday dinner guests of Kappa Alpha Theta were Lawrence Trousdale, Rex Howard, Wayne Blair, Robert Dunn, Carl Yonick, Robertson McBride, John Mennard, Harold Stowell, Kenneth Bradshaw, Howard Johns, Max Elden, Carl von Ende, Edward Poulton, Nolan Carter, and Newton Carter. Sunday dinner guests were Dorothy Chapman, Mildred Mrs. Retzkerford, Marian Fry, Bonita Bailey, Luella Ramey and Karthryn Halverson.

Thursday dinner guests of Delta Delta Delta were Melvin Stewart, Chud Wendle, Andrew Thompson, Heath Wicks, Ellis Shawver, Charles Cheney, Raymond Davidson, Murray McClung, Harry Waldon, and Martin Neilson. Sunday Frances DuSault, Patricia Ken-

DYNAMITE clears the way for modern engineering wonders!

NEW YORK CENTRAL
 to widen its main line

from Storm King to Manitou!

The task of clearing the way for additional tracks on the main line of a busy system seems an almost impossible undertaking. And yet the New York Central Railroad did it.

From Storm King to Manitou, New York . . . a distance of nearly 15 miles . . . new tunnels driven, old ones enlarged, ledges of rock, from 60 to 90 feet high, removed—while 125 trains per day sped by within a few feet of the operations!

Without dynamite such a feat would have been practically impossible. With the help of du Pont Explosives, the job of excavating 900,000 cubic yards of rock went through and this famous railroad improved its passenger and freight service!

What a part dynamite plays in modern life! It breaks ground for towering skyscrapers. It builds tunnels. It aids in the construction of bridges, roads, VACATION this weekend causes a lapse in social events for other than impromptu get-togethers by those remaining on the campus.

Last Friday saw a bevy of women's dances. The Delta Delta spring formal dance at the Blue Bucket was a very pretty affair. The Forney hall formal dinner dance given annually at the Moscow hotel was a colorful spring-time function. The Hays hall informal carried out the idea of a sport dance, golf knickers and light sport dresses were worn. That evening, also, Pi Beta Phi entertained at a very pretty informal dance at the chapter house.

Saturday evening the Miami Triad was outstanding. Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, and Sigma Chi entertained conjointly at the Elks' temple. Fraternity insignia and crests prevailed as decoration. After the dance, the fraternities of the triad enjoyed a smoker at the women's gymnasium.

Sunday, with its sunshine and 9 o'clock date, privileges, saw many students at the mountains enjoying preliminary spring picnics.

Last night the Treble Clef club recital was enjoyed by a large number of university and town music lovers.

The Sigma Nu upperclassmen dance, scheduled for Wednesday, is the only group dance on the calendar to take advantage of the first open night occasioned by the vacation.

TRI DELT SPRING FORMAL
Delta Delta held its spring formal at the Blue Bucket inn Friday evening. The feature of the decorations was spring flowers, and the lights were furnished by tall silver candelabra.

Patrons and patronesses were Miss Permeal J. French, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Beresford, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sampson, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyd.

Guests were Ernestine Vawter, Marjorie Boyd, Donnie MacDonald, Daisy Moore, Lillian Larson, Grace Raphael, Bonita Bailey, Caroline Schmidt, Florence Lang, Hazel Rhode, Elizabeth Thompson, Evelyn McMillan, Marjorie McVein, Mary Louise Bush, Edna Scott, Patricia Kennard, Frances DuSault, Frank Honsowetz, Henry Sneedon, William Gallagher, Holt Fritchman, Max Elden, Jack Donlon, Bartlett Moss, Donald Equals, Tyler Gill, Virgil Cross, William Stokes, Raymond Davidson, Charles Heath, Howard Johns,

The fraternity of Tau Kappa Epsilon entertained Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Matthews, Jane Haley, Mary Kersey, and Dorothy Neal at a dinner Sunday afternoon.

Lulu Grace Allen is a guest of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Thursday dinner guests of Kappa Alpha Theta were Lawrence Trousdale, Rex Howard, Wayne Blair, Robert Dunn, Carl Yanick, Robertson McBride, John Mennard, Harold Stowell, Kenneth Bradshaw, Howard Johns, Max Elden, Carl von Ende, Edward Poulton, Nolan Carter, and Newton Carter. Sunday dinner guests were Dorothy Chapman, Mildred Mrs. Betharford, Marian Fry, Bonita Bailey, Lucille Ramey and Karthryn Halverson.

