Blessed Are the Meek

WE, THE Women, realize that we have thrown away our only chance of devoting six or eight pages to slapping ourselves on the back. Perhaps it is a sad blow to many that we have failed to record tedious tales of women graduates who have made the hard nosed world listen to reason, and in general, to give women's virtues a boost skyward.

We believe, however, that such strenuous effort would not only be fruitless but absolutely silly. In the first place no woman needs to be reminded of her superiority. In the second place we could talk ourselves into a state of exhaustion trying to convince a man that every great man has been pushed to the pinnacle of success by a woman's hand and yet he'd never believe it.

Our sole aim, then, is to put out a paper which will be newsworthy and universally interesting and which will need no apology when compared with one edited by men.

Besides, any intelligent woman knows it is fatal to display her own achievements. Inwardly she may scheme to pave a man's way to fortune but outwardly she must never let him forget, even for a moment, that he is a big strong man.

Trespassers Irk Authorities

MOSCOW town officials have found it necessary to issue a warning to the effect that student picnickers will be fined or punished in a serious manner if they trespass on the private property of people who own cottages and summer homes on Moscow mountain. In past years there have been many instances of university men and women taking possession of cottages when the owners were not there.

Making one's self at home in someone else's house does not seem a serious offense to the person who, in his search for a suitable place to cook a meal, comes upon an empty cabin on a hill top, but actually it is as unethical as breaking into a town house when the family is away, and hardly more excusable.

If the students would stop to consider how they themselves would feel when returning after a vacation, they were to discover that outsiders had taken possession of their fraternity and sorority houses during their absence, they would appreciate the attitude of Moscow people concerning their summer cottages. A rough cabin in the woods is protected by the same rules of trespass as a brick structure on the Idaho campus, and breaking the law in the one instance is as much an offense as in the other.

W. A. DELEGATES MEET IN EAST

Lois Porterfield and Jessie Little left Sunday for Ann Arbor, Michigan to attend the sixth national conference of American College Women at which time they will represent the Idaho chapter of W. A. A.

They will arrive in Ann Arbor on Wednesday and will attend the convention meetings until April 28. On their return trip, they will stop over in Chicago for a few days to visit chapters there, Miss Porterfield said. They plan to get back May fifth.

This is the first time Idaho has sent official delegates to the national convention since it received a national charter in 1924. Approximately 150 schools are expected to be represented at the meeting. The association holds a convention every three years; the last one met at Ithaca, New York.

In addition to the meetings at which several women nationally prominent in athletics will speak, teas, theater parties, and a formal banquet are being given by the University of Michigan for the entertainment of the delegates.

Miss Porterfield was recently elected president of the local W. A. A. chapter. Miss Little is the retiring president of the organization.

MENTAL HYGIENE TOPIC OF EDSON

Author Will Talk to Psychology Classes Friday; Written Boy's Books

Speaking in the interest of mental and social hygiene, Newell W. Edson, formerly of the United States public health service, will address members of all psychology classes, in Administration 311, on Friday, April 25. At 4 o'clock of the same afternoon, he will speak at a general meeting in 110 Science building.

Mr. Edson is on a speaking tour of this region in the interest of the American Social Hygiene association. He has had long experience as an administrator in secondary schools for boys. He is a graduate of Harvard University and has worked in the United States public health service as an educator. Mr. Edson is the author of "Status of Sex Education in High Schools", published by the government office, and has also written three pamphlets for boys, "Love in the Making", "Choosing a Home Partner", and "Growing Up".

While Mr. Edson is to speak primarily to psychology students, all others who are interested are welcome to attend his lectures. He will confer with President Kelly concerning work of the White House Conference on Child Welfare. President Kelly is head of the movement and Mr. Edson is on one of the subcommittees.

Prominent Seniors In Search of Jobs After Graduation

Extra! Extra! Wanted: jobs for eligible young men, cream of the University of Idaho graduating class, vibrant young bachelors, who have undergone four years of intensive and expensive training. The old homestead has been mortgaged. Family heirlooms have been hocked. The little sister has married the village blacksmith—all have sacrificed to keep the flower of the family, the blooming idiot, in college. And now after four years, to quote El Brendel, he is merely driftwood on the sea of life, flitting hither and yon, no better than the thundering herd of common rabble. Shall these four years have been in vain. Liver at home instead of T-bones, Ford instead of Franklins, linen instead of Congoleum, beer instead of wine—all these at home that the favorite son might raise the economic status of posterity.