Thursday dinner guests of Delta Delta were Melvin Stewart, Chud Wendle, Andrew Thompson, Heath Wicks, Ellis Shawyer, Charles Cheney, Raymond Davidson, Murray McClung, Harry Waldon, and Martin Nelson. Sunday Frances DuSault, Patricia Ken-dinner guests were Professor and Mrs. Carleton Cummings, and Professor and Mrs. Carl Claus.

Elizabeth Thompson, Catherine Jean Wilson, and Dr. Ella Woods were dinner guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Virginia Alley, Lewiston; and Ethel Lafferty, Spokane; were weekend guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Alpha Chi Omega weekend guests were Arline Howard and Helen Louise Shell of Whitman College and Frances Hadley and Melva Royal of Washington State College. Sunday dinner guests were Elizabeth Hoover, Frances Larson, Eleanor Dunlap and Ellen Kelerson.

Harold Boyd and Richard Stanton were dinner guests of Sigma Chi Friday evening.

At the spring student council election at DePauw university, every one who petitioned for an office was unanimously elected.

A Shower of New Easter Hats

Always something new — something different to add interest to our already incomparable display of millinery. Now comes several more of the newer creations. It may be only a twist of the brim or a touch of trimming — it may be a new ornamentation or a color combination, but they are all important and we must have them if we are to maintain our leadership in fashion supremacy.

Here you will find a new hat becoming to every type of face. Each hat is an individual creation — exclusive in design — exclusive in pattern. They are not expensive, either.

POPULARITY with the fairer and gentler sex depends upon personality and that calls for vibrant health and a quick mind. The "senior most popular with the co-eds" will be the one who keeps a wary eye on the vitamins and proteins. Shredded Wheat gives you the magnetism that comes from glowing health and good spirits—the fatal charm that lies in a brain that can work overtime without feeling the strain. It supplies you with all the essentials of a well-balanced diet and at the same time it aids digestion.

Try a biscuit or two for breakfast served with whole milk and fruit and see how it feels to start the day right.

IDAHO ENGINEERS MEET PUELLMANITES

Two Chapters Hold Joint Banquet Celebrating Founders' Day

The student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at the University of Idaho held a joint meeting with the student branch from W. S. C. in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the society, Thursday evening.

Clair C. Pataken, chairman of the branch at Idaho, presided. A short address was given by Mr. J. Terris, chairman of the branch at Pullman. Henry Hohnhorst of Idaho gave a brief history of the society, accompanied by pictures of founders.

Phonograph records of addresses especially prepared by the distinguished leaders, Dr. Calvin W. Rice and Dr. William F. Durand, both of New York, were heard.

Major Cruickshank of Idaho, who has been personally acquainted with a number of the early members of the A. S. M. E. gave an account of the early activities of the society, tracing its growth from a membership of 50 to its present of 19,000.

Henry Lacy and Harold Parsons gave an illustrated talk on combustion engineering, followed by remarks by Professor Gauss and the distribution of pamphlets containing charts for the graphical computation of steam pipe sizes, prepared by students as souvenirs of the occasion.

BARNYARD GOLF REGAINS FAVOR

While tennis fans are following their sport, men's groups will participate in the intramural horse-shoe pitching tournament to be held the first week after vacation, according to Ambrose Adams, intramural manager. "Barn-yard golf" points will count toward the intramural cup.

Even though this sport was not on the list last year it is expected that it will arouse interest and develop close competition. The horse-shoe tournament took the place of volley ball because now any indoor competition seems to be in disfavor with the students.

THIRTEEN SHEETS ENTER CUP CONTEST

Women's Editions From Idaho High Schools Graded Next Week

Thirteen entries have been received by Theta Sigma for its annual contest for high school papers edited exclusively by girls. Papers will be graded next week and the winner announced April 17. The winning school will be awarded the Theta Sigma loving cup, which it may retain in its possession until next year.