In answer to the following question: "What are your plans for next year?" instead of a buoyant reassuring answer, these elite raised a sophisticated eyebrow, beamed a doleful grin, and on a soft husky whisper, gently murmured, "I don't know." Down the line in rapid succession: Burgher, d'Easum, Janssen, Cec Hagen, Tall, McMullin, Kershnik, Stowell, Bob St. Clair, Ed Poulton, nary a sign for the future—gentlemen, they don't know what to do. Water, water, everywhere, and not a drop to drink.

Stanford Co-eds Sleepy Heads

Palo Alto—Stanford co-eds study less and sleep more than girls at Vassar, Hodyoke and Chicago universities, according to an investigation just completed by the Palo Alto, Y. W. C. A.

It was found that Stanford girls don't know how to get the most out of slumbering. The investigator said that those girls who curl up like a kitten get more rest than those who lie stiffly in other positions.

ANCIENT CARTOONS ARE BLUE BUCKET SPECIALTY

Featuring cartoons from all issues of the Bucket for the last five years and with special space given to those which depict campus life just after the hoop skirts went out of fashion, the final edition of the Blue Bucket will be issued May 15.

This issue's cover will be done in three colors and the magazine promises to be one of the best editions this year, according to Dale Goss, editor. Phi Delta Theta fraternity will be featured in the second series of articles on fraternity life. Women's fashions will be exposed from the hoop skirts, through the joint-displaying period, down to the present fad for floor cleaners.

TEACHING JOBS SCARCE IN IDAHO

Over-supply of Teachers in Western States Will Affect Idaho Graduates

A few students have been placed as teachers this spring, according to Miss Bernice McCoy, director of the University placement bureau.

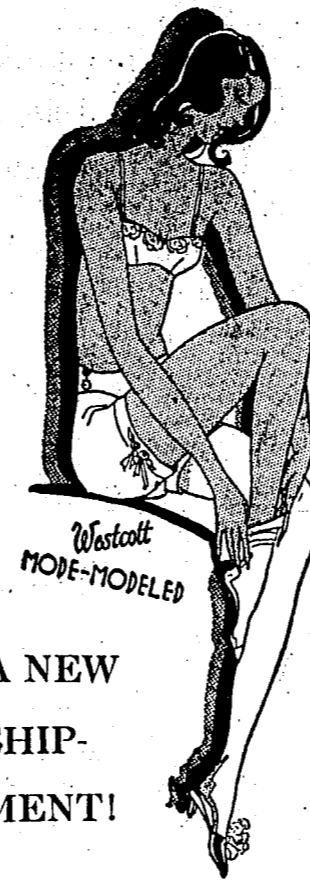

This is due to two reasons. The first and most obvious is the over-supply of teachers. The state of Washington has 15,000 new teachers, and California, 33,000. Idaho herself, has more new teachers than ever before. The second is the result of the Wall Street crash in the stock market last October. This has made people conservative. Those who have jobs would rather keep them than run the risk of not getting another, and school boards are keeping expenses down as regards to hiring new teachers, declared Miss McCoy.

comes to an end at Blue Bucket Inn, where the party will be held. The juniors will attend this function in their parade costumes, which will make it a sort of fancy dress affair. Peyton Sommercamp is chairman of the parade committee, and Grace Parsons will have charge of the party.

Prom is Climax The prom will bring junior week to a climax Friday night. Plans for the formal ball are being carefully guarded by Dale Goss, prom chairman, but hints have been dropped to the effect that decorations will be spring flowers and ferns. The program will be printed in water colors from an original design sketched by Dale Goss. A 10 piece orchestra will furnish the music.

The cabaret will bring the junior celebration to an end Saturday night. Tickets were put on sale last week, and most of the reservations have been taken, according to William Cadigan, cabaret chairman. He has urged that all juniors who have not yet reserved their tables do so at once, as they are fast being taken by members of other classes. Horns, confetti, and serpentine will be distributed to add to the fun.

DYNAMITE clears the way for modern engineering wonders

The great dam of the Waterville Development

The Waterville Development more hydro-electric power for the South

How dynamite was used in the construction of this great project

The Carolina Power and Light Company needed more electric power to serve the territory in which it operates. The result was the Waterville Development... a vast hydro-electric project located in the Great Smoky Mountains.

The actual working of this project involved the erection of a constant arch dam, 183 feet high... three tunnels varying in length from 5,000 to 16,000 feet... three penstock tunnels 600 feet in length... a vertical shaft known as a gap shaft... and a surge tank shaft.

From the Waterville Development, transmission lines carry the current to many points in Carolina and Tennessee. The tremendous power of the Great Smokies serves to turn the wheels of industry and light the homes of thousands of people of the South.

Such a development would not have been possible without the use of dynamite. Du Pont explosives were used for all blasting operations.

The engineer of tomorrow needs to know all there is to know about dynamite... the tool that helps to build skyscrapers, bridges, dams, subways, tunnels, roads and railroads.

How can you know more... now... while you're still in college? Write the Du Pont Company for a copy of the "Blasters' Handbook." This booklet contains a wealth of information about explosives... information gathered in twenty-eight years' experience in making and improving explosives. It is compact... handy. It is used in the classrooms of leading technical institutions. Your free copy is waiting for you. Write for it.

Records were broken by the perfect weather of Easter Sunday. The fashionable thing to do was to eat eggs for breakfast, eggs of all colors and of all degrees of hardness. Many don't eat Easter fishery and go to church. Larger crowds attended the services at all the churches Sunday than will probably attend them until Mother's Day.

Something different for Easter morning was breakfast given by Phi Gamma Delta. A novel egg hunt before breakfast created lively rivalry among the fair searchers. Guests were Alice Nash, Helen Rowe McIntyre, Harriet Lundgren, Bethel Packenham, Mary (Simon) Beryl Davis, Joan Harris, Emily Osood, Catherine York, Betty Lambdin, Lulu Shank, Lois (Lambson) Kallison, O'Brien, Eunice Phillips, Lillie Gardner, Florence Coughlin, Geraldine Morse, Janet McCoy, Marjorie Weber, Helen Melgard, Lois Fredrickson, Miriam Howard and Grace Parsons.

Pea Weevil Catcher on I-Tank "Porch" Attracts Students

"Huh! What is it?" questioned numerous students within the last few days, as they strolled across the campus with their necks stretched painfully skyward vainly trying to get a better view of the little white box fastened to the "I" tank.

It was not until Claude Wakefield, head of the entomology department and entomologist for the experiment station, announced that the box was a "pea catcher" to capture specimens of the pea weevil, that student curiosity was appeased.

The extraordinary observation, apparently merely to be a screen cage with a funnel on the bottom. "As we are using no bait," Prof. Wakefield stated, "we can only hope the bees will fly in. The pea weevil becomes inactive when it hits an object, but we are not certain of results as this is only an experiment."

Seasons and levels of flight are some of the habits of the weevil which the experimenters wish to determine. The pea weevil is one of the most harmful pests to the pea growing industry. It worms its way under the pea shell and lays its eggs on the side of the pea. The eggs soon hatch into larva which eat into the center of the pea and remain there indefinitely. Since there is no way of determining whether or not the peas are affected, many worm infested peas are put in the market.

MID-WEEK DANCE FOR NEXT WEEK

Blue Key Schedules Last All-College Hop Until June

An all-college dance will be given Wednesday, April 30, from 7:30 to 10 o'clock by Blue Key, men's honorary service fraternity. All women will be allowed to be out that evening until 10:15 through the courtesy of Miss Permeal French. This will be the first time in several years that the calendar committee has given permission for an all-college dance on a week night. This is, moreover, the last all-college dance scheduled until June.

A charge of 75 cents a couple will be made. The proceeds will be used to give a dinner for the 75 participants in the North Idaho high school track meet which will be held here May 10. Blue Key is giving this dinner to interest the high school students in the university by giving them a glimpse of the social life and the real Idaho spirit.

A. W. S. DELEGATES RETURN TO MOSCOW

High School Vocational Guidance is Head-liner For Main Discussion

Zelda Newcomb, retiring president of the Associated Women Students, and Betty Wilson, newly elected president, returned last night from the seventh biennial convention held April 16, 17 and 18 at Laramie, Wyoming.