St. Maries high school won the cup last year, and Moscow high school received honorable mention. The school which is successful in winning the contest three years in succession will be given permanent possession of the trophy.

Papers will be evaluated according to the style and timeliness of news and feature stories, appropriateness of heads, and attractiveness of set-up. Allowances will be made for those schools which do not give courses in journalism, Helen Kerr, president of the organization, said.

The growing popularity of the contest is evidenced in the fact that there were four entries more this year than last. Following are the papers which have been entered:

Orofino, Hi-Spots; Nampa, The Growl; St. Maries, Pee Vee; Council, The Councilor; Caldwell, The Canyon Cougar; Bonners Ferry, The Badger; Kellogg, U-Hi Times; St. Anthony, The Cougars; Tale; Troy, The Broadcaster; Moscow, The Wagoner; Cambridge, Black and Orange Echo; Parma, Hi-Times.

Because Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri, was active in the issuance of a sex questionnaire, prominent Kansas City ministers have asked that he resign his position.

STUDENTS TO HEAR ECONOMIST SPEAK

Dr. Charles M. Thompson, Business Dean, Assembly Talker

Dr. Charles M. Thompson, dean of the college of commerce and business administration of the University of Illinois, will address university students tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Doctor Thompson is on a tour of the Pacific coast and his address here will be the first of a series at various colleges and universities of the northwest. His subject—Wednesday will be "The Ultimate in Education."

Doctor Thompson is well known in the United States in both history and economic circles, for he has published several books on these subjects. One of them, "Principles and Practices of Economics," is now being used by the contemporary civilization classes of the university. Doctor Thompson is a member of several national economic and history societies, of Phi Beta Kappa, and of Alpha Kappa Psi. He has been granted degrees from the University of Illinois and from Oxford university. This evening Doctor Thompson will be the honor guest and principal speaker at a banquet at the Blue Bucket inn of Associated Business Students.

GROUP RACKET MEN START WORK APRIL 14

Intramural tennis will be in full swing immediately after vacation, according to Stanton Hale, intramural manager. The tournament will be run off in one week if possible, by using single elimination. The purpose of the play-off is to find any good varsity material as well as decide the intramural championship.

Schedule for the "singles" is as follows:

"A" League
Tuesday, April 15
Lambda Chi Alpha vs Tau Men Alpha at 4 o'clock.
Tau Kappa Epsilon vs Beta Chi at 4:45 o'clock.
Wednesday, April 16
Beta Theta Pi vs Senior hall at 4 o'clock.
Sigma Chi vs Sigma Alpha Epsilon at 4:45 o'clock.

"B" League
Tuesday, April 15
Kappa Sigma vs Phi Gamma Delta at 4 o'clock.

Phi Delta Theta vs Delta Chi at 4:45 o'clock.
Wednesday, April 16
L. D. S. Institute vs Alpha Tau Omega at 4 o'clock.
Lindley hall vs Sigma Nu at 4:45 o'clock.

Ridenbaugh hall draws a bye in the first round.

The tournament is to be a single elimination and the winner is to be decided by the best two out of three sets. Any house failing to enter a team forfeits 25 points toward the winning of the intramural activity cup.

Intramural managers in the respective houses are urged to hand in the names of the three members of their teams, one man for singles and two others for the doubles. The doubles tournament will be run off directly after the singles tournament. Contestants' names must be given to Stanton Hale, intramural manager immediately.

Students of Oxford university, England, are in debt to the merchants of the town to the extent of $1,250,000 according to the student publication, Isis.

The answer is—flavor!

WHY are Kellogg's Corn Flakes the most popular ready-to-eat cereal in the world? Matchless flavor is the answer!

Just pour milk or cream into a brimming bowl of these crisp and golden flakes tomorrow. An ideal dish to enjoy late at night. Delicious and easy to digest.

Ask your fraternity house steward or your favorite campus restaurant to serve Kellogg's—the original Corn Flakes.

Kellogg's
CORN FLAKES

The most popular cereals served in the dining-rooms of American colleges, eating clubs and fraternities are made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. They include ALL-BRAN, Pep Bran Flakes, Rice Krispies, Wheat Krumbles, and Kellogg's Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit. Also Kaffee Hag Coffee—the coffee that lets you sleep.