The purpose of the convention was to enable the presidents of women students' associations to meet and discuss the various problems that arise within that field. Discussions were also held upon the training of high school girls for definite vocations in college. Prominent business and professional women from surrounding universities and cities were present. Many of them gave interesting lectures on the problems of special training of college women. All the events and lectures will be presented in detail by the delegates at the next meeting of the Associated Women Students.

McCOY WIELDS RACKET FOR WIN

William McCoy, Spokane, winner of the A division of the men's intramural tennis tournament, yesterday laid claim to the university championship by defeating Howard Allowin in two straight sets 7-5, 6-1. The games were fast and were not as lop-sided as the score would indicate. Both players put up a good fight and the gallery was lined up cheering for both.

McCoy's team gained the top place in the A league by defeating Jockheck, Lambdin, Chi, 6-2, 6-3, while Allowin won over Martin, Phi Delta Theta, 6-1, 7-5.

This is the third intramural championship for S. A. E. this year. They claim title to the basketball, indoor baseball, and tennis championships to date.

Track and cross country men at the University of Wisconsin receive letters from the coach to help keep up the morale of the team.

NEW OUTFITS TO OUST ROOK SUITS

Monkey suits will be little more than a memory to some—an unpleasant memory—next fall. In place of the customary army suit our rooks will in all probability, don new tailored outfits.

Long trousers will modestly hide the knotty knees of the men who play soldier on the campus from the critical eyes of the co-eds. No longer will a rookie need to go several blocks out of his way to avoid the derisive remarks that his girl friend might make concerning the ruffled effect of the coat about his hips.

The suits will be made of gabardene cloth or serge. In place of the present army hats, the men will be given the more aristocratic visored serge caps. Freshmen may be distinguished by blue lapels on their coats. The cadet officers may still flatter their vanity, however, with a few extra fittings such as leather leggings and belts.

Colonel C. R. Chrisman stated that the requisitions have been sent, and the military department hopes that the new uniforms will be here by the first of September.

AGS TO SPONSOR BOY'S CONFERENCE

100 North Idaho Students Will Attend Vocational Meeting Here in May.

About 100 high school juniors and seniors from the northern part of the state are expected for the vocational guidance conference to be given May 1, 2, and 3 by the extension division of the agricultural college. Prominent faculty members from different divisions of the university will lecture to them on the opportunities offered in the various professional and vocational fields that one may prepare for here.

Friday night, Blue Key will entertain the visitors at a smoker. Prominent campus men will speak; and a varied program of boxing, wrestling, stunts, and orchestra selections will be offered. An abundance of hot dogs and coffee promise to make the affair a success.

It is hoped that this project will stimulate interest in the university by giving them a cross-section of college life. The Northern Pacific railway is aiding the university in putting this on by providing free transportation for the boys. They will be housed at Ridenbaugh and Lindley halls while here.

ILLINOIS DEAN WILL VISIT IDAHO CAMPUS

Thomas Clarke Originator of Office of Dean of Men

Dean Thomas Arckle Clark, father of the office of Dean of Men, will visit on the Idaho campus the latter part of this week. Dean Clark is a nationally known individual, and a worthy grand chief of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, holding the office of Dean of men at the University of Illinois. Upon arrival here from the National Vocational Educational Association convention at Pullman, Washington, he will inspect the local A. T. O. chapter.

In 1901, Dean Clark created the office of Dean of Men at the University of Illinois, rising to that position through successive accomplishments in University Administration and fraternal life. Due to his untiring efforts and active interest in fraternal welfare, he is rightly called the "Apostle Paul of the Greek-letter fraternities."

Dean Clark is the founder of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholarship fraternity, and is nationally known as an author. He has written nine books, several hundred articles, and more than a thousand essays. He is a pioneer in the writing of whimsical articles, really short and humorous sermons of advice concerning fraternity welfare. No other writer in the United States has written so much current fraternity topics as Dean Clark.

As yet no definite word has been received as to his arrival on the Idaho campus.

TUPPER HOLDS RIFLE RECORD

High Point Women of Rifle Team Announced by Helene Hilfiker

The 15 high point women of the rifle team were announced yesterday by Helene Hilfiker, rifle manager. Alta Tupper had the highest score in the past two years. The remainder of the list is as follows:

Lillian Woodworth, Dorothy Perkins, Zoa Shaw, Helene Hilfiker, Lucile Glimdeman, Kathryn West, Marjorie Weber, Esther Rae, Isabel Lange, Helen Kerr, Bonita Bailey, Elsa Bisinger, Mildred Richardson, and Elma Minear.

Practice for the woman's rifle team began in December. Although the new range in the Memorial gymnasium was not completed in time to allow the usual length of time for practice, the women made a better showing this year than last, according to Major F. R. Fuller, coach of the team. They won over half the matches in which they participated.

More than 100 university women turned out at the beginning of the year, and 21 continued to the end of the season. The excellent scores made by the women out for their first season promises well for next year's team, according to Miss Hilfiker.

The burglar in question is not a thug but a business man who is accomplished along the lines of tag games with the arm of the law. Because of his knowledge of the man's wife, his situation is not so difficult as it might be. Bob Grant and Leland Cannon will play the part of the husband on successive nights. His wife will be portrayed by Bertha Moore, while Lionel Campbell will take the part of the gentleman burglar.

"Tragedy", a farce comedy which centers around the rehearsing of a group of college girls for a coming play, is a play within a play and has all the rollicking situations which may arise at rehearsals. This play will have alternate casts consisting of Thelma Melgard, Eleanor Jacobs, Myrtha Homes, Lenore Grosjean, Hazel McCannon, Frances Larson, Bonita Lowe, Kathryn Hart, Grace Eldridge, Bess Louise Hogg, Virginia Stewart, and Esther Johnston.

Winfred Janssen and Robert Brown will play the chauffeur, while Shirley Cunningham and Camille Harris will characterize the mother.

COOK TO GET PH.D. AT N. Y. UNIVERSITY

Faculty Member Receives Fellowship and Will Teach Vocational Guidance

David Cook, 28, was recently notified of his appointment to a teaching fellowship at New York University. He will leave Moscow at the close of college in June and begin working for a Ph. D. degree in vocational guidance at the eastern institution, which is the only university in this country granting such a degree. Mrs. Anna Reed, director of personnel at New York University, was instrumental in securing the appointment for him.

Mr. Cook will teach a course in vocational guidance at New York University and will work in the personnel department. During the past year he has been teaching classes in educational psychology, animal psychology, and statistics at the University of Idaho, and has acted as assistant to Dr. Raymond M. Mosher, director of personnel. Mr. Cook was granted a masters degree in psychology last year.

Mrs. David Cook, who for the past three years has been secretary to Miss Bernice McCoy of the University of Idaho placement bureau, is already in New York, where she has obtained a position as secretary to the director of admissions at New York University.

SORBY'S PETITION TO CHANGE DATE

Petition for changing the date of the annual Sophomore Frolic, which was scheduled for May 9 to May 17, has been presented to the calendar committee, according to Lionel Campbell, president.

Peter Pence was appointed general chairman of the dance. Other committees were as follows: Music, Harry Amgure, John Jenny, Ruth Crowe, Decoration: Warren McDaniels, Flora Corkery, John Middleton, Program: Florence Rohrer, Melvin Stewart, Bill Pohlman, Entertainment: Gene Reed, Helen Benson, Bob Nixon.

The financing of the frolic will probably be taken care of by an appropriation from the class funds.

As yet, no definite arrangements have been made but it is believed that the affair will be in the form of a sport dance.

PROMISING BASEBALL MEN ARE INELIGIBLE

Two promising baseball men are ineligible for the team because of scholastic difficulties according to "Rich" Fox, coach.

Jack Lee, regular third base man has been forced to leave the team. Wesley Shurtliff and Carl Kyselka are being groomed for this position. La Verne Randall, promising sophomore prospect, is the other man who is ineligible. The loss of these two players is keenly felt by the team.

Instead of a picnic dinner, there will be an A.S.U. all-college dance at the Memorial gymnasium this year, Huber said, to which students will be admitted by their coupon books. The campus dinner did not prove successful last year, he said, because many students preferred to spend their time otherwise.
